

RECREATION LEADS SEEK SUGGESTIONS FOR SUMMER

Public Urged
To Offer Ideas
At Association
Meeting Tuesday

With some new ideas for the summer recreation program here is up at that time and the Newark Recreation Association Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the office of John R. Downes, West Main street.

For the summer program will be open to suggestions from the public. Details of the association's annual fund drive to finance the program will also be worked out.

It is probable, officials say, that this year's project will include such features as the softball league, swimming classes, community dances, and as well as special events. The community picnic northwest of town, will also be again.

Another item of business Tuesday will be the election of three new members of the Board of Directors to the expiring terms of Bernard A. J. Jackson and William H. Murray.

Other directors of the association are George Hiney, Dr. J. R. Downes, McCully, T. D. Smith, Mrs. R. C. and Mike Kubie.

In connection with the fund campaign, the group will hear a financial report and discuss the possibility of the United Fund.

Sing Monday
At Century Club

Hilda Somers
Somers, dramatic soprano and of the University of Delaware Department, will sing two groups of numbers Monday afternoon at Newark New Century Club. Miss Somers will be accompanied by Miss Gaddie.

A portion of the program, 8:20 p. m., will precede the meeting.

Somers, an instructor at the University since 1947, formerly studied at the Juillard School of Music.

Presenting the recital, Mrs. Arthur J. Somers will present the film, "Beyond the Blue Horizon," produced by an international group. Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Wilmer E. Shue.

Flowers Monday For Florence George

Florence R. George, 51, wife of George R. George, 35 Lovett Avenue, Friday in St. Francis Hospital, after a brief illness.

George was born in Elkton, Md., and lived in Newark for about 23 years. She was a member of the Methodist Church and its Ladies Aid Society.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Miss Mary George; a sister, Mrs. Mary George of Philadelphia, and two brothers, Ernest and Samuel Holmes, both of Newark.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday afternoon at the R. T. Funeral Parlor. Interment was in the cemetery.

Army Channels Work Minor Miracle For Newark Soldier

Sometimes Army channels grind out, quite inadvertently, a bit of good fortune for the average G. I.

They did in the case of Newark's new recruiting chief, Cpl. Joseph F. Haas. He nearly keeled over when he was told to report here to take charge of the station in the basement of the postoffice. This was understandable since Newark is his home town, and he lives at 27 Prospect Avenue. He doesn't know, of course, how long it's going to last, but he has his fingers crossed, hoping some Pentagon shake-up doesn't uncover what must obviously be in slip-up on the part of the red-tape brigade.

Meanwhile, Cpl. Haas has announced an extension of recruiting hours here. The station will be open Monday, Wednesday and Fridays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Recruits, between the ages of 17 and 34, are being accepted for Army, National Guard and the Organized Reserve Corps. Volunteers are not being assigned to immediate duty, Cpl. Haas said, but are being placed on a waiting list until an opening develops.

MEMORIAL DAY MARCH IS PLANNED

Parade Will Mark Annual Observance

Newark's annual Memorial Day parade, omitted from last year's observance, will again highlight the ceremonies here on May 30, honoring the dead of all wars.

Plans for reviving the march were announced this week by the town committee headed by Richard Coeh, Legion commander, and Harry MacLary, VFW representative.

Drum and Bugle Corps from Baltimore and Wilmington have already accepted invitations to join local units in the march. One will be the well-known St. James Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps of Baltimore, for several years the open amateur champions of Maryland.

Another is the large St. Paul's Corps of Wilmington, a group of 85 musicians, baton-twirlers and marchers. These, as well as military and naval units, volunteer firemen, fraternal and patriotic organizations and high school bands with contingents of students, are already planning to participate.

Col. Donald M. Ashbridge has accepted the post of Grand Marshal and C. Vernon Steele is acting as special advisor to the committee.

Rotary Club Production Chiefs Drop Hints On Plans For Minstrel Show

Lifting the curtain a trifle for a preview peek at the Rotary Club's minstrel show set for April 27, production chiefs this week let drop some hints on the highlights of the big event.

