BUCK, TOWNSEND, HOUSTON HEAD REPUBLICAN TICKET CHOSEN YESTERDAY AT DOVER

Short Defeated By Organization and Rotation System
Smashed In Only Contest; Nomination of Ex-Governor
Townsend A Surprise

DRY PETITION PRESENTED

The Republican State Convention, held yesterday in Dover, furnished one bitter contest that had been anticipated, and one surprise. C. Douglas Buck, of New Castle county, State Highway Engineer, won the gubernatorial nomination over I. Dolpus Short, of Sussex, 104 to 54, in the only contest in the convention, and John G. Townsend, Jr., of Sussex, World War Governor of Delaware, received the nomination for United States Senator. The contest between Buck and Short was anticipated. Short claimed the nomination for Sussex on the rotation system, but the Republican Organization, accusing him of party irregularity, went to Dover strong enough to smother him and smash the rotation system. The nomination of Ex-Governor Townsend was a surprise as he had made a statement that he was not seeking the nomination. Mr. Townsend is in Florida at present. The rest of the ticket, which follows, was what had been expected.

The Ticket

United States Senator—John G. Townsend, Jr., of Selbyville, Sussex County.

Governor—C. Douglas Buck, of State Road, Rural New Castle County.

Representative in Congress—Robert G. Houston, Sussex County (renomination).

Lieutenant Governor—Captain J. Henry Hazel, of Dover, Kent County.

Attorney General—Ruben Satterthwaite, Jr., of Wilmington, New Castle County.

State Treasurer—Howard M. Ward, of Wilmington (renomination).

State Auditor—Edward Baker, of Dover, Kent County (renomination).

Presidential electors—New Castle County, Charles Warner, of Wilmington; Kent County, Dr. William T. Chipman, of Harrington; Sussex County, Dr. Frank L. Grier, Milford.

Reprisals were threatened by the Sussex delegation, which was solid for Short, except for one vote, but it was later declared that Sussex, with the Senatorial nomination, would support the ticket.

Judge Daniel O. Hastings, of Wilmington, delivered the keynote address, in which he ridiculed the Democratic campaign issues, particularly those advanced by Mr. Bushob. He spoke of the $7,000,000 surplus in the treasury of Delaware under Republican administration.

Others spoke for party harmony, and predicted a united party and a sweeping victory.

TO GIVE SMUT DEMONSTRATION

Ed Willim and Dr. Adams To Conduct Two, Next Tuesday and Wednesday;
Method

Two demonstrations on treating smut wheat for stinking smut of wheat will be held in New Castle County on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 18 and 19.

The one on Tuesday will be held at the warehouse of George Hart and Son, Townsend. On the next day the second will be held at the warehouse of Crothers Brothers, Mt. Pleasant. Both are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. standard time. These demonstrations have been arranged by Ed Willim, Jr., New Castle County Agent, and will be conducted by Dr. J. F. Adams, Plant Pathologist of the State Board of Agriculture and the University of Delaware.

The value of treating wheat for smut as well as the methods of doing so will be discussed at these meetings. Two wheat dealers in the county are now prepared to clean and treat smut wheat for smut at a nominal cost per bushel. Crothers Brothers, of Mt. Pleasant, have two machines available for treating the wheat, while Julius Kirk, of Middletown, will have the same large mixing outfit used last year. Hart and Son, of Townsend, have barrel outfits which they loan to any farmer who wants to treat his wheat at home.

MARINE BAND TO GIVE 2 CONCERTS

Will Play September 18, Afternoon and Evening at Longwood; Benefit of
Camp Ontonka

Under the leadership of Captain Taylor Branson, the United States Marine Band will present two concerts at Longwood on September 18. Captain Branson is preparing two especially fine programs in which he is giving opportunity again to several of the soloists who so pleased the Longwood audiences last year. That the pleasure of concerts at Longwood is not only for the audience but for the band as well, is proved by the renewal engagement this year, when requests for the Marine Band from every part of the country have become so numerous that the nation has been mapped out in sections for the short annual tour, with a very limited route in each.

The concerts will be given at 3:15 and 8:15, daylight time, on Tuesday, September 18, and are again this year the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont to the extension fund of Camp Ontonka on Indian River, Sussex County, established by Mrs. Coleman du Pont.

Tickets are on sale at Baynard's Robelen's, Gewehr's, Y. W. C. A. Lobby, Bee Hive news-stand, Greenwood Book Shop, S. L. Foster's drug store, Lancaster avenue and Union street, and the mezzanine of the du Pont-Biltmore, where the Concert headquarters may be reached by telephone 10758. Tickets will also be on sale at the gate at the time of the concerts.

Longwood conservatories have been enlarged and the brilliant spectacle and rich music of the Marine Band will present an opportunity to even larger audiences than those which overflowed the seating capacity last year and the programs for this year have been made especially attractive and interesting by some feature paragraphs about the flowers and fruits at Longwood.

GOSPEL CAMPAIGN IS DRAWING LARGE CROWDS

The Gospel Campaign being conducted by Dr. George W. Cooke, under the auspices of the Newark M. E. Church, is drawing large crowds nightly to the gospel tent, pitched on the church property on South Academy street. People attending are from all denominations and from towns all over this section, including Wilmington. The services are held every night, excepting Monday. Harold Vignuelle has charge of the music and the large chorus choir.

Tonight will be Church Night, and all Newark churches will unite in attending the services. Tomorrow night the Continental Band will add to the musical program of the services. Tomorrow afternoon, directly after school, there will be a young folks service and the subject Dr. Cooke will use will be "The Nail." Admission will be one nail of any kind.

There will be two nights when services will be for women only and for men only. The segregation will not be because of the subject of the sermon, rather to all the men and women to go out in the town on personal service work. Friday night will be Ladies' Night. A feature of the evening will be the singing of "The Ninety and Nine" by a male choir of 99 voices. Tuesday will be Men's Night, and on that evening the ladies of the church will do personal service.

There will be a special feature on Saturday evening, which has not as yet been announced. On Sunday there will be three services, 11:00 a. m. and 2 and 7 p. m., standard time. A record crowd is anticipated.

TO ATTEND MEETING

Dr. A. S. Eastman will leave Sunday to attend the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society, which convenes this year at Swampscott, Mass., twelve miles north of Boston. The meeting lasts all week, with trips to various plants in and around Boston. A half a day each will be spent at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Besides attending the meetings of the American Chemical Society, Dr. Eastman, as a representative of the Delaware section, will sit on the Council of the Society, and also be a member of the Senate of Chemical Education.

$534 GIVEN Y. W. C. A.

At the annual shoot at Yorklyn, the amount made by the mothers of the girls who belong to the Girls Reserves, from serving dinner, was $534.30. The entire sum was donated to the District Y. W. C. A.

APPOINT COUNTY DOMESTIC AGENT

Extension Workers In Home Demonstration Service Will Work With Other County Agents; Mrs. K. H.
Daugherty, New Castle Agent

Mrs. Helen V. McKinley, State Home Demonstration Agent of the University of Delaware announces the appointment of three new field agents in the Extension Service.

These Home Demonstration Agents will be located in the County Extension offices namely Newark, Dover and Georgetown and have been appointed as follows:

Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty for New Castle County, with office in Wolf Hall, University of Delaware at Newark.

Miss Mary Graham for Kent County, with office in the Postal Building at Dover.

Miss Laura B. Rutherford for Sussex County, with office at the Court House in Georgetown.

"For approximately ten years," says Mrs. McKinley, "there has been a County Agricultural Agent from whom the farmers might secure information about their problems and a County Club Agent who inspires farm boys and girls to a fuller meaning and appreciation of farm life and instructs them in methods which will make life on the farm more profitable, but there has never been anyone in the county upon whom the home-makers could call to help solve their problems and ask for the latest information on new developments, equipment, etc., for the home."

Mrs. Daugherty, the New Castle Agent, in her work will supplement and cooperate with that of Mr. Ed Willim, Jr., County Agricultural Agent, and Mr. George M. Worriow, County Club Agent.

Mrs. Daugherty was brought up on a farm and has had 11 years of experience as Home Demonstration Agent in both Texas and Massachusetts, so that she is an experienced worker and should be of much help after she gets acquainted with the new territory and its home-makers.

