

Another City Grade School Is Seen Necessary Within 5 Years

Shue Advises Buying Ground Now For New Structure; Present Buildings May Have To Be Converted To Junior-Senior High Use

Immediate purchase of ground within the city limits for erection of a new elementary school when it becomes necessary to convert the present high school and elementary buildings on Academy Street entirely to junior-senior high use has been recommended by Wilmer E. Shue, district superintendent. The proposal was put forth in his annual report recently to the Board of Education.

The new grade building would be in addition to the 12-classroom elementary school already proposed for the Capitol Trail section, Mr. Shue is pointing out the eventual need for a new grade school in the city. Mr. Shue emphasized that several elementary grades are still being housed in the main high school building, where secondary classes are already cramped for space. If the present upward trend in enrollment continues, he said, the high school eventually will outgrow the main building and plans should be ready for taking over the present elementary building next to it for secondary use.

Mr. Shue pointed out, "It would seem reasonable to assume that within five years the secondary enrollment would require all the rooms available in the present high school and elementary buildings on Academy Street. Rather than add rooms to the high school on a plot already too small, we suggest that the elementary students be housed in a new building elsewhere in town. This is important in our planning now, and a site in town should be secured at the earliest possible moment."

Meanwhile, plans are moving ahead for the erection of a 12-classroom building on Capitol Trail. Immediate building plans call for a large scale addition to the high school gymnasium and the installation of equipment in the shop-agriculture building now under construction on the high school grounds.

The overall cost of the three projects is estimated at $700,000 with $275,000 to be provided by local funds and the remainder through state appropriations.

A referendum seeking authority for a bond issue covering the district's share in the projects is scheduled for Sept. 8.

An opening meeting on the building program, when officials will outline the need for the three projects and give the public an opportunity to ask questions, will be held Sept. 6 in the high school auditorium.

Offer Enlistments For 24-Month Term

The Army is now offering a 24-month enlistment term for applicants of draft age, in addition to the three, four, five and six year enlistment periods now in effect.

This was announced yesterday by Maj. Preston Culp and Sgt. Joseph P. Napp, recruiting chiefs for this area.

To be eligible for enlistment under this new policy, the sergeant said, the applicant must be within the draft age of 18 to 26 years, must meet the minimum mental and physical requirements for army duty, and must enlist in the regular army unassigned.

The new short term enlistment is to allow men who are within the age limits of the "Universal Military Training and Service Act" to enlist in the regular army before they would normally be called for duty by their local draft board.

The recruiters pointed out that anyone taking advantage of this new policy would be eligible to attend one of the many army technical schools and, upon meeting the special requirements to apply for the army officers candidate school.

Those interested may get full particulars at their U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station located in Room 301, Post Office Building, Elkton, Maryland, or at the Post Office Bldg., Room 1, in Newark, Delaware, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8:30 to 3:00 P.M.

City Spared Full Fury Of Violent Storm Tuesday

Newark escaped the full fury of the thunder storm, which caused widespread damage through northern Delaware on Tuesday night.

No serious property damage nor injuries were reported as a result of the violent downpour, according to police. High winds tore off tree limbs and toppled shingles from some roofs, but the city fared much better than other sections of the county, where lightning caused serious property loss and took two lives.

Newark was blacked out for an hour and 20 minutes following the storm due to a power failure at the Delaware Power and Light's substation at Stanton.

Ground Observers To Meet Monday Night

Civil Defense Ground Observers from throughout New Castle County will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Red Cross Building, 911 Delaware Avenue, Wilmington.

Qualified personnel will be presented ground observer pins by representatives of the Army Air Force.

All Teaching Posts Filled At Schools For Coming Season

Appointments Made To Last Three Openings On Staff

The teacher shortage in Delaware and throughout the nation has not yet hit the Newark School District, Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent, disclosed this week.

