Residents Of West Chestnut Hill Road Request Council For Annexation After Protesting Against Such Action; Legality Of Six-District Bill To Be Checked by Tybout

The City of Newark gained 3.5 acres with the annexation of nine lots contiguous to the previous city boundary on the south side of West Chestnut Hill Road as Newark City Council unanimously approved the governing ordinance at a second and final reading last Tuesday night. Residents of the area who had presented a petition to council protesting annexation last February, withdrew such protest with another petition.

Three Concerts Scheduled For Salesianum School

Mrs. James L. Anderson, regional chairman for the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra Youth Concerts, announces to young music lovers and their parents that, again this year, a series of three concerts will be given in Salesianum School, Wilmington, on Nov. 5, Jan. 21, and March 18.

Tickets will be available at Newark schools during the first week in October.

It is felt that these concerts offer an opportunity for musical enrichment, especially for young people who have not had the experience of "live" orchestra presentations.

For more information, call Mrs. Anderson.

Students who plan to enter medical school next September are welcome to contact the society at 1925 Lovering Avenue, Wilmington.

Accidents Top Death Toll For School-Age Children

Accidents are the leading cause of death to school-age children, the Delaware Safety Council pointed out yesterday in a back-to-school-time review of the facts on accidents involving youngsters.

J. H. Tyler McConnell, president of the council, asked Delawareans to consider that more than 2,700 children were killed last year in the nation in accidents involving motor vehicles, and 1,200 of those were pedestrians, while 150,000 children in the 5-14 age group are injured each year in motor vehicle mishaps.

"Parents," McConnell said, "should teach their children to stop, look and listen before crossing streets or railroad tracks. It's not old-fashioned to be safe. Parents should also set a proper example. Don't expect a child to obey a rule you violate."

EMPLOY THE HANDICAPPED!

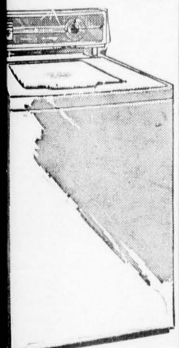

The State of Delaware, with the governor's committee on the employment of the handicapped, cooperating with state and federal agencies, has made tremendous progress in training handicapped persons and placing them in useful and productive employment; even so, there is still much to be done so that we can utilize to the fullest degree, the latent skills of all our people," said Gov. Hoffman's Yellowjackets Lose To Conrad In Storybook Finish On 70-Yd. TD Pass

Coach Bob Hoffman's Blue Hen Conference Champions Yellowjackets face the Dynabots at P. S. du Pont this Saturday at 2 p.m. as the Yellowjackets' opener to Conrad at Woodcrest in the final 16 seconds of play last Saturday afternoon, 38-33. Redskin sophomore halfback Ernie Anderson, who romped for five Conrad touchdowns during the course of the afternoon, was on the receiving end of a 70-yard scoring pass from Quarterback Bill Taylor as the final seconds ticked off, and the Yellowjackets lost in an unbelievable storybook finish.

Trailing Conrad in a 31-27 count with three minutes remaining, Newark took a 33-31 lead for what seemed certain victory when Yellowjacket Quarterback Mike Sinclair fired a touchdown pass to End Arnie Saunders at the Conrad 20.

Conrad scored in four plays after taking the opening kick-off as Taylor passed 33 yards to halfback Ed Simpkins in the end zone after Anderson had ripped off 20 yards around end.

Newark took the lead on the first play of the second quarter when Halfback Joe Hughes skirted left end for a 43-yard score, and Arnie Saunders kicked the extra point. An intercepted pass by linebacker Mike Drendall on the 41 set up the Yellowjackets' second TD.

Mike Sinclair completed the first of five passes, a 35-yard strike to End Walt Jones, and Saunders' kick was good.

Redskin Dave Lemmon pounced on a Newark fumble at midfield and Conrad's second scoring drive was underway. Taylor pitched twice to Lee Walls, and Anderson scored on an off-tackle slant from the 15 with five minutes remaining in the half. The extra point attempt failed and Newark led 14-12.

Both teams scored again before the half ended.

Sinclair connected with Saunders for a 44-yard pass play to the Redskin 15, and Hughes bulled over two plays later. Saunders again kicked the point.

