Firemen Wait For Train Arrival With Fire Aboard

Traffic was held up at the West Main Street B&O crossing for a half hour last Thursday night while volunteer firemen kept an appointment with a fire which arrived 10 minutes after the firemen.

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company received a call that a B&O passenger train approaching Newark was on fire, and three engines rushed to the Main Street grade crossing.

Finally the whistle was heard and the train stopped some distance from the crossing, then inched slowly to Main Street.

Smoke and sparks emerged from a vent in the roof of the rear half of the diesel and firemen worked under it for a few minutes and it was all over.

The train departed for Washington and Main Street was open to traffic again.

The Newark League of Women Voters has just published a 46-page booklet entitled "Know Your Newark" covering the local scene and city government from a day back in 1790 when King George II granted corporate privileges to the tiny crossroads town, through provisions of the 1931 revised city charter, to the situation as of May, 1954.

Conducted as a requirement of the national League of Women Voters, data compilation began in October, 1952 and was completed in February of the following year. Mrs. Gorman Land, headed the original editing committee, followed by Mrs. Harry Kaley, and final editing was completed by a league committee of Mrs. Robert Powell, Mrs. Samuel Handoff, Mrs. Robert Jackson, Mrs. E. C. Mahanna, and Miss Ella Mae Maclary.

The booklet has been financed on individual ten dollar loans obtained from members who will be reimbursed as the booklets are sold.

Each member has been asked to sell five copies, and general distribution agents are Rhodes Drug Store and the Newark Pharmacy. Copies also can be obtained from Mrs. Wm. Skold, distribution chairman, 27 Thompson Circle.

The cover design, portraying the Academy Building, was donated by Eugene Kelechava, art instructor at the Newark school.

"Know Your Newark" provides detailed information for native and newcomer alike, concerning local city government, public services, elections—a directory of churches, service clubs, health and social agencies—along with a map of the city and a listing of "Who's Who in 1954."

Mrs. Albert Priestley is financial chairman, and Mrs. Robert Webber is chairman of publicity.

Carl J. Rees, national vice commander of the American Legion, called for a solid front among Americans, dedicated to keeping alert and awake to the possibilities of surprise action by the Soviet Union, as he was honored Monday night in a dinner-meeting at Delaware Post No. 1.

About 100 persons attended the affair at which Dr. Rees, dean of the graduate school of the University of Delaware, a past Delaware Legion Department commander and former national executive committee member, was the main speaker.

Also honored were 37 past commanders of Delaware Post.

The national vice commander was lauded by other speakers, including William J. B. Regan, national executive committee member, and Thomas B. Egan, state adjutant and service officer. The latter declared that "the standing of the Delaware Department is largely reflected in the activities of one man—Carl Rees."

John P. Benson was toastmaster.

Driver Education, Typing Classes Set For Adults

Eighteen adults have enrolled in the driver education class, while 37 registrants applied for typing instruction.

Classes in blueprint reading, shorthand review, arts and crafts, and in woodworking may be organized if sufficient interest is demonstrated with subsequent registrations.

The program committee with Mrs. Mark Case, chairman, has planned three parades—the first, for children four years and under, followed by a parade for children between five and eight. The third parade is for all children nine and over.

Prizes will be awarded for costumes.

William Pusey of Margaret Street, Newark, broke bones in both feet Saturday morning when he fell 15 feet off a roof near Main and Haynes Streets while working on a storm-damaged television aerial.

Balloonists Suffer Injuries In Fall When Gas Escapes

Son Of Internationally
Famed Explorer Piccard
Manages Forced Landing

Donald L. Piccard, 28, of 8 Kullen Drive, Brookside, son of Dr. Jean Piccard, internationally famed alpinist and ocean explorer, was slightly injured Sunday when his balloon made a forced landing on a farm near Mullica Hill, N.J.

Four other persons were injured in the fall when the gas escaped from a rip in the balloon envelope. They had taken off from Valley Forge, Pa.

The other injured are Piccard's wife, Jean, who suffered a fractured left foot and a sprained knee; Anthony Bryon, Limestone Road, a fractured right toe; Mrs. Constance Wolf, Ambler, Pa., bruises, and Coles Phiney, Long Island, N.Y., a foot injury. Piccard suffered bruises.

The balloon descended on the farm of Kenneth Stretch on Route 322 near Mullica Hill not far from Woodbury. Piccard told New Jersey state police that when the bag burst he ripped the balloon and other ballast cut loose to slow its fall.

The injured were treated in the Underwood, N.J., hospital.

Mr. Piccard and his two brothers have been balloon enthusiasts since they were children. Their mother, Jeannette, established herself a lighter-than-air craft expert on numerous flights with their father, Donald, made a successful 25-mile free balloon solo flight in 1947 to test an aluminum basket he designed and a gas valve designed by his father.

Fire drills were conducted Tuesday at each of the public school buildings in the Newark district under the supervision of Fire Chief John C. Cunningham, Assistant Chief Clifton Knotts of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company; Newark Chief of Police Wm. Cunningham, and school authorities.

The junior-senior high school was evacuated in 1 minute, 50 seconds; the central elementary school children were out of the building in 1 minute, 10 seconds, and the New Castle County school was evacuated in 35 seconds flat.

Pupils at the E. Frances Medill elementary school were evacuated in 1 minute; Brookside elementary students completed their fire drill in 33 seconds; and the West Park Place elementary school was emptied in 56 seconds.

A smaller group of pupils in the Agriculture-Shop school building evacuated the premises in a low time of 20 seconds.

'One Fund' Drive Planned For Public School Pupils

A "One Fund" drive will be conducted throughout the Newark public schools from Nov. 11 to 19 for the benefit of five charitable organizations—the Junior Red Cross, Community Fund, March of Dimes, Cancer Society, and the Society for Crippled Children.

No set amount is to be asked from each pupil, but a goal of 25 cents per elementary school student, and 50 cents for each junior-senior high school pupil has been suggested.

The "One Fund" drive has been revived after several years to simplify collections for charity and to impress school children with the importance of helping others.

Okinawa Veteran Finishes
Three Year Army Career

Sgt. Nicholas Glen Williams, of 27 Thompson Circle, Newark, received his honorable discharge at Fort Meade, Md., on Oct. 20 after completing three years of active military service with the U.S. Army.

The son of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Skold, of Newark, Sgt. Williams had been assigned to the 8603rd field station at Okinawa.

Parents are requested to impress their children with the importance of this pledge, to see that the youngsters sign them with name and address for return to their parents, who in turn, will submit them to the Moose.

Charles L. Davies, chairman of the pledge committee, reports a high return of the pledge cards distributed last year, along with a decrease in Halloween damage throughout the city.

The Newark Moose celebrated their fourth anniversary recently with a turkey supper served at the VFW home on Barksdale by wives of the members.

Harry Pierce is governor of the local Moose lodge.

