Rock Throwing At 2
Homes Attributed To Strike TensionCroquet Ball Hurlled
Through Windows Near Sleeping Residents

A rock was thrown through the window of one home and a croquet ball through the window of another here Tuesday morning by unknown persons.

One was injured in the incidents, and it was in connection with the Hosiery Mill strike now winding up its third month. Both missiles were thrown at the homes of non-strikers now working at the mill.

The first, a large rock, went through the first floor bedroom window of Miss Kade's apartment at 306 East Main Street. Miss Kade was still in bed at the time, which was around 7 a. m., and the rock splattered glass over the bedcovers and landed near the pillow, narrowly averting injuring her.

A short time later, a croquet ball was hurled through a first floor bedroom window of Lowell Stimmel's apartment at 187 East Park Place. The window was occupied by Mr. Stimmel's son, Lowell, Jr., and the bed was splattered with glass.

Police are investigating the incidents. The strike situation, meanwhile, continued unchanged. The strikers are still maintaining their picket lines, while the non-strikers in the plant, who have been working under a new charter under the United Textile Workers, are negotiating for recognition as the bargaining agency for the workers. The strikers have protested the formation of the AFL and the UTW.

Will Seek Trio Of
Teen-Agers Missing
Since Last FridayLocal Boys Believed Drowned
In Delaware River During
Canoeing Trip

The community was shocked last Friday when word was announced that three Newark youths and one former Newark boy had disappeared on an exploring expedition on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River.

The trio had traveled to the island in a canoe, which was found Sunday, returned and awash 16 miles below the island. The last time the boys were seen was mid-afternoon Friday, when they asked directions of a pair of hunters to Fort Delaware, a historic structure on the island. The hunters said they last saw the boys sailing for the fort.

The three lost youths are: Walter Reynolds, 16, of Delaware City; Thomas Phillips, 20, and George Boone, 16, of Newark. Reynolds is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William U. Reynolds. Phillips is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Phillips, 51 West Delaware Avenue; and Boone is the son of Mrs. Ben Boone, Elkton Road.

The news of their disappearance brought on a large scale search of the river, which has continued all this week. Searching parties scoured the island, leading the fort, and early Monday morning firemen, state police and firemen began dragging the water for the island. In addition, planes of the Civil Air Patrol searched overhead, but no clue to the whereabouts of the boys had been uncovered by yesterday morning.

Hope that they would be found alive Sunday, when the overturned canoe was found. It was spotted from the air by a state trooper, flying low over the river. The green canoe was picked up by searching parties and identified by Patricia Reynolds, sister of one of the missing boys.

Discovery of the canoe led to the hope that the boys had capsized and turned on their return trip from the island after their exploration of the island.

The fact that they reached the island was established by the two hunters, Paul and Alfred Pasquino, who reported meeting the boys and giving them instructions to reach the fort. Their story led the searchers to the many dungeons and corridors of the fort, but they uncovered no hint of the missing youths.

The disappearance of the boys first became known around 5 p. m. Friday when they failed to show up at the Reynolds home for supper and a party. They had left earlier in the day to go canoeing, but apparently had changed their minds and taken the canoe to Pea Patch Island.

Lost Articles
Still Uncalled For

The lost articles listed last week as being held at the Newark Police Station remained uncalled for yesterday, according to Police Chief William Cunningham.

The list includes: a pair of women's gloves, a lady's black pocketbook (no identification) and a man's pocket watch.

No other articles were turned in the past week.

A number of persons appeared at the police station to check the articles but none claimed them.

Newark may be harboring a budding opera star.

Janice Olsen, tenth grade student at the Newark High School, emerged as a promising lyric soprano last Thursday night, when she won first prize at an amateur hour in the Queen Theatre, Wilmington.

She sang an aria from Carmen, "Now Shall Do All in My Power." The prize was $20 in merchandise at a Wilmington store.

Janice, who is 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Olson, 171 South Chapel Street.

Vaughn Fox Displays
His "Car of Future"

Vaughn Fox

Shown here is Vaughn Fox, a senior at the Newark High School, holding his design of the Car of the Future. This year's Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car contest.

His prize was $150 in cash, a medal and a certificate. The wooden miniature was judged the best in the senior division of Delaware. It was the second state award for Vaughn. Last year his entry won the junior division.

Vaughn started with a block of balsa wood, his general plan being to design an attractive yet practical car of tomorrow. He hand carved the block, molded the grill from wire, sanded the model over 25 times, applied about 30 coats of sanding sealer and finish to achieve a high gloss.

He plans to enter the contest next year and already has purchased his block of wood. His aim is to win one of the big national awards. Vaughn, who is 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Fox, near Newark.

Members of Pack 55
Are Given AwardsFive Cubs Get Badges At
November Meet; Dairy Head

Five cubs received awards at the November meeting of Pack 55 in the Methodist Church last Friday.

