Annual Homecoming Day Marked By Dedication of New Buildings and Laying of Cornerstone By W. W. Grier

Highlighting the annual Homecoming Day last Saturday, which saw the University of Delaware football team triumph over Dickinson, 28-0, was the laying of the cornerstones of the new dormitory and the maintenance center, both gifts of Mr. H. Fletcher Brown, a member of the board of trustees.

Opening the ceremony, members of the faculty, guests of the University and members of the Delaware College Student Council marched from Purnell Hall to the north end of the new dormitory, where the Reverend Oler A. Bartley of the Newark Methodist Church gave the invocation. The cornerstone of the Maintenance Center had been laid by Mr. Charles E. Grubb at eleven o'clock; he gave the following talk:

"In a world torn by strife, it is a glorious privilege we enjoy today to lay a cornerstone in this free land. While wholesale destruction of life, culture, and property is taking place on a scale without precedent in lands across the seas, it is significant that so far we are still engaged in building. Here at the University of Delaware, we are building facilities which will contribute to one of the surest foundations of our sons and daughters, future citizens of the United States of America.

"At the University of Delaware, during the short space of the last five years, there have been built and equipped the Chemical Laboratory, University Hall, and extensive additions to the Memorial Library. Now we are engaged in the construction of a new Men's Dormitory, and of the new Maintenance Center for which the cornerstone is to be laid at this time.

"All of these fine additions to the operating plant of the University have been made possible through the generosity of an eminent citizen of the State of Delaware and loyal Trustee and friend of the University, Mr. H. Fletcher Brown.

"The new buildings and equipment added during the last five years and including those now under construction represent an investment of $1,489,200.02, an increase of thirty-seven (37) per cent in the total investment of the University in plant and equipment between the years, 1936 and 1941. The grand total for plant and equipment is $5,477,000.00.

"The necessity of our new Maintenance Center is thus obvious. Economy and increased efficiency will result from the grouping together here at this centrally located site of the boiler house and the service building, which will house all departments of the University engaged in plant and equipment upkeep.

"I take pride in participating in the laying of this cornerstone, and in directing our attention for a moment away from the purely academic activities of the campus and upon the important part played by the Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, the skilled workmen, and their helpers who make up the maintenance staff. These men work mostly behind the scenes; they do not share the glory and glamour of the classroom or laboratory, but work quietly, loyally, and painstakingly with regularity and exact timing. Their contribution is essential and vital to the success of the entire educational program.

"In closing, I ask all who are present to join me first, in honoring the University workmen and the

Debating Society Forms First Plans

The Debating Society will hold its first meeting of the season next Thursday afternoon, October 30, in room 220, University Hall, with President Bernard Ableman presiding. Some thirty Freshmen have signified their eagerness and willingness to join, and the society is looking forward to a big season.

The first debate with Swarthmore is to be broadcast over WILM on the 8th of November. The topic chosen for this initial encounter is: Resolved: that the United States should immediately declare war on the Axis powers. Delaware, represented by Bernard Ableman and Lloyd Jones will uphold the affirmative viewpoint. The time of the debate will be published in next week's issue of THE REVIEW and the Society extends a most cordial invitation to all to listen in the debate.

The Society furthermore wishes to invite all those interested to attend the meeting next Thursday, whether they have signed up or not. Don't forget the time and place, Thursday, October 30, at 4:10 P.M., in room 220, University Hall.

project donor, and lastly, in paying homage to the United States of America whose free institutions we shall always cherish and protect."

After the presentation by the architect of the plans of the new dormitory to President Hullahen, Dr. Hullahen cited the need for such a building and expressed the thanks of the university to Mr. Brown for his gift. Mr. John G. Leach, president of the Alumni Association then gave a short talk in which he expressed the appreciation of the Alumni Association for the new building.

Warren Grier, president of the Student Council, who was in charge of the actual laying of the cornerstone, gave the following speech: "Members of the faculty, honored guests, and fellow students, today I am extremely gratified at having the privilege of laying the cornerstone for this new building as a representative of the men of Delaware College.

