New School Building for Colored District

Ground Purchased on New London Avenue

Work to Start at Once

This week marks an important event in school affairs in Newark. Following the offer of Mr. Pierre S. du Pont, the School Auxiliary Association has purchased from H. Warner McNeal a lot of 5 acres on New London Avenue which will be the site for the new school building for colored children. The purchase price is understood to be $1800. The purchase was made following the inspection and approval of Dr. Odell of the Service Citizens and Mr. Taylor, engineer for the Auxiliary Association.

T. G. Bradford, representing the Auxiliary Association, is in Newark this week making immediate preparations for building operations. Trees and stumps are being cleared away and tool and storage house is being erected.

While the detailed prints of the building are not in the hands of the Board of Education, the general plan which has had official approval calls for a one story building of brick construction facing New London Avenue. It will contain four standard class rooms and one small class room. Under the rear of the building, there will be a basement for heating plant and fuel storage.

When completed, the building will accommodate 175 children. It will be unpretentious but according to modern standards, with lighting, ventilating and sanitary features given special attention.

The work of construction will begin in a short time but will not be completed for this school year. Beginning in September, 1922, the school facilities for the colored children of this section will be equal to the best of present day standards.

The entire cost of this plant, ground and buildings, will be borne by the School Auxiliary. No part of it comes from taxation.

Dr. Willoughby was constitutional advisor to the Chinese Government for several years. He has friends in Newark and will be remembered in University circles here as a lecturer at one of the Historical Series given several years ago.

It is interesting in this connection to note that Willoughby and Ex-President Wilson were classmates at Hopkins, both majoring in the subject of Political Science and History.

Playing Golf on New Grounds

Course Pleases Players

The Newark Country Club is a fact. There is not merely to be a golf course—there is a golf course and it was open for play on November 1. The exceptionally fine weather this fall has made this possible. Of course the greens will be in much better shape next spring. The fall seeding did well but cannot receive its heavy rolling until after the spring sprouting.

Everyday almost witnesses a game and Saturdays the course begins to look like real links. But every one is using great caution not to retard the development by much playing.

The Club has now over a hundred members of which 35 are women. There are also a few Wilmington members.

All who see the course are loud in praise of the prospects. There is a chance here for an ideal club belonging to Newark. Those interested in the community life of the town are urged to investigate the possibilities and are welcomed as participants of the advantages offered.

Change in Pennsylvania Schedule

The traveling public of Newark and vicinity will be glad to know that an announcement has been made to the effect that the No. 409 train leaving Philadelphia at 11 o'clock p. m., will make Newark a regular stop from this date on. Heretofore this train stopped only when duly notified in advance.

Recent Real Estate Sales

Newark Trust Effects Several Transfers

The building lot owned by Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity on College Avenue, adjoining the property of Mr. J. P. Wright, has been sold to Harry G. Bethardo, of Wilmington.

George R. Leak has just bought the lot on East Main Street at the intersection of Lincoln Highway, from William D. Dean.

An eighty acre farm from the estate of the late Caleb D. Baker on the road leading from Newark to Ogletown, near Park Mill, was sold this week to Finley B. Geesaman, of Newark.

Samuel J. Wright has bought another farm on Chestnut Hill from Ferdinand Keller, Jr., of Philadelphia. This farm adjoins Mr. Wright's property purchased some years ago from McMullen.

Governor and Mrs. Denney, Judge and Mrs. Watson Harrington of Dover, Dr. Bevan of the University, Professor and Mrs. Van Keuren were the guests of Dean Robinson and the Women's College at dinner last evening.

Reverend Herson to Return

Accepts Invitation of Church

There were twenty-four members present at the Third Quarterly Conference held in the Methodist Episcopal Church last evening, Tuesday, November 22nd. The reports from the Board of Trustees, the Board of Stewards, Junior Epworth League, the Sunday School Board and the Pastor were received and commented favorably. By a unanimous rising vote those present extended an invitation to Rev. Frank Herson to return to this church for the fifth year. The invitation was accepted by the pastor. Dr. Watts, District Superintendent, expressed his favor of Mr. Herson's return.

At this meeting it was decided to transfer the Wesley charge to Newark where it originally belonged. It has been a part of the Ebenezer charge for a few years.

LAUREL TO ENTERTAIN HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

Newark Will Be Represented at Conference

The second annual conference of Delaware High School Girls is to be held at Laurel over the week-end of December 2-4. The opening session will be held on Friday evening, and the closing will be the Sunday afternoon vesper service.

At the request of the girls at Laurel, this conference will be similar to the first one which was held last year in Dover. It is for the purpose of helping girls to see the interesting things there are for them to do when they are through High School, to see the value of having a purpose in life, and to learn something of the joy of sticking to a purpose, that these girls are invited to come together.

The girls of Laurel High School have graciously invited seventy-five girls from the other High Schools of the State to be entertained in their homes and in the homes of women who are friends of the girls.

Letters have been sent to the principals of all High Schools, inviting from two to five girls, according to the size of the school. The cards are to be sent to Miss Mary Stripling, one of the Laurel High School teachers, who has charge of the registration of delegates.

