Campaign Plans To Be Outlined By G. O. P. Tomorrow

Luncheon in Wilmington Will Launch Drive For du Pont and Rest of Ticket

Plans for the Republican campaign in Delaware will be outlined tomorrow at a luncheon-meeting to be held at the Hotel du Pont, to which members of the Republican State Committee and the Republican candidates for national and State offices have been invited by Chairman John G. Townsend, Jr.

The luncheon will be held in Parlors A and B at 12 o'clock noon, advanced time. The invitations to the conference, which were mailed yesterday by Secretary Charles H. Grantland, of the G. O. P. State Committee, State Chairman Townsend extends the invitation in order that the nominees of the recent State convention and the members of the State Committee can become better acquainted.

General T. Coleman du Pont, candidate for United States Senator, is expected home today from New York City, where he has been since the day of the State convention, and will no doubt take part in the meeting tomorrow. It has been stated by his close friends that he has had no intention of making a public statement regarding his nomination, as he does not think it necessary, but those who will attend the meeting tomorrow are looking for him to make some statement to the nominees and committeemen and enter into the discussion, while the plans for the campaign are being mapped out.

Some of General du Pont's friends say that one reason why it is not considered necessary for him to make a public statement is that he has not sought the office, but was urged to accept the nomination if it was tendered to him, and that as pressure was used to get him to accept, it is not really his fight, but the fight of the Republican party to elect him. They say, of course, he will do his full share in helping along the campaign of the Republican party in Delaware to elect national, State and county officers, without showing any preference for his own candidacy over that of the other candidates on the ticket.

No Campaign Plans

No definite plans for the campaign have been made, it was stated yesterday by the leading Republican politicians of Wilmington, and no campaign manager or executive committee has been chosen. They say that everything concerning the campaign plans is deferred until the luncheon tomorrow.

No place has been definitely selected as G. O. P. campaign headquarters in Wilmington for the State ticket, but Rooms 211 and 212 in the Delaware Trust Company Building are being considered. This matter (Continued on Page 4.)

STORM DOES DAMAGE

A terrific windstorm, accompanied by a driving rain, swept over Newark late yesterday afternoon, doing considerable damage to trees, awnings, signs and flower beds. A large awning at the Deer Park Hotel blew down in the height of the storm. Depot road looked like Birnam Wood with heavy branches sweeping down from the trees above. Residents slept better last night than for a week, as the temperature took a decided drop after the storm.

Defense Day Plans

A patriotic Mass Meeting will be held in the Armory on Delaware avenue at 7.30 p. m. on Friday, September 12th, to which every fraternal, business, social and patriotic organization in the community has been invited.

This information is forthcoming from the Defense Day Committee of Newark. In addition there will be a parade by Battery E of Newark, headed by the Continental Band, which will cover a route through the principal streets. Friday the 12th has also been set aside by the Battery Officers as the date when an effort will be made to recruit the organization up to wartime strength for the one day only, to show what can be done in an emergency. At the mass meeting, a roll call of the organizations will be taken, which will be submitted to Washington to show what Newark can do in the matter of defense.

The committee in charge of Defense Day here is as follows: Major Clarence Short, chairman; Hon. Eben Frazer, Major Walter Hurlbush, Col. F. H. Smith, Capt. James Hastings, Capt. John Davis, Capt. Roy Sparks, Capt. W. P. Morse.

HORDES OF AUTOISTS PASS THROUGH

Townpeople Say Labor Day Throng Broke All Records For Highway

Autos, big and small; limousines and "bugs"; trucks and moving vans; a veritable cloud of them wove their way slowly along Main street in the great Labor Day Drive homeward Monday afternoon. They blackened the highway; their occupants stormed garages and lunchrooms, their motors hummed, and their interiors sizzled from a blistering sun. On they came, hour by hour, one after another. Darkness settled down and still they came.

Newark people have sat on their porches and exclaimed at the procession before, but this year's holiday throng left them speechless.

Chief Lewis, who was on duty all day on Main street, said yesterday that the procession from 4 o'clock until far into the night, reminded him of "one big funeral." A gloomy comparison, but not far from the truth at that.

Most of the traffic was bound north, coming from the beaches and rivers at the headwaters of the Chesapeake, and vacation points in Maryland and the Virginias. It was an orderly, phlegmatic tide through Newark. No accidents, no reckless driving. Sometimes as high as 100 cars with but a few feet of daylight between them passed through in a string; then a break, and seven or eleven hundred more came along.

One Newark motorist coming into Newark from Wilmington said that he counted forty cars going the opposite direction while he was traveling one mile east of Leak's garage.

Reducing that observation to figures it follows that at the peak of the rush, over 1200 cars passed through Newark each hour.

IS RUNNING STORE

Clarence B. Dean, Main Street grocer, has taken the concession offered by the United Packing Co. for the maintenance of a company store on their premises. The store will supply the needs of the workers at the cannery.

VALUABLE COLLECTION OF MEDICAL BOOKS GIVEN TO COLLEGE BY MRS. CHARLES BLAKE

One hundred and thirty-three volumes, forming a large part of the office library of the late Dr. Charles H. Blake, has been presented to the Women's College of Delaware by Mrs. Blake, according to an announcement made by Dean Winifred J. Robinson, this morning.

The collection includes Osler's "Modern Medicine" in 7 volumes; Friedenwald's "Diet and Health," Cabot's "Differential Diagnosis," and many others which will be of practical use to those students who expect to enter the medical profession or to take the graduate nurse's training, besides being of much value to students of biology as books of reference.

These books will be suitably labeled and placed in the new University Library when it is completed, where it is the hope of Mrs. Blake that additions may be made to keep the collection up to date and to help others to carry on the work to which Dr. Blake gave his life.

Huber Farm Is Sold; To Develop Property

Desirable Frontage Along East Main Street To Be Building Lots, Is Report

Announcement was made yesterday through the offices of Guy R. Ford, Wilmington Realtor, of the sale of the 162 acre Huber farm, lying on the outskirts of East Newark, and extending as far south as the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The purchaser is S. E. Dameron, of Baltimore, Md., who bought the property from the George H. Huber estate.

According to reports, Mr. Dameron plans extensive development of the property. The front portion, facing East Main Street and the old Wilmington road, will be divided into building lots, and it is possible that the new owner may erect some dwellings thereon.

The rear of the property sloping gently to the railroad tracks to the south, will be offered as sites for industrial plants. The close proximity to both the railroad and to the Lincoln Highway makes this land, in the opinion of Mr. Dameron, a most suitable location for a factory.

The farm was owned for many years by Lewis B. Morrow and contains a race track, on which Harry J. Stockle exercised his horses. Former Chancellor Charles M. Curtis and other residents of Newark played on the farm in their boyhood. In 1900, Charles Huber purchased it and on his death it became a portion of his estate.

The purchase price paid by Mr. Dameron was not given, but it is understood to have been one of the best received in some time for real estate in the vicinity of Newark.

READY FOR GUESTS HERE

Red Men's Home To Be Scene of Gala Affair Saturday

With representatives of practically every Tribe in the State arranging to come, with a splendid speaking program, and music galore, the annual Home Coming of the Red Men of Delaware will take place Saturday next at the Home on Depot Road here.

Members of Minnehaha Tribe of Newark, who have been working earnestly to make the affair a success, will be on hand to welcome the visitors. Twenty-three orphans will be guests of the older folks at the party. The Minnehaha Band of Newark will furnish music.

James P. Semerteen and H. H. Stiles are heading a committee which has the arrangements in charge.