In order that this may be done more quickly, Mrs. Daugherty would like to have any home-maker call upon her at her office, either personally or by telephone, and make herself and her problems known. Do not be surprised if Mrs. Daugherty should happen to call on you some time when she is making her way about the county. After becoming sufficiently acquainted with the home-makers of the county and their problems Mrs. Daugherty will develop, with the assistance of these home-makers, a definite program of work, the benefits of which may be received by any individual or group of individuals in the County.

DAIRYMEN MEET

More than fifty farmers from this vicinity attended a meeting of the Newark local, of the Inter-State Milk Association, held Monday night, in Wolf Hall. H. Wallace Cook, president of the local organization presided.

Officers of the local organization were elected for the coming year. Wallace Cook was re-elected president. H. C. Milliken was chosen secretary, and Leslie Ford, delegate to the annual meeting of the Association, which will be held in Philadelphia.

H. D. Allebach, president of the Association, gave the main address, which was followed by a spirited discussion on milk prices. Ed Donovan, a delegate from the Brinford local, also gave a talk.

AUXILIARY MEETING

The Fourth District Auxiliary of the Union Hospital held their last meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Abernathy, Cherry Hill. After the business meeting the hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allie Baris, near Appleton, on Saturday, September 15, at 2 p. m., urging all members to be present.

PICTURE BENEFITS VETS

The Newark Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars netted a tidy little profit from the great World War picture, "Men of Purpose," which they exhibited for two nights last week at the Opera House. A portion of the proceeds are being used to finish the furnishing and decoration of the meeting room, and the rest will be deposited in the treasury.

DR. SYMPHERD BACK

Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, head of the Department of English, University of Delaware, has returned to Newark after one year's leave of absence which he spent in Germany, England and Italy in research.

Town Library Open

The Newark Town Library re-opened on Saturday, after the vacation of Mrs. Moore, the librarian. The rooms have been thoroughly cleaned and new books are to be added.

NEWARK C. C. DISPUTES MATCH

Lose To Concord Without Professional Match; Claim
Genther's Points Should Be Counted

The Newark Country Club Golf Team won and lost a match, Saturday, against the Concord Country Club team, at Concord. Figuring in the match between the professionals of the two clubs, Newark won 46 to 44, and without figuring this match Newark lost 44 to 43. As it has always been customary to count this match in the point scoring, Newark claims a victory. On the other hand, Concord declined to count the match, and as no ruling or agreement was established before the match started, you can take your pick.

The matches were tight throughout, the Newark golfers experiencing some difficulty with the heavy rough and the expansive greens on the Concord course. In the match which was a decided factor, Eddie Ginther, the Newark pro, handed Jim Nielson, Concord's salaried competitor, a 4 and 2 beating. Eddie spoiled his medal score on the 18th hole when he lost a ball, but up to that point he needed a par 4 for a 77.

The last team match, which Newark will play this season will be against the Coatsville Country Club, at Coatsville, on September 29.

On Saturday, H. G. Lawson took the silver spoon for low medal score with a 76, net.

STATE "SELLING" DELAWARE FRUIT

Board of Agriculture Circularizes Preferred List of Apple Buyers In U. S. and Canada

The State Board of Agriculture has undertaken another service in behalf of the Delaware fruit grower. On Monday, W. T. Derrickson, director of the Bureau of Markets, sent out a letter to a hand picked list of buyers in the United States and Canada, "selling" Delaware apples.

The letter pointed out the rigid state law regulating packing and classifying fruit, and then called attention to the varieties of apples offered by the growers in Delaware. The letter, per se, was a persuasive piece of direct by mail salesmanship, and sent out by the State Board, it should prove a forceful influence in the distribution of Delaware apples.

CAR STRIKES WOMAN

Catherine Butcher, colored, was injured, Sunday night, when struck by a car driven by former Senator John F. Richards. The accident occurred along the highway near Townsend. It is said that the woman, who was walking along the road on the same side that the car was approaching, dodged to the other side and then back again, directly in the path of the car.

The woman happened to be an employee of Mr. Richards, inasmuch as she worked at the cannery which he has leased for this season. It was at first thought that she was critically injured, but after being taken to the Delaware Hospital, it was found that she sustained only bruises and lacerations, and would recover. Mr. Richards' machine was badly damaged from the impact as the woman was very large, weighing well over 200 pounds.

PROF. BAKER ON LEAVE

Professor T. A. Baker, head of the Animal Husbandry Department of the University of Delaware, will attend the Eastern States Livestock Convention, at Buffalo, N. Y., this week-end. Following that he will go to Cornell University to spend a year's leave of absence in completing his work for his doctor's degree.

NEGRO ATTACKER OF WHITE WOMAN ADMITS GUILT

Robert Jones Charged With Attempted Assault After Strong Evidence Is Collec-
ed, Mrs. Wilmer Rescued
by Spencer Taylor

SIGNS CONFESSION

After a sworn and signed confession of guilt, Robert Jones, middle-aged Newark negro, was committed, without bail, to the New Castle County Workhouse, by Magistrate Thompson, on Monday afternoon. He was charged with attempted criminal assault on a white woman, Mrs. Viola Wilmer, the wife of Willard Wilmer, who lives on a farm in the vicinity of McClellandville. Jones was arrested Monday noon by County Constable Wideman.

The attack and attempted assault on the person of Mrs. Wilmer took place Saturday night, about 8:30, at the top of the hill above the icehouse on New London Road. Spencer Taylor, colored, heard the woman's screams and came to her rescue, frightening off her assailant. Jones it is claimed fired two shots at Taylor and then ran. Taylor took Mrs. Wilmer to his house nearby and then went downtown and summoned Chief Keeley, who, with his brother and several citizens beat the fields near the place of the attack.

After a fruitless search, Keeley went to the cannery, and routing out all the help, lined the men up to find one answering Mrs. Wilmer's description of her assailant. There were none that fitted the description. Several persons later told of seeing Jones coming from the direction of the crime, shortly after it had occurred, and the Chief took him into custody on Sunday. However, Jones told a plausible story which included an alibi, and as he did not particularly fit the description given by Mrs. Wilmer, he was released.

However, suspicion against him grew, and on Monday morning, Constable Wideman rounded up all the evidence that had developed and placed Jones under arrest. He found him working on the new engineering building of the University of Delaware. He was lodged in the local jail. Mrs. Wilmer was brought to the jail and identified Jones as the man who had attacked her.

Mrs. Wilmer said that she was on her way home when Jones jumped from the bushes beside the road, and grabbing her by the throat, dragged her across the road and into a field where he threw her down and threatened her with death if she didn't yield to him. She said she screamed and (Continued on Page 8.)

PUBLIC SCHOOLS REGISTER 1020

Expect Increase By End of Week; Prominent Educators Speak at Conferences

After having spent three days in pre-school conferences, studying the plans and attending to the necessary foundational details, the Newark School began the work of instruction on Monday, September 10, 1928, with a net enrollment of 1020, which will probably be increased to 1050 before the end of next week. Of this number 91 are enrolled in the colored school. The enrollment the first day of last year was 1000 even.

Prominent educators from Delaware addressed the pre-school conferences of teachers held during last week.

Explaining in detail the workings of the State Department of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education, Doctor Holloway, State Superintendent of Schools, explained that Delaware had the lowest school tax rate on real estate of any state in the country for the current maintenance of schools. The real estate tax providing less than 85 per cent of (Continued on Page 4.)

SCOTT NEARING LECTURES

Professor Scott Nearing, famed socialist economist, lectured, Monday night, at the Newark Opera House, on "Issues of the Campaign." The lecture was given under the auspices of the Wilmington Worker's Party, and it is understood that it was brought to Newark because no hall could be procured in Wilmington for Monday night. Professor Nearing, as usual, flayed the capitalistic system.

Mr. and Mrs. Peach and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Passmore spent Sunday at Kitts Hammock.

IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE

William Cann departed this life at the home of his brother-in-law, J. E. O'Daniel, in Wildwood, N. J., Saturday, September 1, 1928, in his 73rd year. He had only been confined to his bed ten days. His death was very unexpected to those in attendance and was a great shock to his large circle of friends. The funeral in charge of Mr. Lindsay, a former pastor, and Dr. E. S. Nide was held on Wednesday, September 5, in the West Chester M. E. Church, with interment in Oxford Cemetery, and was largely attended. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which he was held.