The program includes such speakers as Dr. Elizabeth Allison of the National Speakers Bureau of the Y. W. C. A., a professor of Economics at Bryn Mawr; Professor David A. Ward, Superintendent of Schools in Wilmington; Dean Winifred Robinson, of the Women's College; Mrs. Frederick M. Paist, President of the National Y. W. C. A.; Miss Esther M. Hawes, and Miss Joyce Gardiner of the East Central Field of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Gardiner will have charge of the recreation of the conference.

Miss Bernice Hastings of the Laurel faculty is chairman of the Music Committee, Miss Marie LeCates, the Entertainment Committee, and Miss Mildred Horsey, the Committee on Meetings. Miss Jean Bright, of the department of Home Economics, has charge of the banquet which her department will serve on Saturday evening. Miss Beulah Thompson, the Laurel senior who has been elected President of the Conference, will be toast-mistress.

Miss Mabel Krall, Field Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., under whose advice the conference is being planned, hopes that the conference will be of infinite value to the High School girls of the State, as well as to those in attendance.

Delegates from Newark have not yet been selected.

Improved Order of Red Men to Hold Open Meeting

The Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, Improved Order of Red Men will hold a smoker and open meeting at the Wigwam, Odd Fellow's Hall, Newark, on next Tuesday night, November 23rd. The purpose of this meeting is to explain to the pale face world, non-members, the reasons for being a member of the Improved Order of Red Men. It is the desire of the committee arranging for the smoker that as many members of the Tribe as possible will attend and bring one pale face with them. There will be interesting speeches by men who know Redmanship from A to Z who will entertain with good talks. All are urged to be present to help make this a gala night and a drive for new members.

Thanksgiving at the University

The third annual Thanksgiving dinner of the University of Delaware student body was held in Old College last evening. A joyous spirit of friendliness and faith in "Old Delaware" was, as on previous occasions, of a similar nature, the outstanding feature of the dinner. Alumni, trustees, faculty, friends, and students joined in giving thanks for what the University is, and in giving expression to what they hope it will become.

A roast turkey dinner prepared under the capable supervision of Miss Natalie Betts, Dietician, amply satisfied the "inner man" and left the diners in a facetious mood for the reception of the ancient jokes of the faculty.

After the dinner G. Gray Carter, President of the Student Body, welcomed the guests and in a few well-chosen expressions reviewed the history of the inception of the Thanksgiving dinners by Mr. H. Rodney Sharp and Business Administrator Wilkinson. Mr. Carter also read the following telegram which was forwarded to Mr. Sharp in care of Thomas A. Cook and Sons, at Calcutta, India:

"Thanksgiving greetings from the Student Body at their annual Thanksgiving dinner."

Dr. Walter Hüllihen briefly reviewed the progressive milestones passed by the college during the past year. He noted the increase in appropriations granted by the State Legislature, the executive junction of the two colleges under the name, University, the admission to the organization of the Accredited Colleges and Universities of the Middle Atlantic States, and, far more important than any of the others, the changed sentiment of faculty, students, and citizens toward their state university. This sentiment, he declared, augurs well for the future of the University.

Dr. Everett Hallman and Rev. Edgar Jones, two of the popular Newark clergymen, scored distinct hits in their remarks. Mr. A. G. Wilkinson and Dean McCue mixed their serious remarks with the latest faculty jokes.

Refreshments were served as soon as those present had entered the room backward, the napkins being the last thing passed. After that games were played and at the regular hour for the refreshments on such occasions a very unusual request was made, that each guest join in with the committee and help to clean up and to put the room in the order it was before arrangements were made for the affair.

Observations and Comments written for The Post

HUGHES' PRESENTATION OF AMERICA'S PROGRAM REMAINS "HIGH LIGHT"

Straight-from-Shoulder Proposals Dealing With Cold Facts Amazed All Nations

Although much business has intervened and all of the leaders of visiting delegations have been heard from, either formally or informally, the outstanding feature of the armament conference to date is the manner in which Secretary of State Hughes, head of the American delegation, presented America's plans for reduction of naval armament.

The conference was called by President Harding for the purpose of bringing about a reduction of armaments. The Republican administration, with Secretary Hughes as its spokesman, believes the way to reduce is to reduce. The world is tired of listening to beautiful theories to which everybody agrees but which nobody practices. Secretary Hughes brought the conference physically to its feet and the people of the world to attention by laying down a program for naval disarmament that was specific to the last detail, that was startling in its definiteness.

America Demands Action Now

The Secretary prefaced his cold, concrete, specific program by a few short blunt sentences which the conference and the world instantly recognized as the key note of the gathering and as embodying the American idea of what this conference should and must accomplish. These sentences were:

"We can no longer content ourselves with investigations, with statistics, with reports, with circumlocution of inquiry. The essential facts are sufficiently known. The time is come and this conference has been called, not for general resolutions or mutual advice, but for action. * * * There is only one adequate way out and that is to end it now."

"Action" and "now" were the two words which brought every delegate at the conference to instant realization that the American government wants results. These two words convinced the American people, if there were any need to reassure them, of the absolute sincerity of the Republican administration in its resolute determination to bring about a genuine reduction of armament that would start the world in the direction of universal peace. It served notice upon the foreign governments officially in attendance at the conference that they were dealing with a statecraft that ran true to the traditions of American diplomacy—a statecraft that deals in facts and not platitudes, that seeks to accomplish results rather than play to the galleries, that ruthlessly cuts through red tape and gets down to the business of the hour.