No vacancies remain on the faculty for the opening of the fall term, Sept. 6, he announced. One high school and five elementary instructors were appointed recently to make a total of 76 teachers on the district's staff.

Earlier this summer Mr. Shue said he feared he would be faced with a scarcity of elementary teachers this fall. At that time three vacancies existed on the staff for which there were no applicants. These openings have now been filled, he said this week.

More teachers may be added to the staff following the opening of schools, Mr. Shue added, if they are required by an unusual jump in enrollment.

The six new teacher appointments are as follows:

First grade—Doris Boone, Newark, graduate of the University of Delaware with four years' teaching experience in the Dover schools.

Second grade—Barbara Specht, native of Millersburg, Pa., and recent graduate of Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Third grade—Mrs. Erla Mae Bowman, native of Ephrata, Pa., and graduate of Juniata College.

Fourth grade—Hazel Johnston, Milford Crossroads, former teacher in the Newark schools with additional experience in the Media, Pa., and Wilmington public schools; Priscilla Vanech, graduate of a New Jersey state teachers college who taught for a year at Teaneck, N.J.

High School—John Leland, native of Cheyney, Pa., graduate of a Pennsylvania state teachers college, who will teach mathematics and assist in shop and agriculture instruction.

Aetna Handle 4 Fire Alarms In July

False Alarm Is Only City Call

The Aetna volunteers had a frustrating time in July. They answered only one call in the city and that was a false alarm, according to Charles E. Moore, fire recorder.

The firemen also handled two calls in the district and one outside the district during the 31-day period. The ambulance made 29 mercy runs, Moore said, covering 1105 miles.

The only alarm here last week also proved a futile run. A pick-up truck was reported on fire about noon last Saturday on North College Avenue.

But when the firemen arrived they found that the blaze had been extinguished and that the truck had driven on. The identity of the driver was not learned.

The $150 loss reported last week at the home of Carl Scott, Glasgow, was incorrect, according to word this week from Mrs. Scott. She claims about $1500 damage resulted when an oil heater broke into flames damaging the first floor of the dwelling. Fire Recorder Moore, however, still sticks to his original estimate of $150, which he said was given to him by Fire Chief Elmer Ellison.

Mrs. Scott also said she is the owner of the home and not Frank Palmer, as was reported by Mr. Moore.

Legion Post Plans Annual Picnic Tuesday

The annual picnic of the J. A. O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion, will hold its annual picnic Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the post home, Read Village.

Refreshments, entertainment and games are on the program, according to John Fisher, chairman.

Members of the post and auxiliary along with their families are invited.

Old Time Movie-Maker Is Filming Newark Story

The Kleig lights blaze; technicians fuss with wires and cables and airings with the world-famous lingo of the movie trade—"Pan to the right," "Okay, start the cameras," "Quiet, Quiet," "Cut!" Now let's do that over once more."

That's the Warner Pathe News movie team at work filming Newark's fluorid story.

Aside from the technical jargon, though, the Hollywood touch is generally lacking among the Warner men. They work in an easy-going, informal way that surprises the layman.

The biggest shock to the onlooker is Joe Henaberry, the megaphoneless, unharassed director of the film. He is a large, genial man, ruffled and relaxed, merry-faced and middle-aged. One would take him for a retired tugboat captain or maybe a rustic philosopher.

He is not a movie director, in other words, but a retired tugboat captain, the "Okay, start 'em grindin'" type of director, he belongs to the "Alright, you may start the cameras now, Andy" school.

Realism is added to the film by the fact that the amateur actors rarely memorize their lines. In several "takes"

Sensitive Tree Experts Spurn Profits; Refuse To Cut Down Giant Linden

The Bartlett Tree Experts of Wilmington are sensitive men who put concern for their patients ahead of profits.

The firm recently turned down a bid to remove a giant Linden tree here because it is "too fine a specimen."

The City Council asked the experts for a price on removing the tree, which stands at the northeast corner of Main and Center Streets.