And then Taylor threw a strike to Anderson for a 70-yard Conrad touchdown.

The Redskins took advantage of a blocked kick and recovered the fumble to strike twice in the opening minutes of the third quarter. Anderson scored his third touchdown on a 26-yard pass and tallied again on a 34-yard run to give him a 31-21 advantage.

Newark's attack started to roll from mid-field late in the quarter as Sinclair threw to Saunders, who made his way to the Conrad 15. Ted Atkinson went over four plays later from the five. Yellowjackets playing in the opener include: Arnie Saunders, Walt Jones, James Smith, and Jim Nickler, ends; Martin Clancy, Gerald Godbey, James Hayman, and Joe Reinhardt, tackles; Mike Drendall, Tom Hannagan, Ken Williamson, and Don Connell, guards; Marty Whiteman and Don Bailey, centers; Mike Sinclair and Mike Kubicek, quarterbacks; Ted Atkinson, Joe Hughes, George McCaulley, Jimmy Word, and Gibby Young, Jr., halfbacks; and Lee Hackney and Ken Williamson, fullbacks.

Starting halfback Joe Hughes has been ill with the flu this week, and is a doubtful starter for this coming Saturday. McCaulley is slated to start if Hughes is unable to play. Hoffman said last night.

"Haven't been able to catch any fatback," lamented McCarty, the pleasant, proprietor, Mack's bait and tackle store at Dewey Beach, said last Saturday morning, and this surprising for September announcement pretty well dashed some high hope for bluefish in the Delaware surf.

Fatback or mullet migrating southward close inshore during the fall provide the Delaware surfman with the best of his sport, as the migrant mullet multitudes draw a ravenous following of bluefish and trout, along with occasional channel bass and stripers. But Hurricane Esther may have fouled things up with some marine disturbance to replace the normally warm September surf with what was some very cold ocean water, and the mullet with their entourage of game fish may have stayed with the warm current. At any rate, there was no mullet in evidence in the surf last Saturday and little else, either.

With Chesapeake Bay Buck and three small boy companions in John Dollins, Harry Hoghead, and Billy, we picked up some small, fresh menhaden from Mack in lieu of fatback, and trudged through the sand and over the dunes at the old Army firing installation near the steel tower south of Rehoboth to see the blue, blue Atlantic Ocean shimmering into the hazy horizon, flat and calm with a very lazy surf rumbling from an ebbing tide onto the sand beach.

Lonely Beach One surf fisherman was dozing on a camp stool some several hundred yards to the south of us, while to the north the beach was untenanted for miles to where a few bathers clustered from the nearly deserted tent city at Keybox Road. The three boys romped off down the sand in some beachcombing for whatever the recent storm may have cast ashore, and with old Buck at our feet in his 12th year as a surfman's constant companion, we splashed that first cast of a pyramid sinker, bottom hook, and orange float top hook baited with filleted menhaden, far out in the calm ocean. And almost immediately there came a light, quick, rat-tat-tat strike, and the first fish of the day was missed. It felt like a small blue surfer, and from subsequent developments, it was probably the latter.

The next cast produced even less—the bait disappeared without a strike—and we set the hook into something heavy and sluggish after a surging strike on the third cast as the boys came back dragging a bag of sea shells. All shared in the excitement of the straining Calcutta until a flat, flapping skate was drawn splashing from the foaming fingers of the sea—and no skate ever had things better. Before a tender-hearted juvenile audience, the skate was carefully unhooked and restored unharmed to the ocean.

Young John Scores Rigging up two more rods, we fished on with Harry Hoghead and John Dollins as flankers, and young John stole the show. He caught two husky sand perch, and three big skates while his two companions failed to beach a fish. But Harry fished happily, hopefully on.

Those sand perch are tough to hook, too. As Paul Boswell said admiringly of Bill Durham's finesse in catching these silvered, yellow-tailed, croaking perch in an all-night stand some years ago off the Coast Guard Station just north of the Indian River Inlet, "You have to be quick!"

Thirteen-year-old Billy, who provides some real assistance in the casting department, was sidelined with a blister on the palm of his right hand—a blister further aggravated by a molten marshmallow in some attempted retrieving over a beach fire after a hot dog roast early in the afternoon. And the adult of the quartet was getting plenty of practice in three-fold casting in role as the shadows lengthened.