The deceased was a son of the late Samuel Cann and Matilda Taylor Cann, of Franklin Township, Chester County, and was born at the old homestead near Kemblesville November 8, 1855. Having been born of Methodist parents and from childhood having a great love for the church of his parents choice became an active member of the same, being deeply interested in the Sabbath School, Young People's Societies and any good work of the community in which he lived. He always had a kind word and a pleasant smile for all, both old and young. It has caused us much sadness to part with him, yet we humbly bow in submission to an all wise Providence and while he is no more yet by his example of patience and faithfulness in memory of many he shall live forever. When the Lord called him he was prepared to answer the call and awaits our coming on the other side. While it was hard to part with him yet by his death we are again reminded that in the midst of life we are in death.

In 1877 he married Miss Rie O'Daniel, of Oxford, Pa. They walked side by side, hand in hand until May, 1920, when she was called to the great beyond. He humbly bowed in submission and said: "Thy will be done."

The deceased was engaged in farming near Kemblesville until 1912, at which time he moved to West Chester and entered the Real Estate and Insurance Business. He leaves a Foster son, Howard Friele, of West Chester, and three sisters, Mrs. Hannah Ewing, of West Grove, Mrs. Pamela J. Foy, of Lewisville, and Mrs. Robert Campbell, of Newark, Delaware, who deeply mourn his death.

"Servant of God, well done,
Thy glorious warfare is past.
The battle's fought, the race is won.
And thou art crowned at last."

"In condescending love,
Thy ceaseless prayer he heard,
And bade thee suddenly remove,
To thy complete reward."

Mrs. Robert Campbell.

APPLETON WOMAN'S CLUB

The Appleton Woman's Club held their August meeting in the club room with a very good attendance. After the business meeting, Mrs. Elmer Gallaher gave a report of the picnic, and then the meeting was turned over to the Juniors with the following program: Recitation, Flora Adams, "Aunt Sadie on Keeping Fit"; singing, "America the Beautiful"; recitation, Anna Scott, "A Smack in School"; solo, Lillian Brown, "Giel of My Dreams"; recitation, "Laura Smith"; song, "Juanita"; recitation, Betty Burke, "Who Knows"; recitation, Lillian Brown, "Aunt Tabitha". Refreshments were served by the Juniors and enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be on Wednesday evening, September 19, at 8 o'clock.

Hostesses, Mrs. S. Pryor, Mrs. H. Peterson, Mrs. M. Raleigh, Mrs. E. Robinson, Mrs. A. D. Short.

His Granfather

I recollect, as well as yesterday, that on the Sundays, he wore a braid banner with a red worsted cherry on the top of it, and had a single-breasted coat, square in the tails, of light blue, with white buttons, bigger than crown-pieces. His waistcoat was low in the neck, and had flap pockets. . . . To look at him, with his rig-and-fur Shetland boots pulled up over his knees, and his big glancing buckles in his shoes, sitting at our door-check, clean and tidy as he was kept, was just as if one of the ancient patriarchs had been left on earth, to let succeeding survivors witness a picture of hoary and venerable old. Pure body, many a bit Gibraltar-rock and gingerbread did he give to me, as he would pat me on the head, and prophesy I would be a great man yet; and sing me bits of auld songs about . . .

When grandfather had been obliged to take the wings of flight . . . my father was a wean at grannie's breast; so, by her fending—for she was a canny industrious body, and kept a bit shop, in the which she sold oatmeal and red herrings, needles and pins, right-old Scotch potatoes, and tapers, and cabbage, and what not—he had grown a strapping laddie of eleven or twelve, helping his two sisters . . . to gang errands, chap sand, carry water, and keep the house clean. I have heard him say, when auld grandfather came to their door at the dead of night, tiling, like a thief of darkness, at the window-brood to get in, that he was so altered in his voice and lingo, that no living soul knewed him, not even the wife of his bosom; so he had to put grandie in mind of things that had happened between them, before she would allow my father to lift the sneek, or draw the bar. Many and many a year, for gude kens how long after, I've heard tell, that his speech was so Dutchified as to be scarcely ken-speakle to a Scotch European; but nature is powerful, and, in the course of time, he came in the upshot to gather his words together like a Christian.—"From 'The Life of Man-e-Waugh,' by Robert Macbeth Moir."

"ROSE MARIE"

The principal romantic leads of "Rose Marie," a film version of the famous musical play of the same name which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has just produced as one of its big special features of the year, are played by the two youngest members of the cast, both as to years and screen experience.

Jean Crawford, with less than three years' experience on the screen, drew the coveted title role which every young actress of the screen had hoped to get.

James Murray, who has been in pictures less than a year, won the leading male romantic role against a field of more than fifty better known and more experienced motion picture actors.

House Peters, Creghton Hale, Gibson Gowland, Polly Moran, Lionel Belmore, William Orlamond, and other members of the cast were veterans of stage and screen long before Joan or Jimmie ever attended a picture show.

"Rose Marie" will be shown at the Newark Opera House tomorrow and Friday.

Ready-Made Humor

Why bother to write jokes when one can get dialogue like the following, overheard at the bureau of naturalization?

"Where is Washington?"

"Oh, he has passed on."

"I mean the capital of the United States."

"Oh, they loaned it all to Europe."

"Do you promise to support the Constitution?"

"Me? How can I? I've a wife and six children to support."—Brooklyn Eagle.

TOMBSTONE TRACED THROUGH THE AGES

THE STONE AGE

Mr. Joseph Ayars, of the Silverbrook Monumental Works in Wilmington, says that the tombstone can be traced back through all ages.

It was for the purpose of honoring the dead along with the belief in immortality which led to the gift of the highest efforts of art. There is no one who would not desire to have the memory of their loved ones honored and restored as completely as possible.

As you have probably noticed some tombstones are elaborate objects of art, while some others which are just as striking are simple and artistic, that is more along the Grecian line.

Even in times of great antiquity tombstones were objects of great beauty. At this time there were illiterate people who could mark the tombs only by picture inscriptions, in this way they were able to give the parentage, residence and other important details of the deceased. Some of these structures would be elaborately carved inside and outside, would bear the character of writing of centuries gone by. Therefore it is not hard for you to see the improvement in our modern tombstones. We have men to convert into objects of magnificent beauty from plain, everyday granite and marble, where our brothers and sisters of yesterday were compelled to use the stones, although considered perfectly wonderful to them, would seem crude and hard to us.

Where we have experienced men to manufacture our wonderful commemorative structures, each and every man had to make his own.

We all cherish the memory of the dead and most all honor this memory with a tombstone.

BRICKS UPON BRICKS

Bricks upon bricks is just what Mr. Oberly must think. Of course a few bricks don't mean anything to Mr. Oberly of the Oberly Brick Company, but his idea of a brick, and your idea perhaps is as far apart as the cellar is to the garret.

The new Sigma Nu Fraternity house will go up with Oberly bricks, and it is estimated that it will take at least 200,000 of them. If you can imagine what a building 200,000 bricks would make you can see what the new Fraternity House will look like.

This contract has just been let and more details will be given at a later date.

J. H. HUTCHISON MOVES INTO NEW QUARTERS

James L. Hutchison, the local contractor, is moving into his new quarters on Park street, near the B. & O. R. R. The firm has a good location, they having remodeled the old warehouse. The second floor will be the office. There will be plenty of room, the size is 17x28. Not only is the location a central one, but it permits of prompt handling of all building material direct from the railroad; the haul is short and there is good storage facilities, as everything can be kept under cover.

One of the features will be that the building principally the office, will be finished with Celotex, the finish being in a paneled effect. There are a few who know of, and enjoy the pleasure and benefits that come with the use of Celotex, the building and insulating lumber. Celotex is made in broad, strong boards from the tough fibres of cane. It effectively resists the passage of heat, cold and moisture. When applied to walls and roofs it gives much greater protection from the elements than ordinary construction. Properly used, Celotex will reduce your fuel bills by one-third. Even in houses already built, a big measure of added protection can be obtained. In most houses 60 per cent of the avoidable heat leakage occurs through the roof—by lining the roof with Celotex, protection is given where it is most needed—summer heat is kept out and in winter costly furnace heat is kept in. The heating system is being now installed.