BAND CONCERT ARRANGED

The Minnehaha Band will again play at the weekly open air concert on Academy Lawn tomorrow night. Time has not been available for the preparation of a full program for publication.

NEWSPAPER MEN AT HAVRE DE GRACE

The Maryland Press Association will meet at Havre de Grace, Md., Monday, September 15th, and has extended an invitation to the Del-Mar-Via Press Association to meet with it.

Arrangements will be made permitting the newspaper man to spend some time at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. Aeroplane trips will also be arranged, and will form part of a splendid program for the day.

In the evening the Havre de Grace Chamber of Commerce will entertain the Press Association members at dinner at Hotel Bayou. Governor Ritchie will be the guest of honor.

NO ENTRANT CHOSEN

Efforts of local men to pick an entrant for the State Fair quail tournament failed Saturday, when no competitors arrived.

YOUR LIGHTS, MR. MOTORIST— HAVE THEY BEEN EXAMINED?

How're your headlights tonight, brother?

First, let it be known that this isn't a personal reflection on the eyesight. If you can read this fairly well, your "headlights" are in pretty fair shape.

It's your auto, we're talking about. The State Highway Police are on the trail of each and every autoist in the State whose front lamps do not conform to the laws of Delaware in such matters. Not having taken the opportunity to read the law thoroughly in the "headlight sections," we can but urge you to have the lamps examined and read the law at your convenience. It may save you $10.

To give you the gist of the requirements, without delving too deep into the learned phraseology, we present the following paragraph:

The State laws say that every auto must be equipped with two headlights equipped with 21 candle power bulbs, legal lenses or approved devices. Lights must be adjusted to make clear discernable objects at a distance of 200 feet directly ahead, and at a distance of 75 feet ahead at a height of 42 inches, or about as high as the waist of an average sized man.

All lights must be so arranged as to avoid a dangerous glare or dazzle. Police authorities point out that many serious accidents have resulted from glaring headlights of one car blinding the driver of an approaching machine.

The drive went into effect Monday. Motorists will be allowed ten days in which to have the precaution taken, before fines will be levied.

Following is a list of headlight lenses that are legal in Delaware: Fracto-Lite, Green Moon, Holophone, H. G. Lens, Hudson 8-inches, Indiana Flatlite, Legalite, Lee Knight, Liberty Lens, McKee Lens, Types D, L, M, Monogram, McKeelite, Alfeco, Aleo, Hange, Bausch, Lornt, Benzer, Brown Reflector, Clament, Ford H, Conaphore B, Cor-Co-Lite, Dillon Type, Dodge Lens, Flexo, Flat Light Reflector and Patterson. The National and Macbeth lenses are legal in Delaware, but not in Pennsylvania, which State's headlight law also went into effect yesterday.

Autoists in Pennsylvania also are required to carry spare bulbs for all their lamps.

TO SELL PLAYHOUSE IN ELKTON TOMORROW

Receivers To Let Go To Highest Bidder At Court House Door

Another chapter in the strenuous career of the Elkton Community Playhouse, on Main Street, in the center of the town, will be enacted tomorrow morning, when the entire property will be auctioned off to the highest bidder by the receivers, Omar D. Crothers and Albert D. Mackey.

There is pending, it is reported, a suit in Equity, brought against the Community Playhouse, by the Home Light and Power Co., an Elkton concern. The Playhouse venture went into the hands of the receivers a few months ago, the managers and owners claiming that it was losing money steadily.

The building, occupying a space 32 by 340 feet in the center of the business section, was started three or four years ago, and has known all the vicissitudes of delays, lack of funds and other hindrances. It is considered one of the best moving picture houses in Cecil County.

WALES THUNDERS THRU

For once Newark missed seeing a notable personage.

Although Presidents, Ambassadors, and plain ordinary Senators and Supreme Court Judges have a habit of stopping off here and looking the old town over while touring, Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, failed to become unduly impressed with what he could see of Newark from the window of a P. R. R. special train last Saturday morning.

The Prince's train, carrying him to Washington to see the President, went thundering through Newark, and caused a great argument among the station and railroad employees gathered about, as to just who of their number really did see the Prince sitting in the last car of the train as it flashed by. To date, the lucky person is still undetermined.

The train went through Newark about 10.45 a. m., and returned late in the afternoon from Washington. It consisted of four cars.

CLARINGBOLD RESIGNS

Said To Be Running For Levy Court Against Wollaston

The resignation of Thomas R. Claringbold as road supervisor for Mill Creek Hundred was received and accepted at yesterday's meeting of the Levy Court.

Abraham B. Dennison, of Mill Creek, was named as Claringbold's successor by the Court and will assume his duties immediately. His term has been designated to run until the end of the present fiscal year, when another appointment will be made.

In the meantime, Claringbold is reported to be waging a fight for a seat in the Levy Court from this district, comprising White Clay, Red Lion and New Castle Hundreds. He has lately become opposed for the office by Charles P. Wollaston, also of White Clay Hundred. Mr. Wollaston filed his name yesterday. He has been engaged for several years in developing his property into a residential district in Newark, and is said to have many supporters. Claringbold, in order to run for election to the Court, moved recently from his former home in Mill Creek, to Newark, where he now resides.

RETURNS FOR DUTY

Major Arthur Underwood, new commandant of the Military Department of the University here, has returned from a month's leave of absence and will shortly take up his permanent residence here with his mother and sister. Major Underwood spent part of his leave in his old home at Bowling Green, Ky.

Schools Enrollment Exceeds Past Years; 800 On Opening Day

700 White Children Answer Call to School Work on Tuesday Morning — Colored Totals Not Made Up

The public schools of Newark set a new high record in the opening day enrollment Tuesday, according to advices from J. H. Owens, superintendent of schools, received this morning.

An exact total of 697 white school-boys and girls entered their classes on schedule time on Opening Day, as against 652 on opening day in 1923. Teachers in the colored schools did not have their totals compiled this morning, but it is confidently predicted that their enrollment will overreach 100 pupils. Thus, over 800 children will have started the year right in school.

A determined drive on the part of the State Parent-Teacher Association for a heavy opening day enrollment appears to have taken considerable effect in the Newark special district. Placards urging parents to send their children off the first day, were posted in every part of the district weeks ago. That they had the desired effect is evidenced by the record-breaking figures above.

May Top Last Year's Total

While last year's total enrollment reached the then unprecedented mark of 885, public school officials stated that they believed the old mark would go by the boards before the first month of the present term has passed.

On opening day yesterday, 178 youngsters started High School; 295 entered the Grammar School, and 224 the Primary School. Every room is said to be well filled. These figures show a gain over last year's opening of 45 in the High School, 8 in the Grammar School and 13 in the Primary School.

Staff Is Almost Complete

Superintendent Owens also announced that the school staff of teachers had been completed and were on the job Tuesday, registering the students, with the exception of Miss Mary Houston, vice-principal in the High School. Miss Houston is scheduled to arrive in Newark this week from a summer spent abroad, and will immediately take up her duties.

The complete directory of the Newark school staff follows:

J. Herbert Owens, superintendent; Mary C. Houston, vice-principal High School; William Edgar Martin, vice-principal Grammar School; Harriett M. Wilson, vice-principal Primary School; Alma R. Davis, vice-principal Colored School; Hannah B. Lindell, clerk to Board of Education; Geo. W. Russell, janitor of White Schools; John T. Williams, janitor of Colored Schools.

DAM EMPTIED AGAIN

Officials of the Anglers' Association have announced that due to a weak place in the earth embankment, near the dam breast at Sunset Lake, near Cooch's Bridge, the water has been again let out of the lake in order to make the necessary repairs.

