FEEBLE MINDED INSTI-TUTION TO BE GIFT

Mrs. Deemer Discusses the Se-lection of Townsend Tract

That the acquisition of a tract of 860 acres in Sussex county from Governor John G. Townsend, Jr., by the Delaware Commission for the Feeble-Minded as a site for an institution for care of feeble-minded persons will not cost the State of Delaware one cent, became known today.

The $35,400 which will be paid to Governor Townsend for the farm will be contributed by private citizens of the State. Not one cent of it will come out of the State Treasury.

Mrs. Seiden S. Deemer, of New Castle, who is chairman of the committee; Mr. Deemer, General T. Coleman duPont, Colonel J. Ernest Smith and other public-spirited citizens stand responsible for the $35,400 and will contribute that amount.

The Legislature, in the act of creating the Commission for the Feeble Minded, appropriated $10,000 for the purchase of a site, erection of the necessary buildings, etc. Not one cent of that appropriation will be used for the purchase of the Townsend tract, which is located between Stockley and Selbyville, in Sussex county, and was the unanimous choice of the commission as a site for the institution. The $10,000 will be available for the erection of necessary buildings.

Not only will the State obtain the Townsend tract without one cent of cost to the State, but Governor Townsend has sold it to the commission at the price he paid for it. Some of the tract was purchased as far back as four years ago, and the Governor has been adding to it ever since. Notwithstanding the increase in Sussex county land values, Governor Townsend turned his books over to members of the commission, allowed them to find the amounts he had paid for the land and sold the extensive tract for exactly what he paid for it, without any compensation for the improvements he had made. He was reluctant to sell, at that, but did so only when urged that it was the best adapted site in the State for such an institution.

There are buildings in good condition on the farm already that will accommodate from forty to fifty feeble-minded persons and attendants, which is an important point in the minds of the commission. According to statistics gathered, there are about 600 feeble-minded persons in the State.

All the above facts, and many more, have been disclosed by Mrs. Deemer, who has made a thorough study of the care of the feeble-minded persons, and who has worked unceasingly to have a modern institution for that purpose established in Delaware.

The Governor Townsend tract was selected by the commission in preference to a tract owned by State Senator Edward Hart, near Townsend, who offered up to 1060 acres at $30 an acre, or $32,400 for the entire tract. The Townsend farm in Sussex county, because of its buildings, its adaptability to the raising of small fruits, the brick-making plant that is on it and the commercial value of the sand it contains was deemed preferable to the Hart farm, and aside from that it had the isolation from populous centers which the commission deemed necessary for an institution for the feeble minded.

The commission which has purchased the Townsend tract for the State, appointed by Governor Townsend under authority of an act of the Legislature, passed in 1917, comprises Mrs. Deemer, who is the chairman; former Governor Chas. R. Miller, and State Senator Thomas F. Gormley, of Wilmington; Mrs. Emma Burnett, John B. Hutton and Arley B. Magee, of Dover; Mrs. S. H. Messick, of Bridgeville; William K. Morgan, of Seaford, and Robert G. Houston, of Georgetown.

That there has been nothing political in its actions is evident from the fact that Republicans and Democrats alike joined in voting for the purchase of the Townsend tract in Sussex county.

Mrs. Deemer when recently asked how the Townsend tract first came to the attention of the Commission said:

"Mr. Deemer and I saw it when looking over Sussex county for suitable sites in October, 1916," said Mrs. Deemer. "We did not know to whom it belonged, and did not find out until April of last year, after the bill providing for an institution for the feeble-minded had passed the Legislature. I went to the Governor and drew a diagram of the tract—here, I have the pencil drawing I made at the time—and asked him if he knew who owned the land in question. The conversation revealed that the tract was owned by the Governor. 'Mrs. Deemer, that's mine,' the Governor said. 'I couldn't sell it. I don't want to sell it. I bought it with the idea of setting out a big orchard there. It's been one of my dreams to have a big orchard there.' I began to tell him how suited it was to our purposes. I had to urge him many, many times, on different days, before he would consider selling it. What particularly attracted me was the brick plant, and the sand that can be utilized for commercial purposes, aside from its other advantages for an institution such as is contemplated. Governor Townsend told us that if we could find another piece of land equally as well suited to purchase he would not sell his land to us.

"I appointed the following committee to go all over the State and look up the various tracts that might be adapted for our purpose: Robert G. Houston, of Georgetown; Arley B. Magee, of Dover; former Governor Charles R. Miller, of Wilmington; John B. Hutton, of Dover, and W. K. Morgan, of Seaford. That committee made a report unanimously in favor of the Townsend tract as best suited for the purpose of an institution for the feeble-minded. It had isolation, the soil for small fruits, soil for brick-making, sand for commercial purposes, and the land required for the care of the 600 feeble-minded persons on record in Delaware.

"At a meeting on May 8, of this year, it was unanimously agreed by Mr. Houston, Mrs. Messick, ex-Governor Miller and myself, members of the commission, that the Townsend tract was the best located and adapted for an institution for the feeble-minded. That meeting was held at my home in New Castle, as I was just getting over pneumonia at the time. Because there was but a bare quorum present, at the request of ex-Governor Miller, who said he would like to see more persons present, it was moved and carried that we hold an adjourned meeting on May 8 at the Hotel duPont. Mr. Miller said he would try to get Senator Gormley to attend. Governor Miller called me on Sunday morning and told me that he had gotten word from Senator Gormley that he would be present.

At this meeting I told the commission that Mr. Deemer, some other persons and myself would assume the cost of the Townsend tract, and that it would not cost the State one cent.

"After notice had been sent to all the members, we met according to program at the Hotel duPont, with the following present: Mr. Magee, Senator Gormley, Mrs. Messick, Mr. Hutton, Mr. Houston and myself. After the subject had been thoroughly discussed a resolution was offered by Mr. Magee to purchase the Townsend tract, and it was unanimously adopted, Senator Gormley saying it was his choice from the first."

It is of interest to note in passing that Mr. Magee and Senator Gormley are Democrats, to show that there was nothing political in the transaction.
