Postmaster Cooch Reports Increase In Mail For 1962

Local Christmas Volume
Drops 2 Per Cent; Extra
Help Reduced 26 Persons

Newark Postmaster F. Allen Cooch, Jr. has announced a 2 per cent decrease in local Christmas mail for 1962 as compared with the 1961 volume, but an 8.5 per cent increase in total mail processed at the Newark Post Office during the year.

During the period Dec. 8-28, the Newark Post Office handled 3,596,392 pieces of mail compared with 3,670,202 for the corresponding period in 1961, but with a staff of 27 special Christmas assistants, 26 less persons than were employed for the Christmas rush in 1961.

Postal revenue amounted to $83,773 during the past month, with $5,953 recorded for December, 1961.

Christmas mail in 1962 consisted of 2,410,223 incoming, and 1,186,039 outgoing pieces.

Incoming mail at the local office included 1,997,293 letters, 31,880 Parcel Post packages, and 381,070 miscellaneous pieces.

Outgoing mail consisted of 1,051,662 letters, 39,497 pieces of Parcel Post, and 1,080 miscellaneous pieces.

During the past 12 months, a total of 38,336,000 pieces of mail—25,257,000 incoming and 11,299,000 outgoing—were processed at the Newark Post Office, compared with a total of 33,679,000 in 1961, with a 1962 revenue of $62,000 compared with $60,528 for the previous year.

Lela Lynam Prize Established At UD By Mrs. Tanberg

A $75 prize honoring a former Wilmington High School teacher has been given to the University of Delaware by Mrs. Arthur P. Tanberg of Wilmington.

The Lela A. Lynam Memorial Prize will be given to a university student having an outstanding personal library. The senior student whose library is chosen will be eligible for nomination for the Amy Loveman National Award, a national prize which includes an award of $1,000.

Candidates must present an annotated list of a minimum of 35 books now in their personal libraries.

In addition, students will be asked to indicate avocations, why they started libraries, their ideals of a complete home library, and a list of the next 10 books they plan to add to their collections.

The contest will be judged on the basis of intelligent interest; scope and imagination shown in creating the collection; and knowledge of the books as revealed in the annotations. Collections of any type are eligible.

The contest closes April 1, 1962, and all entries must be in the hands of the chairman on that date.

Miss Lynam was a teacher for 44 years, 38 of them at Wilmington High School. She was chairman of mathematics in the secondary schools of Wilmington until her retirement in 1938; and was a graduate of Friends School and Swarthmore College, held an MS degree from the University of Pennsylvania, and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board.

The Amy Loveman National Award was established by the Women's National Book Association in cooperation with The Book-of-the-Month Club and the Saturday Review to honor the memory of a woman who was associate editor of the Saturday Review; a Book-of-the-Month Club judge; and a member of the Women's National Book Association.

Judges for the Lela A. Lynam Memorial Prize and the Amy Loveman Award nomination are Dr. Paul A. Cundiff of the English department; Dr. John A. Brown, school of education; and Dr. John M. Dawson, chairman, director of libraries at the University of Delaware.

Airman Everett, assigned to the 10th Combat Support Group here, was selected for the award in recognition of his participation in the United States Air Force off-duty education program.

His wife is the former Julia L. Wood of 391 South College Avenue, Newark.

Supervised Ice Skating Offered By GNRA With Lights, Too, In Rittenhouse Park

The skating area is accessible by automobile from the Chestnut Hill Road entrance to Rittenhouse Park, and parking is available.

Access on foot is offered from Minkus Drive in Silverbrook.

Tables and benches are available for use by skaters, and a warming fire will be tended by supervisors.

Approximately 60x250-ft. skating area has been cleared of snow, and with four to seven inches of ice, several hundred skaters can be accommodated at any one time.

The water is shallow at the skating area, with a maximum depth of 4-ft. and the ice is tested daily for safety.

Newark In The "Good Old Days"

This old photograph of the southwest corner of Main and Chapel Streets was submitted a few weeks ago to the Newark Post by Harold L. Stanley, local contractor, who discovered the photo among some family papers. Harold doesn't know when, but he does know where the picture was taken—at the corner of East Main and Chapel. And that's no parking meter upon which the gentleman in front of the Wright Building is leaning.

Trophies will be awarded during the regular league bowling periods which were resumed yesterday.

Educational TV Head

School Use Of TV
Predicted 'Slow'
By Mrs. Handloff

Delaware schools may be relatively slow in adopting educational television, according to Mrs. Samuel Handloff of Newark, president of the Delaware Educational Television Association, an active supporter of WYXX, the educational television station which will operate on Channel 12 beginning next September.

Mrs. Handloff said the association will remain in existence as "an interested group of laymen" to foster community support for educational television.

A public school district in the state have shown interest in both open channel educational broadcasting, such as WYXX, will offer, and closed circuit broadcasting.

The parochial school system of the Catholic diocese of Wilmington and some private schools also have indicated interest in using television in their schools.

Mrs. Handloff does not believe that any hesitancy to take advantage of educational programming by local schools will be a reflection of disinterest.

"I think most of them have a wise attitude—to wait and see what advantages it can have in their own situations," she said.

Mrs. Handloff said it would be possible that some of WYXX's initial programming would come from Delaware schools. "Some school districts are making plans, but full use can't come overnight," she said.

The educational television association, Mrs. Handloff said, will devote itself to arousing public interest in programs of a general nature for prime viewing hours. "We'll be out to build community support, but we're not in a position to push," she concluded.

Alice VanDeVoort Trust Scholarships Awarded 4 At U. D.

Robert Owens Of Newark
Among Undergrads Aided
By Former UD Professor

Four scholarships have been assigned to University of Delaware undergraduates as the result of a trust fund established by a former professor of education.

Recipients of the newly established Alice Marie VanDeVoort Scholarships are Patricia A. Braker, Philadelphia; Anita Lowry, Wilmington; Robert E. Owens, Meadood, Newark; and George T. Poole, Wilmington.