The dam proper has been finished for several weeks, and it was expected that the water would reach the required level in the course of a few days. This break further delays the opening of the Lake.

ENROLLS IN SCHOOL

Miss Gladys M. Berry, of this town, for a business course at Beacom's was among the students who enrolled Business College in Wilmington yesterday.

DELAWARE STATE FAIR NEWS

The greatest State Fair Delaware has ever witnessed will open its gates at Elsmere, Tuesday morning, September 9. It will be larger, the displays in every department more elaborate, and will surpass anything of its kind ever seen in this State. There are so many new features it is difficult to name any one that is outstanding. Holstein cattle are featured in a wonderful show. In addition, there will be magnificent displays of Herefords, Jerseys and Guernseys. The largest number of entries with much fancier stock is listed for the Horse Show which it is predicted will have its most successful exhibit. One big feature will be the draft horse classes, and the contest for the Delaware State Challenge Cup given by William du Pont and which was won twice by John Crozer, of Upland, Pa. He must win it a third time to obtain possession.

The fattest and laziest hogs, the cutest sheep, the brightest red combed chickens, the proudest turkeys, the finest bunnies, the cooingest pigeons, will all be here in greater numbers. The display of fancy work, crocheting and knitting by women and children, the tastiest preserves, most tempting jellies and jams and highly appetizing bread, rolls, cakes, pies and jumbles will make the mouth water. The greatest display of flowers ever seen in the East with the exception of a Philadelphia show, will feature a new department. Displays by Boys' and Girls' Clubs working under A. D. Cobb, State Club Leader, will afford little short of sensational surprises, demonstrating how the business of farming has been advanced in the past six years. Hundreds of boys and girls have entered exhibits. Prizes will compete for the special prizes offered. The most important state departments will have displays.

The amusements this year surpass in thrills and general excellence anything ever seen at a Delaware Fair. Auto polo, the most costly out-door game in America, heads the list. In acrobatic stunts, Fred Cunningham will walk a tight wire blindfolded, guided only by his tenth sense of equilibrium. The Helkists will dive through rings of fire into a tank of water, taking chances on their lives every second. Chevalo rides a bicycle over the "death trap" at 80 miles an hour. The Hai Jung troop, Chinese acrobats, slide suspended by their hair, from the roof of the grandstand to the earth. The De Veries and

Elkton Constable Shot Down Sunday; Arrest Assailant Near Conowingo, Md.

E. Leland Ott in Serious Condition at Union Hospital—Shot Without Warning While Serving Arrest Warrant

With four bullet wounds in his body, one of which missed the jugular vein in his neck by a fraction of an inch, of Elkton, lies in a serious condition E. Leland Ott, well known constable in Union Hospital, as the result of a vicious attack upon him Saturday afternoon by Augustus Carr, a middle-aged white man of near Conowingo, Md.

Carr was arrested late the same evening at his home. He was found by officers asleep, with a loaded shotgun within easy reach. He did not resist arrest and is lodged in jail to await the outcome of Ott's injuries.

Shot Without Warning

From reports of the attack, it appears that Ott was deputized to serve a warrant upon Carr, following the swearing out of the document in Elkton Saturday. Sheriff Pierson had been notified, and as he was unable to make the trip to Conowingo that day, he sent Ott, his deputy, to make the arrest.

On approaching the Carr house, Ott met a man, whom he supposed to be the one he wanted. Not quite sure, he is said to have asked "Is your name Augustus Carr?"

Without replying, Carr is alleged to have whipped out a revolver and fired five times at close range. The first shot sent Ott reeling to the ground. Carr is said to have continued to pump bullets into the fallen constable. The noise of the shooting attracted passersby and neighbors, but before they got to the scene, the assailant escaped. Ott was rushed immediately to Elkton, and placed under the care of the surgeons at the hospital.

It is reported that all save one bullet had passed through Ott's body, and unless infection sets in, no operation will be performed. When news of the shooting reached Elkton, extreme excitement prevailed and talk of forming a posse and running down Carr was rife. At first it was believed that Ott was dying from his wounds, but he gamely rallied, and is holding his own at this writing.

According to reports, one bullet entered below the cheek, missed the jugular vein by a hair and passed out the back of Ott's neck; another one entered his chest just above the heart, and a third took a course downward through his abdomen, and missed the kidney and intestines by an inch or two. When the rescue party brought him to Elkton, the injured man was weak from loss of blood and the extreme shock.

Ott, who is well known and favorably thought of about Elkton, has often aided Sheriff Pierson in the roundup of prisoners in Cecil County. He is married and with his wife and family lives in Elkton.

Several Elktonians are of the opinion that Carr has been running an illicit liquor business near Conowingo, and thought Ott was a prohibition agent; in reality, according to reports, he was wanted on another charge, and Ott had no search or seizure warrant to serve.

It is believed to have been the worst shooting of an officer in Cecil County in recent years.

As It Seems To One Of The Crowd

In an extremely cautious and carefully worded article in the Morning News columns this morning was the news story of the G. O. P. luncheon tomorrow given by State Chairman Townsend to the Nominees and State Committee. After telling the news story, there is the pertinent part of the article. It says of General du Pont:

"It has been stated by his close friends that he has had no intention of making a public statement regarding his nomination, as he does not think it necessary, but those who will attend the meeting tomorrow are looking for him to make some statement to the nominees and committeemen and enter into the discussion, while the plans for the campaign are being mapped out."

This is unfortunate, if the writer is sure of the facts. To our mind it is necessary for him to make not only one statement but many of them. The citizens, officials of the party, rank and file, and electorate want to know, have a right to know, resent not knowing whether he will or will not accept the nomination, where he stands and what he proposes to be done and his part therein for the success of the party.

Again the article says:

"Some of General du Pont's friends say that one reason why it is not considered necessary for him to make a statement is that he has not sought the office, but was urged to accept the nomination if it was tendered to him, and that as pressure was used to get him to accept, it is not really his fight, but the fight of the Republican party to elect him. They say, of course, he will do his full share in helping along the campaign of the Republican party in Delaware to elect national, State and county officers, without showing any preference for his own candidacy over that of the other candidates on the ticket."

This is even more unfortunate. So much so that the article itself needs public comment from him.

"Really not his fight,"—then whose is it? And the answer is given—The Republican Party who used "pressure" to get him to take it.

We admit the delicacy of General du Pont's position upon his return from Europe when asked if he would accept the nomination if tendered him. His "Bridge Crossing" was about all he could say if in doubt. It was nevertheless confusing even to his best friends. His Draft statement was equally confusing and his play "that everybody that was drafted did not always go" came dangerously near creating an honest and open opposition. At the Convention, friends of years standing, still friends, thought the time had come for them to know. General du Pont never appeared, yet he was in town. His advisors did him an injustice and he failed to sense the psychology of the crowd—and the crowd wins or loses elections. To illustrate, a good and long time friend of his said, "I never saw a man wait up the street to be drafted. He accepts the draft or volunteers." This man has been and is one of his loyal supporters and is asking today—"Has he accepted?"