Assistant Cubmaster Ted Cairns was in charge of the pre-meeting games, and the opening ceremony was conducted by Den 3, Don Parker, accompanied by Elisha Rahn at the piano, led the entire group of parents and boys in singing cub songs.

Cubmaster Rahn then presented the following with awards: Arthur Ayres, David Watt and Edward Alexander, wolf badge; Carl Butterworth, bear badge; and Daniel Bissotto, lion badge. Assistant Cubmaster Gerry Borchardt urged the boys to continue beyond their required achievements and complete as many elective achievements as possible. For the latter they receive gold and silver arrows.

Steven Barczewski, of Glasgow, proprietor of the West End Dairy, treated the group to a showing of the movie, "Man Made Miracles," which showed how animals are developed for specific purposes through generations of selective breeding and training. They saw the results in race, hunting and work horses, cows and polo ponies, and various varieties of dogs. Afterwards, Mr. Barczewski presented the cubs with a serving of Golden Guernsey milk and crackers.

Handicraft was on display, and many of the cubs exhibited some very ingenious pieces.

The next pack meeting will be Dec. 16 and the guest of honor will be a gentleman from the north pole.

Organ Dedicated In Service Sunday At
First PresbyterianDr. Pugh, Prominent Churchman, Urges Tolerance In Thought

A new Moehler organ, equipped with a set of Deagan tubular chimes, was dedicated at a special service Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church.

The speaker was the Rev. William Barrow Pugh, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. He stressed the need for intellectual tolerance. It is not necessary or desirable that people think alike, but only that they learn how to disagree peacefully, he said, adding that the pronoun "I" is the most dangerous word in the language. Insistence on "I" at the expense of "WE" is at the bottom of mankind's greatest conflicts. A classic example of what can be produced by intellectual cooperation and emphasizing the "WE" is the Constitution of the United States, Dr. Pugh said. Most of the statesmen who had a hand in writing it objected to some feature of the document, but all were willing to compromise their views on major questions. The result was a document which no one agreed with in its entirety but which all found workable.

The organ, which cost $14,063.44 exclusive of the alterations its installation made necessary to the interior, was custom-built to meet the requirements of the church. Space conditions and acoustical problems were taken into consideration by the builders and every part was planned to fit.

The set of chimes, which is controlled from the organ console, was donated to the church by Mrs. Orville Little in memory of her son, William Kern Richardson, who was a member. (Continued on Page 12)

cussion Monday

The subject for discussion will be "Do We Want a 'Welfare State?'" Mosher, professor of chemistry, and Daniel Hamberg, instructor in economics and business administration, who will discuss the question from differing points of view. Dr. Frederick B. Parker, professor of sociology, will be the moderator.

There will be a period for questions and general discussion after the scheduled talks.

Buick, Other Prizes
To Be Awarded Soon
After 3 P. M. Closing

The climax is Saturday afternoon! Six and one-half weeks of hard work and uncertainty culminates in the closing scene promptly at 3 p. m., Saturday, December 3rd.

At that time the Post's far-famed automobile award subscription contest officially ends and the most aggressive contestants will claim the magnificent awards offered by this newspaper, headed by that smart new Buick Super Four-Door Sedan worth exactly $2309.80.

For more than six weeks the various contestants have been busily engaged accumulating their published vote totals and building up reserve votes for the final count.

Still Time To Win

During this time the contest has gained fame and is widespread. It was hailed from the start as being the most liberal, unique and altogether attractive affair of its kind ever inaugurated in this area.

With the race now in its final hours, contestants are all a-tangle with high hopes and ambition to win first honors.

Contestants, Attention!

Participants in the Newark Post's contest are requested to call in person at the office to verify our count of their individual vote to date with the supervising manager before the closing. Votes are turned over to the contest judges at final count. Otherwise, our figures, which have been carefully checked, shall be considered correct.

and now the effort and diligence shown by each during the past few weeks will be crowned with an avalanche of subscriptions and accompanying votes that is sure to bring thousands of "fans" to their feet, rooting excitedly for their favorite.

Are YOU going to be the one to finish triumphantly with an overwhelming number of votes, or are you going to be self-satisfied at this stage of the game and see the efforts of these many strenuous weeks go to waste and the choicest awards of this contest wrested from your grasp by some more enterprising competitor?

Action Essential

Success in an affair of this kind sometimes depends on keen judgment and timely action. Throughout all history people possessing this faculty of sensing an opportunity when they see it—and grasping it at the right moment, seem to acquire the best things in life, while those undecided and afraid stand back and talk later about what they might have done. The saddest words of tongue or pen, to quote a classic, are "it might have been."

Determination to win coupled with relentless activity during the few remaining hours can make anyone of the various leaders a major award winner, but to relax now is suicidal to success.

What is to be done MUST be done NOW. He who hesitates is lost. To temporize simply means letting some rival forge ahead and ride away in the car that could have been yours.

The end is but a few hours away but if you can trust your own judgment as to your competitor's strength based on fact and observation, there is yet time to stem the tide of defeat and turn it into sweeping victory.

