RISE NOTED
IN PRICES

Delaware Farm
Return Higher
Than Year Ago

Prices received by Delaware
farmers for grain and field crops
on January 15 were slightly higher than the prices received for the same products on December 15 but below the January, 1937, prices.
This information, issued by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics
of the U. S. Department of Agricul ture, also showed that prices received for livestock for meat pur poses had fallen somewhat during the holiday season.
Advances in Delaware farm prices
for field crop products and the de cline in the farm meat prices were in line with variations for the United States as a whole. The ratio of prices received to prices paid, using the corresponding months
from 1924 to 1929 as ad justed to a pre-war base of 100, stood at 81 on January 15, 1938.
The price paid to price received index figure for December 15, 1937, was also 81 as compared to the January 15, 1937, index number of 95.
Following is a listing of prices re ceived by Delaware farmers for University Drama Group's Presentation

Below Standard of 1937 Melodrama

By Pick and Pat

Dr. Cyrus L. Day, G. Taggart
Evans, Mrs. C. J. Rees and Almer
A. Reiff bathed and sunned them selves in the dramatic spotlight last Friday night in Mitchell Hall when the University Drama Group fell
a great deal short of its standard
last year in "The Dead Sister's Secret."
"Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep"
"The Devil Passes," the vehicle
upon which the cast indifferently rode, might have been more dra matic had the players been more sincere; more humorous, had the characters been less stilted, and better received had the play been a soul-stirring, blood-tingling melo drama like the 1937 production.
Recitation of lines seemed to be the least of the players' troubles, especially for Dr. Day, who, in the role of an author whose work fell just a trifle short of great, had wrapped himself around one of Noah Webster's enlarged editions and spouted off with the ease of Vespasian the tongue-twisting and mouth-distorting expressions called for in the script. Orchids, and plenty of them.

After laboring through the scene of the first act, the indifferent spec tators raised up in their seats a little when Miss Katherine Ort, the maid, herded in a lamb-like sneak, the coming of the Rev.
Nicholas Lucy (the "Devil" to you),
portrayed in able fashion by Almer
A. Reiff.
From that time on, the outstand ing four managed to work together and alternately hold in check the

Miss Virginia
Harrington In
Feminine Lead

James M. Barrie's "Quality Street," a four-act comedy, will be presented by the faculty of the Newark Public Schools in the New ark School auditorium tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Virginia Harrington, fifth grade teacher, has been cast in the feminine lead of Phoebe Throssel, while John Munroe, senior high school instructor, will head the male stars as Valentine Brown.

The story of the play, directed by Miss Ann M. Stauter, takes place during the period of the Napoleonic Wars, 1805-1815, in an English village near London, and the surrounding countryside.
"In this little country town,
there is a satisfaction about living on Quality Street which even re ligion cannot give. The street is pleasantly broad and grass grown and is linked to the outer world by one demure shop, whose door rings
a bell every time it opens and shuts.
Thus by merely peeping, every one in Quality Street knows who has been buying a 'whimsy cake' and why."

The Cast

Other members of the cast are:
Rose Leary, Susan Throssel; Wil liam K. Gillespie, sergeant; Ann Chalmers, Patty; Ann Gallahan,

parts of children will be taken by

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Shall I Do on Sunday?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Using the Sabbath for the Whole Man.

"A man's soul is in a bad state when he begins to regard man-made rites and ceremonies as things of superior importance and exalts them above the preaching of the gospel. It is a symptom of spiritual disease. There is mischief within. It is too often the recourse of an uneasy conscience. . . . No wonder St. Paul said to the Galatians, 'Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.'" These are the comments of John Charles Ryle, Lord Bishop of Liverpool, on the lesson of today.

The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the Sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt nots" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord.

While we as Christians do not observe the Jewish Sabbath, there are principles of doctrine and life bound up in this lesson concerning the Sabbath which we may with profit apply to our day of rest—the first day of the week—the resurrection day, often called "the Lord's Day."

I. False Spirituality Unmasked.
The two incidents in our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the Sabbath the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ.

The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who passed through his neighbor's field. They contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the Sabbath in picking and hulling the grain.

The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their pious concern for the Sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very Sabbath day these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord. "They watched him," and even so the enemies of the cross watch us who are his followers. They are not concerned that the man with the withered arm, or with the withered soul may be helped, but only that they may find something to condemn. And even now their descendants are sitting in the pews of our churches. May God convict them of their sin!

II. True Spirituality Defined.
Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the Sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest.

How shall we know what we may do on the Lord's Day? Two guiding principles appear in our lesson. (1) Know and follow God's Word. Note the use that Jesus made of it in verses 23 and 26. No man will misuse the Sabbath or the Lord's Day who understands God's Word and obeys it. (2) Live in accordance with the spirit of the Lord Jesus. When tradition stood in the way of the best interests of man, He broke with tradition. If He could do good on the Sabbath He did it. He declares that the Sabbath is under his control, and He says that it was made for man's good.

