Club Members To Exhibit Sewing In Stanton School

Stanton "4 H" Club To Review Banner Year On Friday Evening; Young Poultryman To Talk On Camp Vail Trip; Officials To Be There

Complete plans for the achievement night exercises of the Stanton 4 H Club, to be held in the school house Friday evening, November 6, were completed yesterday. This was according to Ed Willim, Jr., County Club Agent, representing the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, and Mrs. Mary E. Hickey, local leader of the Girls' Sewing club and advisor of the Boys' Poultry Club.

The exhibition by the girls of the sewing articles they have finished this year will be one of the features of the meeting. Prize ribbons will be awarded to the first four in each class judged. Miss Helen L. Comstock, County Club Agent of Kent County, will be present and will judge the exhibits. Mrs. Dickey, who has given much impetus to this and like services in this community, states that, "all of the girls have been working very hard to complete every one of their requirements before November 6, and in some cases have been duplicating a few of the articles that they have made during the past year." She believes that they will have a very creditable exhibit to present.

Another feature of the evening will be a report on the Camp Vail trip to the Eastern States Exposition held at Springfield, Mass., September 19-26, 1925. This report will be given by Franklin Anderson and Richard Poulney, of Stanton. Both boys have been members of the Stanton-Baltimore and Ohio Poultry Club since its inception two years ago, and were awarded this trip to Camp Vail as a reward of their faithful services in club work.

Music for the evening will be furnished by the club under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Seasholtz, assistant leader of the Sewing Club.

Moving pictures will be shown at these exercises. Through the efforts of the Club Agent, Mr. Willim, two films of pictures have been secured from the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington and will be shown at the meeting. While the titles of the pictures have not been announced, it is thought that they will be of interest to both young and old alike.

It is possible that Mr. A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Extension Agents, located at Newark, will be present and give a short address at this meeting. Mr. Cobb said yesterday that he would like to be present at the meeting and will endeavor to do so.

FIND DESERTED AUTO; OWNER MISSING, TOO

Local Police Unable to Dispose of Car Found Near Mill Saturday.

Magistrate Thompson's office here is endeavoring to locate one Thos. W. Berry, listed in State records as the owner of the automobile found abandoned Saturday in Mill Creek Hundred, near Red Mill. So far, little success has been attained.

In response to advices from Red Mill residents, Constable Ellison was sent to the scene Saturday and found the car. License plates had been stripped off and thrown into a nearby field. The car was brought to Newark and housed in a garage while the search for the owner began.

Thos. W. Berry is listed as the owner of the car and his address is given as "Foot of Commerce St., Wilmington." Confident of surprising the owner with glad tidings, Ellison set forth to interview him, only to find that "Foot of Commerce St." houses no man by the name of Berry. The situation, therefore, was found to be all messed up. In the meantime the car is still reposing safe and sound in a local garage.

To Speak Here

JOSIAH MARVEL

MARVEL TO SPEAK AT DINNER TOMORROW

Prominent Member of Wilmington Bar Secured for Chamber of Commerce Affair.

Josiah Marvel, one of the State's leading lawyers and for years a moving spirit in Chamber of Commerce work in Wilmington, will be the speaker at the annual Fall dinner of Newark business men to be held tomorrow night at 6.30 p. m. in the University dining hall.

D. A. McClintock, chairman of the dinner committee, reports everything in readiness and expects nearly 100 diners to attend the affair. John K. Johnston, president of the local Chamber of Commerce will be toastmaster.

Music a Feature

Mr. Marvel's address will be the only one scheduled for the evening. The balance of the after-dinner program will be given over to a gay, good time, with music playing a prominent part. A. D. Cobb has, it is reported, gathered together a number of artists who will entertain their fellow diners. In addition, "Will" White, he of the irrefragable harmonica, has promised to be present and whoop it up between courses.

While no inkling of an open forum discussion has been heard so far, it is likely that a number of matters affecting the business situation here and of interest to the Chamber will be taken up informally. Members are urged to be ready to take part in such a discussion.

A course dinner has been prepared under the direction of Miss Marion Skewis, dietitian at the College, and will be served by student waiters.

AMPUTATE BATTERED LEG OF NEWARK MAN

Samuel Aiken, Hurt In Motor Accident October 24th, In Critical Condition, Says Report.

Reports of the condition of Samuel Aiken, who is now lying in Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, following injuries received in a motor crash October 25, give the case much more serious aspect than at first believed.

Surgeons at the hospital early this week amputated the leg which was declared broken at the time of the accident. It is reported that glass and dirt had been ground into the battered limb and the amputation was necessary to save his life. Friends and relatives here are being kept informed daily of the injured man's fight. On Monday, it was stated that he was in a critical condition.

Young Aiken was injured on Sunday afternoon, October 25, when an automobile in which he was riding skidded during a terrific downpour near Oak Grove, on the Lincoln Highway, and overturned. Arthur J. Hill, also of this town, who was in the same car, was slightly hurt. Aiken was rushed to the hospital with a broken leg. Hill was treated and discharged. First word of the former's serious injuries were gained here over the week-end.

Governor Places First Stone For New College Dorm

Founder's Day Exercises At Women's College Saturday Marked Big Forward Step In Institution's Life; Many Visitors Present To Hear Vassar Dean

SENIORS GET CAPS AND GOWNS

With hundreds of students, alumnae and friends present, the first stone was formally laid on the walls of New Castle Hall, now Women's College dormitory, last Saturday afternoon. Using the silver trowel which started the original building on its way back in 1913, Governor Robinson placed the stone in position. He then delivered a short address to the assemblage in which he expressed his fervent hope that this would be but another step in the continued steady growth of the college.

The laying of the first stone on the building was one of the main features of the annual Founders' Day exercises on the lower campus. President Hulihan and James C. Hastings, representative from this district at the last Legislature, also spoke at the new building. Mr. Hastings presented Dean Robinson with a copy of the original bill presented to the legislators, calling for an appropriation for the building.

Two Programs

The afternoon was divided into two programs, the first being conducted by the students.

At 2 o'clock the traditional ceremonies were performed on the campus. The Sophomore Class planted their tree and sang the "Tree Song" composed by Miss Margaret Conner, a member of their class. Miss Reta Tatman then sang Joyce Kilmer's "Trees" and Miss Dorothy Inderleib played the violin obligato.

Miss Marjorie Johnson, president of the Sophomore Class, then presented the spade to Miss Catherine E. Townsend, captain of the Freshman Class.

With the conclusion of ceremonies on the campus, the entire assemblage moved to Wolf Hall, where further (Continued on Page 8.)

Homeless When House Is Prey To Flames, Family Lives In Chicken Shed; Need Aid

A pathetic story of distress involving a family of six whose home atop Iron Hill was destroyed by fire one day last week, was made public yesterday by Mrs. James O. G. Duffy, chairman of the Newark Chapter, American Red Cross, who is making an appeal to the community for aid to the stricken group.

Forced to flee their home in a fire from which they saved little or nothing, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stevenson and four young children ranging from four months to eight years of age, are now living in an abandoned chicken house. They are suffering from lack of warm clothing and bedding. Above all, they need a cook stove for the preparation of warm, nourishing food for the children.

Mrs. Duffy makes this appeal in the hope that residents in the community will rally to the temporary relief of the needy family. THE POST will be glad to receive contributions and arrange to place them in the hands of the Red Cross for use in this case. Warm clothing, bedding and provisions are urgently needed. Phone 65 J or 92.

Over 500 College Folk See Shaw's "Saint Joan" As Guests Of Mr. And Mrs. P. S. duPont

The largest theatre party in the history of the Playhouse in Wilmington, was given last night, when over 500 students, faculty members, staff employees and invited guests of the University saw Bernard Shaw's famous "Saint Joan."

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont played host and hostess to the gay throng of college folk in the latest of a series of such delightful annual treats. Every nook and cranny of the spacious theatre held an enthralled spectator.

The guests arrived at the Playhouse by special train and trolley shortly after eight and immediately took their seats. The play, an unusually long one, swept old and young alike back through history to the tragic story of the little country girl who saved the crown of France and went to the stake for her trouble.

Miss Arthur gave a splendid portrayal of the Maid of Orleans. She was aided in the main by a capable supporting cast. For the majority of the audience it was their first taste of the brilliant artistry of Shaw.

At the close of the performance, the college folk entrained at the B.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS OVER JUNIOR VARSITY

Newark schoolboys tore into the Delaware Junior Varsity on Frazer Field yesterday afternoon, and laced them in a fast game, 14-7.

