Boy Scouts of Newark Troops 55 and 56 and Newark's Scouts are combining their efforts this week, the second of the 1954 March of Dimes campaign, in making collections of movie-goers at the local theater. This feature of the drive began Sunday and will run through Saturday, Jan. 16.

Last Tuesday, folding coin contribution cards were mailed to 4,335 homes in the city of Newark and surrounding communities.

Participating in this activity were Mrs. Stanley V. Spoor, Jr., and Mrs. Robert C. Berry, Jr., who are the local chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the March of Dimes campaign. Other members of the committee are: Mrs. Robert F. Wollaston, Mr. Richard S. Snyder, Dr. Charles N. Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. O. Blazotte, and Mr. and Mrs. DuVal Cleaver.

The movie-goers are asked to place their coins in the coin boxes which are placed in the lobby of the theater. The coins should be made payable to the March of Dimes. All coin cards should be sent to Mrs. F. Allen, Jr., treasurer for the March of Dimes, at the Newark Trust Company.

The 1954 campaign began on Jan. 12 and will run through the month of March. The committee chairman John R. Spoor, Jr., hopes for a record total this year. He points out that March of Dimes funds have brought latest treatment methods to Delaware and that the people of the state in the recent research made possible by their donations.

This year, Newark campaign chairman E. W. Timmons, Jr., New Castle County March of Dimes chairman John W. Leach, and chairman of the Delaware State Committee for the Prevention and Treatment of Infantile Paralysis, Dr. C. M. Mahanna, are participating.

The Newark Country Club will have a combined restaurant, TV and ballroom on Saturday, Jan. 23, when the University of Delaware will hold its annual Arts Ball for members of the faculty.

Blaze Razes Barn For $100,000 Loss At Orphans' Home

Thursday Night Fire Near Oglethorpe Attended By Six Volunteer Fire Companies

Fire destroyed a three-story barn at Our Lady of Grace Home, a Catholic orphanage near Oglethorpe Thursday evening with a loss, including livestock and machinery, estimated at $100,000.

Sister Mary Margaret, superior, said today only the direction of the wind kept the fire from spreading to the main buildings 50 feet away, where some 40 orphans are cared for.

Six volunteer fire companies answered the call and the blaze, which broke out about 8:30 p.m., could be seen for three miles. Firemen were still wetting down the smoldering ruins at 9 p.m.

The loss, in addition to the building, included eight cows and one bull which were burned to death, several thousand bushels of wheat stored in an adjoining silo, lumber, and machinery.

The fire was discovered just before 8 o'clock by one of the children who went outside to empty a wastebasket. He reported the roof was ablaze.

The Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Company of Newark was the first to arrive, and found the building was engulfed in flames. Other companies responding included Cranston Heights, Christina, Wilmington Manor, Minquada, Mill Creek, and Elkton.

Two firemen were slightly injured. Andrew S. Walp, 31, and George W. Smith, 28, both of the Newark company, were treated at the orphanage dispensary. Walp for smoke poisoning, and Smith for a leg injury, sustained when a fragment of metal from an exploding gasoline can struck him.

Newark Community Nurse Aids Sick People In 2,564 Home Visits

In reporting a total of 2,564 nursing and instructive visits to those in the Newark area requiring medical assistance during the past year, Miss Alice Leak, Newark's visiting nurse, writes: "I wish to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Plummer, Miss Roberts, and the Wilmington Visiting Nurse Association for their assistance last summer in caring for the sick."

Certainly, a great many people have reason to be grateful to Miss Leak for her efforts as a nurse. The annual total of 2,564 visits averages better than seven trips per year, from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1953, including Saturdays, Sundays and holidays—a lot of trips, if all are pleasure-bent. And these visits were all errands of mercy.

Miss Leak lists a total of 236 cases carried for the year, 21 of them chronic, with an average of from one to three visits per case, per week. Included in the maladies were heart and kidney ailments; cancer, paralysis, apoplexy, pneumonia, laryngitis, diabetes, anemia, and arthritis, with a number of maternity cases.

The Visiting Nurse's report for December lists a total of 232 calls—206 of them to provide nursing care, and 26 for instructive purposes—on a high of 31 calls made during the month to relieve three paralytic sufferers.