A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this lesson as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of necessity and mercy. The desecration of the Lord's Day in our time is a serious matter. Let us not contribute to its deterioration. America needs Sunday as a day of rest and worship.

III. Righteous Indignation Manifested.
Our Lord rightly showed His holy anger (v. 5) against his hardhearted critics. He was the Holy One who did not permit His anger to go beyond its proper expression. Man, it must be confessed, seldom is able to control and direct even his righteous indignation. But there is such a thing as being angry without sin (Eph. 4:26), and one could sometimes wish that God's children could be moved to a holy anger against all sin and unrighteousness.

Portion of "Largest" Cake Sent From Convention To Governor

A Transcontinental & Western Air Inc. plane today took off from Chicago to deliver to Governor R. C. McMullen at Dover, Delaware's portion of the "all-American" cake—the largest cake in the world.

The cake was sent from Baking Products Marketing Conference of the Independent Grocers Alliance of America, held in Hotel Knickerbocker, Chicago.

Weighing more than a ton, the huge cake was baked state by state and fashioned in the shape of the United States map. Each of the 48 governors are receiving their state cake through special plane delivery.

A counterpart of the "all-American" cake was delivered to President Roosevelt, in time for his birthday.

The recipe from which the cake was baked was chosen as the favorite of 1,500,000 housewives who made known their preference in 6,000 I.G.A. stores throughout the country. The "all-American" cake is a white cake with chocolate fudge icing.

Purpose of the conference which was attended by nationally-known authorities, was to study the American housewives' baking choices and to plan a nation-wide, two-week sale of home baking supplies and ready-baked products to begin March 4th.

The meeting was one of a series called by J. Frank Grimes, president of Independent Grocers' Alliance, similar to the recent Canned Foods Marketing Conference, which resulted in a record-breaking distribution of canned foods to dispose of bumper crops.

Adequate Safety Devices Urged For Washers

Home Laundry Bulletin Lists Features For Careful Housewives

Adequate safety devices are stressed for power washing machines in the home, in the revised home laundry bulletin recently issued by the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. The principal safety features are insulation of the machine itself and of wires and connections and an automatic release for the wringer rollers.

The outside of the machine must be insulated from any and all of the electrical connections. Otherwise current will tend to leak off to the ground through the body of the machine and give disagreeable and even dangerous shocks to anyone touching the framework or tub.

Wet Hands Dangerous.
The operator's hands often are wet, and water is a good conductor of electricity.

The wires themselves should be of the best quality, wrapped with good insulating material and encased in a thick, flexible rubber tubing that can be coiled when the machine is not in use.

Every power wringer should have an automatic release that disconnects the power if too great a thickness is introduced between the rollers. This protects the operator and also the rollers from too great strain in wringing heavy materials.

BOOK SHELF

Of the more than 200 publishers who issued more than five books last year, Columbia University Press was tied with Random House for 25th place—each having been given credit for publishing 67 books. Of the university presses, Columbia was third; Chicago being first, with 71, and Harvard second, with 70. In this accounting the reprint houses have not been considered.

A recent article in The Review of Religion by Professor Karl Beth of the University of Vienna says that magic is replacing religion in Germany and threatens culture with extinction. Now, if this were so it would be one of the great tragedies of civilization, beside which wars, tidal waves, five-alarm fires and other catastrophic events would pale by comparison. It is strange how man gets so excited about one person about to jump from a fifth story window, how everything gets out of the way for fire engines, how all civilizing agencies close up and suspend activities pending the settlement of a war that threatens the life of a nation. But it is stranger still to see life flowing calmly and casually past a home in which a child is inconspicuously dying for want of attention or facilities which are easily available. Strangest of all, though, is the sight of a philosophic pestilence creeping up upon the people of the whole world—and the people blithely unaware of the impending doom.

Cotton Mather was one of the strangest Americans of them all—and one of the shrewdest. Dogmatic defender of a passing era, he well knew the power of print; and lest the Boston printers of the witchcraft era print anything ungodly, he must perforce keep them busy issuing his own tracts. This he did, as witness the Preface to T. Woodbridge's The Gospel Order Revised, published in New York in 1700, where the author says, "The Reader is desired to take Notice that the Press in Boston is so much under the awe of the Reverend Author, whom we answer . . . that we could not obtain of the Printer there to print the following Sheets, which is the true Reason why we have sent the Copy so far for its impression."

Mention has previously been made here of Philip Klein's A Social Study of Pittsburgh, not enough, though, to do justice to its scope or accomplishment. Financed by a group of public-minded citizens who were eager to know more about the social health of their community, this volume contains one of the most thorough socio-diagnostic examinations ever undertaken. And it is more interesting than you might at first imagine. Needless to say it has particular value and peculiar appeal to Pittsburghers; but from an objective point of view it will be used and appreciated by scholars and students the country over. In effect, Dr. Klein was asked and has attempted to answer questions of such character as the following: Is Pittsburgh a good place to live? Are the sick well taken care of? Has adequate care been taken to prevent the contamination of water? Do people have sufficient facilities for avocational activities? Do they thrive, subsist or starve when they lose their jobs? Are Negroes given a fair deal? Lack of space stops us, for the time being.