It is presumed that he has accepted yet no official announcement has been made. It must be so understood or he would have declined at the Convention thereby giving the delegates the opportunity to make the nomination rather than the State Committee. But the party and public would like a word from him, personally prepared and given out. His friends, enthusiastic friends want him, not someone else, to speak. Personally, we believe it was a draft and that today he does not himself really want it. But if he has it, it is "his fight," most of all. As the nominee for Senator, he heads the ticket and he should give his thought, time, and energy, at every personal sacrifice possible for the election of, not himself personally, but a Republican Senator for the next Congress. It is the fight of the Party,—true,—but he has been named the leader. The writer of this careful article must not forget that General du Pont is National Committeeman from Delaware whose first and serious duty is the election of a Republican Senator from Delaware. It is the fight of every Republican, and General du Pont is by choice of delegates of the party the directing head. It is his fight. He cannot shirk the responsibility—nor do we believe he wants to. Any advice to the contrary is unfortunate for him and invites failure to the success of the party.

We agree with Irene du Pont, who as a delegate, spoke of General du Pont's personality and leadership wherever he appears. Every one who has seen or knows him recognizes it and admits it.

Being admitted then, we should urge, press, and draft him into this campaign. He should take charge of the campaign, appear at any and all occasions. He should give up all personal business possible and devote that personality and influence in making sure a Republican Senator, a Republican success, for the State ticket.

As we have said previously no greater nor graver responsibility ever came to Delaware than at this election. The success of our party in Delaware, the upholding of our principles in the Nation and the problems of affairs international, may actually depend on the outcome of election day here.

General du Pont with his personality can learn much from talking and mingling with the crowd and the crowd would more truly understand and support him if he would give voice and presence to them.

To that end, we ask that thought and time, energy and voice of every Republican be given. And that every thing that can be done, in Law and Honor, be done.

To Celebrate Birth Of Nation 150th Anniversary of Continental Congress to Be Observed

PRESIDENT AND CABINET TO ATTEND

The President of the United States, Members of the Cabinet, Justices of the United States Supreme Court, and Governors and United States Senators representing the Thirteen Original States, and other distinguished visitors from various parts of the country will be in Philadelphia on Thursday and Friday, September 25 and 26, to participate in the One Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary celebration of the first session of the First Continental Congress of America—which was practically the Birth of the Nation.

The coming celebration which will be one of the most historical events to be observed in the country this year, will be under the auspices of the City of Philadelphia and the Carpenters' Company of Philadelphia, which organization will observe the Two Hundredth anniversary of its institution at the same time. The Carpenters' Company built Carpenters' Hall, close to Independence Hall, and loaned its building in 1774 to the Congress as the place for holding its sessions.

The reception to be given to President Coolidge and the Governors of the Original States will take place within the historic building, at which time there will be presented in drama form a reproduction of the first session of the Congress, showing the delegates and the parts they played in the session, and using the original chairs and tables of the Congress. All the delegates from the Colonies will be shown and among them will be Samuel and John Adams from Massachusetts; Roger Sherman from Connecticut; John Jay from New York; Thomas Mifflin and John Morton from Pennsylvania; Caesar Rodney from Delaware; and Peyton Randolph, Richard and Henry Lee, George Washington and Patrick Henry from Virginia.

Prior to the reception in historic Carpenters' Hall, the President of the United States will be escorted to Independence Hall by an imposing military parade of United States Soldiers, Sailors and Marines; a number of the old military organizations of the Original Thirteen States and the National Guard of Pennsylvania, which he will review at that point. Among the military companies of the Original Thirteen States and the National Guard of Pennsylvania, participate, is the American Rifles of Wilmington.

The official observance of the First Continental Congress Anniversary will be held in the evening of that day in the Academy of Music, when the principal address will be delivered by President Coolidge, with brief remarks by several of the Governors and United States Senators. Arrangements have also been made to broadcast these addresses throughout the entire country.

On Friday, September 26, the City of Philadelphia will officially entertain all the distinguished visitors, and the members of the old military organizations by taking them on a pilgrimage to historic Valley Forge, where Washington and his army encamped during the memorable winter of 1777 and 1778. The morning of that day will be devoted to sight-seeing tours to all points of interest in the encampment grounds, with special State celebrations at the various State monuments. After dinner, special commemorative exercises will be held upon the extensive parade grounds, following with evening parade, participated in by the visiting military organizations. During the review, Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick, upon behalf of the City of Philadelphia, will present to each of the military organizations, in commemoration of the anniversary, a silk carrying flag of thirteen stripes and thirteen stars. This flag will also serve as a reminder that Congress in Session at Philadelphia on June 14, 1777, established the Flag of the United States by its resolution:—"Resolved, that the Flag of the Thirteen United States be thirteen stripes; alternate red and white, that the Union be thirteen stars, which in a blue field, representing a new constellation * * *"

HOW NEWARK CAN BE IMPROVED

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, the question of how Newark can be improved in any way came up. It was determined then that every member of the Board write his opinion of Newark's needs for THE POST. We had intended to thus print all the letters, making up a page for the occasion. They failed to arrive in sufficient quantity last week, but are now being printed from time to time in a series form.

THE POST will be glad to hear from any member of the Chamber of Commerce, or anyone outside that body, in this community, who has formed an opinion of how Newark can be improved upon. Such letters will be published in this column.

TO GET THINGS COMING YOUR WAY IT IS FIRST NECESSARY TO GO AFTER THEM

The question that confronts us at this time is indeed a problem, and yet a pleasure to anticipate the many advantages that are about at a boiling point in and about Newark, could one imagine in so few years she is traveling at a forty mile clip.

Furthermore the business and social affairs are welding together as one chain to progress. Needless for us to enumerate these advantages, they are right before your very eyes, while I may say some few at a little near-sighted. However out Town Fathers are plugging away might and main, and advancing their power forward.

Let us all feel Newark is the one town ahead of them all, good roads, parks, encourage education. Encourage skilled labor. Trade in Newark, should be the slogan.

Efficiency and fair treatment are the demands, an ad positive avenue to advancement and success in any sphere of life. Try it.

Let's treat the other fellow as we want to be respected, and I assure you our tasks will be lightened here on earth, and no need for worry about the hereafter.

(Signed)

I Newton Shaeffer.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS AS TO HOW GENERAL CONDITIONS IN NEWARK MIGHT BE IMPROVED—BY A MEMBER OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Newark is a town of which all its citizens are justly proud. It enjoys the unique position of being the seat of the chief educational institution of the State; as well as having many manufacturing plants, the operations of which, call to Newark an unusual number of scientifically trained men.

Since 1757, when James McMechan and others made an application for corporate privileges to William Denney, at that time acting Governor of that part of William Penn's grant, known as the three lower counties of the Delaware: New Castle, Kent and Sussex, our town has made steady progress. In less than 100 years' our present University came into existence, having the first meeting of the Board of Trustees on April 1, 1833, of which the Honorable Willard Hall was appointed chairman.

It has only been approximately two years; or, in 1922 that we formed our present Chamber of Commerce, which small and earnest body are using honest effort to further improve our flourishing town. The soul is the vital part of anything. It is the whole unified spiritual process, the moral and emotional nature as distinguished from the intellect. It is the seat of real life; it animates our affairs and infuses the desire for decency. We must even go a step further and admit with Shakespeare that there is some soul of goodness in things evil. In the paint industry, there is a slogan: "Save the surface and you save all." This is fine as applied to a board; but, it will not do for a man, a town, or a universe.