Dr. VanDeVoort, a member of the University of Delaware faculty from 1925 to 1948, retired from active teaching, but returned in an advisory capacity in 1949-50. She died at her home in Newark on July 10, 1961.

In accordance with Miss VanDeVoort's wishes, the scholarships are being awarded on the basis of financial need to students of outstanding academic ability, character and citizenship. There are no restrictions as to residence or field of study.

Miss Braker, a junior majoring in psychology, ranks sixth in a class of 787. She has been active in the philosophy and psychology clubs and the women's chorus.

Miss Lowry, a sophomore, is majoring in biology. She ranks fourth in her class of 1,053 students and has been active in the women's athletic association and as a member of the educational committee of the Student Government Association.

Owens was a top ranking graduate in his class at Wilmington High School where he was president of the French Club and the Senior Class and served as managing editor of the school paper, A Freshman.

He also was active in the Boy Scouts and Methodist Youth Fellowship. Poole is a senior majoring in history and ranks in the top fifth of his class of 864. He has been active in dormitory affairs, especially the annual Campus Chest drive.

Miss VanDeVoort was a member of an old southern family. Born in Wilcox County, Ala., in 1884, she lived in that state until her graduation from the University of Alabama in 1914. She received degrees of science and PhD degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University.

During her 25 years as a member of the Women's College faculty, she lived on the campus as residence director of Sussex Hall and was beloved and admired by the many students who came to know her well. Through her work in the school of education, she was widely known and respected throughout the state.

Chief For Creeks, Rev. Wm. Raiford Revival Speaker

The Rev. William Raiford, Sr. of Dallas, Tex., will be guest speaker in a special New Year convention at the Newark Revival Tabernacle, Chestnut Hill Road near Ogletown, and Pastor Arthur E. Hardt and his congregation invite the public to this revival with neighboring churches cooperating.

The Rev. Raiford is executive secretary of Full Gospel Fellowship of Churches and Ministers International with headquarters in Dallas.

A full-blooded Indian, he is Chief White Bird of the Creek tribe. He attended Texas State Teachers College and after service in the United States Navy during World War II he began work with the Tulsa, Okla., police force as a detective.

As an evangelist, he has traveled for 12 years.

Services will be on Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:45, and at 11 a.m. on Sunday.

Airman Butler Reenlists For Duty At RAF Station

ALCONBURY RAF STATION, England—Airman Second Class Edward T. Butler of Middletown, has reenlisted for another four-year tour of service in the United States Air Force.

Airman Butler is assigned to the 10th Supply Squadron here as a fuel specialist.

The airman is married to the former Marjorie C. Correll of Sunset Lake Road, Newark.

William G. Schaen Retires As Chief With U. S. Navy

Newark Man Completes
19½-Years Of Service
With Duty In 2 Wars

Chief Petty Officer William G. Schaen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schaen of 82 Kershaw Street, Newark, was retired from the U. S. Navy on Dec. 5, 1962, having completed 19 years and six months of service.

Chief Schaen entered the Navy on May 14, 1943 through the Wilmington Recruiting Office and completed recruit training at Sampson, N. Y.

After recruit training, Schaen was assigned to Fleet Sonar School at Key West, Fla., and upon completion of school, was assigned to the USS PC-1209 on convoy duty in the Caribbean.

In 1944, Chief Schaen was transferred to the USS Hubbard (DD-211) engaged in Hunter-Killer operations in the North Atlantic. During this time the Hubbard was credited with the sinking of two German submarines.

Between World War II and the Korean conflict, he was assigned aboard the USS Meredith (DD-890) and the USS R. L. Wilson (DD-847). During the Korean conflict he was attached to the USS R. A. Owens (DD-282) and the USS Wilk (DD-848) in the Atlantic Fleet.

In 1959, Chief Schaen attended the U. S. Navy Recruiters School at Bainbridge, Md., and upon completion, was transferred to the Cleveland recruiting area as recruiter in charge of the Navy branch station in Akron, O.

Chief Schaen is married to the former Millicent Johnson of Storington, Conn.

He has accepted employment with the General Dynamics Corporation at Groton, Conn., and plans to make his home in the Connecticut area.

Dr. Jack Behrman Resigns From UD For U. S. Service

Dr. Jack N. Behrman, professor of economics at the University of Delaware on leave of absence to the U. S. Commerce Department in Washington, has resigned his post at the school.

Appointed as undersecretary by President Kennedy in November, 1961, Behrman recently was named assistant secretary for domestic and international business to head a reorganized branch of the department.

New responsibilities include direction of the Bureau of International Services Administration and the Bureau of International Commerce, merging the Bureau of International Programs and International Business Operations; and the department field offices in the United States and overseas commercial service.

Bruce Dearing, dean of the university school of arts and sciences, said today that Behrman's promotion has "made it doubtful that he would return to the university" by the end of his second year on leave of absence, which expires in September.

Dearing said it is possible that Behrman may rejoin the faculty here.

Peter Delduke Wins Honor As Civilian With Army

Peter P. Delduke of Newark, was among 16 Department of the Army civilian employees recently recognized for excellence on the job at the U. S. Army Ordnance Center at Aberdeen.

Delduke, a management analyst in the office of the comptroller, and acting chief of the management branch, received a sustained superior work performance award, including a cash sum.

University Awarded 15 NDEA Fellowships Since Program Was Inaugured In 1958

A program of advanced education—the National Defense Education Act Graduate Fellowship Program—has given the University of Delaware 15 fellowships since the program was instituted in 1958.

The financial support made possible by the United States Government has initiated PhD programs in mechanical engineering, history, and metallurgy, and has strengthened existing graduate programs that need financial support.

In almost every case, financial aid would not have been forthcoming save for the Graduate Fellowship Program, university officials report.

The program authorized by Title IV of the National Defense Education Act, is concerned primarily with preparing students for college and university teaching. To encourage young men and women interested in professional careers, three year fellowships are provided to carry the student to virtual completion of doctoral work.