BAKED THE ONE-STEP WAY

When the frost is on the pumpkin, the family immediately realizes that this golden pie fruit is ripe, and they start clamoring for real old-fashioned pumpkin pie. The modern electric range with its accurate heat-controlled, moisture-controlled electric oven simplifies and glorifies the task of the family pie-baker. Pumpkin pie, nowadays, starts to bake in the unproved electric oven, thus eliminating one bothersome step in the process and producing a tender, flake-away-in-your-mouth pastry with a smooth, firm pumpkin filling.

"Glasgow Arms" Granted Official Use Of Seal

Lord Provost of Scotch City Extends Special Privilege

By Charles H. Rutledge
A new and thoroughly unique restaurant—the Glasgow Arms—has been opened at the intersection of U. S. Route 30 and the Newark-to-Summit Bridge Road.

Standing less than three miles from Cooch's Bridge, where in 1777
General George Washington's Colonial Army first unfurled the American Flag in battle, the new roadside eatery—distinctive in construction, unusual and original in design, yet completely modern—lends charm and attractiveness to the historic scene.

The new enterprise is graced by the official seal of Glasgow, Scotland, from whence the Delaware
community, bearing the same name, adopted its monicker.

Gus Slavos, Elkton restaurant man, who owns and operates the new eating house, has been granted special permission to use the seal by The Right Honorable
The Lord Provost John Stewart, Esquire, of the City of Glasgow, Scotland. The permit was granted to Mr. Slavos through F. du Pont Thomson, retired engineer of Elkton, who applied for permission to use the seal by contacting Lord Provost Stewart

during a trip to the British Isles
last year.

Has Varied Experience
A native of Greece, Mr. Slavos came to the United States in 1917
following an enforced stay in Italy.
As an engineer on a Greek merchant ship, the subject of this article found himself floating in the Mediterranean Sea on the night of November 22, 1916, following a disastrous attack by a German submarine.

Picked up by a lifeboat, Mr.
Slavos was landed with a number of his mates in Genoa, Italy, after rowing 46 miles in the open craft.
Forced to remain there for an extended period, several of the stran-ged crew finally obtained passage to America.

Mr. Slavos worked as a machinist for the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at Sparrows Point, Pa., until 1929 when he purchased an interest in a restaurant business connected with the Howard House in Elkton. Three years later the partnership took over the management of the whole hotel business.

Started Own Restaurant
In 1933 Mr. Slavos ventured on his own, opening the Elk Restaurant which he still operates on Main Street, opposite Bow in Elkton.
A painter of note, Mr. Slavos formerly belonged to the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts. Several of his works are displayed in his Elkton restaurant while several others are hung in the Cecil County courthouse. One of the paintings was done from memory of that disastrous night in 1916 when the German "U-boat" sunk the Greek freighter in the Mediterranean.

In addition to his work as an artist, Mr. Slavos is an ardent collector of old firearms. Some of the flint-lock guns in his collection are more than 300 years old.
Mr. Slavos and his family reside in Elkton in the spacious presented in 1934 from the Boulder Estate and completely restored
its fine woodwork, wide doorways, large fireplaces and other authentic trimmings of Colonial days.

Local historians claim that General Lafayette stayed at the home for a short period during the Revolution when Dr. Mitchell turned it into a hospital.

HOME EDUCATION
"The Child's First School is the Family"—Froebel
Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th Street,
New York City. These articles are appearing weekly in our columns.

COURTESY IN SPEECH
BERTHA YOUNKIN
Young Mrs. Smith was pouring tea very graciously that afternoon of the committee meeting in her artistically furnished living room. The low, well-modulated voices of the small group of women, the dignity of the home itself, and the noise of the hostess indicated a cultured group of women in a refined home.
Suddenly an outer door was banged, clattering footsteps were heard and a loud boyish voice jarred upon the ears of the guests.
"Mother!" came the shout, then impatiently, "I say, Mother,—where are you?"

The living-room door burst open and there stood the young Smiths lad looking bright-eyed and eager.
"Oh, there you are. Say, go get my coat, quick! I'm in an awfully big hurry to go with Dad!"

Pathetic Helplessness
There was an expression of pathetic helplessness on the mother's face as she colored and rose. Mentally she pictured the impressions
the child had made upon the guests:
a rude, loud, discourteous boy, entirely incongruous of his mother and her friends,—a child who made tyrannical demands on the whole household.