"How late are we going to stay, Dad?" Billy asked, and was told "until you boys get tired." Things didn't quite work out that way, though. If we'd waited for that eventuality, we may have been there yet.

The tide turned to flint great, beautiful, big blue breakers onto the beach in white, foaming thunder—a heavy surf that rose and crashed from an oily calm sea in a mighty ground swell probably produced by Esther to the north.

After catching one big sand perch, we experienced the one solid strike of the day with the last strip of menhaden, just as the sun was dropping behind the dunes and the ocean tide was foaming ideally over the high water mark on the beach. For a moment, we toyed with the idea of going back to Mack's for more bait. But only for a moment.

"Scotty" Duncan Cites Blue Chicks As Best In Years

Raymond B. (Scotty) Duncan, freshman football coach at the University of Delaware, is enthusiastic about his squad of first-year men. "This squad, I believe, is better than we've had in recent years," Duncan remarked. "These boys are as far along as the best group of freshmen we've ever had—they've come to play. This is the most exciting group in some time," Duncan declared.

Last season, the Blue Hen frosh had an undefeated record with a small squad, stopping formidable Rutgers and Temple units to cap the campaign. "We have a tremendous reputation to live up to," Duncan said.

Although 57 candidates were on hand for the first drill, Scotty can report that the squad is down to 40. "I'd say we'll end up with 28 on the freshman roster when the season finishes," he added.

Last year's frosh bested a 70-man Rutgers squad with just 28 performers.

Duncan is moving his players along slowly, scheduling short daily practice sessions to allow the youngsters time to adjust to college life. The newcomers have been taking part in scrimmages with the Blue Hen varsity in recent drills.

Prospects are good almost everywhere. "There is quickness and hardness in the line," Duncan said, "and although the linemen aren't particularly big, they're strong and fast—the best group of line candidates in some time."

"We don't have any backs with the speed of Mike Brown—but these boys, too, are as good as we've had before," Scotty said. The fleet Brown graduated from Duncan's command to a key halfback post on the varsity.

Three Delaware schoolboy standouts are represented on the team—Conrad High's All-State tackle Ron Bianco, who will play guard; All-State halfback Lloyd Wells, of Newark High School, currently on the disabled list with a leg injury; and Milford High's Jim Smack, a fullback who was selected on the All-State third team.

Bianco was picked as the Outstanding Lineman in August's Delaware All-Star High School Game, and Wells was very much in the running for outstanding player honors despite his injury late in the second quarter.

The freshman gridders will play a five-game schedule, opening at Lehigh on Oct. 7. They'll meet Lafayette at home on Oct. 20, travel to Bordentown on Oct. 27, and play home games with Bulls Prep on Nov. 4 and Temple on Nov. 10.

Martin Clancy, Joe Hughes Yellowjacket Co-Captains

Martin Clancy and Joe Hughes, veteran lettermen from last season's Blue Hen Conference champions, have been elected co-captains of the 1961 Newark Yellowjacket football team.

Clancy, at 190-lbs., is a tackle, and Hughes, 165, is a halfback.

Both boys are members of the senior class.

220 Boys Compete In Little League Football Program

The local Little League Football program has increased from 90 boys and 27 cheerleaders in its initial season last year, to include 220 boys and 50 cheerleaders in the current season after incorporation under Delaware law on Sept. 13, 1960.

This Sunday, at 1:15 p.m., the Green Ghosts play Stanton on the Kirkwood Highway field; and Central plays the VFW gridders at Brookside, while the Humming Birds are idle.

Last Sunday, the VFW seniors defeated the Humming Birds 20-0, and the junior Vets beat the junior 20-7; while the Green Ghosts seniors defeated Central 13-0, and the Central juniors stopped the junior Ghosts 21-0.

Teen teams are playing Little League Football in the area, with both junior and senior squads for Stanton, the Humming Birds, Green Ghosts, Central, and VFW.

Junior teams are made up of boys 10-12 playing six-minute quarters; and seniors, 13-4, playing eight-minute periods; with junior backs limited to 105-lbs., and seniors, 120, playing high school rules.