In the first two years of the program, 2,500 students were awarded fellowships and $9 million was allocated to support graduate programs. Since then, 6,000 more fellowships have been awarded, with graduate-program support expected to total $40 million.

The University of Delaware has been a participant in the NDEA Fellowship Program since its beginning.

In 1959-60, the first year in which fellowships were awarded, Delaware received five fellowships—two

Westvaco President To Speak For Annual C. of C. Meeting

David L. Luke, III, President Of West Virginia Pulp And Paper Company, To Address Chamber Of Commerce Dinner Meeting On Jan. 15th At Newark Country Club

President of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, David L. Luke, III, will be the guest speaker for the annual dinner meeting of the Newark Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, Jan. 15, beginning at 6 p.m. in the Newark Country Club.

Great grandson of William Luke, one of the founders of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, David L. Luke, III became president of the firm last March, and is 39, represents the fourth generation of the Luke family to take a leading role in management of the company.

A graduate of Yale University, he served as a Marine Corps torpedoman aboard the USS Intrepid (DD-963) during World War II, and before joining Westvaco, he was associated with Arthur Andersen & Co., New York, and American Research and Development Corp., Boston.

Luke joined West Virginia Pulp and Paper in 1952, and was responsible for planning and implementing a new approach to marketing which combined economic analysis, grade profitability studies, market research, sales personnel development, and distinctive trade advertising and promotion.

Success and Expansion
Success of these techniques enabled Westvaco to expand its direct sales effort, then largely limited to utility grades of paper, to users of commercial printing papers, a practice unique in the paper industry.

Luke became a vice-president in 1953, and a director of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in 1954.

Admitted as a selective vice-president in 1957, he was responsible for directing the firm's sales organization which now accounts for an annual volume of more than $250 million.

A new 731,000-sq. ft. production and administrative headquarters building for Westvaco's Brite-Pak Carton division was constructed in 1962 on Ogletown Road, and is in operation with Nelson E. Zion, production manager, and S. Wallace Gumbel, manufacturing administrator, as its management team.

A total of 300 employees is expected at the local plant by the end of this year.

Aided by C. of C.
The Newark Chamber of Commerce conducted Westvaco representatives on tours of the area, and arranged meetings with local real estate representatives in 1961 when the firm was considering Newark as a plant site.

All members and others interested in joining the Newark Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend the annual dinner meeting on Jan. 15 "with the lady or gentleman of your choice," Secretary Carroll W. Mumford, Sr., said today.

Reservations must be made with Secretary Mumford at the Newark Chamber of Commerce, 64 East Main Street, by Jan. 8.

William J. Gallagher, president of the local chamber, will present a report on activities of the past year, and four directors will be elected at the annual meeting.

Nominations for directors are Gallagher, retiring president; William H. Wagnaman, Jr., and Raymond C. Weimer, whose terms as directors expire this month; and Joseph J. Formisano.

Du Pont Asks SEC Clearance To Buy White Clay Tract

The Du Pont Company has asked the Securities and Exchange Commission for an order authorizing Du Pont to buy land at the site of the proposed White Clay Creek reservoir.

The order would be needed under the Investment Company Act to permit Du Pont to buy 150 acres owned by 11 owners.

Its application to the SEC also indicated Du Pont plans to file an amendment to buy 394 acres from S. Halluk du Pont, a director of Christiana Securities Company, the closed-end investment concern which owns 29 per cent of the Du Pont Company.

Du Pont informed the SEC that 1,400 acres would be needed to preserve the reservoir site. Because of the size of individual parcels, it would be necessary to purchase 1,562 acres in addition to 412 bought by Du Pont in the early 1930's and needed for its Louviers office building.

Last March, Du Pont announced it had bought 1,200 acres in the area during the previous two years. No authorization was needed from the SEC for purchases which are included in the 1962 acre total.

The federal agency has given interested persons until Jan. 17, to file a request for a hearing on the present application.

Paul J. Bengtson Wins Meadowood Yule Contest

Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Bengtson, 10 Azalea Road, won the award for the best outdoor Christmas display in Meadowood.

Bob Spengler, president, and James Weik, vice-president of the Meadowood Yule Contest, presented a silver tea service to the Bengtsons.

The silver service furnished by developer Frank Robino, is given annually to the winning family for use that year.

To Christmas Seal Campaign Letters

Dr. Gerald A. Beatty, president of the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, said that response to the 1962 Christmas Seal campaign has been encouraging but that more returns are hoped for before the society closes its books.

"Each year at the holiday season, many Christmas Seal letters are sidetracked with other cards and letters and are forgotten," Dr. Beatty said. "We want to emphasize that replies to Christmas Seal letters will still be included in the returns for the 1962 campaign."

Christmas Seal contributions help make possible a program of detection, rehabilitation, nursing, education and research directed toward the eradication of tuberculosis and a reduction in the impact of other respiratory diseases.

Dr. Beatty pointed out that TB continues to be a problem in Delaware, as evidenced by 170 new cases this year against 169 last year.

The TB Society president said that reminders have been mailed to many Delawareans who normally contribute to the Christmas Seal campaign.

"We want to make sure that everyone who wishes to aid in the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases has the opportunity to do so," Dr. Beatty concluded.

Recent statistical reports on college enrollments have confirmed Delaware's position as the fastest-growing state in the Middle Atlantic region in terms of higher education.

The State of Delaware, as shown in a report of the Middle States Association of College Registrars and Officers of Admission, has an 11 per cent increase in freshmen enrollment this year. This figure reflects entirely the growth at the University of Delaware, since both Wesley College and Delaware State College showed a slight decrease in freshman enrollments.

The number of full-time freshmen students in the State of Delaware in the fall of 1962 was 1,633 compared with 1,511 last year.

Registrar Robert Gebhardt-bauer said that contrary to national trends reported in the publication School and Society which show a decline of freshmen enrollments of 5.7 per cent in engineering, Delaware's engineering enrollments are up 16 per cent.