"For a long time, all of us have recognized the tremendous need for additional dormitory facilities for men students here at the University of Delaware. Few of us have the means to provide such a building as this, and even a much smaller number are willing to do so. It is, therefore, not only proper, but imperative that we pause momentarily in these exercises to thank a man whose unlimited generosity to institutions of learning has been invaluable in the development of the university, and in the promotion of education through the entire state. He is, of course, our friend in need, our friend indeed, Mr. H. Fletcher Brown."

Grier then read a list of articles which went into the cornerstone and pronounced it "well and truly laid" after the short ceremony.

Second highlight of the day was the dedication by President Hullahen of the Delaware-Dickinson game to the graduates of the university serving in the armed forces of the nation, and especially to the memory of Major John E. Mortimer, class of 1924, who died while on maneuvers last year. Broadcast over WDEL, Dr. Hullahen's speech was one of praise for the sacrifices Delaware men were making to aid their country in its time of need. Alumni in uniform under the leadership of General Paul Rindard marched across Frazer Field in formation led by the University band.

Emminent Chemical Engineers To Be Guests At Delaware Student Chapter Dinner

Dr. Melvin C. Molstad, professor of chemical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania, will be the main speaker at the first semi-annual banquet of the Delaware Student Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers on Monday evening in Old College. Dr. Molstad will speak on "The Professional Development of the Young Chemical Engineer."

Rushing Ends With Fifty-Two Pledges Selected By Frats

On Monday afternoon following a week of rushing activities, fifty-two members of the freshman class out of an enrollment of one hundred and ninety-six members pledged to become members of the five Greek letter fraternities of Delaware College. This is a decrease of nineteen men from last year.

Rush week, which came to an end on Monday, saw a series of smokers and house parties designed to make members of the entering class familiar with the houses both on and off the campus. The silent period, during which no freshmen were allowed in the fraternity houses and during which no fraternity member was allowed to discuss fraternities with any freshman, was from Monday noon to five p.m. During the silent period, the freshmen submitted their choices of social fraternities to the Dean's office. The majority of the students pledged are residents of Harter Hall or live throughout the town.

Leading the fraternities was Sigma Phi Epsilon with fifteen pledges and Theta Chi second with twelve. Following in order were Sigma Nu, eleven; Sigma Tau Phi, ten; and Kappa Alpha, four.

The lists as given out by the fraternities follow:

Frats' Week-End Highlighted By Dance And Parties

Interfraternity Week-end, social highlight of the year among the Greek Lettermen of Delaware College, will be held this year on October 31 and November 1. The "week-end" features a series of combined house parties and dances under the sponsorship of the Interfraternity Council headed by John Ernst of Kappa Alpha.

The first event on the program will be a formal dance in the Commons of Old College on Friday night, October 31 at which all members of the five fraternities and their dates will be present. Outstanding non-fraternity men of Delaware College will be invited as guests. Dancing will be to a "name" orchestra from nine until one o'clock.

As usual, the Sigma Nu house will be turned over to visiting dates of all the fraternity men. Members of the Sigma Nu fraternity will move into the other four fraternity houses for the week-end.

On Saturday, members of the fraternities and their guests will go to Wilmington to see the Delaware-Mt. St. Mary's football game. On Saturday night each fraternity will hold its own house party with members of the other groups invited to join in the fun.

Dr. Molstad, who was formerly on the faculty of Yale University, is chairman of the Committee on Student Chapters of the A. I. Ch. E. and is active in the work of those chapters. He has been a member of the chemical research staff of the United States Bureau of Agriculture, and formerly worked for the DuPont Company at Belle, West Virginia as a chemical engineer. His wide experience in industry and in teaching have given him wide prestige in the field of chemical engineering.

Other guests and speakers of the evening will be Dr. Thomas H. Chilton, Mr. Charles M. Cooper, Mr. James L. Bennett, and Mr. William H. Adam. Each of these men is widely known in the engineering field. Dr. Allan P. Colburn and Dr. Edward M. Schoenborn of the University of Delaware Division of Chemical Engineering, councilors of the A. I. Ch. E., will extend greetings to the students and guests.

Dr. Thomas H. Chilton, widely known in industry for his work on heat transfer, is director of the Technical Division of the Engineering Department of the DuPont Company. He has published many scientific papers on chemistry, and was the winner in 1939 of the Charles Frederick Chandler Medal for work in advancing knowledge in chemical engineering.