Mrs. Smith, like many mothers, had made constant attempts to train
the boy to be mannerly. She regularly took time to sit down with him and explain gently and firmly all the generally accepted manners and the courtesies he should show toward others. They often practiced these things together and, being a generous and thoroughly normal

boy, he always meant to be manner-ly but somehow generally forgot.
Consider Few Facts
In order to understand this situation and the hundreds of similar ones, let us consider a few general facts that may throw some light on the trouble. Let us recall a child first learns words and sentences.
Here we discover that child is impressed chiefly with the language addressed TO HIM.
Now, keeping this in mind, one realizes at once that no matter how politely the elders address one another, it is of little avail as far as the manners of the child are concerned unless he, too, is addressed with courtesy. The child will reflect the tone of voice and the type of command or conversation in which he is the object of concern.
Let us now think carefully—in just what manner do we usually address our children? Here most parents will be forced to admit that never once would they dream of

State Speaker
Mrs. Katie L. B. Dockerty, vice president of the State W.C.T.U., was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Newport Branch of the W.C.T.U., on Wednesday afternoon
at the home of Mrs. L. W. Mahan, Newport. Mrs. Dockerty outlined the plans for the Frances Willard Centenary Million Dollar Memorial, and the special celebration to be held in September 1939.

Mrs. Thomas Jakes of Wilmington, and first vice president of the New Castle County W. C. T. U. was also a guest, brought greetings to the Newport branch, and gave a very interesting talk on current events.
Miss Ruth Pettigill, of the Hill
Union of Wilmington, was also a guest and speaker.

Mrs. George L. Biddle, president of the local branch, was in charge.
There were 20 members and guests present.

hang up your coat?" (Imagine saying that to a visitor), why not speak
as to an equal: "Donald, did you forget your coat?" and "Mother is in a dreadful hurry, Donald, do you suppose you could get your own wraps?" It is remarkable how even a three-year-old will respond to responsibility when talked to as an equal.

So it seems that mothers who do not like to be rudely commanded by their young children should take time to choose carefully a type of speech in which to address those boys and girls, such as when turned upon themselves, will not be objectionable, but instead, will bring a glow of pleasure.

Newark, Delaware, February 10, 1938

PERSEVERANCE DOES IT

Steps taken by civic-minded members of the Newark New Century Club to improve conditions in general for Negro residents is commendable, to say the least.

Opposition, originating in the minds of people who do not understand the situation, others who will not try to understand the situation and those ignorant and un-Christian individuals who nourish race hatred, has already been voiced. Opposition is to be expected, however. It comes when any progressive step is attempted. The best way to combat it is by keeping a stiff upper lip, hewing close to the line and refusing to be swayed from the plotted course by boisterous, though unimportant, criticism.

Conditions for residents of the Negro colony are pitiful. They should be improved. We are not in agreement with the various details of the Century Club plan for bringing necessary improvements into being, but with the idea as a whole and the plan in general, we most heartily register our commendation.

The Negro residents themselves can do a lot by cooperating with the club women. Personal differences, narrow ideas and unimportant side issues must be forgotten by the colored people as well as the white, if success is to be attained.

Contrary to the opinion that has gained a measure of popularity in all sections, the New Century Club is not trying to exploit the Negro. The club is not trying to dictate. The idea is to help.

Some objection was voiced in the Negro sector concerning an account which appeared in this paper last week that reported 62 per cent of the children in the colony as illegitimate. The objection was foolish.

Neither the New Century Club nor the Post published the figure with any disparaging ideas. Supplied by a Negro delegate who sat in conference with a group from the New Century Club, the figure was a personal estimate at best. It was used to point out the need for helpful action in the colony.

Whether the rate of illegitimacy is 62 per cent or one per cent, and no census will ever disclose the true figure, what is the difference if the cause of needed help is being advanced? By registering objection to such unimportant details, the Negroes are in reality taking a bite at the hand that is trying to aid.

Regardless of handicaps and objections, however, we sincerely hope for the benefit of the community as a whole that the New Century Club sticks to its guns and keeps firing until success is attained.

PRIDE OF ANCESTRY

Honoring of parents or other worthy forbears is most commendable, but the extremes to which some people carry their pride of ancestry is somewhat amusing.

We see many worthless off-spring from high-class parentage, while on the other hand many persons born in obscurity have made notable successes in life.

The divine right of kings was founded on ancestry, usually beginning with some political or military upstart. The American "400" was founded on the wealth of shrewd, uncouth traders and schemers of the early days.

While the fetish of ancestry is still worshipped by many, it is becoming out of date and nowadays a man must amount to something in his own right if he would be held in high esteem.

As a recent writer has well said "Humanity's sense of justice would be outraged if descendants of a criminal justly hanged, say, three hundred years ago, should still lie under the infamy of that ancestor. Why, then, should glory attach to the worthless descendant of a hero?"

It is certainly more creditable to have overcome the handicap of early disadvantages than to try to "travel" solely on the prestige of worthy family connections.

Pride of distinguished ancestry is natural and proper, but its display is frequently overdone.

CLEVELAND'S FOUNDER

Because an editor's type did not fit the intended heading of his newspaper, the spelling of the name of Cleveland, Ohio, was permanently changed, according to a recent writer. The town was originally Cleaveland, named after Moses Cleaveland, its founder, who was born in 1754 and died in 1806.

When the Cleveland Advertiser was established in 1830, the editor found the line of type he desired to use as a heading was too long for the page, so he omitted the silent "a" from Cleveland's name. The new spelling was soon adopted generally, and has been used ever since.