LAST MINUTE NEWS

BED AFIRE IN CHAPEL STREET HOME

Firemen were called out at 2 o'clock this afternoon in response to an alarm from North Chapel street. A bed in an upstairs room of the Roger Polk home was found in flames. Little damage resulted, however, and the services of the firemen were not needed. The loss was nominal.

CAR FOUND ABANDONED TODAY

An Overland coupe, bearing Pennsylvania license tags, was found abandoned this morning on South Chapel Street and turned over to C. R. E. Lewis, foreman of street workmen here. Mr. Lewis communicated with Magistrate Thompson and the car was towed to a local garage pending an investigation. It appeared to be in running order. Two flashlights were found on the seat.

SHOW ENTRY LISTS CLOSE FRIDAY

It was announced today by local officials of the forthcoming Poultry Show that entries for the big event will close on Friday of this week at midnight. The list is expected to break all records. The show will open in the Armory on Saturday, November 14th, and will run one week.

Start New Flour Mill

Samuel, Weigel, of Salem, N. J. has purchased land of Mrs. Fannie Comegys, north of Acadia Dairies, Inc., Middletown, and has begun erecting a building large enough to house machinery to grind 1000 bushels of grain daily. The new business firm hopes to have their plant completed and fully equipped within a few months and since they have other plants now operating at Oxford, Pa., and Salem, N. J., their new enterprise should prove to be successful.

Ready For Benefit

The committee in charge of the annual benefit card party to be held in the New Century Club Friday evening is expecting a greater crowd than ever this year. Tables have been arranged for bridge, five hundred and mah jongg. The affair is given for the Club and will begin at 8 o'clock.

Chicken Supper

The Ladies of Ebenezer Church will hold their annual chicken supper in the basement of the church on Wednesday evening, November 18th. Everybody invited.

State Tax Plans Under New Regime Given To Public

Pierre S. duPont, New Commissioner, Gives Views Of Situation Confronting State; Diagnoses "Ills" Of Existing State Of Affairs

HOLDS WIDE AUTHORITY

In a statement made public early this week, Pierre S. duPont, new State Tax Commissioner, struck at the ills of the present situation regarding Delaware income taxes, and in a clear, concise manner, outlined his campaign of action in his new office.

Mr. duPont took over the affairs of the tax office in Wilmington Monday morning and plunged immediately into a mass of work which had accumulated during the past few days. A force of clerks are busy now answering thousands of inquiries and other correspondence.

Mr. duPont, in his statement, says:

"Many taxpayers have been troubled by errors of the State School Tax Department. It is annoying to receive a notice of delinquency, with a statement of the possible penalties to be inflicted upon a delinquent, when one holds a receipt for his tax, or a cancelled check for taxes endorsed by the Tax Department. What is worse, this annoyance costs the people of Delaware a considerable sum of money and causes the Tax Department a lot of trouble that it would gladly avoid. In fact, everybody is interested in reducing annoyance, trouble and cost.

"The School Tax Law is in force and cannot be changed until January, 1927, when the next Legislature meets. Whatever change we may then make it is certain that nobody will propose to relieve those who have so far failed to pay their taxes. Such procedure would be grossly unfair to those who have already paid.

"It is the duty of the School Tax Department to treat all taxpayers fairly and alike. Now that one-half have paid their taxes we can not permit the other half to avoid their payments. On the other hand, there is much to be said by way of excuse for those who have failed to pay.

"This law is new; only three years have passed since its adoption by the Legislature of 1923 and less than one year since its important amendment by the Legislature of 1925. When one calls for a copy he may receive it as a part of the "School Laws of the State of Delaware, 1923," a pamphlet of 98 pages, or from the State Tax Department in form of a small pamphlet of 32 pages, giving the tax law complete and as amended by the Legislature of 1925. No matter how the copy is obtained, the law is not easily understood. The Tax Commissioner acknowledges having spent several days in writing out his understanding of its words, but had not sufficient confidence in this undertaking to publish it without reference to a lawyer.

"With all the difficulties to be faced, probably not more than a few hundred of the 135,000 taxable citizens of Delaware have read the law. (Continued on Page 4.)

RECALLS FOUNDING OF PARISH HOUSE

George Dobson Addresses St. Thomas Church School, Sunday Morning.

Mr. George Dobson, a vestryman of St. Thomas Church, gave the address to the Church School last Sunday morning. Mr. Dobson's talk was most interesting to all as he explained the past history of the Parish House, how the funds were raised, and the building put up. His talk was full of enthusiasm and he himself was a boy in the church at that time.

Mr. Dobson gives a Bible each year at Christmas to the scholar bringing in the most pupils who go to no other church. He has been a regular worker for the church since early Sunday School days.

This talk was one of a series given by the vestrymen to the Church School each Sunday.

Council Moves To Regulation Of Auto Parking Here

New Ordinance Given First and Second Readings Monday Night; Fire Siren Incident Closed, at Uneventful Meeting

That the business section of Newark between Newark Center and Elkton avenue will shortly have a regulated system of automobile parking rules was made plain at the regular meeting of Council Monday night, when an ordinance to that effect was given its first and second reading.

Drawn up by Charles B. Evans, attorney for Council, the ordinance in effect states that parking hours within this section will be strictly enforced. The limit has been tentatively set at two hours. This detail, however, has not been definitely agreed on and probably will not be until the next Council meeting. Adoption or rejection will come up at that time.

The traffic situation here, especially at night, has become acute, according to Councilmen, and a move must be made in the interest of both the merchants and visitors. One feature of the proposed law sets forth that no parking will be allowed under any circumstances opposite opening of lanes or alleys, or directly in front of fire plugs, or opposite the fire house. Many times residents of Main street have been penned up by cars parked at the opening of driveways and alleys. The ordinance seems to have the hearty accord of Councilmen who were present Monday night.

Two property owners on Prospect avenue were ordered by Council to have pavements laid before the dwellings thereon within the stated time limit or abide by the law in that behalf.

Little other business was transacted at the meeting. Adjournment took place within the hour. Present: Mayor Frazer, Councilmen Beales, Wilson, Buckingham and Widdoes.

ROADSIDE MERCHANT VICTIM OF THIEVES

$200 In Stock Taken From Stand at Whiteman's Corner, Saturday.

Thieves sometime Saturday night are reported to have stolen over $200 worth of tobacco, clothing, and other merchandise from the roadside shop of Enrico Suppi, an Italian, along the Porters Road, near Whiteman's Corner, about three miles from Newark.

The owner of the shop, who lives near Iron Hill, did not discover his loss until the following day. He maintains a general refreshment stand and gasoline station.

State policemen were on the scene yesterday and have taken charge of the investigation. As yet no trace of the alleged thieves has been found.

Saturday's Musicales Will Open Season For Local Society; Conflicting Dates Straightened

New Century Club Christmas Party On December 14th To Be Changed To 15th To Accommodate Westminster Singers' Recital; Burke Sings November 20th

What was believed to be an unfortunate conflict of dates between the New Century Club and the Newark Music Society early next month has been straightened out by both organizations, according to an announcement made yesterday.

It was found last week that the dates of the Century Club's Christmas party and the Westminster Choral Club recital here fall on December 14th. To ease the situation, the Century Club at its meeting yesterday, graciously changed their date to the 15th, thus insuring the success of both affairs.

Season Opens Saturday

The musical season here opens Saturday night of this week when Dean Robinson will be hostess to members at a recital in Sussex Hall at the Women's College. This affair will be free to all members of the Society. An interesting program is planned.

The next offering will take place on November 20th when Edmund Burke, well known Canadian bass-baritone, will sing here. He has been described as the "Singing Soldier Lawyer of Canada" and the title is well deserved. He is no doubt a great singer as his record with the Convent Garden Opera Company, the Beecham Opera Company, the Royal Opera of Holland and the Metropolitan Opera Company shows. He is a great soldier for Captain Edmund Burke of the Canadian Overseas Forces was twice cited in dispatches and decorated. His advancement from one rank to the next was rapid and he proved himself a daring and brave officer. He is a lawyer for he holds a degree as Bachelor of Laws from the University of McGill. There are few men on the operatic and concert series of trick forward pass plays from a spread formation that finally put the ball over.

Delaware Wins Colorless Game From Upsala 24-7

Teams Maul Each Other Around Through Four Periods Of Poor Football; Blocked Kicks Lead To Scores; Blue Hen Varsity Shaken Up To No Avail

BARKLEY STARS AT WING POST

An awkward, unpolished group of footballers from a place called Upsala, near Orange, New Jersey, called at Frazer Field Saturday afternoon, were mauled and shoved around for a couple of hours and went home again on the short end of a 24-7 score. Little can be said about the game from a spectator's standpoint save that it was the season's worst.