Mr. Charles M. Cooper, a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and former teacher there, is associated with the DuPont Company as a process engineer at the Experimental Station in Wilmington.

Mr. James L. Bennett and Mr. William H. Adams are located with the Hercules Powder Company and the Haver Corporation respectively. The former is manager of Chemical Operations in the Explosives Division of the Hercules firm, while the latter is technical director of Haver. Both have extensive academic backgrounds and are well known in their fields.

Presentation of the annual scholarship medals to Robert Goldey and John Phillips will be made at the dinner. These medals are given on the basis of highest scholastic averages for the freshman and sophomore years. This year there was a tie between Goldey and Phillips; both will receive medals.

Seventy members of the faculty, student body, and guests will be present at the banquet. Joseph La Motta, president of the Student Chapter will be toastmaster and has secured professional entertainment for the evening. Samuel LaPenta, chairman of the Banquet Committee, who is in charge of the affair, secured the speakers and has arranged the entire program.

The Cauldron...

Every educational institution is, in large measure, judged on the basis of the activities carried on by its students. These activities include such things as literary societies, the student newspaper and magazine, the engineering societies and the like. To neglect such activities lowers any school in the eyes of both the general public and other institutions.

At Delaware College these activities, which depend largely upon the financial aid of the Student Council, seem to be on the verge of extinction. This is not the fault of the present Student Council, but is caused by the mismanagement of funds by the two previous Councils. Money to support many activities is unavailable unless support for THE REVIEW, the Blue Hen, the Junior Prom subsidization, and Student Council dances is drastically reduced.

Under the present budget of the Council, The Cauldron, student literary magazine, has been eliminated. True, the Council has expressed its desire to help publish the magazine but has no money to pay for its publication. However, there is a way by which the Council can obtain money for The Cauldron.

THE REVIEW has made the proposal to the Student Council that they appropriate money from REVIEW funds, seventy dollars, to help pay Delaware College's share of publication costs. This does not mean that THE REVIEW has more money than it needs or that its appropriation can be drawn upon to pay all Council expenses. This money can only be obtained by not publishing several issues of the paper or reducing many of the issues to four pages.

However, THE REVIEW feels that such an action is justified; a literary magazine which expresses student thought and opinion is necessary on every campus. The excellence of past issues of The Cauldron has justified its existence.

It is now up to the Student Council whether or not to take advantage of the sacrifice offered by THE REVIEW. The printing of the magazine rests in their hands.

Anything But Campus...

By EDDIE GOLIN

The Review scoops the world! Readers, you don't realize the importance of this revolutionary article! For thousands of years the world has attempted to analyze the Hindu rope trick. The greatest magicians in history have failed to understand how a person can climb an unsupported rope. Some have suggested using a rope with only one end; others have more stupid ideas.

Just as tantalizing a puzzle is the modern day "double talk." Linguists of all lands have beaten their heads against stone walls in hopes that they could master this strange tongue. How I acquired knowledge of the D. T. (double talk) is irrelevant. The fact remains that I have it—and what's mine is yours it says here.

For the first time in history, friends, we present—Double Talk!! "Stoolblu oshwast terenfeffer because braxtiffen pucam. Ingrastill deratulla crepia bael hut sut woo. Glystern efot beat me daddy shi-kle. Why merla reek learthay, John?"

(Permission must be obtained from author for use of this material.)

(Sigh!) Well, that's it. Happy? How to read it:

The emphasis is put on every odd syllable. If you consider them all odd then give it up as a bad job as though you already didn't. When you come to the end of each sentence, emit a blood-curdling scream. This relieves the terrific mental strain and gives your blood a free permanent wave. Are you still with me or am I reaching the state border?

Advantages:

The advantages are infinite. Several examples are listed below.

1. Hubby comes home at 4:27 A. M. supersaturated. The wife meets him at the door and says—well, she speaks angrily.

"Honey, he hiccups, "I was slargoe looson doosen blemphra."

"Darling," she replies, "I know you're innocent." And after tearing his ear off, they retire.

2. You tear along Main Street doing 45 m.p.h. Officer Cunningham blows his whistle and says—

"Look, Geronimo, nobody set the world on fire."