Extension of the Newark city limits to include Brookside and other outlying areas, thereby avoiding the difficulties experienced by the City of Philadelphia which is hemmed in and hampered by many incorporated townships, was urged by Harry K. Butcher, executive secretary of Philadelphia's Committee of 70 in an address before the Newark League of Women Voters last Thursday night.

Mr. Butcher cited the multitude of incorporated suburbs around Philadelphia as "tendrils of a octopus, that can grow until they destroy the hub." He said that parts of Delaware, including Newark, are beginning to suffer what Pennsylvania has undergone for years—the growth of hamlets into many competing cities, hemmed in on all sides.

But he told the audience it is not too late for Newark to avoid this. It acts as a Brookside or other adjacent area incorporates itself separately.

Admiral Blandly, Former Newark Resident, Dies

United States Navy Hero
Suffers Stroke To End
Brilliant Career At 63

Retired Admiral William Henry Purnell Blandly, USN, formerly of Newark and Wilmington, whose atom bomb tests against warships revamped the whole science of naval gunnery as he knew it, died Tuesday at St. Albans Naval Hospital in New York City, at 63.

The former chief of Navy ordnance and chief of the Atlantic Fleet suffered a stroke at his New York City home Sunday, following which he was removed to the hospital in critical condition.

Admiral Blandly, born in New York City, June 28, 1890, was a grandson and namesake of Dr. William Henry Purnell, first president of Delaware College when it was reorganized as a land grant college in 1870. His youth was spent in Wilmington and Newark.

Survivors include his wife, the former Roberta Ames of Washington, D.C.; a son, William, a daughter, and a sister, Mrs. Paul F. Pile of Newark.

Admiral Blandly retired from active duty in February, 1950.

His brilliant career in the Navy followed a special interest in ordnance, dating from his undergraduate days at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was selected for special engineering studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology after graduation from Annapolis, and became specialized in ordnance, an outstanding authority in that field.

Admiral Blandly was commander of the first atom bomb tests on Bikini Atoll.

While he visited Newark frequently, he maintained his interest in the community throughout his adult life. Twelve years ago the University of Delaware conferred on him an honorary degree of doctor of science. He was also the university's alumni banquet speaker in 1947.

12 Classrooms Open Monday At E. Frances Medill School

Parents To Receive Notices On Cancellation Of Half-Day Classes; Bus Routes Serving 1300 Newark District Pupils Re-Scheduled With Opening Of New Facilities

The snow that blanketed the Newark Special School District along with a fair share of the eastern seaboard on Sunday night could have been the final straw on the hidden back of the local school board, but snow or no, the long-delayed opening of the E. Frances Medill Elementary School off Capitol trail is scheduled for Monday morning, Jan. 18.

Shortly after occupancy of the new school's 12 classrooms, all half-day school sessions in the Newark district will be cancelled, but parents will be notified individually by school authorities when the shifts are to become effective.

Re-routing of all school buses, which convey nearly 1,300 youngsters to the Newark public schools, will be necessary with the opening of the new building, and Preston G. Eisenberg, state director of public school transportation, Dover, conferred with Eugene Stultz, and local school authorities in Newark last week to work out satisfactory, revised schedules.

The architect's plan for a 15-room Brookside Elementary School will be submitted to the State Board of Education on Jan. 21, and quick approval is likely since the plans are almost identical with those of the West Park Place School which has already been approved and is under construction.

This was disclosed at Friday night's meeting of the Board of Education when President Joseph M. McVey told a Brookside representative that quick state approval could lead to the awarding of a contract by the end of March, with building completion by Fall of 1955.

No Bus Route
The main difference from the Park Place plans is the elimination of a school bus waiting room. In its place, the Brookside School will have a general-purpose room. Since most Brookside pupils will live within a mile of the school site on Marrows Road, bus service will not be given after sidewalks are paved.

The 15-room building will be laid out so it can be expanded to 24 rooms if necessary. At 30 pupils per room, this would probably be adequate for the 1,100-odd homes expected in Brookside.

Temporary School
The eight-room temporary building will be kept even after the 15-room school opens across the street, which means that 23 rooms will be available in 1955-56 if needed. The temporary school is available to up to five years, after which it is to become a professional building for the Brookside Shopping Center.