Hopes that the past week's intensive drilling by Coach Forstburg had improved the Delaware attack were blasted a few minutes after the opening whistle. A "pony" backfield started the game in an endeavor to speed up the plays. No results. More weight was added, still no results; the Blue and Gold played hard, earnest football, but once again demonstrated that the old punch and fire on the offense is still as far away as ever.

Two Delaware touchdowns were the direct results of blocked kicks; six more points were added by Fritz Creamer's two field goals. Time and again the Blue Hens were held for downs by a team, which man for man, was vastly weaker. Back and forth went the ball through a slipshod first half.

Perhaps the outstanding man on the Delaware team Saturday was young Barkley, playing his first full game at end. He caught the attention of everyone who saw the game.

The Blue and Gold line showed fine defensive ability having little trouble holding the Blue and Gray team from East Orange. A run by Dave Loveland in the last quarter, that was not allowed because a Delaware man was off-sides, was the prettiest bit of field work of the afternoon. On the forty-yard line Loveland took the ball on a wide run around right end and out-sprinted the opposition as far as the twenty-yard line where he reversed his field and took the ball over only to have it brought back.

It was in the closing minutes of the initial quarter that Fritz Creamer's trained toe put a three-pointer through the bars for Delaware. Later he duplicated this feat, making the fourth field goal he has booted out of a like number of games.

The Blue and Gold was penalized 75 yards for various offenses, usually either holding or off-sides.

The Upsala eleven, which is coached by "Chief" Newbury, of Syracuse fame, started a good offensive in the last period which ended in a touchdown. They got a good start when Tarsen the visiting fullback darted through center and cutting for the side line ran forty yards to Delaware's thirty-yard line before he was stopped. This long run gave Upsala a new lease on life and they began a stage who can boast of accomplishments in so many various fields of endeavor as Edmund Burke.

Mr. Burke sings on the 17th at the Academy of Music, in Philadelphia, as a feature of their fall and winter concert season.

Attention has been called to the fact that complimentary tickets will be awarded for the Westminster concert on the 14th of December to all those who purchased tickets for the two concerts, February 24 and March 13th of this year.

Furthermore THE POST was in error last week in its account of Music Society activities when it was stated that these concerts "were not held." They were held on the stated dates and very much enjoyed by local music lovers. The granting of the complimentary tickets this fall is not done for the purpose implied in last week's article.

LOVETT AVENUE—THE STORY IN BRIEF

Working shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Lovett in the building of the houses was A. B. Foote, "Ad," they call him, the general contractor. Brick and cement work was supervised by Samuel Little; plastering by Robert Tweed and sons; plumbing and heating by Daniel Stoll; painting by John J. Scott and Sheaffer; grading by Elliott Brothers.

The Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company, through Charles B. Evans and Warren Singles, handled financial details. Town Council, through Mayor Frazer, cooperated in many ways in the matter of water and sewer problems. A. L. Geist installed the pipeless heaters, and Lovett's furniture store hung the curtains and laid linoleum; sidewalks and curbing were placed by F. W. Lovett.

Great credit is due Mr. Lovett for the development of the property and the improvement of that section of town. In commenting on the avenue, he expressed his appreciation of the help received from town authorities and the cooperation on the part of Mr. Foote, and the various subcontractors.

ELKTON LEGION MEN TO PARADE NOV. 11th.

Armistice Day Celebration In Cecil County to Center at Elkton Monument.

A large American Legion parade, the presenting by that body to the new elementary school at Elkton of a large American flag, and services at the Soldiers' Memorial at the Court House, will constitute the features of Elkton's Armistice Day celebration this year.

Tentative plans have been formed by the legionnaires and public spirited citizens for the observance of the anniversary, and committees have been appointed to take charge of various details.

The parade and presenting of the colors will take place in the afternoon. The Elkton Band will head the line of march. Then will follow brief exercises at the new school, and further services around the monument.

Robert C. Thackery, president of the Cecil County Soldiers' Memorial Association, has designated his committee for the decoration of the monument. A beautiful array of flowers will be banked around the statue. The committee follows:

Mrs. Samuel H. King, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hurn, Miss Harriet Walmsley, Mrs. J. Frank Frazer, Miss Ida Davis, Mrs. Joshua Clayton, Mrs. Nathan Karl, Mrs. Rose DiPaola, Miss Clara Biddle, Mrs. Henry Cleaves, Mrs. Wm. Selby, Mrs. Robert C. Thackery, Mrs. Frank L. Bryson, Mrs. A. FODDER IN ROAD IS BLAMED FOR ACCIDENT

Nelson Kay Escapes Injury When Car Hits Pole Near Elk Mills.

While driving to his home in Elk Mills during the storm last Friday night, Nelson Kay of that town, in avoiding a pile of fodder in the roadway, drove his new coach into a nearby telephone pole and turned over.

While his machine was somewhat damaged, Mr. Kay escaped without injury. It is understood that he did not see the fodder until too late. The car was later righted and sent to a garage for repairs.

BRIDGE OVER CANAL AT SUMMIT STILL OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Despite advices from Government officials that it would be closed Sunday, the overhead highway bridge across the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal at the peak of the "Deep Cut" remains open, according to reports from travelers on the highway. A determined fight on the part of residents of the lower county may have been the reason for postponing the closing of the bridge to traffic. On the left of the photograph above can be seen the piers which will support the new concrete and steel span and gives an idea of how the approach will be straightened out.

In the background can be seen the extent of the digging operations through which the canal has been widened at Summit.

Thousands Watch Elkton Hallowe'en Frolic; Many Prizes Awarded To Clever Masqueraders

Elkton is getting used to big crowds. It is unlikely, however, that the town has ever been so full of people as Saturday night last. What with the regular Saturday hordes of shoppers and pleasure seekers, and hundreds come to celebrate Hallowe'en, a record was certainly set. Conservative estimates place the number of spectators along the line of march Saturday night at over 10,000.

While not as large as in former years, the parade was compact and attractive. Costumes and clever stunts were up to par and the onlookers were well entertained. A noticeable falling off in the number of floats and horsemen was a subject of much comment during the evening. Marchers on foot kept their ranks tight and keen competition for prizes was in order.

Streets Jammed With Cars
Due to the crush of people, it was almost impossible to find parking space on Elkton streets after seven o'clock Saturday evening. Many Newark visitors were forced to leave their machines on the outskirts of town and walk to the business section.

Four bands were in line, and good music was plentiful. Sterling Dunbar's Elkton Band was in particular fine trim and won a great deal of applause. Other bands were North East, Chesapeake City and Perryville.

The marchers passed in review twice before the judges stand on North street. On the second turn, the authors and actors in various skits had their opportunity to duly impress the judges.

List of Prize Winners

Leo Moore, of Havre de Grace; William H. Johnson, of Chesapeake City; Cecil C. Squier, of Port Deposit, and Mrs. I. D. Davis and Miss Lillian Grimm, of Elkton, acted as judges. The prizes and the winners were as follows:

Automobiles—First prize, $25, donated by the employees of the Victory Sparkler Company, won by J. Harvey Moore, Providence, Md.; second prize, $15, donated by the same people, to Philip Rambo, Elkton; third prize, $10, donated by Fader Motor Company, Newark, to William Ayers, Childs, Md.

Floats—First prize, $25, donated by Newton-Mitchell Company and Keys and Miller Company, Elkton Boy Scouts, Troop No. 2; second prize, $15, donated by Broad Creek Construction Company and J. H. Terrell and Son, to nurses of Union Hospital.

Senior Fancy—First prize, $15, donated by National Bank of Elkton, to James Kincaid, Elkton; second prize, silk table cover, donated by Kay and Todd Company, Elk Mills, to Miss Nora Caldwell and Mrs. Ralph Skillman, Elkton; third prize, $5, donated by Malin and Delbert, to A. V. Peterson, Wilmington, Del.

Mermaid
The annual Hallowe'en party was held Monday night at Harmony Grange. Despite the weather, the hall was full.

Many of the members came masked, and a feature of the program was the parade around the room by masqueraders during which time their identities were guessed. Among the guests Monday were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Snyder, master and secretary respectively of Pomona Grange. Mrs. Harvey Gregg was also a visitor. Plans were discussed for the holding of the 5th Degree at Masonic Hall, Newport, on November 19.

During the lecturer's hour, the program was devoted to appropriate Hallowe'en games. Later refreshments were served.

Helen and Martin Pennington attended a Hallowe'en party near Red Clay Creek Church, Saturday evening.

Walker Pennington was a guest at a dinner given at the home of Mrs. William Moore, Roselle, Saturday evening.