Volunteer Firemen Get $535 In Drive For $18,000 Goal

Chief John Cunningham
Urges Public To Support
Annual Aetna Campaign

The annual fund campaign of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company has resulted in contributions amounting to exactly $535 to date, Chairman John C. Cunningham reported last night.

Letters soliciting contributions to meet operating and maintenance expenses of Newark's volunteer fire company were mailed to all residents of the Newark area last week. As Aetna faces an annual operating deficit of $18,000.

"Receipts are far below last year's figures for the same early period," Chief Cunningham stated yesterday, "but based on past performance of the people during our two previous fund drives, we feel confident that we may attain our goal of $18,000 through their generous contributions."

The annual budget of $18,000 was presented by the Aetna committee after careful study of annual operating costs, including the cost of repairs and maintenance of the fire-fighting equipment, with depreciation allowances.

Six pieces of modern fire-fighting apparatus, with hose, chemicals, lighting and other equipment rank the local volunteer fire company with the best in the state.

Chief Cunningham pointed out that the rapid increase in population, with the great number of new homes and business houses in the area, has created a new challenge to meet the strict requirements of Fire Underwriters to retain the low insurance rates now enjoyed in Newark.

Residents of the community are urged to make their contributions to the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company fund campaign as soon as possible.

New Movie Screen
At State Theater
Sign Of Progress

During its quarter century of operation, Newark's State Theater has entertained four generations of movie-goers through a transition from silent to sound films, and most recently, Cinemascope. A new anamorphic screen, with new lighting and lenses has been installed by Louis Handlit for the entertainment of the Newark audience.

The old screen had been replaced with one a third larger to provide greater visual perception with improved camera lenses, while the light has been intensified 100 percent with increased candlepower from the projection booth.

"We are pleased with the results," Herman Handlit said recently, "and to judge by attendance figures as compared with last year, so is the audience."

Wm. J. Clancy, veteran theater manager, made the move from the old Opera House at the corner of Main and Academy Streets to the present State Theater location, some 25 years ago. Herbert Wood is the projectionist.

In addition he has been associated with the Bread Loaf School of English and the Bread Loaf Writers' Conference, both of which are operated by Middlebury College of Vermont during the summer.

Mr. Bailey has been a frequent contributor to Field and Stream and to other outdoor magazines. His publications include "From Fact to Fiction," "Techniques in Article Writing," "A Fan and His Meals," "The Book of the Short Story," and "The Field and Stream Game Bag."

Jr. Achievement Charter

The industrial section of the Newark Chapter of Commerce received its national charter as co-sponsor of two Junior Achievement corporations, at a luncheon meeting held last week at Linton's restaurant.

The retail merchants section is co-sponsor of the program, and three advisors from each section will be selected for the two student corporations.

J. A. C. Enterprises will make artificial flowers of wood fiber and Prima Product will make costume jewelry of glass fused on copper. Both student groups have sold stock at 50 cent a share to finance the ventures.

William Johns, Jr., is the newly-elected chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial section.

City To Compete With Goblins In Saturday Night Mardi Gras

Youth Of Community Invited To Participate In Parade, Block Dance, Movies, Prizes, Refreshments Provided
By Local Organizations For Newark Halloween Party

As a distraction for the Halloween activities of witches, goblins, ghosts, spooks, and youthful citizens of Newark, a number of public-spirited organizations will sponsor a Saturday night Mardi Gras-Halloween program to be featured by a parade, prizes, a block dance, refreshments, movies, and general merrymaking of a peaceful nature.

Festivities will begin at 7 o'clock Saturday night, with a parade forming on the Newark High School athletic field, the parade route is planned north on Haines to Main Street; west to College Avenue, south to Delaware Avenue, and eastward again to the Aetna firehouse for the dance, refreshments, prizes, and movies.

Teen-agers will have a block dance provided for them on Academy Street in front of the Aetna firehouse, where the small fry, non-dancers, proceed across the street to the Newark Armory for movie entertainment.

Following the parade, in which all children are invited to join, similar entertainment will be provided for youngsters at the New London Avenue school.

At last week's meeting, the Newark city council appropriated $150 as a donation toward prizes and refreshments.

Other sponsors of the Halloween Mardi Gras are the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, Newark Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs, and the J. Allison O'Daniel Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Children and the Sisters from Our Lady of Grace Home, near Ogletown, have been invited as special guests for an evening of entertainment.

A similar affair held last Halloween was well received, and provided an evening of fun for the younger generation and their sponsors—and a comparatively quiet rest period at a critical season of the year for Newark property owners, householders, and the Police Department.

Total Registration
Figures Announced
For Nov. 2 Voting

110,680 Voters Register
For New Castle County
Nov. 2 Election

With only three of the state's 329 election districts still unreported, all in Sussex County, the total registration figure to date for the Nov. 2 election is 119,250.

The complete registration for New Castle County stands at 110,680, of which 49,333 are in Wilmington and 61,247 in the suburban and rural areas. The Kent County total is 18,534.

Alvin R. Evans, secretary of New Castle County Department of Elections, lists registration by hundreds of precincts.

Brandywine, 17,206; Christina, 16,296; New Castle, 10,790; White Clay Creek, 4,938; Mill Creek, 4,663; St. Georges, 2,546; Pencader, 2,188; Red Lion, 1,336; Appoquinimink, 1,129; and Blackbird, 704.

There are 279 voting districts in the county, of which 151 are in Wilmington. In 1952 there were approximately 120,000 votes cast in the county.

No Waiting Lines
Expected At Polls
In Tuesday Voting

Will there be any polling places in New Castle County where voters will have to stand in line a long time on election day? Even in the most populous districts will a single voting machine be inadequate to the demand upon it?

The answers are "No" in the judgment of Wayne C. Brewer, president of the County Board of Elections. These are facts as he sees them:

1. One machine is enough to take care of the maximum number of voters the law permits it to serve—600. On the average the rate will be two voters a minute. At that rate more than 1,200 persons could be accommodated in the 600 minutes of open polls.

2. There is no district in city or county with as many as 900 registered voters. Largest number is 788 in the second district of Brandywine Hundred.

The Quintet also has appeared with great success in cities on the east coast from Massachusetts to Alabama, as well as on radio and television.

All members of the Quintet occupy the first chair of their respective instruments in The Philadelphia Orchestra, and all are members of the faculty of the Curtis Institute of Music.

Delaware Farmers Face Final Exams In Green Pastures

Fall Inspections Planned
In State Pasture Program
By Extension, D.C.I.A.

School days returned for about 100 Delaware farmers during the past three weeks.

These men were given their "final examination" to determine who is to graduate on Nov. 23, in connection with the Greener Pasture program. Judging was based on efficiency of the farmers' pasture program.

