Local Post of American Legion Inaugurates Drive

Will Hold Big Meeting Friday Evening

Rehabilitation Unit from Linden Hall and Others to be Entertained

The first step in the American Legion membership campaign will be taken on Friday evening, when the local organization, Lt. J. Allison O'Daniel Post, No. 6, will entertain the soldiers of the Rehabilitation Unit at Linden Hall and the discharged soldiers in this vicinity eligible to membership in the Legion. Commander C. A. Short has announced the following committees to prepare plans for the affair:

Decorations: Fred Strickland, Charles Davis and Benj. McCormick.

Refreshments: Pusey Morrison, Fred Strickland.

Entertainment: J. W. Ramsey.

Chairman: J. W. Ramsey.

This committee will provide music and other forms of entertainment. They promise that everybody will have a good time and urge that every member and every person eligible for membership be present on Friday evening.

An out-of-town speaker acquainted with the ideals and needs of the organization will present its advantages to those who have not yet joined. There are, it is said, 131 in the community eligible to membership, of which number only about 65 or approximately half, have joined. The group at Linden Hall numbers now 41, some of whom have joined elsewhere and will doubtless be transferred to Post No. 6 during their residence here. Others it is hoped will join here.

It is the idea of those interested in the local Post to have for each meeting in the future something definite in the way of entertainment for the members and to promote sufficient interest to have a live organization, which will be a force in the community.

The officers of the local Post are: Commander: C. A. Short; Vice-Commander: J. W. Ramsey; Secretary: Clarence Hopkins.

Board of Education Presents Budget to Levy Court

The Board of Education during the past week submitted to the Levy Court their budget for the year, which is substantially the same as that presented at the public meeting some time ago.

The members of the present Board did not file their names for reelection, a fact which is causing considerable concern to the friends of the school who appreciate the efficient and faithful service rendered by Messrs. E. L. Richards, R. S. Gallaher and H. H. Gray and are putting forth every effort to urge these men to consider reelection.

PRESENTATION OF THE MIKADO MERITS FAVORABLE COMMENT

Audience Well Pleased With Production Given For Century Club Benefit

A cast of unusual ability showing evidence of excellent training, delighted a large audience at the Opera House on Monday evening with their clever interpretation of Gilbert and Sullivan's popular operetta, "The Mikado." The audience demonstrated again and again by spontaneous outbursts of applause and of laughter, their appreciation and enjoyment of the results accomplished by the cast under the able direction of Mrs. Herman Tyson, Mrs. J. O. G. Duffy and Miss Elizabeth Wilson.

The work of the principals was the subject of much favorable comment. Each part was fittingly assigned and well interpreted. Miss Mary Houston made a charming Yum Yum whose naive loveliness and sweet voice captivated the audience. Misses Eleanor Duffy and Dora Wilcox as "Peep-bo" and "Pitti Sling" did full justice to their parts.

Miss Agnes Snyder as Katisha, an elderly lady, scored a decisive hit. Her acting was exceptional and won much merited applause from the audience.

Fred Martenis as Nanki-Poo, son of the Mikado, disguised as a wandering minstrel in love with Yum Yum, ready to accept good naturedly, love or death or whatever came his way, was especially fitted for that character and portrayed it well.

The character of Pish Tush, a noble lord, was well taken by R. W. Kirkbride whose singing was a feature of the production.

Mr. Walter Kelly, with proper pose and manner, upheld the (Continued on Page 5)

Knights of Pythias Enjoy Outing

A large delegation of the Knights of Pythias and their families spent yesterday at Augustine Beach. Most of them went to Wilmington by train and journeyed thence to the beach by boat. Some, however, went in machines. All enjoyed the outing and the renewing of acquaintance with Knights from other parts of the State. About 1000 of this order combined for this gala day.

Mandolin Club Plays In Wilmington

The young ladies comprising the Continental Mandolin Club went to Wilmington last night to assist in a recital given by the pupils of Prof. C. B. Edwards, their leader at St. Paul's M. E. church.

The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Athletic Association and the Ladies Aid Society of the church. According to friends who accompanied the young ladies they acquitted themselves admirably.

After the recital refreshments were served to the musicians by the ladies of the church.

The Newark organization was later entertained by Mr. Edwards at his home until train time.

Appoint Successor to Officer Apsley

Many Enroll for Demonstration School

A larger number of pupils than ever before have enrolled for the Demonstration school to be held in connection with Summer School. From the 8th Grade 13 have enrolled. Practically every grade is represented, some for advanced work, some to make up deficiencies.

Those who contemplate enrollment are urged by the authorities to do so at once since few vacancies remain. No enrollment for less than the entire period will be considered.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES HEAR BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Dr. Charles L. Candee of Wilmington Urges Sincerity and Steadfastness

Services at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning were conducted by Rev. Ezra F. Mundy of Ambler, Pa. In the evening Rev. Charles L. Candee of Wilmington, preached the Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the high school. Special music for the occasion was sung by a quartet consisting of Mrs. J. Pearce Cann, soprano; Miss Anna Ritz, alto; Mr. R. W. Kirkbride, tenor, and Mr. Guy E. Hancock, baritone.

The church was filled to capacity with friends and relatives of the graduates.

Dr. Candee in his introductory remarks, referred feelingly to the fact that Dr. Rowan had been asked to deliver this sermon to the young people. He expressed the hope that what he should say would meet the approval of the deceased pastor from whose eyes the mists of mortality have been cleared away and who now sees face to face.

He urged the graduates to see the necessity of continuing their studies further. The complexities of modern life and the resultant keen competition make it essential that the young people of today be prepared to meet life fully equipped for the struggle.

He outlined the essentials of successful manhood and womanhood, and urged the need of uprightness; of standing firm against temptation, and of keeping the faith.

Strength of character is even more necessary than strength of mind in this struggle, he said, and questioned whether this sudden change from simplicity to complexity had increased our happiness—increased our capacity to love and to enjoy life.

Dr. Candee criticized the tendency of the times to abuse the comforts and advantages of the present age over those of bygone days. The fault he said is not with the things themselves but with our manner of using them. There would be no particular virtue in giving them up, but every reason why we should make of them the best use possible.

The speaker urged the graduates to be sincere and reverent. He deplored the modern tendency toward lack of reverence for the law, for the home, for the Sabbath, and for all things holy. He urged the young people to beware of pitfalls in this respect and to stand firm in the faith.

It was announced that there will be no service at the church next Sunday, the congregation having accepted the invitation of Delaware College to worship at Wolf Hall when the Baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. William Hallows Main.

Two appointments were made in the Sunday School recently: that of Margaret D. Cann as teacher for Miss Miriam Null's class during the summer months, and Mrs. Leila Herbener Richardson for Miss Ruby Miller's class, with Miss Ellen Crow as substitute.

CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM PLANNED BY "OLD GRADS"

Alumni Enjoy Hospitality of College for Annual Reunion

According to the enthusiastic testimony of all those who attended, Newark High School Alumni Association held the most enjoyable reunion and banquet of its history on Saturday evening.

The members, numbering nearly a hundred, assembled in the Lounge and renewed acquaintance with members of their respective classes. A delightful hour was spent in this way before they were called to the dining room in the west wing. Here the social and executive committees which arranged the affair, achieved a triumph in the decorative scheme. Pink and white predominated. Pink rosebuds were used in profusion and pink candles furnished the light. The place cards were unique, with real four-leaf clover as decorations. In addition to the name, the class number of the members, who were seated by classes, also appeared. Each little card was hidden in the heart of a rose. A fine dinner was prepared and served under the direction of Miss Hall. Grape-

TWENTY-TWO RECEIVE DIPLOMAS LAST NIGHT

High School Students Provide Almost Entire Entertainment

Twenty-two graduates of the local high school received their diplomas last night at the 28th annual commencement held in the Opera House. Superintendent Morris planned the program with the idea of making it a strictly local affair.