Although the job involves several hundred dollars, the tree firm wrote Council that it would not even enter a bid on the work, pointing out that the big Linden is in perfect condition and hinting darkly that the Council should give more concern to the beauty of the city.

Council sought to have the tree cut down because of a request it received from the owner of the corner property, Mrs. Earl Cunningham. The lawmakers have decided to let the matter rest for a while.

Newarkers Will See First Public Showing Of Fluoride Movie

Will Be Shown At Local High School Sometime In October

The first public showing of the documentary movie on Newark's fluoride story now being filmed by Warner Pathe News will be held here sometime in October, a spokesman for the United States Public Health Service said this week.

Warner is producing the short movie for the health service, which intends to distribute it widely in an effort to encourage community fluoridation programs.

Filming of the all-color documentary "A Drop In The Bucket," will end here some time next week, Joe Henaberry, director, said yesterday.

After that will come some six weeks of cutting and editing by Warner technicians in New York before the film is ready for public showing. Every scene must also be approved by authorities of the health service before the premiere in Newark, probably in the high school auditorium.

Most of the indoor scenes already have been filmed, Henaberry stated, but the weather has played hob with the outdoor shots. Several street shots and a playground scene were still unfilmed earlier this week.

One of the final scenes in the film the formal start of the fluoridation program here, will be taken at the water pumping station on South Academy Street.

Newarkers who have taken minor speaking roles so far in the production are: Carl S. Rankin, Frank Duran, Donald Hill, William Coverdale and Samuel Diehl, all City Councilmen; Stanley Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crowe, Joseph Shields, Ellsworth Hoffman, Dr. L. Gleckman, William Warwick, Mrs. Joseph McVey, William Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Griffith, Parker Thomas, G. Taggart Evans, Fred Steigler, Aidan Burnham, and Edward Boutin.

First Presbyterians Will Hear Guest Minister Sunday

The Rev. John Oldman, Jr., will conduct the morning service at First Presbyterian Church, Sunday, Aug. 26. Reverend Oldman is pastor of Lower Brandywine Church and is president of the Wilmington Council of Churches; he has preached in Newark on previous occasions and is well known in the community.

This is the third in a series of services conducted by guest ministers during Mr. Hallman's vacation. At the fourth and last service of the series on Sept. 2nd the Rev. J. E. Thomas, pastor of Forest Presbyterian Church in Middletown, will occupy the pulpit.

Mr. Oldman will also teach the combined adult classes of the Sunday School.

Regular Garbage Pick-Up Soon In New City Areas

Establishment of regular garbage collections throughout the city, including the newly annexed areas, may not be far off, Charles E. Long, city secretary-treasurer indicated this week.

At present there is no regular collection in the territories recently added to the city.

A contractor for the work is now being sought by the City Council. Sealed bids will be opened on Sept. 4 at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Young Pianist Will Give Recital Tonite In Summer Series

Expert At Improvisation To Play At Mitchell Hall

Grace Castagnetta, the young pianist who will play at the University of Delaware's Mitchell Hall Thursday evening, August 23, is today the outstanding exponent of the traditional and little understood art of improvisation.

Improvisation is not playing by ear; it is a creative art of composing and performing simultaneously, and requires a sound knowledge of musical forms, perfect pitch, and an unbridled imagination.

Miss Castagnetta points out that in the days of Bach, Beethoven and Mozart, improvising was considered a display of the highest musical skill and was widely practiced by the masters in public performances. Frequently, contests would be arranged between rival virtuosos.

With wide distribution of published music, the prevalence of improvisation dwindled, and with the development of a more highly organized and standardized musical life, it practically disappeared.

Miss Castagnetta, in reviving this art, has once more brought to audiences the exciting experience of witnessing and participating in musical creation.

In addition to improvisations, Miss Castagnetta's program will include standard piano works by such composers as Handel, Schumann, Chopin and Strauss.