The freshman class of 213 is the second largest ever enrolled in engineering at the university.

Arts and science enrollments, up 13 per cent at Delaware, rose only 1.4 per cent across the nation.

A 1 per cent decline in freshmen education students was recorded at Delaware, however, in contrast with a 3.2 per cent national gain.

Now Is The Time For Face-Lifting Trees And Shrubs

Now is the time for face-lifting your trees to put them at their best next summer. Thinning while the ground is frozen will pay big dividends when growth resumes.

Bare limbs let you see where to thin—and just how much. Where low branches darken your lawn or view, prune to admit sunlight. Remove tangled branches. Not only your trees, but your shrubs and grass will benefit, too, from added light and air.

Most home trees need thinning when they approach maturity, according to H. J. Otto, Davey tree expert. This is usually after 12 to 14 years, possibly sooner with such fast growers as Chinese elm, silver maple or willow.

Don't feel squeamish about hurting your trees. They feel no pain or shock, nor do they need any fixed number of limbs. They will not bleed to death.

Serious overcrowding results where trees and shrubs are planted too closely to begin with. Thin plants that look so far apart at first soon get out of hand.

Removal of large trees is a job for the expert tree man when a tree needs to be removed. Remember that each year the tree grows, the greater the cost and labor to take it out.

In nature, trees thin themselves but this takes too many years for the average homeowner.

Electronic Bookkeeper For Farmers

by W. T. McAllister
U. of D. Farm Management Specialist

In a few more days, farmers will start their annual search for lost receipts, missing checks, and those little reminder notes about things paid for in cash. Why? Because it will soon be income tax time for farmers. Every dollar of expense that can be found means a savings of at least 20 cents in taxes.

Some Delaware farmers have found a way to take all of these headaches out of income tax reporting. It's called ELFAC—Electronic Farm Accounting. It's a system of record-keeping using an electronic computer to record business transactions.

You still have to list the information on a special form that the machine can understand. But the computer puts the data in order and in the right columns and does all the adding and subtracting. Records are printed on standard forms by the machine and the farmer is left with a monthly statement and a yearly summary.

ELFAC is a creation of the Farm Management Extension people in 13 northeastern states. It is designed to help farmers keep better financial records at a minimum cost. You might call ELFAC a mechanical bookkeeper. Farmers hire its services just as they might hire an accountant.

Because the bookkeeping is done by machine and the system is operated on a non-profit basis, the cost of ELFAC is very small in relation to the services it offers. For example, the cost to a dairy farm would be approximately $250 a year.

Although ELFAC is only second year, Delaware farmers already using it.

If you're interested in learning more about this mechanical bookkeeper, contact your county agent, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Crum, Jr., or Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore of Tama, Iowa. They want to know more about ELFAC for three years.

High Quality Hay Cited In Bulletin As New Cash Crop

Ideas on how to grow high quality hay as a cash crop in Delaware are offered in a new bulletin issued by the University of Delaware school of agriculture.

"Horse Sense about Hay," Extension Bulletin 78, is based on research made possible through a grant from Mr. and Mrs. George T. Weymouth, Greenville, Del., and administered by the University of Delaware Research Foundation.

Field studies and feed investigations were conducted for five years at the Weymouth farm and stables near Middletown. "To determine the market potential and to develop production and marketing techniques."

Authors are W. H. Mitchell, assistant extension agronomist, E. M. Scarborough, extension agricultural engineer, and W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist.

Single copies are available from the department of rural communications, University of Delaware.

Can She Bake A Cherry Pie, Billy Boy?

She can bake our cherry pie even if she is a young thing and cannot leave her mother. And if she is a bride, her new husband will stand up and shout "Hallelujah" when he tastes this rich, sour red cherry pie and creamy-whipped blue veined tangy Danish Blue Cheese. For an added "Hallelujah", serve strong black coffee laced with cream.

An experienced cook will do all the food preparation a day in advance. Then the day of the party "she can bake the cherry pie quick as you can wink an eye."

*Just in case you have forgotten, this great poem goes as follows:

"Can she bake a cherry pie, Billy Boy, Billy Boy?
"Can she bake a cherry pie, charming Billy?"
"She can bake a cherry pie quick as you can wink an eye.
She's a young thing and cannot leave her mother."

Treat your family or guests to this truly delectable dessert:

RED CHERRY TART AND DANISH BLUE CHEESE WEDGES

1 can (1 pound) red tart 2 teaspoons lemon juice
pitted cherries (water pack) 2 1/2 teaspoons red food coloring
1/2 cup sugar Unbaked tart shell
5 tablespoons cornstarch Serve with generous wedges of zesty, tangy, butter-smooth Danish blue cheese.

Drain cherries, set aside liquid.

Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, mix and add liquid. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, bring to boil, cook for 1/2 minute.

Remove from heat, add butter, lemon juice and coloring.

Turn into shell, bake in moderately hot oven (400°) for 30 minutes. Cool.

TART SHELL

1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour 1/2 cup butter, softened at room temperature

2 tablespoons sugar 1 egg, slightly beaten

Sift together, flour, sugar, salt. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender until mixture is finely crumbed. Stir in egg, mix well. Spread on bottom and sides of ungreased 8" spring-form pan. Serve 6-8.

You will find this one of the most delicious tart shells. There's more to it in texture, flavor and body than a pie crust shell.

Nelson's All-Stars Beat Big Schools In All-American

Coach David M. Nelson's Small College All-Stars ended four years of frustration by defeating some of the better players from the nation's big schools 14-13 in the All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz., last Saturday night.

This game may be the last because of finances. The bowl needed a small school victory and a profit to survive. The small school team, coached by Delaware's Dave Nelson, came through, but the fans didn't. A meager crowd of 9,000 left the sponsors a big deficit.

There is talk of alternating a bowl game between Tucson and Phoenix, bringing together the champion of the new Western Athletic Conference and a representative from another major league.