The fall pasture inspection tour in New Castle and Sussex counties has just been completed, with Kent county yet to be visited. The judges conducting the tour were Claude E. Phillips and Frank Springer of the agronomy department of the University of Delaware, Extension dairymen Delmar Young, and the county agents.

"Most farmers passed with flying colors as pastures were generally in good condition and hay supplies were ample," Phillips states.

Under the Greener Pasture program, which is sponsored by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association in connection with the Extension service, a total of 150 farmers are enrolled each year. The farms are visited and rated three times a year—early spring, midsummer, and late fall.

Farmers who obtain excellent ratings will be graduated from the program. Of this year's class, one fourth to one-third are expected to graduate.

Scoring on the tour was based on the farmers' fall and permanent or rotation pasture program; his hay program, and his grain to milk ratio or supplemental feeding.

Certificates for those receiving grades of excellent, very good, or good will be presented at the annual Crops Award Banquet to be held in Kent County on November 23.
The aim of the Greener Pasture Program is 200 days of pasture for Delaware farms. Through the program farmers obtain professional advice on methods of obtaining the most effective and money saving pasture program.

Those farmers interested in enrolling in the program can obtain all the needed information from their county agent.

Civic-Family Life Balance Discussed By Church Groups

The importance of maintaining family unity in the face of many community demands, was emphasized at the second session of the Family Life conference held last Sunday night at the Newark Methodist Church. Following the theme for the evening, "The Family in the Community," reporters from eight groups at the concluding panel discussion suggested various methods of balancing family and community responsibility. Among the suggestions were placing "first things first" in family planning, eliminating less significant activities; participating in activities most suitable to one's interest and ability, and "learning to say no."

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bonney, Norwood and Nancy, presented a socio-drama portraying the many demands placed upon the family by community life.
Dr. G. Gorham Lane, conference chairman, presided at the panel discussion.

The third and final session will be held Sunday, beginning with a covered dish supper at 5:30 p.m.
The theme will be "Religion in the Family," and a sound film, "Faith of Our Families," will be shown.

Among the discussion leaders this week will be the Rev. William P. Kesmodel, Richardson Park Methodist church, who attended the national conference on family life conducted recently in Cleveland.

Reformation Day will be observed at 9:30 and 11 a.m. services and Dr. John J. Bunzang, Jr., minister, will continue a series of sermons on the Beatitudes.

Somewhere in the state...
one day this week...
one of our installers connected DELAWARE'S
150,000th TELEPHONE

It happened either in a home or office, or on a farm, somewhere in Delaware. It was impossible for us to know exactly where or at what hour the 150,000th telephone was installed, because so many of our installers are at work at the same time. In fact, a new telephone is connected every quarter hour of every working day—in the state of Delaware!

But even more impressive than this milestone in our history is the vastly stepped-up pace at which we have been meeting Delaware's demands for more service, ever since the end of World War II.

It took 43 years for 50,000 telephones to be in operation in Delaware. It took eight years to add the second 50,000. And it has taken only six years to add the third 50,000!

Today, nearly 4 out of every 5 homes in the state are telephone homes.

All this takes vast quantities of equipment . . . not only telephone instruments, but also wire and cable and poles and switchboards and dial mechanisms, to say nothing of entire buildings. It takes the skilled work of hundreds of people. And it takes millions of dollars. We have, in fact, doubled the investment in the telephone company during the last 6½ years.

We will continue to drive forward to our goal, which is to provide good, fast, dependable and constantly improving telephone service for everyone who wants it . . . at a cost that keeps it one of the biggest bargains in the family budget.

State Farm Census To Survey Extent Of Mechanization

Census Bureau To Begin Check Of Delaware Farm Machinery Use, Nov. 8

Most folks admit the old gray mare is not what she used to be—but the Bureau of Census wants to know just how nearly machines have replaced her.

Extent of farm mechanization is one of the measurements the 1954 Census of Agriculture will take in October and November. In Delaware the farm census gets underway Nov. 8.

Each farmer will be asked, "How many of the following are on this place: Wheel tractors? garden tractors? crawler tractors? grain combines? corn pickers? pick-up balers? field forage harvesters? automobiles? motortrucks?"

The 1950 Census found tractors on 2,525,000 farms or 46.9 percent of all farms. There was an average of 1.4 tractors per farm reporting tractors. Only 34.2 percent of the farms reported trucks—an average of 1.2 trucks on 1,840,000 farms.

Sixty-three percent of all farms in 1950 had automobiles; 12.4 percent, grain combines; 8.3 percent, corn pickers; and 3.6 percent, pick-up balers.

The question on equipment is one of about 100 that each farmer will answer. The Census Bureau is urging farmers to answer enumerators' question and to fill out questionnaires when they arrive in the mail. Delaware farmers can expect to receive their questionnaires about Nov. 1.

Michael Ogden, Linda Dayett, Jean Brooks, Vickie Scott, Cindy Jordan, Marilyn Bohrer.

Mrs. Mary Jordan, teacher; Jeanette Brooks, Shirley Dayett, Mary Louise Laws, Sandra Leasure and Joan Laws achieved honorable attendance.

Dr. Russell G. Stauffer, director of the Reading Clinic, and Dean William O. Penrose are co-chairmen of the planning committee for this fifth annual conference which began in 1950-51.

Brookside Church $230,000 Building Program Approved

Kingswood-of-Brookside
Methodist Church Plans
Reviewed, Get Approval

Plans for a $230,000 building program for Kingswood-of-Brookside Methodist Church were approved by the church building committee at a meeting last week in the parsonage.

Preliminary drawings were explained by the architect, George Savage of Philadelphia. The first unit, to cost $165,000, will be erected on Marrows Road, Brookside. When these facilities become inadequate, the second $65,000 educational unit will be added.

Drawings will be submitted at the Nov. 4 meeting in Dover of the Peninsula Annual Conference board of missions by the Rev. Dr. John N. Link, Wilmington district superintendent, and the Rev. Milton H. Keene, church pastor.

Floor plans of the first unit include a sanctuary, a balcony to seat 500 persons, a divided chancel, and center altar.

Beneath the sanctuary will be a fellowship hall. Classrooms are indicated on all three levels of the building.

Over the entrance tower, a spire of translucent plastic will be lighted from within, symbolizing the words of Mr. Keene, "of the inner light of Christian experience." Made of a modern chemical product, it serves also to symbolize the fact that "though the roots of the Church are deep in the soil of the past, its life reaches into the most modern thought of the human race."

Scout Committee For Cub Pack 55 Plans Activities

Cub Scout Pack 55 committee met recently to plan activities for the next three months, and Cubmaster Edwin Hein appointed Joseph Crowe as his assistant. Jack Murphy was named pack chairman.

Committee members R. N. Loftman and H. G. Young were present with five den mothers and their assistants who helped in planning pack and den meetings.

Mrs. Jane Nutter is den mother of Den 16 with the following Cub Scouts: Terry Crowe, Breck Hitz, Jim Murphy, Ted Nutter, Frank Scott and Toby Smith.