Stanton won the senior title last year with a 7-2 record, and the undefeated junior Humming Birds capped the championship with nine wins.

Jack Ferro is president of the league; Jack Hassman is vice-president; and Elwood Rigby, treasurer, with an 18-member board.

Dunn Rolls 552 In Classic For Undefeated Leaders

Frank Dunn rolled a 552; Mox Brown, 547; Jim Alphin, 545; and Frank Porter, a 543 as Wegman Brothers swept all three games from Calvert to continue in undefeated first place in the second week of play for the Newark Classic Bowling League last Thursday.

The second place Browns beat Adams 2-1, with Doc Dougherty's 534; Bill Bellman's 572; and Lou McCleary's 536.

Stimmel edged Eldred 2-1 despite Gene Brown's 563. The winners were paced by Jake Shew's 506 and Al Musser's 504.

Brookshier played 366½ minutes in 12 games in 1960.

5 Lettermen Boost Ciesinski's Squad For Cross Country

With five lettermen in a squad of 30 working out for the Yellowjacket cross-country team, Coach Ray Ciesinski faces an eight-meet schedule with real hope of improving Newark's third place finish in last year's Blue Hen Conference race.

Eddie Kremer, Joe Gaglia, Richard Hawthorne, Gerry Meyer, and Matt Cray are the returning lettermen.

Other leading candidates for varsity berths on the cross country team are Terry Crowe, Jonathan Owens, Bob Davies, Ronnie Brayman, Richard Chittenden, Bruce Jones, Richard Grayson, Lee Spady, Harlo Mahaney, Alan Whiteman, and Wayne Widdoes.

All cross country meets will be conducted at Rockford Park, Wilmington, with a 3:30 p.m. starting time.

The Yellowjackets open the season on Tuesday, Oct. 3, with Mt. Pleasant; run against Wilmington on Oct. 5; Conrad, Oct. 12; De La Warr, Oct. 16; P. S. duPont, Oct. 18; William Penn, Oct. 24; Dickinson, Oct. 26; and wind up the season against the undefeated champions of Brandywine on Oct. 31.

This is the third season for cross country competition initiated at Newark High School by Coach Ray Ciesinski.

Harley Williams, Don Ross To Ride In Sunday's Polo

Brandywine Polo Club near Kennett Square, Pa., has three more Sunday matches with the season finale on Oct. 15.

This Sunday's 3 p.m. match on the outdoor field pits Brandywine against Newark.

Starting Backfield On "Doubtful" As Hens Face Buffalo Here On Sat.

Fresh from a 14-6 opening victory over Lehigh, Coach Dave Nelson's University of Delaware gridders will have a tough assignment Saturday as they meet an undefeated Buffalo University squad at Newark at 2 p.m.

"The Bulls have a real good football team," says Nelson. The New Yorkers turned aside Gettysburg in an opening tune-up, and went on to trounce Boston University last Saturday. They're loaded with 19 returning lettermen and will bring a multiple offense to Delaware Stadium that's equipped with speed and power.

More experience and more depth add refinements to a Buffalo eleven that ended the '60 campaign with a 4-6 mark. The Bulls have been classified a major college squad for this season.

End Bill Selent and Guard Jack Hartman are the team's co-captains and both have proved themselves outstanding at their positions.

Sophomore quarterback John Stofa has looked good filling in for injured star Gene Guerrie, and backs Bob Baker and Jack Valente are constant threats.

Coach Dick Offenhamer's squad includes 19 sophomores, 22 juniors, and 11 seniors.

The Delaware gridders will meet their first-time opponents with a squad riddled by injuries to key performers.

A complete starting backfield is on the doubtful or "won't play" list, including Quarterback Gary Hebert, Halfbacks Karl Lorenz and Vic Niemi, and Fullback Tom Michaels.

Lorenz aggravated an old knee injury in the Lehigh game, and Hebert came up with another knee ailment in a punt-rushing effort.

Elementary Schools Of Newark Selected For Experimental Modern Math Program

The Newark special school district has been chosen to participate in an experimental modern mathematics program at the elementary school, and Grayson H. Wheatley, district coordinator of mathematics, reports that the program sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science will be concentrated at the fourth and fifth grade levels in the district's eight elementary schools.