Moses Cleaveland was graduated from Yale in 1777 and served in the Continental Army, later practicing law in his native town of Canterbury, Conn. In 1796 he led a surveying expedition for a land company in which he was a shareholder, and also negotiated with the Indians, along the Great Lakes in the Western Reserve country.

On July 22, 1796, he selected the present location of the city as a site for a permanent settlement, and his party named it in his honor. Cleveland is now the sixth city of the United States in size, with a population of more than 900,000.

Wishing to be sure his cows were contented in hot weather, former Representative Dan V. Stephen of Fremont, Neb., installed a four-ton air conditioning unit in his cow barns.

THE WAYS OF CROOKS

An interesting sidelight on the ways of professional criminals is given in a magazine article which declares that cities where these gentry habitually congregate to spend their loot are seldom the scene of their banditry.

The writer cites the case of Toledo, long known as being unusually free from underworld crime, yet all the time the rendezvous for safe-crooks, holdup men and other desperate crooks. It was an unwritten law among them that no "jobs" were to be pulled off in Toledo, and although the police knew of their presence, they were not molested, because as the chief said: "We never bother them, because they never bother us."

Finally a new public commissioner was appointed, and when he learned of the situation he ordered a clean-up. Then, to quote the article: "There were immediate retaliations. Safes began to explode like fire-crackers on the Fourth. Hold-ups became as common as measles. Cops shot crooks and crooks shot cops. Today Toledo is no longer immune."

One difficulty said to be experienced in catching present-day criminals of the professional class is that many of their old underworld haunts which were formerly well-known to the police have been broken up. The crooks are scattered throughout the cities, often living in comparative security in high-class neighborhoods. Thus a new and serious complication of the criminal problem has arisen, for which no solution appears to be forthcoming.

HEART PROTECTION

More people die from heart disease than from any other cause, its death toll among business men being especially high. Yet proper precautions, if taken in time, would prevent many of these deaths.

Writing on this subject in a fraternal magazine, Dr. Charles H. Bayo, world famous physician and surgeon, says: "The report of the sudden death of a prominent business man from heart disease is all wrong. He was years in dying. A year ago his physician, if given the opportunity, might have discovered the damaged heart which he probably had had since developing some infectious disease or infected teeth. Early detection with proper personal hygiene and wise treatment would have added happy, useful years."

A recent bulletin of the Dental Institute of America points out that 23 million school children are in serious need of dental care, with an average of from four to six decayed teeth. In many cases these are likely to develop the types of heart disease which brings early death. Too often an infected tooth is permitted to drain into the blood stream until irreparable damage is done, through failing to see a dentist except when forced to do so because of an aching tooth.

It is a well-known fact that dental science is making definite progress in preventing the development of heart disorders. But such disorders resulting from infected teeth will not be materially reduced so long as some 100 million people, or three out of four in the United States, remain neglectful of both daily and professional dental care.

POPULAR MISNOMERS

Many familiar articles bear names which are misleading, although the misnomers are generally of little practical importance. A peculiar instance of this is seen in the popular name of the Jerusalem artichoke, which is in no way connected with the famed city of the Holy Land.

In this case the word "Jerusalem" is a corruption of the Italian "girasole," (meaning turning to the sun), from the habit of the plant, which is of the same genus as the sunflower.

The sunflower, by the way, has a name which is doubly appropriate, because it not only inclines to turn toward the sun, but its flower also has some resemblance to the sun itself.

Both the sunflower and Jerusalem artichoke are indigenous to America, but there is also a globe artichoke, which is probably a native of Asia.

Speaking of misnomers, the one most frequently heard is "Irish potato." This valuable tuber was discovered in South America, whence it was introduced into Europe, first as a curiosity. It later became the most important item of food for the Irish people during a time of famine, and the name "Irish" has been applied to it ever since.

Parents who coax and coddle and threaten when a child refuses to eat are on the wrong track, according to Dr. Frank Howard Richardson, a noted child specialist. They are merely causing the child to become neurotic and self-centered by paying too much attention to his whims.

Instead of humoring the child by urging or bribing him to eat, he should be made to sit down at the table five times a day, for 30 minutes at the three regular meals and for 20 minutes at mid-morning and mid-afternoon lunches.

Suitable foods are to be placed before him each time, but no effort whatever is to be made to induce him to eat. He may eat or he may not as he chooses. But at the end of the time set he should be made to leave the table whether he has eaten or not.

Dr. Richardson declares that there is no danger that a child will starve himself under such circumstances, but that within two or three days the "cure" will be under way. In conclusion, the doctor says:

"The relief afforded sorely tried parents by this course of action is so genuine that parents usually wonder why they waited so long before adopting it."

Automobile Offers New World of Pleasure and Responsibilities

When a man sits behind the wheel of his car with 2,500 lbs. of metal and machinery to respond to the turn of his hand, a world of new pleasures, and new responsibilities are his.