Mr. Hutchison has secured the contract for the erection of two new homes on West Main street, just opposite the Country Club; work will be started immediately. The homes are for Mr. Raymond Fader and Mr. Wayne Brewer.

The large garage for Dennison Company, downtown, is nearly under cover. The walls are being erected and the laying of the floor is progressing rapidly.

NEW DESIGNS ON DISPLAY AT LOVETT'S STORE

We have all been promising ourselves that when the opportunity came we would have that new suite of furniture. With some of us that means a dining room suite, with others, a bed room suite. But no matter what it is, you should visit our store and have a look at the new designs that have just arrived.

You may have missed the August sale, but when you see what we have to offer and you also note the price, you will be more than satisfied. We have on display the latest in design and we know that the quality cannot be better, as we have always purchased from manufacturers who are doing the same thing that we have always strived to do—that is the building up of a reputation that will be outstanding, and years from now you can point to our furniture and see that not only is the appearance built into our furniture, but that thing most desired of all, the quality that stands up under years of service.

Come in and see us, we will be only too glad to talk to you, and whether you make a purchase or not we will willingly show you this new beautiful line that we have to offer.

PROTECTION THROUGH INDUSTRIAL TRUST INS.

The Industrial Trust Company, of 10th and Shipley streets, Wilmington, has announced a plan of protection for the endorser of Industrial Loan Notes, by which in case of the borrower's death, the co-makers will not be called on to make good the balance of the loan.

An instance where the helpfulness of an industrial loan was doubled through this insurance was recently proven. A young man—thirty-three—steady and reliable. His family was three, and his home was practical and comfortable. His income was moderate and steady except during an occasional brief era of unemployment. In accordance with the present-day custom he utilized the instalment plan occasionally.

At the time he came to the Industrial Trust Company he had just gone back to work after a six weeks' lay off. A loan would be helpful, he told the manager, because he had the 'tail-end' of a furniture, a doctor and a clothing bill, besides several small current running bills which were due. It was his plan, he said, to centralize his several bills by getting a loan which would cover the total amount of all the bills. The manager, as is customary, grouped his bills, made a loan to cover all and the many bills became an easily-handled one.

It was fifteen days later that the borrower's wife came to the manager. She told of the accident in the factory where her husband worked which had deprived her of her husband. She had come to the bank, she said, to tell the manager of her husband's death and to find out the status of their debt. The manager was able to tell her that neither her husband's estate nor herself owed the company anything, as the loan had been insured. The borrower, through his foresight, had prevented the placing in jeopardy of any of his family's possessions. He had borrowed to pay off his numerous small debts, which was helpful, but he had been unwilling to jeopardize their small estate in the event of unexpected death where such a thing could be prevented by the paying of a small insurance premium.

This insurance was contracted for patrons of the Industrial Trust Company because it was believed to be an integral part of their service to the public. The rates are low, running from $1.40 to $1.90 per $100 borrowed, according to the age of the borrower.

"So he is an experienced lover?"
"Well, he can tell instantly whether you are pensive or sleepy."—Goblin.

SEPTEMBER 12, 1928

A Wise Selection

The ticket chosen, yesterday, by the State Republican Convention should prove eminently satisfactory to the average voter. All the nominees named are men of tried and proven worth, and the public service of most of them is more than outstanding.

John G. Townsend, whose nomination for the United States Senate was a surprise, inasmuch as he had declared that he was not a candidate, will be acceptable to all three counties. As Governor, he steered the State safely through the trying War period, and since then has been one of Delaware's outstanding business successes.

C. Douglas Buck, who for the past ten years has been building Delaware highways to their present degree of perfection, has the confidence of the State at large. Aside from party politics, the only objection voiced to his nomination was that he was so valuable in his present position as State Highway Engineer, that he should not be removed even to accept the governorship.

Robert G. Houston, candidate for re-election as United States Representative, stands on his record of two terms in the position. He was a popular choice both from a standpoint of party politics and from the Republican vote at large.

The only rift in the convention was in the matter of the gubernatorial nomination, and after the heat of the convention contest has cooled, undoubtedly the choice of the convention will be accepted as not only popular, but wise.

An Exaggeration

The Town of Newark has grounds for a certain amount of indignation and annoyance at the manner in which two of our Wilmington contemporaries yesterday, headlined a possible lynching in Newark. As we were in immediate touch with the case from the collection of evidence to the apprehension, interrogation, arraignment and transfer of the prisoner to the county prison, we can state in the most vigorous terms that at no time was there the remotest possibility that the course of justice might be diverted from the properly constituted authorities. The report was grossly exaggerated.

On the occasion of a case of the nature of the one referred to, there are always a few irresponsible spirits who are quick to vapor about "stringing somebody up." If the moral fibre of such individuals was examined, it would probably develop that it was little tighter than that of the proposed victim. Fortunately Newark is meagerly endowed with this type of perverted mentality; there is not enough of it to ever form even a good nucleus of a lynching mob.

While we are on the subject we might mention, that what little talk of lynching there was, emanated from a certain corner that has become a loafing place for a group of idlers. We have heard numerous complaints about this group; that its conduct and language is often embarrassing to persons passing by. If the local police would make it a regular practice to stir this group to its feet and keep it in motion, it probably would cause an evaporation of energy beyond taking an interest in persons and events.

The Circus Comes to Town

There is a thrill belonging to the mighty placards foreshadowing the approach of a circus that goes to the heart of many who look thereon. It may be granted that, wonderful as are the feats of the performers, the actual circus rarely if ever, in the adult's experience, comes up to the expectation promised or hinted at in these gorgeous notices of pageantry; but just the same the fact that a circus is soon to arrive carries, even to quite a few grown-ups, its own peculiar ecstasy.

Why is this? Perhaps fond memories of long ago have something to do with this exuberance, and maybe the thought of marvelous achievement—even though manifesting itself in this instance in nothing more constructive than bareback horse riding or juggling extraordinary—is in part responsible. But forsooth there surely must be some other reason. The circus stands for gigantic enterprise, mammoth production and efficiency par excellence. Perchance instinctively the man senses this fact as he anticipates the marvels that are to be presented.

Yes, maybe it is any or all of these things. Or again the attraction may revolve around the clown and his age-old antics, which force a smile oftentimes even from the most blasé. But more, it is the fact that the man is but a boy overgrown that makes him enjoy the circus. The child is father to the man in more senses than one, and if the circus can help to bring for a brief space the boyhood of the man to the surface, mayhap some of the unwanted burdens of so-called maturity may lose part of their weight, and when the circus leaves the town, its coming will not have been entirely in vain.—Christian Science Monitor.

And Now

Back of us is the year's vacation; ahead of us the year's work.

Vacations are necessary. One needs rest and recreation, change of food, drink, climate. A man grows tired of the same thing, the same work, the same buildings he sees through his office window day after day, the year round.

And perhaps more than anything or anybody else he gets tired of himself. Vacations are good inasmuch as a fellow can then sit in the grandstand and watch himself go by.

Monotony makes a man desperate. But it is surprising how we appreciate getting back to our work, our homes, our tasks.

There is a satisfaction in taking up the reins again. And though we may now and again sigh for the beach, or the mountains, or the fishing and Indian summer will tantalize us with perfect days for autoing or hiking we know that winter is ahead of us, that there is work that needs doing.

And if our vacation has not fitted us to do that work—and do it better than ever before—if we feel the thought that a strenuous year of labor ahead of us is an unpleasant experience awaiting us and an irksome job, then we had better take an inventory of ourselves. There's something wrong.

The greatest pleasure in life is work—honest, conscientious work. Let's get to work!—Elbert Hubbard.

Adams to the wheat growers of the county.

Bust, Bunt or Stinking Smut of Wheat, as it is generally known, appeared again this season in epidemic form. Some fields inspected showed as much as 25 and 35 per cent infection. Continued efforts on the part of growers is essential to clean up this disease.

The following table indicates the progress that has been made during the past three years.