Music was furnished by the High School Mandolin and Glee Clubs, orations were given by three of the graduates and brief addresses made by Prof. W. A. Wilkinson, head of the Department of Education, and by Superintendent Morris.

According to custom, the graduates, the faculty, and the Board of Education assembled in the high school building and preceded by the musical organizations, marched through the audience to their positions on the stage. An attractive setting of wisteria and cherry blossoms, Japanese lanterns and a transparency showing the class numerals and class colors, had been arranged on the stage.

The following program was presented: Invocation—Rev. Frank Herson Oration, "The History of the Theatre in Delaware," Charles Blest Song, "Alma Mater,"

High School Glee Club Essay, "Old Swedes Church,"

Helen Pillsbury Selections, (a) "Tales from Hoffman," (b) "Bohemian Girl,"

High School Mandolin Club Essay, "The Twelve-Mile Circle,"

Alma Dunlevy Address, Prof. W. A. Wilkinson Presentation of Diplomas

Superintendent Phineas Morris Selections, (a) "Love's Old Sweet Song," (b) "Everywhere,"

High School Glee Club Professor Wilkinson's address dealt briefly with the marvelous growth of the high schools within the past decade and the remarkable achievements during this period of progress.

The fact that the influence of the high school reaches all classes, has resulted in its being regarded as the "People's College," he said. The fact that there are now 100 times as many pupils enrolled in high schools as there were in 1870 and that the enrollment in the last 3 years is increasing four times as fast as the population, is an encouraging sign and a record to be proud of.

He commended the ambition of this community which is turning out large graduating classes in proportion to its population.

What he termed "the lateral development" of the idea of education from a neighborhood or community affair to a State and National concern, is a hopeful sign he said, of the coming equality of educational opportunity.

Addressing the class, he outlined briefly the elements of success in any endeavor, stressing qualities of rugged honesty, loyalty, ability to make friends, a liberal education, enthusiasm in any undertaking.

Mr. Morris, who is leaving the school, addressed a few words of farewell to the community, urging for his successor active co-operation and interest in their schools. His concluding remarks were addressed to the class, to which he gave excellent advice.

The members were the recipients of many beautiful flowers and gifts. The popularity of the president, Charles Blest, was attested by the fact that he was showered with bouquets.

The class roll follows: Roberta Bland, Frances Buttles, Hazel Collins, Alma Dunlevy, Louise Eastburn, Madeline Johnston, Alice Leak, Marian Lovett, Sara Lovett, Anna Patchell, Helen Pennington, Helen Pillsbury, Beatrice Van Sant, Rebecca Wollaston, Edith Zebley, Arminah Armstrong, Charles Blest, George Herman, John Hoffecker, Waldo Lovett, Harold Mote, Paul Steel.

Missionary Society Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Presents Fine Program Yesterday Afternoon

Local Organization of M. E. Church Takes Part in Nation-wide Affair

In common with similar organizations all over the United States, the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church here, celebrated yesterday the 40th anniversary of the founding of that organization.

This special meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. Warner McNeal. More than 50 members together with a number of out-of-town guests enjoyed an interesting program of recitations, readings and songs relative to the anniversary sent out by the national conference. Mrs. T. T. Martin sang several old ballads very acceptably.

Mrs. Evans Robinson read a short history of the Society and a statement of its ideals.

Mrs. R. J. Friant talked very entertainingly of the West and its characteristics.

Miss Edith Robinson recited a number of humorous selections.

Mrs. C. A. Short read a history of the organization written by Mrs. Weldin, of Wilmington. Mrs. Mary Williams entertained the guests with a humorous reading.

Mrs. E. K. Butler conducted the devotional exercises. Music for the occasion was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth McNeal and Mrs. Leonard A. Rhodes.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments consisting of chicken salad, rolls, coffee, pickles, olives, ice cream, strawberries, cake and coffee were served.

The association made a birthday offering of about sixteen dollars.

OBITUARY

Margaret C. Murphy

Early Sunday morning little Margaret C. Murphy, aged 2 years, died suddenly at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy, on North Chapel street.

The little girl was in the best of health and spirits on Saturday evening when she was put to bed, but awakened early in the morning very ill. She went into convulsions and died in a few hours.

Funeral services were held this afternoon from the home of her parents at 2:30 and interment was made in St. John's cemetery.

James M. Pennington

Mr. James M. Pennington, aged 81 years, died at the home of his son, Lawrence H. Pennington, at Mermaid, Del., on Thursday, June 3, of paralysis.

Funeral services were held at the home of his son on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. David A. Reed officiating. Interment was made at White Clay Creek cemetery.

Mr. Pennington was held in high esteem by all in the community who knew him. He was for years a prominent member of White Clay Presbyterian church.

For a man of his age he was unusually alert mentally and actively interested in present-day problems. Just recently he purchased of Albert L. Teale, the property on Main street now occupied by Dr. G. B. Pearson, with whom he made his home for the past few months. Just a few days before his death he was planning a visit of several months to a brother in Kansas. He was apparently in good health on Sunday and took an automobile ride with his son. He was seized with a chill during the trip and suffered a paralytic stroke shortly after his return to the home of his son.

He is survived by three children, Mrs. Alfred Stroud of Newark, Mrs. Leslie Derrielson of Milltown and Lawrence H. Pennington of Mermaid.

"Is I Happy?"

A booklet has been published containing the favorite poems of Sarah Platt Decker, and among them is found this one which will appeal not only to club women who greatly admire that gifted leader, but also to all who have not hours enough in each day for the work which must be done:

Is I Happy? Well, I Guess! ..

Household Hints

The best way to clean a pan in which milk has burned is to soak it for several hours in cold water and then to put it on the stove with a little washing soda in water. Let it boil for five or ten minutes, after which time the burned part can be readily cleaned.

Do you know that if the sugar and water for frosting are not cooked long enough, and therefore the frosting is too soft, it can be brought to the right consistency by cooking it for a little while in a double boiler?

Do you know that carrots and parsnips can be most easily prepared by boiling with their skins on? The skins then come off readily. Of course the vegetables should be well scrubbed before they are boiled.

Do you know that the best way to cook onions, cabbages, cauliflower or other strong vegetables is to cook them in an uncovered saucepan? One of the windows should be open at the top. If you follow this process the odor will not go through the house.

It is a mistake to have fine rugs vigorously beaten on cleaning day. The sharp beating with a stick as the rug hangs over a line is very injurious to the fiber, and only thick, cheap rugs, with substantial cotton woven backs, will stand the treatment. Whisking with the end of the stick is especially injurious to silk Oriental rugs or the soft, beautiful woven rugs which are used as couch covers. Such rugs should be well shaken and cleaned with a vacuum cleaner, or a good carpet sweeper, and once a year should be sent to a professional cleaner, who will repair any rents or frayed places in the rug and clean it by a special process, which brightens the colors without injuring the fiber.

Never wipe off expensive rugs with soap and water or sprinkle wet tea leaves over them—an old-fashioned cleaning day custom, which may have improved the terrible, flowered carpets of the Victorian period by softening and fading their strenuous colors, but which will do more harm than good to the soft tones of a real Oriental rug or an Axminster of modern subdued coloring. If you must wipe off the rugs with something use a cloth wrung out in turpentine, but beware of ammonia on soft-hued floor coverings.

Raspberry Pudding

Place in a mixing bowl one cup of flour, two tablespoons of shortening, pinch of salt, two teaspoons of baking powder, one-half cup of sugar, one egg, two-thirds cup of milk, one cup of raspberries. Beat to mix and then pour into well-greased and floured mold. Boil for three-quarters of an hour and then serve with thin custard or hard sauce.