Parents who have been helping to plan the new senior high school, learned that the building is not likely to have an auditorium, and it may not have industrial arts either, because "classrooms come first," and there is not enough money for everything.

Henry M. Brader, elementary supervisor, told a State board that parents had been asked to comment on the new type of report card when the first ones were sent out, and of nearly 700 who replied, there were 528 favorable comments, 136 unfavorable, and a few dozen undecided.

Col. Lee Announces GOC
Aid In State As Result
Of Colorado Conference

Lt. Col. D. Preston Lee, state director of civil defense, states that the federal government will be strengthening support to ground observer corps programs throughout the country.

Col. Lee returned Sunday from a five-day civil defense conference in Colorado Springs where he revealed that more Air Force men will be assigned to liaison work, in addition to a campaign to enlist federal government personnel in ground observer training.

For Delaware, Lee said, it will mean that the state is assured of having one enlisted man assigned to the state on a full-time basis.

The meeting was called, Colonel Lee reported, by the Secretary of the Air Force as a result of the concern shown by the Joint Chiefs of Staff on the current ineffectiveness across the country of the GOC program. It is felt that stations should be made operative on a 24-hour-a-day basis as quickly as possible.

Another step to be taken, he said, will be that the Air Force will increase its personnel at filter centers across the country at the expense of other Air Defense Command operations.

Colonel Lee said the state was commended for the recent action of the State Highway Department in authorizing bridge tenders to serve in the GOC. It was recommended that other states take similar action.

Mail Carriers Make Rounds
Despite Snow-Plow Drifts

In keeping with the traditions of the U.S. Postal Service, Newark mailmen completed their daily rounds despite the snow, and local residents received their Christmas bills on Monday without delay.

Chains were a must for the rural truck carriers whose major handling consisted of snow-plowed drifts over the trails they had broken from the highways to the letter boxes.

Old Man Winter surely is giving us a work-out this year, and Sunday night's storm was one of the real old-fashioned variety—the kind that brings back memories of bob-sleids and gay sleigh-rides. That is, some of us old-timers can remember back that far! Now-a-days the mechanized buggy is much more temperamental about tackling slippery, snowy roads and so we are being subjected to another rash of disrupted time-schedules and canceled meetings.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Murray, Eastburn Heights, on the birth of a son, at Memorial Hospital last Saturday. The Murrys have two daughters, Joyce and Lynn, Lynn, to the surprise of her elders, was a bit disappointed when a baby sister failed to arrive, but was soon convinced that it would be very nice after all to have a boy in the family!

We are glad to learn that Mrs.
David Eastburn, Red Mill Road, returned home last Saturday from the hospital.

Mrs. Carl Finger, Kirkwood Highway, has been confined at Delaware
Hospital for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Deck, Sr.,

Fla.

Mrs. W. Floyd Jackson, Polly
Drummond, Road, has returned

Mr. and Mrs. Manlove McMullen, Kirkwood Highway, motored to Greenville, S.C., last Sunday. Mrs.

son accompanied them on their return to Greenville after a holiday visit. Mrs. Miller Darrell, Kirk-after a visit with her daughter in Carney's Point, N.J. Mr. and Mrs.

Donald Darrell and son, of Atlanta, Ga., visited their mother during the holidays.

White Clay Church
Presbyterian Church

The Rev. and Mrs. James H. Bishop wish to thank all those who contributed in so many ways to the success of the Open House at the Manse last Sunday.

Willard Johnston, church school superintendent, announces that Miss Ellen Gallaher has been appointed as teacher in the primary department. Sincere appreciation is expressed to Mrs. Raymond Benson for her long and faithful service in this department.

In the January meeting of the White Clay Fellowship last week,
the need of a Westminster Fellowship Program for youth was discussed. The president, Mrs. Alice Hammell, appointed the following committee to make recommendations: Mrs. Raymond Benson, Miss Jane Hammell, Miss Hazel Johnston,
Miss Romayne McCormick, John
Murray, and Willard Johnston.

Mrs. Victor Patterson, of the University of Delaware, was guest speaker for the White Clay Fellowship. She gave a most interesting and inspiring account of her trip to Egypt and the Holy Land last summer. Florence Reed served as program chairman for the occasion.

The January meeting of the Evening Circle was postponed from Monday to Thursday of this week,
because of the snow storm.

