New Regulations At Postoffice

Free Delivery Introduced Last Thursday

Last Thursday the promised free delivery of U. S. mail for patrons of Newark postoffice living within the town limits became a reality, and every day since the new mail-carrier's initial round additional citizens have asked for the service. A misunderstanding of the rulings of the department has led to many disappointments on the part of patrons seeking their evening mail, at the same time subjecting the clerks to much undeserved unpleasantness.

The government rules say that the citizens shall receive mail service in one of three ways: either through the general delivery, by carrier, or through private box. This applied to Newark's particular case means that patrons accepting mail twice a day from the carrier are not entitled to receive mail through the general delivery window in the evening. The clerks at the local office sort the mails according to the three classifications mentioned; the individual box patrons, the "general delivery," and the "carrier" section. The "carrier" section is sorted according to district of the town in which the addressee resides, and not alphabetically as in the general delivery. As two-thirds of the residents of Newark have already asked for the house to house delivery, patrons will see the hopeless task they are imposing upon the clerks in asking for evening mail at the general delivery window.

The new carrier, Mr. Harvey Gregg, a life-long resident of Newark, entered upon his duties last Thursday. He starts upon his route at eight returning at eleven; again at two, finishing at five. In order that patrons may become familiar with the new system, the route as traversed by Mr. Gregg is given in detail as follows: West on Main to the limit of town; down Corbit street to New London avenue; out Elkton avenue; east on Delaware avenue to South Chapel; west on Main to the postoffice; north on Choate, retracing to Main; east on Main to the limits of town, retracing to Chapel, out North Chapel street, west on Cleveland avenue to Kershaw street; north on Kershaw street to the town limits; retracing to Cleveland avenue; west to North College avenue, thence to Main street. All letters handled by the carrier are no longer classed as "drop letters" and hence require two cents postage.

BUSY YEAR FOR CLUB WOMEN

Meetings To Be Resumed November Sixth

The women's club year in Newark which opens on Monday, November sixth, promises to be the most active since the foundation of the club in 1894. With the new clubhouse on Delaware avenue nearing completion the members are brimming over with plans and enthusiasm to rid themselves of debt. Aside from the various benefits for this purpose, the club has planned a series of meetings at which they will study every phase of life in Mexico—government, schools, religion, music, literature, art. There are also days set aside for the study of civic problems. Neat little booklets giving the various committees, a list of the members of the club, and the program for the year, will be distributed this week by members of the Program Committee—Mrs. Ernest Wright, Mrs. L. H. Cooch, and Miss Ritz. The program follows: November sixth, Business; Vacation Talks; November thirteenth, Legends of Mexico, Miss Brady; Indian Tribes, Mrs. Cann; November twentieth, Business Lecture, Feeble-Mindedness in Delaware, Miss Elizabeth Kite; Music, Miss Wilson, chairman; November twenty-seventh, Music, Miss Ritz; Lecture, S. LeRoy Layton; December fourth, Business; Program by Library Committee in charge of Mrs. Mitchell; December eleventh, (continued on page 5)

Board Of Health Issues Warning

Owing to the discovery of several cases of infantile paralysis in the vicinity of Thompson Station, the local Board of Health, at a special meeting last Friday, issued a warning to citizens to beware of stray dogs and cats, as it is believed the transmitting of the disease in the mentioned locality can be traced to this source. The Board does not feel alarmed, but desired to take every precaution. Hillside School at Thompson Station, taught by Miss Sarah Potts, is closed owing to local conditions.

Students Form Dramatic Club

EDUCATIONAL TENDENCIES DISCUSSED

Community Singing Feature Of Meeting

Dr. Counts, of the Department of Education, Delaware College, will discuss "Recent Tendencies in Education"; Miss Shepherdson, director of music in the Newark schools, assisted by a class from the High School will lead the community singing which will be a feature of the meeting. The Association has planned the meeting for eight o'clock, in order that every one interested may have an opportunity to attend.

MILK COMMISSIONS ORGANIZE

Representatives From Four States

Professor H. Hayward, dean of the agricultural department, Delaware College, on Tuesday attended the joint milk commission of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, and Delaware, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, City Hall, Philadelphia. The Commission was named by the governors of the various states to consider the claims of milk producers in raising the price of milk sold in the Philadelphia territory, and to determine whether the price asked is justified by the economic conditions prevailing at the present time.

Mr. C. Crothers, the department secretary of agriculture of Pennsylvania, was made temporary chairman of the meeting and Mr. Frederick Brady of Middletown temporary secretary. After the purposes of the commission were stated the question of permanent organization was taken up. Dr. King of the Wharton School of Finance of Pennsylvania, a member of the commission was made permanent chairman, and Mr. Henderson Supple, another Pennsylvania member, and one of the largest milk distributors, secretary. Governor Fielder of New Jersey, not thoroughly understanding the function of the Commission has not as yet named any members, but it is believed he will do so at an early date.

After permanent organization had been effected, an opportunity was given each member to state his conception of the work of the Commission. The members agreed that the work to be undertaken is that of bringing distributors and consumers to a better understanding of the problems that confront each class having to do with the production and distribution of milk in cities. The work was declared more than economic, more than educational—it is sociologic. Committees were named, Professor Hayward being made chairman of the "Grading" committee. He also represents Delaware on the Executive Committee.