Edward Rubencane was a week-end guest with friends here.

Howard Pierson visited his brother at the Mermaid over the week-end.

T. Muncey Keith, of Wilmington, spent Sunday at the William P. Peach home.

MUSHROOM HOUSE DESTROYED WITH LOSS SET AT $5000

Property of Elmer Taylor, Near Hockessin, Prey to Flames Sunday; Firemen Put Up Valiant Fight to Save It.

Two rural fire companies, Cranston Heights and Five Points, battled most of Sunday afternoon to save the large mushroom house on the Elmer Taylor property near Hockessin. Despite their efforts, however, the building was practically destroyed by flames with an estimated loss of over $5000.

Both fire companies were notified when the blaze was discovered, and they made quick runs to the scene. Two streams of water were played on the burning building. The supply was plentiful, being taken from a nearby quarry pit. Mr. Taylor was in Philadelphia during the afternoon and knew nothing of his loss until he returned that night.

Apparently France figures it will be better to owe us that money forever than beat us out of a cent.—The Fergus Falls (Minn.) Journal.

SEES ELKTON PARADE; KILLED ON WAY HOME

Rising Sun Garage Owner Victim of Auto Crash Near Perryville Saturday.

Alton P. Lucas, aged 22 years, manager of a garage in Rising Sun, was instantly killed late Saturday night in an automobile accident along the road between Perryville and Aiken. He had been in Elkton to see the Hallowe'en parade and was returning home alone in his machine. J. Earl Wolthers, of Perryville, had had some tire trouble and had stopped his car at the side of the road to make repairs.

Lucas failed to see it for some reason and crashed into the Wolthers machine. Lucas' car was overturned and he was thrown out. His head struck the concrete roadway with terrific force and his skull was crushed, causing instant death.

Mrs. Wolthers and her daughter were in the car and they were thrown out by the force of the impact. Both were bruised, but not seriously hurt. Coroner Green held an inquest and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Lucas.

PLAN ORGAN RECITALS IN NORTH EAST CHURCH

St. Mary's Parish Will Have Services of Mrs. De Socio.

Mrs. Enrico De Socio, well known organist, has volunteered her services to St. Mary's Episcopal Church, North East, Md., for a series of Sunday evening pipe organ recitals for the benefit of the improvement fund of the church. Mrs. De Socio is a talented musician who has studied under several eminent Masters in this country as well as in Italy, and has secured wide recognition and award for her playing.

The recitals will begin at six-fifty and last until seven-thirty service, when a silver collection will be taken. An usher will be in the vestibule of the Church, and in no case will admission be allowed during the rendition of the numbers.

Mr. Nelson D. Gifford, from the Virginia Seminary, will assist the rector Sunday evening, November 8th. On Sunday evening, November 15th, Rev. John R. Hart, who is rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, Philadelphia, Pa., and active in student work at the University of Pennsylvania, will preach.

Pleasant Hill

The Ladies Mite Society of Ebenezer M. E. Church, will hold their annual poultry supper Wednesday evening November 18.

"Not Servile Minds, But Sincere"

New York "World" Editor Tells Teachers That Majority Opinion Cannot Be Twisted

Commenting on the Scopes case in Tennessee Walter Lippmann, editor of the editorial page of the "New York World," before the State Teachers' Association at Indianapolis, this week said: "The Legislature of Tennessee passed a bill to forbid the teaching in schools supported by public funds of what is popularly called the doctrine of evolution. We are not concerned here as to the truth of the doctrine of evolution. * * *

"We are concerned with a much more practical question—the question of the arguments used to justify the Legislature in exercising such power. Those who believe in the law argued that the taxpayers paid for the schools, and that therefore a majority of those taxpayers had the right to say how their money was to be spent. If they did not want their tax money to be spent on the teaching of a doctrine of which they disapproved, they had, acting through their Representatives in the Legislature, every right to forbid it. You have in this argument the doctrine of the absolute right of the majority to decide all questions. * * *

"According to this theory, science must look not to the facts and to reason for its conclusions but to the majority of the Legislature. The teacher under this theory becomes a mere transmitter of what the majority thinks the next generation ought to know. "This same doctrine is widely held in my profession. There are newspaper men who feel that they have said the last word on any subject when they have announced that they are giving the public what it wants. The doctrine has produced the tabloid newspaper, it has produced yellow journalism, it has produced jingo journalism, it has produced stale and tepid journalism; it has produced all the journalism in which the journalist regards himself as a caterer to the multitude and not as a man bound to seek the facts patiently and honestly and to report them fearlessly. The statute passed by the Tennessee Legislature carries this servile doctrine into the fabric of the law. * * *

"If we owe any duty to society, it is to present ourselves as people who do not live with our ears to the ground, who do not ride before every wind, who do not, in short, sacrifice everything for the applause of the gallery. Majority rule is a device for governing certain institutions, but it is neither omnipotent nor omniscient, nor applicable to every phase of human life. If you are ill you go to the best doctor and seek his advice, and when you have that advice you don't care a plugged nickel if Congress and forty-eight State Legislatures all pass resolutions saying that he's wrong. If you want to build a home you go to an architect and an engineer, not to a mass meeting. If you read a newspaper you want the editor's honest opinion and not his opinion of what he thinks you would like him to think. If you go to school and study biology you want to know what biologists think and not what the Legislature of Tennessee thinks. For truth, for beauty, for friendship, for the things of the spirit, you do not go to the greatest number, for if you do you will not find them. * * *

"The majority is a sovereign power which, like every other sovereign power, King, Prince or institution, is tolerable only if kept strictly within constitutional limits. I object to the theory of the Tennessee statute as I object to the doctrine of the divine right of kings, because it is an assertion of autocratic power which is incompatible with a free and ordered civilization. Men can no more tolerate an absolute majority than they can tolerate an absolute monarch. * * *

"It is no easy thing, I admit, to determine where the powers of the majority ought to end. But all constitutional government is an effort to fix the limits of power, and we in this generation can no more abandon the effort to set limits upon power than did our forefathers. They framed Constitutions and enacted Bills of Rights to limit the power of the sovereigns of their day. The American Constitution is perhaps the most systematic effort ever made by man to give weight to all the powers within the Nation and yet to prevent any one of them from mastering all the others. The very essence of the American Constitution is an attempt to keep all majorities in equilibrium, balanced, with none of them absolute. If we wish to preserve not necessarily the letter of the Constitution but its essence, we must be quick to detect and quick to resist usurpation by any kind of power. * * *

"The power which we have to consider at this moment is the power of random majorities collected and directed by organized propaganda. These majorities, for which some men are now claiming the power to regulate our personal lives, our habits, our customs and our consciences, are produced by the conjunction of organized publicity and an incomplete education. The opinions of these majorities, for which such vast power is claimed, are not spontaneous judgments. They are worked up, stoked up, arranged and calculated by men, some of them sincere and some of them insincere, who have discovered this great and ominous fact: that popular education has made it possible to reach people with printed matter, but it has not prepared those people to discriminate as to what they receive from printed matter. The little red school house, has made it easy for the propagandist to flourish. The little red school house has not yet made a citizenship immune to the blandishments of those who want to put things across. * * *

"How can it? How can you as teachers build up a resistance in your pupils against propaganda? How can we as newspaper men keep our pages clean against those who wish to use them not to report the facts and express their opinions but to create prejudice for something they wish to accomplish? I know of no way except by building up our own resistance to the propagandist. * * *

"The fundamental way to build up that resistance is to clear our own minds of the sophistry, of the democratic fallacy, that there is any peculiar righteousness in majorities. Unless we can look to the facts for our truths and not to the opinions of majorities, unless we look for our authority to tested competence and not to collected crowds, unless we learn to follow truth wherever it leads and not to judge it by the amount of applause, we are not fit to teach schools or to conduct newspapers. * * *

"We shall be failing in our highest duty to society, which is to contribute not a servile mind but a sincere one."—Editor and Publisher.

STATE TAX PLAN

Opinions have been formed from hearsay.

"Many do not know that the entire amount of income taxes collected, and the filing fee also, are turned over to the Public School Fund for the support of the Public Schools of the whole state.

The Filing Fee

"Many think that the Filing Fee is retained by the Tax Commissioner himself. Such is not the case, as the salaries of the Commissioner and all employees of his office, as well as the expenses, are paid from the annual appropriation of the Legislature and from fines collected. The Commissioner has no right to payment beyond his salary of $4,000.

"Some have believed the Filing Fee an unconstitutional tax but the Supreme Court of Delaware in the January term of 1922 upheld its constitutionality.