Then you come back with the snappy answer—

"Listen, Officer, sorbola meggat noomph boogie woogie."

"With or without cream", he smiles and slaps a ten buck fine on you for lack of passport.

3. The sun is slowly sinking on the horizon. In room 100, U. Hall, a professor stands with a shilleagh stick and says to a student—

"Now, Mr. Teegle, name the former ruling family of Russia."

"Czar."

"Correct."

"Czarina."

"Correct, but if you say their children were czardines, I'll hit your head with this bat."

"Czardines." Clunk! "Ow! What do you want me to say—Fropie aji-quot?" Clunk!

So you can see that D. T. has its advantages. For more information on this interesting subject, drop into box 193. I'll be waiting for you.

P.S. That double talk paragraph does mean something! It tells the story of a pipe smoking enthusiast, who always contended that inhaling a pipe hurriedly spoils it. One day he came home from the office, lit up his pipe, and strolled into the garden. There, he saw his wife in the arms of another man. He drew a startled breath and ruined his pipe.

Miss Elise Lamb Elected "Sweetheart" By Members Of Theta Chi Fraternity

On Saturday evening, Miss Elise Lamb was elected "The Sweetheart of Theta Chi." The selection was made during the course of a fraternity House Party.

The members of the fraternity had selected from among the members of the freshman class at the Women's College twenty-two girls whom they considered to be eligible for the honor and each girl was in attendance at the House Party Saturday evening.

During the latter part of the House Party the members of the fraternity retired from the dance floor to the fraternity meeting room to vote. After the selection had been made the members returned again to the dance floor where Leon Heck, the president of the fraternity, explained to all the guests present that this is the 85th anniversary of the founding of Theta Chi, the fraternity having been founded at Norwich University in 1856. This year also, he said, marks the 30th anniversary of Omega Alpha, the local fraternity founded on this campus in 1911 which is now Alpha Xi Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity. The chapter is planning a series of special events for its 30th anniversary celebration, the beginning of this new ceremony of choosing a "Sweetheart" each year being only one of the many new Theta Chi activities.

Heck went on to say that the choosing of a "Sweetheart" is something new on the campus and that Theta Chi expects to make the selection an annual affair. The fraternity hopes to develop a new tradition, and, in due time, build up a real ceremony in connection with the "Sweetheart" selection celebration, so that not only the members of the fraternity, but the whole student body of the University will be looking forward to this event with great interest.

The president of the fraternity then announced that Miss Lamb had been selected the "Sweetheart of Theta Chi" for the year 1941. He presented her with a jeweled Theta Chi Sweetheart pin.

She is blond, five feet, four inches tall, and is from Wayne, Pennsylvania. She was escorted to the House Party by Joseph F. Coleman, Social Chairman of the fraternity, from Dover.

Aggie News

Plans for the Aggie Club Farmer-Farmerette Dance are taking form. Cleveland Hastings, who did a fine job of decorating last year, has been placed in charge of decorations; and the dance is planned to be a very informal affair. Everyone is invited to attend provided they come dressed as a farmer or farmerette. A prize will be awarded to the girl dressed so as to best represent a farmer's wife.

The dance will be held from 8:00 to 12:00 in the Commons of Old College with an admission charge of 75 cents.

Penn Isaacs and Cecil Carpenter, of the Sophomore and Freshman Agricultural class, respectively, are representing the State Future Farmers of America Association at a national convention at Kansas City. Cecil is president of the state association, and Penn was president of the association last year. Both fellows have been active in FFA activities since they were freshmen in high school. Penn received the American Farmer Degree, which is conferred by the national association for outstanding achievement in F. F. A. work; this week at the national convention.

Term's First College Hour Designed To Orient Student In Changing World

On Tuesday, October 21, the first formal College Hour of the fall term was held in Mitchell Hall. In recognition of the gravity of these times and the prevalent interest among all thinking peoples concerning national and international problems and affairs in their relationship to the individual, the College Hour Committee prepared a program designed to assist the college student in orienting himself amid the constant and confusing flux of events and personalities that is the world today.