LODGE ROOM NEARING COMPLETION

New Electric Sign Appears On Building

The addition to the Odd Fellows building, Main street, is nearing completion, the finishing touches being added by the painters this week. A part of the furnishings for the building have already arrived, and the lodge rooms, it is believed, will be thoroughly equipped within a few weeks. The new section of the building will be used for lockers, committee rooms, and a place for general equipment. A new electric sign has been added within the week, which affords the public the following information: Monday evening, Junior O. U. A. M. number 28; Wednesday evening, W. O. W., Camp number 5, 1st and 2nd A. O. H., Division number 8, 2nd; Thursday, Oriental number 12, I. O. O. F.; Saturday, K. G. E., Ivy Castle, number 23.

RETURNS FROM NICKLE DISTRICT

Expert Testimony Furnished Supreme Court

Dr. Manns returned Sunday from Toronto where he was called to give expert testimony on plant disease in several cases before the Ontario Supreme Court. The trials involved the Canadian Copper Company and many farmers in the vicinity of Sudbury and Copper Cliffs, the most famous nickle districts in the world. The damages asked for in the different cases amounted to many thousands of dollars, the injury resulting from sulphur fumes in the roasting of nickle and copper ore.

WHY SENATOR DUPONT SHOULD BE ELECTED

CONGRESSMAN MILLER GIVES PERTINENT REASONS

Congressman Thomas W. Miller today issued the following statement in which he urges the re-election of United States Senator Henry A. duPont, and points out the importance of the national administration of Delaware returning Senator du Pont to the highest legislative branch:

"The control of the United States Senate is a fight such as the country has never witnessed in any recent national election. At the present time the Senate is Democratic by a majority of sixteen. There are thirty-five Senatorial seats to be filled, of which nineteen are now occupied by Democrats and sixteen by Republicans.

If Republicans continue to hold the sixteen Senatorial seats, whose occupants are candidates for re-election, a gain of nine Democratic seats will suffice to give the Republicans a majority in the next Senate by a vote of 49 to 47. The state of Maine has already settled the question, as far as it concerns the commonwealth, by replacing a Democrat with a Republican and filling a vacancy, formerly held by a Republican with one of the same faith.

"Therefore it is necessary to defeat eight Democratic Senators, now running for re-election and re-elect every Republican Senator. The Republicans, who are running the national campaign, can count the eight Democratic seats which we are reasonably sure of winning, but no Republican seat can be lost.

"In Delaware our senior United States Senator, Henry A. duPont, a Republican, is one of the sixteen Senators up for re-election. If he is returned it will be to support the policies and uphold the hands of a Republican president, and there is

DELAWARE SOLDIERS TO VOTE

Governor Miller today has named Colonel Theodore Townsend of Milford, and Theodore Ferguson, son of Lieutenant-governor Coleen Ferguson of Blackbird, special commissioners to bring the vote of the Delaware soldiers from Deming, New Mexico.

The officers of each company at the New Mexico post, will act as election officials, the special commissioners merely bringing the ballot to Delaware. There are in the two battalions about two hundred qualified voters. The Commissioners will leave for Deming early next week.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER RESIGNS

Miss West Elected Successor

It was announced on Tuesday Miss Mabelle Penock, teacher in the Newark High School, who presented her resignation to the Board over a week ago, will be succeeded in the teaching force by Miss Lillian West, of the Eighth grade, grammar school. A teacher for the eighth grade has not yet been selected.

Signal Corps At Delaware

The Signal Corps of the Delaware College Battalion consists this year of a full complement of 12 cadets. Each member of the corps must be proficient in sending signals by two flag systems and by wireless. The wireless equipment consists of two complete portable sets, each with a sending radius of 20 miles. One of the members of the corps is a licensed operator, and it is expected that several will take the examination in Philadelphia as soon as they have had sufficient practice.

At an "election" held by students of Delaware College in Purnell Hall yesterday, one hundred and twenty votes were polled for Wilson against ninety for Hughes. Townsend, for governor, received the largest majority; Wolcott won in the senatorial contest, and Miller for congressman. Both the Senior and Junior classes went Republican; the Sophomore and Freshman Democratic.

Escapes Serious Injuries

A horse driven by Miss Hetty Slack last Monday morning became frightened at a passing automobile van, being driven south on the road toward Elkton. The frightened horse jumped with a force that dragged the driver over the dash board; the wagon was completely overturned, and the wheels badly broken. Miss Helen Slack who accompanied her sister, was also thrown out. Both of the young women were badly bruised, but escaped serious injuries.

DR. MITCHELL ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell, president of Delaware College, will be one of the speakers at the "Congress of Human Engineering," to be held at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, on October 26. The Congress will last three days, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. In the prospectus sent out regarding this Congress it states:

"Continuous turmoil and unrest characterized the relations between industry and labor. Why? How may it be mended?"

"In response to remands made upon it to help solve the problems arising out of the human factory in industry, the College of Engineering of the Ohio State University has set aside October 26, 27 and 28 for a convention to be called a "Congress of Human Engineering." It is proposed to show what has been done and call attention to what may be done to bring about industrial peace. Especially, it is desired to show what are the duties and opportunities of the engineer in this matter. The engineer must be educated to understand the laboring man to know how to get along with him and help him to contentment. Addresses will be made by manufacturers, economists, engineers, labor leaders, business men, employment and operating superintendents and social welfare workers.