Dale Heller of Arizona State caught a two-point conversion pass attempt from Eldon Fortie of Brigham Young in the fourth quarter, but Heller was out of the end zone by the step. And that step was the difference.

The Majors grabbed a 7-0 lead with a first-quarter touchdown on a 29-yard run by Fullback Bob Brezina of Houston University. Brezina added the extra point, and also scored the other major school touchdown on a one-yard plunge, for all 13 points.

Nelson's Smalls struck back in the third quarter with Halfback Tom Janik of Texas A&I going the final five yards for a touchdown. The small schoolers decided to gamble and went for the two-point conversion. John Murio of Whitworth, (Wash.) College made it on a run.

After the Majors had gone back in front 13-3, the Smalls began to move again. A 14-yard pass from Quarterback Jon Anabo of Fresno State to Willie Richardson of Jackson, (Miss.) State put the ball on the one, and Anabo sneaked over.

Richardson, who caught seven passes for 88 yards, was named the game's most valuable player. He won the honor last week at the North-South game in Miami, Fla.

Gene Watson's Matmen To Wrestle Lehigh Here

Delaware's freshman and varsity wrestling teams are slated for travel to Chester, Pa., this Saturday to meet the PMC Cadets at 2 p.m.

Coach Gene Watson's matmen face their first home meet of the season next Wednesday afternoon with the Albright varsity at 8 o'clock.

Cap'n Gibby Young and his companions have been frozen out for weeks, with treacherous thick and thin ice barring safe access to the near-sea level bit of marsh mud and its windward.

Few blinds have been built under more adverse circumstances — on a cold, rainy afternoon which involved some recovery and around-the-river transportation of a lost boat.

We had one good morning in the blind, returning with a pair of mallard and a far-from-home Old Squaw, a big diver from Doryman Al Priestley's New England North Atlantic, by cod!

George L. Townsend, III, collected a lone, last mallard — a beautiful silken-green headed drake last week in a shift from the goose pits to a shore blind on the Chester River below Church Hill, Md., and chasing that downed but far from out duck across the river in the sub-freezing cold involved more than a bit of doing.

Returning to the blind at last — with the duck — Bus Townsend experienced some difficulty in removing his hands from the oars — motive power for which he had long since lost all liking.

The hunting season for geese in Maryland ends at sundown next Monday and Missouri's Gene Brasher with the Rudy Taggerts, father and son, bagged three Canada geese in the cold and snow last week.

Young Rudy employed a white sheet for camouflage in killing his geese.

"And it was cold!" Mr. Brasher said with a reminiscent shiver.

HOW TO COOK A COOT
An Old English Recipe

Place the bird in a kettle of water with a red building brick, fatty of mutton and a half pound of parboiled rice.

Parboil the coot and the brick together for three hours. Pour off the water; re-fill the kettle and again parboil for three hours.

For the third time, throw off the water. For the last time, add fresh water and let the coot and brick simmer together, overnight.

In the morning, throw away the coot and eat the brick.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Guest Appearance

As Jaipur and Ridan crossed the finish line in the Travers Stakes at Saratoga last Summer, an urbane but not cynical turf writer turned to his typewriter with the comment: "A horse named Number 4 'win' it." While it is true that most horses lack an identity until they appear in the paddock with a number on their bridle, or on the track with a saddle cloth number and a jockey up, there have been notable exceptions to the rule.

While the huge New York racing audience is generally labelled the most unsentimental of racing throngs, it was at old Jamaica that Stytle drew applause as he walked down the stretch toward the paddock. Stytle was a popular hero to his fans who recognized him without benefit of silks or saddle number.

The fans who crowd the saddling area and the perimeter of the winners circle give the lie to the cynical belief that people are interested only in the program number by which they buy their pari-mutuel "Share" in the horse's ultimate performance. This summer at Thistle-down, in Cleveland, Carry Back made a guest appearance, not to race but to gallop down the stretch.

Attendance that Saturday was up more than 33 percent and on the following day, 15,000 men, women and children came out to see him in his stall and talk to Owner, Katherine Price and Trainer, Jack Price who stayed at the barn all day and collected some 6,000 signatures in Carry Back's guest book.

In scoring, Sysko had 14 points and Pete Cloud added 11.

Observers felt that the Hens showed up well despite the decisive losses. Personal fouls took a heavy toll in the LaSalle game as the Hens committed a total of 21 and lost Pete Cloud, Sysko and Ron Smith on personals before the game was over.

BOWIE BERNARD BOND
Maryland horseman Bernard P. Bond, who will be gunning for leading trainer honors for the fifth consecutive year at Bowie, transferred 20 horses from Laurel to Bowie. Bond has been head man in the trainers' ranks at Bowie each year beginning with the 1959 season and will have another strong group poised to retain honors when the 40-day race meeting gets under way on Feb. 1.

"In Russia they have a new twist on an old slogan. They say it this way: 'No taxation without representation.'" — Lynn H. Carpenter, Dundee (N.Y.) Observer.

Eliminated from title contention, Delaware met LaSalle a day later and was dropped from the tournament 80-64.

The Hens got off to a 9-3 edge, but soon fell victim to the more accurate shooting and superior rebounding of their opponents.

Although Coach Irv Wisniewski's team closed the gap to 43-40 early in the second period, the Explorers turned it on and won going away. Nate Cloud sank 12 of 25 shots from the floor, plus a free throw, in a 25-point effort that led both teams.

NHS Cagers Face Opening BHC Test With Brandywine

Coach Bob Turnberger's Yellowjacket cagers face their first Blue Hen Conference contest of the new season tomorrow night at Brandywine and the Newark High School basketball team is scheduled to play its first interscholastic home game next Tuesday with the Green Knights of Mt Pleasant in another conference clash.

After an exhibition win over Dallas Green's All-Stars, Turnberger's varsity romped to an impressive 50-33 win over Claymont, away, and then at Delaware City, were upset 62-55 by a surprisingly strong Gunning Bedford squad.