Mrs. Carrie Thomas is mother of Den 4 with Cub Scouts Thomas, Douglas Hein, Mike Hare, Wendell Dunn, Wilson Griswold and Bill Prickett.

Mrs. Nancy Owen is den mother for Cub Scouts John Able, Pete Dolan, Mike Kubicek, Jonathan Owens, Allan Whitman, Everett Priestley, Chayne Chase, Wayne Henderson, Arthur Foster, Joe Brothers, Wilson Young, and H. G. "Skip" Young of Den 2.

Mrs. Jacqueline Squire is den mother for Paul Biddle, Warren Eastburn, Richard Hawthorne, Guy Loftman, Robert Wayne, Jason Otto, Be Figgard, and Robert Squire of Den 18.

Mrs. Ruth Amoroso is den mother for John Gordon, Howard Grant, Maxie Sumner, John Zistle, John Mayer, Bill Ralph, Archie Peel and Herb Cole, Cub Scouts of Den 6.

HOW IT BEGAN
In ancient Greece, a ship's captain, before taking a new vessel to sea, was "married" to it in a ritualistic ceremony and a laurel bow was hung in the rigging to symbolize the wedding. Hence our modern expression of "maiden voyage."

"It's A Great Life"

By
The Rev. Milton H. Keene
Kingswood-of-Brookside

When Hurricane Hazel came ripping northward from the Caribbean she did some good—along with the heavy damage charged against her.

Where I live, the lights—after a few uncertain flickers—finally conked out, leaving the house in darkness. And with the darkness, the television set.

Flashlight in hand, we searched for a match to light the slim white candles which had graced the dinner table for several months, unlighted.

With their light the only illumination in the house, we rediscovered the friendly glow by which generations of our ancestors read their books and performed their household chores on dark winter evenings while the wind was howling down the chimney.

Sitting at the table were the four candles glowing in their candleabras, casting their yellow light on the brass plate hanging on the knotty pine wall. Years dropped away. And in the soft glow one felt the nearness of the past.

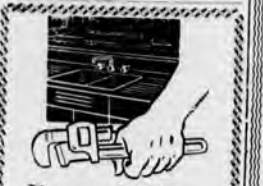

But this was not all. With the TV silent, and radio dead, there was nothing to do—nothing that is, but what human beings through unnumbered years have done in the absence of these electrical devices which we have come to regard as the staff of home life.

Conversations about the things that had happened during the day. Talked about old friends—about past vacations; about the coming holidays.

Even the children enjoyed the change. "Gee this is nice!" is the way they summed it all up.

I'm not against progress; but frankly, I've almost made up my mind that our house ought to have an electric-less night—one in a while—so that some of the ageless values of our race might not be lost completely to our generation.

The reformer must be a hero at all points, and he must have conquered himself before he can conquer others. — Mary Baker Eddy.

YOUR VOTE COUNTS!

Local issues, state and national issues—and, because of our world leadership, world issues—will be decided at the polls on November 2.

Whatever else you may do on that day, VOTE FIRST! In this important year of decision, don't be a vote slacker! Many elections have been settled by margins of one vote per precinct, or less.

A single vote certainly does count—and it might be your vote!

Boggs Dislocates Neck
J. Caleb Boggs, playing center for the University of Delaware, suffered a fractured vertebra and a dislocated neck during the Hens' Saturday clash with Susquehanna at Newark.

The 20-year old junior, who had won a varsity berth this season, was injured in the third quarter. Dr. Wallace Johnson made the examination and diagnosis and ordered the Newark ambulance to take the injured glider to the Homeopathic Hospital for x-rays and special consultations.

A special brace has been made for his neck and physicians expect his complete recovery.

Schools Approach Capacity
Newark school authorities are conducting an intensive study to determine how they may accommodate the increasing enrollment.

Operating at 95% capacity, the local schools may be overcrowded with next year's anticipated enrollment.

The local school board has requested the State Board of Education for additional building facilities with a south wing to provide a gymnasium and classes in manual arts and business training.

Legion Auxiliary Officers
Mrs. Orville Little has been elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 10, succeeding Mrs. A. E. Tomhave who organized the unit last February. Mrs. Fred Strickland was named vice-president succeeding Mrs. Lester Scotten.

Other officers are Mrs. Clarence Hopkins, secretary; Mrs. John R. Fader, treasurer; Mrs. Conrad Lewis, historian; Mrs. Leonard Rhodes, chaplain; and Mrs. Frank Balling, sergeant-at-arms.

Music Society Opening
Mr. and Mrs. John Pearce Cann were hosts to members of the Newark Music Society at the first musical of the season. Miss Eleanor Edge, pianist, and J. Frank Huss, baritone, provided the musical portion of the program, and Dr. W. Owen Syphard gave a reading before some 50 members and their guests.

The society will hold its next musical on the evening of Nov. 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holton.

Landmark Passes
One of Newark's oldest mercantile institutions passed into history when the stock of the Motherall Store was sold and the business closed. The store was started by Nathan and Robert Motherall in 1875, and since the recent death of his brother, Robert has been engaged in closing out the firm. Liquidation was completed this week.

New Fraternity House
Members of the Kappa Alpha fraternity are preparing plans for construction of a chapter house on the University of Delaware campus. Some $15,000 has already been raised by subscription for the proposed $20,000 fraternity house, which will be the third to be built on the campus. Construction is expected to start soon.

pected to start shortly after the first of the year. Purnell Hall, which occupies a portion of the site for the proposed building, is to be moved.

Sports
Newark High School walloped A. I. duPont last week by an impressive margin of 26-0, with Capt. Mayer and Sommermeyer contributing two touchdowns apiece to the Newark cause. Mayer dropped-kicked both extra points.

In Newark's starting line-up were Rittenhouse and Widdoes, ends; Wallis and Coverdale, tackles; Vannoy and Webb, guards; Ford, center; and Smith, Dean, McCully and Mayer, backs. Reserves in action included Sommermeyer, McDonnell, Surratt, Barrows, Schwartz, Gallagher, Willis, Johnson, and Jackson.

Lacking the leadership of Capt. Ace Taylor, Delaware lost a slug-gish, 6-0 contest to the visiting Susquehanna on Prazer Field, which was unpleasantly highlighted by a serious injury to Caleb Boggs, Hen center.

Taylor was benched through injuries sustained in the Urainus game.

Susquehanna scored on a 30-yard touchdown pass in the second period, and although the visitors outplayed the Hens throughout the contest, their touchdown was the lone threat throughout.

Starting for Delaware were Hill and Slonn, ends; Henning and Dillon, tackles; Walker and Mudron, guards; Boggs, center; Hagerty, quarterback; Warren and Tunnell, halfbacks; and Hiley, fullback.