"It has been widely published and it is true that many more income tax returns are made to the United States Government by Delawareans than are made to the State. Such a condition discourages those from whom taxes are still due for they have seen no ill result flowing from delinquency and, until recently, little power in the Tax Department to make collection.

"Probably not more than one-half of those who should pay a filing fee only, have done so. If the law and the provision for its enforcement are not sufficient, why should one-half continue to pay while the other half does not?

"Have we not an abundance of cause for delinquency and does not this cause amount to an excuse to those who have not paid already?

"The remedy for the existing ills seems clear.

"First, we must consider the taxes now due and unpaid, through failure to make return March 15, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925, as obligations to the State which must be paid and which no Legislature can forgive.

"Second, we should recognize the causes for non-payment and give time for making returns to those now willing to recognize the law, leaving to be legally compelled only the few who, having learned of their duty and the ability and intent of the Department to make collections, still refuse to make payment.

"As much confusion exists on account of failure to give the State School Tax Department full and correct names and addresses, all tax payers should pay special attention to this point and should also insist on having receipts for payments, also partment should be informed of all unfair or undesirable features of the law that need to be changed or stricken out. However, it must be remembered that this law provides for a large part of the cost of maintaining the Public Schools, and therefore, it cannot be repealed or materially altered without substituting another source of income.

"The State School Tax Department is issuing a notice, offering liberal

NEW CENTURY CLUB

The Newark New Century Club House on Monday, November 2nd, at 2.30 p. m. With big logs crackling in the fireplace much business of vital interest was transacted relative to new members, the big card party to be given on Friday, November 6th, the big chicken supper on December 3rd, and the evening of music and dramatics the third week in December. Following the business, Mr. A. D. Cobb sang two selections in his usual delightful manner, accompanied on the piano by Miss Nell Wilson, after which Dr. E. B. Crooks, of the University of Delaware, gave a very comprehensive talk on world affairs, surveying political current events in Europe, Asia, Africa, the British Isles and our own country, bringing out many interesting points for discussion.

The next meeting will be on Monday, November 16th, in charge of Mrs. A. D. Cobb, chairman of the Education committee, and a most interesting meeting is promised.

ANNUAL MISSIONARY MEETING NOV. 12-13

The annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church will be held in the Methodist Church at Middletown, on November 12 and 13. The local church has appointed Mrs. E. B. Crooks, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. Rebecca Crossan and Mrs. F. A. Cooch as delegates to the convention.

OBITUARY

Howard E. Gyles

Howard E. Gyles, a former resident of Newark and a freight conductor on the P. R. R., died in the Brandywine Sanitarium last Wednesday from tuberculosis. He was confined there two months prior to which he had been living with his family in Wilmington.

JOIN

Mr. Gyles was born in Chester, but had been a resident of Wilmington for 12 years, having gone there from Newark. He belonged to Division No. 224, O. R. C.; American Flag Council, No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., and the I. O. O. F., both of Newark, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Relief Association. The funeral was held from his home Monday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. Rev. E. W. McDowell, pastor of Eastlake M. E. Church, assisted by Rev. Zack Wells, pastor of New Castle M. E. Church, officiated. Burial was in the Chester Rural Cemetery, Chester. His wife, Mrs. Estella P. Gyles, his mother, Mrs. Jenny P. Gyles, Chester; two brothers, Frank W. and Clarence Gyles, and two sisters, Mrs. Harry Montgomery, and Miss Helen Gyles, all of Chester, remain.

The Men's League Corner

(Written for The Post)

The Halloween social given by the Men's League of Newark M. E. Church on last Friday night was a great success. The folks who came enjoyed themselves for a while and were later entertained by Mr. Harry Thompson on the origin and customs of the season. This was followed by a ghost story.

Next a trio of entertainers composed of Henry Mote, Len. Rhodes and Paul Rhodes got in some good licks. "The Embalming of Ebenezer" was followed by the usual rounds of songs ending with a sermon by Rev. Mr. Jackson (Len. Rhodes) who took his text and expounded most wonderfully. Then followed the refreshments which are ever a part of the meetings. Although not a financial venture, this social netted about $18.00 for the building fund.

Next meeting the men have secured Dr. Charles L. Hubbard, of St. Paul's, Wilmington, as the attraction. It will be an open meeting and every one is invited to attend. Better go early if you want to get in. Refreshments and a silver offering. Oh, Yes! the date is November 17. Sometime in the evening. Somewhere in the Church.

By the way, don't forget the Men's and Ladies' Supper on the 12th.

Eight Speed Kings Tear Up Road in Dix Picture

Eight well known professional racing drivers, including Leo Nomis, the famous movie "stunt" man, take part in a road race scene which provides many of the spine-tingling thrills in Richard Dix's latest Paramount starring picture, "The Lucky Devil," which will be the feature at the Opera House on Thursday, for a two days' run.

The story is a screen original by Byron Morgan, who wrote "Code of the Sea" and "The Air Mail." Frank Tuttle, who directed Dix in "Too Many Kisses," made this one also.

Announcement To The Citizens of Delaware By The State School Tax Department

November 2, 1925

An examination of letters received from delinquent taxpayers, the general misunderstanding that prevails concerning the Personal Income Tax Law and the failure of nearly one-half of the taxpayers, to make return or pay tax during the four years that the law has been in effect, have all led to a conclusion that "good cause exists" for allowing further time for filing returns.

The law reads:—"In case of sickness, absence or other disability, or whenever in its judgment good cause exists, the Tax Department may allow further time for filing returns" and "If the time for filing the return shall be extended, interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, from the time when the return was originally required to be filed, to the time of payment, shall be added and paid."

Attention is called to the duty of Delawareans to make a return of Personal Income Tax and pay a Filing Fee for the years 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924.

Those who must make a personal return and those who need make no return are shown as follows:—

Those who must make a return and pay a filing fee and tax if due.

Every citizen of Delaware who is 21 years of age or over.

Every person over 21 years of age, or minor with income of more than $1000, who is now a resident of the State or who shall at any time, during the last six months of the calendar year, have been a resident of the State.

Those who need make no return nor pay tax or filing fee.

Minors with net income of less than $1000 during the year.

Women receiving Mother's pensions.

Inmates of Almshouses and other charitable institutions.

Persons receiving outside support from Trustees of the Poor.

Persons who, because of age, infirmity or mental disability are wholly dependent for support.

Note: Old, infirm or mentally disabled persons relieved of tax include those who are entirely dependent for living expenses upon pension granted by the United States or other Government, by any of the States or by any Fraternal or other beneficial order or upon annuity due under an annuity contract.

Soldiers or those who have undergone military or naval service are not exempted on that account.

If a person ought to be exempted from making a return and from paying tax for any year and for any one of the allowable causes shown above, a written statement to the State School Tax Department, naming the cause, will clear the record and there will be no further annoyance.

If a person has no taxable income but can not claim one of the named causes for exemption, he or she should make a return stating the fact and should pay the filing fee of $3.00.

The return for income tax and payment of filing fee was due on March 15th of each of the years 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925.

Any person, who should have paid a tax or filing fee for any one of those years and who has failed to do so, should write immediately or call in person at an office of the State School Tax Department,

2 East Ninth Street, Wilmington
State House, Dover
Court House, Georgetown

A written statement of the taxes due and the time when payment can be made should be given. The Tax Department proposes to be liberal in granting time to those who ask it. If time is granted no penalty will be added to the payment but six per cent interest on the amount from date originally due until paid will be charged.

In making claim for exemption or in making return of income the person making the return should use great care to state the exact truth as the penalty for intentional misstatement is severe and may be enforced against those wilfully guilty.

Persons who have received notice of delinquency and have made reply, need not do anything further until they receive notice from the State School Tax Department. About 10,000 letters have been received by the Department and about 15,000 persons have paid tax or filing fee during the past six weeks. It will require some to make answer to all letters.

Those having opportunity of guiding others are requested to call attention to this notice and to the proper action to be taken. Questions will be cheerfully answered as the Department desires that the law shall be known and understood by every citizen of Delaware.

All taxes and filing fees collected are turned over each month to the state treasurer for the school fund

ANNOUNCE LATEST WILMINGTON FACTORY

Triangle Agriculture Corporation Decides on River Site.

The Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington officially announced last night the establishment of a plant of the Triangle Agricultural Corporation on acreage leased from the Board of Harbor Commissioners adjoining the Marine Terminal. The approval of the lease by the Council concludes all preliminary negotiations.

