U. D. OFFERS COURSE TO WAR VETS

Service Men And Women Are Given Extra Term Work

Veterans discharged too late to enter the fall term of the University of Delaware may enroll a special term starting today. It is announced they may take a limited number of "double time" courses while waiting for the regular semester to open Feb. 4.

Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, dean of men, said a number of applications for the special term are already on hand and a large enrollment is expected.

Those who have previously been enrolled at the University of Delaware, either as civilians or as military trainees, may simply apply for readmission without delay. Others will have to go through the regular process of showing high school records.

Dormitory housing will not be available for the veterans, Dean Daugherty said, but they will be able to find rooms here.

The program is also open to women veterans, Dean Daugherty said.

Courses to be offered in the special term are: American and European history, sociology, economics, elementary chemistry, freshman English and mathematics. Each veteran is expected to take two courses instead of the usual four or five, and to finish a semester's work in each of the courses he takes in the eight weeks of the term remaining.

The work will be put on an individual basis as far as possible, Dean Daugherty said.

Enrollment for the new term began yesterday at the office of the registrar in University Hall. Classes started today.

Veterans who are discharged after that date may attend classes as auditors, without paying tuition but receiving no college credit, it was pointed out.

Those who enroll in the special term will continue after Feb. 4 under the regular program of the university on a normal semester basis.

MORE SEATS TO BE BUILT BY DELAWARE PARK FOR '46

Full Program Of Improvements Are Contemplated By Stanton Trackmen

The first post-war improvements to Delaware Park will begin soon after the first of the coming year and will increase the seating capacity for racing fans for the beginning of the 1946 meeting on May 29, Bryan Field, vice president and general manager of the track, announced yesterday.

Mr. Field said a Wilmington firm of architects are working on plans for the additions and they will be complete about the end of this year. He added that the extent of the enlargement will depend on material and labor available when the job is ready to be started.

The additional seating capacity will be only the beginning of a long-range program contemplated by the Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association to improve the facilities at the Stanton track. Plans for the large-scale improvements call for work to continue after the 1946 meeting closes. Immediate plans call for the providing of more seats for the customers, Mr. Field pointed out, but later improvements will be made to the parking grounds.

"The racing strip at Delaware Park is acclaimed by horse racing authorities as the best in the country," Mr. Field said, "and no changes to the strip will be made".

Although the maintenance work goes on at the track every year, the new improvements will be the first undertaken since 1942.

DR. C. J. REES RETURNS TO U. OF D. AFTER ARMY DUTY

Mathematics Head Who Flew Around World Tells Of His Work In China

Dr. Carl J. Rees, head of the department of mathematics at the University of Delaware, who served on the staff of the Fourteenth Air Force in China during the war, has returned to his duties at the university.

As operations analyst with the Fourteenth Air Force, Dr. Rees was the only civilian to serve on the staff of General Chenault. When General Chenault was replaced by General Stone, Dr. Rees automatically became a member of General Stone's staff.

In China, Dr. Rees was invited to make addresses at five refugee universities. His talks were on mathematics. He said that although he would expect only a few students, the audiences would number 300 to 400 persons, and would be an attentive, alert and courteous group. The students and faculty demonstrated this interest in lectures in spite of the hardships under which they were working to carry on their university course in war-torn China. Each talk was followed by a discussion and a small reception attended by the faculty.

On his way home, Dr. Rees visited Manila, which he said is in "utter ruins" after the tremendous destruction wrought by the Japanese.

$2500 BLAZE RAZES HOME

Allen Spicer's House Levelled

SCHOOL TOPS COUNTY IN ATTENDANCE

Pleasant Valley Pupils Also Lead in Bond Quota

The Pleasant Valley School, Iron Hill, has just received word that it was the only school in rural New Castle County to attain 100 per cent attendance for the month of October, and although November is half over, the school still has no absences reported. The school tied with Odessa for top honors during September.

The pupils who made the record possible are: Dora Jane McCormick, Dorothy Nelson, Shirley Zistl, Richard Morgan, Helen Walls, Maya Zistl, John Walls, Harry McCormick, Gunnar Nelson, Betty Jane Zistl, Mary Ellen Brown, Joannemarie Kirk, Edward Meredith, and Robert McCormick.