Social
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Brown, Jr., with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Norton have returned after a week's motor trip through the Midwest and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daugherty had Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Stansfield, of Reisterstown, Md., as their guests last weekend.

Mrs. Ernest Frazer was honored at a surprise party by her sisters, Misses Martha and Lydia Foard, and her daughters, Agnes and Anne. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Cooch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fader, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Geist, Dr. Glenn Skinner, Wm. McCloskie, Mrs. Reese Griffin, Miss Alice Vail, Miss Doris Erdman, Mrs. Anna Brown, and Mrs. Charles Steel.

Dorothy Pepper, a student at Beaver College, spent the weekend as the guest of Miss Jeanette Thoroughgood.

Miss Lillian Steele, of Philadelphia, was the weekend guest of Miss Marjorie Johnson.

Miscellaneous
Weekend meat specials included standing rib roast at 39 cents; smoked, skinned hams at 25 cents; and country sausage at 35 cents a pound.

At the movies, it was Lee Tracy, Mae Clark and Stepin Fetchit in "Big Time"; George O'Brien in the talkie-comedy "Mixed Emotions"; and Clara Bow in "Wild Party."

Local High School Pupils To Attend Drama Conference

Newark, Conrad, Smyrna High Students To Offer Scenes From Shakespeare

Fourteen students from Newark, Conrad, and Smyrna high schools will give reading performances from three of Shakespeare's plays at the 15th Delaware Dramatic Conference tomorrow morning at the University of Delaware. These readings are designed to show how schools can supplement their study of Shakespeare by simple performances to give students a better appreciation of his plays.

Ned B. Allen, chairman of the department of English at the university and an authority on Shakespeare, will offer comments at the meeting scheduled for 10:30 a.m. in Mitchell Hall.

Newark High School contributions will present a performance from "Taming of the Shrew," with Mary Holloway, Paul Shaw, and Ellis Smith, under the direction of Miss Jane Groh.

Smyrna High School will present a scene from Macbeth with Harley Bodley, Luz Kerr, and Marie Rehak, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Williams, and the Conrad High School performance from "Julius Caesar," will be directed by Miss Phyllis Shaw. The cast consists of Elliot Goldyn, Jim McGuinness, Carl Scutter, Bill Peach, Louis Lee, George Kenyon, Dick O'Donald, and Louis Chance.

Among the other items on the program of particular interest to students will be the conducted tour of the University Theatre facilities scheduled for 4:15 p.m.

C. Robert Kase, who is planning the affair, reports unusual interest in this conference. Mt. Pleasant High School will send a delegation of 75. Dr. Kase attributes the great interest to the nature of the theme, "Shakespeare on our Stages," which was selected to coincide with the campaign to establish a Shakespeare Memorial Theatre and Academy in this country.

Students' Stomach Upset Attributed To Flu, Not Food

Mild Epidemic Strikes Delaware Campus Just Before Hurricane Hazel

A mild epidemic of upset stomachs that struck students at the University of Delaware just before the hurricane on Oct. 15 is "definitely not attributable to food" served in university dining halls, Dr. Gordon Keppel, university physician, said this week.

The epidemic, which Dr. Keppel says is probably a virus intestinal flu, affected about 100 students on its first day. It has been continuing since then, the doctor said, but the number of cases has tapered off.

"These things always seem to strike an institution with explosive force," Dr. Keppel said, "and at first are always thought to be caused by food. The doctors have to find out what is causing them."

In this case, he pointed out, the number of students who live and eat off-campus who were afflicted indicated that the food served in the dining halls was not to blame.

Newark Thrift Shop Aids In Brownie Uniform Sale

The Newark Thrift Shop is now co-operating with the Newark Girl Scouts in the sale of used Brownie and Girl Scout uniforms.

Those who have uniforms to sell are urged to take them as soon as possible to the consignment room of the Thrift Shop, located on the second floor of the Police Station on Academy Street. The uniforms to be sold should be clean and in reasonably good condition.

The Thrift Shop is open every Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

After the first outbreak, which was centered in one campus area, the disease became more generally distributed among all segments of the student population. A check of the food served in the dining halls showed nothing wrong with it.

Newark Recreation Plans, Facilities Outlined For PTA

High School, Central Elementary Group Has Program On Recreation

Recreational programs and facilities available in the Newark area were outlined at the Parent-Teacher Association of Newark High School and the Academy Street grade school last Thursday night. George Sargisson, head of Recreation Promotion and Service in Wilmington, discussed the aims and purposes of organized recreation.

"It is an old adage," said Mr. Sargisson, "that keeping youngsters on the courts—tennis and basketball courts, that is—will keep them out of the courts. But that is a by-product. The main purpose of a recreation program is for the fun and to teach the sharing of experiences."

Mrs. William O. Skold described the work of the Newark Recreation Association. Its summer activities include playgrounds in George Read Village, Cleveland Avenue, and New London Avenue, a youth center in the former Main Street School, an adult softball league, and 7-day-a-week supervision of Rittenhouse Park.

All year, it includes Saturday night dances for senior high school students and a variety of uses for the Linden Hall recently given to the association by the Chrysler Corporation.

Newark YMCA activities were described by W. L. Gore, speaking for DeWitt Smith, executive secretary, who had not returned from a trip to Washington with about 100 local boys on their school holiday.

The Y. Mr. Gore said, offers day camps, swimming lessons, an Indian Guide program, and the school clubs—Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, Gra-Y for boys and girls, and junior Hi-Y. Among the most popular activities, he added, are the Saturday morning gym classes for boys and girls.

Dr. John Withall, associate professor of education at the University of Delaware, has accepted a post with the National Education Association in Washington, D.C. His responsibilities include planning, social conferences and working with its department of kindergarten and primary education.

At the university, Dr. Withall helped in planning conferences, directed the university's psychological research center for a year, and taught in the school of education. Before coming to Delaware, he was assistant professor of education at Brooklyn College.

A native of London, England, Dr. Withall spent most of his life in Canada, and did his undergraduate work at Bishop's University in Quebec. He received his doctorate at the University of Chicago.

He, his wife, and three children, are moving from Newark to Silver Spring, Md.

Y Conducts 104 Youths On Nation's Capital Trip
One hundred four boys and girls from Newark enjoyed a YMCA sponsored trip to Washington Thursday during the school holidays.

In the morning, they were taken on a guided tour through the capitol and the Washington monument, and in the afternoon, they were shown the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials and were taken on a guided tour of the FBI building and the Smithsonian Institute. Supper at the YMCA completed the day's activities in Washington.

Hen Champs Face Muhlenberg; Stop Huskies For 10 Straight

Twice Beaten Mules Face Undeclared Mid Six Champs With 7-6 Series Edge; Jim Zaiser, Johnny Oberg Share Four Delaware Touchdowns As Hens Stop Uconns, 28-7

After convincing Connecticut with a 28-7 victorious performance at Delaware Stadium last Saturday, the University of Delaware's Blue Hen grid champions will journey to Allentown, Pa., this Saturday in an effort to extend a 5-0 season's record and a 10-game winning streak at the expense of the Muhlenberg Mules.

