New garments are the only dues directors, there are three living but only Mrs. Henry McVaugh continues her directorship. Through the years, gatherings were held at Hockessin Friends Meeting House, Lamborn Library, Harmony Grange Hall, and private homes.

All workers are volunteers, and all garments collected are given to charitable groups for distribution and local needy cases.

This year, the Hockessin branch celebrates its 60th anniversary on Nov. 2, with a luncheon in Harmony Grange Hall. Mrs. John H. Brown, Jr., of Fairfield, Conn., national president, will be the guest speaker.

The annual in-gathering of garments will be on display in the hall. Last year, there were 3,372 articles of clothing and bed linens collected. Mary K. Mitchell, sewing chairman, has had charge of monthly sewings; Ruth Ball is president; and Mrs. William F. Boyce, Jr., is chairman of the anniversary committee.

The Hockessin branch was started by Mrs. Taylor Richards in the summer of 1908. Of the six original

Track-Field Club Uses Facilities Of Local Schools

During the past summer the Delaware Track and Field Club conducted a series of track and field meets on athletic fields of the Newark school district with over 700 boys and girls participating.

Clarence K. Xander, president of the Delaware Track and Field Club, expressed appreciation to the Newark school district for the opportunity to use the athletic fields for this summer activity.

In his letter to Supt. George V. Kirk, Xander said: "On behalf of the Delaware Track and Field Club we want to thank you for the use of these facilities and we certainly appreciate your cooperation which contributed greatly to the success of our program."

Besides facilities used by the Delaware Track and Field Club, the schools were used 435 times by community agencies operating athletic and recreational programs this summer.

Martin Supports Unions In Seeking 24th District Seat

Democratic candidate for state representative, Roger A. Martin of the 24th district last night assailed what he called "phony" right-to-work legislative proposals as "union-busting" aimed at taking away the worker's one means of looking after his own interests.

Martin spoke at a coffee in his honor at the home of Mrs. Roy W. Vost in Todd Estates.

The Democratic candidate declared that as representative he would take no part in any anti-union drive.

"As long as I am representing the 24th district," he said, "I will fight for everybody's right to work for a decent wage under decent conditions, with adequate representation for every wage earner."

Martin characterized the right-to-work drive in Delaware as "part of a massive national anti-union campaign that has been going on for years."

Groups trying to destroy unions, he said, have failed to get right-to-work legislation from Congress, so they are concentrating on state legislatures.

"The irony of all this 'right to work' hoopla," he said, "is that few of the nation's big progressive corporations will have anything to do with it."

"For the most part, these frauds are financed by employers in industries not yet organized—industries where low wages are still a way of life—and by right-wing fringe groups who blindly attack unions as they do anything else that represents progress."

CRIME:

YOU CAN TURN THE TIDE.

Muggings, robberies, rapes and assaults have risen 88% in seven years. How can you prevent this wave of crime from becoming the wave of the future? Elect Richard Nixon President. Here is part of what he wants to do:

1. Restore the balance in the courts. Some of our courts have gone too far in weakening the peace forces as against the criminal forces. Too many guilty men are being freed on technicalities.

2. Appoint an Attorney General dedicated to rooting out organized crime in America. A crackdown here—including the safeguarded use of wiretaps—is long overdue.

3. Help localities improve the quality of their police protection with bloc grants from Federal tax funds.

Nixon knows that the first civil right of every American is the right to protection from crime and violence.

CHS Band Booster Calendars Offered For October Sale

Christiana High School Band Boosters, an organization of parents and friends of band members, are sponsoring a birthday calendar sale through the month of October. The calendar, published yearly, lists schedules for school events, meeting dates of local organizations; and birthday or anniversary dates of residents of the Newark area.

A photograph of the Christiana High School Band will be printed on the front of the calendar, and profits from the sale will be used to supplement school funds in support of this award-winning band.

Band members will be taking subscriptions for this calendar during October.