The Yellowjacket varsity includes Joe Brothers, Ken Eggleston, Dave Douglas, Art Durham, Mike Ganos, Doug Hunt, Walt Jones, Mike Mack, Norris Saunders, Alan Whiteman, Ron Wierick, and Leon Wood.

Unbeaten In MAC, Hens Face Owls Tonite At Palestra After Big League Setbacks

The University of Delaware basketball team, loser of three straight, will attempt to improve upon its 3-3 record and 1-0 Middle Atlantic Conference mark, against Temple University in an MAC test tonight at the Palestra, the Hens' third Philadelphia appearance in nine days.

Delaware was eliminated early from the ECAC Quaker City Tournament last week, losing 70-37 to Providence and 80-64 to LaSalle.

Temple's 62-53 victory over Delaware in the 1961-62 season was the biggest win margin over the Hens last year.

The Owls have long dominated Delaware in basketball, winning 20 of 25 contests played since the series began in the 1905-06 season. Not since the 1951-52 campaign has a Delaware team posted a victory over the Owls.

Temple boasts a tall team headed by 6-8 Jim Boyle, a frosh standout last season. The Owls are coached by the veteran Harry Latwack, who brought a 10-year, 177-93 record into the current campaign.

Coach Mickey Heinemann's Blue Chicks will meet the Temple freshman in a preliminary to the varsity game.

MEETING ITS RESPONSIBILITIES

NO NEED FOR FEDERAL TAKEOVER

When Washington's big-spending programmers wish to invade the welfare activities of communities they advance the excuse that the localities have not met their responsibilities.

The lameness of this excuse is glaringly exposed by the dedicated—but not too broadly publicized—activities of the nation's United Funds and Community Chests.

These organizations annually raise huge sums to maintain local voluntary health and welfare agencies. The yearly receipts from the drives have been on the order of $500 million. Industry has contributed more than $1 billion over the last eight years—accounting for about one-third of the total donated. This, of course, is in addition to the multi-billion dollar expenditures of charitable foundations set up by scores of industrial companies.

Over and above its monetary gifts, industry is meeting its community responsibilities by contributing the time, effort and talent of its executives as leaders and solicitors in the annual fund-raising campaigns. Scores of thousands of highly-paid industrialists participate in the drives because they, like most of the community residents, believe firmly that the surest and most effective way to meet health and welfare needs is through voluntary local action.

by Dean Belt
4-H Club Agent

A New Castle County 4-H'er is going to appear on TV soon. Barbara Kelsey of Newark, and a member of the Hill 'n' Valley Club, is going to Philadelphia to prepare a short demonstration for TV showing. She plans to demonstrate her technique of making dish gardens. Barbara hopes to show through this demonstration that young people can find many projects to take in 4-H no matter where they live. Barbara lives in a city but carries four to five projects each year. This past year she won a trip to Chicago.

Cecil Holland from the Stump Corner Club near Townsend led New Castle County 4-H'ers in the annual crops judging contest. Cecil received a scholarship which can be used at either 4-H short course or camp next year.

Two of our local leaders are playing an important role in our community. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hoffman of Welsh Tract Road, leaders of the Hill 'n' Valley 4-H Club, are hosts to an exchange student from Norway, Miss Karl Midtun from Oslo, Norway, is living with the Hoffmanns while studying as a senior at Newark High School. After graduation, Karl will take a tour with other exchange students as part of the program provided by American Field Service.

I would like you adults to think about helping 4-H this new year. Here is a little story for your consideration.

Once upon a time there was a little child who needed a friend. That child joined a 4-H club. Now he has many friends. Before he can join a club we need adults to act as leaders for this club.

We can only share those things we feel are important. We each have a "special talent" we could use to better enrich our lives and the lives of countless young people. If we could only be made to see that no matter how small we might think our talents are, they may be just the thing that could help some young person to benefit from a 4-H program. We need you adults!

Happy New Year to all of you! And "Make the Best Better!"

Navy Notes—Aboard Destroyer "Kraus"

By William P. Mote

Bill Mote has submitted a series of articles of his experience aboard the U. S. Destroyer "Kraus." Home in Newark after active duty with the U. S. Navy, Bill is the son of Mrs. William F. Mote and the late Mr. Mote. He and his mother reside in Newark. His articles will appear from time to time in the Newark Post.

Refueling From the Wasp
A couple of hours before dawn I relieve the watch and we join the task group again. At five a.m. we start the refueling that will enable us to remain at sea for the next few days.

The destroyers steam in a line behind the carrier and as one finishes refueling, the next moves up into position alongside the Wasp.

On deck the crew shivers against the cold sea air and awaits our turn. Most have gulped a cup or two of the steaming coffee before braving the chilling air.

At last our turn comes and all hands are on deck line for the line passing and pulling. As we settle down beside the carrier, a line is shot across the hundred of feet separating the two ships. This is run through a pulley and then the men drag it across the intervening space. Attached to this line is the refueling hose that is placed into the ship's oil tank. While the men rest, the oil is pumped into our tanks. Then the line is passed back to the carrier and we pull out and away from it.

The men go below for breakfast of corn bread and baked beans, and more steaming coffee.

At eight a.m. we turn to on the project for the day—chipping the roof of the project shack. With two men on watch, and one below for some badly needed sleep, the remaining pair of us attack the old paint with electric grinders and seal. By noon the paint has been removed. We eat and I go on watch just as the general alarm goes off once more.

This time we are the target for low flying, high speed jet attack fighters from the Forrestal. Our gunners do not fire, only track the planes with radar. It is hopeless, though, as the thousand mile per hour jets are too fast for us to train our guns effectively. The Kraus is old, behind the times. As an anti-sub ship she can't be beat, but it will be up to the guided missile ships to stop the fast jets in event of actual war.

So we watch the jets scream past at mat-top level and wish we could be flying with them.

One jet turns on his after-burner as he passes just above us, and the explosion rattles ship and men alike. This is a bit hard on the nerves.