	Amount of Treated Seed Wheat for Bunt Control
	1925	1926	1927
Sussex County...	200	3,200	11,035
Kent County...	4,800	12,000	39,300
New Castle Co.	500	5,400	16,000
State Total...	5,500	20,600	66,335

The total of treated seed wheat for 1928 should show as much increase as was made for 1927 and 1926.

Through field meetings and our letter the past two years, we feel that the nature of the disease is now understood by the growers. There have been a number of instances where the grower was not satisfied with the treatment. One grower left a check showing 35 per cent smut while the treatment reduced it to only 6 per cent. In this case the wheat should never have been used for seed. With wheat showing over 5 per cent smut, the grower will be better off to buy clean seed and treat. Several instances the best grains were not cleaned out by fanning thoroughly, which does not favor securing complete control.

Growers have been taking advantage of the treating stations located at Milton, Greenwood, Middletown and Mt. Pleasant. The wheat is fanned and treated for a reasonable charge. In some sections there have been many of the barrel treating machines constructed.

Grades of wheat are determined as Light Smutty which contains not more than 7 bushels in 1250 kernels (50 grams); Medium Smutty not more than 12 bushels in 1250 kernels; Heavy Smutty any sample showing more than the Medium Smutty grade.

How to Control Smut

The poisons to use for control of this disease come in a fine powder form. They are cheap, easy to apply. Do not injure the seed, and protect the seed against weevils. Treated seed can be stored and is seldom touched by rats or mice. The principal material used by growers the past two years has been "Copper Carb," which is handled by many dealers throughout the state. In addition there are growers who have used successfully Copper Carbonate, Semesan and Bayer Dust. A new du Pont dust called Ceresan will probably be on the market this fall.

Amount of Dust to Use

Badly diseased wheat should not be treated. "Copper Carb" should be used at rate of three ounces to a bushel of seed wheat. The other dusts will give results when used at rate of two ounces per bushel.

Warning

These dusts are poisonous. Wear mask over nose and mouth when treating and use well ventilated place. Do not use or sell treated wheat for food or feeding purposes. These dusts sift into working part of drill. After drilling, turn feed snaf with a wrench to free the feed wheels. Oil the gear bearings frequently.

How to Treat

The poisons, to be effective, must be spread over every kernel. The shovel method will not give you the results secured by using a treating machine. Make up a treating machine, as described. Pour in one bushel of seed at a time for best results and then add the dust. Turn barrel at moderate speed for two minutes.

Black Head

This smut appears at the time heads are starting to bloom and must not be confused with Bust. Some fields showed as much as eight per cent this season and in many sections of the State a considerable increase was observed. This smut carries over inside the grain and requires a different method of control than used for Bust. For control of Loose Smut soak seed wheat in cold water five hours, then place it in water held at a temperature of 129 degrees F. for ten minutes. Remove and spread out to dry until it will work through the seed drill or set drill to allow for the swelling of the grain. Loose burlap bags can be used and many growers treat just enough for a seed plot and the seed from this planting is used for seeding in the fall.

TRAFFIC CASES

On Saturday John W. Thatcher, of Edgewater Park, N. J., was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate Thompson on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested on the Glasgow Road by State Highway Officer Carpenter.

Yesterday, Officer Carpenter arrested Sidney Musher, of Washington, D. C., after clocking him at 52 for several miles on the Glasgow road. When arraigned before Magistrate Thompson, Mr. Musher's father, who was in the car, spoke in his son's behalf. He paid flowery, almost passionate tribute to Delaware's halls of justice and servants of the law. He admitted the charge to be correct, that the speed limit had been exceeded, but he invoked the unstrained mercy and justice of the court. The fine was $35 and costs.

the total current maintenance of schools, the balance accruing from the income tax and from the corporation franchise tax. Other sources of income are from the 57 per cent of the stock of the Farmers Bank of Delaware which is owned by the State of Delaware.

"The Relation of the Public School to College and Life," was presented by Dean Robinson, of the Women's College, University of Delaware, who took as her central theme, "Education is Experience and Experience is Life." Dean Robinson plead for more real guidance in the public schools, not only in the high school, but throughout all the grades. This intelligent guidance will bring about a narrowing of the gap between grades and also between the end of the public school work and the college or other higher schools and even life itself.

Mr. Edward Richards, member of the Board of Education, brought greetings on behalf of the Board.

Doctor P. M. Harbold, of Franklin and Marshall College, in his address, "Vision in Teaching," spoke of the great necessity of every teacher having a foundational philosophy of education and procedure therein, which is at all times kept up to date. "It is a relatively easy thing," said Doctor Harbold, "for a school to be a generation behind the time in the use of the best methods of instruction and the most constructive ways of doing the work of the modern school." Mr. John Shilling, in his address on the "Relation of the Elementary and the High School," emphasized the need of well established units of work with proper standards of achievements in every subject and every grade.

Channing Wagner, Principal of the Wilmington School and President of the Delaware State Teachers' Association, extended greetings on behalf of the Wilmington and the Delaware Teachers' Association.

Professor W. A. Wilkinson, Professor of Education, University of Delaware, in speaking on Opportunities for Growth in Public School Service, emphasized the fact that there is a great difference between having ideas about and having skill in doing things.

"Safety Education," its place and function in the work of the public school was presented by Walter Dent Smith, Manager of the Delaware Safety Council and also by Miss Isabelle Stevenson, of the National Safety Council.

The school cafeteria is open daily from 11:20 to 1:00. Meals served to faculty and pupils at cost of maintenance. Mrs. Mamie Perry and Mrs. Lillian Maxwell are operating the cafeteria. Miss Hannah Lindell is secretary and treasurer of the Newark School Cafeteria.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

An enjoyable surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. Daniel E. Rutter, at her home on Elkton road, Saturday evening, September 8. The evening was spent in playing games, singing and dancing, after which refreshments were served. Among those present were Mrs. Daniel E. Rutter, Daniel H. and Nan Rutter, Mr. and Mrs. Price Jackson and daughters, Edith and Charlotte; Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Rutter and children of Media, Pa.; Mrs. Poole Fossett and son Leonard of Media; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Gregg and children of Kennett Square; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rutter of Elk Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wivel, Mr. Edwin Shakespeare; Mr. John Ochs of Oxford, Pa.; Mr. Vernon Jackson and Ellis Todd of Elk Mills; Miss Dorothy Bryson, Miss Caroline Clay and Mr. Thomas McDaniel of Elkton.

Largest Motor Show Will Bring New and Bigger Spectacles; Mile-Long Parade

Pre-war prices prevail at this modern traveling tented city. Modern economical means and many years experience of operation in all branches of the circus field has brought about this marvelous accomplishment.

Big three-ring circus, with steel arena and raised stage and immense big top is gaining popularity at every stand.

With the thought in mind that if you make the best pair of shoes and sell them at the right price the populace will beat a path to your door, the Downie Bros., pioneers of motorized and railway circuses, have at last struck the right cord. For the populace have been beating a path to their door and their popular circus is in great demand.

Praised by press and public in almost flattering manner, this unique presentation will show here this Friday. Transporting a large circus on motors is no little problem and it requires 75 mighty motor trucks to move this gigantic enterprise. Under one big top is presented the 50 great acts that have received unusual press mention to say the least. Trained wild animals of every type in the animal kingdom, lions, pumas, leopards, tigers, bears, monkeys, all give a very creditable demonstration of what power man has over beast. A herd of all sizes of elephants, including the famous New York Hippodrome star Teddy, and Bable, the smallest performing elephant in the world.

An array of high calibre foreign and domestic acts make up the human part of the program, including the famous Morales family, Mexican wire and aerial artists supreme, Gene and Mary Enos, the King and Queen of High Perch pole performers, trapeze performers, acrobats, hand and foot balancers, clever riding ladies, beautifully robed, the daring ladies of the air, the iron jaw performers, Princess Harris in beautiful ballad numbers and Downie Bros. concert band.

The always pleasing clowns, 25 of them in all, and each one an artist in chasing away the blues.

The mile long street parade is positively the most novel and unique in the circus world, all motorized and save for the ring stock horses, this parade is of the iron horse variety. It is staged every day rain or shine, promptly at noon, and is well worth going miles to see.