The choir is rehearsing on Friday of this week, for the same reason.

Sunday, Jan. 17, at the 11 a.m. church service, Rev. Bishop will bring a message on "He Is Passing By."

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the congregation and corporation of White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church will be held on Wednesday, Jan.
20, preceded by a covered dish supper.

Annual reports will be made in the business session. There will be an election of two trustees and at least two elders.

The committee in charge of supper arrangements is made up of representatives of the various organizations: Mrs. Pusey McCormick, Church School; Mrs. Talbert Chilmers, Improvement Society; Mrs.

"Dead Of Winter" Warnings Issued By Safety Council

J. James Ashton Cautions
Public To Beware Of Cold
Weather Driving Dangers

"Don't be the dead of winter!"
J. James Ashton, manager of the Delaware Safety Council, warned motorists today.

Winter weather can be deadly—to the unwary—Mr. Ashton pointed out to Delaware drivers.

"In winter, streets and highways often are wet or covered with snow and ice," he said, "and car control is difficult."

Also, visibility—or lack of it—can be dangerous, even a fatal problem, Mr. Ashton pointed out.

"In nearly one out of five fatal accidents last year, the road condition was wet, muddy, snowy or icy," he said. "And in one out of eight fatal accidents, the driver's vision was obscured."

About two-fifths of these obstructions to vision were reported as rain, snow or sleet on the windshield, Mr. Ashton explained.

"You have to see danger to avoid it," he said, "and you have to have your car under control at all times
if you are to stop in time to prevent an accident."

Basic Rules

Mr. Ashton listed six basic rules for winter driving to help counteract these dangers. The rules are:

1. Accept your responsibility. Always be prepared to meet the hazards of winter driving. You can't expect the weatherman to take the blame for your accidents.

2. Get the "feel" of the road. When you are driving slowly, away from traffic, try brakes occasionally to find out just how slick the road is. And above all, drive slowly, adjusting your speed to road and weather conditions.

3. Keep the windshield clear.
Snow, sleet and ice can build up cloud car windows and windshields.
Be sure windshield wipers and de-frosters are in top working condition.

4. Use tire chains when there is ice or snow on the roads. Reinforced chains will cut stopping distances about half.

5. Pump your brakes rapidly to slow down or stop. Jamming on the brakes when roads are slippery can throw you into a dangerous skid.

6. Follow at a safe distance.
Keep well back of the vehicle ahead so that you will have plenty of room to stop in an emergency.
Remember that even with tire chains it takes more than twice the distance to stop on snow and ice as it does to stop on dry concrete without chains.

Willard Johnston, White Clay Fellowship, Mrs. Della Othosen, Afternoon Circle, and Mrs. John Trivita, Evening Circle.

Preparations for the meal will take place from 5 to 6:30 p.m. with the supper to start promptly at 6:30 p.m. The committee will provide coffee, rolls and dessert. Each family is to bring a covered dish, butter, and complete table service.

New 115-h.p. I-BLOCK SIX

This new Six has an extra-deep block for greater rigidity, smoother, quieter performance, longer engine life. Free-turning overhead valves, low-friction
design and Ford's Auto-

RIDE DIVIDEND

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension

This revolutionary new suspension is the greatest chassis advance in 20 years . . .
and it's exclusive to Ford in its field. It gives front wheels greater up and down travel to smooth out the going on rough roads. And it helps keep the wheels in true alignment for consistently easy handling.
Movement of the wheels is on ball joints whether up and down, as wheels travel over rough spots, or in steering as wheels turn right or left. Ball joints are sealed against dirt and water.

DIVIDEND IN DRIVING EASE

Ford offers five optional power assists* you might expect to find only in America's costliest cars

Master-Guide power steering does up to 75% of your steering work, yet leaves you with natural steering "feel" on the straightaways. Swift Sure Power Brakes do up to one-third of the work in stopping. Fordomatic Drive gives torque converter smoothness and the "Go" of automatic mechanical gears. And only Ford in its field offers Power-Lift Windows, both front and rear, that open or close at a button's touch . . . and a 4-Way Power Seat that adjusts up and down, as well as front and back, at a touch of the controls. They're all worth-while optional extras available in the 1954 Ford!

*At extra cost. P.C.A.