Sure to litter the aisles with laugh-wracked bodies, they said, will be a burlesque of a Town Council in session, with the local lawmakers, after ponderous deliberations, settling a vital issue to absolutely no one's satisfaction.

A few other local characters and institutions are scheduled as targets for genial gags, but the meat of the script will be slapstick comedy skits, vocal renderings of old favorites and traditional minstrel horseplay.

The brunt of the comedy relief will fall on the end men who will be Parker Thomas, H. G. Young, Arno A. Loessner and E. C. Mahanna. At the center of the minstrel horseshoe will be interlocutor Joseph A. Shields.

The entire musical portion of the program, including arrangements, direction and accompanying, is being handled by Ernest Wilder, high school music director.

Elementary Grades Plan Music Program On May 26

The elementary grades at the Newark school will present their annual spring music program on May 26 in conjunction with National Music Week.

The first and second grades will present Indian songs and dances and a circus act with accompaniment by the rhythm band. Many of the classes will participate in folk songs and dances of American. Some of the routines have been arranged by the students themselves.

Music of the south will be presented in the form of a minstrel. Some of the students have been studying the opera and will attempt to give their own version of Carmen.

The Elementary Chorus will also sing.

4-Way Contest Arises In Middle District; Census Is Criticized

With the deadline for filing only two days away, the line-up for the town election April 12 took fairly definite shape today.

Only one more candidate filed this week, joining the six already in the field. He came, surprisingly enough, from the Middle District, throwing what was already a triple fight into a 4-way contest.

The new entrant is Paul Griffith, cost accountant with Bond Crown and Cork, Wilmington, manufacturers of cork products. Opposing him are Samuel Diehl, jeweler; R. T. Ware, publisher of the Newark Post; and Jack G. Hershelman, chemist with the Hercules Powder Company.

Before joining the Wilmington firm as an accountant, Mr. Griffith was associated with the Newark Trust Company for three years. A life-long resident here, he is a graduate of University of Delaware and a member of both the American Legion and the Aetna Fire Company.

Meanwhile, that old election sore-point—incomplete registration of non-property owners—has again arisen to plague town authorities. Last year's town census was to have settled all this by eliminating registration days and assessing every non-property owner directly for a capitation tax. But it now turns out that the voters survey was a somewhat slipshod affair, and many residents of long standing who had every reason to believe they were on the voting list now find they are not.

A petition, charging that the census was inadequate and that it unfairly disqualified many voters, will be brought before the Town Council on Monday night.

According to residents omitted in the census, the takers were especially remiss in apartment and rooming houses.

The census was designed to circumvent the shortcomings of the earlier practice of holding registration days. These were held early in June, and non-property owners usually overlooked or ignored them. They were discontinued as a result of a court decision last year which indicated that the town was obliged to assess non-property owners directly.

The fact that the census was incomplete makes it open, critics said, to the same objections as the old method of holding registration days. Many non-property owners who would have registered didn't bother believing they would be covered in the census.

F. A. Wheelless, who directed the census, pointed out this week that those missed in the survey could have registered at Assessment Appeal Day advertised last June.

It was countered, however, that persons missed in the census had no reason to know it since no notices were left by the takers when they failed to reach a resident.

Any person whose name is not on the assessment list but has owned real estate in Newark for three months prior to the election and pays a town tax for the year immediately preceding is entitled to vote.

No provision is made in the Town Charter for adding names to the voting list except as mentioned above.

All taxes referred to above must be paid before 5:00 p. m. on April 11, 1949.

Four new members, one a university professor and the others prominent in industry in this area, were inducted into the Newark Lions Club at its weekly dinner program on Tuesday night.

In the group were: W. H. Weggenman, personnel director of the Delaware Rayon Company; Charles D. Taylor, professor of civil engineering, University of Delaware; Ralph B. Brosius, general manager of the Chrysler Motor Plant here; and Alfred Ploger, equipment engineer at the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company.

Elliott Is Attending Engineers' Conference

Edward H. Elliott, of 37 Thompson Circle, will represent the University of Delaware this week at a regional conference of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in Washington, D. C., where he will present a paper on "Profit Through Design."

At the regional conference on Friday and Saturday, his paper will be in competition against several others from universities of the Middle Atlantic states.