Conscious of the confusion arising from the vague issues that confront the American people today and of the importance of clarifying these points so that a clear and objective viewpoint may be maintained and so that the individual may be in a position to judiciously determine and peruse his own attitudes and policies, President Walter Hullahen and two members of the faculty, Dr. Herbert E. Newman of the Economics Department and Mr. Paul Dolan of the Department of Political Science, graciously consented to appear before the student body to this end.

Opening the program, Dr. C. R. Kase, member of the English Department and Director of Dramatics at the University, introduced the first speaker, Dr. Hullahen.

Dr. Hullahen prefaced the main text of his talk with a brief message calling for the continued display of the same spirit of sportsmanship, courtesy, and fair-play that has always distinguished the student body of the University of Delaware. After some preliminary announcements, Dr. Hullahen proceeded to explain the purpose and objectives of the meeting.

Stressing the importance of intelligent discussion in reaching the decisions that the stress of events calls upon the individual to make, Dr. Hullahen suggested the open forum as the ideal medium for the essential interchange of ideas without which no conclusion is truly valid or satisfactory.

Calling for support of these forums, Dr. Hullahen stated that "no intelligent man or woman may evade the responsibility that rests upon all of us in this matter." In explanation of the form and type of the proposed forums, he said, "Such forums should be really 'forums' in which opportunity will be given to all who want to express an opinion to do so."

Dr. Hullahen continued his talk with a survey of the series of events leading to the present crisis, pointing out the divergence of viewpoint on these vital matters and the responsibility of the individual in establishing his own position.

Concluding his address, Dr. Hullahen pointed out that in a democratic system, final decisions concerning national policy rest ultimately with the individual and that consideration of these problems is an obligation and trust that the conscientious citizen must assume.

Continuing the discussion, Dr. Herbert E. Newman spoke of "The Economic Implications to the United States of an Immediate German Victory in Europe."

Dr. Newman discussed the economic problems that would face the United States in the event of a German victory and the decisions that would have to be made. Three alternatives, he said, would face the American people in regard to their economic policy: (1) complete isolation, (2) economic Anschluss with South America so as to form a "cohesive hemispheric bloc capable of presenting a solid economic and political front", or (3) subservience and all its implications.

Dr. Newman concluded his address with the adjointer that the future course of the United States must be predetermined with regard to all possible eventualities.

Culminating the forum, Mr. Paul Dolan spoke on "The Pros and Cons of the Present Neutral Status of the United States."

Mr. Dolan first explained the existing Neutrality Act and then proceeded to give the arguments for and against its repeal as set forth by proponents of the two conflicting viewpoints. Closing his talk, Mr. Dolan stressed the ultimate course must be "determined by more significant factors than that presented by the specific repeal or retention of a Congressional statute."

Dickinson College Red Devils Smashed By Hens 28-0 At Homecoming Game

A largely publicized and highly rated passing attack was stopped cold last Saturday as the strong Dickinson Red Devil team was beaten by an aggressive and wide-awake Delaware football machine 28-0, before a Homecoming Day crowd of about 2,000.

Although the mighty arm of Doug Rehor sent many accurate and threatening passes goalward, the Dickinson team was unable to penetrate the Blue and Gold goal line. Rehor attempted 40 passes, of which 23 were grounded or dropped, while the alert Delaware backs intercepted 3 of his heaves. He completed 14, but none seriously threatened the Hen end zone.

Since Bill "Red" Hogan was confined to the sidelines because of a cold, Conrad Sadowski, who is playing his last season for the Blue and Gold, was called on for the tail-back position and gave a marvelous account of himself. He tossed a perfect aerial to Norm Lord for one of the touchdowns of the game.