No car in the low-price field has ever offered so many "Worth More" features as the '54 Ford. In addition to all the features that have already established Ford as the "Worth More" car, you now get a host of brand new dividends. These include a choice of two new deep-block engines . . .
the most modern engines in the industry. You also get Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension . . . beautiful new interiors . . . and styling that will make your heart beat faster.

And, remember, Ford also makes available to you all the optional power assists . . . features you might expect to find only in the costliest cars.

If you have not yet seen the new Ford models for 1954, come in and inspect them today. Then Test Drive a '54 Ford . . . and once you do, you'll want to drive it home!

Miss Jeannette Thoroughgood, journalism teacher, will accompany the following students on their trip: John Cunniff, Howard Burris, Mary Zecha, Bill Evans, Jill Holmquist, Rae Porter, Kathleen Carrio, Jackie Chickie, Janet Barnett, Jiny Edmonson and Lum Thorp, Alise Amoroso and Mary Brown.

The group will arrive at 11:30 in order to have the one-hour trip around the plant and be in time to see the state edition come off the presses at 12:30 p.m.

Teacher Of The Week
Mr. George Nickle attended Goldie Beacom, Rider and Rutgers Colleges where he received a Master's of Education degree. He now teaches social studies and is the homeroom teacher for the 8-A section. He has been teaching school for 23 years and has taught at Newark for 16 years. Mr. Nickle has also taught in Lewes, Del. and Cape May, N.J.

Girls' Basketball Season Opens
Newark High girls' basketball tryouts were held on Tuesday, December 11, in the high school gym with Mrs. Margaret Beebe, Miss Ann Chalmers, and Miss Allen Ritchie as coaches.

Members of this year's varsity squad are: Janet Barnett, Diane Chalmers, Jill Holmquist, Nancy Trivits, Joanna Miller, Shirley Smith, Sue Ware, Marie Woerner, and Pat Sani.

Student of the Week—Mary Brown
Mary Ellen Brown, a senior, taking the general course, was born on October 9, 1935 in Wilmington, Delaware. She attended her first six years at Pleasant Valley School and then came to Newark for the last six years.

Mary is in many activities, some of which are band, mixed chorus, and the senior play committee. Upon graduating from N.H.S. in June, she plans to attend Goldie Beacom and then become a secretary.

Both skating and dancing are her hobbies. She prefers sport clothes. Her weakness is Tommy Burke and her pet peeve is people who think they are "it." Grilled cheese sandwiches for a midnight snack suit her fine.

Dr. Smith
"Alcohol and its effects on young people" was the topic of a recent assembly talk, given by Dr. Frederick Smith, executive secretary of the Maryland and Delaware Temperance League, on December 9, in the school auditorium.

Following the assembly Dr. Smith met with the high school students in their classes. He also spent Thursday and Friday in different classes discussing the problem.

Dr. Smith recently appeared on the program at the Tri-V and H-V conference held at the University of Maryland. Several Newark students were present.

Cronin Discusses
Bay Marine Life
At Local Meeting

Haskell Foundation Grants
Allocated At Annual Group
Luncheon At University

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, State Marine Biologist and research professor at the University of Delaware, discussed a little known but very abundant form of marine life, plankton, at Saturday's annual meeting of the Haskell Research Foundation at the university in Newark.

Plankton may some day be processed for human consumption and for chicken feed, but right now it is of great importance to commercial and sports fishermen as a source of food for tiny game and food fish, for the commercial menhaden, and indirectly, for anglers who are attracted by the bluefish which follow the menhaden that feed on plankton.

Indian River, in Sussex County, is one of the most abundant sources of small marine life in the entire Delaware estuary, Dr. Cronin noted.

Marine biologists are working on solutions to many riddles in the bay, Dr. Cronin said, answers to which can be of considerable aid to commercial and pleasure fishing.

Research Reports
Animal disease, soil structure, and synthetic rubber experiments were subjects of other University of Delaware reports at the meeting.

Grants for all have been given by the Haskell Foundation.

Dr. Katherine E. Yaw, assistant research professor in biological sciences, reported on experimental activity in the search for a vaccine that would end brucellosis, a disease of dairy and beef cattle.

Dr. G. Fred Somers, associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, reported on development in formation and chemistry of soil organic matter and Dr. Jack Gerster, associate professor of chemical engineering, spoke on University of Delaware research for the government's synthetic rubber division.