Tapioea Cream

Place five tablespoons of granulated tapioea in a saucepan and add one and one-half cups of cold water. Bring to a boil and then cook slowly for one-half hour. Now add one and one-half cups of milk, one-half cup of sugar, one well-beaten egg. Stir to blend and then cook slowly for fifteen minutes. Now soak one and one-half tablespoons of gelatin in one-half cup of cold milk for fifteen minutes and then add to the boiling tapioea and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Rinse the mold and turn in the cream. Let cool and then set in cold place or on ice to thoroughly chill. Serve with crushed fruit.

Scalloped Rhubarb With Meringue
 Peel half a pound of rhubarb and cut into inch lengths. In a buttered dish put a layer of thin slices of sponge cake, and over this a layer of the rhubarb sprinkled with sugar, the grated rind of an orange, and a few grains of salt. For half a pound of rhubarb use a small cupful of sugar. Continue with alternate layers of the fruit and cake until the dish is filled; then cover and bake for thirty-five minutes. Remove from the oven, cover with a meringue made from the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs beaten with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, and set in a very moderate oven to brown over. Serve with sweetened whipped cream or a foamy sauce.

Baked Ham With Cloves

Baked ham is appropriate either for luncheon or supper when served cold and for dinner when served hot.

Select a ham weighing from seven to nine pounds, scrape the outside, then scrub with a clean brush and rinse well. Place in a good sized kettle, cover with cold water and set over the fire. When it reaches the boiling point skim thoroughly, then push back where it will simmer for a couple of hours. Take from the fire and let the meat remain in the liquor in which it was cooked until lukewarm. Take out the ham and peel off the skin, which should come off easily. Place in a baking pan and bake in a moderate oven, basting frequently at first with hard cider, sweetened with brown sugar, and afterward with the drippings from the pan.

When the ham is baked prepare a dressing of one cupful rolled bread crumbs or cracker dust, a teaspoonful dry mustard, two teaspoonfuls brown sugar, one beaten egg and cider to make a paste. Spread over the ham, dot with cloves and bake long enough to color a rich brown. To make the sauce put into a small saucepan over the fire a level tablespoonful each of butter and flour and when melted and frothy add a cup of highly seasoned stock. Cook for ten minutes.

Deviled Liver

Chop about three pounds of liver (beef is entirely satisfactory) with one-quarter of a pound of salt pork. Add one-half of a pint of bread crumbs, one teaspoon of pepper, one-half teaspoon of cayenne, one-half teaspoon of mace and cloves and one teaspoon mustard. Mix well. Put in dish and set in cold water. Cover saucepan. Place on fire and cook two hours. Take out and set in oven to steam. Serve cold in slices.

Mashed Potato Omelet

One cup mashed potatoes, one-fourth teaspoonful pepper, three eggs, three tablespoons cream or milk, one teaspoonful salt. Wash eggs, and separate the whites and yolks. Add the yolks to the potatoes and beat until there are no lumps. Season with onion juice, if desired, and chopped parsley. Beat the whites until stiff and fold into the potato mixture. Put into a well greased frying pan and bake in oven until brown. Then turn and fold on hot platter. Serve at once.

Will Raise Memorial to

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw

A nation-wide drive to raise a memorial to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw was launched in New York last week.

Confident that thirty-six States will ratify the Federal Suffrage Amendment, within the next six weeks and that the women of America who are eligible will be voters next November, eastern Suffrage leaders met in the headquarters of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and organized the Anna Howard Shaw Memorial Committee. Mrs. J. O. Miller of Pittsburg was elected chairman.

It was voted to establish headquarters in the Finance Building, Philadelphia, and to raise a $500,000 fund to establish a foundation of politics in Bryn Mawr College and one of preventive medicine in the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

In raising a memorial to Dr. Shaw the suffragists are following the mandate laid down by the National American Woman Suffrage Association at its recent convention in Chicago.

Being "Just Plain Kind" Adds Much to World Happiness

An old lady of simple ways was speaking of another in the same community who was noted for her many good deeds, and she said of her:

"The best thing you can say about her is that she is just plain kind. When you can say that about a body you've said one of the best things it is possible to say about them."

Of all human attributes none are of greater value than the attribute of simple human kindness. To be always "just plain kind" is to give proof of the fact that one has a Christian spirit, and a kind heart assures the doing of kind deeds. One day two young women were talking and one repeated something she had heard that another had said:

"I do not believe that Mary ever said that," replied the other woman. "She is too kind ever to say a thing like that. I don't believe that any one ever heard Mary say a downright unkind thing in her life. I wish I could guard my own tongue as well as she does hers when it comes to what she says about others."

Here was some one else who was "just plain kind" and therefore a doer of good. One cannot be constantly kind without creating an influence for good and being helpful in the world.

Never was there greater need of all of us being "just plain kind" than there is today. And when one adds forbearance to kindness an influence is created that adds much to the happiness and to the growing good of the world.

He was elected at the Diocesan Convention held in Wilmington on May 12.

Lower Chester Co. to Consider Consolidation

This coming fall a vote will be held in West Grove, Avondale, New Garden, and the Londongroves as to whether the people of those sections approve the plan now being worked out by the joint schoolboards of those districts, together with the state authorities. This plan calls for a joint schoolboard from the four districts which will erect a joint High School building for Vocational, Academic and Commercial work, and will close up all the country schools, transporting the children in the elementary grades to the present school buildings in West Grove and Avondale. If this plan is ratified by the people it will put the educational facilities of that section far ahead of any in Chester county.—Oxford News.

Police Patrol State Highway

Delaware's State Highway Department has established and has in full working order a State highway police, who use the motor cycle with basket attached and in uniform. Their duties are to regulate traffic, speed and overloading of trucks. They also patrol the State Highway during the night. Already wonderful improvements have been reported in the speed and truck traffic especially on the Philadelphia pike. Several violations of the State speed and truck laws have been prosecuted by the department's police officers.—Smyrna Times.

MEMBERS OF DELAWARE FOUNDATION APPOINTED

Will Distribute Fund For General and Specific Charities

The Equitable Trust Company as trustees for the Delaware Foundation has announced the committee to distribute the income received from the Foundation to the various charitable organizations in this State.

To serve on the committee for varying periods, Governor John G. Townsend appointed Dr. Frank L. Grier, of Milford; Chief Justice James Pennewell, of the Supreme Court of Delaware, appointed Hon. William D. Denney, of Dover; Judge Hugh M. Morris, of the U. S. District Court, appointed Lamont du Pont; Chancellor Charles M. Curtis appointed Robert D. Kemp, president of the Artisans' Savings Bank, and the Equitable Trust Company appointed Frederick E. Stone, president of the Wilmington Savings Fund Society.

The men named on the committee are conversant with the conditions existing in their respective counties and are well known for their integrity and financial experience. Inasmuch as the Foundation is for the benefit of the State as a whole, the needs of every section will be known to this committee and most careful administration of the Foundation is assured. Opportunity is now given to persons who desire to give outright while living, or to leave a bequest by a will of any sum of money or other form of property, the income from which is to be devoted to some charity named by the person or it may be left at the discretion of the committee to award where the need seems greatest and the cause the most worthy.

The principal advantage of the Foundation lies in the fact that it will never die and its perpetual existence insures the expenditure of the income from the Foundation for worthy purposes, even though the charity named by a donor might cease to exist after a lapse of years. No sum is too small or too large to give to the Foundation, as its object is to gather all the small gifts that will be made so that the accumulations of the years to come will create a fund the income from which will be used to care for the sick, aged or otherwise helpless; to improve living conditions in general, and to provide for educational and scientific research for the benefit of the people as a whole.