WEDDINGS

BARTON-DIGGS

Last Wednesday, in Hampton, Virginia, Miss Dorothy Lee Diggs, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Diggs, of Hampton, became the bride of Paul Barton, of Detroit, Michigan. The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. C. Reed, of Blackstone, assisted by Dr. J. D. McAllister, of the First Methodist Church, of Hampton. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Struve, of Sioux City, Iowa, and the two groomsmen were Walter Sneed and Everett Barton, of Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Barton has for the past two years been in charge of the infirmary of the Women's College, University of Delaware. She had attended Blackstone College, Duke University, and was a graduate of the Johns Hopkins Training School for Nurses. The Bartons will make their home in Detroit.

Among those who attended the wedding were Miss Rena Allen and Miss Beatrice Hartshorn, of the University of Delaware faculty. Miss Hartshorn played the violin during the ceremony.

JR. O. U. A. M.

The fall activity of American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., started last Monday evening. New members were obligated. Several prospects are in view. It is urged for a full attendance next Monday evening, as several important measures will be acted on. The "kitty" will be opened by Bro. Norton. Some treat in store for all.

Next Tuesday evening, September 18, the Council will visit Canterbury Council. We hope to take at least 25 on this trip.

The new Buick is the new Style

More than handsome . . . more than luxurious . . . a wonderful new type of motor car beauty . . . a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be limited, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much costlier cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads! $1,500,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the gracefully curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick eclipses other cars. The velvet mohair upholstery in the closed models—the hardware and fittings—the many appointments of luxury and convenience—are all of the richest quality; and the bracing of the bodies, which imparts strength and durability and freedom from squeaks and rattles, is the most efficient and effective known to motor car practice.

In dashing beauty—as in fleet, powerful performance—the world holds no equal for the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher.

It is more than handsome, more than luxurious—it marks a thrilling turning point in body design. And the motoring public, buying in such tremendous volume as to force the great Buick factories to work day and night to supply the demand, is elevating it to the prominence of a vogue!

Newark Football Team Opens Season Oct. 19

The Newark High School football team will open its season October 19, against du Pont, according to the D. I. A. A. football schedule, announced yesterday, by Major P. S. Prince, field agent for the D. I. A. A. The State is divided into two sections for football, North and South. The teams in the northern section are: Newark, du Pont and Dover. The finals will be played at Dover, November 29.

The schedule for the northern section is as follows:

Northern Section

October 12—Dover at du Pont.
October 19—du Pont at Newark.
October 26—Newark at du Pont.
November 2—Dover at Newark.
November 9—du Pont at Dover.
November 16—Newark at Dover.
November 29—Finals—Dover.

The soccer schedule was also announced and Newark will open September 28 against Claymont. The State is divided into three divisions for soccer. The schedule for Division A, which includes Newark, is as follows:

Division A

Sept. 28—Newark at Claymont.
Oct. 6—Claymont at Delaware City.
Oct. 13—Delaware City at Newark.
Oct. 20—Newark at Delaware City.
Oct. 27—Delaware City at Claymont.
Nov. 3—Claymont at Newark.
Nov. 10—Semi Finals—Division B vs.

Division C

Nov. 17—Finals.

SUSQUEHANNA SERIES

The final series for the Susquehanna League pennant will open at Elk Mills, Saturday, at 3.30, between Elk Mills, winners of the first half of the race, and Rising Sun, winners of the second half.

The Continental Band of Newark will furnish music. Brockman and Spille will call balls, strikes, fouls, and decisions on the bases.

"THE PATSY"

"How to attract men" in eight reels might be the title of the Marion Davies new picture, "The Patsy," to be presented at the Newark Opera House, next Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Davies plays the role of a bashful, self-conscious girl who tries desperately to attract the man of her choice. This man, incidentally, gives her and the audience who view the picture some good tips as to best manner of attracting his species.

Here is his advice: First get personality—no man ever loved a woman who didn't stand out from the mob; second, flatter 'em, all men love flattery and have done so ever since Adam let Eve tell him what a big, strong man he was to be able to bite an apple; third, at the proper time be indifferent—no man wants what is easy to get.

With these three rules and additional flavor of a little jealousy, any girl can win any man she wants—and Marion Davies proves it in "The Patsy."

King Vidor of "The Big Parade" fame directed with a cast including Marie Dressler, Orville Caldwell, Jane Winton and Lawrence Gray. It is a delightful comedy-drama, based on the famous stage play, and affords Miss Davies one of her most entertaining roles.

ELKTON BEATS NEWARK. TIES FOR LEAGUE LEAD

Chalmers Slips in 7th and Lets In 6 Runs; Elkton and North East to Decide Tri-County Tie This Week

Banging Chalmers for 6 runs in the seventh inning, Elkton sunk Newark, 6 to 1, in a Tri-County League game played Saturday. Up to that point Arrants and Chalmers had been staging a real pitcher's duel with Chalmers having a little the edge as Newark got over a run in the sixth. After his slip in the stretch inning, Chalmers tightened up again and allowed no runs for the rest of the game. However, Arrants kept Newark equally scoreless in the last two frames.

The Tri-County lead is now tied between Elkton and North East. These two teams will decide the issue sometime this week, and the fuss ought to be worth the price of admission.

FOOTBALL MEETING

There will be a meeting tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock, standard time, open to everyone interested in a town football team. The meeting will be called in the rooms of the Newark Sporting Club, over Wollaston's store.

"RIDERS OF THE DARK"

For the third time during the last twelve months Roy D'Arcy, one of the most popular villains on the screen, will be seen as the nemesis of Tim McCoy in one of the latter's Western film productions.

In "Riders of the Dark," which comes to the Newark Opera House Saturday, D'Arcy will be seen as Mike Eagan, leader of a gang of outlaws infesting a California frontier town in the seventies.

D'Arcy first matched his villainous wit against McCoy's film valor in "Winners of the Wilderness." In this picture he played the role of the French officer responsible for the slaughter of British and Colonialists at Braddock's Defeat.

Later he played the role of the foreign envoy backing the Californians in an uprising against the Americans during the conquest of California. This was in "California."

In "Riders of the Dark" he is a gambler and leader of a band of outlaws in a little frontier town, terrorizing peaceful citizens and responsible for the murder of an editor who exposed his villainies.

Though he has been on the screen less than two years, Tim McCoy's daring horsemanship and histrionic talent have won him hundreds of thousands of picture fans. He is a real Westerner, owner and operator of a big ranch in Wyoming and former adjutant general of that state. During the World War he left the ranch to join the colors and soon became a major of cavalry. He is now a lieutenant colonel of cavalry in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

"Riders of the Dark" was written by W. S. Van Dyke and directed by Nick Grinde. Dorothy Dwan, Roy D'Arcy, Bert Roach, Frank Currier, Rex Lease, Dick Sutherland and others are in the cast.

Between pity toward beasts and goodness of soul there is a very close connection. One might say, without hesitation, when an individual is wicked in regard to them, that he cannot be a good man. One might also demonstrate that this pity and the social virtues have the same source.—Schopenhauer.

STRAIGHT EIGHT POWER

More power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other stock car motor on the market. Here is power in abundance for every requirement, and always tremendous surplus in reserve. No straining of the motor. No overtaxing that causes depreciation. Easily up hills in high without effort. All day long, day after day at 50, and 60 miles an hour or more as easily as ordinary cars can negotiate 30 miles an hour. Power that only a straight eight motor can give because of the continuous overlapping of the power impulses. Dual carburetors and dual manifolding, with special head and port design enable Auburn to pack a greater charge of gases into the cylinders. It is the equivalent of a super-charged motor. And no cylinder starved, all are equally efficient. Auburn gives you this supremely superior Straight Eight motor in a closed car for $1695.

STRAIGHT EIGHT SMOOTHNESS

No other type of car affords the smoothness and flexibility that the Straight Eight gives. This is not an idle boast but a fact amply proven not only by exhaustive engineering experiments but also by the experience of thousands of motor car owners. To appreciate the vast difference in performance all one has to do is to DRIVE this Straight Eight. The power FLOWS, there is no other adequate description. Constant gear shifting not necessary. Jerks are absent. You are transported with an amazingly EVEN motion, that robs driving of its customary effort, relieves you mentally and physically, and leaves you untired after drives that would ordinarily fatigue you. Auburn gives you this extreme height of Straight Eight smoothness and flexibility in a closed car for $1695.