2 FACTIONS CLASH OVER CHARTER AT DOVER MON.

Pro-Charter Group
Passing Petition;
Opposition Forces
Use Form Letters

A somewhat undercover fight between local factions over the proposed new charter now before the General Assembly in Dover sprang into the open here this week.

The pro-charter group is seeking signers for a petition urging the state legislature to pass the charter draft as it now stands or not at all. The opposition is said to be concentrating its efforts on a number of form letters to be signed and sent to Dover asking for certain changes in the charter draft relating to the tax and borrowing limits and voting regulations in a bond referendum.

The struggle came briefly to a head Monday in Dover. The Senate Municipal Corporations Committee there had scheduled hearings on the charter (Senate Bill 275), and representatives of both local groups went down to present their arguments.

The faction opposing the charter in its present form had apparently arranged for the hearing first, and when the pro-charter delegation arrived it was asked by Senator Paul E. Burkholder, (R-Dover), chairman of the committee, to leave. No debate, he indicated, was wanted at that time.

The pro-charter group thereupon withdrew but was later found wandering the legislative halls by Lt.-Gov. Alexis I. duPont Bayard. When he learned their plight, he told them that all committee meetings are public and personally conducted them back to the hearing and saw that they were permitted to sit at the hearing.

He is now assigned to Company G of the famous Fourth Infantry Regimental Combat Team at Fort Lewis, Washington.

NEWARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Postmaster Appointment Nears; False Burglar Alarm Stirs Sunday Quiet

From Issue of April 2, 1924

Evans Recommended For Postmaster

The name of William H. Evans will be sent to the U. S. Senate today by President Coolidge for confirmation as postmaster at Newark. Mr. Evans born and raised near Cherry Hill, Md., but has lived most of his life here. Since 1920 he has been Trust Officer in the Newark Trust.

False Alarm

The burglar alarm sounded Sunday at R. G. Buckingham's store, and Chief Lewis, the sturdy guardian of highways and byways of Newark, came on the run, broke down the door. He found no burglar but did discover that Mr. Buckingham keeps exceptionally fresh mackerel. Chief Lewis fell into a tub of them near the door when he broke through. The alarm had sounded for no apparent reason other than that it wanted to join in the chorus of Sunday church bells.

Mr. Buckingham has since decided it would be cheaper to have burglars breaking in than police and plans to remove the alarm and leave the door open so that bandits in the future may conveniently reach the safe without disturbing merchandise.

No Council Contests

Otto Widdoes, Howard Patchell and J. L. Grier filed for reelection to the Town Council from their respective districts this week. The three are as good as elected since the date for filing has passed without opposition developing.

Leave for Texas

Harvey Boyce and Roy Stephan, both high school students here, will leave this week for Texas and points west. The adventures plan to work their way down on a government dredge leaving Wilmington in a day or two. Their trip will take several months.

Personals

About 100 members of the Head of Christiana Church tendered a surprise party to Mrs. Samuel Murray recently in appreciation of her long and faithful service to the church as treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Armand Durant, of Orchard Road, will spend the coming week-end as guests at the home of former Governor John G. Townsend, Selbyville.

Work has been completed on the Hanark Theatre and the building has been completely redecorated inside. The opening show, "The White Sister" will be held Friday.

Bobbie Egnor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Egnor, who recently underwent an operation is doing nicely.

Results Of Job Aptitude Tests Given NHS Seniors

Newark High School seniors, who took the aptitude tests given several months ago by the Delaware State Employment Commission, received the results last week. The tests were designed to bring to light latent talents and the students in order to help them pick a satisfactory career.

Seniors not sure of their plans after the tests were urged to take the tests which consisted of 11 written and 11 oral tests covering over 2,000 occupations as listed by the United States Employment Service.

The students' scores suggested occupations for which they possess ability. Many students found they had up-to-date skills. If a student wants to enter a particular field, the Commission is ready to help him.

The tests were carried out under the supervision of state officials, with the assistance of Miss Dorothy Markert, guidance director here.

Charter Issue

ent charter draft, state his case. He said that while his group favors a new charter for Newark it objects to the present draft such as the tax ceiling and the borrowing for current expenses.