At the latest report, Pleasant Valley is leading all other schools in the county in ever-renewing its quota. With a goal of $192, the small institution has already sold bonds and stamps worth $200 or 188 per cent more than the amount set.

Mrs. Herman Stradley will represent the local school at the fall Parent-Teacher Association Planning conference, to be held in the Richardson Park School Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Joseph Stanton, P-T. A. program chairman will be in charge of the program for Thursday evening, Nov. 22, at 8 o'clock.

Three Newark Youths Enlist in Army

Three 17-year-old Newark youths, companions together at local schools for nine years, neighborhood buddies, and comrades in Company G, Newark's 17th Delaware State Guard outfit, have enlisted in the Army in Wilmington.

The three friends are Joseph E. Moore, 17, Barksdale Road; William T. Strickland, 74 North Chapel Street, and Edward N. Dill, No. 2 Bassett Place. All enlisted for three years' service in the Army Air Force in the European Theatre. All three have been in the State Guard for more than two years and have attended the last two annual encampments of the regiment.

TWO MORE LEAVE DIX

Two men here were honorably discharged from the Army at Fort Dix this week. They are: Pfc. Howard J. Lloyd and Pfc. Paul M. Maxwell.

University Gets $4,600 For Study Of Sea Plants

The University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has received the sum of $4,600 as a grant from the Krim-Ko Corporation of Chicago, Illinois, and Scituate, Massachusetts, for the establishment of a Research Fellowship.

George L. Schuster, Director of the Experiment Station and Extension Service, states that the investigations conducted under this grant will be concerned with the development and evaluation of sea plant derivatives suitable for use as emulsifying, thickening, and gelling agents in such products as agricultural sprays, foods, or textiles.

The first phase of study will consider the extractives from Irish Moss, a seaweed which is familiar to coastal residents from Cape Cod northward. Later study will probably consider the agar-containing seaweed known as gracilaria and found in coastal bays from Delaware southward.

The Fellowship will be under the direction of Research Professor George L. Baker in the Chemistry Department.

DELAWARE FARM FRONT THIS WEEK

Poultry and Egg Situation according to the United States Department of Agriculture, is as follows: Overall demand for poultry products in 1945 will decline from the high levels reached in 1944. This will be due to increased supplies of meat for civilians, smaller non-civilian takings of poultry products, and reductions in consumer income. Prices received by farmers for eggs will decline materially and may be near support levels during most of the year; the extent of the decline will depend in large on export demand. Prices received for chickens and turkeys, on the other hand, probably will be only moderately below the all-time peaks reached in 1945, as the supply of poultry meat will be somewhat less plentiful than eggs, in relation to demand.

There will be at least as many hens and pullets on farms Jan. 1, 1946, as a year earlier, on the basis of past relationships between the number of potential layers on hand in the early fall and the number of Jan. 1 following. Farm egg production during the first half of 1946 is likely to be approximately the same as in the corresponding period of 1945, but egg production in the second half of the year probably will be smaller than a year earlier, reflecting heavier culling of layers and a reduction in the number of chickens raised.

With lower egg prices in prospect next winter and spring, 10 to 20 percent fewer chickens will be raised in 1946 than in 1945. However, a substantial reduction in the number of layers and potential layers from farm flocks could result in total farm chicken meat output not much different from that in 1945. Commercial broiler production probably will decline in 1946, largely as a result of reduced military requirements. On the other hand, turkey prices are likely to continue high, and the number of turkeys raised in 1946 may be nearly the same as the record number raised in 1945.