Startling as were Secretary Hughes' remarks above quoted, even more startling from the standpoint of the foreign governments was the concrete program which he laid down to back up his remarks. It is no violence to the truth to say that foreign powers expected a general proposal for a reduction of armament, which should be left to the several nations to work out in detail. In some instances this is what they hoped, because in working out the details there would be ample opportunity for "smooth work." Secretary Hughes' program jarred them out of this hope. He proposed reductions in naval armament by "naming herewith" the particular fighting vessels which each nation should put on the scrap heap.

No Loophole for Evasion

Secretary Hughes left no loopholes for any nation which wishes to evade a program of naval disarmament. Some hoped he would propose a reduction on a tonnage basis. This would have left the naval experts of each nation free to bamboozle the public. Some hoped he would propose a reduction along budgetary lines. This would have permitted any nation to juggle its naval appropriations or conceal them and thus evade any agreement reached by the conference. Secretary Hughes left nothing to be surmised. He closed the door on speculation. He called by name each vessel now afloat which each nation should sink, each vessel now under construction work upon which should be abandoned, and each vessel proposed for construction work upon which should never be initiated. To make doubly sure, he specified by name what particular vessels each nation should have afloat three months after the agreement of the conference to the American program, in event the conference should agree to it.—Ex

The Health of Mothers and Babies Becomes a Factor in the Administration of the Federal Government.

The Sheppard-Towner maternity bill has passed the House at Washington by a vote of 279 to 39. It had already passed the Senate and now goes to the President to be signed. This measure, which provides something over a million dollars a year for State aid in the protection of mothers and children was promised to the women of the country in the platform of both political parties last fall, and was one of the bills specially asked for by President Harding.

The women are happy, who have worked hard to have this country seriously reckon with the needless sacrifice of life of both mother and child which reaches such appallingly high figures every year. The bill is not exactly what the women wanted; it does not appropriate anything like enough money—only a fraction of the amount voted to many less important things. It is a beginning, however, and is a recognition of the claim of the child upon the country of his birth, for the hygienic conditions and care which will assure him, and her who gave him birth, reasonable chances of living.

The bill provides for co-operation between the Federal government and states in the protection of maternity and infancy. Administration of its provisions would be by the Federal Children's Bureau, with an advisory board consisting of the chief of the Children's Bureau, the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service and the United States Commissioner of Education.

It provides that $10,000 of Federal funds shall be turned over to each state before next July, and that annually thereafter for five years $1,240,000 shall be available. The Federal government would contribute outright $5,000 each year, after next July 1, to each state and an additional $5,000 provided the state contributes a like amount. The balance of the annual fund would be distributed among the states according to proportioning of a sufficient portion of to match the contribution of the Federal government.

Delaware women who drafted the State Child Welfare bill which became a law at the last session of the legislature, anticipated the passage of the Sheppard-Towner bill and provided in the Delaware bill for the appropriating of a sufficient portion of the annual budget to meet the Federal requirement. Delaware can therefore receive her share of the government funds as soon as it is available.

Legal Name for the Capital Fixed

President Harding has recently issued an Executive Order which gives the Capital an official legal designation. This is "the City of Washington." These words are to be used in every legal instrument executed in Washington, requiring any reference to the city. Up to this time proclamations and similar legal instruments have made reference variously to "the District of Columbia," "the City of Washington," or simply "Washington." The Thanksgiving proclamation recently issued by President Harding bore the form "done in the Capital of the United States."

America Feeding 400,000 Russian Children

Colonel William N. Haskell, chief of the American Relief Administration in Russia, reports that 400,000 Russian children are being regularly fed with American food. Two thousand kitchens in ten provinces are now being operated and a sufficient number of new feeding stations will be opened between now and January 1 to care for 1,000,000 children.

Much difficulty has been encountered in establishing the kitchens and keeping up the supply of food, because of the very bad condition of the Russian railways, and the governmental inefficiency and red tape of the Soviet rule. Plans of the American Relief Administration are being still further developed, and Col. Haskell hopes eventually to reach 2,000,000 children through his organization.

The Number of Jobless Decreasing

Studies of industrial conditions made during the past month show an increase of employment in almost all sections of the country. Except for seasonal occupations which are beginning or ending in some special districts, this increase is traced not only to the activity of employment agencies and work created as the result of employment propaganda, but to a very real improvement in business conditions.

Business increases are noted in the iron and steel products industry, in textile manufacturing, lumber and its manufacture, leather and its finished products, chemicals, stone, clay, glass and all metal products, also papermaking and printing.

Conditions in the New England district, including Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, have shown a decided improvement, especially in textiles, with wool nearly normal; in the Middle Atlantic district, including New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, indications are toward a slow but sure improvement.

Employment conditions and industrial activities are showing continued improvement in the South Atlantic district, including Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Of industrial centers, the greatest improvement has been shown in Youngstown, Ohio, where in one month 5,354 additional workers were given employment. Pittsburgh and several other Pennsylvania cities have added a number of thousands to their working forces.

Fruits of Liberty

Every Delawarean takes pride in honoring the memory of Caesar Rodney. The proposed statue in Wilmington is a fitting recognition of his service to his state and his country in the trying days of 1776.

A sick man, he rode from Lewes to Philadelphia and his presence stimulated the assembly to declare the independence of the colonies. The Bell on Independence Hall proclaimed the news a short time later.