Letters To The Editor

Dec. 29, 1962

The Editor
The Newark Post
Newark, Delaware

Dear Sir:

May I clarify an article in the Newark Post of Dec. 27, 1962? The article concerns discussions between the First Presbyterian Church and the Newark Housing Authority, and it is similar to an article appearing in the Evening Journal of Dec. 20.

The Newark Housing Authority does NOT have an option on any church property, otherwise the negotiations would be concluded. We have asked for an option to buy land at a later date. This request is based on two assumptions.

First, that the church may not have use for some of its land and would wish to sell it.

Second, that if it does wish to sell some land, we will be able to make it meet all of the requirements of the ordinances of the City of Newark and of the Federal Housing Act.

This, or any other land, will be worthless for our purposes unless the many requirements can be met. Thus, we have asked for an option on any amount of land up to 10 acres so that we can determine during the option period if the land can be made to meet our requirements.

If our first assumption is incorrect and the church has plans for all of its land, we will continue our search elsewhere.

We regret that the news item has caused concern to a number of Newark citizens.

Speaking of Money...

"Your career as a Medical Technologist"

by JOHN BUCHANAN

Speaking for the Wilmington Savings Fund Society

Hello. This is John Buchanan on SPEAKING OF MONEY with a story in our career series that I'm very excited about. It's a relatively new field for careers in medicine... and two good things about it. First, it offers very good opportunity to girls. Second, it costs comparatively little to prepare for, and offers many rewards. It's a glamour job, too.

If I were young and selecting my life's work, I'd take a long, slow look at the field of medical technology. Right now about 90% of the medical technologists are women, but the proportion of men is rapidly growing. For anyone interested in medical science, but whose purse or personality doesn't want the professions of doctor or nurse, medical technology offers a fine opportunity in the field of healing.

It's only in the last 35 years that degrees have been given to medical technologists, and with rapid advance of science, more and more technologists are needed in hospitals, pharmaceutical houses, research and private testing laboratories.

The best thing about it... it's a vitally important work. What hinders careers is to get into a job the world can do without. But if you should have an accident with your car today, your life may be saved by the speed and skill of a medical technologist. Oftentimes life and death are in her hands.

What does a medical technologist do? Well, in a hospital it's the technologist who quickly matches blood types to save a life by transfusion. He or she works in a lab, makes blood counts, liver function tests, prepares slides to enable the pathologist to determine whether or not disease is present in blood, spinal fluid, tissues. She does a little chemistry, a little biology, a lot of lifesaving. In private industry the lifesaving is less direct. The technologist makes analyses of medications for purity and strength.

In pharmaceutical houses, technologists make constant tests upon the batches of vaccine prepared there, to safeguard health.

In research labs, technologists work closely with top scientists searching for new medical discoveries. How do you prepare?

You should have two or three years of college, plus twelve months in a school of medical technology which is connected with a hospital, medical school or state board of health, which has the approval of the American Medical Association. Stay away from correspondence or unaccredited schools.

Some colleges give a bachelor's degree in science after three years of college and one year in an approved school of medical technology. For those who are going to specialize a college degree is needed plus the required science courses.

Here's a big advantage. Many go to work as technologists after only three years of study and get their degrees while working. This is easy at a hospital connected with a university.

And here's a wonderful thing. The cost of this education is much less expensive than in many comparable fields. In fact, more than 650 approved schools of medical technology charge no tuition whatsoever. That means that after two or three years of college, you may be able to complete your education with no further tuition.

But perhaps the second greatest advantage is this. You'll have a profession so much in demand that you can take it with you if you move, and know you'll be needed any place. If a girl marries and raises a family, she can go back into the profession later on.

Salaries? From 3,800 to 5,000 dollars a year in hospitals for recent graduates. Positions in industry offer somewhat more, and supervisory teaching positions are better paid. But like everything else, proficiency tells. You can reach ten and twelve thousand a year.

If this sounds good to you, make inquiries at your local hospitals and industrial laboratories or write to a college that offers medical technology training.

At the Savings Fund our business is to help people save regularly. Why not start a savings program with us and make it your Savings Fund, too. Longwood Gardens Schedules Courses For Horticulture

The autumn series of horticultural short courses at Longwood Gardens were well attended, and winter and spring series are filled for small greenhouse management, woody plant materials, spring wildflowers, and fundamentals of gardening. However, registration is still open in two courses — families of ornamental plants, and advanced flower arranging.

There will be 12 meetings of the class in ornamental plants, the first to be on Feb. 6. A laboratory course designed to give basic knowledge of the characteristics used to place plants in the correct family, emphasis will be on those families most important for their ornamental genera. This course is open only to those who have had botanical terminology or its equivalent.

The six-week course in advanced flower arranging will have a morning and an afternoon session, both beginning March 19. Class time will be devoted to specific types of arrangements stressing color harmony, design and period. Students will furnish their own clippers, a container and holder, and sufficient plant material for one arrangement.

For information, call Short Course Office, Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa.

Workers Over 65 Entitled To Social Security Pay

Many people age 65 or over who are still working don't realize that under the law they are "partially retired" and can receive some social security payments. It is possible to receive social security retirement benefits even if earnings go over $1200 a year, according to Myron Milbourn, social security manager in Wilmington.

Milbourn gave an example of a 65-year-old man and his wife eligible for a $180 monthly social security payment. If the man earns $2300 a year, he and his wife could receive $1,110 in social security payments.

More than a million people over 65 have not yet applied for social security benefits.

Poinsettia Points Offered By Tatnall For Care Of Plants

The poinsettia has long been a favorite gift plant for the Christmas season. If you happen to be the lucky recipient of one of these plants, close attention should be given to its care, advises Dave Tatnall, assistant agent in ornamental horticulture.

While in bloom, the plant should receive adequate light and moisture. A warm, sunny location away from drafts, and enough water to keep the soil moist, is ideal for keeping the poinsettia at its colorful best.