Fire Damages Johnson
Home Here Thursday

Fire caused an estimated $2500 in damages to the home of Irene Johnson, 53 West Cleveland Avenue, shortly after midnight last Thursday.

According to Mrs. Johnson, the blaze started when an oil lamp exploded in her bedroom. Firemen managed to confine the flames to the second floor and remove most of the furniture.

Shortly after 9 p. m., Monday, the firemen were called to the home of Earl Leasure at Glasgow. They found plenty of smoke but no fire. A clogged chimney is believed to have been the cause. There was no damage.

Queries On Social Security Answered

Address all Queries to Social Security Administration, Customs House, 6th & King Sts., Wilmington, Delaware.

I am past 65 and worked until 1940, at a salary of $35 a week. I was laid off. Am I eligible for insurance benefits?

If you are "fully insured," that is, if you were paid at least $50 in each of the calendar quarters elapsing January 1, 1937, up to the quarter in which you attained the age of 21, you will qualify for benefits by filing application with the Social Security Administration field office.

If the worker dies before he has attained "fully insured" status may his survivors receive benefits?

Certain survivor's benefits are payable if the worker at the time of his death was "currently insured" that is, if he was an insured worker who had earned not less than $50 in each of more calendar quarters in which he was insured and the 12 calendar quarters immediately preceding such quarter.

When are social security benefits payable? There are two kinds of benefits payable to survivors. Retirement benefits are payable to the insured worker and his family when the worker retires at 65 or later. Survivors benefits are paid to the family at the time of the worker's death regardless of age.

In order to maintain the strictest secrecy as to the number of votes and subscriptions turned in by each individual contestant during this, the last week of the Post's "Everybody Wins" subscription contest, the race will be brought to a close with a sealed ballot box, which prevents any possibility of favoritism and assures fairness to the minutest degree. Last Monday this sealed ballot box was placed in the show room of the Newark Auto Sales Co. Important Notice: All subscriptions placed in sealed ballot box must be accompanied by full amount to cover in the form of cash, post office money order or check. However, no check will be accepted for more than ten dollars and no two checks may be signed by the same party. This ruling is made in fairness to all and will be adhered to strictly.

News of London-Britain Vicinity

Marthalee Ness, Correspondent
Phone Kemblesville 2171

This initial column is of necessity incomplete. We hope that all those people of the London-Britain and Franklin Townships who have interesting news will call Kemblesville 2171. The items should reach Mrs. Ness by Monday evening to make the dead-line of the Newark Post on Tuesday. We can have a good outlet for our community in this paper, if everyone shows interest by contributing their bit.

Landenberg Hall is undergoing extensive repairs, intended to make it structurally safe and comfortable for the increasing number of community groups interested in using it. It is definitely expected to be ready for the White Elephant Sale to be held there Dec. 13, at 8 p. m., by the London-Britain Home and School League.

Mrs. William Lair, R. D. 2, Landenberg, is on the mend following a very serious operation in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, in Philadelphia. Allison Woodworth made a cross-country flight to Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., Richmond and Lynchburg, Va., and then on to Harrisburg November 26, and was a part of his training for a commercial pilot's license, which he is obtaining at the DuPont Airport, near Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Eaton and son had Thanksgiving dinner with the Gordon McG. Nichols in Wilmington.

A great number of the men of the community have taken advantage of the deer-hunting season. One group, including Bill Pyle, Jr., LaRue Vansant, Eddie Vansant, William Nichol, Sam Brown, Sr., Ed Herbener, Geo. Herbener, Edgar Kimble, John Taylor, and Don Beale, left Sunday to hunt near Coudersport Potter County, Pa.

Louis Losee, R. D. 1, Landenberg, left Sunday for a week's trip to the mountains, and hopes to get a deer, as does John Richardson from Buttonwood, who went up with a group of friends to the "deer country" last Saturday night.

Landenberg's contribution to the list of hunters includes Elsworth Carlin, Charles Bailey, Paul Crossan, George Bland, Wilson Akerman, Herbert McCann and Jack Ackery.

Mrs. George Bailey is convalescing at her home after spending a number of weeks in the Chester County Hospital.

The Nichol clan enjoyed a family gathering at the Dale Nichol home on Thanksgiving.

The London-Britain Home and School League will hold a White Elephant Sale at Landenberg Hall on December 13. The sale starts at 8 p. m. sharp, and will be in the form of an auction. Orval S. Cloud, generally known as "Cloudy," will act as auctioneer. Contributions are earnestly requested from friends who wish to swell the funds of the league. This contribution can be made before the sale to Mrs. Philip Kraus, R. D. 1, Landenberg, Landenberg 2323, or it can be made at the hall before the sale starts.

Mrs. Ed Hiron, R. D. 2, Landenberg, is entertaining a group of ladies at luncheon Wednesday. The members aid each other with home remodeling.