However the main objection, he said, is to the section granting equal voting powers to non-property and property owners in a borrowing referendum to issue bonds against private estate.

The charter draft, as it now stands, provides for the following on these three points. The tax limit is set at $75,000. The ceiling on bonding the town is fixed at $800,000, with additional bonding permitted for self-liquidating projects. All such bond issues would be subject to a referendum giving one vote to every qualified voter with a sixty percent majority of those voting required to carry. The latter provision is regarded as a protection to property owners. On borrowing for current expenses, the charter sets a limit of $100,000. This could be raised without a referendum but would require a two-thirds vote of Council plus the Mayor.)

Following Mr. McVey, the pro-charter group, with Mrs. R. O. Bausman and Samuel Handloff as spokesmen, had its say. Mr. Handloff pointed out that the charter draft as submitted to the legislature was aimed at two public hearings here and that, while opposition existed, the majority of residents appeared to favor the final draft, which was worked out as a result of the hearings.

It was also pointed out that the charter bill provides for a referendum of voters here before it becomes effective.

LOCAL CLUB TO ENTER NATIONAL CONTEST

A contest to build better communities throughout the United States has been launched by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The purposes of the contest are to encourage community leaders and to develop community improvement program. Clubs entering the contest will be judged on the basis of their projects value to the community on thoroughness of organization, effort extended, results obtained and the quality of the club's report on their community service activities.

All clubs will be divided into three classes on the basis of size so that larger clubs will not have an advantage over smaller ones. There will be prizes of $5,000, $3,000, and $2,000 for the three National Winners in each classification.

Another prize of $5,000 will be awarded for the club whose project

Maryla Jonas

Maryla Jonas, noted Polish pianist, will give a recital in Mitchell Hall, Newark, at 8:15 p. m., on Thursday, April 7, as one of the Artist Series presented by the University of Delaware.

A protege of Paderewski, who was her first teacher, Mme. Jonas comes to Delaware after a succession of triumphs from New York to San Francisco. She is now making her third American tour, having won fame overnight after her debut recital in New York three seasons ago. She was completely unknown in this country when she first played at Carnegie in February, 1946. The critics and ushers were practically her only audiences but the next day the critics' enthusiastic reviews flashed the news of a new great pianist. Her second recital, two weeks later in Carnegie Hall, drew a packed house. Her initial success now verified, she ranks among the handful of contemporary piano greats.

Mrs. Jonas' recital originally was scheduled for last December, but was postponed because of her illness.

was judged best in the entire country. The Newark New Century Club is making plans to participate in this contest and Mrs. Allan P. Colburn has been selected as contact woman for this local club and for the State of Delaware.

Mrs. J. P. Cann, president of the Newark Club, advises that a further announcement will be made as soon as all plans are complete.

The cash awards will prove quite profitable to any club but more important than the money will be satisfaction of achievement coming to each club which will have taken part and the community improvement project encountered.

FILLIN' IN

Although it's poking along elsewhere, Spring is blooming riotously in Main Street store windows. These displays are an annual spring rite with the merchants, who hope by this suggestive magic not only to give Nature a boost but to stir Newarkers to new life.

Ignoring the threat of spring fever, the Newark Lumber Company has faced the season's challenge squarely by coming out with a display of rakes, cultivators, mowers and seed packages. The management advises local gardeners to strike the first blow in their backyards while Nature is still groggy from winter.

Further down the street you find that the Newark Farm and Home Supply is raising a crop of chickens right in its window. Go inside and you're greeted by a spring-like chirping and peeping. Lou Staats, genial manager of this menagerie, hovers around more like a mother hen than one of Newark's leading businessmen.

The chick display attracts a lot of youngsters. One with his nose pressed to the glass was asked by a patronizing adult if he intended to buy some. The kid was outraged and disgusted. "Our family," he said witheringly, "only uses home-made chickens."

Jacksons Hardware Store, looting along still trailing Xmas lights, is ignoring the sterner side of Spring by displaying a fascinating array of fishing lures. Window-shopping husbands pause outside with that far-away, field-and-stream look in their eyes, while their wives and children try to pull them away to duty and the grocery store.