Delaware met the Mules for the first time in 1910, and will attempt to even the series between the two schools with a victory this weekend. Current series standings give Muhlenberg a 7-6 edge, with one game resulting in a tie. The Hens won last year, 1944.

The Allentown eleven, numbering only 28, of which 19 are letter-winners, has shown a tremendous competitive spirit, rising to blank both Lafayette and Lebanon Valley after losing to Bucknell and Albright in the first two games of the season.

Mulepower

The Mules are blessed with both a seasoned line and an effective backfield combine. The line, though averaging only 185 pounds, has appeared very fast and aggressive in games to date. Jackie McDonald, 5-6, 160 pound center, is the pride of the Muhlenberg backfield. Equally adept in running, punting, and passing, this speedy left halfback scored eight touchdowns and led the Mules in ground-gaining with 307 yards in 116 carries in 1953.

For the second straight week the Hens had trouble moving Coach Dave Nelson's diversified offense into high gear against New England opposition. Delaware's offense caught up to its defense in the second period when Left Halfback Jim Zaiser carried to the day's first touchdown and the Hens were on their way to victory No. 10.

Drive

Fullback Andy Wagner, the game's leading ground gainer, smashed for a first down on the Connecticut 40. Jimmy Flynn, advanced to the 24 and Miller kicked the assignment for a 7-0 lead. Time was hardly a factor after the second half kickoff but the Hens, now rolling in familiar fashion, needed less than four minutes to go 20 yards for another touchdown. Zaiser picked up a first down on Delaware's 43; off-tackle slants moved the ball to Connecticut's 46 and Wagner finished the job. The hard-running fullback, moved through a hole in the left side, accepted a savage block thrown by Center Frank Gyetvan and, spinning through defenders, broke into the open at the 30 and sprinted across. Flynn did the honors this time from placement and Delaware had a 14-0 advantage.

Passing Attack

A Miller to Apostolico pass annexed 36 yards and a Miller to Vince Grande toss, worth 12 yards, set up the touchdown for Fullback Johnny Oberg from Connecticut's 2. Sophomore Oberg, scoring his first points as a varsity performer, went over on second down. Flynn added the extra point.

Nelson, content with a three-touchdown lead, removed the first string at that point and sat back to watch Quarterback Bob Hooper and Right Half Tony Candeloro set up another TD for Candeloro.

Lafayette Defeats Blue Chicks, 9-7 In Frosh Opener

Fourth Period Safety Gives Leopards Slim Margin For Victory

Lafayette's freshmen football team rallied with a touchdown, conversion and safety in the fourth period to defeat the University of Delaware Frosh, 9-7, away on Friday. It was the Maroon yearlings' second victory in as many games. Delaware had taken a 7-0 lead in the second period when Jack Pollack, Blue Hen tackle, blocked a Lafayette punt and Ralph Radling, halfback, picked it up and raced 20 yards to the Lafayette 23. Radling ripped through the right side to the 9, and Dick Bryner established the middle for the touchdown. Walt Handke, guard, kicked the extra point.

The Delaware defense kept the Maroon in check throughout the first three quarters, but Blue Hen fumbles prevented further scoring. Late in the fourth period, the Delaware yearlings were set back on their 20 in a clipping penalty. Tony Toto tried to kick out of danger, but Maroon guard George Lloyd crashed through to block the punt. Mike Reil, Lafayette end, recovered on the 1 and on the second play, Quarterback Joe Bosik sneaked over.

Ed Reese's placement was partially blocked, but went over the crossbar. Another penalty, for intentionally downing a pass, put Delaware on its own 5. Seconds later, on the first play, Quarterback Larry Catuzzi faded into the end zone to pass and was thrown by the whole Lafayette line for a safety. It was the first game for the Delaware freshmen.

Hen Soccer Team Stops Gettysburg By Score Of 6-0

The Blue Hen soccer team equalled a team scoring record last Saturday before an appreciative homecoming crowd and defeated Gettysburg, 6-0, on Frazer Field.

Veterans Nick Paxson and Bill Register tallied twice while Serge Sacharuk and co-captain John McLaughlin accounted for the single scores in the Delaware victory.

The Hens took a 3-0 first period lead and, after a scoreless second period, wrapped up the game with two tallies in the third period and one in the fourth.

Delaware center Sacharuk scored the first goal. On the right flank, Paxson was next, heading the ball into the goal on a beautiful cross from McLaughlin.

Inside Left Nick Paxson tallied for the third goal on a penalty kick. Register connected for his second successful head shot in the third period.

Goalie Tom Brown, returning to the lineup after a rib injury, played one of the finest soccer games of his career as he handled the ball 21 times and interrupted several Gettysburg scoring moves.

SPORTS FLASHES

The Sporting News
by J. G. Taylor Spink

The Philadelphia Athletics, as they pass from the control of Connie Mack, leave a legacy of baseball history.

Under the new order, all that remains of the era just ended is Connie Mack in the role of honorary vice-president, Roy as executive vice-president for one year at $25,000, and the sign on the corner of the ball park tower. It is still "Connie Mack Stadium."

How It Began
The story of the Athletics since they opened for business in the new American League in 1901 is the story of Connie Mack.

A review of the club's span as Mack property — nine pennants won—five of eight World Series won—the fat and lean years—devoted to fastidious detail of Connie's span as the club's boss.

Connie Takes Over
When Dan Johnson decided that his league, an independent minor in 1900, was fit to go major, invade the East and give battle to the established National, he picked Cornelius McGillicuddy to take charge in Philadelphia.

Connie, then 38, had been through for two years as a catcher. He had managed the Milwaukee club with moderate success for four years. His name had long since been dropped to fit box scores.

Calling a new Philadelphia club the Athletics was smart promotion. The very name endeared the team to the fans. Except for a brief spell in the '90's, there had been a Philadelphia team so styled since before the Civil War.

Original Investment
Into the venture Connie put his 17 years' experience as player and manager and "not more" than $10,000. For that he got one-quarter of the original 500 shares. The rest was shared by Charles W. Somers, a wealthy Cleveland banker who bankrolled Johnson.

Before the first season ended, the late Benjamin F. Shibe, a sporting goods manufacturer in northeast Philadelphia, bought Somers' share. One inducement to persuade Shibe to buy into the club was a promise that the baseballs he made would be used exclusively in the American League.

Complete Control
The Mack-Shibe interest remained in balance until 1937, when Tom Shibe's death caused control of the club to be passed to the Mack family.

The story of the Athletics under Connie Mack is a story of both success and failure. While the A's won nine American League flags under the Tall Tactician—and five World Series—they also finished last 17 times.