The Triangle Agricultural Corporation, a new concern incorporated in Delaware, will manufacture a complete line of commercial fertilizers and deal in fertilizer materials such as acid phosphate, nitrate of soda, bone meal and potash salts and in poultry supplies. The site obtained for this enterprise under a long time lease adjoins the wharves and warehouses of the Marine Terminal and embraces several acres of land with certain buildings thereon.

The construction of additional factory buildings will be commenced immediately and it is expected that the plant will be in operation within ninety days, and will employ, when under full operation, about a hundred persons. Machinery of the most modern design has been ordered of a capacity to assure an output of two hundred tons mixed fertilizer per day. This machinery embraces all of the latest improvements in fertilizer equipment eliminating the objectionable features which have been associated with the manufacture of fertilizers in some communities.

RESOLUTIONS

On the Death of John Thomas Dempsey

WHEREAS, The Great Spirit in his all-wise providence has seen fit to call from the ranks of Redmanhood and from Wawa Tribe, No. 45, Imp. O. of R. Men, our esteemed Brother, John Thomas Dempsey, he having become a member of this Tribe in its very early history. His life ran close to and parallel with it. He was fully conversant with every phase of its growth and development up to the time of his death.

In his life as a Brother of our Order, he always preferred to await the call of duty, rather than to seek positions of honor.

The voice of our Brother is silent. His form is absent from us. His voice is forever hushed. His form will never return, his life has faded from our view into the unfolding and resplendent dawn of blissful immortality.

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be placed on the records and a copy be sent to each of his children.

Leslie McCormick, Harvey J. Davis, H. D. Connor, Committee.

exercises were held, and the chief address of the day was delivered by Dr. Mildred C. Thompson, dean of Vassar College.

Following a processional march by the college orchestra and group singing, Miss Anna Passmore, president of the Student Self-Government Association, spoke briefly on college ideals and the work of the honor system in vogue now.

Dean Robinson then presented the Senior Class of the Women's College to President Hulihan as being ready to receive their caps and gowns. President Hulihan went through the formal ceremony of investiture and the Sophomores invested the Seniors with the garments.

Dr. C. Mildred Thompson, dean of Vassar College, gave the main address of the day on "The Investiture of Learning." She told of the history of investiture as a ceremony, and what a great honor it was considered to be in the old days.

"Investiture," she said, "means the 'coming into possession of' and certainly students come into the possession of the kingdom of learning—a kingdom without time or space. It is knowledge which liberates. In the old days man feared lightning and disease with a horrible fear. Much of that old awe and dread is gone, because man has learned how to control these things, at least, in part."

After these ceremonies the Sophomores gave a reception in Residence Hall.

season. The heavy college backs, led by DiJosephs, were smeared on line plays in quick succession. Jack Dayett and George Cook at guards were stalwarts on the High School's defense. The lone Delaware touchdown was scored on a forward pass. Chalmers played his usual whirlwind game for Coach Nunn's outfit, and scored the deciding touchdown in the last few minutes of play.

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

Quaker Hospitality

Philadelphia hospitality is almost as far-famed as the renowned hospitality of the South. It will have a chance to display itself fully next summer when the Sesquicentennial International Exposition is held in that city and hundreds of thousands of visitors from all parts of the world will be its guests.

The hospitality of Philadelphia dates back to the days when the city was a Quaker settlement. The early settlers showed truly in the spirit of brotherly love, and the residents of today take pride in trying to outdo their predecessors when it comes to being courteous and neighborly.

There was a peculiar charm in the friendliness of the Quakers which gives pride to Philadelphians. The charm is increased by the prim, picturesque plainness of the early settlers. This love of simplicity is reflected in the architecture of many of the Quaker meeting houses which remain standing today in spite of the fact that, in some cases, they were erected when Pennsylvania was a British colony.

The largest of these is at Fourth and Arch streets. It is typically plain. The four walls are of unembellished red brick, and the roof is gabled, like so many buildings that had their origin in Colonial times. The interior is a picture in grey and brown and time-dulled white. Wide window sills, straight-backed pews and wooden pegs in the walls for hats give a touch of serenity that is impressive.

The typical Quaker is credited with having much common sense in spite of his reputation for generous hospitality. A story of a man who went to a Quaker friend for advice in buying a horse reflects the almost gruff brevity of their speech.

"I want a horse," said the man, "that must not cost much, but which shall be nice and quiet for mother to drive out with and take rides in the afternoon, one broken to the saddle so that I may go back riding in the morning, one that is strong enough to draw the carriage when we go to church, a horse that can be equipped to draw a load of hay and that could be used to go back and forward to market. Can you tell me where I can find such a horse?"

"No," said the Quaker, quietly, "I know of no such horse, but as these looks for one why dost thee not get one that is also a good milker?"

During the Revolutionary War the Quakers of Philadelphia distinguished themselves not only in the army, but also in the services they rendered in the Continental Congress and in giving financial aid to the nation at the most critical period in its history.

Robert Morris, who superintended the finances of the revolution, was a Quaker.

NEWARK, PAST AND PRESENT

A Series Of Sketches, Written In 1882 By James L. Valandigham, Jr., Of The Old Delaware Ledger, In Collaboration With Egbert Handy, And Released For Publication In Serial Form By The Newark Post.

There are many interesting historical memories about it. When the Swedes first came to this country, its top was crowned by a large Indian fort. In 1663 a battle between the Minqua and Seneca Indians took place either upon this or Chestnut Hill, which is quite near—most probably, however, on Iron Hill. The Senecas surrounded the fort of the Minquas, and made an offer of peace, but the Minquas, having the assistance from the Governor of Maryland of two small cannon, with four white men to manage them, attacked the Senecas, and completely defeated them. There may be some uncertainty about this battle having occurred here, but from a variety of circumstances, which it would be tedious to recount here, we are satisfied that it occurred at the locality mentioned. In 1654, when Governor Stuyvesant sent two ambassadors, Augustine Herman and Resolved Waldron, to settle matters in dispute between his Government and that of Maryland, they proposed to the Governor of Maryland that three commissioners should be appointed by that province, and three by the province of New Netherlands, to meet at or near a hill, which from the description must have been no other than Iron Hill. Near its eastern slope the severe skirmish at Cooch's Mill, just before the battle of Brandywine, took place; and for several nights before the advance to Chadds Ford, the British guards were encamped on its northern slope.

About three miles northeast is Polly Drummond's Hill, not far from White Clay Creek Church; a very beautiful view from its top, will reward the visitor. Many other agreeable rides and walks suggest themselves, but we have not the space to particularize.

The society of Newark is genial and cultivated, and few strangers after a sojourn here but feel regret at leaving. As a pleasant relief from the brick and mortar of cities, not many places can compare with this town and neighborhood.

A good town library furnishes the latest literary works to those desirous of intellectual food. This Library Association was formed October, 1878, and though the number of books is not large, they are well chosen, and it is steadily increasing. It is the aim to buy the latest publications of merit as they come out, a basis of standard authors having already been made. The officers are: President, Joseph Dean; Vice President, Rev. William D. Mackey; Secretary, Miss Sue W. Evans; Librarian, Wilbur T. Wilson; Treasurer, Dr. H. G. M. Kollock.

To those who are fond of outside sports, the Homewood Trotting Park, about a half mile from the village, is at times attractive. The Homewood Trotting Park Association as organized this year is as follows:

President, William Homewood; Secretary, James A. Wilson; Directors—William Homewood, A. J. Lilley, Joseph B. Lutton, James A. Wilson and E. L. Vandegrift.

In 1868 a new railroad running from Pomeroy to Delaware City, on the Delaware river, was opened through Newark. It did not prove a financial success, and for a considerable time no trains ran on it; but not long since it came into the hands of the Pennsylvania company, and now trains are run regularly.

Newark is about forty miles from Philadelphia, sixty miles from Baltimore and twelve miles from Wilmington. The population is estimated to be about 1,300, and in view of the enlargement of the woolen mill and the new railroad (the Baltimore and Ohio), there is no doubt it will largely increase in the next decade.

There are two large and well kept hotels in the village, the Deer Park, at the upper end, kept by Mr. John E. Lewis, and the Washington, about the center, by Mr. James A. Wilson. There is also a large summer boarding house called "Linden Hall," at the depot, which for years has been largely patronized by residents of Philadelphia and Baltimore. Many families in the country also receive summer boarders. Excellent and well trained horses can also be had at the large livery stables of Mr. James Morrison, and both of the hotels have livery stables for the convenience of their guests and others.