Handsome Is That Handsome Does

The old fashioned maxim holds good in the world of furniture as well as that of men, and solid worth is what counts in the long run. But there is no reason for sacrificing beauty to worth when the two can be combined.

The furniture we sell proves this to be true. Constructed on the best and most durable lines, it not only proclaims from every curve that it is handsome, but will verify its claims by doing handsomely.

It is the great test of the good furniture maker to produce pieces which combine lightness and delicacy of design with solidity and durability. Our furniture is made by masters of the trade.

We should be delighted to show you our stock at any time.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

Due to the prevalence of communicable diseases in Delaware at the present time, it might be well to devote the next two or three articles to information regarding them, in order that parents may be able to judge as to whether their own children or their children's playmates are developing such disease or, having had it, are free from all signs denoting infectiousness. By observing such signs parents may be able to prevent their own children from acquiring the disease.

Scarlet Fever

Scarlet fever is a much dreaded and very serious disease. It causes about one-twentieth of all the deaths that occur in the United States yearly. Its incubation period is very short—only from two to four days. Its attack is sudden. It begins with headache, sore throat, rapid rise of temperature, vomiting and faintness. The tongue becomes the color of a ripe strawberry, the throat is very red. Small red spots appear on the roof of the mouth. The glands of the neck often become enlarged. The characteristic rash appears in from twelve to thirty-six hours from the time of the onset of the symptoms. It appears first on the chest and neck.

Scarlet fever is infectious from the time of the appearance of the rash. It is one of the most infectious of all diseases, being carried in many instances by a third person—one who has not had the disease. Clothes, bed linen, books and so forth, often carry it. In some cases it has been carried for a year or more in these articles. The discharges from the body and the peeled skin are infectious.

A physician is essential in the treatment of this disease. The patient should be put to bed immediately and placed on a milk diet. Broths and highly albuminous foods, such as eggs, are to be avoided. The patient should be kept in bed for at least three to four weeks and all symptoms carefully noted, for complications in scarlet fever are many and varied. Cold baths at 60 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit are frequently useful as a means of lowering the temperature. The patient should not be kept in such a bath more than five minutes, and must be dried immediately upon removal from it. Of course the patient must not be removed from his room for this purpose. If a large tub is not available, a sponge bath may be given.

Isolation must be complete. Other children should be removed from the house during the illness. If this is not possible, do not under any circumstances allow anyone in the sick room, except the person who is nursing the patient and the physician. All excess furniture such as pictures, mirrors, carpets and so forth, should be removed from the room in order to facilitate disinfection at the end of the period of isolation. All bed linen, night clothes and so forth, must be sterilized for thirty minutes in some solution before being sent to the laundry. A two per cent carbolic acid solution (five teaspoons full of carbolic acid to one quart of water) is very good for this. All discharges from the body of the patient must be sterilized in a similar solution before being emptied. At the end of the illness everything in the room must be washed with an antiseptic solution and exposed to the sunlight before the room is used by other people.

Measles

The incubation period for measles is from nine to ten days. By incubation period we mean the length of time it takes for the disease to develop after exposure to it. The first symptoms which are noticed in measles are those of a cold—sneezing, discharge from the nose, redness of the eyes, running of the eyes, cough and small bluish-white spots surrounded by an area of redness on the inside of the lips and cheeks. (Koplik spots). Measles is probably transferred directly through the air by means of small particles of nasal or salivary discharge thrown out in the act of sneezing or coughing, and is contagious from the time that the first symptoms are noticed.

The characteristic blotchy eruption usually appears about the third to the fifth day, on the forehead at the border of the hair, behind the ears or on the neck. The child should be isolated for at least four weeks, and longer if the discharges have not dried up. Measles is particularly contagious during the first few days and, therefore, it is very important that it should be noticed at the outset. Any child who has been exposed to the disease should be particularly watched during the second week after exposure.

Measles is a self-limited disease. A doctor, however, should always be consulted, as serious complications often set in. Many children die every year because the parents did not consider it necessary to call in a physician, and broncho-pneumonia set in which resulted fatally. Disease of the middle ear (Otitis Media) is another frequent and serious complication of measles.

Let the Hogs Have A Fish Course

The common domestic pig will never be able to write a book on table manners, but he knows how to order a meal as well as anyone. He is in a fair way to demand a fish course to supplement his salad and vegetable diet. He will take his fish in the form of fish meal, a refined byproduct made from sound, wholesome raw material at the sardine, tuna, and salmon canneries, or from the menhaden.

The fish meal is not to be confused with "fish scrap," a coarser byproduct much used for fertilizer; the meal is made from clean, sound material and is intended to be used as food for cattle and hogs. Formerly, the cannery waste was all made into "scrap" for fertilizer purposes, but the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, knowing the extremely high protein content of the scrap, has been active in converting this material into a high-grade protein feed. The cleaned, selected portion is ground to a fine, palatable meal which may be used to replace tankage in hog, poultry, or dairy rations.

Fish meal has been recommended as a supplementary ration before now, but popular prejudice against a badly prepared product has discouraged its use. The Department of Agriculture has proved by feeding experiments that fish meal equals the high-priced tankage as a ration ingredient, and better methods of selecting and milling have removed the causes of prejudice.

The oil content of the meal adds materially to its feeding value. So far the experiments have shown that the meal does not taint the animal product, whether it be pork, butter, eggs, or milk. Moreover, by diverting the fish meals to his animals instead of supplying it directly to his land as fertilizer, the farmer loses but a trifle of its fertilizing value and gains its entire feeding value—thus making the material yield two profits in the place of one.

SMALLPOX UN-NECESSARY EVIL SAYS MEDICAL EXPERT

Tells How Dread Disease May Be Avoided and Precautionary Measures Against Spread Taken

The smallpox of modern times is not usually as severe as it was before vaccination came to be so generally used. General epidemics, sweeping a whole country, do not commonly occur. Epidemics are still encountered in small communities. We have one absolutely sure and safe preventive measure, that is—vaccination. By means of this we can prevent smallpox, and if it were possible to vaccinate every person in the country, the disease would become extinct.

There is absolutely no danger as a result of vaccination. A vaccinated arm never becomes infected if an absolutely clean dressing (by clean I mean sterile) is kept on the small area affected. The arm should be dressed daily and should not be irritated in any way. If these simple precautions are observed sore arms as a result of vaccination will be unknown.

Every child should be vaccinated before he starts school. This should be, and in most cities is, compulsory. If it is not done, the parent is merely exposing his child to the possibility of acquiring a very dangerous disease, and in most cases is doing it knowingly. This is almost criminal negligence on the part of the parent. See that your child is vaccinated during his first five years, and at least every five years thereafter, in order to insure the continuance of immunity conferred by vaccination.

The incubation period of smallpox is from eight to fourteen days, sometimes longer. That is the length of time it takes for the disease to develop after exposure. The initial symptoms are chill, severe pain in the back and loins, headache and a high fever. On the third or fourth day after the first symptoms are noticed the characteristic eruption appears on the forehead, wrists, lips and sometimes in the mouth. The eruption comes first as a little lump or papula. This soon becomes a pustule (an eruption that looks like a large pimple.) This breaks and a crust is formed over the top of the pustule.

Smallpox is transmitted by the breath exhalations, from the skin, clothing or anything that has been in contact with the patient. The patient should be isolated very completely, and the same steps taken to prevent spread of the disease as were taken with scarlet fever—that is, sterilization of all clothing and bed clothes before sending them to the laundry, and also the sterilization of the discharges from the body. This sterilization should be carried out by a two per cent carbolic acid solution (five teaspoons full of carbolic acid to one quart of water). Allow the clothes to soak for half an hour in this solution before sending them to the laundry. Discharges of the body should be sterilized in the same manner before emptying.