The Charles Baker family, R. D. 1, Landenberg, took a vacation trip over the Thanksgiving holiday. Thanksgiving was spent at Eagles Mere, Pa., with Mrs. Baker's sister and brother-in-law, the Burt Fieters. Introducing a Student—Bill Hawthorne

If you see a black 1930 Ford sedan riding around town and a bunch of fellows in the car, you may know the driver, Bill Hawthorne. Bill has many friends as he is a very friendly person and easy to get along with. Although Bill attends NHS he hails from the growing metropolis of Ogletown, where he was born in 1933, October 18; evidently that makes him sixteen years old.

Bill's main interests in school are football, basketball, and baseball. He is now on the football squad although he has been sidelined all year with a knee injury.

In school Bill takes the vocational course and is a member of the Future Farmers of America; and this is his second year in FFA. This tall junior has been going to NHS for eight years and attended three years at Ogletown School. Bill says he has no plans for the future.

DRINKS ON HOUSE ILLEGAL

Don't blame Joe if he don't pop no mo'.

The City Council at Waukesha, Wis., says a bartender can't set 'em up without breaking the law.

The new liquor and malt beverage law enacted by the council recently declares drinks on the house for bar patrons are an unethical practice. The point had been disputed for weeks.

Xmas Seal Drive Ends Second Week

The second week of the forty-third annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society got under way last Monday. Dr. William Marshall, Jr., president, stated that many letters of endorsement have been received at the Seal Sale Headquarters in Wilmington. Governor Elbert N. Carvel who is a member of the Board of Directors of the Society wrote as follows:

"As Governor of the State and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society, I heartily endorse the forty-third annual Christmas Seal Sale of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society and trust that the citizens of the state will buy Christmas Seals liberally this year as they have in the past. I am informed that Delaware still has a high tuberculosis death rate. The Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society and the State Board of Health have conducted a cooperative program against tuberculosis for many years. The results have been gratifying, but the disease still remains one of our outstanding health problems. The Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society has played a prominent part in this fight which I feel certain will be eventually won."

The Seal Sale has also been endorsed by health officials, physicians and educators in the state. The sale will continue until Christmas.

Don't Let Anybody Fool You!

These Things Will Happen If The Anti-Trust Lawyers Have Their Way

When the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed their suit against A&P, we told the American people, our customers, our suppliers and our employees how this attack would affect them.

We said that this attack, if successful, would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

We said that it would mean higher food prices for American consumers.

We said that if they succeed in destroying A&P the way would be cleared for the destruction of other efficient large-scale retailers.

We thought the American people were entitled to know about this threat to their welfare and standard of living.

Since that time, however, the anti-trust lawyers have been making speeches, talking over the radio, writing letters and giving stories to the newspapers, in which they say we are all wrong.

They say that this suit will not close a single A&P store; and that instead of raising food prices it will lower them.

And they have tried to give the impression that nobody will be hurt by this decision except the present owners of A&P.

We don't think that the American people want to be confused by these statements. We know that when they have the facts, they will understand that this case can affect the living standards and the way of life of every American citizen.

Here are the facts:

It Will Destroy A&P

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that "the suit will not result in the closing of a single A&P store", and that "the purpose of the suit is to enjoin A&P from continuing activity which has been held to violate the law."

The fact is that the suit is designed not only to "enjoin" A&P from alleged illegal activities, but actually to destroy the company.

Here is what they have asked the court to do:

Break up A&P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management.

Order us to sell A&P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners.

Prevent any of the seven groups of stores from operating any of the factories.

None of the present owners, who have made A&P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

The first A&P store was opened 90 years ago. For the past 50 years the company has been managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford.

These are the men who have pioneered the policy of low-cost, low-profit, low-price food retailing which has won A&P the patronage of millions of American families and given them more good food for their money.

If the anti-trust lawyers have their way, these men and other company executives will be completely out of the picture. No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A&P will be.

No one can predict that they will sell the same quality food at the same low prices, or that they will keep the same employees, or give them the same high wages, short hours, pensions and security.

Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A&P stores will remain open or will be closed.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.

Your Food Will Cost More

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that the suit will not increase, but should decrease, grocery prices.

Anybody who has ever shopped in an A&P store, or has ever taken a high-school course in economics, knows better than that.

Everyone knows that A&P's policy has always been to keep costs and profits at a minimum so that it can sell good food cheap.

The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A&P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors. How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?

Actually, there is no question that this suit, if successful, will mean higher food prices for A&P customers.

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

The anti-trust lawyers admit that we pass along these manufacturing savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

But, the anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

This means that if these A&P brands continued to be manufactured, you would have to pay higher prices for them wherever you found them.

The anti-trust lawyers say that food prices would go down in other stores. They claim that food manufacturers would be able to sell cheaper to other grocers because they would not have to make up alleged losses they now incur in selling to A&P.