Anyone not contacted and who is interested in having his name printed with birthday or anniversary date, should phone David Field, president of the Band Boosters.

Evangelist Green To Offer Revival Beginning Sunday

Evangelist A. A. Green, native of Norway, will begin a series of special services in the Newark Revival Tabernacle on Chestnut Hill Road near Ogletown this Sunday.

The Rev. Green has traveled for 17 years over Norway, Sweden, Germany and the United States. Of Lutheran background, he has spoken in churches of most denominations; in conventions and at camp meetings, and has made recordings of gospel songs.

These services will be held each evening next week at 7:45, and the public is invited.

There will be prayers for the sick each evening, and the Rev. Green has challenged the Tabernacle Pastor, Arthur E. Hardt to "excite" people to pray for a national spiritual revival.

"Prophecy," Sunday Topic For Unitarian Fellowship

The Rev. Geoffrey P. Selth, minister of Rux Mont Unitarian Fellowship, Warrington, Pa., will speak at the Unitarian Fellowship of Newark this Sunday, at 10:30 a.m. with his topic "Prophecy of Yesterday and Today."

Sunday School and nursery are available at 10:30 a.m., and visitors are welcome at the Fellowship.

Story-Telling Schedule Offered Pre-School Child

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

In the long run a sound education for a community's children does not cost, it pays. Improved education of our new citizens-to-be will affect the quality of new industry moving into the area, will affect the community income level and tax receipts, will affect the number of unemployed, will affect welfare expenses, will affect police requirements, etc. Thus, an expenditure for education is really an investment which can be expected to earn a future return for the community.

However, it is important that this investment be made wisely. It was in this spirit that members of the Newark PTA Council questioned members from the Newark Board of Education and representatives from the Newark school administration on Sept. 9 concerning the forthcoming two-part referendum. Following this spirited give and take the council debated the merits of the proposed program. It was concluded that the needs as outlined by the school board were real and that the proposed program to meet the needs was well thought out. A resolution was then made that the Newark PTA Council go on record as supporting the two-part referendum. The resolution was passed unanimously.

The Newark PTA Council is comprised of officers and appointed representatives from the 17 PTA units in the Newark special school district. There are over 5,000 PTA members in these 17 units.

The council urges each citizen to become informed about the referendum and the needs it is designed to meet. It urges each citizen to be certain to vote. Remember, a sound education for the youth of Newark does not cost, it pays.

Respectfully submitted for the Newark PTA Council,
Dennis D. Rudy, President

At a meeting of Directors of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce the group unanimously voted full support to the Newark special school district two-part referendum scheduled for Oct. 10, this year.

Business leaders in the greater Newark area fully realize the importance of a top-flight educational system if an area is to grow and prosper. Newark must continue to have such a system, and we here in the chamber of commerce pledge our support in both the current expense and bonded indebtedness portions of the forthcoming referendum.

We realize that, according to Delaware law, there must be two ballots, one for buildings and one for operation. But we here at the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce see only one issue involved and that is the issue of whether or not Newark wants its children properly educated for life in the world in the 21st Century. The Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce feels that this is an absolute essential.

Sincerely Yours,
F. Racine Stafford
President

Venezuelan Geology, Tonic For Lecture On Tuesday

Dr. Thomas E. Pickett, specialist in geological mapping, will give an illustrated lecture on "Venezuela—Some Notes on It's Geology" next Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Geology Building Room 207 on the University of Delaware campus.

Pickett's lecture is the result of a trip this summer to Venezuela where he took photographic slides he will use to give a background sketch of that country's geology. The purpose of the lecture series is to give students, especially geology majors, a chance to meet each other and the faculty, according to Dr. Johan J. Groot, department chairman.

The lectures are open to anyone interested in geology.

Daniel J. Casey, Jr., Program Director For Radio Station

Daniel J. Casey, Jr., has been named program director for Radio Station WNRK.

Employed at the Newark radio station since 1966, Casey has been sports director and a personality on the local morning record show.

