'Our Town' Cast Is Selected By E 52 Tryout Committee

Ellen Simon, Joe Dannenberg, And Frank Annand To Have Leads In Next Production

The E 52 Players will open their tenth season on Thursday, November 16, 1939. The players began their activities ten years ago with "Outward Bound" and will celebrate their anniversary with the presentation of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize Play, "Our Town." The competition for parts in this play has been so keen that rehearsals were necessarily postponed until final casting could be completed. The play has finally gone into rehearsal with the following cast:

Stage Manager, Joseph Dannenberg; Dr. Gibbs, Walter Smith; Joe Crowell, Robert Walls; Howie Newson, Hiram Bennett; Mrs. Gibbs, Phyllis Wood; Mrs. Webb, Jane Trent; George Gibbs, Frank Annand; Rebecca Gibbs, Jane Hastings; Wally Webb, David Buckson; Emily Webb, Ellen Simon; Professor Willard, Ralph Margolin; Mr. Webb, W. K. Richardson; Simon Stimson, Jack Neeson; Mrs. Soames, Helen Adams; Si Crowell, Bernard Ableman.

Director

Mina Press, a member of the E 52 Players, the Puppets Club, and the Robin Hood Theatre Group will assist Dr. C. R. Kase with the direction.

Ellen Simon, after an unusual amount of stiff competition, captured the feminine lead of Emily Webb. Ellen is a member of the Puppets and the E 52 Players. Joe Dannenberg was awarded the role of the Stage Manager. Joe is a member of the E 52 Players and is especially to be remembered for his portrayal of Don John in Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," which was presented by the Players last spring. Phyllis Wood, a transfer student from Stevens College, will take her second role in "Our Town."

French Film To Be Shown At State Is Titled "Merlusse"

The Modern Language Department of the University of Delaware announces that two French films, "Merlusse" and "Images d'Auvergne," will be shown in the State Theatre on Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. Admission is 25 cents, and tickets may be secured from any member of the French staff.

"Merlusse" Is Nickname

"Merlusse" was written, produced, and directed by Marcel Pagnol, well-known author of "Topaze" and "Marius." "Merlusse," which means codfish, is the nickname bestowed by school boys upon a hated professor, whose repellent personality strikes terror into their youthful hearts.

The picture is a tender and poignant study of barriers raised by misunderstanding and broken down.

Rhodes Appointed New Cadet Major By Military Dept.

This Year's Appointments Of Cadet Officers Based On Camp And University Work

Major R. A. Argo, head of the Department of Military Science and Tactics, announced last week the appointment of the cadet officers for the current year. John M. Rhodes was named Cadet Major.

The appointment of cadet officers was based on camp and school work. When the students completed the camp course, a Board of Officers met and drew up a report on the men they thought would make the best cadet officers. Last Thursday, with camp reports and the men's drilling ability in mind, the Board of Officers met and made permanent appointments for the year.

The standing of Senior cadet officers is as follows:

Final Preparations Finished For Sat. Eve's I. M. A. Dance

The non-fraternity men are all set to swing into action Saturday night when the I. M. A. will present its first dance of the year. As customary the dance will be held in the Lounge of Old College at 8:30 p. m.

The decorations, which are being taken care of under the able direction of Charles Schneider, chairman of the decorating committee, will be somewhat lavish. Balloons of all sizes, shapes, and colors will be placed in every nook and cranny. Celophane has been secured to dim the lights. The color scheme will favor Hallowe'en instead of the traditional blue and gold seen at most I. M. A. dances.

Social Committee

Members of the social committee including Alex Boyer, Paul Trader, Carleton Joseph, Harold Mauli, Joseph Mendenhall, Arvid Roach, and Bill M. Richardson, chairman, will be present with their dates to welcome the Freshmen and make them feel at home.

Heading the receiving line will be Wilson Humphreys, President of the I. M. A., and Miss Nora Carson. Also in the receiving line will be Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell, Dr. and Mrs. Ewing and Miss Eastabrooks who have accepted invitations to attend the dance. Dr. Caldwell is a member of the faculty of the

House Parties Top Rushing Sat. Nite; Monday Silent Day

Rush week enters its final stage tomorrow night when all five fraternities hold house parties. Earlier in the week it appeared that the parties might not be held because none of the lists of chaperones had been given to the Faculty Social Committee on time; but all difficulties have now been ironed out, and the parties will be held as scheduled.