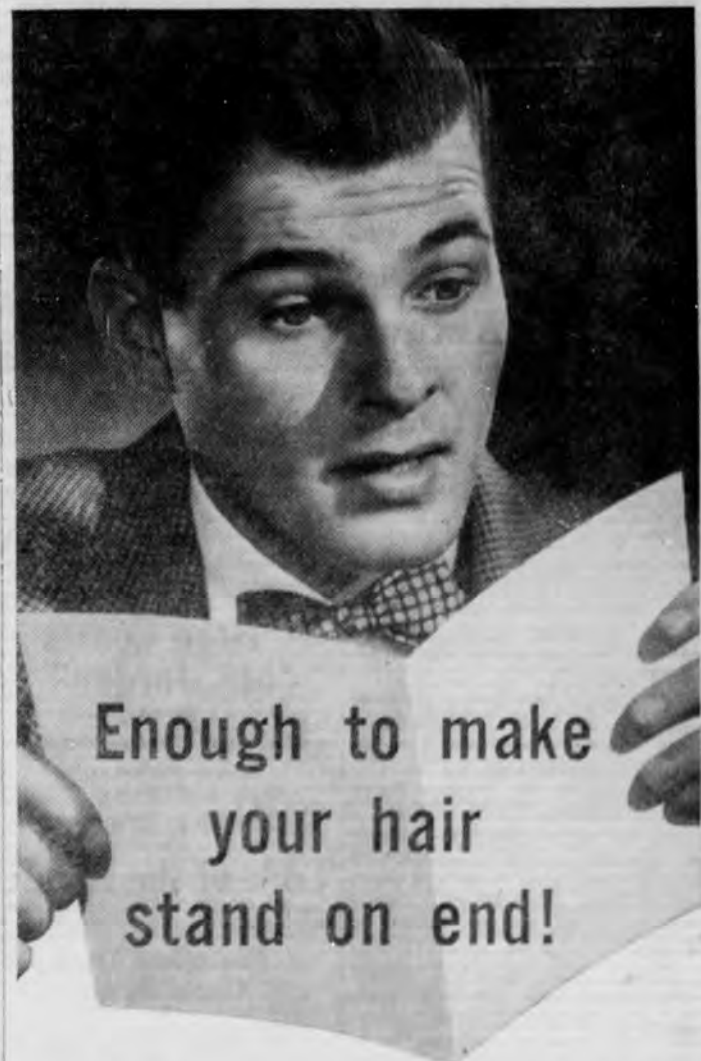

Co-Captain Jim Mullen scored the first Hen six-pointer when he recovered a blocked kick and ran the remaining distance for the score.

Mullen played a good game in the line, as did Buck Thompson and Hugh Bogovich. All in all, the whole line played commendable ball.

Scoring twice in the opening period, the Hens were halted until the opening moments of the second half when a missed signal by the Dickinson center caused the Dickinson back to be tackled behind his goal line for a safety. Soon afterwards, Gerry Doherty scored from the eight after Sposato put the ball in position with a 24 yard dash. Doherty fumbled going over the line but recovered for the touchdown. Later in the same period, Doherty again crossed the line for his second score of the game and the final marker for the Blue Hens.

On many of the defense projects encountered by the Bell System, the work sheets—showing telephone facilities needed and time allowed—would make a good, conservative engineer's hair stand on end.

For example, take the Navy's huge new air base near Corpus Christi, Texas, which covers 14,500 acres, includes 29 separate flying fields and 481 buildings. Closely connected with the base are Defense Housing projects for 1700 families.

Imagine the complex problems involved in planning telephone facilities for this new "city" where formerly there were sand dunes—in obtaining and installing miles and miles of wire and cable, switchboards, telephones by the thousand.

But telephone engineers and construction men took hold—proceeded to shatter records—completed their huge task in seemingly impossible time. For men with the "will to do," there's a real thrill in such Bell System work!

Playing The Game

By BYRON SAMONISKY

The powerful offensive of the University of Delaware football team, which has yet to explode with its full fury, added another victim to its victory column when they overwhelmed Dickinson 28-0 in a game in which the score would probably have been much higher if Coach Murray had held the first and even the second team in longer. — The Hens haven't tasted defeat in their last nine games although they were held to a 7-7 stalemate with a powerful West Chester State Teachers team that has been rolling over its opponents since that day. — The Blue and Gold array has pushed across 79 points while they have held their opponents to a solitary touchdown.

Gerald "Dutch" Doherty played a bang-up game against the Red Raiders from Carlisle, Pa., and scored his first touchdown of the present season. Before the afternoon was over, he tallied his second pointer. "Dutchy" is a little fellow, but he has more fight and determination than any football "giant." — Fred Sposato has made some fine runs on those reverses to the left, and being left-handed he is more natural running in that direction. — The blocking cannot be overlooked. The runners have had at least three or four men running in front of them on all their plays. Let's not forget that the amazing runs by the backs wouldn't be possible if it weren't for the exceptional blocking they

Delaware Among Nation Wide Group Giving Jim Dandy

When the E-52 Players present JIM DANDY on November 14 and 15, they will not be alone as pioneers in the production of this extremely unconventional play. Leading university and community theaters will participate in this unprecedented joint action to seize the control of American Drama from Broadway.