After service with the U.S. Air Force in Korea during the Korean War, Casey entered the radio broadcasting field in the Wilmington area as a play-by-play sports announcer.

A member of the National Sports-writers and Broadcasters Association, Casey gives play-by-play accounts of high school football games broadcast over the Newark station.

Free Surplus Food Slated For Oct. 10 Distribution

Free surplus food will be distributed here next Thursday from 2 to 3 p.m. at the Greater Newark Recreation Association office, by the Delaware Commission for the Aging.

Older Delaware residents living on reduced incomes may be eligible for this free food.

Application for those not receiving public assistance should be made at the time and place food is distributed.

Alfred A. Nerz Extension Division Addition, Oct. 1

Alfred A. Nerz joined the staff of the extension Division at the University of Delaware on Oct. 1.

Nerz will serve as continuing education program specialist in engineering and physical sciences.

A graduate of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, Nerz attended New Jersey State College at Glassboro, and has pursued studies in continuing education at Michigan State and Purdue.

He received the 1967 citation from the American Welding Society for distinguished service, counsel, and guidance.

Council Of PTA's Endorses Oct. 10 Referendum "Yes"

Dennis P. Rudy, President of the Newark Council of PTA's has announced council's unanimous endorsement of the school district referendum of Oct. 10.

Rudy and the PTA Council are calling on interested area residents to find out about the needs of the children and to support them with a "For" vote in both parts of the referendum next month.

The PTA Council devoted the better part of its meeting last week to the topic of the referendum, with pertinent questions of School Board President Albert H. Jones and Supt. George V. Kirk.

A PAIR OF FUND DRIVES

Newark's volunteer firemen have launched their annual fund drive in effort to obtain $34,000 with voluntary contributions from residents of the 25-square mile district for continued provision of stellar service and protection Aetna affords some 50,000 persons. Another $50,000 is expected to be provided by the state, city, and county with annual appropriations for local fire protection, and by the Aetnamen and their ladies themselves, to meet necessary budgetary requirements of $84,000.

And next Thursday from 2 to 9 p.m.; residents of the Newark special district are asked to vote their approval for a 50-cent tax increase to maintain local excellence in education for an ever-expanding pupil population — an educational program second to none, that has been provided with public approval to accommodate 14,000 youngsters.

Failure to contribute to the Aetna fund drive — and opposition to the 50-cent school tax increase — will jeopardize necessary standards of safety and education.

Bob Tucker Hurls Four TD Passes, Scores With Interception To Pace Newark Win

All-State Quarterback Bob Tucker threw four touchdown passes and intercepted a DeLaWarr aerial to gallop 35 yards for a totally Tuck TD last Saturday morning as Coach Bob Hoffman's champion Yellowjackets walloped the Lions 47-13 on the Newark High School field in a season opener.

The excitement was a bit too much for Coach Hoffman and for his family physician, who withdrew his patient for a 10-minute interval for observation and conservation. The Newark coach with a high blood pressure condition aggravated by pre-season training, long hours and game conditions, returned to the scene after examination by the doctor for sudden chest pains and blurred vision.

"I'm all right," Hoffman said last Tuesday night at home to the relief of a reporter.

Tucker passed to End Gary Hayman for a seven-yard touchdown in the opening period, and Hayman kicked his first of five extra points.

In the second quarter, the Yellowjackets rolled to four touchdowns with All-State Halfback Pedro Swann returning a DeLaWarr kick for 90 yards; taking a pass from Tucker for a 60-yard score, and after Tucker's scoring interception, Swann enfolded another Tucker aerial for a 40-yard touchdown.

Near the end of the half, DeLaWarr got on the scoreboard with Wilson running four yards for a TD and converting with another run.

Leading 34-7 at the half, the Yellowjackets scored a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter with Swann running 15 yards into the Lion end zone, and Hayman taking Tucker's pass for a four-yard score.