The S.P.E. and Sigma Nu fraternities will have orchestras. The S.P.E. boys will dance to the music of Bob Cummings and his orchestra, while Sigma Nu will have music supplied by Andre Malecot. Theta Chi, Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Tau Phi will have recording dances. These fraternities all promise to have more entertainment, but no details have been announced.

Dance Team at Theta Chi

Smokers were held throughout the week. Tuesday night Theta Chi presented to the Frosh the dance team of Dixie Roberts and Sammy Martin, who are scheduled to appear on the stage of the Earle Theatre in Philadelphia next week with Glen Miller's Orchestra. Also on Tuesday night the Sigma Nu

Extra Curricular Honor Societies To Be Tapped In

Spartans, Blue Keys, And The Derelicts Will Be Initiated At TapDay Between Halves Of Football Game Tomorrow

The three honor societies, the Spartans, Blue Keys, and Derelicts, will tap in their new members between halves of the football game tomorrow. The tapping for the Spartans and the Blue Keys will consist of being paddled by the last year's president of the society. The Derelicts will be tapped in by John Schwind, President of the Student Council. Since Schwind is to become a Derelict himself, he will be tapped in by another Derelict.

The Freshmen will act as policemen at this ceremony, standing around in a large circle to hold back the crowd. After the paddling process the new members are to be presented with their insignia.

Duties of Societies

The main duties of the societies are as follows: the Spartans help the Freshmen get acquainted around the campus, the Blue Keys show visiting teams around, and the Derelicts further college spirit.

The Spartans are to wear a gold ribbon, Blue Keys a gold one, and the Derelicts blue and gold. These emblems will be used until the meetings of the societies. The officers for the year are to be elected at these meetings.

The twenty sophomores who have been elected to the Spartans are as follows: Amos Betts, Melvin Brooks, Amos Crowley, John Daly, Robt. Duffy, Warren Grier, John Grundy, Elmer Harrington, Leon Heck, Harold Klotz, Alan Lemlein, Robert Monihan, Harry Neese, Al Northwood, Wm. Plummer, Harry Quillen, Conrad Sadowski, Charles Schell, Wm. Tibbett, and Malloy C. Vaughn.

Elected as members to the Blue Keys are Truxton Boyce, Jan Bove, Ed Cooch, Jr., H. Cabbage, Harold Gordy, W. Apsley, Emil Kellbasa, Fred Mitchell, Al Mock, Mike Poppiti, Arvid Roach, Baynard Roe, Wm. Shaw, Alex. Timme, and Russel Willard.

Seniors elected to the Derelicts are Stephen Bartoshesky, Al Green,

Dean's Honor Roll Report Reveals Delaware College Average Now 1.23

The scholastic report for Delaware College of the University of Delaware for the second semester of 1938-1939 has just been completed by Dean G. E. Dutton.

The REVIEW was represented by both co-editor Joseph Mendenhall and co-editor Arvid Roach. Managing Editor Wilson Humphreys, Associate Editor Jan Bove, Associate News Editor W. K. Richardson, Sports Editor Mike Poppiti, Associate Sports Editor Edward Samuel, and Circulation Manager John Curtis all had averages of better than two points.

The index numbers used in this report have the following significance: the number 3 is equivalent to an average of A (the highest possible average); the number 2 is equivalent to an average of B; the number 1 is equivalent to an average of C. No student who is taking fewer hours than those required in his curriculum is eligible for the Honor Roll (except students who have accumulated extra credits).

Average Rank

The average scholastic standing of the entire student body of Delaware College for the second term was 1.23. The average for students from Delaware was 1.23; the average for out-of-state students was 1.18. Ninety-seven students, who earned an average grade of B or better, have been placed on the Honor Roll for the term.

Of these students thirty-eight were in the School of Arts and Science; forty-two were in the School of Engineering; and seventeen were in the School of Agriculture. Thirty-one were Seniors; thirty were Juniors, twenty-two were Sophomores; and fourteen were Freshmen. Of the entire student body twenty percent were on the Honor Roll. Twenty-one percent of the students who entered college from Delaware high schools and preparatory schools and eighteen percent of the students who entered from out-of-state high schools and preparatory schools were on this roll.