The dress shops are pushing Spring to the hilt, of course, trail-lalng madly and flaunting new colors and styles without regard to the fact that the trees are still bare and the fields brown. The drug stores, stolid and practical, warn against discarding that topepoc by displaying cough medicine, throat antiseptics and cold pills.

The place where Spring is being greeted with the most abandon, though, is the Newark Electric Company. The showroom there looks like a scene of bacchanalian rioting, with flowery streamers festooning the windows and walls announcing the new style refrigerators. These gleaming white gadgets are all dolled up with paper bouquets like squat Queens of May. They don't seem to join in the revels with much spirit, though. In fact, they look a little uncomfortable, like nervous prudes who have wandered in on the wrong party and are too polite to withdraw. They won't feel at ease, probably, until they can drop this high life and settle down to a practical career in someone's kitchen.

Authorities at the postoffice are hurt and disappointed. It seems no one is using their new stamp vending machine. This formidable gadget, which stands to the right as you go in the main door, was installed recently so that residents, with the correct change, could get stamps at any time.

The trouble is, officials whisper, nobody pays any attention to it, and people still wander around evenings and Sundays looking desperately for a place to buy stamps.

We suggested that these residents know very well the machine is there but are avoiding it because they don't like its appearance. We don't either. It has a panel like a Buck Rogers rocket ship and looks as if it would require a night course in mechanical engineering to learn to operate it. You can tell by the way the thing lurks by the door there that it is waiting to baffle and humiliate some unsuspecting person in front of his friends and the general public.

The postoffice people assure us, however, these fears are groundless. The machine is actually very simple to operate, they say, and the instructions are clearly stated on the front.

You'll have to take their word for it. We haven't risked approaching the thing yet nor heard of anyone who has.

Veterans' Forum

Q—I was honorably discharged from the Army in 1944, but have not applied for readjustment allowance yet. How long will this benefit remain available to me?

A—Generally, this benefit must be claimed within two years from discharge or release from active service or two years from July 25, 1947, whichever is later.

Q—As an honorably discharged veteran of World War II, I would like to know to what hospitalization I am entitled.

A—If you have a service-connected disability, you have top priority for VA hospital care. If you suffer with a non-service-connected disability, you may be hospitalized under existing law if beds are available and you say you cannot afford treatment elsewhere.

Q—I am at present receiving compensation for 30 per cent disability. If I take a job carrying rural mail three hours a day, will my compensation be stopped?

A—Compensation is not reduced because of your employment. Reduction in compensation is made only if your disability has lessened in degree.

Q—Early last year I received an adjustment check on my compensation from the Veterans Administration. Do I have to pay income tax on this payment?

A—No. By law, all payments made under laws relating to veterans are exempt from Federal income tax payments.

Perfect Game Is Rolled

At Newark Alleys Monday

Congratulations are in order for Morris Adams, manager of the Newark Bowling Alleys, who rolled a perfect 300 game on Monday night, while on-lookers watched in awed silence.

This was Morris' fourth perfect game in his bowling career and his first since 1941.

Orchards may be sent care of the Newark Bowling Center.

Intermural Softball

Loops Start At NHS

Intermural softball started recently at the Newark High School under Walter Matt, athletic director.

Three leagues have been organized with games being played on the Continental-Diamond field. Competition began Tuesday.

The first, the American League, consists of 71 players, including faculty members and high school students. April Job-Of-The-Month

Rural folks in Delaware who are taking part in the Farm Safety Contest will find that their April "Safety Job of the month" is to inspect and repair the hay rack.

According to William Calvert, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware, old hay racks that are in need of repair cause many injuries during the haying season. He recommends that farmers repair or replace loose, rotted boards in the hay rack; that they inspect and repair ladder rungs, pulleys and ropes, and that they provide a safe place to keep forks. He mentions also that rubber soled shoes will help prevent falls from slippery hay wagons and ladders.

80 U. of D. Gridsters Vie For Positions In Spring Practice

Murray Says Hens New Style Offense Will Add Speed And Variety To Attack

Eighty or more University of Delaware gridsters are battling for positions on the 1949 version of the Blue Hen eleven, go into their last half of spring practice here Monday.