Low Cost Giants
Placing a winning team on the field in a World Series is something that costs not only several million dollars, as was the case with the Boston Red Sox a number of years ago. With the New York Giants, however, the feat was accomplished at a figure which most magnates will rue in utter disbelief. The Giants won four straight games from the Cleveland Indians on a long-range cash outlay of less than $150,000.

To give the nine players and half-dozen pitchers who confounded the experts in 1954, Horace C. (for "Confounder") Stoneham wrote checks in the vicinity of 150 grand.

Home Grown
The rest of the considerations which brought such stand-out performers as Al Dark, Johnny Antonelli and others to the Polo Grounds' roster were tradable players developed by the Giants in their own farm system, probably one of the most underrated factors in modern baseball.

Ironically, the number one item in the "purchase" of the first Giant world's championship club in two decades was Davey Williams, the one regular in the Series who failed to get a hit. Davey, who sparked afield during the Series games, represents one-third of that $150,000. The Giants paid Atlanta $50,000 for their second baseman a half-dozen seasons ago.

Pinch Hit Star
Dusty Rhodes, the pinch-hit hero, represented an investment of half that figure. Johnny Antonelli, the young man with the best record in the National League last season,

The Newark Post, Newark, Delaware, Thursday, October 28, 1954

Monday, noon, is the hour for which Delaware duck-hunters have been waiting since last season's final shots were fired, and while the noon hour is not generally regarded as one of the better periods of a duck-hunting day, a host of hopeful hunters will be out straining their eyes into the horizons, anyway.

But an opening day noon can be productive as we discovered several years ago while spending the afternoon on Pea Patch Island, in the Delaware River, with wildfowling partner Brok Sentman of New Castle.

"Urgent, personal business" required our presence that afternoon on the lonely, forbidding bastion that separates the Jersey Shore and ship channel from Wiswamy's dispensary of good cheer in Delaware City, and under a pale, cold December sun, we tossed a spread of decoys from a sandbar off the northeast end of the island in an effort to attract a generally slim afternoon flight.

Five Black Ducks
The last black duck hardly splashed into the murky river water when five broad-chested black ducks poured out of the sky with silver-white wings aflutter, orange webs down and reaching, and we were in business.

Sentman was shooting a pump-gun, and along with our double-barreled fire power, five shots were flung into the very figurative teeth of those five blacks—and not a bird was touched.

A pair of beautiful mallards dropping down, down, down—before the echoes came rolling back across the river—and another barrage of chilled sixes belled out across the flats as the understandably alarmed ducks rocketed safely back up into the stratosphere.

Shear Pin Trouble
The shooting was fast, furious—and happily for the Pea Patch Island duck population—ineffectual. And it ended when our partner sheared a pin in taking the boat and outboard after an eventually downed hen mallard.

With no spare shear pins, some very interesting shooting time was spent one of fashioning a substitute pin from a nail obtained from some island driftwood.

The marksmanship was awful—the duck flight was terrific—and despite the late opening hour, we spent one of the most pleasant duck hunting expeditions on personal record.

This coming Monday noon could be another good one, and Paul Gainer, "Horse" Robinson, Dick Young, Ken Mathewson, Gibby Young, and George Wiggins plan to be among those on the firing line to find out.

At Noxontown
Sunday afternoon at Noxontown, the warm-blooded wildlife was far more in evidence than occupants of the lake water.

Trotting slowly under oarpower end of the lake, a variety of bait-casting lures and flyrod bucktails and spinners failed to arouse either bass or pickerel to any pitch of evident enthusiasm.

The trolling, which was for the benefit of six-year old Little Bill and indirectly, for his father who chafes at backlash operations when fish are in the offing—covered several miles of attractive-looking water beside the red and gold shoreline foliage and was interrupted only by an occasional tree branch or some other submarine obstacle hooked by the lures trailing astern.

Beyond St. Andrew's School, where a wooded hillside drops into the lake, a big, fat, tawny groundhog trotted leisurely, like a miniature bear, parallel with our trolling course—reared upright at the end of a grassy bank beneath the shadow of a giant oak on the lake bank—and after surveying his interested audience with unalarmed deliberation, the portly woodchuck ducked below.

Further up the lake, another woodland groundhog—upholstered in silver-gray, this time—ambled down a steep hill and stood watching, unafraid, as we glided by.

Nature Glided
An osprey was fishing with considerable success in the open lake, and mallards and black ducks were rustling overhead throughout the course of our fishing as Old Mother Nature put on a show to compensate for some slow fishing.

When the young fisherman grew weary of trolling, we broke out the flyrod in a sheltered cove and had an interesting few rounds with some small silver-blue crappie.

But Noxontown's heavyweights were putting in a quiet, sleepy Sunday afternoon.

made the difference for the Giants and Antonelli didn't cost the Giants a nickel.

A check-up of the Giants' regulars' roster is a fascinating adventure in low-cost, high-return financing. Why? Look no farther than the few dollars the Giants signed him on a fence rail in Charlotte, N.C.

Henry Thompson? The Giants gave the Kansas City Monarchs a fair price for him.

Willie Mays? The Giants paid the Birmingham Black Barons for him and gave Willie something to sign.

Bob Siemen Named Frosh Basketball Coach At Delaware

Former Blue Hen Athlete Succeeds Irv Wisniewski As Pilot Of Blue Chicks

Robert F. Siemen has been appointed Delaware freshman basketball coach, succeeding Irv Wisniewski who now guides the Blue Hen varsity.

The new court tutor is also varsity baseball coach and assistant director of athletics.

Siemen, a member of the University of Delaware athletic staff since 1946, coached freshman and junior varsity basketball teams from 1946 to 1953, and in 1952, he piloted the Blue and Gold tennis team. Siemen assumed coaching responsibilities of the varsity baseball team in 1953.

The yearling quintet tutor rates his 1950-51 freshman basketball team as the finest freshman squad he has coached. This group, which included Frank White, Skip Crawford, Matt Larkin, Jack Ryan, and Ed Linsley, were champions of the southern division, Middle Atlantic freshman league with a 14-1 season record. Two additional Siemen-coached teams copied similar honors.

Siemen's overall record with the Delaware freshmen is 54 victories against only 27 defeats.

A graduate of the University of Delaware, Siemen lettered in basketball, soccer, track, and tennis, competing in all four sports in his senior year. He served as captain of the Mason-Dixon championship soccer team in 1942.

At the end of his college career he received an intramural trophy for the highest number of points gained by a member of his class in four years. In the pre-war period, varsity men were allowed to participate in intramural teams.

Mr. and Mrs. Siemen and their two children reside at 723 Lehigh Road, Newark.

Delaware's freshman courtmen own their season on Dec. 4 against Golden-Bearcom, with Lehigh Brown Prep, Drexel, Ursinus, and Haverford following the Wilmington team on the Blue and Gold schedule.