The following named students were on the Honor Roll:

NAME	CLASS	COURSE	HIGH SCHOOL	STANDING
1. Myer, F. E.	'39	Ag.	Bridgeville	3.00
2. Stearns, R. F.	'40	Ch. E.	Newark	3.00
3. Zeirinsky, E.	'41	A. & S.	Wilmington	2.98

First Smoke Talk Tuesday Evening Features Round Table Discussion

The first Smoke Talk of the semester will be held at 6:45 p. m. next Tuesday in the Lounge of Old College. The subject of the discussion will be the best selling novel, Grapes of Wrath, by John Steinbeck. The Smoke Talk will be sponsored by the Humanist Society and the English Department.

Short talks will be made by Dr. Ned Bliss Allen, Dr. Augustus Able, and Mr. Fred McDowell of the English Department. However, Dr. Able has voiced the hope that "the students will feel free to ask questions or make general comments."

Today's Best Seller

Although the Grapes of Wrath has not reached the record, in volume sales, set by Gone With the Wind, it is the most popular novel of the day. In all probability it is more discussed than Margaret Mitchell's novel, since it is quite controversial in content and since it has broad social significance.

It has already had some social consequence, because it has resulted in the appropriation of large gifts of money for the help of the migratory families from the dust bowl regions of the West.

Film Version Due Soon

The film version of the novel will be produced by Darryl F. Zanuck of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation in the same vein that it was written. Henry Fonda and Jane Darwell have been cast in the movie.

Coffee will be served at the Smoke Talk through the courtesy of the Business Administrator, Mr. Charles Grubb.

Bove Elected To Council

Jan Bove was elected Junior Non-Fraternity representative to succeed Len Millar, resigned, by an eleven to seven vote today at one o'clock in Room 6. The defeated candidate was Irving Guerke.

Bove served in the council in his Sophomore year. He was defeated in April for re-election by Millar and Al Mock, who is still in the council, by a two vote count.

Statement of Policy . . .

We believe that it has become necessary to reiterate and re-emphasize the policy of the REVIEW in order to clarify the clouded concepts which have arisen in the minds of some students concerning them.

The REVIEW insists that news be treated by its reporters in a straightforward manner. Subjectivity, bias, and personal opinion have no place in a news story. Despite the clamor of certain cliques of students for subjective treatment of news in a supposedly humorous fashion, the co-editors of the REVIEW shall continue to present the events and activities at Delaware purely as fact.

We further hold that sports are an integral part of any newspaper, and we endeavor to present them fairly and completely.

In addition to news and sports, we present a certain number of feature articles, such as One-At-A-Time, Herbie, play reviews, sports columns, and the article usually appearing in the space occupied this week by the Dean's List. Since these feature articles represent the personal opinions of the writers, they appear in such fashion that they can be clearly distinguished as such.

Within the last week, the REVIEW has begun a new feature, the Women's College Page. It will be presented here for a trial period. It will be continued or discontinued for the duration of the year, depending upon the reception given to it by the student body and upon its ability to pay for itself. If it remains, it will exist as an independent part of the paper and will be run by its own editors and financed by its own business staff subject only to the general supervision of the co-editors and business manager of the REVIEW.

Finally, the editorial policy of the REVIEW is determined by the co-editors. Participation in factional disputes is avoided. The primary objective of the co-editors is to criticize constructively the various phases of the activities of the students of the University of Delaware.

Fraternity Rankings

The average scholastic standing of each of the five fraternities was as follows: Sigma Tau Phi 1.43; Sigma Nu 1.27; Theta Chi 1.00; Sigma Phi Epsilon .97; Kappa Alpha .85.

The average of students who were members of fraternities was 1.09; the average of students who were not members of fraternities was 1.28.

The average scholastic standing of each of the four classes was as follows: Senior Class 1.82; Junior Class 1.32; Sophomore Class 1.24; Freshman Class .89.

Of the twenty high schools represented on the list, Delaware City had the highest rating, fifty per cent of its graduates here making better than two points. Harrington, Bridgeville, Georgetown, Greenwood, Salesianum, Wm. Penn, Dover, Alexis I. duPont, Millsboro, Newark, Wilmington, Claymont, Felton, Middletown, Lewes, Seaford, Milford, P. S. duPont, and Conrad followed in the order mentioned. Eleven other high schools are represented by Delaware students, but not on the Honor Roll.