The concert, at 8:15 p.m., is open to the public without charge.

Newark, Ohio, Wants Data Of This City

Ohio Town To Celebrate Anniversary

Newark, Ohio, celebrates its 150th anniversary of its founding in 1802. This has absolutely nothing to do with Newark, Delaware, except for the fact that the Ohio town's newspaper, The Newark Advocate, wants some information about Newark, Delaware, to include in a series of articles it is writing.

In a letter this week to the local Chamber of Commerce, Chalmers L. Hancock, who is writing the Advocate's series, asked residents here for "any interesting facts you may have about Newark, Delaware."

His letter goes on to say: Newark, Ohio, was settled in 1802 and named after Newark, N.J. Did any of the early settlers of Newark, Delaware, come to or from Newark, Ohio. If so, I'd appreciate getting their names. Also any historical pictures with unusual significance in connection with the name of "Newark" will be appreciated. Why and by whom was Newark, Del. named?"

The C. of C. is sending Mr. Hancock an historical sketch of this community, along with data on present population and industries.

Any resident wishing to send further information may direct it to: C. L. Hancock, 305 West 45th Street, New York 19, N. Y.

Mr. Hancock, a public relations man in New York, is a native of Newark, Ohio.

Head of Christiana To Dedicate New Manse

The Rev. George T. Jamieson, pastor of the Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church, moderator of the Presbytery of New Castle, will lead the worship and preach Sunday, Aug. 26 11 a.m. at the Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church, Nottingham Road.

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson is past chaplain of the Department of Delaware of the American Legion. He served as a chaplain in World War II.

The Rev. A. L. Getz, pastor of the Head of Christiana Church, will be supplying the pulpit of the Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church.

Head of Christiana Dedicates New Manse

The new manse of the Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church, Nottingham Road, was dedicated during the church worship, Sunday, Aug. 12.

Open house was held at the manse, Tuesday, Aug. 7.

The new manse replaces the old building at the top of the hill on West Main Street. The old manse was sold several years ago; it was built in 1900.

"Outdoor Cookery" Topic Of New U. of D. Bulletin

Tasty meals cooked outdoors always whet the appetite, and there is a popular demand for outdoor cookery recipes, says Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, nutritionist with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Accordingly, Miss Holloway has written a circular, "Outdoor Cookery," which is now available. It is mimeographed circular (MC) 76. There are recipes for main dishes, for biscuits, baked over an open fire ways to roast or broil vegetables outdoors, cooked hearty sandwich fillings, and desserts. Suggested fresh vegetable and fruit salads are also included.

Rainier Completes Army Medical Training Course

Pvt. Richard E. Rainier, Jr., son of Richard E. Rainier, 51 N. Chapel Street, will graduate soon from the Medical Replacement Training Center, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

He has completed eight weeks of training in medical subjects and will now be assigned to advanced study in another army school or to duty in a hospital or field medical unit.

The Medical Replacement Training Center is one of the army's basic training schools for the medical service enlisted men. Here the soldier learns the fundamentals of medical support of patients in hospitals and troops in the field.

222 Row Homes Okayed In City, Big Apartment Project Is Killed

Votes Of Councilmen Hill And Coverdale Defeat Plans For 400-Unit Apartment; Brick Row Homes To Go Up On Pemberton Property On Elkton Road

The City Council approved a building permit for 222 row-homes on Elkton Road at its second August meeting Tuesday night, then turned thumbs down on the 400-unit apartment project slated for the Wilson tract south of Road Village.

Councilmen William Coverdale and Donald Hill were responsible for killing the apartment project, which has been the center of controversy here for some time.

Their negative votes prevented the three-fourths majority necessary for passing an amendment to the zoning law permitting the erection of the garden type development proposed by the Collins Realty Company.

Councilman Hill's vote came as a surprise since it reversed his stand at two weeks ago at the first reading of the amendment, when he went on record as approving the measure.