This, of course, is pure nonsense. The suppliers who voluntarily seek our business and are now rushing to our defense obviously find it profitable to deal with A&P. Actually, their sales to this company enable them to build up their volume, reduce their costs, and sell more cheaply to all grocers.

The elimination of A&P from the picture would tend to increase, rather than decrease, the wholesale cost of food; and this, in turn, will be reflected in increases in retail prices.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Others Will Be Hurt

The anti-trust lawyers have insisted that this suit will not affect other distributors, "nor will it destroy any efficiencies of mass distribution."

The fact is that the anti-trust lawyers ask the court to break up the company, make it get rid of its admittedly legal manufacturing operations and in general destroy many of the efficiencies which have enabled it to sell food cheaper.

If such an attack is successful, it immediately raises the likelihood of similar attacks on other chain stores.

The anti-trust lawyers are saying that they "do not contemplate any other suits of this nature at this time."

But that does not mean that they cannot undertake such suits at any future time if they win this case.

As a matter of fact, the anti-trust lawyers made practically the same allegations against two of our largest competitors that they are making against us. And it can also be used as the basis for an attack against other grocers and merchants in other lines.

There are today literally thousands of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If A&P is destroyed, no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor.

Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A&P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply, and grows big in the process.

Such a decision would mean the end of the vigorous, healthy price competition which has given this country the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people anywhere in the history of the world.

The anti-trust lawyers are trying to give a new interpretation to the anti-trust laws that, instead of preserving competition, will reduce competition.

They are trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country.

Make no mistake about it. If they succeed in destroying A&P they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC &

PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

We don't like to be constantly finding fault, but there's one aspect of this scheme to bring Santa Claus here for the Christmas season that we regard with some suspicion.

Our doubts were first aroused by an astute 8-year-old, perfect stranger to us, who has been hounding us the past week about the matter. He stops us on the street and shoots penetrating questions at us. We have tried to impress on him the fact that we were not involved in the negotiations to bring Santa here, but he persists in regarding us as a key figure in the whole deal.

He first wanted to know how come Santa is arriving on a train from the South. We told him that we didn't know that he was. The kid, who apparently had studied the matter thoroughly, whipped out a timetable and showed us that the 3:08 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 10, which has been announced as Santa's train, is northbound from points south. "Is Santa coming from his Ol' Kentucky Home," the kid sneered, "or is he just down there apikin' cotton for his whiskers?"

We told him icily to reserve judgment until all the facts were known. The kid gave us a disgusted glance and stalked off.

Afterwards we got to fretting about the thing and took our problem to Don Savitch of the Jaycees, who is planning Santa's visit. Mr. Savitch also seemed taken aback from the question. He shuffled his feet, mopped his brow and muttered something like, "We can't think of everything!"

That enigmatic statement is all we could get out of him, and we've been forced to dodge our 8-year-old ever since. The kid managed to buttonhole us (or rather grab our pant leg) once, though. He warned us that Santa had better be in healthier shape this year than last or he, for one, would raise a stink. He had us puzzled until we discovered he was referring to the Santa that hung out in Mr. George Neighbour's Pharmacy for a time last season.

On thinking back, we were forced to agree with the lad and told him so. Mr. Neighbour's Santa, we recalled, was distinctly undernourished. His whiskers looked like an exploding first aid kit and this, along with his hang-dog look, gave him the curious appearance of frothing moodily at the mouth. His chief drawback, though, was the fact that he seemed self-conscious. He lurked around the store in an embarrassed way, dodging behind counters whenever a youngster approached. He was also stoop-shouldered.

We tried to soothe the kid, pointing out that Santa should be in top condition this year after his sojourn in the south and probably would turn up brown as a berry.

The kid seemed relieved by this possibility, but we weren't. Our confidence was all on the surface. We knew from experience that you can never tell about Santa. In our younger days we had many interviews with the old fellow, and one thing was sure: you could never predict what sort of shape he'd be in.

The most memorable encounter we ever had with Santa took place in a big city department store when we were about six. That year Santa had a large, purplish nose, and there was an odor about him that we have since come to associate with vintage brews. We can remember murmuring shyly to him about wanting a new truck for Christmas.

"Ho, ho," roared Santa, "what kind of mealy-mouthed request is that?" Then his voice dropped to a whisper. "What you need, kid, is a real he-man's toy. How about a BB gun. I've got several peaches this year."

Our eyes opened wide. We had dropped some hints along these lines to our old man, but he had vetoed the idea instantly and had forbidden us to mention it to Santa. We told Santa about this, but the wonderful old guy pooh-poohed our fears and assured us it was in the bag, or rather, in the sock.

The only hitch was that our father, who had been standing in the background, grew suspicious and broke in on the interview, demanding to know what was going on. Santa told him it was none of his business. Father wanted to know who Santa thought he was. Santa snickered wickedly and said Dad really wanted to know. Father said at least he had a right to know what his own son was going to get from Santa. Santa said he guessed he was the big-shot around Christmas and he'd bring any darn thing down the chimney he liked. Father got red and dared Santa to come down our chimney. Santa got purple and dared Father to try and stop him.