Gary Scott, Penn Halfback, Returns To Quaker Lineup

Gary Scott, Penn's regular right halfback until injured in the William & Mary game, may bolster the Quakers' catastrophic cause.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott of Red Mill Rd., Newark, the fleet senior from Wilmington was the defensive backfield star in the opening game with Duke and then suffered a slight shoulder separation in the early minutes of the William & Mary contest.

Scott, operating at left halfback, returns to the position he played under Rea McGraw at P. S. du Pont High in Wilmington where he was the outstanding tailback in the single wing attack.

In college football, Scott played his sophomore year as a defensive safety man and for the last two years has been operating at the right halfback spot.

Touch Football Scheduled Saturday At High School

Saturday morning, two junior high touch football league games will be played, beginning at 10:30 on the Newark High School field, with the Reds, captained by John Cairns, vs. the Blues, captained by Fletcher Truitt.

The Greens, headed by Allen Pillard, will play the Orange squad, with Norm Hambleton, captain. The Reds and Blues are undefeated, with one win apiece, while the Green and the Orange clubs have provided the leaders with their 1-0 records.

Pimlico Schedules Stakes Card Totaling $112,500

Five stakes, totaling $112,500 in added money, plus a $10,000 feature over the turf course, make up the list of special events for the Maryland Jockey Club's fall meeting which runs from Nov. 4 through Nov. 20 at Pimlico.

Colonials Crush Newark 20-0 In Yellowjackets' First Loss

Previously Undeclared, Unscored-Upon Yellowjackets Fall Under Wm. Penn Invasion After Rolling Points Against Three Opponents; Hall Out With Injury

After scoring 113 points against three shut-outs, the Newark High School Yellowjackets were routed by the visiting William Penn last Saturday as Coach Billy Cole's Colonials punched a big hole in Newark's undefeated season with three touchdowns in three years to the New Castle grid.

A crowd of 2,500 saw the Colonials win their third game in four starts and almost completely dominated the game against a team that had gone unbeaten, untied and unscored upon in three games against lesser opposition.

Big difference in the game was made by the Colonials' line, which repeatedly tore huge gaps in the Newark forward wall, as Cole's speedsters ran for sizeable gains. Kenroy Hall, Newark's brilliant halfback who made All-State with Howard High last year, did not play. He is recovering from a chipped bone in his shoulder.

In returning to the form that had seen the Colonials go through 25 games without defeat over three seasons until Wilmington High stopped them 27-7 two weeks ago, the New Castle boys ground out touchdowns in all but the third period. Newark never was able to seriously threaten, although it put William Penn in a temporary jam in the second period when a Newark punt carried the Colonials back to their own 2-yard line.

William Penn took the lead in the first quarter when Bill Nolan carried 73 yards down the right sideline for a touchdown. Harper Culley and Bill Adams threw key blocks on the run.

The Colonials widened the lead to 13-0 at halftime. After Culley recovered a Newark fumble on the William Penn 27, the Colonials drove 73 yards for a touchdown, with Johnny Lane going the last 10 yards.

1st Veterans Day Observance Asked By Boggs, Nov. 11

In recognition of the first Veterans Day to be observed on Nov. 11—the old Armistice Day date—Governor J. Caleb Boggs has called upon leaders of veterans' organizations to arrange appropriate ceremonies in the state, and a meeting of organization leaders was held in Wilmington on Tuesday night.

Governor Boggs appointed Col. Thomas H. Stilwell, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Wilmington as state chairman, and in letters to veteran and auxiliary leaders urged them to cooperate with Col. Stilwell in this initial effort.

Veterans Day became a new holiday when the 83rd Congress approved such legislation last June and President Eisenhower signed the bill.

Veterans organizations were in the forefront to secure a change in the designation for Nov. 11, because, with World War II and Korea in the history books, and the fact that the 1918 Armistice did not bring the peace which was sought, it held little current significance.

University Drama Group To Present "Harvey" On Stage

Nov. 11-12-13 Showings
To Be Held At Mitchell
Hall By Local Players

The Mitchell Hall box office will open next Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. for the sale of tickets to "Harvey," the first major production of the University Drama Group current season. The laugh-studded comedy by Mary Chase is scheduled for Nov. 11, 12 and 13 in Mitchell Hall.

Elizabeth Kase is directing the famous play which starred Frank Fay on Broadway and James Stewart in the movies.

Taking the role of Elwood P. Dowd—whose attachment for the invisible six-foot rabbit in the play will be E. C. Mahanna. Cast in this part, Mr. Mahanna plays a long ambition; he saw Harvey four times, always with the hope of being able sometime to portray Elwood.

Another performer well-known to UDG audiences will be Charlotte Hanson, who is taking the part of Elwood's sister. After her dramatic portrayal of Patty Cannon, Mrs. Hanson is reverting to the comedy she did so ably in "Strange Bedfellows."

Joe and Billy Shields return to the Mitchell Hall stage, after a year's absence, to play the husband and wife team of Dr. and Mrs. Chumley. Dr. Chumley, as head of the mental institution where Elwood is supposed to be committed, will have Michael Kubicek playing the part of Wilson, the brawny, if not brainy, attendant, and Edwin Mullen playing the part of his assistant, Dr. Sanderson.

Mr. Mullen, now living in the Newark area, is no stranger to Mitchell Hall, as he played Petruchio in the recent Arden Players version of "The Taming of the Shrew," and Mr. Scratch in the Wilmington Drama League entry, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," in the Delaware Play Festival last spring.

Another former Drama Leaguer now living near Newark is Robert Corneliuss, taking the role of Cuffey, whose legal dignity is quite shaken by the unbelievable Harvey, Elwood's niece, whose social debut is shattered by her uncle's invisible friend, will be Anne Wooten.

Miss Wooten will be remembered as the feminine lead in the Newark School facility's productions of "The Bishop Misbehaves" and "Annie Get Your Gun." She also appeared as Nerissa in the UDG production of "The Merchant of Venice" and directed "Angel Street," given by UDG last May.

Ernest Sutton, having the distinction of playing major roles in all of last season's plays, will appear as the taxi driver, whose pointed remarks bring a solution to the complications of Harvey.

Tickets for reserved seats may be obtained from the box office at Mitchell Hall beginning Wednesday, from 3:30 to 4:30 and 7 to 8 daily, excluding Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are also available at the Newark Department Store, and by mail, P.O. Box 36.

Rotary Club Guest Tells Of Japanese Way Of Life

The people of Japan maintain a basic human dignity in sharp contrast with the sub-animal level on which many millions live in India, Dr. Bernard Phillips told the Newark Rotary Club Monday night at its dinner in the College Inn.

Dr. Phillips, chairman of the department of philosophy at the University of Delaware, lived three and a half months in a Buddhist monastery in Japan after having spent about a year in India. His topic was "Standard of Living and Standard of Life in Japan."