Surf fishing after dark is tough enough, but Senior Citizen Carroll W. Mumford compounded difficulties with his very first night-time start on the beach by wearing prescription sunglasses. Things were dark enough for his two companions despite a half-moon and a full fire of driftwood, but Mr. Mumford may well have been blindfolded.

"It's mighty dark out here," the veteran University of Delaware poultryman said with real feeling. "Do you think we can find our way back to the car?" he added doubtfully but with hope burgeoning.

With veteran surfer Bill Durham, we had fished the beach at night on other occasions, and getting back to the car was the least of our worries. We were intent on adding something to the fish box with the rising tide, and migrating mullet multitudes that had appeared suddenly swarming in the surf with the last rays of the western sun, scattering in silvered sheets as larger fish harried them from below.

Carroll Mumford had two quick and big kingfish on the beach before either of his two fishing friends had a strike in the early afternoon, and the skillful spinning tackle surfer was being eyed thoughtfully beneath furrowed brows by a pair of conventional surf casters after a pair of back-to-back aces in the kingfish department.

One of the unreconstructed white water men hooked a good bluefish that he lost in the last of the wash, and Bill Durham had a solid strike that nearly tore the rod from his grasp, but we had no fish to show for either bit of action.

A stiff northeast wind shifted to due east, and neither direction added to the ease of casting, but we fished on with hope in the late September sun with the belief from past experience that bluefish and trout would show sometime during the day with migrating mullet in what is the most productive time of the year in the Delaware surf.

As we started in on a sandwich—Mrs. Libby Durham and Mrs. Lollie Mumford both had provided large lunches of gourmet quality in quantity—a long rod set in a sandspike suddenly whipped to the strike of a fish, and we tied into a bouncing blue of a half-pound that fought like a two-pounder of some slightly lesser species.

Throwing the blue into the ice box where it was dwarfed by the pair of Mumford two-pound kings, we took aboard a second mouthful of sandwich just in time to see the rod tip whip twice—and snatching the big Calcutta from the spike, set back on something swift, solid, and splashing far out over the blue water beyond the white break.

It was a good bluefish—a blue that looked as though it would go two-pounds, but probably went a

Loren Kline Hails Hen Foreign Aid For Soccer Team

Foreign aid is one of the main topics of discussion in the current political campaign, but it has a different meaning for Delaware Soccer Coach Loren Kline.

"I am in favor of foreign aid," Kline says. "At least, I am in favor of the type of foreign aid we have received this year."

The Blue Hen booters have players from Venezuela, Sweden and Turkey.

Kline could field a front line resembling the United Nations General Assembly. The line also could be an announcer's nightmare. Among the players are Daron Mircanovic of Turkey, Ralph Morillo-Soto of Venezuela and Henrik Kyhl of Sweden.

The outlook is encouraging for Kline's team this year. The addition of the three speedy imports strengthens what was already a strong roster.

We have potentially the strongest team we have had since I have been at Delaware," Kline says. "We have a sophomore-senior team and we hope that the seniors will maintain their aggressiveness and desire and the sophomores will gain experience in a hurry."

Kline, going into his sixth year as head coach of the Blue Hens, has 11 letters on the roster, including All-Middle Atlantic Conference returnees George Leddom and Roger Morley.

The Hens are led by Captains John Dusevicius and Neil Kerner. Kline, a former Penn State star, has had unprecedented success at Delaware with three straight winning seasons. His overall record is 26-31-6 in five years.

After 25 years with only one winning season, Kline has brought soccer back to respectability. Now he is aiming even higher.

When a pair of surfmen appeared with four spinning rods on the beach to the north, and began hauling fish as the afternoon, tide and wind waned, and multitudes of three to four-inch mullet suddenly showed moving south in the now calm water just beyond the breakers.

We caught a big sea robin and missed several bluefish strikes in still-fishing with strips of mullet or fatback, while the newcomers to the beach beached at least a half-dozen good bluefish. They may have caught more, but we tired a bit of watching their success, and concentrated on our own disappointing fishing.