FLARE AT CARNEY'S POINT

Two Men Badly Burned

The flare seen in the streets of Newark last Monday evening about six-fifteen was caused by the explosion of two carloads of powder at the Carney's Point plant of the du Pont Powder Company. The powder had been hauled to the door of a sorting house and two men were engaged in unloading, when a tiny spark of fire ignited the powder. A great ball of fire shot high in the heavens illuminating the sky for many miles. The cars stood on the railroad track some distance from the sorting house which accounts for the prevention of a more serious blaze. Four men received burns, two of them, Thomas W. Miller, aged 27, of New York, and F. J. Boyer, aged 37, of Philadelphia, being burned seriously.

A few weeks ago letters were mailed to all members of the association requesting them to complete the reading by October 25th. This week the announcement is made that the date for the meeting is Monday evening, November sixth. A delightful musical program presenting a number of the Kipling ballads, will be a feature of the evening. "HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

A Popular Slogan Which Misleads The People

The campaign slogan that the "administration has kept us out of war" is no more argument in its favor than to say that the administration ought to be kept in power because the President did not burn down the White House.

There were only two sane courses to take in Mexico—to go in and restore order to the anarchy maddened creatures of that country or to keep out and leave them to their mutual destruction. But the administration did both and neither.

We could have prevented every outrage that we have tamely suffered, stopped every deprecation on our commerce, without getting into the war.

But will not the administration's foreign program get us into future wars if that program is adopted and if future wars occur? The President has formally announced that policy to be for the United States to join an international alliance in order to maintain by force these four purposes:

First, to enable every people "to choose the sovereignty under which they shall live."

Second, to defend "sovereignty and territorial integrity of the small states of the world."

Third, to free the world from "aggression and the disregard of the rights of peoples and of nations."

Fourth, "to prevent any war begun contrary to either treaty, covenants or without warning."

Is that program one of peace? Is it not rather an incubator of wars? Can such another nest of serpent's eggs be found in the remanence of the world's tangled state-

Wilson's Disentangling Alliance

Had these proposals of the administration been carried out the United States would have gone to war with France to prevent her seizure of Dahomey, Morocco, Algiers; with Great Britain when she occupied Egypt; with Japan when she swallowed Korea; with Germany when she took part of the Chinese Empire; with Great Britain again when she overthrew the Boer Republic and Orange Free State and compelled their desperately resisting people to accept the rule of an alien power; with Russia and Great Britain at the present moment on account of their partition of Persia.

Where would the President's avowed foreign policy of joining an alliance to resist aggression and the violation of treaties lead us? In every war, each side always claims that the other side is the aggressor.

Yet Mr. Wilson calls such an international engagement "a disentangling alliance."

—Albert J. Beveridge.

Fooling The People

The Wilson doctrine of "Too proud to fight" has bred weakness, cowardice and disloyalty among our people. Wilson preached unpreparedness until forced by an aroused public opinion to change. Then in haste he forced the enactment of the Hay bill, which military experts and the thousands of national guardsmen now on the border know is a poor makeshift for real preparedness.

People should not be fooled by the catch phrase, "Wilson has kept us out of war." The alternative of our present conditions is, no war, but honorable peace based upon the absolute protection of the lives of our citizens on sea and land. In this way only can we gain the respect of other nations, and in this way only would we deserve it.

Had many believed that Wilson meant what he said there would not have been the Lusitania horror. Had Mexico believed that Wilson really intended to protect Americans there would be a totally different situation on our border. The dreadful toll of Wilson's Mexican policy is more than 300 American citizens murdered and many hideous outrages upon American women. How can women at home approve such a record? Had Wilson shown strength and force in the beginning, Mexico would have feared to commit such outrages. His weakness provoked attack and induced contempt.

—James R. Garfield, Ex-Secretary of the Interior.

True Basis For Peace

Never since Columbus sighted San Salvador has there been a time when it has been so easy for America to keep out of war by doing nothing as it has been during the great conflict now raging in the Old World. All the great powers of the world except ourselves have had their hands full with existing enemies. They have been straining every resource to the utmost to avoid being conquered by the enemies already in arms against them. No country has been willing to assume hostile relations with us because that would have the effect of weakening her and strengthening her present enemies.

More than that, none of the countries at war has been willing to incur our passive hostility and throw to her active enemies the benefits of our material and moral support, free from the limitations imposed by the law of neutrality.

Peace is not maintained by the surrender of just rights. Peace is maintained by the assertion of just rights, calmly, dispassionately, reasonably, accompanied by a knowledge of power behind the assertion and a conviction in the minds of others that there is behind the power courage and resolution certain to use the power if need be in defense of the right.

—Elihu Root.

Old Style Ballots For Soldiers

A Dover special says that in accordance with the view of the State Judiciary old style tickets will be printed and taken to Deming, New Mexico, by special messengers for the use of the Delaware soldiers on November 7, instead of the blanket ballots now used at State elections. The tickets will have no emblems and will be headed "Republican," "Democratic," "Progressive," "Prohibition," etc, the voters having the right to mark any name on the ticket they may choose.

Leads For Corn Yield Prize

Alonzo S. Whitlock, of the Odesa section, winner of the prize offered for several years past for the best yield of corn from an acre of corn, has gotten the best yield cut and husked thus far this year. His prize acre was cut and husked under the supervision of Secretary Wesley Webb, of the State Board of Agriculture, and County Farm Agent W. H. Cooch, on October 14, and yielded 117 bushels of Johnson county white variety. It was planted on May 19, and 1,000 pounds of lime was drilled on it at that time, 900 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate in three successive applications. It was planted 3 feet by 2 feet 3 inches and was cultivated six times. It was left standing under the rules of the contest and was husked and weighed when cut. Mr. Whitlock had expected a yield of 135 bushels and secured 128 1/2 from an acre in 1914. His wheat yield this year was 30 bushels to the acre.