Delaware played her part in the birth of Liberty. With the new Liberty there came progress, with progress came industry and with industry came the need of communication facilities. The railways, good roads, electric cars and the telegraph are all fruits of liberty, but the telephone is the most universal.

We of the Diamond State are sparing no effort to render a telephone service which will merit your confidence and co-operation. That's our ambition and our ideal. To aim at any lower mark would not be fulfilling our obligation to you.

COMMUNITY MEETING

The Community Meeting held last Friday evening at the Fridens Meeting House was attended by a number of people. The business taken up was concerning new lights to be put up at the Friends Meeting House and a new bulletin board which will be ready in a short time. The lighting system for this board was also discussed. The matter of curbing was settled and it will be placed in the early spring.

Several communications were read and new committees appointed. Miss Grau Ellison and Earl Dickey each gave a selection. The quartet sang a number of very pretty songs. A pie guessing contest aroused much interest and no one guessed of what the pie was made. It was a mock cherry pie composed of raisins and cranberries and was quite successful in fooling the public.

The rest of the evening was spent playing games after which refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served.

REVIVAL SERVICES

The revival services conducted by the Rev. Vaughn Moore at the Methodist Episcopal Church are drawing large crowds. These services are being held for two weeks. An invitation is extended to everybody and it is hoped a lot more will be present.

Parsons Meet in Cecilton

The regular weekly meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Ministers of Wilmington and vicinity was not held in the usual way on Monday. Instead of meeting in Wilmington, they motored to Cecilton, Md., and opened a new Community House in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church there. The Ladies' Aid Society of that town served an abundant dinner to all present. All the ministers near Cecilton were invited to be present.

English at Columbia; George C. D. Odell, Professor of English; Harrison L. Steeves, Associate Professor of English. The contest will be open to boys in schools having alumni or former students in Columbia College during the academic year.

Delaware Affiliates With National Vocation Society

An organization of all teachers engaged in teaching Vocational Agriculture, Home Economics, and Trades and Industries in the State of Delaware under the Federal Vocational Act, was perfected at Dover during the sessions of the Delaware State Teachers' Association.

This Association will constitute a unit of the Delaware State Teachers' Association and will be officially known as the "Delaware Branch of the National Society for Vocational Education," which will hold its meetings in Kansas City, January 5, 6, and 7, 1922.

Delaware is the fifth state that has affiliated with the National Society thus far—Pennsylvania, New York, Oklahoma, and Kansas having taken similar action a short while ago.

Dad Will Welcome
His College Girl

November 21, 1921.

Dearest Dad:

This afternoon another hockey game was fought and lost, by the Seniors to the Sophomores. Score, 6-0. The Sophomores seem to have the team this year. Last week they won over the Freshmen 6-1, and over the Juniors 2-1. The Juniors played the Seniors and beat them 3-2. Ruth Hayman and Mabel Bromley are about the fastest players in the college, both of them are "24ers." But the cutest of all is Dorothy Wong, our Freshman from Shanghai, China. She is little and runs in and out among the players never missing the ball when it is in her territory, but the most noticeable thing about her playing is the way she smiles whenever she hits the ball, always so pleased.

We were proud of our little college this past week for we were able to send our Student President to two important conferences of the bigger institutions of learning. Marion Hatfield was in Chicago the first part of the week representing the Women's College at the Student Armament Conference. She came home Wednesday night, but went right away again, to Boston this time. Although we aren't large enough yet to have a delegate at the Intercollegiate Student Self-Government Association Conference, Marion went as an invited guest. It is good for our souls to have such a person at such a gathering, for she has come back most enthusiastic and plumb full of ideas for her Alma Mater.

You remember I told you of the party the girls in Boletus had one Friday night for everybody in the house, and what a good time we had? Sunday afternoon Miss Kelly and Miss Calef, two "faculty," had tea for all the girls of the "home." Miss Calef was "the hit of the afternoon" with her reading. She and Miss Kelly made lovely hostesses and such entertaining ones, in fact, that no one thought of leaving till the dinner bell rang at five o'clock.

The mention of dinner reminds me to tell you of the plans for Tuesday night. This old place fairly reeks with excitement and the odors of roasting turkey. We are all going to wear our best frock for this is to be a formal Thanksgiving dinner. All the classes have special songs and cheers, and as a whole we have very special guests. Judge Watson Harrington and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ridgely, and the Governor and the First Lady of the State will be here. As Doctor Bevan said when accepting an invitation to dine with the Dramatic Board, "I hear the mass is going to the Men's College, but the class is coming here."

Did you see the score for Saturday's game with P. M. C.? 6-0. We all went up to Wilmington where it was played, and half the city, I'm sure, came out to help us cheer. The College had as their guests for the week-end the Seniors of the Laurel and Seaford High Schools. By the way Laurel has more girls in school here than any other little town. They all went over to the game in a bus; and at night went to the lecture at Wolf Hall. Dr. Dittmar of the New York Zoological Gardens was fine. I wish we could have our Artist Series more often, they are so good. But then I fear we wouldn't appreciate them were they a weekly occurrence.

Thanksgiving vacation begins Wednesday at noon, and lasts till Monday noon. Isn't that great? Look for me Wednesday on the 10.50.

Yours with love,

ROSEMARY.