Therefore, the writer suggests that we put more soul, if possible, into the town of Newark and its progress. This can be done to a very considerable extent by more earnest consideration by the citizens for our local merchants. Our merchants are our servants; they are a great accommodation; and, therefore, inasmuch as they cater to our needs and supply us with the necessities of life; we should, in the writer's opinion, as citizens of the town, assist our merchants to be able to have larger and better stores. Our merchants can assist in this connection by more earnest attention, if you please, to the desires of their patrons. No doubt, many of our citizens have had the same experience as the writer; namely, we go into a local store and request some particular article. Some of our merchants will dismiss a customer with the mere statement that I do not have it; while others of a more progressive trend of mind, will express interest and say: "No, I do not have what you want, but tell me the latest time that you must have this and I will see if I cannot procure it for you." Such a method tends to constructive merchandising; and, if our citizens and our merchants will work closer together along these lines, the additional amount of money that will be spent in Newark that is now going elsewhere will be surprising.

This suggestion not only has to do with the immediate dollar value, for today the most of us in business enjoy the service we are able to give and the association derived from our daily intercourse with our fellows above the dollar. For any man who today, is in business merely for money, must surely be a contemptible failure. The interest of human welfare and the dollar are inseparably interwoven; but, if we will all endeavor to act practically upon the assumption that the dollar is to the interest of the man and gives him opportunity for the cultivation of his life and the release of his power, Commerce has raised the standards of living and the possibilities of the cultivation of higher realms of morality and ethics.

Therefore, Commerce with its vast and complex system is at the service of mankind and the business men of today are considering seriously the responsibility.

Therefore, if you believe now with the writer that there is a soul in business, that it is the active agent of Christ made manifest in an intimate way, that it is a moral law; then, is this moral law that lends wings to the mind, fight to the imagination, charm to sadness, gaiety and life to everything. It is the very essence of order and leads to all things that are bright, beautiful, good, and prosperous; and if you will, with this moral law, go forth among your fellows, you will be able to perform the great duties that lie before us, prize the quiet lightning deed and not the so-called thunder at its heels which men have called FAME.

COOLIDGE MAXIMS

Let there be a purpose in all legislation to recognize the rights of man to be well born, well nurtured, well educated, well employed and well paid.

Democracy not only ennobles man, but it has ennobled industry. For we are working toward the day when equal honor shall fall to equal endeavor, whether it be exhibited in the office or in the shop.

The protection of the individual lies at the basis of Anglo-Saxon liberty.

Liberty is not bestowed; it is an achievement; but it comes to no people who have not passed through the successive stages which always precede it. It is very far from a state of nature. For while there are no conditions under which it is better to be a slave than free, there are many conditions under which it is much easier to be a slave, and many have preferred such slavery rather than bear the responsibilities of freedom.

We need a broader, firmer and deeper faith in the people that they desire to do right.

All men are peers, the human blest with the most exalted. For this is the path of equality before the law and of liberty under the law; that is, democracy.

Each man is entitled to his rights and the rewards of his service, be they ever so large or ever so small.

ELKTON NOSED OUT

With their last chance to tie things up in the Susquehanna League race Saturday gone a-glimmering when Perryville downed Aberdeen in the last game of the league, scheduled Saturday afternoon, Elkton was forced to be content with second money. Had Perryville lost and Elkton won, the league race would have been deadlocked.

The Elkton-Havre de Grace game ended with nobody being satisfied according to reports. The umpire is said to have tried to forfeit the game to both teams, when the big argument arose in the eighth inning. Havre de Grace finally decided to accept after Elkton left the playing field.

No matter who won, the Elktonites were shut out of their big chance, after a hard uphill struggle for the past month. It was a pretty race all the way through the second half.

Take Poll Of Tourists Parked Around White House; Coolidge Leads Rivals

Recent Novel Interview by Washington Correspondent Reveals Sentiment of Visitors From Many States

Never before in the history of Washington have so many automobilists visited the White House as this summer. These tourists have come from all parts of the country, the greater proportion coming from the Middle West, although a large number carry tags of Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Minnesota. Almost without exception they park their machines on the great wide street in front of the White House while they go in to see what sort of a building their president occupies.

Recently three newspapermen counted 81 machines lined up against the curbstone and they decided to take a poll of the autoists' choice for president—the result was Coolidge 60, Davis 15, the head of the third ticket 4, the balance being divided. The majority of the cars were of a well-known make of machines within the reach of the average pocketbook, there were only two that one would classify as high-priced machines.

Among those questioned as to their choice was a couple, no longer young; he a man who gave one the impression of many years of toil, she one of the sweet old ladies like your mother or grandmother. This little bit of old fashioned charmingness, when asked why she was for Coolidge, replied, "He is honest and brave, he is one of our own people, the kind that most people are. Some call us the plain people, no frills, no putting on of airs—just a God-loving, clean American citizen, a man of high ideals—the kind we like to have as a model for our children, a man who believes in honesty and common sense. We heard him on the radio. We are tired of having speakers tell us about how they will do this and that for the country when they know deep in their hearts that the things they speak about cannot be done—that is not being honest. My husband and I are enjoying a vacation, our son and his wife look out for things on the farm while we take our vacation seeing the country. This is the third year we have been on the road and we have seen a lot of the United States. We take turns driving and we get over a lot of country in a day's ride. We will be home for election day, as both "father" and I feel it our duty to vote for Mr. Coolidge." The car bore a California tag.

The members of the "first national grange tour" traveling through the east were conveyed in 240 automobiles. They were farmers from the West and Middle West, 12 states being represented. They met President Coolidge while he was at his father's farm in Vermont and all declared their intention to vote for Calvin Coolidge.

ELKTON SCHOOLS OPEN

The public Schools of Elkton opened on Tuesday morning of this week with one of the largest enrollments in the history of the town. Need is already felt of the new Grammar School being erected near the Armory on Railroad Avenue. With this building completed, congestion in the other three school buildings will be greatly relieved. Principal Hill and his staff of teachers were ready to greet the children as they came to start their term's work. Few changes have been reported in the teaching staff.

Miss Gracie Wells has been appointed a teacher in the lower grades to take the place of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Wells, who recently died.

Strangers Are Fined

Among the four speeders arrested near here last week, and fined by Magistrate Thompson, was the pilot of a Bethlehem, Pa., car, enroute to Baltimore, who was picked up by Officer Wardle near Price's Corner, and brought before the local Magistrate. A fine of $25 and costs was levied upon the driver. A member of the party represented himself as an attorney from Bethlehem, and it is said that he threatened to bring counter action on the highway policeman, for the inconvenience and expense.

The other three speeders, caught at various times during the week, were levied like fines by Magistrate Thompson.

Newspaper Guests Of Governor Denney

Philadelphia Writers View Scenery and Fish at Bowers Wednesday

Dover, Del.—In line with his recently and voluntarily acquired duties as "unofficial press agent" for Delaware, Governor William D. Denney last Wednesday was co-host with W. T. Derickson, Director of the Bureau of Markets, to a number of Delaware and Philadelphia newspaper editors on a tour of the State and a fishing trip on the bay. It was one of the most enjoyable events staged in this state in a long time, the Governor and Mr. Derickson proving most congenial hosts to twenty-five guests who knew how to appreciate their hospitality to the utmost.

During the short tour through the State, Mr. Derickson explained to the visitors the many natural advantages of Delaware from an agricultural and horticultural standpoint, pointing out that the little peninsula on the Delaware Bay is destined to eventually become the Garden Spot of the East.

Fish From Guard Boat

Following the tour to Bowers Beach the visitors boarded the guard boat "Delaware" and spent several hours fishing out on the Delaware bay. This feature of the trip was particularly pleasing to some of the Philadelphia newspapermen who had never before enjoyed the sport of fishing on the Delaware bay, and they declared that it would most assuredly not be the last time.

At noon a fine luncheon was served to the hungry guests on the guard boat. Their appetites given a keen edge by the brisk air which swept over the boat, the visitors sat down to a meal that was enjoyed to the last morsel, after which they tendered a rising vote of appreciation to Mr. Derickson, who had this part of the program in charge.