ONE AT A TIME

(This week's One-at-a-timer is John M. Rhodes, who has recently been appointed Cadet Major for the year by the Department of Military Science and Tactics. Rhodes discusses the new drill regulations which he and his subordinates will be required to execute.)

Since the First World War the United States Army has realized that the infantry drill regulations did not completely fulfill their purpose. A new set of infantry drill regulations went into effect on September 1.

In former times it was difficult to say the least, for a recruit to master such complications as squads right, right shoulder arms, and alignment. The new drill obviates these difficulties. Squads right no longer exists; the simple facings take its place, both from the halt and in marching. Whereas it used to be that the rifle was thrown up in right shoulder arms, it is now carried up. Since troops in small bodies such as platoons are no longer moved, except for short distances, with a front of more than four men, a man need not worry about preserving alignment on a platoon front.

The tasks of the officers under the new drill regulation are considerably easier. Lieutenants are no longer concerned with alignment of platoon front or the positions of their platoons in complex company movements. Captains no longer have to worry about having their tall men where their short ones should be after completing a company movement, since companies are moved only to the right in column, and platoons always maintain their relative positions.

It is not to be inferred from what has been said that military preciseness and snap are not retained. Indeed, there is as much, if not more, distinction in the movement of troops under the new system as there was in the old. It used to be that one watching a unit execute squads right had the impression of general turmoil until the movement was completed.

You who watch will now find that every man moves in the same direction at the same time and a much greater unity is attained. You will notice the unity of movement and the efficiency of motion. It can readily be seen from the progress made by the new men that the new system is superior insofar as ease of training is concerned.

It must be remembered, however, that ceremony alone is not the purpose of any infantry drill. The greatest benefits of the new regulations are to be found in the disposition of troops, either for combat or march orders. Here at the University we can use drill only to increase the morale of the institution and to train our officers in positions of command.

The differences and advantages of the new drill regulations can be realized fully only by those of us who have drilled under both. Those of you who watch will see much that is good. Remember, though, that it is new and mistakes will be made; that is to be expected even in the units best trained in the new regulations.

HERBIE

Dear Prexy,

Well, Prexy, I heard you all making that there speech of yours on the conditions in Europe and other things the other day (it was compulsory you know) and right away I ran up to the commons and hid under the table to hear how the mob of soup garglers was taking it.

Well you know Prexy, some of the little wittle freshmen were actually discussing the politico-religio-econo-scientifico whosa-what's outcome of Oskosh, Besarbia. I know this surprises you, Prexy, but some things sink in anywhere. Then there were those, Prexy, who liked the way you put on and took off those spectacles of yours. Some liked the little witty things you said. And the whole mob liked those verbal toasts to the football team of ours. You know, Prexy, that stuff always brings

The REVIEW On The Air

Jane Bove, Jane Trent, and William K. Richardson in action

Broadcast Continues During Frosh Peerade

The REVIEW radio program is still on the air each Friday evening at 7:45, over station WDEL, Wilmington, 1120 kilocycles.

Even last Friday evening Jan Bove and his cohorts took to the ether waves, despite the fact that everyone else was attending the pep-fest and Freshman Peerade at Wolf Hall.

Subjects treated last week were the Freshman Peerade, Rush Week, and Founders' Day. John Swenhardt, author of the weekly script, was aided by Mina Press, Women's College, who wrote the portion dealing with Founders' Day.

Those appearing on the program besides commentator Bove were Mina Press, Ann Hamilton, David Buckson, Walter Sanford, Joe First, and Joe Mendenhall, co-editor of the REVIEW.

Casting for the program was made by Bill K. Richardson. Joe Tatnall made arrangements for the musical interludes. Jane Trent acted as director and coach.

Spot Shots

This week's program will be built around campus life. Students will avoid professors' classes that they have not attended. Woo will be pitched on the Memorial Library steps, the little man with the big hammer will continue to give students a headache in the reading room, and undergraduates will snap their glass cases in order to attract the attention of co-eds in the opposite side of the room.

And so the program will continue, flashing from Mitchell Hall to W. C. D., from the Commons to Evans Hall. Intimate conversation will be overheard by snatches. Everything will move swiftly, uninterruptedly, surely.