Whether riding in city traffic or bowling along country roads, certain well defined regulations must become instructive or trouble will come to mar his pleasure in auto-mobiling. He must visualize certain situations that may occur suddenly—perhaps around the very next corner. He must know how to act not only in these emergencies, but beforehand, to avoid them.

Automobiles have reached a high stage of mechanical perfection, but they have no brains. It is the human being, driving the car that has to contribute the brains or the thinking machine to this mechanical device.

Practices To Observe

According to the Delaware Safety Council, the following safe driving practices should be observed and carried out if we are to stop this terrible toll of highway deaths during the present year, and for the following ones to come.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE

By SYLVIA PHELPS

English Reading

Mr. Lawrence Willson, instructor in English at the University, contributed to the series of English readings last Monday evening in the Hilarium. His topic was "The Poetry of Walter Hardy."

On Tuesday evening a concert was given by the Music Department of the University of Delaware, under the direction of Mr. Anthony Loudis, the music instructor. The program included songs by the Women's College Glee Club, selections by the University Choir of mixed voices, and two-piano music by Mr. Loudis and an assisting artist, Mr. Raymond Burrows.

Many girls are planning to attend the University Hour program in Mitchell Hall on Thursday evening. The well-known organist, Firman Swinnen, always popular among the music-loving students, will be the artist of the evening. Incidentally, such recitals offer an opportunity to townspeople as well as the student body, as admission is free.

Valentine Dance

Miss Marjorie Starkweather, of Dover, will lead the Y. W. C. A. discussion Friday afternoon in the Hilarium. She will talk on opportunities for girls in the Y field, including work in summer camps. On the student bulletin board in Science Hall, a large romantic red heart announces the annual Women's College Valentine Dance, to be held in Kent Hall from eight until twelve on Saturday, February 12. The girls are urged to bring their "valentines" for a gay evening, although no one can promise that the love bug won't be there to bite some of the dancers. Proceeds will be added to the fund for the "Blue and Gold," the W. C. D. year book which is to be published in the spring.

On the wheel, your mind alert and focused on the job of driving. If you must talk with your companion don't take your eyes off the road.

Become thoroughly experienced in driving before you drive in traffic. Ability to drive one car does not necessarily qualify you to drive other cars. If you have to change cars from day to day get sufficient experience with each one to drive it well anywhere. Never permit an inexperienced companion to drive in traffic, nor let anyone drive from the side seat.

Be consistent—the road mope is as bad as the road hog, and the driver who passes and then falls behind, or who cuts in is a menace. Get in the line of traffic and keep moving at a good speed with regard to existing conditions. Don't pull out to pass cars ahead unless the way is clear, and then do it quickly and get back into line. Any erratic action on your part confuses other drivers and sets the stage for an accident.

Liquor Serious Offense
Driving while under the influence of liquor is the most serious offense, and the penalty is generally a jail sentence. The effects of intoxicating liquor varies so greatly that a small amount causing no effect one time may easily and frequently do cause great effect at another, and the user is frequently unaware of its extent. The only safe way is not to drive if you have taken even the smallest quantity of intoxicating liquor.

Fatigue or illness are frequent contributory causes of accidents. Driving after a period of hard work or insufficient sleep or for long distances without rest should be avoided if possible. If the driver is ill from indigestion, severe cold, or any acute disease he is in a condition which makes it difficult for him to meet emergencies. It is extremely dangerous to drive a car if there is the slightest possibility of the driver being doubled up with cramps, overcome by fainting, or falling asleep at the wheel. A person who is at all subject to convulsions or epilepsy should never drive a car.

A MAIN COOKING MIRACLE

ROAST lot of pork and crispy-brown sweet potato pineapple puffs—how does that sound for an appetizing main course? It's a delightful treat for autumn appetites and, cooked by the modern electric range, it's simple and easy to make. The meat starts to bake in the unpreheated electric oven while the sweet potato puffs are fried in deep fat, heated by controlled electric heat. Little time and energy is required to prepare this all-important part of the meal. And the result—a tender, uniformly cooked roast and puffy sweet potato balls fried in even-temperated deep fat.

SCREEN SNAPS

By "SNAPPER"

Friday and Saturday

Proclaimed as the greatest motion picture ever made with an undersea boat as its subject and locale, "Submarine D-1" has been booked as the feature attraction at the State Theatre.

It is a Warner Bros. melodrama co-starring Pat O'Brien and George Brent, and featuring Wayne ("Kid Galahad") Morris. In the making of it the United States Navy Department deserves as much credit as the movie folk, for it threw open to the Warners its submarine establishments at San Diego, Cocos Coco in the Panama Canal Zone, and Newport, R. I.

The story of the D-1 was written by Commander Frank Wead, U. S. N., who was the author of "Ceiling Zero" and other stage and screen hits.

Pat O'Brien and Wayne Morris play a couple of young submarine crewmen who have developed two great inventions—a device to shoot men safely to the ocean's surface if a ship is sunk, and another device to raise the U-boat itself.

In the story the D-1 is rammed and sunk during some war game maneuvers, and the boys' inventions get a chance to show their worth. They are successful in saving the sub's whole crew and its heroic commander.