At this point a tall, flustered man broke in and tried to shush Santa up and apologized to Father. He called two more men, and all three hauled Santa away. Before he disappeared, he managed to wave at us in his jolly way and shout "A Merry Christmas!"

We had a lot of faith in Santa that year. We remember that the day before Christmas our old man was very nervous. He paced the floor and went outside several times to look speculatively at the chimney.

We never got the BB gun, though. Father must have managed to buy Santa off at the last moment.

In an interview General Eisenhower recently said: "I believe Russia's policy is friendship with the United States. There is in Russia a desperate and continuous concern for the lot of the common man and they want to be friends of the United States."

Jackets Overwhelm Conrad 45-7 In Thanksgiving Day Contest

Victory Margin Biggest In 13-Year-Old Rivalry Of Schools; Game Ends Successful Season For Newark Warriors

It was one of those days when the Jackets could do nothing wrong, and the result was Newark, 45, Conrad, 7.

There could be no taster Thanksgiving Day dish for the Jackets and for Coach Fred Spasato, who wound up his first term as a high school football coach, it meant a successful season.

Statistic-wise the Jackets finished the year with a 50-50 record, but, as every Newark fan knows, a Conrad victory is all that counts in the local history books.

It was a whirlwind climax to what was a somewhat spotty campaign. After showing exceptional promise in their opening triumph over Brown, the Jackets were unexpectedly tripped by Salesianum, then they bowed to powerful Wilmington High. A victory over William Penn put them on an even keel again, but they stumbled again under successive defeats by Claymont and Mount Pleasant. After that, though, they apparently found themselves, rolling over A. I. duPont, then going on to take Conrad with a vengeance.

Eight Newark varsity players hung up their togs for the last time after the game. The five linemen and three backs will leave gaping holes for Coach Spasato to plug next year. The seniors are: Cliff Gray, tackle; Jack Lehman, guard; Knox, quarterback; Ralph Barrows, guard; Bill Reynolds, end; Phil Harrison, end; and Bill Records, quarterback.

Against Conrad, the Jackets took advantage of every break, and there were several big ones. Five Redskins fumbles helped pave the way to touchdowns.

A major Jacket offensive factor was the passing arm of Bill Records, who five times found receiving targets for pay-off acries. Newark's two other T.D.'s were made on long runs.

Conrad's only sustained offensive threat came, much to the dismay of Newark's followers, at the very start of the game, when the host team took the opening kick-off and moved directly downfield for 62 yards before the Jackets put their foot down on the proceedings.

The fortunes of the game switched immediately thereafter. Gaining possession at midfield on an exchange of punts, the Jackets wracked up a goal on two plays, the first a two-yard plunge and the second a heave from Records to Blaney, the first time the two made contact that afternoon.

The Jackets rolled up 18 points in the next quarter. The first score was set up by a Conrad fumble which Cliff Gray gathered in on the Redskins' 30. Another quick heave, Records to Phil Harrison, produced the score. A short time later, Harrison came through again, intercepting a Conrad pass to race 55 yards for the third score.

The jacket continued to rattle, as Conrad running back the kick-off, fumbled and Don Sharp recovered for Newark. Records stepped up to the firing line again with a pay-off heave. Just before the half, Conrad earned its lone score. Landing on the Jackets 40 with a successful 20-yard pass, the Redskins sent Warren McAllister around right end for a long touchdown jaunt.

Passes by Records accounted for Newark's scores in the third. The first arched for 40 yards to Blaney on the two. Harrison was picked for the next and snagged it in the end-zone. Later, the Jackets continued to rattle, as Conrad running back the kick-off, fumbled and Don Sharp recovered for Newark. Records stepped up to the firing line again with a pay-off heave. Homework or Not?

On Monday during homeroom period the 8-4 section heard a recording of their assembly program which they had presented so fully on November 16. Six enthusiastic speakers debated the subject: "Resolved, that homework is necessary and should be given regularly if the student is to succeed."

Each speaker was followed by an original skit which helped to strengthen the points of the debaters.

Preceding the debate Jacqueline Chickey recited the "House by the Side of the Road," while Marie Woerner sketched the scene Ben Day accompanied at the piano.

Supporting the affirmative side of the debate were: Virginia Wimmer, James Edmondson and Kay Faron. Speakers on the negative side were: David Mackey, Charles Perry and Rhoda Ragan. So convincing were they in their delivery that many students thought that the judges' decision would determine whether or not homework would continue at Newark.

(The judges declared it a draw.) Bobby McAlpine, accompanied by Mr. Wilder, added his support to the negative side by an original rendition of the song, "Homework."

Margaret Rowe led the opening devotions and Violet Gray was chairman of the debate. Stephanie Klahr announced the skits.

Bill Wetzel and Bill Evans presented an original skit giving arguments for homework. Marcel Bernier represented the student who was opposed to such assignments. Donald Grettum and Jack McDowell aided Marcel.