DANGER--PLAYHOUSE

Carle Carlton, producer of "Irene" and "Tangerine" has selected the Playhouse in Wilmington for the place and Thanksgiving Day, as the time, for the premiere presentation of Cosmo Hamilton's most daring sex play, "Danger," in which he will offer H. B. Warner as the star. The cast supporting Mr. Warner is one of distinction and includes Marie Goff, Kathlene MacDonell, Faire Binney, Gilda Leary, Leslie Howard, Conway Wingfield and many others. The premiere in Wilmington will be under the personal direction of Mr. Carlton and the author.

Cosmo Hamilton is recognized as one of America's most prolific authors and the man who has written a dozen best sellers and many plays which attained phenomenal success. As a leading playwright who invariably tackles a subject of wide topical interest, such as the unruly flapper in "Scandal," the incompatible wife in "The Silver Fox," and the teaching of sex truths in "The Blindness of Virtue," great interest and curiosity has been aroused by the bare announcement of his new play as to the theme of which no hint has been given and close secrecy maintained. Asked for something that could be given to the Wilmington audiences who will be the first to judge the merits of "Danger," Cosmo Hamilton made the following statement:

"The play is called 'Danger,' for a very good reason. It deals, without the smallest camouflage, with the amazing chances that a man takes when he marries a woman, of whom, fascinated by her beauty, he knows absolutely nothing as to character and habits. It shows, without mincing words, what may happen in these days of individualism and the general inattention to moral codes that has followed in the wake of the war, to a high minded and strictly honest man who hands over his life and reputation to one of the increasing band of women who call themselves 'modernists' and have no sympathy with the old-fashioned sex relation. It puts this man into the position, frequently met with today, of being unable to procure a divorce from a wife who has locked her door upon him and married him under false pretenses, and from whom he can only obtain his freedom by annulment of marriage with all its hideous publicity and humiliation. It is as you can see, a difficult and delicate matter to deal with as well as one which tackles a new angle of the everlasting marriage problem. I have gone straight for it, fearlessly, because I believe that present day audiences desire that the questions of social life as they see them shall be dealt with by dramatists in this way, to the best of their ability. The play is altogether devoid of anything in the nature of propaganda and has what trust may prove to be, a dramatic and interesting story of present day people in a present day problem."

"Danger" will be presented at the Playhouse in Wilmington for three nights and a Saturday matinee, besides its premiere performance which will occur on Thanksgiving Day afternoon.

OUR THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving is not a day but an attitude of mind. It is not the Anniversary of an event but a recognition of events. It has become an American Institution, born not out of prosperity but suffering. Our Pilgrim Fathers on the storm-swept coasts of New England facing the stress of colonial winter, Abraham Lincoln bowed by national strain, America in 1918 with hearts across the sea, giving blood that right should prevail—these are our great Thanksgiving Days. Man with tried hearts bowed in sadness, seems always to render most devout Thanks to the Guiding Hand of Destiny. But Opportunity equals Sacrifice and challenge of appreciation too. Privileges to serve tomorrow merit our praise equally with Blessings received on Yester Day. So today, this year in a World History, when Statesmen's creed approaches the Poet's Dream, when Governments listen to a Mother's Prayer—determine us with Thanksgiving to say—

Merciful Destiny for Thy privileges rendered, Kind Nature for Thy blessings bestowed, Friendly Guide and Gracious God for Thy Keeping, we, on this day, offer our feeble but sincere thanks to Thee. For the peace of our State and Nation, for the abundant plenty of our harvests, give us this day, to have full appreciation. For the advance in Science, the beauty of Art, the power of the written and spoken Word, make us to realize the fullness of the meaning thereof. For Thy support of the Strong and the succor of the Weak, we bow in grateful submission.

Thou has walked with the Man behind the Plow in the lengthening furrow of the field and followed the Miner's lantern in the depths of the mine. Thou has given to us to fill the world's granaries and clothe the nations of the earth. With the sailor in the watch tower and with the Master of our Ship of State, Thy guidance has kept us in Peace with the world's people. In the Forum, Thou hast now given to us the leadership in civilization's Masterpiece—Conference for Disarmament. For these and this, we thank Thee and now pray to give us the master thought and national strength to execute this Ideal of Calvary's Dream.

With the opportunity of History before us, make our emblem of Liberty be for Truth, indeed. When Right and Passion are clashing with Wrong and Reason, make us to give to the World a new meaning for America. By serving humanity give to us the leadership in the World's peace. Make us to teach that Truth need not be drenched in blood to be pure. And that the Brotherhood of Man is NOT a student's dream. Holding the balance of battle in Thy Almighty Hand give us to see the wisdom of honesty among men and nations. For America, for the world and for men, thus we pray.

Red Cross and Newark

A community is judged by various standards—by its business activities, by its social and intellectual life, by its civic pride. Some there are that size up the town by its schools, others by its factories and still others by its churches. These are all well and do enter in the record of standards of the American town. But there is another point, and important too, that must not be overlooked. That is the charity of mind and the power of giving. Just now the Red Cross is presented to us. It is work that no one challenges. There is no difference of opinion relative to its need and worth. It appeals not only to our sympathies but to our common sense. No other call has the color of the dramatic, yet it is the one undisputed businesslike organization in the world. Red Cross is Kindness, Charity, Service, operated on a business basis.