Remember the REVIEW program goes on the air tonight over WDEL at 7:45 o'clock.

Athenaeon Society Sponsors Talk At Univ. College Hour

President Hullihen Speaks On Map Of Europe; American Attitude Dangerous To U. S.

President Hullihen spoke on "A Trip Abroad and the Map of Europe" at the College Hour sponsored on Tuesday by the Athenaeon Society. He was introduced by Wilson Humphreys, president of the society.

Travelers returning from Europe, according to President Hullihen, know far less about the foreign situation than those remaining in the United States. News is distributed better here than in the foreign countries. The President emphasized the fact that his knowledge is based primarily upon observations made before his departure for Europe and since his return from there.

Air Raid Shelters

The air raid shelters are of great interest to anyone visiting Europe. There are two types: those of reinforced concrete and those of steel. The shelters in Hyde Park are of the former type. They are so cleverly concealed that it is impossible for a stranger to know their whereabouts. The steel shelters, said President Hullihen, resemble large doghouses; and, because they are inexpensive, the government advises all families to purchase one and bury it in their backyard.

The President declared that the outcome of this war is vastly more significant than that of the last war. Its outcome will change our lives greatly and not in a way we desire.

The People Must Decide

It is President Hullihen's belief that the United States can stay out of war, but numerous perils exist. We the people, not the President of the United States, must decide what we shall do.

A large map of Europe was used to illustrate the remaining portion of the talk. It is necessary, said the President, to understand the history and geography of Europe before we can ascertain whether or not the annexation of territory is justified.

Blue Hen To Be Out By Christmas Says Editor-in-Chief Martin Tannen

Editor

Martin Tannen . . . "She'll be out by Christmas, boys."

According to Editor-in-Chief Martin Tannen, the Blue Hen is on its way. Tannen says that little or no work had been completed when he took over the yearbook after the ousting of Harry Stutman by the Student Council. Tannen, however, has assured the Council that, with a great deal of hard work and co-operation from a new staff, the Blue Hen should be in the mail boxes by Christmas.

"And now things are humming," says Editor Tannen. He has made several trips to Philadelphia to hold conferences with the engravers. Co-operation has been forthcoming from these quarters, and the engravers have agreed to "touch up" the plates, since the original photographs were not very good.

Pictures

Hiram Bennett, a Freshman, is taking special pictures. Tannen says that he still needs snapshots of football games and dramatic activities. All originals will be returned when the cuts are made.

Some difficulties, however, have been encountered. The "dummy" of the yearbook had to be changed. Had the old "dummy" been used, said Tannen, the Blue Hen "would have gone into the hole about $300."

All copy has been assigned, but it is not coming in any too fast. "As soon as I get all copy, the Blue Hen will go to press," stated Martin Tannen. "Let's have some co-operation and the book will be out in no time."

New Staff

Norman Browning, who served as managing editor under Stutman and whom Tannen reappointed, has resigned. In his place Bill K. Richardson has been selected as managing editor.

Bill Jacoby is heading the business staff as business manager. He is being aided by Leonard Leone, Bill Gerow, N. Schutzman, Leo Lotstein, and Frank Scott.

Associate editors are Steve Saltzman and Al Green. Remaining minor editorships are being filled by Wilson Humphreys, Robert Harra, Arvid Roach, Chester Benson, and Joseph Mendenhall.

Alexander Boyer, Leo Laskaris, Gerald Doherty, and William McLane are art editors. Photography editors are John Dean and Jan Bove.

Bill Backus, Warren Rowland Will Join Delaware Aviators

"Two more candidates for the Aviation course have passed the federal physical examination," announced Mr. Martin M. Daugherty today. "The quota has not been filled, but the examinations are nearing completion."

The lucky students are William C. Backus, Jr., a Senior, and Rowland Warren, a Freshman. Both are already enrolled in the ground-work classes and hope to start aerial work by the first of next month.

Mr. Daugherty has the results from all but three of the examinations and intends to name the rest of the candidates before the end of the week. "There are four more vacancies to be filled," he said, "and I have a fair idea of who will fill them. However, I am not at liberty to disclose their names, since none of them has been definitely accepted."

Frosh Peerade Attracts Record Crowd This Year

"Best Peerade ever," said John Schwind, President of the Delaware College Student Council.