The fish were biting good and several of the men made really excellent catches.

Those present on the outing were: Mr. A. H. Jaeger, Philadelphia Record; Mr. F. V. L. Turner, The North American; Mr. George Crapo, Philadelphia Inquirer; Mr. Granville Toogood, Public Ledger; Mr. George Kearney, Evening Bulletin; Mr. Robert Vale, Writer, Philadelphia; Mr. William Keighoff, Artist, Philadelphia; Mr. Charles R. Long, Chester Times, Chester, Pa.; Mayor Samuel E. Turner, Former Editor, Chester Times; Mr. Harry C. McSherry, Manager Dover Index; Col. James C. Wickes, Delaware State News; Mr. Benjamin F. Simmons, Jr., Delaware Republican; Mr. Herman C. Taylor, Newspaper Writer, Dover; Col. Theodore Townsend, Milford Chronicle; Mr. Joseph H. Martin, Wilmington Sunday Star; Mr. George Carter, Evening Journal; Mr. Albert W. Cummins, Wilmington Morning News; Mr. William F. Metten, Every Evening; Mr. C. D. Buck, Chief Engineer of State Highway Department; Mr. A. R. Benson, Secretary of State; Mr. W. T. Derickson, Director Bureau of Markets; Mr. William K. Knight, Governor William D. Denney; Ex-Senator Richard R. Kenney; Dr. James Martin, Magnolia; Hon. Victor A. Moore, Seaford.

LITTLE CREEK ROAD IS CENTER OF STRUGGLE

Dover.—The State Highway Department and the Kent County Levy Court are apparently hopelessly deadlocked on the question of the route for the proposed State aid road from Dover to Little Creek. Those interested in seeing this road built are much concerned over the present situation. The highway department is to build the road, the cost being divided between the State and county. The highway department has persistently favored the so-called north route while the Kent Levy Court is equally determined that it shall be built over the so-called southern route. The highway department several weeks ago opened bids for building the road by the north route. The Levy Court at its meeting last week adopted a resolution refusing to approve the north route. The route of State aid roads have to be approved by the governing body of the county under the law and consequently the State highway department cannot go ahead with the north route. The Levy Court formerly considered the communication which was received from the State Highway Department setting out why that department insists on the north route, one reason being the cost. From the wording of the letter the department evidently intends to stand firm, so the indications are that this road will not be built this year. The Highway Department recently rejected all bids.

DAINEY PENDLETON CONVICTED OF ASSAULT

Negro, Alleged Robber of Jamison Home, Loses Case In Chester Co.

Says a West Chester special of August 28th: Dainey Pendleton, 25, Negro, of near Avondale, was convicted in court here yesterday on a charge of assaulting Miss Elizabeth Connell, a student at the Avondale Vocational School, as she was returning home last April.

Miss Connell was attacked in a lonely section, when the Negro is alleged to have leaped from bushes beside the road. Her father, working in a field nearby, heard her cries and went to her assistance, when the man fled.

Pendleton, arrested soon, was identified by the girl, but attempted to set up an alibi. Witnesses, however, testified to seeing him near the scene shortly before the attack and a hat dropped was identified as belonging to him.

Pendleton is the same man who was arrested in connection with the theft of about $1000 from the Jamison home near McClellandville several months ago. He was given a hearing, but his attorneys presented doctors' certificates, claiming illness for him, and the case was not tried.

LIQUOR VIOLATORS LEAD IN COURT CASES

Chester County Jurists Had Busy Time This Month According to Reports

Oxford, Pa.—Of the one hundred and sixty-six cases on the trial list for the August term of quarter sessions court, fifty-five were for violation of the liquor laws. This means that one-third of the court's time will be taken up largely with bootleg and moonshine cases. In contrast with other terms there are but two cases for violation of the automobile laws. There is one murder case on the docket.

The lower end is only interested in a very few of the cases which will be tried. Two of the defendants are Frank Campbell and George Cox from this section, charged with violating the liquor laws, and Ira Reynolds of West Fallowfield township, who has to answer a more serious charge.

Judge Butler will be called upon at the next term of Equity Court to determine whether or not S. Wilson Hodgson, of Cochranville, is maintaining a dam nuisance. Elisha Rambo says that he is and has made the Rambo meadow, which adjoins the Hodgson farm, into a swamp in which the water lies several feet deep, etc.

It seems that Hodgson built a dam in his meadow, and, according to Rambo, a portion of this broke away and flooded the Rambo fields. Rambo asks that Hodgson be ordered to take down the dam and not to build another. If the Court agrees with Rambo, Hodgson won't be worth a dam.

W. C. I. COMMENCES SESSION SEPT. 9th

Methodist School In Dover Is Remodelled

Dover, Del.—Wesley Collegiate Institute will open its doors for the fifty-second year, September 9, at 9 a. m. Boarding students will be expected to arrive on the afternoon of September 8. The morning of the 9th will be occupied in scheduling and classifying day students and on the afternoon of the 9th all classes will meet for half periods for the assignment of lessons. Wednesday morning classes will meet and work from that day will proceed regularly throughout the year.

Dr. Budd reports the prospects for students to be better than last year. The boys' dormitories are expected to be full and a considerable increase of enrollment of girls is also assured. The new student body will enjoy better facilities than any preceding class. The girls' building was completely remodeled and renovated last year and during the past summer the girls' dormitories have been completely refurnished. It is safe to say that the young ladies will have living accommodations equal to that provided by the best equipped schools. The administration building has likewise been renovated and presents a new and attractive appearance; new floors and a new coat of paint throughout the boys' dormitories will be observed by the faculty and students.

DELAWARE BEACH TO HOLD CARNIVAL ON GROUNDS SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th

A very unique and interesting Carnival will be held on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, September 6th, at Delaware Beach. The program calls for a baby show, a baseball game and barnyard golf or quoits in the afternoon and a fancy dress carnival and an exhibition of fireworks in the evening. The baby show will be for babies two years old and under, and first, second and third prizes will be given to the three best and finest looking babies. Another prize will be given to the baby most becomingly dressed with the proviso that the prize winning babies be barred from this competition.

St. Georges baseball team will play either Port Penn or Middletown on the baseball field which is now in very good shape as this field is being gotten ready for the University of Delaware football players who will train at the beach from September 11th until September 17. The barnyard golf or quoit tournament will be held under the rules of the National Horse Shoe Pitchers Association, excepting the rule requiring eleven games to constitute a match. Because this tournament must be run off on one afternoon, the number of games constituting a match will be determined by the number of contestants. In all probability, the best two out of three games will make the winner eligible to advance in the tournament.

Three prizes will be given at the fancy dress carnival and dance in the evening for the most striking costumes and three other prizes will be given for a prize dance. The exhibition of fireworks will start at 9 o'clock during the dance intermission and will continue for one, when the dance will be continued until 1 a. m.

The above program should bring a big crowd down to the beach. The merry-go-round, the bathing house, and other pleasure devices will all be in operation so that there will be plenty of means of amusement in addition to the program laid out. The famous Hinchman's College orchestra will play both afternoon and evening for dances. The carnival should be a thoroughly enjoyable affair. Its object is to give a fine day's amusement to the countryside as a mark of appreciation of the management for the many expressions of good will given them since they took over the property and the great co-operation they have afforded the management in every way.