In a statement later explaining his change, Mr. Hill said he "voted for the amendment at the first reading to bring the matter to a public hearing and to settle the question by a decision of Council."

Before the vote, Council heard objections to the apartment project from some 20 property owners from Road Village and Tyre Avenue, bordering the Wilson tract. They also presented a petition of protest signed by some 90 residents of the area.

The petition was read in full by Councilman Coverdale, who has opposed the apartment since it first was proposed here. All the objecting citizens are residents of the Eastern District represented on Council by Hill and Coverdale.

Glasgow Pupils Are Unable To Register Here For Fall Term

Can't Be Accepted Until Decision In Court Suit Over School Merger

Glasgow school students are keeping their fingers crossed these days, hoping for an extended vacation, while the courts decide what school they will enter this fall.

Until a decision is reached in the suit now holding up the consolidation of the Newark-Glasgow districts, Glasgow pupils cannot be accepted for registration in the Newark schools, Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent, said yesterday.

On the other hand, no plans are being made now for the reopening of the "one-room" school at Glasgow, according to a spokesman for the Glasgow school board, who added that a decision on the court suit is expected before the opening of schools in September.

Referendums at both Glasgow and Newark have approved the merger of the districts, but the former vote, held last February, is being challenged in a suit filed by two residents of Glasgow, Herman H. Leasure and Monroe Bramble.

The suit, entered some months ago in the Court of Chancery, asks that the Glasgow referendum be declared invalid.

A decision on the issue may come before the end of this week, according to Glasgow school board officials.

If the Glasgow referendum is upheld, the merger of the districts can be approved, and Glasgow pupils will be accepted for the fall term at the Newark schools.

If the vote is declared illegal, the Glasgow school will have to be reopened, according to officials there.

NEWARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From Issue of Aug. 25, 1926

Church Delegates

Miss Hazel Malcolm, Miss Blanche Malcolm and Alvin Wakeland, delegates from the Newark Presbyterian Church attended the Presbyterian Summer Conference held at Blavistown, N.J., on Aug. 16.

Infant Injured

The three-year-old son of J. R. Spry, of near Newark, suffered several lacerations when the automobile in which Mr. Spry and his son were riding and a car owned by J. E. Morrison ran together on East Main Street about 8 a.m. Neither car was damaged to any extent and no one else was injured.

Editor Resigns

T. R. Dantz, who for three and a half years was associated with the late Everett C. Johnson on The Newark Post and who has since been News Editor of the Post, resigned his position at Kolls several weeks ago. His resignation became effective last week. Mr. Dantz is going on a short vacation and will then take up work with a Wilmington concern.

Persons

C. J. Wright, an employee of the Continental Fibre Company, broke the thumb of his right hand while at work Friday.

Dr. P. K. Musselman, local dentist, left last week for Canada, where he will spend his vacation. He will also attend the International Dental Congress in Philadelphia this week.

Virginia Thomas, 13-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas, suffered a broken arm last Thursday. The arm was broken just below the shoulder. Dr. Downes is the attending physician.

Mrs. J. Irvin Dayett and Miss Charlotte Dayett will leave today for a week's stay at Asbury Park.

Dick Maass went last Friday to Petersburg, Va., to visit friends there until Tuesday. Donald Armstrong, who went to Petersburg earlier in the week, returned yesterday with Mr. Maass.

Paul Cheney has returned from a month's vacation in Louisiana, Texas, Arizona, California and Colorado.

Miss Sara Wilson and Miss Delona Leak left Saturday for a week's trip to New York City and as far north as Montreal. Next week they will be at Asbury Park.

Food Costs Not Up Compared To Wages

Retail Costs Not As High As 10 Years Ago

The retail cost of the family food supply is not as high as it was ten years ago, compared to wages. So said Director George M. Worrlow of the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service in a recent talk to a group of farmers and wage earners. He went on to point out that the food bill now takes a smaller part of the average wage than it did before the last war.