Two Men Killed On Tracks

Joseph Boggs, aged 38, employed at the Bancroft Mills, was struck by a shifting engine on the Reading Railway tracks at Henry Clay on Thursday night. Michael Lovett found the man's dead body lying along the track early on Friday morning. An unknown white man also met death on Thursday night on the trolley tracks near Elsmere where they pass through woods. He had just stepped out of the way of the car but returned to the tracks when motorman Harrington, in charge of another car, saw him but could not stop his car. The wheels went over the man's body and he was dead when he reached Delaware Hospital.

Yeggmen supposed to have arrived and left in an automobile robbed the postoffice at Church Hill, Queen Anne's county, Md., nine miles north of Centreville, about 1 a. m. on Wednesday. The office is located in the store of Harry A. Walls, the postmaster. The thieves secured about $60, of which $35 belonged to Mr. Walls, and $25 worth of stamps. Since the robbery of the Queenstown last spring, Mr. Walls has put most of his stamps and cash in the Church Hill bank overnight and thus averted a heavier loss. Tools taken from the shop of J. W. Richards were used to enter the store and break open the postoffice safe. Mrs. S. C. Dudley heard an automobile stop in front of her house during the night and looking out of a window saw four men in it who it is thought were the robbers. It is likely that the gang will try their luck elsewhere in the Peninsula field.

STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN

Voting for Senator Henry A. duPont is just as much the duty of every Republican as the voting for the Republican electors. That the electoral vote of Delaware will be cast for Charles E. Hughes is generally admitted. The vote for the national Republican ticket in Delaware is predicted to be unusually heavy. There is, however, an element in the state who from personal enmity, are trying to defeat the candidate for Senator. How any man, who is a Republican from principle can vote for the national electors and not for the U. S. Senator is more than we can comprehend. It is absolutely vital that President Hughes have a working majority in the Senate. The citizen who votes for one and not for the other is failing not only in his opportunity but in his duty.

It takes but small reasoning to see that either Senator duPont goes back to the Senate or a Democrat. To vote for Burton is only a crude cowardly way of voting for a Democrat. To send a Democrat is to cast a vote for a man who will act directly contrary to what you as a Republican believe.

The question can be stripped down to one issue—"Do you as a Republican want a Republican Senator or a Democrat?"

We know the answer. Then vote the straight Republican ticket and allow no one to dupe you otherwise.

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

In Sussex and Kent counties and the city of Wilmington, John G. Townsend knows more people than probably any man in the State. Further than that he knows them sympathetically. He appreciates their needs, sees their point of view, speaks, as he said recently, their language. He understands their position because he has been there himself. As a farmer, a timber man in the woods, a lumber dealer, manufacturer, business man, banker, he has lived a life teeming with interest. And he did it himself. He knows labor—he has labored. He knows farming; he is one. He knows business as a manufacturer, as a producer. He has grasped and created opportunities. Withal he has civic pride, realizes civic duty and has civic sense. Any project that proposes community or state welfare has his interest and support. More, it has the energy of hard common sense. Ideals must be practical, they must work with him. It would be difficult to find a man who is the godfather of ambitious striving to get on in the world. A strong fighter, smiles when he fights and forgets when the fight is over. Among his staunchest friends you will find an old enemy since befriended.

Without a word of disparagement of his opponent, Mr. Townsend has the advantage of a life which has been directly associated with our people of all classes and circumstances. He has and is working with them today. This understanding and appreciation will render him especially fit as the Governor of the state. He considers the office not as any recognition of past performances but as an expression of confidence in giving him a broader field for service. In his speech at Wilmington he said he could "never repay the debt of gratitude for the honor bestowed." But he can. As governor he will render a service to the state and its people that will be a matter of proud record.

As such, twenty years of acquaintance and close observation has convinced us. Right—is it right? Will it be practical? Of these he is always champion.

A POLITICAL SUPRISE

The greatest surprise that has ever come to us, in our few years of political observation is the recent action of ex-Congressman Hiram Burton in allowing himself to be used in the defeat of a Republican U. S. Senator and thereby lessening the strength of a Republican President. If it were a three-cornered fight, it would be a surprise, but to deliberately aid in the defeat of the party that honored him is a little more than we can conceive. His record in Congress is something of which we are proud. He should have continued—at least we have always so maintained. But now after the Republican party in regular primary and convention placed the candidate in the field, for him to oppose him in the method taken is a shock to our idea of his Republicanism. We take no exception to his objection to Senator duPont before the Convention. He was then justly within his rights and practices of the party. But to sympathize with the opposition so far as to lend his name to further a scheme, conceived in personal hatred and planned to defeat the Republican candidate—well, it shows to us that his professed Republicanism is not founded on secure conviction. By his action he is fighting his own principle. He is not only lending himself to aid in the defeat of his own State party but is opposing the whole national party. We respect his pre-convention opposition but condemn his desertion which casts reflection on his whole public career. It is not only politically indecent, it is a sacrifice of principles. Had events so passed that he was opposed to the national platform, we could have excused him and honored his independence. But to accept the national platform and at the same time aid in the defeat of the one man on the ticket who will vote for those principles in the Senate—well, it's beyond our ken. Really, we expect to see him yet withdraw. His position now does not in any way harmonize with the career and our conception of the man.