The Fruit Situation

The Department of Agriculture's Fruit Situation for October says in part: Although consumer incomes may decline slightly this fall and winter, demand for fresh fruit is expected to continue sufficiently strong so that the remaining sales of 1945 crop deciduous fruits—primarily apples, pears, grapes and cranberries—will be at or near ceiling levels. However, prices for the new 1945-46 crop of citrus fruits are expected to decline considerably from ceilings as markets become well supplied. Aggregate production of 8 principal deciduous fruits is 13 per cent smaller this year than last, mainly because of the record-low apple crop, but the new citrus crop may be about 8 per cent larger. Competition for available supplies of apples at ceiling prices has been, and is expected to continue to be, very active as the result of the record low crop. Civilian per capita supply for the calendar year 1945 may be 20 per cent smaller than last year. Prices for the 1945 crop of cranberries are expected to continue at ceilings.

Support Prices on Late Potatoes

The Department of Agriculture announced on Nov. 1 that support prices on 1945 late-crop Irish potatoes will not be increased for the remainder of the marketing season ending June, 1946, over the support prices set for the month of Dec. 1. (These prices, announced on May 18, vary from $2.00 to $2.45 per hundred pounds for U. S. No. 1 grade, depending on the area in which they were grown.) In view of the large crop it will not be necessary to encourage growers to hold back potatoes for the early spring market as was done in 1944. Under present supply and demand conditions, it is desirable to have potatoes offered liberally throughout the marketing season. To this end the Department has undertaken a number of programs to facilitate shipments and use of potatoes and to assist growers in marketing this year's near-record crop. The Department urged farmers to use freight cars when they were available, as cars frequently cannot be obtained on short notice.

More Clinics For County Folks

An increase in rural public clinics is favored by more than four-fifths of the farmers interviewed in a recent study made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Three-fourths said they would like to subscribe to some flat rate prepayment plan for themselves and their families to cover the costs of doctors, nurses, and hospitals.

The availability at low cost of large quantities of surplus hospital and medical equipment left over from the war should make it less difficult to realize these desires. Surgical instruments, beds, and bedding, dishes, X-ray equipment, incubators, diagnostic and sterilizing equipment, furniture, mobile medical and dental units, operating tables, and other equipment will be obtainable.

Delaware Regiment Aided In Building Secret Base

Delaware's 198th Coast Artillery Regiment was part of a Seabee and infantry task force which helped to build a huge Navy refueling station and air strip on Bora Bora Island, it has been revealed.

Going to the Pacific late in 1942, the former 198th spent a year on the lonely Atoll, (known to those at home as "Bobcat Island"), but the activities of the men were in military secrecy until recently. Building the base from scratch was a task requiring much endurance, engineering skill and equipment.

Bora Bora, 150 miles southwest of Tahiti in the Society Islands, is a craggy 2,400-foot rock mountain entirely surrounded by reefs and coves. The beaches are the only flat surface on the island, which is only four miles long and two and one-half miles wide. The refueling station had to be laid out on semi-submerged rocks and the air strip on these tenuous foundations.

"No hidden charges on the financing this time!"

"I know where every penny of my money is going. My insurance agent and I figured it out, and he made arrangements with a local bank for financing the purchase of the car. As a result I am paying a reasonable rate for the financing, and standard rates for the insurance. There are no hidden charges, and I'm very happy about the whole deal."

Angie Cataldi gathered himself a lot of glory and paced the 1945 'informal' version of the U. of D. Blue Hens to victory in its last two encounters of an abbreviated season. Seeing as how Angelo has been in the service and didn't have an opportunity to join the pigskin parade the last couple of years, that's not bad.

Don't get the impression that Angelo was the whole show for he wasn't. But, he helped a lot. And, we expect William D doesn't regret Angelo's return... nor little Doc Dougherty's either. Both these lads are nice football players and would be good material on an average university team.

BUT, neither of them would go very far without ten other men working together to let them carry the ball. We allude to the unsung heroes — the linemen — of ANY football team. These seven, usually neglected in the limelight of publicity, pave the way for victory or defeat in darn near every instance.

Theirs is not to snare touchdowns, make sensational runs or cut fancy dummies down the sidelines. Theirs is but to stay in there and pitch... on every play. Their failure to open a hole on the offense means all the flashy backs in the country wouldn't go anywhere.

We don't mean the University of Delaware line particularly any more than we do that of the Newark High School, University of Pennsylvania, vaunted Army or the Green Bay Packers. We mean any line. They're the boys who spell the difference between a winning combination and a losing outfit... and make no mistake about that.