When the patient's skin is smooth and free from all crusts, an antiseptic bath should be given before he is allowed out of the sick room. Direction for this will be given by the attending physician. The room should be disinfected by a thorough scrubbing and plenty of fresh air and sunshine before allowing other members of the family into it.

Nothing is said here about the treatment of smallpox, as a physician should be called immediately upon noticing the first symptoms. He will give the necessary advice.

Binder Twine Plentiful and Cheap

The wheat grower need have no apprehensions as to the supply of binder twine—this season. Reports coming to the Bureau of Plant Industry, of the United States Department of Agriculture, indicate that there will be a plentiful supply of this commodity available for the American farmer. Not only will it be plentiful, but it is likely to be cheaper this year than for some years past.

Yucatan—the chief and cheapest source of henequen, from which the twine is made—produced a large crop this year, which, coupled with the termination of control of prices by the Commission Reguladora, was responsible for a drop in the price of fiber from 15 to 10 cents a pound in March. The price is now reported to be 8 cents a pound. This reduction should be reflected in the price of twine this season.

Thus far the recent revolution in Mexico has not affected the henequen industry of Yucatan and Campeche, the two important fibergrowing States of that country. It is too late now for any disruption of this industry to affect seriously the supplies of twine for this year's harvest, as practically all the fiber necessary for the present needs have already been imported to the United States.

It is impossible to please everybody you meet, so what's the use trying to carry water on both shoulders? Go ahead, do your duty as you see it; pay your debts, tell a man to his face the things you would say behind his back, and put your trust in the Lord—and keep your powder dry. If you carry a pail of water on each shoulder you will undoubtedly get a shower bath sooner or later.—Nebraska City, Neb., Press.

Faculties Give Reception To Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell

The faculties of both colleges on Friday evening united to tender to Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Mitchell a farewell reception and to present to them a token of their regard. The affair was held in the Lounge at Old College.

Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, president of the Faculty Club, in a brief speech introduced Dr. George A. Harter, Dr. Mitchell's predecessor, who on behalf of the combined faculties presented to Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell, a handsome oil painting by Stanley M. Arthurs. A scene along the Shenandoah Valley made famous by John Brown's ill fated raid is depicted. Dr. Harter, who was chairman of the committee which chose the gift, thought it would be most appropriate to present the outgoing president with a sketch by the talented Delaware artist, whose historical paintings decorate Old College. In the presentation speech he emphasized the cordial relations that have existed between the president and the members of the faculty during the six years of faithful service to the cause of education given by Dr. Mitchell in the State. He expressed the regret of the faculties at the president's leaving and extended their best wishes for success in his chosen field of labor.

In accepting the gift, Dr. Mitchell expressed appreciation of the good will that suggested the gift and the affection that prompted it. His relation with the faculties of the colleges has been most pleasant, he said, and he will always cherish fond memories of his stay in Delaware.

CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM OUTLINED BY "OLD GRADS"

fruit, combination salad, lamb chops on toast, mashed potatoes, peas, ice cream, cake and coffee constituted the menu.

In the absence of Johnson Rowan, Miss Alice Kerr acted as toast-mistress. Miss Katherine Graybill sang several selections to accompaniment by Mrs. W. E. Holton; Miss Madeline Raby gave two readings and Dr. Samuel Chiles Mitchell made the address of the evening. He talked in an intimate personal way of local conditions with regard to education. He told of his love for the children of the neighborhood whom he mentioned by name and charged the association and the community with the duty of providing for these children as good an education as the best provided for children elsewhere. He told significant incidents toward education in the East and among the foreign born. Three men, he said, who played a vital part in the affairs of the nation in the recent crises were graduates of Bowdoin College. That a community as small as this should be so honored was to him somewhat of a puzzle until last summer when he and Mrs. Mitchell spent some time in Maine. They made many acquaintances and visited many homes in the rural sections of the state. One custom which they observed and which explained the pre-eminence of the Bowdoin graduates, was that of keeping in each home small banks on the mantle, which contained the children's college fund. The ambition of every parent in all that region was to see that enough was saved at whatever sacrifice to send each child through high school and college.

The eagerness of the foreign-born to educate their children was illustrated by an incident which occurred at one of the numerous commencements where Dr. Mitchell has been the speaker this spring. There, a Polish couple who could speak only broken English, were witnessing their daughter's graduation, and spoke with pride of having another daughter in the second year of high school. He laid three charges upon the Association as representatives of the progressive spirit of the community: (1) to see to it that every child in the community completed the high school course and that they bend their efforts toward spreading the idea of a child's bank for his college education; (2) that they stand solidly back of the movement to secure a new school building, and (3) that they create ideals within this building, which will lack the ideals and traditions of the old buildings.

Officers Elected for the Year

Directly following the banquet a business meeting was held in the chapel room at which the following officers were elected:

President—Wallace Cook.

Vice-president—J. W. Ramsey.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Huey Morris.

Corresponding Secretary—Bessie Whittingham.

Treasurer—Warren A. Singles.

A motion was made and unanimously carried, that the sentiment of the meeting be expressed as urging the necessity for a new school building. A committee of five, Mrs. C. D. Grant, Misses Winifred Fader, Catherine Steel, Ethel Campbell and Ira Steel, were appointed to frame a resolution to that effect and present the same to the school authorities.

The new ruling with regard to admitting to the Association non-graduates who have completed 50 per cent of the work at the time of enrollment was also discussed. Every member was urged to report to Miss Lydia Fader, persons who belonged to his class in high school since no record of attendance beyond the last few years is in existence. The recent membership drive augmented the Association by twenty or more, most of whom were present on Saturday evening. It was decided to hold a series of community meetings during the coming year. The arrangement of these was put into the hands of the Public Interest Committee of which Warren A. Singles is chairman. Miss Jennie Smith and E. B. Wright comprise the rest of the committee. After the business meeting the executive board went into session and chose three members as an advisory board to assist them in determining the policies for the year. Misses Etta J. Wilson, Alice Kerr and Ira Steele were chosen.

Committees Appointed

Several committees were formed: Mrs. H. N. Reed was chosen chairman of the social committee. She will choose her own aides.

Miss Anna Gallaher was chosen chairman of the Self Culture committee, which will urge the reading of two books this year for self-improvement. Clarence Evans and Johnson Rowan are the other members of this committee.

After the business meeting the members returned to the large dining room, where a delightful dance was held, the music for which was furnished by an orchestra under direction of Paul Steel.

The social committee which had charge of the successful affair, in conjunction with the executive committee, were the following: Mrs. Wilmer Hill, Wallace Cook, Misses Gertrude Hill, Mildred Ferguson and Ethel Campbell.

These committees and the members of the Association expressed their sincere appreciation of the generosity of the college in offering the hospitality of the building, throwing open four of the rooms to the Association, in furnishing and serving the banquet at cost, and manifesting a spirit of co-operation and helpfulness in promoting the success of the affair.

The Association entertained five guests, Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Mitchell, Miss Madeline Raby, Miss Katherine Graybill and Mrs. Wm. E. Holton.

Those present included C. R. Osmond, Harrisburg, Pa.; Hallie Steel Johnson, Mrs. Blanche Ferguson Grant, Misses Winifred and Lydia Fader, Mrs. Ethel Ferguson Hill, George L. Against Big Team

On Friday at 4 p. m., the Blue and Gold will cross bats with the big University of California nine on Frazer Field. This team comes to Newark with a long list of victories to its credit, being beaten only by the University of Nebraska and Fordham. It is of interest to note that all of California's games are being won by decisive scores, while on the other hand their two defeats were by close scores. The California team is on an eastern trip, playing all of the larger colleges of the west and middle west while enroute. Some of the teams which have fallen before the onslaught of the westerners are Syracuse, Dartmouth, Columbia, Harvard, Detroit and several more of the larger colleges. After leaving Delaware, the Californians will meet Penn, Rutgers and Penn State before returning to the coast.