MEXICAN BANDITS AND AMERICAN HEROES

"Continental stole the vessels out of the churches and sold them to buy food and drink. They drove the priests and ministers out of churches and sometimes out of the country. Their money was worthless, as the Mexican money is today, and they were in general just as bad characters as the Mexicans."

"Who said that?" snaps every red-blooded American. Some anarchist, or rabid hyphenated Mexican half-breed? Fed who read it are "too proud to fight." Who said that? At any time? Now of all times, who has dared hurl this last insult? Listen, calmly, if you can, while we tell you. We'll out with it—a member of the cabinet of the President of the United States. And said in defense of the present administration! In order to extol the honor and greatness of present day Democracy, he denounces the men and heroes of the Revolution. Washington, Franklin, Adams, Kirkwood, Rodney, Blue Hens Chicks, Heroes of Trenton, Sufferers of Valley Forge, Ancestor of Cooch's Bridge,—forgive us, of this day, who have so forgotten, who in our selfish conceit, are so blinded in ambition as to forget whence and from whom America came.

These words from our Secretary of War! Have you not the wit to better defend your defence of American honor? For the sake of the thousands of youth being today taught to honor and so live as to perpetuate those Revolution ideals, let the honored dead alone. "Just as bad characters as the Mexicans"—then comparing the President to Lincoln. Villa the modern Washington! Huerta the Jefferson of our day! Border bandits, the heroes of Valley Forge! Words fail to express our disgust. If Baker's words are true, let us destroy American history for all that is best in us today is the inheritance and inspiration gain'd from the ideals and lives of those men of '76.

The Daughters of the American Revolution did well in the following action:

Their resolution commenting on the stenographic transcript says: "There can be no reasonable doubt as to the intention to characterize the patriots who followed Washington from Bunker Hill to Yorktown as thieves, church looters, and disreputable characters generally." Continuing, the resolution reads:

"Be it resolved, That we officers of patriotic societies of women, with headquarters in the District of Columbia, do hereby demand the immediate resignation of Newton D. Baker, as Secretary of War on the ground that a man of such amazing ignorance of history, and so lacking in ideals, is not a fit head for the army of the United States of America, and would tend to seriously injure its morale; and be it further

"Resolved, That we do hereby demand that President Wilson repudiate this comparison of Mexican bandits with Washington's Continental Army, made by one of his cabinet members on the defense of the President's policy in Mexico; and be it further

"Resolved, That as the utterances of such libelous and false statements in regard to the officers and men of the American Revolution are unpatriotic and disloyal and must be most pernicious in their effect upon the loyalty and patriotism of the youth of the nation, we therefore call upon every loyal and patriotic man and woman in America to repudiate this odious comparison and unjust and untrue attack upon our forefathers, the founders of this republic and the Declaration of Independence; and be it further

"Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to every patriotic organization in the United States, to President and to Secretary of War Baker."

What will our local Daughters do? What will Delaware's descendants of the Revolution do? Such statements make him unfit for our Cabinet. And the President who sits silently by—what? Shades of Princeton—not of today, but of the Revolution—speak!

LOCALLY

Locally the political situation looks good. Just as we predicted Robert Gallaher is growing stronger every day. If reports coming to this office show any trend, Mr. Gallaher will poll a heavy vote.

Down in Pender—oh, Pender is always right on election day. Political observers always predict defeat but for years—how long his it been since Pender slipped? Frank Poole of Mason, Donough, candidate for Senator, can look for Pender to give him a healthy O. K. Poole—the man and his record, make him a strong man. The gum shoe opposition is based on that record. We look for Pender to add more than equal to his majority.

SHAKSPEREAN PLAYS AT THE VICTORIA

Quarter Million Spent On Production

Local society will be interested to know of the coming Shakespearean revival, "Romeo and Juliet," booked by the Victoria management, of Wilmington, from the Metro Film Corporation, who have gone to the monster expense of one quarter million dollars to stage this stupendous production—the greatest sensation in Screenland. Francis X. Bushman, the most renowned lover in film work, and Beverly Bayne, Juliette incarnate, appear as the immortal lovers, assisted by a brilliant ensemble of fellow players—the aggregate number of people assisting in the offering being 650 persons, all told. The settings of this world-famous play, are simply marvelous, dazzling in their beautiful display, even to the most blasé theatre-goers, the gowns used by the principals costing over $30,000 alone. The result of the Metro's painstaking production is one of the greatest achievements in the realm of the silent drama.

Special music, arranged from Gounod's and Tchaikovsky's operas of the same name, has been used in the specially written score—the Victoria Theatre orchestra, playing these selections during the entire showing of this wonderful production at all performances, afternoon and evening.

Children's Class To Be Discontinued

The first of the series of dancing lessons to be given by Miss Katharine Maull of Lewes, in the Armory, on Delaware avenue, attracted sixty-five members to the adult class, held last Thursday evening.

Miss Maull organized a class in Newark last year, and won the enthusiastic support of those interested in correct form for the ballroom. The instructor has studied in New York and is an authority in the accepted standards of the season. The lesson on Thursday revealed the fact that the waltz, one-step, and fox-trot still reign supreme. In the waltz step, however, there is a decided change; in the one-step and the fox-trot, several new steps are also introduced.