About the only time a line gets due credit it when they make a spectacular goal-line stand and repulse the opposition on the one-inch line. Even then they are referred to as the 'stallwart line' and individual mention is neglected. This tirade hasn't any particular moral. It's merely meant as a tribute to the linemen who give their all for dear old Alma Mammy. And we hope the next time you have a congratulatory pat on the back for some lad who made the winning touchdown... you won't forget that some linemen opened the hole that made it possible.

If we could pick horses like we can football teams, we'd be millionaires. Last week we couldn't miss... still speaking of football, of course. So, letting success go to our head, we opine that the Newark Yellowjackets will romp over Regional High here tomorrow afternoon in a breather before their annual Turkey-Day clash with the Conrad Redskins.

If you're looking for a long-range prediction, Newark will beat Conrad, on the local gridiron, Thanksgiving Day, by 13 points. But it won't be any pink tea. Army and Penn State's Nittany Lions will participate in New Year's Day bowl games, as will Alabama. Indiana will win the Big Ten championship and probably wind up the season the only undefeated major team in the country, excepting Army. It's a shame Penn dropped their decision to Navy. Otherwise the Quakers would have gone on to unprecedented heights. But, that ought to be enough football.

Congratulations are due and hereby extended to Company G for winning the State Guard Efficiency Citation, presented at fitting ceremonies here last night.

Young Joe McVey is now a full-fledged member of the University E-52 Players. He will thus carry into his university career the furtherance of dramatic ability so ably demonstrated in high school. More power to you Joe.

Join the 'Gifts For Yanks' Parade. Do your bit for our hospitalized servicemen by giving a Christmas gift to some Delaware man or woman who is hospitalized away from home. This movement is sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary. Gifts should be wrapped and marked plainly, on the outside, whether for man or woman. The gifters name may appear inside the package. Gifts should be left at I. N. Sheaffer's store, not later than December 10.

We'll NOT be glad when you're gone, you rascals you. Ralph Walston, county Agent for the past couple of years, will soon leave for more fertile fields. At Reiff and his family are going to be sorely missed. Their leaving may be good for the Mentholatum Company but it'll be bad for Newark. They're regular, in every way. Ditto Ed and Virginia Schoenborn.

We're going to sell tickets to see Don Armstrong perform when they actually start moving the house he bought to be placed on the Choate Street lot, at the end of Linden Street. Don has been busy as a one-armed paper hanger in fly time all this week, giving instruction, gesticulating and buzzing around like a queen bee.

Dale I. Landers, former local manager for Funk Brothers, hybrid corn specialists, here last week. (Would you say that's corny?)

John Cunningham and Ernie Reed back in business at the same old stand, dishing out Esso and Standard Oil products along with their same old line of patter. Bill Gray, who held the place together during John's service in Europe, will soon open his own automobile repair business.

Open season on rabbit, quail and pheasant starts today. Game is not too plentiful, north of the canal, despite encouraging reports from state game wardens. Shells will undoubtedly be scarcer than game with not one to be found today in any Newark store.

U. OF D. WINDS UP SEASON WITH 32-20 VICTORY OVER HAVERFORD; CATALDI STARS

Blue Hens Complete Year With One Loss, One Tie, Two Victories; Main Liners Get Two Goals In Last Frame When Murray Yanks Varsity

The University of Delaware wound up its football season here Saturday with a 32 to 20 victory over the Main Liners of Haverford College. A former Newark High School football star, Angelo Cataldi, accounted for four of the tallies of the Blue Hens.

The local college team lost only one game of the four played, tying one and winning two, to further establish the good record of Coach Bill Murray.

Cataldi was the Blue Hens' big gun in the ball-carrying department all afternoon. On two occasions he electrified the crowd with touchdown runs of 44 and 52 yards.

Gerald (Doc) Doherty added the other Delaware score that sent the Blue and Gold off the field at half-time with an 18-7 edge.