SUGGESTS TURNTABLE ON DANGEROUS ROAD

Oxford, Pa., Paper Receives 18c from Burial Association To Prevent Accidents

The following humorous suggestion comes from the facile pen of the editor of the Oxford, Pa., "News":

With its usual progressive spirit, the News has taken charge of the subscription campaign to raise money for the installation of a block system and turntable at Boyer's Meadow on Route 131. The ten or fifteen accidents which have occurred at that point within the past few months make such a move absolutely necessary. Block stations may be established at Reedville and the William Fredrick farm and two automobiles will not be allowed between these points at the same time. In Boyer's meadow a ball bearing turntable will be provided with three attendants working in shifts of eight hours each, so that when a person wants to turn around all that it will be necessary to do will be to run on the turntable. If any money is left over after the campaign, it will be used to put pads on the several abutments in that strip of road and several loads of hay will be dumped immediately behind them, so that passengers of automobiles which hit these abutments will have a soft place on which to land.

The installation and upkeep of these wonderful safeguards should not cost over twenty thousand dollars a year and this would be a trifle as compared with the shock to the nervous systems of those persons who had perfectly good automobiles changed to piles of scrap iron in less than twelve seconds each.

Of course, the largest subscriptions will come from the insurance companies, which, unless something is done here, will have to suspend dividends. The only opposition that has thus far developed to this move has come from the physicians, undertakers and garage men. These men openly charge the News with attempting to ruin their business. However, as always, this paper is to be found espousing the cause of humanity, and we will fight to a bitter end.

We acknowledge subscriptions as follows: Local Burial Associations, 18 cents; Lodges paying death benefits, 40 cents; Lower Oxford Red Cross, 12 cents; Frank McGovern, 6 hours labor at one block station; Allen Boyer, six hours labor at other block station; Walter Burling (when in camp) one shift on turntable. Only $19,999 more needed to assure the success of this great boon to mankind. Do your bit to help put the campaign over the top.

STATE SHOWS DECREASE IN CROSSING ACCIDENTS

"As there are more than six hundred railroad grade crossings in Delaware, the Cross Crossings Cautiously Campaign now being conducted by the state railroads of the country has a particular significance to the people of this State," said Mr. P. T. Reilly, Vice-President in charge of Public Safety of the Delaware Safety Council.

"According to our records public railroad fatalities in Delaware have shown a steady decrease being 16 in 1921, 13 in 1922, and 8 in 1923. This is a substantial rate of decrease and we are trusting that an increased cautiousness on the part of motorists and others at railroad crossings will show a further decrease in 1924.

The railroad and municipalities will continue to spend all the money that can be spared for the elimination of grade crossings. However, it is estimated that it would cost many millions of dollars to eliminate the grade crossings on only one of the principal carriers in this section, and billions of dollars to remove all the crossings in the country. This high cost is of such magnitude that it can be readily understood that the elimination of all railroad grade crossings in the near future is not only financially impossible, but in many instances physically impracticable. It is, therefore, important that the general public bear in mind that the most effective remedy at present for grade crossings accidents is the elimination of reckless driving, and the exercise of a high degree of care in approaching and crossing steam railroad tracks.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Clarence T. Denney, Jr., who departed this life September 6th, 1922.

In the graveyard safely sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In his lonely, silent grave.
He shall never be forgotten;
Never shall his memory fade;
Sweetest thought will always linger
Around the grave where he is laid.
No one knows how much we miss him;
No one knows the tears we shed,
But in heaven we hope to meet him
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Sadly missed by

Miss Clara Racine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Racine, of near Childs, Md., and Mr. Thomas E. Clay, of Winterthur, Del., were married in Rock Presbyterian Church, at 8 o'clock last Wednesday evening, in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Stockbridge, pastor of Zion and Rock Presbyterian Churches. Miss Helen Barnes, of Wilmington, Del., a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Dewey

DON'T FORGET CLOVER SAY THE EXPERTS

Every farmer likes to look at a good field of clover, especially on his own farm. Older men tell us of the time when clover grew naturally and all that was necessary for a successful "catch" was just to sow the seed. But many years of cropping have brought about far-reaching changes in the soil. Lime is continually getting away in the drainage water, in crops sold on the farm, and in the bones of animals. Phosphorus—never very plentiful even in virgin soils—has been reduced by cropping and by livestock until today it is the limiting element in most soils.

With these factors in mind, it is not hard to see why clover fails so often, for clover needs lots of lime, and it never does well unless plenty of phosphorus is present. To be sure, many other reasons are often given for clover failure,—the season was too dry or too wet, the sun was too hot in July, or the weeds came up too thickly after the wheat was cut and smothered the young clover. But back in grandfather's time there were wet

Patterson, of near Wilmington, Del., best man. Messrs. William Creswell and Walter Racine acted as ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Clay left immediately after the reception on a wedding trip, and upon their return will reside on one of the du Pont farms, near Wilmington.

HARMONY GRANGE

The first session of the season, after a vacation of six weeks, was held by Harmony Grange, at their hall at The Mermaid, Monday evening. Master Harry Brackin was in the chair and all of the officers were present. A large attendance was recorded.

Reports of the 50th Anniversary were read. A card of appreciation from President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge was read, thanking the Grange of Delaware for their note of sympathy at the occasion of the tragic death of Colvin Coolidge, Jr.

An order was opened for fall fertilizer, timothy seed, and fodder twine.

The literary program consisted of short talks and anecdotes by every member present, giving some description of his or her activity during the summer, along with helpful suggestions of interest to the Grange.

Following the meeting, a delicious treat of fruit was served to the gathering.

Automobile Prizes Offered

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has offered for this year a series of cash prizes to Grange boys and girls throughout the country 14 years of age and under, who shall write the best essays on the subject: "How travel on rural highways can be made safer," and these prizes will be awarded the latter part of the year. The contest is arranged on a systematic basis, first by counties, then by states, and finally nationally, with boards of judges appointed in the respective grades and the prize winners from the different states going for final award to a board of judges under the auspices of the National Grange. Similar prizes were offered last year and the winners were a girl and boy from New York state, both being given free trips to Washington, D. C., while the girl received a special certificate of award at the White House, directly from the hands of President Coolidge, and in the presence of a considerable group of Grange leaders who were assembled for the occasion.

Installing Team Is Unique

A Maine newspaper office, that of the Lewiston Daily Sun, boasts the unique distinction of having a Grange installing team made up entirely of members of its own working staff. This group of energetic Grange people travel extensively in installation work among the Granges and have achieved quite a reputation for their efficiency, while they add to the regular ritual service many features of attractive interest.

Included in the group are members from four subordinate Granges in two different states, and all daily workers side by side at busy newspaper desks. The leader of the team is agricultural editor of the paper and his assistants are taken from various working departments. It is also to be noted that there are enough other Grange members employed in the same newspaper office to compose another installing team of equal size, besides those engaged in the work.

A Fraternal Record

What is undoubtedly an age record among the fraternal organizations of the United States was recently recorded in the Grange at Wareham, Massachusetts. The application of a citizen of the town was received for membership in Wareham Grange, was read in its meeting and referred for investigation on the same evening that the gentleman in question at his home was receiving a party of his friends in honor of his 100th birthday! In filing his Grange application he expressed the hope that while he had been a little tardy in commencing, he hoped in time to become a fairly useful Grange member.

ACCIDENT MARS OPENING OF ELKTON COMMUNITY PLAYGROUND, FRIDAY LAST

While joining with other older people in the enjoyment of the slides and swings at the opening festivities of the new Elkton M. E. Church community playground, at the former Dr. Mitchell property on Main Street, Friday night, Miss Bessie Henry, well-known Elkton woman, suffered a broken bone in her leg, while sliding down one of the chutes. It is believed that in some manner her leg doubled under her as she went down the slide, and her full weight landed on the curved ankle, thereby causing the break. She is being treated in Union Hospital.