STRAIGHT EIGHT ENDURANCE

This Straight Eight Motor will not only out-perform, but also out-endure. Bohnalite steel strut pistons and Lynite rods give maximum efficiency with minimum weight and greatly reduced pressure on bearings, therefore longer wear. This motor stands up and retains its peak of efficiency indefinitely. It is cradled on special shimmy-proof supports in the strongest frame ever put under an automobile, seven inches deep and three inches wide. Then this frame is double armored-plated half way back to increase its rigidity. The radiator remains steady at all speeds. With long wheelbase, 125 inches, low center of gravity, absence of top heaviness and sideways and four hydraulic shock absorbers, this car's steadiness, roadability and ease of handling is nothing short of a genuine revelation. Big, roomy, powerful with chassis and body of super-strength and extra reinforcements at every vital part, this car is so ruggedly built that its service is free from ordinary annoyances and its life infinitely longer. And you get this endurance in a Straight Eight Auburn closed car for $1695.

STRAIGHT EIGHT VALUE

Experienced motorists who have long since lost patience with the commonplace and demand the very last word in efficiency and the utmost in performance and durability, are of one mind about the value of the Straight Eight. Their only question is: "What Straight Eight to buy?" Daily an increasing number of well informed buyers are turning to this Auburn 88. Not only because of its superior motor, not only because of its unequalled records for speed, and stamina, not only because it is a long wheelbase, large, roomy car of LOW construction, but also because in EVERY feature and detail it is par excellence. Four wheel hydraulic internal expanding brakes with compensating cylinder; Brewster non-glare windshield; steel running boards; finest mohair upholstery, with de luxe springs and genuine curled hair; metal roof quarters; Bijur chassis lubricating system where one pressure of the foot completely oils 21 places on the chassis; the seating angle is most comfortable; plenty of head and leg room, no cramping; starter button on the dash; door frames and door sides metal covered; everything for control at your finger tips. The more you analyze the outstanding value of this 88 Sedan the more you wonder HOW Auburn can sell it for $1695. Why, the better grade Sixes sell for that much and more. You may think this value is too good to be true, but it IS true, come and see for yourself.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

AS TOLD BY OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Christiana

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church will be held this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. McCoy. Mr. McCoy and Mr. Edward West will act as hosts.

The interior of the Presbyterian Church is being repaired and repainted. This is one of the very old churches in this vicinity, but is remarkably well preserved.

A meeting was held at the Methodist church Monday evening, with a view to forming a local branch of the Red Reserves. A number of girls were present, and all were very enthusiastic over the project.

School is in full swing once more, with both rooms filled almost to capacity. Several new pupils have come in from other districts, and there is also an unusually large class of beginners. The community was glad to see last year's teachers, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Kennard, who did so much for the school, back in their places once more.

Christiana is well represented in the Freshman class at Newark High School. The following pupils are enrolled this year: Ellen and Esther Lumsden, Helen Elliott, Elizabeth and Sara Moore, Alfreda Novak, Rachel Phillips, Ida Ramsey and Edward Howell. Lois Phelps and Margaretta Thayer are juniors, but there are no sophomores nor seniors from here this year.

More new books have lately been brought to our little library. It certainly continues in favor with old and young, and its popularity is sure to increase as cold weather with its long evenings comes on.

Miss Florence M. Appleby and Miss Marion Phelps are spending a week in the Poconos.

Mrs. Clara Cranston and children, Charles and Florence, of Newark, were guests of Mrs. Cranston's sister, Mrs. Harvey Maclary, for several days last week.

Miss Mary Titter of Brandywine Hundred visited her sister, Mrs. Jas. Appleby, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eastburn and son Warren motored to Conowingo on Sunday. They were bumped by another car on the road, but no one was injured, and only slight damage was done to their car.

Miss Ruth Phelps is spending several days with Miss Dorothea Rothwell at her home near Harmony. Both these young ladies are planning to enter the Women's College this fall.

Mr. Robert Sapp has almost entirely recovered from severe injuries sustained when he fell from an apple tree, and is able to be about as usual once more.

Joseph and Louise, children of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moore, have been ill with mumps, but are now very much improved.

Miss Kate Darlington, who for some time has been ill at the home of her niece, Mrs. Lee Murray, near White Clay Creek Church, is still confined to the house.

Mr. William Short, formerly a resident of this place, and before that living at State Road, is taking a course of treatment at Brandywine Sanitarium. Mr. Short, who now lives at Porter, has not been well for some time, but has only recently entered the sanitarium. Mrs. Short is teaching at the Kirkwood school.

Elkton and Neighboring Towns

Howard E. Ash, of Trainer, Pa., was an Elkton visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. H. Frank Witworth and Mrs. H. Winfield Lewis, of Elkton, are spending the week at Atlantic City.

Miss Annie M. Simmons, a graduate of Maryland State Normal School, after spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Simmons, Elkton, Md., has accepted a position as a teacher in Baltimore.

Friends of Rev. J. P. Otis in this community are glad to learn that he is slowly recovering from his recent illness of a few weeks and has been removed from the Delaware Hospital to his home on Washington street, Wilmington.

Mrs. Harry T. Alexander spent the week-end in Trenton, New Jersey.

Miss Evelyn Sparklin, of Elkton, accompanied Sergeant and Mrs. D. R. Perkins to Frederick, Maryland, on Monday, where she will spend the week.

Dr. and Mrs. Vernon McKnight are on a motor trip through New York State.

The North East Firemen's Carnival closed after running two weeks. Owing to bad weather the receipts were below that of last year—$9,480. The most interesting feature of the last three nights was the balloon ascension and parachute stunts by Milton Johnson, balloonist, who performed at the American Legion carnival recently in Wilmington. The closing night the Marmon car was awarded to Mrs. May Creitchley, of Staten Island, N. Y.; Spanton radio to Charles Rothermel, of North East; floor lamp to Miss Virginia Shepherd, of North East.

Elkton and North East Fire Companies went to Chestertown Tuesday night and participated in the firemen's parade in connection with the carnival being held this week.

Joseph H. Sloan, of Elkton, who is national representative from Maryland, left Saturday evening for Richmond, Va., to attend the Great Council of the United States, Improved Order of Red Men. He was accompanied by Mrs. Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Dunbar.

Among couples motoring to Bel Air court house for marriage licenses last week were Granville I. Harris, of Calvert, and Mildred A. Keetley, of Calvert, and H. Lee Kennedy and Nellie Arthur, both of Rising Sun.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED NEAR BACON HILL

As a result of injuries received when he was thrown from his motorcycle Monday night, Steven Taylor, 21 years old, of Elkton, died in the Union Hospital early Tuesday morning. It is believed that Taylor lost control of his motorcycle, which was traveling at a fast rate of speed, it is estimated, when he attempted to turn the corner at Main and Bridge streets, Elkton. As far as could be ascertained there were no witnesses to the accident.

Taylor was found unconscious in the center of the concrete street. His skull was fractured. His motorcycle was some distance away. The injured man was picked up by some unknown persons who took him to a nearby store and summoned help from the hospital. He died without regaining consciousness.

The young man is survived by his father and mother. He was employed as a repairman at the Midway Service Station, near Elkton. The Taylors moved to Elkton about a year ago.

Miss Gertrude A. Smith, daughter of Mary A. and the late former Sheriff and Postmaster William J. Smith of Elkton, died Sunday afternoon at her home in Elkton, after a brief illness of the flu. Miss Smith, for years a teacher in the schools of Cecil county, had spent the summer taking a special course in Boston, and had only returned to her home a week ago, when she was stricken. Deceased is survived by her mother, two sisters, Mrs. Estelle Kepler, wife of Irvin T. Kepler of Elkton, and Mrs. Mary James, wife of Roy James of Havre de Grace, and a brother, Major Julian C. Smith, of the United States Marine Corps, now stationed at Camp Perry, Ohio. Her funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from her late home in Elkton, with interment in Elkton cemetery.

Two men and two women en route Sunday from Washington to Philadelphia, met with a painful accident when their car struck an abutment near Harrisville. All four were more or less seriously hurt and were taken to Union Hospital, Elkton, for treatment. After their injuries were attended to they left for their homes by train. Their car was left along the side, a total wreck.