Newark Man Saw Duty In Canada And Alaska

Following nearly four years of service in the Army, T.M. Raymond Thompson, 27, Route 3, Milford Cross Roads, has been honorably discharged. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Thompson, Route 2, Newark, and is married to the former Miss Betty Lou Brown. He attended Newark High School.

Thompson spent nearly two years in Alaska and Canada and the rest of his stay in the Army was in the United States. During practically his entire tour of duty he was connected in some way with signaling work, and was with the 17th Signal Corps Service when discharged.

Prior to entering the service, Thompson was a telegraph and signals lineman for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

OFFICES TO BE HERE FOR STATE'S MARKET UNIT

New Organization Absorbing AAA To Be Housed In U. D. Recitation Hall

In a move designed to better carry out Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's plan of rendering better service and more efficient administration of the several government programs now in operation in Delaware, the Production and Marketing Administration will be combined with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, with headquarters here in Newark, at the University of Delaware's Recitation Hall.

It will be known as the State Production and Marketing Administration. Supposed to have been completed Nov. 2, it is expected the effective date of consolidation will be about Nov. 15.

A Greenwood man, Clarence E. Ocheltree, will head the new organization. He has been chairman of the state's Triple A for the past four years and is an active farmer.

The present office of the marketing, formerly a division of the War Food Administration, is located in the Custom House, in Wilmington. Ingvald Saboe, in charge of the Wilmington office, who has been acting head of the Delaware Office of Marketing, has been appointed acting assistant director, and will work under Mr. Ocheltree's direction at the newly consolidated office at Newark.

Announcement of the merging of the offices was made by J. B. Hutson, administrator of the newly formed Production and Marketing Administration, which consolidates the former AAA and the Office of Marketing. With this appointment, the consolidation of the two branches of the Department of Agriculture are accomplished.

The Production and Marketing Administration and the field service branch, under Mr. Ocheltree's direction will now administer the school lunch program, the support price program, and purchase and distribution of surplus commodities, in addition to all the normal functions of the old AAA.

PASSING ATTACK GIVES NEWARK HIGH VICTORY OVER 'A. I.' DUPONT BY 20-6

Silk-To-Schaen Combination Effective As Yellowjackets Win Night Game; Local Team Ready For Regional H. S. Tomorrow At Field Here

The Newark High School eleven will try to make it five out of eight games played when they play an afternoon game with Regional High School here. It has been called for 3 p. m.

To date, the Yellowjackets have chalked up four victories in the last seven games played, and as the season draws to a close, Stanley Gibbs, the coach is doubly anxious to better his already good record. After tomorrow's game, there will be one more to wind up the season. That will be the Turkey Day tilt, of course, with Conrad High School, and it will be played away.

That stellar passing combine of Tommy Silk and Gene Schaen was clicking Friday night when the local gridders tangled with A. I. duPont, and it was the deciding factor in the local's winning by 20 to 6.

Schaen supplemented his passing chores by snagging numerous yards which resulted in stable gains to Newark eleven.

"A. I." only score came in the first period when George Frederick sent Bob Shutt with a pass on the edge yard line, setting up the touchdown.

Late in the second quarter, a 15-yard Silk-to-Schaen pass gave the Newark eleven its first tally. Casho converted on a placement. It was Schaen again in the third period who took a 75-yard "A. I.'s" 40 and raced unopposed to the second score.

An interception by Sam Talbot, in the duPont 30, a penalty and two bad plays placed the ball on the six where Don Griffin took over and passed through for the final score. Silk-to-Schaen again accounted for the extra point.

Newark scoring: Touchdowns, Schaen 2, Griffin. Points after touchdowns, Casho (placement), Silk to Schaen (pass).

A. I. duPont scoring: Touchdowns, Shutt.

Newark substitutions: Brown, Miller, Anderson, Williams, Hamilton, Colmery, Seconny, Morris, Gray, Fied, Bar.

Prior to entering the service, Robinson was a member of the Newark police force.

Other men discharged from Bainbridge include Norman Hall Brooks SM 2/c, Marlin C. Davis, BM 1/c, 46 W. Cleveland Ave., and Renard J. George CSP (A), 47 E. Main St.