You may want to keep your plant after it has finished flowering. In this case, as soon as the leaves turn yellow and begin to fall, gradually reduce the supply of water until the soil is dry. Store the plant in a cool, airy location, such as the basement.

After the danger of frost has passed, cut back the plant to a height of about six inches and plunge the pot outdoors in the garden. Keep the new shoots pinched off during the summer.

Return the plant to the house in late August or early September and place in a warm, sunny window. Your poinsettia again should reward you with a welcome winter display, Tatnall adds.

Well arranged time is the surest mark of a well arranged mind.

Delaware Safety Council Suggests List Of New Year Non-Accident Resolutions

Resolve to do your best to prevent accidents in 1963, Delaware Safety Council President J. H. Tyler McConnell urged yesterday.

Mrs. William N. Cann, Council Vice-President for home safety, urged safety-conscious people to do these things at home:

Remove rubbish promptly, especially from cellar and attic.

Correct conditions leading to falls on steps, floors, and rugs.

Make sure gas and electric appliances and fixtures are safe.

Use a safe stepladder when reaching up to high places.

Keep all medicines, poisons, insecticides, and cleaning fluids out of reach of young children.

Have a rubber mat in the bathroom to prevent slipping.

Dorsey B. Kinnaman, vice-president for public safety, suggested that motorists resolve to travel only at safe speeds; look for approaching vehicles before pulling away from the curb; follow at safe distances and avoid sudden stops.

Give proper signals before turning or stopping; never pass other vehicles on curves or hills; give the other fellow the right of way if he wants it; be prepared to stop at intersections and railroad crossings; always obey traffic laws, signals, signs, and markings; use seat belts, and avoid driving when overly tired or under the influence of liquor.

J. J. O'Driscoll, president of the Safety Engineers Club urged these resolutions for people at work:

Know how to do your job correctly and safely; wear proper clothing, shoes, and protective devices; keep your working place clean and orderly; remove or report all accident hazards promptly.

If you operate machines, stop them before oiling or cleaning; learn the proper way to lift or move heavy objects; place materials and equipment so they will not cause accidents; and watch your step—avoid slips and falls.

McConnell urged that people at play or walking resolve to take these precautions:

Walk on the left side of roads without sidewalks; handle firearms

Linda Lee Vickers Dies At 4 Months

A blessing service was held yesterday in Beaver, Pa., for Linda Lee Vickers, four months old daughter of Roscoe and Harleen Sentz Vickers of 18 Kensington Lane, Brookside.

The infant died Monday in the Pittsburgh Children's Hospital. She had been ill since birth.

Surviving, in addition to her parents, are a brother, David Vickers, 19 months; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Georgia Davis of Muncie, Ind.; and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harless R. Sentz of Beaver.

Alfalfa Dependent On Early Seeding Mitchell Stresses

The most important practice in establishing an alfalfa stand is early seeding, according to Dr. W. H. Mitchell, University of Delaware agronomist. He says while many crops have a broad range in seeding dates, this doesn't apply to alfalfa.

The best time for seeding a new alfalfa stand is between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1. This will allow the plants to reach a height of six to eight inches before the first killing frost.

Many good alfalfa stands have been killed by the first frost, Mitchell reports, simply because they were seeded too late.

Here are some other points to consider in establishing a new stand:

1. Have your soil tested, especially the pH test. This will tell you how much lime to use.

2. Don't be stingy with lime on alfalfa. One or two tons of ground limestone per acre should be applied at seeding time. If the pH is below 6.0, disk one-half ton of ground burnt limestone into the soil just prior to seeding.

3. Purchase good certified alfalfa seed. Look for the blue tag. It's your assurance of purity.

4. Use 20 pounds of seed per acre when seeding a pure stand of alfalfa; or 15 pounds per acre mixed with orchard grass.

Your choice of variety will depend on the individual situation. DuPuis is a fast growing, early maturing, high yielding variety. And it is fairly easy to get established.

It has a relatively short life, however, (no more than two or three years) and is subject to bacterial wilt.

Williamsburg is well adapted to that part of Delaware below the canal. It is long lived and is finer stemmed than DuPuis.

Natragansett, a newcomer to the recommended varieties list, is heavy yielding and adaptable to a variety of soil conditions.

Vernal is recommended for northern Delaware. It is well resistant and fine stemmed. It recovers slowly, however, after harvesting.

Earl W. Hoopes Assigned To Flagship In Caribbean

Earl W. Hoopes, U. S. Navy illustrator-draftsman seaman, and son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hoopes of 26 Matthews Road, Newark, is serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Newport News, part of the recent United States quarantine forces in the Caribbean.

The quarantine forces are under the command of Vice-Admiral Alfred G. Ward, and the Newport News is the flagship for the commander of the Second Fleet.

Fred G. Fusce Appointed Avon Sr. Vice-President

Fred G. Fusce has been named senior vice-president of Avon Products, Inc., according to an announcement today by Wayne Hicklin, president of the cosmetics and toiletries manufacturing and distributing firm.

Fusce was vice-president of personnel and administration, and in his new post will supervise all phases of sales, field and branch operations.

Avon has a distribution plant in Newark, with Robert Angstadt, manager.

Wilmington Trail Club Plans C&D Canal Tour

Bob Nolan of 106 Lands End Road, Sedley Farms, will lead the Wilmington Trail Club on a short hike along the C&D Canal this Sunday.

Bob has arranged with C. B. "Bus" Brown, chief engineer for the canal, to tour the old pumping station at Chesapeake City.

Everyone is invited — no reservations — just come along, bring a lunch and canteen. Wear warm hiking clothes and comfortable shoes.

FIRST STATE GROWTH

Delaware, one of the nation's fastest growing states—percentage-wise—undoubtedly will pass the half-million mark in population in the near future the Delaware State Development Department advises.

Based predictions upon population projections recently distributed by the U. S. Census Bureau, the state information agency predicts that Delaware will likely pass the 500,000 mark in population sometime in 1966.