"Health and Happiness"

Miss Stevens Gives Vacation Advice to Children

Now that spring is here and every one is planning for a pleasant summer let us all try to do something that will bring happiness to our teachers, parents, but most of all ourselves and the whole community. It is something that will make your vacation more enjoyable and pay you a thousand fold.

Suppose you are all wonder what this can be! It is only this:—get your self on a 100 per cent health basis. Just for one small example of what will help you—See that your teeth are properly filled and if any should be removed to allow room for others that are coming in, have them taken out. Get right after those good ones and keep them good by frequent brushing, especially before going to bed. See that you practice those little health habits that have been taught you at home again and again, but, alas! forgotten many times. This helps your mother and your father, too. Why? Because they know you are doing these things every day and they do not have to think to remind you of them.

You all know what you should do to be up to the standard and it should be the pride of all to get any little defect cleared up before school stops so that you will be ready for a nice vacation and the fall term at school.

Aren't we much happier when we are well? Can't we work better—sleep better—play better? Certainly! Then let us all try to do our very best, as we all have the same opportunities and should make use of them now for they may

"JOHNNY APPLESEED" OF FORESTRY PLEADS CAUSE OF TREES

Charles Lathrop Pack Warns of Danger Incident to Wholesale Destruction

Away back a century ago a man was paddling up and down the Ohio river, carrying mysterious bags. Landing at intervals, he would take these bags to places that appealed to him and begin work. The bags were filled with apple seeds, and he was busy planting these seeds, and talking apples to the few settlers he met. On account of his occupation, he was dubbed Johnny Appleseed by the settlers, not in derision, but in appreciation. Because of his industry, the Ohio valley became famous for apples almost before the more thickly settled regions of the East thought much about them. For a hundred years no name was held in greater veneration in that valley than the name of Johnny Appleseed.

So near a century later that it seems almost more than a coincidence, there appeared another man, not in the primitive wilderness of a virgin land, but in the wilderness of ignorance in a land that was speeding to disaster. He was a planter of trees, and he had a message of trees. But the trees he planted were of the kind that had been a burden in the days of Johnny Appleseed; his message was of the forest.

Perhaps no higher compliment could be paid Charles Lathrop Pack than to call him the Johnny Appleseed of forestry. The latter anticipated the need of the Ohio valley in the way of apple trees; the former anticipated the dire extremity of the whole country on account of the frightful waste of forest resources. The basis of their work was the same, but the field of the later worker was much broader. Both were interested in humanity, and both loved nature.

To complete the parable, or comparison, or whatever it may be called, the work of Johnny Appleseed would not have brought the fine orchards to the Ohio valley if those to whom his message was addressed, and for whom his labor was done, had not heeded the message and carried forward the work. By the same token, if the work so well begun by the head of the American Forestry association is not taken up by the people for whom he has done it, and if his message falls on deaf ears, all that he can do will be of little avail.

With eloquence he has pointed out what will result if the slaughter of the forests without measures to replace them is continued. With his own hands he has planted forest trees; and he has shown others how to do it. He has done all that mortal man can do by way of example.

Will America heed his message and carry on the work he has begun? Upon the answer to that question depends more than can be appreciated now. The nation which allows its forests to perish will itself fall into decay and be in danger of perishing. France was saved by her forests. The loss of her forests doomed China. Which of the two nations do we propose to emulate? Which fate do we choose? For we must choose.

GOOD ADVICE FOR VACATION DAYS

"Have a Good Time but Be Careful," Says Safety Council

The following are liable to cause serious injuries, says the Delaware Safety Council in a bulletin addressed to the school children of the State.

Burns

When playing with fireworks, keep a safe distance away from them when the fuses are lighted. It is sometimes the small fireworks that cause injuries. If you can have as much fun on the 4th of July without fireworks it is much safer to let them alone. Don't play with matches. If you build bon-fires don't build them on windy days and don't get too close to them if you have on loose clothing that might easily catch fire.

Falls

When climbing trees to pick fruit, climb only where the branches are strong and where there are many of them so that you can grab one easily if you slip. Also choose safe ladders. It is very easy to meet with an accident playing around a building that is being built. It is much better to stay away from them. Avoid playing on stairways.

Drowning

See that a good swimmer is nearby when you swim in deep water.

Make sure that the water is deep enough before you dive. Let yourself into cold water gradually. It is better to go swimming more often than to stay in too long at one time. Don't go swimming until at least an hour after eating. Let your food digest properly and you will run less chance of getting "cramps." Keep away from ponds that have cold springs in them. Don't dare a fellow to take a chance in deep water.

Barefeet

Keep broken glass off the streets and sidewalks and out of the yard. Turn down or remove any projecting nails you may find and don't play in places where there may be nails projecting from loose boards, etc.

Sunstroke

Keep in the shade as much as possible and don't play too hard when it is very hot, or drink ice water when overheated.

Firearms

Never point a gun at yourself or anyone else. Examine the cartridge chamber to make sure that guns are unloaded before leaving them around.

Railroads

Keep away from railroad tracks. There are much better ways of having a good time than playing around cars. Always look both ways before you cross railroad tracks.

Streets

Don't be a "jay-walker" on city streets. Cross at crossings. Try to find a vacant lot or playground to play in. It is dangerous to play in the street. Look both ways before running out into the street.

MANY ATTEND JOINT CELEBRATION AT OLD DRAWYERS

Former Resident of Eastern Shore Delivers Address in the Afternoon

A number of Newark residents took advantage of the fine weather on Sunday to attend the annual service at Old Drawyer's Presbyterian church, near Odessa.

The 25th reunion of "The Friends of Old Drawyers" and the 209th anniversary of the founding of the church were jointly observed, the services being attended by several thousand friends from Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and all parts of Delaware.

Rev. Charles H. Bohner, pastor of Hanover Presbyterian church, preached the anniversary sermon. In the afternoon, John F. McMaster, a distinguished lawyer and a former resident of the Eastern Shore, delivered the address. He was introduced by Daniel W. Corbit, president of the Friends of Old Drawyers. Mr. McMaster gave an interesting account of the many historical events and characters associated with the church. Commodore Thomas MacDonough, the hero of Lake Champlain, who was born within a couple of miles of the old church, was a member of the congregation.

Mr. McMaster is much interested in the old churches of the peninsula and spends his spare time visiting them. He has made several trips across the ocean and across the continent, but considers the Del-Mar-Va. peninsula the garden spot of the world. Mr. McMaster's great grandfather was a pupil of Dr. Read, pastor of Drawyers in 1772. The great grandfather was pastor of three churches on the peninsula in 1774. Mr. McMaster, himself, attended Delaware College for one year and feels a great interest in everything pertaining to Delaware.

At the morning service the Rev. Robert Hallett, of Altoona, Pa., a former pastor of Odessa Presbyterian church, now retired, read the Scripture lesson and the Rev. E. H. Derrickson, pastor of the Odessa M. E. church, delivered the invocation. The music was under the direction of Mrs. Warden R. Humphries of West Presbyterian church. Mr. and Mrs. High Start, Mrs. J. N. Eaton, Mrs. Herbert Downing, Mrs. Floy Booth and Herbert Frazier composed the choir. Master William Washburn, of Odessa, was organist. Messrs. Clarence Howard and Frank Pool, of Middletown and vicinity, also assisted in the services.

Asset or Liability?