According to Wheatley, the Newark district was chosen for the project because it has personnel to assist in training elementary teachers in modern mathematics, and because the elementary schools are organized on a partial departmentalized basis in grades five and six.

The program will provide materials prepared by the school mathematics study group at the elementary level.

Stevens Advises On Transplanting Perennial Plants

Many perennial plants that have strong clumping tendencies, will do better next year if they are divided and transplanted late this summer or early fall, says Robert F. Stevens, University of Delaware extension horticulturist.

Such plants include iris, peonies, June flowering chrysanthemums, lilies, and hardy spring flowering bulbs.

Stevens recommends transplanting at this time of year so the plants can start root development and produce some growth before freezing weather sets in.

After separating the plants, set them firmly into their new location at the same depth they were before, making sure the roots are well spread. Then firm, but do not pack the soil.

Water the plants with enough to moisten the soil to a depth of 6-8 inches. Using a light sun shade to protect the plants from intense sunlight after they have first been moved, may help them recover from the shock of transplanting, Stevens advises.

A bushel or peck basket placed over the tops of the plants makes an excellent sun shade.

Haenlein Research Reveals Lima Bean Silage Value

Dr. George F. W. Haenlein, department of animal and poultry science, has conducted research at the University of Delaware to find the value of lima bean silage and the best way to handle it.

Haenlein concludes that bean silage can be as much as 70 per cent of the actual feed value of corn if properly made.

The University of Delaware experiments were conducted two years. Dr. Haenlein found that in some cases, heifers actually preferred bean to corn silage.

No-Cook Method For Jam Advised By Janet Coblentz

Have you been using that old excuse "It's too warm to slave over a hot stove making jam." Well, ladies, you had better start thinking up a new one, according to Janet Coblentz, nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

You can now make jam by an easy, no-cook method. The only cooking required is boiling some water.

This no-cook method of making jam is easy, yet it retains the fresh fruit flavor better than the old evaporation method.

Miss Coblentz suggests selecting soft fruit, wash and force through a strainer. For every three cups of fruit, add five cups of sugar and let the mixture stand for 20 minutes, or until the sugar is dissolved.

Meanwhile, boil some water, allowing one cup for every three cups of fruit. Add one package of powdered pectin for every cup of water. Boil this mixture for exactly one minute. Then pour it into the sugar and fruit mixture, stir for two minutes and let stand for 48 hours before spooning into jars.

That's all there is to it, according to Miss Coblentz. But there is one word of caution. Uncooked jams have relatively low-sugar concentration and are not sterilized. This means they will spoil if stored at room temperature.

If kept in the refrigerator they will keep for about six weeks. You can also freeze them if you want to keep them for a longer period of time.

To further guard against spoilage, Miss Coblentz recommends putting a 1/8 inch layer of paraffin on top of the jam before storing. Make sure the jam is set before pouring the paraffin.

When a man is pushed, tormented, defeated, he has a chance to learn something.

Norma A. Thomas Dies In Hospital

Norma Adele Thomas, 47, of 295 East Main Street, Newark, died Saturday in the Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

The Rev. Dr. John J. Bunting, Jr., pastor of Newark Methodist Church, officiated at services. Friends called Monday evening at her home.

In lieu of flowers the family requests that contributions be made to the Cancer Society, 1925 Lovering Avenue, Wilmington.

Cancer Scientist Forest Funk Dies

Forest J. Funk, 70, bacteriologist at the Biochemical Research Foundation, Newark, died Saturday at Wilmington General Hospital after a heart attack. He lived at 2805 Faulkland Road.

Before joining the foundation, Mr. Funk had been associated with the Du Pont Company in biochemical research.

While working in the Stine Laboratory, Mr. Funk developed the idea that cancer cells originate by spontaneous mutation of normal body cells. When he retired, he went to the Biochemical Research Foundation to study whether spontaneous mutation itself could be slowed down or stopped.

Mr. Funk headed a team of scientists at the research foundation which include Geoffrey E. Plunkett and Samuel J. deCourcy, Jr., bacteriologists, and Dr. Francis E. Reinhart, organic chemist.