"The average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries was $22.42 from 1935 to 1938. By 1950, it had jumped to $38.45. At the same time, the retail cost of farm food products for the average family of three for a whole year went from $341 to $645. Wages have gone up more than two and a half times," said Worrlow "while the cost of food is up not quite two times."

He also pointed out that the farmer's profits have gone down considerably in recent years. "Since 1947," he said, "average farmers' costs have gone up, and their net income has gone down. It has resulted in a loss of purchasing power of 30% for the American farmer."

"The farmer," Worrlow concluded, "is not to blame for the high cost of living. He too is paying bigger bills than he ever did before. At the same time, however, he's producing more food, of higher quality, and he's doing it at a lower comparative cost to the consumer than ever before."

Ready-to-eat foods such as canned soups, prepared cereals, desserts, breads, cookies, and salad dressings are more expensive than those made at home, says M. Gertrude Holloway, extension nutritionist, University of Delaware.

NHS Will Start Football Drills On Monday For Sept. 21 Opener

Fred Sposato, Starting Third Year At NHS, Issues Call To 40 Candidates, 8 Lettermen; Jackets Hold 11-Game Undefeated Streak Over Two Seasons

Some 40 Newark High football candidates, including eight lettermen, are slated to answer the opening practice call for the 1951 season on Monday at 9:30 a.m. on the school athletic field, Coach Fred Sposato, announced this week.

The Jackets, faced with a stiff eight game schedule, will be seeking to extend an 11-game undefeated streak when they clash with Elkton High in the season's opener before the home fans here on Friday, Sept. 21.

The last time the Jacket gridders tasted defeat was Nov. 3, 1949, when they were upset 12-7 by Mt. Pleasant. The only halt in the victory parade since then was a 6-6 deadlock with Brown Vocational last season.

Coach Fred Sposato and Assistant Ray Ciesinski, who are starting their third season at Newark, have a solid core of veterans around which to build the 1951 edition of the Jackets.

Among the eight returning lettermen will be five varsity holdovers.

Sposato plans two drills daily, one starting at 9:30 a.m. and the other at 3:30 p.m., during the first week, tapering off to a single session each day following the opening of school, Sept. 6.

The five first string veterans back this year are: Don Sharpe, guard; Alvin Sparks, guard; Ronnie Bramble, tackle; David George, quarterback; and Bernard (Bunny) Blaney, half-back.

Additional lettermen returning are: Jerry Leahy, tackle; Bob Boutin, end; and Danny Palmer, fullback.

Although no candidates are assured of a starting spot, the big question marks on the varsity lineup right now, Sposato said, are the end positions and the center slot. He said he also will need a wealth of replacements from his untried talent.

The Jackets are slated to play five night games, three at home, one at Brown Vocational and the fifth in Wilmington Park against Salesianum High. All night games here will start at 8:15 p.m. The afternoon contests will get underway at 3:30 p.m.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 21—Elkton, home, 8:15 p.m.
Sept. 29—Brown, away, nite.
Oct. 5—Sellers, Wilm. Park, 8:15 p.m.
Oct. 12—Wilm. High, home, 8:15 p.m.
Oct. 20—Wm. Penn, away.
Oct. 26—Claymont, home, 8:15 p.m.
Nov. 2—Open date.
Nov. 10—A. I. DuPont, home, 2 p.m.
Nov. 22—Conrad, away, a.m.

Local grid fans may save on their admission costs by purchasing an adult season ticket on sale at the high school. They also may be purchased from any member of the football squad.

Brandon Davis Top Rookie On Pirate Farm Club

Brandon Davis, ex-Newark High and Duke University athlete, is the toast these days of Bartlesville, Oklahoma. Baseball fans and sports writers there refer to him affectionately as "Brandy" and are hailing him as the year's standout rookie for the Bartlesville Pirates, a farm club of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Brandy left here some months ago to launch his professional baseball career with Hutchinson of the Western Association. Shortly afterwards he was transferred to Bartlesville of the Kansas-Oklahoma-Missouri League.