Toastmaster for the luncheon was Thomas E. Brittingham, Jr., assistant treasurer of the foundation.

WHO PAYS?

A good many people still seem to believe that the cost of government isn't too important a matter, for all we have to do is to soak the corporations and the well-to-do individuals and let them do most of the paying.

It's an attractive theory—and it's also as full of holes as a colander. The facts refute it 100 per cent. For instance, the Waseca, Minnesota, Journal, recently said, "Confiscate, if you will, all of the profits of the corporations after taxes, and you could run the U. S. government just 71 days."

Various authoritative surveys have shown that if the incomes of all wealthy people were confiscated, the money gained would run the government for a similarly brief period of time.

Who, then, does support our unbelievably costly government? Another Minnesota paper, the Le Sueur News-Herald, answered that question in these simply and accurate words: "It isn't hard to figure out who pays the bulk of the taxes—it's you and I and the rest of the little people..."

Safety Campaign

John R. Johnston, of Newark, vice-president of the National Vulcanized Fibre Co., will direct the state-wide campaign to enlist new members in the Delaware Safety Council.

Directors of the Council are working to provide an operating fund of $20,000, soliciting annual memberships at $10, to combat the rising tide of accidents in the state.

During the past year, Mr. Johnston reported 79 persons were killed and more than 800 seriously injured by motor vehicles in the state. In Delaware homes, 68 persons were killed and 600 injured.

Chapel Desecrated
Vandals desecrated the abandoned Wesley Chapel on the McClellanville Road, smashing several of the memorial windows, tearing up the altar, and destroying the church organ. The damage is estimated at $2,000.

Extensive Speeches
Prof. Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of the Newark public schools has introduced extensive speaking in the Junior-Senior High School assemblies. At each assembly, a student and a member of the faculty is called on for a talk on a given subject.

Postmaster's Citation
Postmaster Wm. H. Evans has received a certificate from the Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics for his efforts in having Newark marked so that it may be identified from the air.

Two months ago the name "Newark" was painted in 10-ft. high letters on the postoffice roof, in accordance with a suggestion proffered by Charles A. Lindbergh. Shortly afterward, Col. Lindbergh, flying from New York to Washington, circled and dove low over the city in recognition of the markings which were painted by Herbert Henning.

Sports
Newark's basketball team was jolted out of a long win streak when the local Theta Chi's handed them a 31-22 licking, and the Polish Falcons trounced the Newark squad, 38-23 at Wilmington High School's gym. But the local eagles bounced right back and defeated Scott M.E. Church, 39-31 in the college gym last night.

Theta Chi took a 19-6 first half

PTA To Discuss Separate Units, Future Program

The Newark Parent-Teacher meeting will be held in the High School auditorium at 8 p.m. January 21.

Two important subjects will be discussed and Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue will present plans and needs for the district's schools, present and future. With the aid of slides and charts everyone will get a view of the future. Several planning meetings have already been held, but many people have been unable to attend. This is another chance to find out what is being planned for years to come. Everyone is invited.

The second issue is the organization of separate PTA units in the various schools of the district. A proposed organization program will be presented by Dr. Howard Reed and William B. DeLong.

Mrs. Josephine Lattomus will be the hospitality chairman, assisted by the home room mothers from grades one and seven in a social hour held in the High School cafeteria. A large attendance is expected because of the vital questions under consideration.

CAMERA TOPICS

By T. T. Holden

Mothers... here's the kind of pictures you ought to take of baby. Doris Finney of New York City shot this Grolux prize-winner with a 4 x 5 Super D Grolux.

FOR LADIES ONLY

Yes, the double standard does exist... and it's unfair, unnecessary and up to the women of America to do something about it. Where does it exist? Why nowhere else but in the inalienable right to take photographs.

Why should the privilege of being official family photographers fall exclusively to father? Is there some inherent male characteristic that makes him a better camera operator than you? Not at all! Women have mastered such complicated mechanical procedures as driving a car, running a washing machine, even flying an airplane. Taking pictures with a camera is certainly a far simpler undertaking than any of these.