Coach Bill Murray has announced plans for a new style of play next season, with material that will allow him to use a balanced line to open the Blue Hen attack for more speed and variety of play and for more passing protection. He still expects to play his wingback wide and up front in T-formation.

Backfield Coach Shack Martin has strength and depth of material, although he will miss the experienced service of Billy Cole and Bill Nash at halfback and quarterback Bill Otton.

Ball carriers from last year's varsity squad include Charlie Smith and Frank Guthridge at quarterback, considerable halfback play in Hank Paris, Tom Silk, Ray McCarthy and Dick Wells, and co-captain Marion Stalloni and Don Boorse at full.

Freshman candidates expected to add a lot of backfield power are Joe Morelli, yearling who may develop into a first string punter; a quartet of top string halfbacks, Johnny DeGasperis, Don Carmichael, Bucky Walter and Ed Samocki, and four stalwart fullbacks, Len Hutton and Charlie Anderson, injured early last season, and their stand-ins, Ray Salamone and Tom Bonelli.

The Blue Hen line has lost a lot of power in Bob Campbell, Carrell Hauptle, Gene Carrell, Bob Glisson and Ernie Mettenet, and a foursome of others. But they still have some very promising regulars in the powerful Jack Gallagher, who may see backfield service, and Stan Bilski at ends; co-captain Jack Miller and Franny Hill, Rocco Carzo, Phil Genthner, on the inside line, and Bill Murray and Fred Schneck, at the pivot spot.

Freshman competition will be provided by Don Tobison, regular end last year, who is out for a while with a leg injury, and Joe Lank and five others who are expected to come through; Seymour Kaplowitz as a outstanding inside line power, pushed by Milt Keene, Milt Adams, Franny Mangino and Charlie Litz, with Bill Craver at center.

Murray expects to get a lot of help from his 1948 frosh, one of the best Blue Chick teams in years, that Marty Pierson coached through an 86-7 season, blanking all opponents but the Navy's steamrolling Plebes, who edged them out 7-6.

The Blue Hen coach looks askance at the Lafayette Leopards as probably his most dangerous 1949 opponent, but expects plenty of trouble from the always powerful Muhlenberg.

BLUE HEN NINE SLATED FOR HOME OPENER WEDNESDAY WITH WASHINGTON COLLEGE

Martin's Charges To Wind Up Southern Tour At Norfolk Station; Lacrossemen Squad Is Also Set For Home Debut Wed.

When University of Delaware students return to classes next week after their spring holiday, the Blue Hens' spring sports teams will be ready for their home openings. The Hen baseball nine will meet Washington College on Frazer Field next Wednesday at 3 p. m. and the lacrossemen will take on Williams College here Thursday at 3 p. m.

Both Delaware teams will be in good condition for intercollegiate competition. Coach Shack Martin's baseball team is playing Lynchburg College at Lynchburg, Va., this afternoon, in the middle of its southern trip, which will continue with Hampton-Sydney College tomorrow and the Naval Receiving Station at Norfolk Saturday.

The five-game series opened against Maryland Tuesday and included Navy at Annapolis yesterday, giving Coach Martin an opportunity to see his Hens at work under fire. By the time the Hens meet the Sho'men from Washington they should have found their batting eye, should know their outfield judgment, and Coach Shack Martin should have his batting order down pat as judged by performances.

Coach Milt Roberts worked out in more detail his system of play for the Hen lacrossemen after their scrimmages against Johns Hopkins and Mount Washington Club at Baltimore, Monday and Tuesday, as these two high-rating teams gave the Hens plenty of new angles on attack and defense.

The Hen lacrossemen traveled to Chapel Hill, N. C., yesterday and this afternoon are starting a trio of scrimmages against the University of North Carolina Tar Heels, which will continue daily through Saturday.

The Carolina workouts will be in the nature of polishing the strategy developed in the Baltimore scrimmages. The Tar Heels do not have the experience the top-notch Baltimoreans have, but they will give the Delawareans an opportunity to try out their passing, interceptions and field play as worked out in the Maryland series.