As to the future prospects of our little town, just now, in view of the probability of the new railroad to be built by the Baltimore and Ohio company, there are many speculations, some persons imagining that it may yet arise to the dignity of a large city. We hope not, for its chief charm is the contrast it presents to the stiff lines and formal ways of a city. Some years ago a Newark boy, in a composition read in school, gave his quaint view of the subject as follows: "Newark has for the last fifty years been increasing at both ends, and should this increase continue, owing to the rotundity of the earth, the two ends will in the course of a few thousand years meet. Thus it will form a belt around the world, and a town twenty-five thousand miles in length, which, like a woman's tongue, will have no end."

If this prophecy proves true, the growth of Newark, like the morning drum beat of England, "following the sun will circle the globe."

WOMEN'S COLLEGE NOTES

(Written for The Post)

Last week was one of excitement at Women's College. On Friday, at Chapel, Dean Robinson announced the names of those seniors who had been elected to membership in the honorary society of Phi Kappa Phi. This selection is based entirely on scholarship and is a coveted senior honor. Those students thus honored were: Merrel Pyle, Mary Francis, Louise Harris, Helen Simon, Irene Wilkinson, Helen Levy, Mary Louise Marvel, and Eloise Rodney.

The Athletic Council gave a real Halloween party in the Hilarium on Friday evening. The room was decorated with autumn leaves, fodder, and black and orange streamers. The costumes were wonderful to behold and the grand march showed them off to advantage. Those who arranged the affair were: Refreshments, Sara Coffin, Tacy Hurst; entertainment, Ruth Ewing, Rosalie Steele, Eleanor Butler, Bonnie Walker, Virginia Smith, Martha Vandever, and Eloise Rodney; prizes, Elizabeth Wiley and Florence Wilson; music, Linda Bassett.

A number of the girls had to look their best several times last week. Not only did they frolic in Halloween costumes and bedeck themselves in class colors, but they posed for pictures for the Year Book, the "Blue and Gold." The groups taken were: Review Staff, Freshman Class, Sophomore Class, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, All College Group, Athletic Council, Dramatic Board, Social Committee, Student Council, and Glee Club.

Saturday marked the eleventh anniversary of the founding of the Women's College and the formal beginning $90,000 so that if this was added to the $285,000 it would total $375,000. But with more than 10,000 more cars licensed in this state than last year it is only fair to estimate that the use of gas will be heavier than last year.

Basing all calculations on the last three months of 1924, the state will receive a total of $118,000 more from license fees and gas tax than last year. Many think the total increase for this year will be closer to $150,000.

From now on until the commission decides upon next year's road work, applications for highways will be piling up upon the department. Up until the last legislature the engineer of the commission was directed to submit plans for roads to the commission at the end of each year. As a result of amendments to highway legislation made by the last legislature, the engineer may from time to time submit plans and specifications which practically makes it possible to prepare for roadwork. But Engineer Mack will by the end of this year have many tentative suggestions to make to the commission concerning roads to be constructed next year.

SHORT TERM CREDIT BEST FOR FARMERS

Present System Faulty, Says Department of Agriculture At Washington

Farmers in many parts of the United States are unable to obtain from banks all the short-term credit they need. They are often obliged in consequence to accept additional credit from merchants and dealers. But merchant credit, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is often costly and unsatisfactory. Both farmers and merchants would be benefited if farmers could obtain most, if not all, of their credit from specialized credit institutions.

Merchant credit is most extensively used in the south. In some regions a large percentage of the tenant farmers, and often a considerable number of owner farmers, are more or less dependent on it. There are areas in which merchant credit is used more extensively than bank credit.

Farmers who use merchant credit often do not know what it costs them, because ordinarily the cost is not based on a fixed rate but is covered in a higher price paid for supplies purchased on credit. Farmers in certain

Relief Record Set By Red Cross

Huge Work After Midwest Tornado
The Greatest In American Annals

DISASTERS DROP IN 1924

Ranged From Fire To Earthquake And Covered Wide Area At Home And Abroad

Virtual completion of the largest peace-time project of post-disaster rehabilitation ever known has been accomplished by the American Red Cross in less than a year, as a part of its relief work in the more than 90 disasters in which it served in the past year.

This great program was undertaken following the tornado which struck five mid-western States last spring, killing 796 people, injuring 2,239 more, and causing incalculable property loss. It left a huge area of devastation in its wake, presenting a real problem. The Red Cross, however, went to work on the heels of the storm, caring for the injured, sheltering and feeding whole communities, and helping every individual sufferer from the destruction back to normal.

The magnitude of the problem is indicated by comparison of its huge casualty list with that of the entire preceding year, whose combined losses were 735 dead and not quite 2,000 injured, as a result of the record number of 192 catastrophes.

The story of the Red Cross service in the past year, recounted by the report, ranges from fires heading the list of destructive forces with 29 disasters, to mine explosions, tornadoes, typhoons, floods and earthquakes.

The Santa Barbara earthquake was among the outstanding events recorded in the report. The Red Cross had completed its relief organization on the scene within a few hours of the disaster, and in addition had launched a program designed to permanently restore every person affected by it, to his former status once more.

The Red Cross service in the period following the wreck of the Navy airship, "Shenandoah," was typical of its promptness and effectiveness. Service in this instance was afforded by Red Cross chapters in the vicinity of the wreck, and by representatives of the national organization. It demonstrates graphically the value of each of the more than 3,000 chapters of the society which are at work in virtually every part of the country, in the facility they afford the national organization in emergencies.

There were 61 domestic disaster operations reported in which the Red Cross rendered service either through chapter or national staff personnel during the year. In 34 of these the national organization appropriated a total of $3,047,256.49, the greater portion of which was received as direct contributions for the relief of specified disasters. The relief operations following the northern Ohio tornado of June, 1924, were brought to a close in May, 1925, after an arrangement had been made with the Lorain chapter to provide expert services to the families of any tornado sufferers who required such assistance in the next two years. In this single disaster the relief work, as finally accounted, reached a total of $1,019,751.23.

The mid-western tornado of this year, covering a strip of territory 400 miles long involved an expenditure up to June 30 of $774,000, while the total amount turned in to the fund through the agency of the Red Cross was $2,045,000. In addition to this sum specifically collected for the purpose, the Red Cross had expended from its regular reserves $124,000.

In all these disasters, Red Cross workers have been impressed by the spirit of determination and hopefulness shown by the people. Once they recovered from their grief and bewilderment, they began at once to rebuild, materially and other wise, and always on a better scale where possible. Another significant feature of these occurrences, as noted in the report of the Red Cross, was the promptness with which the local chapters organized emergency relief before help could be received from outside sources. A direct effect of their example has been to stimulate disaster relief preparedness among chapters all over the country.

The services of the American Red Cross are performed invariably in the name of the American people. On the effectiveness of this representation during the past year, it will launch the ninth annual roll call this year on November 11, to continue until Thanksgiving, November 26, during which support through membership will be invited for 1925.

In Memoriam

RUPP—In loving memory of my dear husband, Jacob Rupp, who passed away October 30, 1919.

There is a grief that cannot find comfort.

A wound that cannot be healed,
A sorrow deep in my heart
That cannot be relieved.
Of grief and sorrow
I've had my share,
But the loss of you, Dear One,
Was hardest to bear.

Sadly missed by his WIFE.

DELAWARE TRAPSHOTS MADE FINE RECORDS

L. D. Willis Leads State Delegation To Victory In National Tournament.

A recent dispatch from the headquarters of the American Trapshooting Association to THE POST follows: "The great shooting of L. D. Willis, Wilmington, Delaware, has put him so far ahead of his nearest rivals in Delaware that the high average race of Delaware for 1925 is nothing short of a rout. Last year Willis averaged .9483, but had not shot the required number of targets to be eligible for the High Average honors. Doc. Lenderman was the big noise in Delaware last year. He captured the championship, the all around and at the end of the year he was sitting on top with the high average. This year Willis is taking the place of Doc. by winning the Delaware state championship, the all around, the high over all, and will no doubt be the high average winner for the year.

H. B. Wendling has a shade over George Hill for runner up position. It will be remembered that Wendling won the Delaware state handicap championship last June by breaking 96 out of 100 from the 21 yard line. Wendling has made some excellent scores in the handicap races this year. He has two 96 scores to his credit and one 95 which helps his handicap average considerably. He will be found near the top in the National Handicap high average race at the end of the season.

J. L. Luke, Wilmington, all around state champion, ranks seventh on the list, he shot at more registered targets than any of the high shooters. Cap. Simonton, popular Delaware State Association President, is shooting a great clip this year. Cap has only shot at 900 registered targets, so his name does not appear with the high scores. H. S. Crawford leads Delaware professionals with .9470 on 1635 targets.