The Playground was formally opened to the children of Elkton on Friday afternoon, with appropriate ceremonies. The Rev. Robert K. Stephenson, of Wilmington, delivered a stirring address to several hundred parents and children gathered on the lawn of the church house. The Elkton band was present and played several selections.

Expert guidance of the play hours for the children have been provided by the Official Board of the church. The response of the entire town to the worthwhile movement has been marked, and it is believed that the playground and community house adjoining is one of the most important additions to the civic life of the town to be enjoyed in recent years.

It is reported that almost the entire cost of the Mitchell property together with the alterations necessary has been met by the Methodists. A public library with an adequate collection of books has been installed.

DELAWARE TEA HOUSE OPENED NEAR NEWARK

Mrs. J. G. Justis, of Newport, Sponsoring Establishment: Four Girls In Charge

Under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Justis, of Newport, a most attractive tea house has been opened by the Misses Anne Moss Tyler, Ruth Fries, Reta Fries and Rachel Sherwood, on the Lincoln highway between Marshallton and Newark. Situated as it is, directly on this fine road, with the Newark bus service every hour, which affords easy means of transportation, this is an excellent location for such a tea house and this is one of the most attractive places of the kind for many miles around.

The house was built from an original design by Mr. Justis at an expenditure of $15,000 and is unique in every particular, with the most modern equipment and facilities procurable. The terraced front was designed so that it may be arranged for a stage for open-air performances at which the lawn will be used for the audience. The rustic bridge, which spans a brook, gives a quaint touch to the surroundings.

The girls are being chaperoned by Miss Lucy Perry, of Philadelphia. Miss Ruth Fries is a graduate of Northfield Seminary, D. L. Moody School at Northfield, Mass. Miss Tyler took first prize in a State speaking contest a few years ago and also won the state scholarship for the Women's College of Delaware two years ago and she will enter the junior class in the fall. After graduating she hopes to take a post-graduate course at Columbia University, specializing in arts and science.

VISITING IN PITTSBURGH

Mrs. J. Irvin Dayett and her daughter, Miss Emma Dayett, of Cooch's Bridge, left last week for a visit in Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Dayett, after her marriage on September 12 to Albert D. Ayerst, of Elkton, will reside in the Pennsylvania city.

Too Late

The host at the drawing-room concert was nervous and inexperienced and at the end of a song with which one of the guests had "obliged" he rose hurriedly.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "before Mrs. Smith started to sing she—ah—told me her—ah—voice was not in the best condition, and—ah—asked me to apologize for it, but I neglected to do so and—ah—I apologize now."—Everybody's Magazine.

Faithful Henry

"Henry," said his employer sternly, "you didn't expect me back this morning."

"No, sir," said Henry. "I suppose you are aware that when I came in I caught you kissing the stenographer?" And his employer glared at him angrily.

"Yes, sir," replied Henry, without blushing, "but, if you remember, sir, you told me to be sure and do all your work while you were away."—Philadelphia Ledger.

NORTH EAST CROWDED AS FIREMEN PARADE

Newark Company Comes Home With Second Prize Thursday Night

With the largest crowd ever to attend a carnival in North East, the firemen's parade, a feature of this year's festivities in the Maryland town, was held last Thursday evening.

Newark people who attended the affair stated that the crowd was so dense in and near the carnival grounds, that it was with difficulty that visitors could get near the booths. The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company made a great showing in the short parade which opened the evening. The red-shirted boys from Newark carried off second prize.

Judges for the parade were Chief Engineer William J. Lutz, Wilmington Bureau of Fire; Attorney-General S. D. Townsend, Jr., J. W. Holloway, Charlestown, Md.; and Frank Owens, of North East. Six prizes were awarded; four loving cups and two cash prizes. The first prize was awarded to the Rising Sun, Md., Fire Department, for the largest number of men in line; second, best appearance, Newark; third, Havre de Grace; fourth, Bel Air; fifth, Elkton, and sixth, Principio, Md.

Following the presentation of the prizes Chief Engineer Lutz addressed the firemen.

WILMINGTON WOMAN HURT NEAR ELKTON

Car Overturns In Collision On North Street, Extended, Sunday

Mrs. Fannie Winokur, aged 75 years of East Fifth Street, Wilmington, was taken to Union Hospital, Elkton, suffering with a broken arm, the result of an auto accident near the residence of Rev. W. R. Moon, on North Street, Elkton, Sunday afternoon. Later she was removed to her home in Wilmington. She may be suffering from other injuries, physicians say.

The Chevrolet touring car, in which the injured woman was riding at the time of the accident, was turned completely over when another Chevrolet touring car driven by Joseph A. Sapps, of Brandywine Summit, Pa., struck the front wheel of the car a glancing blow from the rear.

In the car with Mrs. Winokur were her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eiseman, and their son, Eddie Eiseman, three and one-half years old. Mrs. Winokur was the only one injured in the accident, although all of the occupants of the Eiseman car were hurled to the ground when the crash occurred.

BIG QUARTERLY DRAWS HUGE CROWD

Colored People From Four States Join In Celebration In Wilmington, Sunday

Negroes from all parts of Delaware, Southern Pennsylvania and Northern Maryland, including scores from Newark and vicinity gathered at the annual "Big Quarterly" devotional services on French Street, Wilmington, Sunday. Despite the extreme heat, more than 4000 held cards of mission to the services both morning and afternoon.

The program which had been arranged by Rev. J. W. Brown, pastor of the church, and Alfred Collins and H. Bells, included all-day services at the church building and in the adjoining grove.

Newark sent a big delegation of colored people, and Maryland cars loaded to the gunwales, passed through here in a stream Sunday. Rev. Charles H. Walker, of Newark, was one of the ministers who addressed the throng.

CAUGHT ON R. R. TRACKS

Carload of Pennsylvania People Escaped When Train Comes Down Opposite Track

What might have been a serious accident was averted on Monday of this week at the North Street crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Elkton.

A large automobile approached the gates coming north, when the gate tender, said to be a new man on the job, lowered the gates. Before the driver could stop, his car had run up on the tracks, and was trapped by gates on both sides.

Unable to get the stalled motor going, the passengers in the car leaped from their seats and abandoned the machine. Spectators looked for sure destruction of the car, but luck was with everybody concerned, for the train came down the southbound track and cleared the stalled machine by a few feet. With a sigh of relief and a parting shot at the gate tender, the motorists re-entered their car and drove off. Their names could not be learned.

THE POST BELIEVES IN NEWARK DO YOU ?

Years ago The Post adopted the slogan "If you can't get it in Newark, buy it in Wilmington." The idea back of this is, "Buy at Home." The citizen who is most interested in his town does this. If a Newark Merchant by chance does not have the exact article wanted, the real citizen places his order through him. The merchant makes the profit, the citizen gets the article at the same price, the money stays at home, the town prospers. It is good citizenship, good sense, and good business to buy in Newark.

BUY AT HOME

The Advertisers in the Post are good business men and good citizens. They are working for a profit, of course but that is not all. They are real citizens who contribute in taxes, in gifts, time and energy in making Newark the worth while town it is. Without their support of every good movement, without their taxes, the town would not have the rank and record that we now enjoy.

They boost Newark not by lip loyalty but by service. They are friends of ours, friends of yours, friends of Newark in a very practical way.

Let our readers try their service.