Newark is called upon to play her proportionate part. She is asked for no more and we should hold ourselves to do no less than that part. There is no honor or glory in performing our duty but there is a reflection in failure. In the glamor and dramatic days of the past few years, we gave our proportionate share—and more. Let us not, in these hard sordid days of reconstruction allow our sensibilities to become dulled to this Call of the Red Cross which has its inspiration back in Bethlehem 2000 years ago. Aside from our own feeling of regret—if we fail—our community will be judged by our power and will to give. Let us remember that with all our obligations, membership in the Red Cross is a qualification for the best type of American citizenship. Thanksgiving is best enjoyed by Thanks - Giving.

Be a Sport

The man who goes out and shoots more than the legal bag of rabbits is no sportsman but he is a violator of the law. To kill more than agreed by law makes the man a butcher and to brag about it proves him a fool. "Play Fair" is the true hunter's creed and observing the law is just plain good citizenship. Some of our Gunmen who like to be known as Sportsmen are boasting of 8 to 10 bag of rabbits a day. This, in addition to being contrary to law, is poor sport. A local hunter said the other day, "I hate to report the offense but I hate, too, to see all sense of fair play and decency violated."

So you men with a gun—leave a few for the Thanksgiving ramble through the brush by other sportsman.

True to Form

Old Delaware is running true to form and tradition. Out of defeat, criticism, sarcasm and almost annihilation early in the season, the old Goli and Blue Team came out ahead. Saturday's game was of good omen as well as victory. P. M. C., heavier to a man, got a nice defeat and will act as incentive for next year's team. We know nothing of the troubles early in the season but whoever is responsible deserves recognition. They did a good job. Out of the mess came determination and support—and good sportsmanship. Trainers, players, students and alumni have done a good job. Never knew it to fail—Delaware always finds herself in an emergency.

The Game in Wilmington
The Saturday's game in Wilmington was good business. The institution received a recognition and appreciation that could not be secured in any other way. The parade and crowd—all were fine. The students and the University officials should not forget to express appreciation to the city papers for the attention and display given the game. Without their comment and advance notices the story of the crowd would be different. Editors and reporters went the limit and furnished the crowd—and the team made good. Both should be recognized.

Ford and History

A cynic once defined history as a "bunch of lies agreed upon." Now comes Henry Ford, self-appointed authority at large and wisdom extraordinary, saying that "History is bunk" and that the fact that Greeks flew kites means nothing to him—nor to Lizzie Ford. We are not so sure of that. That Newton discovered the law of gravitation while asleep under a sour apple tree, and Stephenson saw the tea kettle boil over and never moved but kept on thinking, that Edison discovered a few things about electricity and that a European King developed a Rubber Industry as well as a Colonial policy is partly responsible for the Ford today. The little car that bears his name is a four wheeled imitation of the Chariot of Fire of ancient days.

Civilization is a story of transportation and that story is called History. Mr. Ford will have his place in the story of today. He will appear as a Big Business man, as an intellectual curio and as America's greatest advertiser.

John Brown on the day of his execution said he was "worth infinitely more to hang than for any other purpose" and went gloriously to his death. Ford is a good Benzine artist and should be content—and let the past alone.

Ford comments are bunk but they do not constitute all of History—ask Dodge Bros.

Genuine Common Sense

Many Ford owners can afford to own and operate any car they may choose, but they prefer a Ford "because it is a Ford."

For "because it is a Ford" means dependability, ease of operation, efficiency—and it means sure, quick transportation.

And "because it is a Ford" means good taste, pride of ownership and genuine Common Sense.

The Ford Sedan, a closed car of distinction, beauty and convenience, is the ideal all year 'round car, for pleasure or business—for the farm, town or city. It gives you all that any car can give at a much lower cost for operation and maintenance.

Ford Cars of all types are in great demand, so place your order at once if you wish to avoid delay in delivery.

For the best 20 ears of corn from the State—Silver Medal.

Western States Lead in School Attendance, But Delaware Comes in on "High"

In connection with the data recently published showing the Western states had a smaller percentage of illiteracy than any section of the United States, the Bureau of Census issues a report regarding school attendance. The report shows that six Western states lead in the percentage of school attendance. These states are Utah, which has the highest percentage of school attendance of any state in the Union, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana, Idaho and Oregon. This is on the basis of the school population between the ages of five and 20. For the school age group of seven to 13, Massachusetts leads, with a percentage in attendance of over 96. Several other states having a percentage of over 95 are—Rhode Island, Ohio, Iowa, Delaware, Idaho and Utah.

VOCATIONAL FARMING FOR NEGROES

Special attention has been given to the study of the educational conditions among negroes, as a result of a co-operative agreement between the states relation service of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Federal Board of Vocational Education. It has been realized that the negro teachers are in need of all the assistance possible.

Two courses of study, one in plant production and the other in animal production were prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture, following investigations into the problems, conditions and facilities of the negro schools. A specialist in agricultural instruction was first detailed to visit the school where agriculture was taught. The methods and practices used by the teachers were observed and available facilities noted. The crops and animals grown in the various states were considered. In the plan of the lessons, seasonal sequence was followed, and no lessons which were not adapted to southern conditions were included.

Further work in connection with these courses of study was done through conference held at both Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes. A large number of the leading negro agricultural teachers of the South attended. Instruction in the practical application of the two courses was given to the teachers, who are now using them extensively.

The states relations service also furnishes other publications, classified lists of material useful to teachers of agriculture, and lantern slides, as requests came in for help in the negro schools.—National Republican.