When a solid sheet of silvered mullet took to the air to avoid some foe below, one of the northern pair of surfmen sprinted through the surf, and for a good, tough quarter-mile to his car beyond the dunes and returned with light, spin-casting tackle for flinging spoons and bucktails into all that sudden action—and he soon tied into a nice bluefish. But that was the only one, to the relief of one of the trio to the south, who was waiting for a second showing before laboriously shifting from bait to artificial rig.

With millions of mullet in the surf, this was no time to leave for the long haul back to Newark, so with the very last of daylight we did a bit of hard beachcombing for driftwood and built a red-gold fire on the sand for an after-dark stand and fished on from a Delaware beach now deserted by all but ourselves.

And it was at this point that Mr. Mumford was handicapped by his dark glasses.

We had one good strike out there in the black ocean, something surged away against the Calcutta pole

Sophs Klein, Merkel Face Top Receiver With Massachusetts Spread End Warnock

One of the most interesting matchups in this Saturday's Delaware-Massachusetts game at Delaware Stadium will have one of the top receivers in the East against a pair of sophomore defensive backs.

Ron Klein and Sonny Merkel, Delaware's starting cornerbacks, will take turns guarding Massachusetts Spread End Nick Warnock. Klein and Merkel are both sophomores, but they have received much of the credit for strengthening Delaware's leaky pass defense. A porous secondary cost the Blue Hens several games last year, but the team has four interceptions and has allowed only one touchdown in two games this season.

"We have been generally pleased with the play of Klein and Merkel," defensive backfield coach Mickey Heineken says. "They have both made sophomore mistakes, but they are alert and have added quickness to our secondary."

Klein, a 5-11 and 175-pounder, illustrated Heineken's remarks with his play against Villanova. The Hens sophomore fielded two kicks inside his own five-yard line to put the offense in a hole, but he also came up with an interception on a brilliant play that prevented a Villanova touchdown.

The interception was Klein's second of the year. He also pilfered a pass in the Hens' opening game victory over Hofstra.

Merkel, former All-State quarterback at Middletown High School, also came up with a pass interception inside his own five-yard line against Villanova.

"Massachusetts will throw the ball more than either Hofstra or Villanova," says assistant coach Jimmy Flynn, who scouted the Redmen in the win over Maine and their loss to Buffalo. "Our secondary will have its biggest challenge so far."

Warnock, a 6-2 and 200-pound senior with excellent speed, has been receiving double coverage, and has caught only three passes for 35 yards. He was an All-Yankee Conference first team selection last fall when he was the team's leading receiver and averaged 15 yards per catch.

Dick Kelley, a sophomore, is the team's leading receiver with five catches for 114 yards.

DiMuzio, a good runner, has been unable to find his receivers with any regularity. He has 16 completions in 41 attempts, but has thrown for 244 yards and two touchdowns.

Dick Kelley Leads In Pass Receiving As Hens Lose 16-0

"I was disappointed with our offense," Blue Hen Coach Tubby Raymond said after his team's 16-0 loss to Villanova last week. "Backs went the wrong way, we missed assignments and just generally played poorly on offense."

The defense is another story. The young Hens shut out Hofstra and held Villanova to 7-0 until midway through the fourth quarter. Three times the defense stiffened to stop Villanova inside the 10-yard line.

"Our defense played well at times," Raymond said, "but the offense put a great deal of pressure on the defense by its inability to move the ball."

Raymond and his aides are stressing offensive efficiency this week as they prepare for Saturday's Homecoming game with Massachusetts.

Delaware is playing with almost an entirely new backfield with Tom DiMuzio the only returnee. DiMuzio played halfback last year, but he is the team's quarterback this season. The other starters are all new faces—Jim Lazarski and Newkirk's All-State Dick Kelley at halfbacks, and Chuck Hall, fullback.

Hall, a hard-running sophomore, is the team's leading rusher after two games with 184 yards and a 7.4-yard average per carry.

Lazarski, a junior, is second in rushing with 89 yards.