Several elimination dances, which afforded so much merriment last year, featured the Thursday evening program. Miss Edythe Whittingham and Mr. R. T. Marshall were the lucky ones each receiving as a prize, a fine linen handkerchief.

Owing to the fact that but few children attended the first class, Miss Maull has decided to discontinue this feature, and devote the entire evening to the adult class.

IDEAL CONDITIONS FOR APPLE GROWING

Expert From New York Explains Apple Law Prospects for apple growers in Delaware are as bright as any state in the Union according to William Hotaling, the apple expert from Kinderhook, N. Y., who has just finished a two weeks' inspection of the orchards of this state.

Never Seen a Soil So Well Adapted to Growing Apples

He noted that while in New York and other apple-growing States, only small areas are found where apples can be grown successfully. Here in Delaware the entire State has first class land for apple cultivation, and from the Brandywine to Sussex, apple land was lying around, plentiful and in many cases, very cheap.

Mr. Hotaling, who represents the Division of Farm Institutes of the New York Board of Agriculture, had charge of the demonstration of the New York apple law when it went into effect last year.

When a similar law was passed by the Delaware Legislature, Prof. Wesley Webb, secretary of the Delaware Board of Agriculture, who is an enthusiastic worker for the improvement of fruit growing and farming conditions in the state made application to the New York Board of Agriculture to send a man here to fully explain the law.

As Mr. Hotaling is thoroughly familiar with the working of the law and is himself a large grower and shipper of apples, he was recommended by the New York board to take up the work. He arrived in Delaware about two weeks ago and in company with Professor Webb has visited all of the large orchards and has given growers valuable information upon the packing and shipping of fruit in order to comply with the provisions of the new law.

Before leaving, Mr. Hotaling was requested to give his opinion upon the growing of apples in Delaware and how the new law will affect the industry.

"After looking over the situation in Delaware I am sure the prospect here is one of the best for apple growing that I have seen anywhere. There are a few things which I believe are very important and should be considered very carefully by growers.

One of the most important is the selection of varieties. Every section of the country where apples are raised is better adapted to growing some particular variety than any other. In this section, the Stayman seems to be supreme, closely followed by the old-fashioned Winesap and a few other kinds of winter apples.

"Another thing of importance is the proper distance of planting. There is a limit to the number of trees that can be profitably planted to the acre. Especially is this the case with the Stayman variety, because of the rapid growth of the trees.

"All men who start growing apples as a business should regard that business a rather permanent. The permanency will depend largely upon the age at which the tree can be made to bear profitably. will, in turn, depend largely upon the methods of pruning followed during the early life of the trees.

Then, as a matter of course the next thing of importance is the amount which can be realized from the growing of apples. This must always depend upon marketing to a good advantage, which is again largely dependent upon the quality of the fruit and the manner in which it is packed.

"No man can ever put up a good package of poor fruit in such a manner as to make it demand top prices. On the other hand, it is hard indeed to get the best prices for good fruit unless it is well packed.

"There is a good market for all kinds and sizes of apples. The essential thing in the marketing is to enable the buyer to buy the size and kind desired for his particular purpose. This is where the Delaware packing law promises to revolutionize marketing fruit.

"I can see no reason why the Delaware packing law should not work to the advantage of the Delaware growers in exactly the same manner as the New York grading law has worked to the advantage of the New York State growers and I fully expect it will."

many mechanical lines, ordinary laborers, farm hands and domestic help. Mine operators in the soft coal regions of Pennsylvania are advertising for union miners and we have active opportunities for at least 500 miners and mill-laborers. The demand for first class laborers at 23 cents an hour and upwards is practically unlimited. Our Pittsburgh office reports an unlimited demand for machinists. Open opportunities totaling upwards of a thousand are on file in our offices calling for boys over sixteen years of age, bricklayers, common laborers, domestics, factory hands, farm hands, hospital orderlies, hammer and chisel men, leather workers, iron moulders, helpers, and learners, machinists, miners and mine laborers, pottery workers, scrubbers and cleaners, solicitors and weavers.

During the month of September we placed 622 applicants, including blacksmiths, carpenters, chauffeurs, cranemen, clerks and accountants, domestics, electricians, factory workers, farm laborers, firemen, hay-men, hotel porters, iron and steel workers, laborers, machinists, miners, pattern-makers, plumbers, salesmen, tanners, bell boys, telegraph operators, trainmen, bakers, bus boys, chambermaids, cooks, cleaners, drivers, dishwashers, laundresses, nailers, sheet metal workers, polishers, stablemen, waiters and porters.

Our service is free and we find opportunities for labor at good wages so plentiful that it is utterly impossible to find enough idle workers to meet this ever growing demand. Employers who have called upon the United States Employment Service for help have found it a great convenience in securing efficient employees, and every possible effort is being made to improve and thoroughly systematize our work. Requests by mail, telephone, or in person, for help, receive prompt attention and care is exercised to direct only persons qualified to fill the open positions.

In addition to the offices originally established by the United States Employment Service at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, another labor distributing agency, under the supervision of Commissioner Greenwalt, has been located at Wilmington, Del. At that point the work is conducted in co-operation with the municipality, and although the Wilmington branch has only been in operation since July 10th of this year, the results thus far accomplished are said to be entirely satisfactory. Negotiations for still further development of the federal labor distribution service through co-operative agreements with states and cities, are actively under way with good prospects of their early completion, after which this branch of the government will be in a position to render still greater help to both employers and those seeking jobs.