A committee of Red Men from Newark, Del., paid a fraternal visit to Shawnah Tribe, at North East, and presented it with a beautiful silver loving cup, as a prize for the best appearance in the parade recently held in conjunction with the Newark Red Men's carnival.

The new concrete road from Calvert to Zion has been completed by the contractors and open for traffic. Only about two miles of dirt road now remains to be improved from North East to the Conowingo dam, which it is said, will be built next year.

David Roache, chief of the guards at Perry Point, who has been seriously ill for the past ten days, has been removed to the Havre de Grace Hospital for treatment.

Former Sheriff George C. Biddle has sold his home in Elkton to F. Willard Crothers, of Calvert, Md., who will remove to Elkton and engage in the insurance business.

Miss Margaret Gatchell, well known trained nurse of Elkton, underwent an operation Friday last at the Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore, for kidney trouble. Her condition while still serious is said to show improvement.

Henry H. Hindman, for the past several years engaged in the butchering business at Rising Sun, died at his home after several months illness. Deceased was 29 years of age and leaves a widow and his parents to mourn his loss.

ELKTON MAN FOUND DEAD BY BROTHERS

George White, age 53 years, son of former Sheriff Clinton J. White, of Elkton, was found dead Sunday night in a shack on Water street, where he had made his home for several years. Brothers of the dead man, Charles and Emmett White, having been informed that the man was missing from his usual haunts, went to the shack, where they found the body lying face downward on the floor of the cabin. There was nothing to indicate that the man died from other than natural causes.

Besides the two brothers, deceased is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Charles Rudolph, and Miss Bertha White, of Wilmington, and Mrs. Charles G. Wells, of Elkton.

Coroner Green was notified, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

ELKTON D. A. R. START FALL MEETINGS

The Captain Jeremiah Baker Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, resumed their meetings for the fall and winter on Saturday, September 8. Mrs. Edmund Crothers, of Elkton, entertained the chapter.

Reports of officers were read and work for the winter outlined. An invitation was read from the State Regent, Mrs. Robert A. Welsh, of Millersville, Md., to officers and chapter members to be her guests on Tuesday, September 18, at Indian Point, Md. The Baltimore Society of the Daughters of 1812 also extended an invitation for a reception and dinner Wednesday evening, to commemorate the anniversary of the Battle of North Point.

John Perkins, of Elkton, has presented the Chapter with two spinning wheels, pieces of antique furniture, Colonial cooking utensils and other relics, which were accepted with a vote of thanks.

"For Sale--One 1908 Car"

An ad like that would get a few laughs, and that's about all. A 1908 car wouldn't look so good parked in front of your home.

But how about your Heating Equipment? Are you still struggling along with methods that were introduced 20 years ago? Things have changed since 1908. Today you needn't crank a car—and you needn't shovel coal or lug out the ashes.

It won't cost you a cent to find out about the "Oil-O-Matic." That's our name for 1928 Model Heating.

NEGRO ATTACKER OF WHITE WOMAN ADMITS GUILT

that Spencer Taylor came to her rescue. She said that Jones fired a gun at Taylor, but that she could not tell how many times. She said it was too dark to get an accurate description of the man's features, but described his voice, his dress and general appearance. She exhibited severe bruises on her throat and wrist, and a gash on her left knee.

Spencer Taylor told of hearing the screams, and as he ran towards them, of a man shooting at him and then running. He said he could not tell whether he fired more than one shot. Other witnesses told of seeing Jones coming down the road, shortly after the attack occurred, and of hearing two shots fired. These witnesses were all colored. They said that Jones wore a dark shirt and a slouch hat.

When Jones was arrested for the second time he was very calm and gave every outward appearance of innocence. He stated that he had worn a white shirt all day Sunday and Sunday evening, and that he had not been above the icehouse on New London Road. He said that he could produce witnesses to prove that he was sitting on the porch of a house on New London avenue when the attack took place. However, as the testimony of reliable witnesses was positive to having seen Jones above the icehouse and wearing a dark shirt, he was detained for questioning. He still maintained that he was innocent after Mrs. Wilmer had identified him as the guilty man, but became very nervous after she had pointed him out. Later in the afternoon when Wideman and State Highway Officer Carpenter were checking and rechecking his story, he suddenly declared that he was guilty and wanted to confess. He was taken to Magistrate Thompson's office where he made a statement, which he signed and swore to. He admitted grabbing Mrs. Wilmer and scratching her throat, but absolutely denied threatening her and throwing her down. He also denied having a gun or shooting at anyone. He said that he was staggering drunk and did not know what he was doing, and that he ran as soon as Mrs. Wilmer screamed. As soon as he had made his confession he was taken to the Workhouse, where he will be held for Superior Court.

Both Spencer Taylor and Constable Wideman deserve particular credit for their respective parts in the affair. Taylor is to be commended for his courage in charging, unarmed, at a man who was firing a pistol at him. Wideman can be congratulated for his persistency and tenacity in collecting evidence from the various sources, and then quickly bringing it to bear on the man suspected.

Jones is well known in Newark, where he has lived for a number of years. He has always been considered an excellent worker and a rather high type of colored man. However, he has a reputation of being wild when intoxicated, and on several occasions he has threatened people with a gun. Some years ago he was accused of shooting another negro.

With this idea in mind, we invite you to purchase Delaware fruit. Official attractive way by reliable growers. Shipping Point Inspection is provided. In addition to this, and in order to help the apple industry in this State, and to create confidence among buyers and consumers, we have a law which is rigidly enforced, requiring that all closed packages of apples sold or offered for sale, shipped or consigned, must be marked or branded in letters not less than one-half inch in height, with the owner's name and address, the true variety, the minimum size or range or sizes, and the grade.

"The crop of Delaware Late Apples this year is slightly larger than last year, but not heavy. The fruit has been properly taken care of, and the quality and condition this year should be excellent. The principal varieties are: Stayman Winesap, Roman Beauty, Delicious, Grimes Golden, York Imperial, Nero, Paragon, Jonathan, Starks, Ben Davis, and Gano. Some varieties are being harvested now, principally for export. Real shipment will begin about September 15.

"Delaware fruit is carefully inspected, and Delaware growers 'ship what they sell, and sell what they ship.' It is not our business to sell. However, it is our duty to assist in the marketing of all Delaware products; and if you are not already handling apples from Delaware, I would be glad to put you in connection with reliable growers and shippers in this State.

"Yours very truly,
Bureau of Markets,
W. T. Derickson, Director."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation and thanks to friends, relatives and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy, their help and the many beautiful floral offerings at the time of our recent bereavement.

DELAWARE CLUB TEAM TRAINS FOR NATIONAL

Four Boys Selected to Compete in National Cattle Judging Contest at Memphis

On Monday the final State 4-H Club Dairy Judging Elimination Contest was held at several of the leading dairy farms. The purpose of this contest was to select the best 4-H Dairy Cattle Judges to represent the state at the National Dairy Exposition at Memphis, Tennessee in October.

Each county had selected a team to enter this contest, so that the best team could be chosen to represent Delaware at the Exposition.

The Dairy Club members who participated in the contest were: Marvin Klair, Harry Stapleton, Robert Denison, and Paul Hitchens, New Castle County; Charles Sigler, John Keller, Leonard Sapp, Lyndon Caulk and Francis Dill, Kent County; Allison Davis, Claudell Cannon, and Thomas Willin, Sussex County.

The contest was in charge of T. A. Baker, Professor of Animal Husbandry, University of Delaware, and G. M. Worrlow, County Club Agent for New Castle County. The results of the contest as made known today by Professor Baker were as follows: Marvin Klair, New Castle County, first; Paul Hitchens, New Castle County, second; Allison Davis, Sussex County, third; and Lyndon Caulk, Kent County, fourth.

These four boys made the highest scores in judging all four of the dairy breeds.

During the next few weeks members of the team will be given special training in dairy judging and expect to make a creditable showing for Delaware at Memphis.

The trip for these boys will be financed by funds furnished by organizations and individuals of the state interested in the dairy industry, and 4-H Dairy Club Work, and a number of persons have already pledged money for this purpose.