Two Hen teams will go into action next Friday, when the baseball team will play Haverford College on Frazer Field and Coach Joe Brunamaky's golfers will open their season against Johns Hopkins at Baltimore. A trio of Newarkers are expected to carry a good bit of the golf load for the Blue Hen team.

Bill Burnett and Ed Wilson, both lettermen, and Bill Pie, who has outstanding this season, Miles Peralas of Mount Holyoke, N. J., also is one of the top Hen golfers.

Delaware will open its track season against Johns Hopkins here Saturday, April 16, and the tennis team will meet Western Maryland here on the same date.

Notice is hereby given that I intend to make application for a permit to operate a tavern and sell alcoholic beverages to on and off the premises at 72 West Cityland Avenue. A change in location from 77 West Cleveland Avenue, Newark Delaware.

YELLOWJACKET HIGHLIGHTS

Contributed By Members Of The Journalism Class At Newark High School

New Members Initiated Into Society

The juniors were officially initiated into the Newark High School Chapter of the National Senior Honor Society at the annual assembly on March 23. The students who took the pledge were: Louise Neave, Nancy Stanley, Ann Reale, Marian Mayne, Dorothy Allen, Judy Kase, Gertrude Tierney, Paul Hodgson, Vaughn Fox, and Barbara Humphreys.

It was not hard to spot the prospective members on Monday or Tuesday at school. On Monday the girls wore white blouses and ties; the boys wore white tee shirts and ties; and each one carried a folding chair with a sign which read, "Seat of Learning." The next day the boys wore a strong resemblance to peasants with red bandannas tied around their heads, while the girls roamed the halls with one side of their hair up in socks or curlers. They carried empty tin cans. During the initiation period any spectator touring the school might have thought the students were going in for military tactics because every time a prospective member came a senior member, he had to stop, salute, and stand at attention until dismissed.

Initiation ended with the assembly when Lorraine Robinson read the explanation of the symbols and ideals of the Honor Society. Several senior members gave speeches. Helen Samuels spoke about Character; Donald Brashaw about Scholarship; Aileen Ritchie about Leadership; and Ruth Gray about Service. Margery Murray told about the history of the Honor Society.

After the initiation exercises, the dramatics class presented several skits entitled "How to Propose."

Aileen Ritchie.

Dramatic Students to See Classics

For the last two weeks members of the dramatics class have been studying the plays Medea and Hamlet in preparation for seeing their production on the stage and screen in Wilmington next week.

Medea, one of the early Greek plays, is concerned with the troubles and sorrows of Jason and Medea after their separation. Hamlet, a well-known Shakespearean play, has the Academy Award winner, Lawrence Olivier, in the star role.

Members of the dramatics class to see Medea are Arthur Mayer, Judy Kaye, Nancy Conte, Barbara Boyce, Joe Pickett, and Nancy Smith. Tickets for Hamlet are still available for all interested students.

Arthur Mayer.

Gymnastic Club Prepares Program

The Gymnastic Club at Newark High School has been training all year long for its assembly program on May 11. The University of Delaware Gymnastic Club under the direction of Ray Polander will participate in the program at the high school. The combined program will perform on the parallel bars, high bar, and on the mats.

Grass Fires Fall Off; Two Past Week

The rash of grass fires fell off this week, with only three calls being sounded in town, two for field blazes.

The first alarm came early Sunday evening for another grass fire near Harmony Station, which is becoming a rather inharmonious place this spring.

Later the same evening a call was received when the new bridge over White Clay Creek on North Chapel Street, was reported on fire. The blaze, which was not serious, was believed to have been started by road flares left by workmen.

Monday afternoon, a field owned by Walter Lee, near Strickersville, caught fire. No serious loss was reported.

Foreign Students To Be Rotary Guests Monday

Dr. T. F. Manns exhibited a film, "New York Calling" at the Monday night meeting of the Newark Rotary Club in the Chimes Restaurant. The movie dealt with the coming International Rotary Convention in New York City next June.

Foreign students of the University of Delaware will be guests at the club's next session. Each will speak briefly on life in his native country.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were John MacMurray, of Indiana, and Bob Quillen, of New Castle.

John Wood was a guest of William Campbell.