Robinson served 22 months overseas, his last duty being aboard the high-speed transport, USS REEVES. While on the Reeves, he took part in the invasions of Okinawa and the Philippines. He holds the American, European and Asiatic-Pacific theatre ribbons and the Philippine Liberation Bar.

WARNS ON HOUSE BOOM

Home Buyers Are Cautioned By OPA

The potential building boom threatening skyrocketing of prices and is an inflationary bomb, in the opinion of Charles W. Hardesty, Delaware district OPA director.

Mr. Hardesty said the "gigantic demand on the one hand and insufficient supply of building materials on the other are threatening to strike the project of inflation."

Federal credit agencies are doing everything possible to discourage excessive and unsound lending on mortgages and the National Housing Agency stands ready to provide any prospective home buyer with information and advice.

Mr. Hardesty said OPA is tightening up on rent and eviction controls and supplies of building materials and contractor's services used in home building and repairs. "Mr. Hardesty explained."

Prospective home buyers were advised by the speaker to get appraisals on the value of houses they consider purchasing.

"To halt the threat of inflation Mr. Hardesty urged those seeking homes to watch the prices they pay, whether buying a house already constructed or building."

Delaware Will Observe Thanksgiving Nov. 22

Delaware, in line with other states of the nation will celebrate Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 22, when banks, state, county and city offices, and most stores will be closed.

A formal proclamation has been made by President Truman, and Gov. Walter W. Bacon officially announced some weeks ago that the holiday this year in Delaware would be the fourth Thursday of the month.

Shorgas works Magic in Rural Homes

YOU'LL agree, once you've modernized your kitchen with Shorgas, that it is really magic the way gas changes your kitchen into a clean, modern, convenient place in which to work, saves time and labor, too. Even though you may live miles from city mains, you, too, can have the advantages of gas for cooking, refrigeration and water heating.

SHORGAS
Is Quick, Clean, Economical
Instantly hot, the burner on your Shorgas range can be turned to any degree of heat for perfect cooking results. A modern gas range is so easy to keep clean, does away with smoky walls, dirty curtains and blackened cooking utensils. A gas refrigerator not only gives perfect food protection and quantities of ice cubes, but because it has no moving parts to wear out, it gives the maximum in low cost, long service refrigeration. And for a fraction of a cent per gallon, an automatic gas water heater brings you hot water instantly, whenever you want it.

Advantages of SHORGAS

1. A small, permanent Shorgas tank with a meter is installed outside your house.
2. Each month the Shorgas man reads the meter, refills the tank and charges you only for the gas used.
3. You pay after you have used the gas, not before.
4. A fleet of Shorgas trucks assures you of ever-ready FREE service.

Send for FREE booklet and get full information about Shorgas. Address postcard to Shorgas, Snow Hill, Maryland.

REVIVAL OF FOREIGN STUDY SEEN

University To Reestablish Program Soon

The University of Delaware announced today it will reestablish its foreign study program as soon as possible.

Announcement came following disclosure by the State Department in Washington that the government has withdrawn its wartime ban on study abroad by United States citizens.

The regulation has been in effect even for United States students desiring to study in the other American republics since Dec. 28, 1942.

For many years before the war the University of Delaware, which originated the "junior year abroad" plan followed by many United States universities and colleges, sent pupils to France and Switzerland.

"We will reestablish the system as soon as conditions permit," Prof. George E. Brinton of the modern language department, acting chairman of the university's committee on foreign study, said today.

Professor Brinton is serving as chairman of the committee in place of Dr. E. C. Byam, who is now abroad, teaching GI's at the Army school of Biarritz.

Three factors must be carefully considered, he said:

- (1) Living conditions.
- (2) Inflated cost of living.
- (3) The fact that most European educational centers must be completely reestablished.

Expansions of the foreign study plan to include South America is being considered, Professor Brinton revealed. But he said that the academic years in the Latin American countries do not correspond with those in this country. To give a student a full year of foreign study presents a serious problem, as either his sophomore or senior year here is cut short.