LOOKS BAR HIM FROM ASSOCIATES

Restaurant Manager' Thinks Movie Character A Reality

Frank Norcross, who portrays the part of an old cabman, Gubbins, in the latest William Fox production, "The Eternal Sapho," to be shown at the Newark Opera House on Friday, October 27, had a number of funny experiences in the production of that picture. In rehearsing a scene that shows the story three years after the beginning of the picture, Theda Bara, acting the part of Gubbins' daughter, horsewhips Cabman Gubbins, her father, who through his cruelty has caused the death of the mother. Norcross runs out of the hotel protecting his face from the blows.

Director Bracken asked Norcross not to change his appearance by cutting his hair, since the following scenes of the picture could not be taken until later. The actor had allowed his hair to grow over his ears—false hair is not permitted—and he had to remain in that condition for several months.

One day the company went to luncheon on the East Side, where some scenes were taken. The male members of the company were dressed as clubmen; Norcross still as the disreputable cabman. So perfect was his disguise that the management of the restaurant ordered him from the place with a curt warning that "no bums" were permitted in the dining room. It required much explaining to convince the manager that Norcross was a moving picture actor and not exactly what he was acting in the picture play.

Sureness Spells Speed!

When you set out to make a call in person, you always assure yourself that you have the right address.

In telephone-calling, equal sureness as to the proper telephone number saves not only time but positive annoyances both to you and to the person who may be called in error.

The sure way is first to consult the directory carefully—not trusting to memory—and then listen carefully while the operator repeats the number back to you, correcting her if she has misunderstood.

Then, too, at times, when a number is called in error, it is well to remember that the person called to the telephone by mistake is never at fault and deserves the utmost courtesy.

VOTES FOR WOMEN Anti-Suffrage Arguments

A noted suffragist says: "Every anti-suffrage activity helps the suffragists." Let us see what some of the "anti" arguments are.

1. The women are not busy enough at home, due to modern improvements. "It is to laugh." An anti who recently made this statement is a very wealthy woman, with unlimited leisure. It seems probable that the modern improvements in her house, are utilized by the maids only. And who ever heard of maids not having enough to do? With regard to herself, her idle hours might easily be filled, were she to visit the slums of her own city and try to lift just a little of the all-too-heavy burdens from the shoulders of the poor and worthy. As a fact, the suffragists are largely women who do their own house work, are bringing up or have brought up families of children and are not over-burdened with modern improvements. In fact, some of them hardly know what a modern improvement is, as regards their own homes.

2. There can't be two masters in one house. Why should there be even one master? A man and woman marry for companionship. A man, if he's the right kind of a man, doesn't wish for a slave but for a companion.

3. Men know by generations of experience just how to make laws. It would take a long time to train women. After all, it takes very few brains to make laws. It's the enforcing of the laws that counts. "Women with the ballot have contributed more to law enforcement than any other one factor," says the "Anti-Saloon Year Book."

(Even as I write, I have jumped to put on the beets and jumped again to tend to the onions, so you see that our men are going to have enough to eat.)

4. Eleven States only have suffrage. Record far from enviable. The best answer to that argument is to take the word of the inhabitants of those states. Upon investigation, you will find people visiting here or who have lived in suffrage states. They will tell you very quickly.

5. Suffrage makes for unhappy homes. If it does those homes would sooner or later, have become unhappy anyway. Why under the Heavens, should it break up the harmony of home? If a husband and wife are used to talking things over, why should they not, in this instance? In many cases, parents have to "agree to disagree." Why not here? Surely the father and mother who have the good of their children at heart, will agree as to the surroundings of the children, whether they shall be moral or immoral, whether the saloon, the pool room, the house of ill-repute, shall prove a stumbling-block for the boy and girl. And if, by any chance, the father (it never would be the mother, and I think you'd almost never find the father on that side, either, if he would only seriously consider the subject) should be content to allow these pestholes to remain, a little disagreement between parents, which is very soon smoothed over, matters but little if their child's future is at stake.

At the recent "anti" meeting there was an attendance of about 16, one half of whom were suffragists.

DEMAND FOR WORKERS INCREASING

U. S. Employment Service Unable To Satisfy Wants Of Employers

The United States Employment Service, whose offices in Philadelphia were recently transferred from the Keystone Building to Nos. 132-4-6 South Third street, continues to find great difficulty in securing men in sufficient numbers to satisfy the wants of employers.

"There seems to be absolutely no let up in the demand for workers in almost every line of industry," according to Commissioner of Immigration, Elmer E. Greenwalt, under whose supervision the Federal Government's Employment Service is conducted in the States of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Delaware. "At the close of the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1916," continued the Commissioner, "by enlisting the co-operation of the city, borough and town clerks throughout the three states mentioned, which comprises what is designated as Zone 3 in the Government Employment Service, we completed a very interesting survey which shows that in practically every community within the borders of these three states there is a demand for labor beyond that locally available. During our last fiscal year we had calls from 1026 employers, who offered opportunities for 11,357 workers, covering

PEOPLE'S COLUMN "AN ENEMY OF THE PEOPLE"

Was Ibsen Acquainted With Newark?

The story of Henrik Ibsen's play, "An Enemy of the People" (1882), is that of a Doctor, a medical officer who finds it his duty to investigate the condition of his town's water supply. He discovers infection in the water, and immediately proposes to publish the fact just as would any member of the Newark Board of Health under similar circumstances.