Your way, not My way,
in building a home

Express Your Own Ideas

Have you ever had an idea that you wanted built into a room or a house—something individual, a sort of a part of yourself ---and have the contractor or carpenter say, "It can't be done," "why that's a foolish notion," "what do you want it that way for" or "why don't you do it this way?"

Have you ever had that experience and realized how it took the pleasure out of the whole thing?

In building a house, this is serious. A home, at its best, is expressive of the owner, not of the contractor.

Realizing that, I have always tried to catch the idea of the man who was employing me and do the job HIS way, not MY way.

The result is a satisfied customer, and often a new idea that appeals to all who see it.

Let us talk over your building plans.

PRINCETON TO BUILD A $1,000,000 CHAPEL

Small Cathedral of 14th Century Design Will Replace Burned Chapel

In the center of Princeton campus a new chapel is to be built replacing the one burned two years ago. It will be one of the largest buildings of its kind devoted to the use of a college, and is expected to cost more than $1,000,000.

The exterior design will be based on the architectural masterpieces of the 14th century in England.

"The nave of the Princeton chapel has a width between columns of 40 feet and a total width of 58 feet. Its interior length from wall to wall is 270 feet," says the announcement. "Its height from the pavement to the crown of the vault is 76 feet. This is just about the width and height of King's College chapel, Cambridge, while the length is only about 20 feet less."

"While the chapel itself extends in unbroken length and unchanged width from end to end, the easterly third is set off from the main body by an open screen, the intention being that this easterly third, or day chapel should be used for the daily services, seating normally 170 persons in stalls arranged choir fashion."

"This seating capacity could be doubled, should the necessity arise, by the placing of chairs in the wide open area between the two files of stalls. This day chapel would have its own pulpit and a comparatively small number of students assembled here would not have the effect of being lost, as would the same number distributed casually throughout the entire chapel. On those occasions when the whole faculty and student body would be present, the faculty would occupy the rear row of stalls, which surround the choir on three sides, while the other seats would be used by the choristers, and possibly by the members of the senior class. The great body of students would occupy the main portion or nave."

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of Bessie Owen Buckingham, of Newark, Del., who passed to her heavenly home on October 16, 1921. She was the daughter of Alice J. and the late Harry P. Owen, of Toughkenamon. She is survived by her husband, R. Gilpin Buckingham, and two daughters, Breta, a graduate of Delaware College, and Elva, who is attending school.

She was active in church and philanthropic work, occupying a position of trust and esteem; holding always the affection of her friends and the admiration of her people.

In the first shock of bereavement the outlook to those nearest and dearest to her seemed irremediably darkened, but it mercifully dawned upon us that our dear one has entered upon a plane of rest from life's cares, and a surcease from suffering—to a springtime on higher planes from which we shall constantly feel she awaits our coming. How carefully now we gather up the golden links of memory of this dear one and weave the chain that binds our hearts to other times when she was one of our midst. Days and nights of great suffering were hers yet gentle patience, and wonderful fortitude through it all proved a strong Christian faith. Our friend quietly slipped away in Death's galley during the dark hours of the night with the invisible rowers of God at the oars, to awaken in the morning in a haven of rest and peace, free from earth's sufferings, there to await the coming of those whom she loved in "the land of the dead," the home of the soul. "I cannot say, and I will not say. That she is dead; she is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, She has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming. How very fair It needs must be since she lingers there."

Business Diplomacy

"Josh eats with his knife and drinks his coffee out of the saucer," said Mrs. Cornstassel.

"I told him to," replied her husband. "Summer boarders are complainin' about the prices we charge. The family has got to do something to keep up the impression that we're simple, unsophisticated country folks."—Washington Star.

Careful Father

Young Harold was late for Sunday school and the minister inquired the cause.

"I was going fishing, but father wouldn't let me," announced the lad.

"That's the right kind of a father to have," replied the reverend gentleman. "Did he explain the reason why he would not let you go?"

"Yes, sir. He said there wasn't bait enough for two."—Open Road.

PINE RUST IN PENNSYLVANIA

Blister is Found on Currant and Gooseberry Bushes

For the first time since the white pine blister rust has been discovered in America, infections on currant and gooseberry bushes were found this Fall in Pennsylvania. The original discovery was made by a United States Department of Agriculture blister rust investigator in Wayne county. The significance of this discovery lies in the fact that white pine blister rust is spread from pine to pine only through the medium of currant or gooseberry bushes. While some blister rust has been found on planted pines in Pennsylvania, they were brought in from Europe in a diseased condition. These infected trees were destroyed before currant and gooseberry leaves became diseased, thus eliminating the danger of the blister attacking healthy pines.

Extensive work has been done in New England and Northern New York in the last Summer to organize movements for the eradication of the death-dealing bushes within 300 yards of white pine trees and stands. Such work protects the trees from the disease for a period of years, but both wild and cultivated currant and gooseberry bushes must be destroyed within the 300-yard zone. Owners of the fine stands of white pine often have been reluctant to believe danger exists through the proximity of the bushes, but, once demonstration has been made, they become active in rooting out the offending shrubs. Infestations as high as 46 per cent of the pines have been found on some properties in New York and New England.

White pine is well recognized as one of the most profitable crops that can be grown on the poorer soils of the Northeastern States.