Laurann Richards and Bill Doyle represented parents who favored homework. Acting as their children were Ben Day and Margaret Rowe.

Sandra Ayers and Charles MacCauley played the part of parents opposed to homework. They were supported by a cast of many children: Marcel Bernier, Georgia Crouse, Joan Fell, Donald Grettum, Norma Laws, John McDowell, Nancy Trivits, and Edna Wood.

Diane Chalmers played the part of the teacher in favor of homework and Nancy Wilson with Johanna Miller gave a skit showing arguments against homework.

All members of the 8-4 section participated in the assembly. Make-up was in charge of Amy Lovett and stage work was done by Robert Lynam and Ferris Lee. Raymond Wright was official timer for the debate. The program was supervised by Mrs. Catharine Y. Bonney.

Judges for the debate were: Betty Manges, Mrs. William Murray and Mr. Raymond Justin, chairman.

Faculty Tea

The Senior Home Economics Class gave a tea for the Newark School faculty on November 23, 1949, in room 120 at the school from 3:30 to 4 p. m.

The refreshments included tea, coffee, sandwiches, cookies and peanuts.

Approximately 58 teachers attended the tea. They said they enjoyed it very much and wished more such festivities could be held. The tea helped to give experience to the Home Economics girls in planning and preparing for such events in their homes.

Thanksgiving Program

The traditional Thanksgiving Program was held last Wednesday, November 23, in the school auditorium. Dr. Arthur Jackson from the local Methodist Church was the guest speaker.

The program was opened by Bill Reynolds, who led the audience in the opening exercises. Following the exercises Ann Louise Neave read President Truman's Thanksgiving Proclamation; Marilyn Murray then read Governor Carvel's Thanksgiving Proclamation for Delaware; Paul Hodgson introduced Dr. Jackson.

Dr. Jackson opened his speech with a short prayer. He then gave a brief talk on Thanksgiving and the meaning of thanks from Bible illustrations.

After the talk Mr. Wilder closed the assembly with a band selection.

Faculty Play

The advisor for the coming faculty production, Miss Ann Stauter, has decided on "I Remember Mama" as the play to be presented in the spring.

From a faculty list of 67, the casting committee will pick 22 for the cast. No dates have been set for try-outs as yet.

Krawen Work and Plans Progress

Plans and work for the 1950 Krawen are progressing satisfactorily, according to Marian Mayne, editor. At the moment the staff is discussing several theme ideas and trying to select one. Two suggestions that have been made are, a half-century of progress and a running commentary theme. Other sections of the staff have made picture layouts for senior photographs and some of the staff members are working on cover-lining ideas. The faculty photographs are being made by the Poffenberger Studio, which also is making senior pictures.

A number of the articles have been planned. Some are senior pictures and write-ups, senior activities, class history, personalities, individual pictures of underclassmen, sports and other activity pictures, candid shots of seniors, and a number of new features.

The deadline date for sending the Krawen to the printers, as it now stands is February.

Thanksgiving Song Written by Mr. Moyer's Sixth Grade Class For Assembly

Mr. Moyer's homeroom 107 of the sixth grade has written a Thanksgiving song which was presented in a Thanksgiving assembly in November in the Newark school auditorium. Each member of the class wrote words for the song. The words finally chosen to be used were those of Phyllis Dancy.

First, the class gave a play entitled "The First Thanksgiving." This told of the Pilgrims' landing at Plymouth Rock, the hardships that they encountered, and finally expressed their thanks to God for all he had given them when the entire class sang their song—"The First Thanksgiving." The words of the song are:

November brings Thanksgiving Day, The day that brought the Pilgrims this way. They landed here on Plymouth Rock, They didn't bring any food or stock. Patsy Anne Rose.

More Inter-American Cooperation Urged By Rotary Speaker

But Hemisphere Isolationism Should Be Avoided, Prof. Herbert Dorn Says

Inter-American and Inter-Continental cooperation as the great task ahead was the theme of a speech given by Prof. Herbert Dorn of the U. of D. before the Rotary Club of Newark, on Monday night. He showed how the three "A's" of Rotary International: awareness of human needs, acceptance of responsibility and action which gets done what should be done are the guiding ideas also of a new way of inter-American and inter-Continental cooperation. Through their economic development in Latin-America and reconstruction of Europe have to be combined.

Sound Pan-Americanism must become reality but hemispherical isolationism must be avoided because it would play into the hands of Communism.

Thus, the generation of young Americans, entrusted now to the universities, will have the privilege and burden of historical responsibilities of a magnitude never heard of before. Education will have to guide them.

Mr. Dorn described the activities of the Institute for Inter-American Study and Research at the university as devoted to the preparation of students for cooperative action in the interest of mutual understanding between the Americas. The Inter-American Round-Table Conferences, held last summer under the auspices of the Institute with leading representatives of Latin-American countries, have given evidence for the necessity of frank discussion of pending problems in the cultural as well as in the economic sphere. The protection of democracy in the world requires their solution, requires a cooperation which creates economic freedom of men and nations, and thereby the best guarantee against totalitarianism.