Charles M. Schwab in a talk to Princeton students said:

"I had a lesson brought home to me here today that I have been thinking of ever since. You have here in Princeton the daughter of my dear friend, Mr. Carnegie, and I went to her home to see her today, to wish her the happiness that she deserves. I was the first one to see her about twenty-one or two years ago, and I saw her today. With all of her wealth and everything that she might have that imagination might devise, I saw her living in the simplest of cottages in the simplest and most unostentatious style and the happiest young woman it has been my privilege to meet for many years.

"Now, boys, there is an object lesson for all of us. I have a great house in New York. I have a great country estate. About the only pleasure I get out of it is the fact that I have to pay its taxes and have enough money in bank to do it with. I don't own the estate and I don't own the house. They own me. My secretary made up one day a list of my assets and liabilities. I am not going to tell you what they were. But he had this great estate and house on the side of my personal assets. I said: 'You are wrong; they are not an asset, they are a liability. Put them on the other side.' So it is, boys. As I grow older I find I want to have simpler things about me, the truest of old friends. And boys, if you could know the joy of the long association and companionship with men such as I have known you would realize that you yet are to have such a compensation for old age as you have no idea of and you are to enjoy the truest thrills that come to the life of any man."

"Our business in life is not to get ahead of others but to get ahead of ourselves. To break our own record, to outstrip our yesterday by our today, to do our work with more force, and finer finish than ever; this is the true idea, to get ahead of ourselves."—Conveyor.

ANNUAL FARMERS' DAY AND PICNIC TO BE HELD AUGUST 5

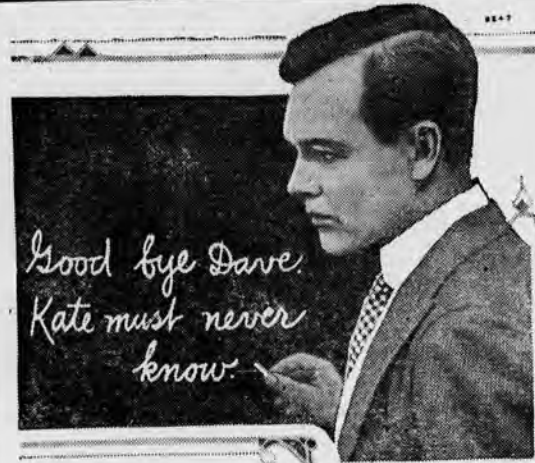

Director McCue Planning Program of Unusual Interest at Experiment Station

Farmers' Day at the Delaware College Experimental Farm will be held this year on Thursday, August 5th. Dean and Director C. A. McCue is planning a program that should appeal to farmers all over the Delmarva Peninsula. While this event is carried out in the form of an annual picnic its object is to bring farmers of the state into actual contact with the experimental work being carried on by the College in their behalf and the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the experiment station staff who will be present to explain the results of the experiments to date.

Requests have come to the college from Sussex county to arrange for a special train on the Delaware Road that will make it possible for the people from down state to spend more time at the college farm than is possible under present train schedules and connections. Everyone in the State who is interested in the work of their State College along agricultural lines should keep August 5th as an open date and visit the college farm. The slogan will be, "Meet your friends at the college farm August 5th, and don't forget to tell all your neighbors."

One of our local citizens tells this story, and he says it happened at a very prominent home: It occurred in the evening. I and several others were calling. As we chatted in the parlor we heard the patter of little feet at the head of the stairs above. The mother of this particular home raised her hand for silence. "Hush! The children are going to deliver their good night message," she said softly. "It always gives me a felling of reverence to hear them. They are so much nearer the Creator than we are, and they speak the love that is in their hearts never so fully as when the dark has come. Listen." Then there was a moment of tense silence. Then, "Mamma," came the message from above, "Willie found a bedbug!"—Elmore, Minn., Eye.

Oxford Electric Co. Branches Out

The Oxford Electric Company is pushing its line to Rising Sun right down the road. Holes are dug as far as Sylmar and the line has been completed to Nottingham, with the exception of stringing the wire. The digging of the holes has been put out to contract and the work is therefore pushing ahead much more rapidly than usual. Once Rising Sun is reached, that plant will be connected with the line and this will then be pushed on to Port Deposit. Within a very short time the building of the line from Quarryville to Oxford will be begun and this will mean that by fall there will be two lines into town with automatic switches, so that there will be no likelihood of even minor interruptions in service.—Oxford News.

Finger Lakes Region Adopts Unique Advertising Scheme

A unique method of advertising has been adopted by the Finger Lakes region of New York. The school children of that section, 15,000 strong, are writing to public officials in different parts of the country, defining the beauties of the region and the historical interest connected with it. This is not without effect was evidenced when a man who is accustomed to spend his vacation in a different place every year, upon hearing one of these letters read by Mayor E. B. Frazier, manifested a desire to visit there.

The letter follows:
85 Howell St.
Canadagua, N. Y.
May 27, 1920.

Mayor of Newark,
Newark, Del.

Dear Sir:

As one of the fifteen thousand school children in this part of the State of New York, I am writing to you to ask if you will spend all or part of your summer vacation in this region, The Finger Lakes Region.

As you know, there are five Finger Lakes which are Seneca, Canadagua, Hewka, Cayuga and Skanawake.

In this region there are falls fifty feet higher than the falls at Niagara. Seneca lake is the deepest lake in the United States. There are many beautiful roads leading to many places of interest, as being sites of battlefields. Canadagua Lake is especially noted for Indian legends.

Near the outlet of this lake there is an island named Squaw Island. During Sullivan's march through this region Sullivan and his men fought against the Indians here. The Indians took their squaws and children over to this island. There were many trees and bushes on the island so the white men could not see them.

I would like it if you would have published in your city newspaper, when you have received this letter, that you had received a letter to invite you to spend your vacation in the Finger Lakes Region. I would appreciate it very much if

FORTY-FOUR COWS MAKE HIGH BUTTER- FAT RECORDS

J. I. Dayett's Herd Again
Heads List of High
Producers

It is well known that pasture is our best dairy feed, but the Association records during the month demonstrated that pasture should be supplemented with grain. Many of the farmers received complaints from milk dealers that their butterfat tests were running below standard. It is an interesting fact that the milk produced from those herds receiving some grain along with pasture contained a normal butterfat content during the entire grass period.

During the month there were forty-four cows which passed the forty pounds of butterfat mark, and twelve of them above fifty pounds. Brookwood Farms' record cow is still leading the honor list by a large margin. A pure-bred cow owned by J. C. Mitchell steps into third place on the honor list.

The Association will end its fiscal year July 31. In order that the work continue without a break in the records between the fiscal years, it is suggested that farmers of the northern part of the county who wish to join the association inform some member of the association or Secretary J. I. Dayett, of Cooch, to that effect. The majority of the old members of the Association will doubtless renew their membership, but there will be a few members who for good reasons will not continue the work. Mr. F. B. Martenis, tester, will have an agreement and will be glad to interview new members relative to the association work.

The following is the list of ten cows which produced the highest butterfat records during the month:

Owner of Cow.	Lbs. Milk.	Lbs. Butterfat.
Brookwood Farms	2269	90.8
Breidablik Farm	1234	62.9
John C. Mitchell	1612	61.3
J. Irvin Dayett	1699	56.9
Hill Girt Farm	942	55.6
J. T. Edmanson	1531	53.6
Breidablik Farm	1147	51.6
Hill Girt Farm	1156	50.9
Hill Girt Farm	995	50.7

The following is the list of five herds which produced highest average butterfat records during the month:

Owner of Herd.	Av. lbs. Milk.	Av. lbs. Butterfat.
J. I. Dayett	1213	44.1
Brookwood Farm	1070	38.7
Hill Girt Farm	653	34.3
J. T. Edmanson	1000	32.9
Dr. S. T. Young	927	31.6

Communion at Head of Christiana Next Sunday

Children's Day will be observed at Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church on Sunday, June 2, at the time of the regular preaching service. A very good program for that occasion is under way and gives promise of being one of the best ever given.