Monday and Tuesday

"Tovarich," the world-famous comedy dealing with an exiled Russian Prince and Grand Duchess, which has been playing on the stage all over civilization for several years, comes in film form to the Strand Theatre next Friday.

Starring Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer, it is said to be the most massive and expensive production that Warner Bros. have turned out since "Anthony Adverse" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

Besides the players already named, the cast includes such popular actors and actresses as Basil Rathbone, Morris Carnovsky, Melville Cooper, Montagu Love, Heather Thatcher and Reine Riano.

Wednesday

Three children, a motherly landlady, and one of the great horse races of the American season mingle thrills and drama with heart interest, love, and loyalty in "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," drama of youth and the turf.

Ronald Sinclair, new English boy actor, makes his bow in his first important role, teamed with Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney and Sophie Tucker. He plays an English boy who owns a horse. Rooney plays the jockey who tricks him, and through remorse and friendship finds regeneration. Miss Garland sings a new song, "Gotta Pair of New Shoes" that turns out a distinctive hit. Miss Tucker has the sympathetic role as the landlady, and extracts every ounce of drama from it. Alfred E. Green directed.

Lily Pons, grand opera star, goes completely informal for one song in

With the title song of the film, "Hitting a New High," the diva, who heretofore has confined her vocalizing to operatic arias and a swing version of the "Blue Danube," gives a "hot" version in appropriate cabaret style.

Under the coaching of Charles Henderson, who, as former arranger for Andre Kostelanetz, did much toward popularizing the current vogue for "rip" singing, Miss Pons really enjoys an opportunity to emulate to the fullest a night club singer. According to Henderson, her aptitude toward capturing the "lah-de-dahs" and vocal imitations of a Louis Armstrong trumpet, is nothing short of amazing.

Miss Pons enthusiastically accepted producer Jesse L. Lasky's suggestion that she go completely "modern" in her latest picture.

In the earlier sequences of "Hitting a New High," Miss Pons does some jungle antics with only beads and feathers as her costume.

her maidenly prayers. She knew her lines but not his.

"Look These Behind You"
With a stern visage and vocal chords that played a tune of thunder, G. Taggart Evans, in the role of Rev. Herbert Messiter, piously promenade through the massacre and in the role of the crazed clergyman, aided in preventing the tragedy from becoming too brutal.

A poor, harmless pillow, however, tumbled to the floor between the sofa and a chair, and G. Taggart, in order to wend his way to the rear of the stage, instead of stooping to retrieve the misplaced equipment, walked over it, his mind on more celestial things. The pillow's falling wasn't in the script.

As the Rev. Herbert Messiter's wife, Mrs. Rees was charming and a portrayal in which the audience had complete faith and her appearances were eagerly looked forward to as she gave the single stable characterization of the entire production. Orchards of orchids, Mrs. Rees.

In the role of Dorothy Lister, an actress, Mrs. Ethelene Evans failed to gain a response from her audience while R. Curtis Potts missed too many trains to be discredited with any faults.

Another nice thing about the affair was the two sunshine week-ends the cast enjoyed—after all sunshine on Saturdays and Sundays is at a premium and it was very nice of Mr. Levy.

The Rev. Kenneth E. Arnold of Addison, N. Y., recently built a set of chimes for his church out of discarded automobile brake drums.

"Never let the sun set on a quarrel," is the advice Isaac Hock, 96, and his wife, Doreas, 91, of De Soto, Iowa, gave as they celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary.

Entering the home of John Mitchell, a Brooklyn Negro suspected of stealing, police found him in bed with a dozen chickens he had stolen and killed.

Joseph Lascalo of Sioux City sued for divorce on the grounds that his wife spent her time making home brew when she should have been preparing his meals.

Thieves who ransacked the safe of the Sheppard Coal Co., at Braintree, Mass., carefully laid the company's burglary-insurance policy on a nearby table.

Harry Schwartz of Chicago is suing for divorce because his wife fired a good-looking lady clerk who had made his cigar store popular.

The Sewing Corner

The needle arts have come into wide popularity. This series of 12 articles offers ingenious tips and instructions on various items which women will find both economical and fashionable.

IX—An Epidemic Of Holes Breaks Out On Wash Day

DIAGNOSIS: Towels, sheets and pillow cases weakened by many launderings go to pieces suddenly. The sewing machine may restore usefulness quickly while hand mending would consume more time than their present condition warrants.

Prescription: Sewing machine equipped with medium needle. 1 spool thread No. 60 or 70.

Method of Treatment: Remove machine presser foot, place work under the needle; then let down the presser bar just as though the foot were attached, so there will be tension in the upper thread. Take one stitch to draw up the bobbin thread, then, holding the work flat with both hands, move it slowly from side to side and back and forth while running the machine.

Mrs. E. T. Allen of London had her husband arrested for wrecking the family automobile in which she had taken another man for a ride.

When his bicycle was struck by an open automobile near Detroit, James Ferguson did a backward loop and landed in the car.