It was a Latin-American, Jose Marti, the liberator of Cuba, who called America the Continent of human hope. U. S. leadership in cooperation could make America the Continent of human accomplishment.

The dedication service opened with an organ prelude by Miss Nell Wilson. The invocation was by the pastor, the Rev. H. E. Hallman and the Lord's Prayer was sung by Miss Sophie McVey.

In the evening, John Thoms, Jr., organist of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, gave a recital on the new organ. His varied program included selections from Bach, Briggs, Stoughton, Wagner, Vierne, Liszt and Karg-Elert.

The young people of the church will conduct their dedication service this Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. John Oldman, Jr., pastor of the Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church, will speak.

Speaker Compares Post-War Problems Of Two World Wars

Lions Hear Prof. Dorn Analyze Situations Of 1919 and 1945

Post-war problems and the community of nations, now and twenty years ago, was the theme of a speech given by Dr. Herbert Dorn, Prof. of Economics at the U. of D. before the Lion's Club of Newark on Nov. 29. His talk was based on personal experiences in official functions in which he took part in the Peace Conference of Versailles in 1919. He was very close to the post-war developments.

He gave evidence for similarities and divergencies in the world situation after 1919 and 1945 and related the great depression of the thirties to the three basic problems after World War I: the Inter-Allied debts, the reparations and misguided American private investments.

He contrasted the attitude of the United States in the first post-war world, where she did not participate in the League of Nations and insisted in the repayment of the Inter-Allied debts to the new approaches to both problems: the leading membership in the United Nations and other organizations of international cooperation and the constructive solution of Inter-Allied debts since the days of the model lend-lease agreement with Great Britain.

He discussed the outstanding problems which are common to both post-war periods although different in emphasis: Reconstruction in Europe and development of other continents.

As for Europe he compared the negotiations between Briand and Stresemann, then the French Prime Minister and the German Chancellor, which should have led to a Franco-German alliance, and the attempt of Briand to create an European union, both in 1929 and both in vain, with the two corresponding events of these days: the discussions between Schumann and Adenauer, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Chancellor of the West German Republic for a rapprochement of the two nations, and of the difficult negotiations between the other Western countries including Benelux, France, Italy and Great Britain aiming at an economic union.

He stressed the importance of these events in connection with the problem of Russia and the necessity for the United States to continue constructive action in order to make sure that an expanding world economy between free countries exclude misery in the Western world, misery which breeds hopelessness, the force driving away from democracy and towards Communism.

The talk was followed by an animated discussion in which many members of the club joined and which circled around questions of highest actual interest.

Newark Hockey Team Blanks William Penn

The final hockey game for Newark's girls, played on Tuesday, November 22, at William Penn High School, was a victory for Newark. The score was 5-0. Rose Martin, Theresa Duffy, and Gertrude Tierney, inners, each scored once, Cissie Murray, the fast center, scored twice.

The J. V.'s won by a score of 4-0. Mary Alice Fulton, center forward, made two goals and June Moore, the inner, made two. The halfback and fullbacks did a good job of keeping the girls from New Castle out of their scoring place.

AAUW Branch Hears Number of Reports On National Meets

Film Taken By Mrs. N. B. Allen On Trip To Seattle Shown To Members

The local branch of the AAUW met Monday evening to hear and see the official report of their national convention in Seattle, last summer. In addition to the convention film strip, Mrs. N. B. Allen, who had been the Newark delegate, showed a film she had taken on the way to and around Seattle. The visual addition to Mrs. Allen's entertaining and informative report made it doubly interesting.

Mrs. C. M. Olson reported on one day's session at the Herald Tribune Forum, with special emphasis on the keynote speeches given by Henry Cabot Lodge and Phillip Wilkie, who both spoke on the necessity of the Republican party's remaining in existence and their ideas for keeping it so. For the second day's session Mrs. Samuel Handloff reported on a panel discussion of the topic "A Citizen's Responsibility." Among the panel were such well-known women as Mrs. India Edwards, Mrs. Joseph Farrington, Mrs. J. T. Blair Buck, and Mrs. LaFell Dickenson. The citizen's responsibility falls in three fields—as an individual, as a member of a political party, and as a member of a civic pressure group.

Mrs. Anthony Loudis, in reporting for the membership committee, explained the term accredited college, as it applies to AAUW membership. The standards upon which the national membership committee bases their acceptance of graduates is not necessarily the academic ratings one usually connects with accredited colleges. Rather, the opportunities and facilities a college offers women are important factors in its accrediting.

Mrs. Carl Rankin announced that the International Study Group would meet next Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. F. B. Kutz, 111 East Park Place. They will continue their discussion of India and her struggle for freedom. Other study groups will meet the following week.