Services next Sabbath will be at the usual time: Sunday school at 10 o'clock and public worship at 10.45, at which time Communion will be administered by Rev. H. H. Kurtz, of Honeybrook.

Old Grad Comes All the Way From Frisco to Commencement

Mr. George Balderston, formerly a resident of Newark and a graduate of Delaware College in the class of 1876, has returned with Mrs. Balderston from Santa Ana, California, to attend Commencement. Mr. Balderston is a mining engineer. He went to Colorado soon after graduation and later moved to California. He has not visited Newark for many years but today has been greeting his old friends, Dr. George A. Harter, Mr. Wilbur Wilson, the Messrs. Motherrall, Mr. Alfred Curtis, Mr. Walter C. Curtis, Dr. H. G. M. Kollock, Mr. Charles B. Evans and others whom he knew in his boyhood here. Mr. Balderston's interests as a mining engineer call him to various parts of the country and it has fallen to his lot to address technical groups gathered in colleges and scientific societies upon mining engineering. While hundreds of the Old Grads will come back to Newark to attend the Commencement, which will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the re-opening of the College after the Civil War, perhaps none will have come so far as Mr. Balderston. He has found many changes in Newark from the time that he has known it in childhood. The town has grown in population, wealth and community interests. He is revisiting all of the scenes of the college which he recalls vividly.

THREE PORTRAITS PRESENTED TO DEL- AWARE COLLEGE

Suggestion Made that Others
Follow the Example of Donors

On behalf of his daughter, Ann Niels, Former United States District Attorney John P. Niels last Wednesday evening presented to Delaware College a portrait of Caesar A. Rodney, a nephew of Caesar Rodney who made the famous ride. This Caesar Rodney served with distinction in Congress and was Attorney-General under both Jefferson and Monroe. From the original portrait, which hangs in the Attorney-General's office at Washington, the one presented to Delaware College was painted.

The presentation was made in the lounge room of Old College before a gathering of faculty members and friends of the college. Mr. Niels told entertainingly, many incidents and anecdotes in the lives of famous Delaware men of Rodney's generation. He ventured the hope that Delaware College may be the recipient of portraits of other men famous in Delaware history.

The portraits of Dr. Albert N. Raub, formerly president of Delaware College, and of George A. Evans, treasurer of the college for many years, were hung in Old College Hall last Saturday morning. These portraits were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Evans, the son and daughter respectively of the subjects of these portraits.

OLD DELAWARE TO CELEBRATE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

new are contained in this interesting volume.

The annual address this year will be delivered by Thomas Nelson Page, Ambassador to Italy during the war, and author of many popular works of fiction dealing with the social life of Virginia prior to the Civil War.

Special interest attaches to this selection of a speaker since his father, John Page, was a graduate of Delaware College, class of 1839.

While in this vicinity he will be entertained by General James H. Wilson of Wilmington.

Miss Elizabeth Kemper Adams, who will make the address at the Women's College in the afternoon, is now connected with the educational and Industrial Union of Boston for the promotion of vocational guidance.

During the war she gave up the position of Professor of Education at Smith College to act as director of women's appointments with the Intercollegiate Bureau at Washington. She is now writing a book on Women in the Professions. Her subject will be "The New Professional Spirit."

Unusual Athletic Program Scheduled

To emphasize the position that the Blue and Gold has won in athletics during the past season, and to add additional interest to the program, interesting baseball games have been scheduled. The first game will be with the University of California Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This promises to be a significant contest between the East and the West. The Californians have made a remarkable record during the season. This game is the only one scheduled with the smaller colleges. They play Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Syracuse University and teams of that class.

The Blue and Gold team will cross bats with George Washington University on Saturday at 3 p. m. and with Haverford, Monday afternoon at 3.30.

Rumor Gives Presidency of Delaware College to Dr. Hullihen

It has been reported unofficially that Dr. Walter Hullihen, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tennessee, will be the probable successor to Dr. S. C. Mitchell whose resignation takes effect September 1st. The final decision concerning the choice of the Trustees for this position will probably be made at their meeting on June 12, and the formal announcement made at this time.

Several other noted educators have been considered for the presidency, but it is understood that Dr. Hullihen is regarded as the most desirable for the position. Dr. Hullihen was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1896, where he received the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. He did post-graduate work both at the University of Virginia and Johns Hopkins University, where he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1900. He also spent a year at the University of Leipzig. He has since then been active in the educational work of the South, and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Phi Fraternities.

Nothing definitely is known as to the exact truth of the report, as none of the trustees were willing to commit themselves to a direct statement.

Opera House Offerings

Why Ince Produced

"The Midnight Patrol"
"It has long been my ambition to provide the motion picture theatres and public with a drama based upon the heroism of the American policeman," said Thomas H. Ince, producer and director of "The Midnight Patrol," which Select Pictures announces for the Oprea House on Saturday, in a recent interview. "Soldiers and sailors have I paid tribute to in stories on the screen. Yet, in my honest opinion, the conscientious, honest, hard-working policeman is as deserving of the nation's gratitude as anyone else. While we give praise to the boys 'over there,' we must not lose sight of the valiant boys 'over here.' They, too, are willing to go 'over the top,' and that is one of the reasons I have produced 'The Midnight Patrol.' This picture is a vivid and realistic story of the excellent work done by the police of a big western city in breaking up a gang of Chinese opium smugglers.

"The Mother of His Children"

The story is one that will hold the unbroken interest of everyone. It deals with the fascinating artist life of Paris and its action turns upon a wonderful statue group from which it derives its title. From the sculptor's studio one is taken to the exotic atmosphere which pervades the apartment of an Arabian princess. Here the life drama of a wonder woman of the East is enacted in scenes filled with tense situations and marvelous dramatic effects. As the Princess Yve, Miss Brockwell rises to the pinnacle of her unusual dramatic ability.

The cast includes William Scott, Frank Leigh, Nigel de Brullier, Golda Madden and two clever children, Nancy Caswell and Jean Eaton. This will appear at the Opera House on Tuesday evening.

Marguerite Clark Displayed Talent Early

Marguerite Clark's father was A. J. Clark, a prominent merchant of Cincinnati, while her mother was one of the city's most beautiful women. She was born at Avondale, Ohio, February 22, 1887. As both parents died before she was eleven years old, an elder sister took her in charge, placing her in Ursuline Convent, Brown county, Ohio, where she remained for three years.

Even as a child Miss Clark had shown exceptional ability in amateur theatricals. She attracted the attention of Milton Aborn, founder of the Aborn Company, who gave her a small part in Baltimore, Md., where she made her professional debut.

Miss Clark later turned to musical comedy and then to the drama and straight comedy. It was a photograph of Miss Clark in the role of Prunella that caught the eye of Adolph Zukor, then President of the Famous Players Film Company. Mr. Zukor attended several performances of "Prunella" in order to study her carefully. The more he studied the more convinced he became that the charming star was suited by her personality and histrionic ability to become a great motion picture favorite. Thus the end of the long run enjoyed by "Prunella" found Marguerite Clark forsaking the stage to appear in a photoplay adaptation of "Wildflower." Never has any star so completely captured the fancy of the motion picture public with her first appearance on the screen as did Miss Clark.

Miss Clark lacks two inches of the height of five feet, weighs ninety pounds, has a fair complexion, hazel eyes and masses of brown hair. Miss Clark is not a devotee of outdoor sports, preferring rather a good book or play—with perhaps some bonbons and an easy chair.