At last word he was leading the K-O-M League in hitting and stolen bases and was being hailed as having Word was received here yesterday that Brandon Davis has been sold to the New Orleans Pelicans, another Pittsburgh farm club, playing double A ball.

The transfer is a break for Davis, taking him a step nearer the major leagues. It may eliminate years of struggling up through class C, B, and A competition.

Brandon left Bartlesville on the eve of the K-O-M League playoffs. His loss was mourned by sports writers there, who counted on him as a big factor in Bartlesville's pennant chances.

the best throwing arm of any outfielder in the circuit.

One Bartlesville newspaper, which picked Brandy on its K-O-M League All-Star team, said, "Bartlesville fans brag that rookie Brandy Davis can snag any ball hit to left field. He is rated the fastest man on the Pirates' roster. After leading the league for two weeks with a batting average of .330, a slump brought him down to a mere .338. His throwing arm is rated the best in the league. He has stolen 26 bases in 27 games."

Since that write-up Brandon has pushed his stolen base mark up to 61. Another article under the heading "Davis First In Duel With Mack," read as follows: The long-awaited duel between Mack Morris and Brandy Davis, the K-O-M's top base stealers, came off last night prior to the Bartlesville-Ponca City ball game, and Davis had the best of it. Davis, a Duke University graduate breezed home first in a field of six to capture laurels in the 60-yard dash, featured event of Field Night dominated by the Pirates."

After graduating from Newark High School, Davis saw service with the Marines, then entered Duke University, where he trained under baseball coach, Jack Coombs, former A's pitcher. Coombs converted Davis to an outfielder. At Newark High, Davis had been known chiefly for his prowess on the mound. In his senior year at Duke, Davis stood second on the club's batting list with a season's mark of .320. He led the Devils in stolen bases.

Brandon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis, East Cleveland Avenue.

Newark Nine Upsets Rising Sun, 7-4, In Susky League Tilt

Knotts' Triple With The Bases Loaded Clinches Victory

Newark pulled off its second straight upset in the Susquehanna League here last Sunday, defeating Rising Sun, 7-4, in a tightly played contest.

The previous week, Newark turned back league leading Elkton by a 3-0 count.

The Rising Sun victory moved Newark into a tie for third place with the possibility of advancing into half a game of first if a favorable decision is handed down in a protest game now pending. The challenged game, played several weeks ago, ended with Havre de Grace defeating Newark, 10-3, but Newark is now claiming the Marylanders used an ineligible player. A decision is expected this week, according to Leroy Hill, Jr., Newark's manager.

The regular league will end on Labor Day, Sept. 3 after which will come the title play-off series between the first and second half winners.

Bill Woodward, former Rising Sun player, held his ex-teammates to five hits in pacing Newark to victory here last Sunday.

The decisive inning was the fifth when Newark wiped out a 3-2 tie with a four run outburst. The climax came when Jimmy Knotts, Newark's right fielder, boomed a triple to deep center with the bases loaded. Previously Spike Borrough singled, then Bill Shockley, Rising Sun hurler, lost control and issued three straight passes to bring in Borrough and set up Knotts' triple.

Elkton came to life momentarily in the top of the ninth, pushing across a single run, before they were silenced by Woodward.

Newark Clinches County League Pennant; Play-Off Series To Start Tomorrow

The Newark AA won over the West house last Thursday, 7-6, to clinch the pennant in the New Castle County League.

The victory gave Newark the remarkable record of 23 wins and four losses in league play. Christian, who handed out three of Newark's defeats, finished second in the regular season's play with a 24 and four wins.

The play-offs start tonight with Newark meeting Harmony, the three place finishers, in a game before the home fans on the Continental Field.