Besides it's more logical for mother rather than father to take pictures. Most of the activities around the house take place while the breadwinner's away. When he gets home, the children are ready for bed and even if they're not, he's tired and disinclined to get out the family camera. So, ladies, it's up to you. The next time Junior does something cute during the day, instead of just telling Dad about it when he gets home, why not have a picture of it to show him.

Don't be scared away from the camera because of all the high-falootin' terminology you hear bandied about on how it works. Even the most complicated camera can do a wonderful job on almost any outdoor shot without changing the settings once. Just remember to set the aperture opening, which controls the amount of light let in, at f/11 and the speed at 1/50 second. You'll be amazed and delighted at how easy it really is and how satisfying the results will be, especially when you compare them with your mere male's most recent, if any, efforts. Let's put an end to the photographic double standard once and for all.

Blazing Barn

While flames battled the flames, the children were taken to the orphanage chapel, where they prayed that the flames would spare the rest of the property.

The barn, had been rebuilt and renovated last winter. Much of the labor was contributed by members of the Delta Kappa Chapter of Sigma Nu Fraternity at the University of Delaware.

The orphanage, a self-supporting institution which maintains an informal connection with St. Joseph's Church, is run by the Felician nuns.

Sister Mary Margaret said the barn is partly covered by insurance.

While returning from the fire, members of the Wilmington Marine Fire Company stopped at the home of Charles McCall on the Stanton-Ogletown Road near Ogletown.

One fireman saw flames spilling from the chimney as the fire appraiser was passing. He called to the driver and the fireman drove to the house, notified the owner and doused the flames. No damage was reported.

Rotary Speaker Describes New Telephone Equipment

Fred Lodge, Diamond State telephone representative, discussed and demonstrated the latest innovations in telephone equipment before the members of the Newark Rotary Club at their regular Monday night meeting.

Jerome Weinberg was program chairman, and introduced the speaker.

Admiral Blandy

Admiral Blandy was educated in Newark schools, and attended Delaware College with the Class of 1910, but left shortly before graduation to accept an appointment to the Naval Academy.

Admiral Blandy presented the binoculars he used during five Naval campaigns in the South Pacific, to the Historical Society of Delaware in the latter part of 1945.

His sister, Mrs. Pie of Newark, also gave the Historical Society of Delaware shoulder epaulettes, a Navy hat, and a Bible, all of which had belonged to Admiral Blandy.

The altar window of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Newark, was completely restored by Admiral Blandy several years ago—a window given originally to the church by Graham Blandy in 1890, in memory of Francis and Thomas Blandy, the latter first senior warden and one of the church founders.

YMCA To Offer Beginners Course Of Swim Lessons

The Program Committee of the Newark YMCA announces a series of 10 beginner's swimming lessons for boys 8 years and older to begin Saturday, Jan. 30. A bus will transport the boys from Newark to the Wilmington "Y" building, leaving Newark at 12:45. Wilmington lessons will be from 1:30 to 2:30, with the bus leaving 2:45 p.m. for Newark.

Lessons will run for 10 consecutive Saturdays and are designed for beginners. Registrations will be limited to 40 boys.

The course will be taught by DeWitt I. Smith, executive secretary of the Newark YMCA.

City Limits

Delaware is fortunate, the Philadelphians said, in having only 109 political subdivisions. Vermont—comparable in size and population—has 415 and most other states have thousands.

Newark should not have district councilmen but should elect them at large, he said, scoffing at the idea of subdividing a town no bigger than some of Philadelphia's 1,600 voting divisions.

Citing the fact that only 10 per cent of Newark's eligible voters participated in a bond referendum last April, Mr. Butcher devoted much of his address to an appeal against political lethargy.

"What we put into the political stream is what we get out of it," he went on. "The headwaters of that stream are at your own back doorstep. Politics are the basis of everything we are so willing to pay for service to. If we can't sell self-government now, when we are prosperous, what would happen in a crisis?"

An economic upheaval would mean national socialism and the loudest-voiced hypocrite would lead us wherever he wanted."

When asked in the question period about the city manager form of government to be adopted in Newark, Mr. Butcher said the change is not as important as getting the citizens interested and getting capable men in office.

However, he cited several Pennsylvania towns similar to Newark that have satisfactory government with full-time city managers receiving $6,000 to $8,000 a year. Newark's long $9,000 to $9,500 a year, offering $7,000 to $9,000 if a qualified man is found.