Through a plan of the National Theater Conference, non-commercial theaters everywhere have an opportunity to present JIM DANDY, the latest play by Pulitzer Prize-winner William Saroyan, prior to its first professional staging. Already twenty-seven groups have scheduled definite production dates and many others have indicated their intention to produce the play as soon as possible.

Among those important university theaters doing JIM DANDY are those at Western Reserve University, University of Indiana, Dartmouth College, and Cornell University. Some of the community theaters taking part in the plan are the Pasadena Playhouse, the Portland Civic theater, and the Civic Center Playhouse of Dallas.

A complete list of the 27 definite productions follows:

Indiana State Teachers' College, University of Minnesota, Catholic University, University of Michigan, Princeton University Theater Institute, Western Reserve University, University of Indiana, Jamestown Little Theater, Little Country Theater, University of Delaware, Playwrights' Little Theater of Newark, Dartmouth College Players, University of Syracuse, Pasadena Playhouse, Houston Community Playhouse, Omaha Community Playhouse, University of Maine, Portland Civic Theater, Cornell University, Panhandle Players, University of Texas, Studio Players of Montclair, University of Kentucky, University of Toledo, University of Idaho, Civic Center Playhouse, and the Baylor Theater.

have been getting. — Dick Coady made some exceptional punts when Delaware was in its own territory late in the game, and these kicks had a lot to do with keeping Dickinson from scoring.

Pie Elected Vice-Pres. By Ec. Club

At its first meeting of the year on Tuesday, the Economics Club of the University of Delaware elected Jack Pie vice-president to replace William Richey who has been drafted into the army. The main purpose of the meeting was to organize the club for the coming year.

William Plummer, president of the club, announced that Dr. Joseph Gould will speak on "Government Priorities" at the next meeting of the club on November 4. He stated that Dr. Gould is well fitted for this task since he is serving on the local committee which convenes in Philadelphia.

At the opening of the meeting, the constitution of the club was read in order to familiarize the members with the purposes of the organization. Plummer expressed the idea that this year would be the best ever for the society.

The club decided to pay dues this term so that the bulletin and club affairs may be continued since the Student Council cannot appropriate money for this purpose. Plans for the holding of a picnic during the next two weeks were discussed as well as plans for holding a panel discussion on November 13.

LOVE ME A LITTLE—Vaughn Munroe and Orchestra—A tuneful little earful—Trumpets carry the melody and mellow saxes answering them back in a strictly rhythmic manner. Marilyn Duke does the vocal honors.

SLEEPY SERENADE—Oh, those mellow trombones really sent this writer drifting off to sleep in another world. The soft crooning of Vaughn Munroe adds much to that sleepy feeling. A sure hit.

Roll out the rugs, put back the furniture and let down your hair when you spin this record on the turntable. But definitely—Charlie Spivak has introduced a really SOLID number on Columbia record . . . LET'S GO HOME . . . Just imagine a sweet sax ride, a bass thumping job which sends you off tapping, a trumpet feature which is sure to melt the record and a melody that just beats out of its own accord.

A truly great swing classic. Don't miss it . . . And as a contrast, Charlie offers TO YOUR HEARTS CONTENT a sweet number with spine chilling chords which is something new in dance tempos.

Any true lover of negro music will fully appreciate this Victor record recorded in Europe by Marion Anderson. In that famous contralto voice that will never be matched, Miss Anderson sings DEEP RIVER and DERE'S NO HIDIN' PLACE DOWN DERE along with EVERY TIME I FEEL DE SPIRIT. A Red Seal recording that should be in every collection.

Speaking of collections don't forget to take advantage of Victor's record offer on classical music now on sale at Potts' this week. Two famous records for the price of one.

Watch for reviews of recordings made by the name band who will play for our Junior prom to appear in this column in the very near future.