Racing At Reading Fair September 10-14

For the 18th year, Pennsylvania's only Grand Circuit harness race meeting will be staged at the Reading Fair, September 10 to 14, and the event's purse awards will be the largest ever offered at a fair in this state.

During the five days the meeting is in progress, a $70,140 prize money will be sliced by competing horsemen. To this amount, a sum of $54,740 will be added to winners of four Reading Fair races, while the remaining $15,400 will be set aside for 12 other events which adorn the fair harness race card.

The favorites are among the riders stakes offered each year on half mile tracks throughout the land. Designed exclusively for juvenile sulky performers, the quartet of futurity offerings include a $14,000 two-year-old trot, $15,500 two-year-old pace, $12,770 three-year-old trot and $12,470 three-year-old pace.

One futurity will be presented each of the first four days of the Reading meeting.

Pathologists Study Means To Conserve Delaware Forests

U. of D. Specialists Aim To Insure Future Of Conifer Glades

The plant pathology department at the University of Delaware is helping to insure the future of Delaware's conifer forests.

In 1949, the seedbeds of the State Forest Nursery at Lincoln, were badly diseased. Sometimes as many as three-fourths of the young trees turned brown, shed their needles, and died.

Now R. S. Cox, of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, is finding out what causes the disease, and has also made progress on how to control it.

Right now, says Cox, the disease seems to be due to certain fungus organisms, and how much direct sunlight the seedlings get.

After finding fungi in the diseased young trees, Cox ran tests in the greenhouse. It was found that two of the fungi could kill the young trees.

Tests in the seedbed show that if shaded, the young trees grow healthier and sturdier. They escape drying out in summer and "freezing and trawling injury" in winter.

Says Cox, A combination of soil-fumigation and proper shading will give us better stands of trees. We think, too, that this might cut the plant bed period from three to two years.

Chicken Is Popular On Military Menus

Armed Forces To Use 130 Million Lbs.

For 1951, military menu planners figure on using over twice as much chicken as last year, or approximately 130 million pounds.

About 65 per cent will be fryers. This creates a big market for poultrymen raise so many, said W. T. McAllister, extension marketing specialist at the University of Delaware.

This creates big market for poultry meat, outside the regular consumption, said McAllister. But the Quartermaster Corp points out that in so far as possible they will buy only ready-to-cook poultry. This is particularly true for overseas shipments. Only a small part of Delaware's poultry is dressed in the ready-to-cook form, commented McAllister.

On the less tangible side of the subject, McAllister quotes the Quartermaster Corps as saying that poultry properly prepared and served is a real moral builder among soldiers and sailors.

Regional Wage Unit Offices Are Opened

Expected To Speed Up Case Processing

The Philadelphia Regional Office of the Wage Stabilization Board, located in the Commercial Trust Building at 16 South Broad Street, Philadelphia, formally opened for business last week. It was announced by Dr. John Perry Horlacher, Regional Director.

The major work of the board will be to handle the processing of wage adjustments sought by employers and unions in Pennsylvania, Delaware, and the southern New Jersey counties of Camden, Atlantic, Cumberland, Salem, Gloucester and Cape May.

Dr. Horlacher emphasized, however, "That all applications and requests for rulings, and inquiries of a general nature concerning the wage stabilization program should continue to be made through the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor."

The Wage and Hour Division is located on the 5th floor of the Lafayette Building, 5th and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, Penna.

"The major effect resulting from the opening of the Wage Stabilization Board office in Philadelphia will be to cut down the time element involved and to a greater extent facilitate the completion of cases. Enforcement activities of the WSB in the Philadelphia region will also be sharply stepped up," Dr. Horlacher said.

The main duties of the WSB Regional Office originate from authority given it to process petitions for wage adjustments that have been forwarded to it from the various field offices of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor in this area.

Bees are responsible for almost all cross-pollination of alfalfa.