Delaware is a small state, but it stands out in trapshooting affairs with the best of them. Last year this little state boasted of 50 annual members, this year they have 100. Two registered shoots were held here last year, this year they have held five to date. Last year 79,000 targets were trapped at these shoots, this year over 100,000 have been thrown. Seven shooters from Delaware visited the G. A. H. this year. Five of this number were Life Members in the Amateur Trapshooting Association. Herb Albaugh is the State Secretary of this booming little trapshoot state.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE

of the construction of the new dormitory and dining hall, New Castle Hall. It is a tradition that on this day the Sophomore class shall present to the college a tree. This year a tulip tree was planted near the Practice House. Appropriate exercises, at which Governor Robinson spoke, were held on the site of the new dormitory. At Wolf Hall the Seniors were invested with their caps and gowns. Dr. Mildred Thompson, Dean of Vassar College, gave an address on "The Investiture of Learning." The speaker told of the meaning of investiture and of the dignity and responsibility that the cap and gown imply. The scholar, she said, enjoys privileges that no one else enjoys and he is expected to live up to the standards that have made this privilege his. Dr. Thompson paid high tribute to Dean Robinson and Dr. Quessita Drake, two members of the Women's College Faculty who have made us richer, but Vassar poorer.

Following the exercises at Wolf Hall, a reception was given by the Sophomore class to faculty, students, and friends at Residence Hall. This was the most largely attended of any reception that has been given at the college. Marjorie Johnson, president of the Sophomore class, and Evelyn Bell, secretary, presided at the tea tables. Those who served were: Jean Lobach, Mary Jefferis, Viola Williams, Frances Eckbert, Sara Coffin, Lydia Wilson, Ruth Larter, Margaret Brady, Elizabeth Brady, Olive Murray, Martha Maull, Dorothy Bond, Bertha Cooper, Martha Vandever, and Lydia Wilson. Those in the receiving line were: Miss Eleanor Kane, vice-president of the Sophomore class; Dean Robinson, Dean Thompson, Miss Keely, Miss Parker, Miss Passmore, Mrs. Warner, and Ex-Chancellor Charles M. Curtis.

A delightful program of music, recitations and dancing was given.

About two hundred couples enjoyed the Hallowe'en Dance in Old College Saturday. About half that number were in costume. The music was furnished by Ash's Orchestra. The patronesses were Miss Eloise Rodney, chairman of social committee, Miss Parker, Miss McKinney, Mrs. Townsend, and Mrs. Johnson.

At Vespers on Sunday evening, Miss Krauss, president of the Y. W. C. A., spoke to the girls. Miss Ella Reynolds lead the services for the meeting.

Last evening, practically the entire student body and faculty enjoyed the theatre party given by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre du Pont to see "Saint Joan." Shaw's play, with Julia Arthur as "Joan." Mr. and Mrs. du Pont were royal hosts and the evening one long to be remembered.

College Visitors

Mrs. Harvey Rodney, of Laurel, and Miss Mary Louise Mayer, of Dover, spent the week-end with Eloise Rodney.

Mrs. Katie Francis, of Delmar, was the guest of her daughter, Mary Francis, on Founders' Day.

Miss Sarah Hurlock, of Greenbank, visited Miss Louise Brooks, Saturday and Sunday.

Other week-end visitors were: Charlotte Dayett, '25; Eleanor Vineyard, '23; Mrs. Edward Murphy, '25; Alice Bierman, ex-'27; Emmarrene Baldwin, ex-'25; Dorothy Nunn, '25, and Marjorie Brosius, '25.

PLAYHOUSE

"The Half-Caste"

A rare treat for playgoers is the coming to the Playhouse, Wilmington, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights with Wednesday matinee, November 9, 10 and 11 of Mlle. Veronica, the charming French actress and noted dancer known the world over as the possessor of the most perfect legs, and insured for $100,000. She will be seen in an intense drama of the South Sea Islands, entitled "The Half-Caste," surrounded by a bevy of dancing beauties amid sparkling settings of rare charm, exotic music, bewitching lighting effects and colorful costumes, depicting the gay life of these Southern women. Each and every member of the dancing chorus supporting Mlle. Veronica was chosen for her particular style of beauty, form and shape. Mlle. Veronica is accompanied by her own quartet of Parisian dancers. The story of "The Half-Caste" is said to be more daring than "White Cargo," unfolding a story of the "white" man's infatuation for the dusky native South Sea Island women dancers. The settings of this wonder play are said to be most picturesque. The music score and story were written by the Irish actor-singer, Walter Scanlan and Jack McClellan. Her play is produced by Ace Productions, Inc. Clarke's Hawaiian Native Band is with the Company.

P.T. A. NEWS Centre Grove

Officers were elected at the first meeting of the Centre Grove Community Club, on October 27th. The president, Mrs. Walter Kelley, talked about the work the club had previously done, and it was decided that a canvass be made for new members, arousing new interest and enthusiasm in the work of the association. At the meeting, the pupils, under the direction of the new teacher, Miss Catherine Cheney, gave an interesting "Safety First" program.

Taylor's Bridge

Taylor's Bridge Community Association had a merry Hallowe'en celebration, to which the members came in grotesque costumes and masks, and prizes were awarded to the most striking costumes. The school room had been decorated with autumn leaves, fall flowers, and jack o' lanterns, and the serving of refreshments marked the close of an enjoyable evening.

Welsh Tract

Welsh Tract P.T. A. held the second meeting of the fall on Wednesday evening, October 29, with fifty-one members enrolled in the association—a fine number to start the year. A very good program by the pupils, under the direction of Miss Carolyn M. Burbage, was much appreciated by all present.

SHORT TERM CREDIT BEST FOR FARMERS

areas in North Carolina in 1921 paid an average of 22.3 per cent for their merchant credit. In Georgia a corresponding average rate was 24.3 per cent.

While some merchant credit is advanced on open account, a great part of it is secured by chattel mortgages or crop liens. In parts of Tennessee 31 per cent of the merchant credit advanced tenant farmers in 1923 was secured by crop liens. In Georgia in the same year 60 per cent of the merchant credit advanced in a similar manner.

Under such conditions borrowers are often placed in a position in which they can not freely market their crops. Although merchant credit has no doubt often met imperative agricultural needs, says the department, it is a poor substitute for adequate bank credit. In parts of the South the merchant-credit system has retarded the development of co-operative marketing.

Similar objections are raised by the department to certain features of the system whereby credit is extended by dealers in agricultural product. Livestock commissions that extend credit to cattle feeders often not only purchase the cattle for the farmers but require that the cattle shall be sold through them.

Like conditions exist in the truck crop and fruit-growing industry. Growers in specialized crop and fruit producing centers are often unable to obtain necessary credit locally. They are obliged in consequence to seek aid from fruit and vegetable commission dealers and brokers in distant cities. Often they can not obtain such help without relinquishing control over the marketing of their crops.

Maybe we better have a standing committee of investigation for naval disasters, so that no time may be lost. —Columbus Dispatch.

THE STORY IN BRIEF

Keeping step with the steady growth of Newark, this new development conceived and carried to completion by William J. Lovett; marks perhaps the largest single activity during the year now closing. In the space of a few months thirteen houses have either been completed or are under way, and plans are ready for still another group down near the new High School.

Lovett Avenue lies just outside town limits and consists of a long narrow piece of land running east from Academy street to what will be known as Haines street. The nucleus was a 2 acre plot along Academy street purchased in 1923 from Wilmer S. Hill. Here Mr. Lovett built a home and developed the balance into a fruit and poultry farm. Prior to that time he had built four houses on Academy street. Last year he bought enough ground from the Huber estate to straighten out his line and provide for the running of the new street.

Assured Success

From the minute the first of the 13 new dwellings was started, the development rode on to success. With A. B. Foote as contractor in charge, the work went along smoothly and the houses were completed in a remarkably short time, sold or rented, and tenanted. The new homes face the High School, are sewer and watered, have electric lights, and one novel and efficient feature—no electric poles are visible along the front of the properties. They are placed at the rear. The dwellings are sturdily built and are very attractive, so much so, in fact, that ten of them have already been purchased from Mr. Lovett. Among the owners are George W. Russell, H. Harrison Gray, Leslie Truitt, Anna H. and Ella Stroud, Wallace M. George, Miss Appleby of Porters, and Capt. K. S. Whittemore.

Local Firms Take Part

In the planning, building and finishing of all the Lovett avenue homes, Newark craftsmen had a major part. It could be almost called a home town development. Mr. Lovett was assisted in the planning of the street by his brother, F. W. Lovett, W. O. Newton and Philip Wilson. Legal details connected with the conveying of property were handled by J. P. Cann. The plot was surveyed by Prof. H. K. Preston.