Two operators of an apartment house at Phoenix, Ark., are being sued for $51,078 by Elaine Hansen, a tenant, on grounds that a folding bed snapped, cracked and collapsed, "squeezing, striking, and battering" her.

Eleven years ago in Minneapolis, Paul Holden proposed marriage to Helen Low, now a radio singer in Seattle, Wash. She refused. Recently he flew to Seattle to try again, and the answer was "Yes."

Charged with breaking into a garage and stealing $33.75, H. Russell Brown, a member of the police force at Barnstable, Mass., has been arrested.

Kansas train-auto collisions in 1935 killed 63 persons, only four less than the combined toll the two preceding years.

Child Painfully Scalded

While playing in the kitchen of his home on South College Avenue last Saturday, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Thomas was severely scalded about the leg when he innocently opened the faucet of the range boiler. The water running out upon his right leg scalded it from above the knee down.

With great presence of mind the child's nurse quickly stripped the clothing from the member, preventing a more serious injury. Dr. Steel was called and dressed the injury. The child is now under the care of Dr. Kollock, the family physician, and is doing finely, although suffering somewhat from nervous shock.

Speedway enthusiasts will regret to learn of the sale of Gitchie Manito, the stallion bay owned by Tyson and Wingert, at Madison Square Garden Horse Sale on February 5th.

Few horses in this community have had the admirers as was the fortune of Beauty Manito. He held a record of 2:09 1/4 with a star race of 2:05 1/4 at Columbus, Ohio, in 1906.

Mr. Tyson in speaking of Gitchie said he could go faster to sleigh than any horse he had ever driven, and observers of Newark's snow-drive bear witness to the statement.

A record brush to his credit was from the Huber track to town. Hitched to the cart carrying four men, Dr. Steel in his automobile was forced to speed thirty miles an hour in order to pass him.

All good wishes to Gitchie. Newark Lovers of Horses will miss him. (The above article was written below a picture showing Gitchie Manito with his driver and trainer at that time, Ellis Cullen, who was seated on a sulky, holding a long whip and wearing a baseball cap.)

Mr. George Heavellow, formerly of Newark, who was married to Mrs. Florence Jacobs, of Philadelphia, last March, is now in Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Heavellow expect to make their future home in Colorado. Wm. Heavellow, a brother, has received a letter telling of their pleasant trip and safe arrival in the western city. Many friends in Newark extend their best wishes for future success in the new home.

High School Dance

A dance will be given by the Athletic Association of Newark High School in the Opera House on Friday evening, February 21, 1913. The boys are trying in every way to make this a most delightful affair and many couples are expected from Elkton, Wilmington, Oxford and other nearby towns. There will be a grand march with twenty-four dances following, and refreshments will be served throughout the entire dance. It has not yet been decided what orchestra will play but it is thought that the famous Bird and Edwards quintet will be on hand. Dancing will begin at 8:30.

The committee in charge are: George Holton, Stanley West, Harvey Ferguson and Knowles Bowen. The following have charge of the different committees: George Holton, decorations; Stanley West, refreshments; Harvey Ferguson, music; Knowles Bowen, program and invitations.

Sink or Swim is a familiar expression. Just now we are being treated to a practical example. The State is asked to sink $1,000 in order that the College boys may swim.

CREDIT MACHINERY—Small business needs some new credit machinery to take care of the sound capital needs of operating industry not in the big business class. Private individuals, under a new plan being considered, could buy participation in the industrial lending business, and purchase certificates which would be backed by a Government guarantee.

INSURED BANK DEPOSITS—The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation reports that of 283,000 depositors in insured banks which were liquidated or merged up to December 21, 1937, only 673, or less than 1/4 of 1%, were not fully protected by Federal Deposit Insurance.

IN RESPONSE TO the many letters and telegrams received from friends and constituents, I announced through the press this week my candidacy for renomination for the privilege of again serving my State in Congress.

ALIENS TO BE ELIMINATED—A provision to stop the expenditure of government appropriation funds for the hire of aliens appeared in two of the appropriation bills that the House passed this session. It is likely that such provisions will be extended in future government appropriation bills, with probably a few exceptions.

ASSISTANCE TO NEEDY—The objectives of the Social Security Program were to banish the dread of poverty, protect helpless children, and give aid to the blind. According to the Social Security Board, such objectives are being attained. They conclude that the large part of those receiving assistance under the old age program have no other form of money income. Families receiving aid for dependent children are, mostly, homes broken by the death or absence of the father. Last, the aid to the blind is provided a great deal to individuals suffering from old age. Some 2,109,000 are being helped in these three ways by the Social Security Program.

He Saw For Himself

"Madam," said the hobo, "I met had a wife and family of my own, but I couldn't be contented. I growled and grumbled at everything—and finally I left home."

"Well, here's a chicken sandwich for you, sir," said the housewife. "Mighty few husbands are as considerate as that."

Citizens of Belvidere, Ill., unanimously turned an opportunity to make $5. All they had to do was roll up a 20-foot python and carry it back to the carnival from which it escaped.