The Doctor's brother is the Chief Councillman or Committee Chairman of the town. Instead of supporting the Doctor, however, the Chairman tries to prevent the publication of the fact that the water is infected. This all happens where the scene of the play is laid, far off in a little town in Norway. Nobody would ever hear of such a thing happening in Newark.

The Doctor insists that the facts shall be made known to the public. He explains, saying, "Last year we had some extraordinary cases of illness—both typhoid and gastric attacks. At the time we thought the visitors had brought the infection with them. This is of course exactly the case with all visitors from Elkton who are taken sick in Newark."

The editor of the Norwegian town's newspaper tells the Doctor that the mischief doesn't come from "impurities in the soil," but from "the swamp in which our whole municipal life is rotting." But there is nothing rotten in Newark, and the Editor of its newspaper has nothing to attack.

In Ibsen's drama the Councillmen are very wily. No politicians in Newark were ever like them. They discreetly say to the Doctor, "Your statement must be kept back for the good of the community—Not a word, not a whisper, of this business must come to the public ears."

For a time nothing happens in the play, just as in Newark most of the time. Finally somebody says, "All the old bunglers must be got rid of—in every department."

But the Chairman of the Baths Committee, who is interested in getting more people to the Baths situated in the Norwegian town, says, "Do you think a single visitor will come here if we go about making them fancy that the water is poisoned, that the whole town is pestilential?" If Newark were pestilential, that is the way some people in it might talk.

Meanwhile, the Doctor, in his official capacity as medical officer, conceives it to be his duty to recommend the installation of sewage connections. The Chairman, with consideration for the divine rights of property owners, declares that "the medical officer's proposal only means saddling the taxpayers with unnecessary expense." How far Newark surpasses Norway in the matters of civic righteousness and unselfishness! The glory of Newark' achievement, however, is diminished somewhat when we reflect that 34 years have elapsed since the state of affairs existed of which Ibsen wrote.

As might be expected in Norway, the troublesome Doctor in "An Enemy of the People" is ordered to resign. He is also driven from his home, Barbarous Norway! How glad you and I ought to be that we live in America, and in Newark of all places, where we have every inducement to drink water and no alcohol, even though we can't get pure water!

How proud the unnamed town in Norway must be because it was written about by Ibsen! And how proud some unnamed persons in Newark would be if they were written about by an American citizen!

able place in which to live. The president of a bank in a neighboring state said to me: "In reading your Delaware papers it looks as if Newark is not a safe place to pass through." He added that the advertisement was sure to hurt the college. We welcome any letters from young or old, property owners or non-property holders, that will advance the interests of the town: but contributions so misleading and untruthful as the one in question are detrimental to the interests of our splendid town.

Here, out in the open country with light, air and sunshine, boys and girls, work and study. They have the snarling details and drudgery but it is reduced to a minimum. With the best machinery that money can buy, with an interest in their work, with their mind at their task,—they have lots of fun and succeed in turning out pieces of printing that attract the attention of an increasing trade. More and more, people want their printing done well. More and more are we able to satisfy that desire.

CITIZEN TAKES EX- CEPTION TO LETTER

Declares Situation Falsely Presented

Newark, Del.
October 23, 1916

Editor of The Newark Post:

In your paper of October 21st you publish an article signed by Frederick J. Pohl, Instructor of English in Delaware College entitled "Newark and its Menace." I have talked with a number of our citizens to learn that the article meets with general condemnation. The question is asked, "How in the name of all the gods at once, upon what meat doth this our Caesar feed, that he is grown so great?" A young man who has not been in our town much over a year, owns no property, and has no permanent interest here to write as he has done is considered an insult to our citizens, because much of it is untrue. "There are those who sell their property," he says, "to others and yet retain control of it in such a way that they cannot be legally compelled to stand the expense of installing sewer drains in it while the nominal owners are too poor to be able to afford the necessary improvements." I know of no such transactions. We have had a number of cases of typhoid fever this year. We had an epidemic of the same kind about eight years ago, but several years before we put in the sewer plant we had but a few cases. I was an advocate of the sewer, and would like to see every property connected with the sewer. It is being done as rapidly as possible. We have but two plumbers, which fact makes it almost an impossibility to get work of this kind done in our growing town. According to the estimate made by Council about eighty per cent of the houses have been connected with the sewer. There are but few cess-pools, as most of them have been removed. I do not know of a better town of its size than Newark. Our main street cannot be excelled by any in the state, and the other streets are macadamized. All the approaches to our town except one are likewise macadamized. Our streets are swept and our drinking water coming from artesian wells is pronounced pure. The Board of Health as in many other towns is making a determined effort to find out the cause of the fever, but has not yet succeeded. Our citizens are all interested and wish the Board of Health God-speed in the matter. We have the best Council we have ever had, and that body has given us fine streets, has extended the sewer to take in building operations, down Welsh Lane, thus offering sewer connections to the Women's College and other properties in this growing district. Of the sixty-six properties ordered by the Board of Health to be connected in thirty days many happen to be in the colored district, in which, although there is no sewer connection, there has not been a case of typhoid fever during this epidemic. As many of these people are not able to meet the expense Council has a plan under consideration to assist them by allowing them to pay on the sewer plan so much a year. The members of Council are all good men who deserve to be continued in office as long as they are willing to serve. Furthermore they are competent to guard well the interests of our town without making it necessary to call out the militia of the state, as the Instructor of English suggests. A stranger reading that communication of his would get the impression that Newark is not a desir-