Speaking to Millions

Little wonderment is expressed over the fact that President Harding's speech at Arlington was heard simultaneously in his own tones by multitudes in many distant cities. His voice was transmitted by wire by a device that has been lately perfected to all points of the compass and reproduced through amplifiers with clearness and in perfect harmony of individual tone. Yet this achievement was not a cause of astonishment. The thousands who gathered in San Francisco and heard the President's words in his own voice were not amazed. The people have grown accustomed to these marvels. On the 4th of March last, when Mr. Harding took the oath of office at the Capitol, his speech was transmitted in the same way. Here in Washington it was heard over a wide area, people standing on the Library steps catching every syllable.

Considering the great power of the spoken word, this new development of science opens a wide possibility for influential speech. It is possible by mere amplification of the system of wires and reproducing devices for any person at any point in this country to reach practically every man, woman and child in the United States with his direct speech. If the people could be gathered into groups in cities and towns, every one of the 110,000,000 could be thus addressed.

From time to time the President issues proclamations. It is now physically possible for him virtually to proclaim in person directly to the ears of the people. This device is a new creation. Its development is certain to follow. It is conceivable that in every city there will be amplifying stations, perhaps several in each, where the people can gather and from time to time hear the voice of the chief executive. — Washington Star.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

"To rise above the crowd, crowd your days and hours with study, observation, effort and resolution."

"A well-formed life is of more moment than the best-formed statue ever chiseled."

"Success won by injuring others isn't success: it's sin."

"Ambition is like electricity: useful when properly controlled, dangerous when uncontrolled."

"When everything—everything—everything goes against you and you feel discouraged to the point of despair—try getting off alone and gazing into the heavens in perfect quietness and solitude. See if your troubles do not diminish at least a little."

Football Season Closes

With a well-earned victory over their rivals, P. M. C., of Chester, by the score of 6 to 0, University of Delaware on Saturday closed a successful football season. The final game of the season, the annual contest with the cadets from Chester, was transferred to Wilmington because of a demand of hundreds of graduates and friends of the University to have the game played in that city. That football is more popular than ever was indicated from the fact that Harlan Field was overcrowded.

Out of nine games played Delaware won five and lost four. The team was slow to get started on its winning gait but after dropping the first three games to Penn, Muhlenburg and Johns Hopkins, Delaware then won from New York "Arggies," Haverford, Washington College and Western Maryland; lost to Lafayette and ended the season with the victory over P. M. C.

Harry Jackson, the Freshman from Dover, continued his brilliant playing throughout the season and was a tower of strength to the team.

While the basketball schedule does not start until after the Christmas holidays, Coach Shipley is working daily with a squad of about fifty candidates for the cage game to have a team in shape for the opening of the season.

Delaware Finances

Trust companies in Delaware report total resources for the year ending June 30, 1921, of $44,381,905, as against $27,447,974 five years ago, according to "Trust Companies of the United States," just issued by the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, New York. This volume, now in its nineteenth annual edition, shows aggregate resources of the Trust Companies at the close of business June 30, 1921, of $12,323,430,513 as against $12,451,877,583 last year and 2390 companies reporting, as compared with 2241 last year.

In commenting on Trust Company conditions during the past year, John W. Platten, President of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company says:

"No stronger evidence of the stability of Trust Companies has been forthcoming during their entire history than was demonstrated during the past year in connection with their banking operations. The year ending June 30, 1921, covered by the latest returns as given in the 1921 edition of 'Trust Companies of the United States,' was one of tremendous recession of prices and values attended by reduction of bank loans, contraction of credit and rapid falling off of deposits.

"Notwithstanding these adverse conditions, the resources of the Trust Companies of the United States, as of June 30, 1921, amounted to $12,323,430,000 for the 2390 companies reporting, a decrease for the year of only $128,000,000.

"This situation, coupled with the fact that a substantial increase is shown in all branches of fiduciary business, is extremely gratifying, and affords further and convincing proof of the recognition by both corporations and individuals of the value of Trust Company service."

It is estimated that the World War cost more money than all the other wars of the world's history put together. If it is the last war it was worth the money.—Chicago Daily News.

The Women's Club of Calvert had a very interesting meeting in the club room at the Calvert High School on Wednesday afternoon, November 16th. The subject for this meeting was "Inexpensive Christmas Gifts." After a very interesting business meeting which consisted of planning for a Community booth at the Fair next year, selections of delegates for the December meeting of the Community Council and discussion of plans for visiting the school, each member gave one or more very practical suggestions for making Christmas gifts. Miss Hodgson brought several gifts and told how they could be made very inexpensively. The club adjourned to meet again Friday afternoon, December 16th.

APPLETON WOMEN'S CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Appleton Women's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Garrett on Wednesday evening, November 16th. ## Even Moses Failed

"Some of the laws you have helped to frame have not been rigidly observed."

"I'm not complaining," replied

Senator Sorghum. "Even Moses could not insure a strict enforcement of so simple and explicit a set of rules as the Ten Commandments."—Washington Star.

WE read somewhere the other day that the American people are carrying around in their pockets about five times as much currency, per person, as they did five years ago. Of course they don't deliberately intend to tie up the nation's circulating medium, but it would be more thoughtful of them if they would carry less and bank the rest. Then their money would be performing useful service. Ever think of it that way? Enough $$$ in your pocket now for a deposit?