The annual Freshmen Peerade of last Friday evening was a good one, there's no denying that. Despite the fact that Friday was the thirteenth and despite the fact that there were no Doc Blumberg jokes, the evening was considered a success.

In the usual University of Delaware manner, the Peerade got under way at 7:30, having been scheduled for 7:00.

Full of enthusiasm, "well dressed" frosh fell at attention behind the band, in front of Old College. Flares were lit and the band struck up a tune. Forward went the "tin panners" followed by the over anxious Freshmen who wished to feast their eyes on the fair females and show off their newly created fashions, for they were headed for the Women's College campus.

Of course campus beauties stampeded from W. C. D. sheds, trampling each other and singing "Glory be to Delaware."

Flying Dutchmen Invade Frazer Field For Tilt With Hens

By J. W. Ballard

Still seeking their first victory, the Delaware football team will meet Lebanon Valley tomorrow afternoon at Frazer Field in the second home game and the third game of the season.

Prospects for victory this week are worse than a week ago, for the Flying Dutchmen are even more proficient than Dickinson in their aerial attack, and the line if anything is heavier than the Carlisle aggregation. One of the biggest surprises of the early season was Lebanon Valley's defeat last week of a supposedly vastly superior eleven from Franklin and Marshall by a score of 8-7. The week previous to this the Dutchmen nosed out Moravian, 6-0, and were defeated in their opening game by Boston College, 45-0. The latter is no criterion of their strength, however, for Boston College belongs to a class of football way above that of tomorrow's visitors.

Dickinson Outplayed

The Blue Hens, although defeated by Dickinson, 13-7, were far from disgraced, for they actually outplayed their opponents, taking the game as a whole, and were beaten in the end only because of superior manpower. The down field blocking still needs to be perfected. The pass defense must be polished considerably for the aerial offensive expected of Lebanon Valley, but the team was more spirited and greatly improved over their opening game form against spinners.

Probable Starters

As for the line-up, Coach Grenda is still experimenting in an effort to find capable substitutes for the starting combine, but the only change looms in the backfield. The injured Howie Viden may be replaced on the starting team by Walt Paul, Freshman who showed great promise last week, both in running and kicking. Lee Baer has been taking Al Northwood's place at tackle during some of the time this week, but will not likely be a starter. Bill Wendle will probably continue to start instead of Earl Sheats at one of the ends. Beyond this the starting line of Wilmer Apsley and Bill Laurelli at guards, John Grundy at the other tackle berth, Len Amillo at center, and Bruce Lindsay, whose blocking and tackling have been excellent, at the other flank, will probably remain intact. The backfield, besides Paul, will be Melvin Brooks, Jim Mullin, and Conrad Sadowaki.

The second week of intramural touch football was a very busy one with ten games being played. There were several upsets, the most noticeable of which was K. A.'s defeat at the hands of the Theta Chi by a margin of 18-6. Oh, well, even Duke lost last week—they're pretty good too. A word of praise must be given the Physical Education Department for the good work they have done in handling this year's intramural program.

Amos Crowley and his Comets look like the class of the non-frat league. In results tabulated so far the Comets have won three games while losing one. They represent the Sophomores and should have little trouble with the rest of the league. The Junior team of Commuters had little to worry them in beating the Senior Harter Hall Bees 28-6.

The Bees also lost to the Comets by an overwhelming margin of 38-13 yesterday while the Frosh Reds broke into the win column with a victory over the Dragons. The Refugees are also undefeated with wins over the Frosh Reds and Garden A. A., redeemed itself with a 15-13 victory over the Frosh Reds.

In the fraternity league Theta Chi leads the parade by virtue of its handling K. A. its first defeat in two years. T. C.'s strong running plays were too much for K. A.'s strictly aerial attack. Bob Morgan and "Carny" Cornelius excelled for the victors while Randy Cooper scored the losers only touchdown on a difficult catch of a pass from Alex Timme. Sigma Phi Epsilon had to be satisfied with a tie with the Sigma Nu outfit. Each scored one touchdown and missed the try for extra point.

Kappa Alpha bounced back with an overwhelming victory over Sigma Nu by a score of 26-0. With Steve Bartoshesky back in the line-up the vaunted passing attack was supplemented by a brilliant running game with Jack Doordan shining on the reverses. Taking advantage of the breaks K. A. scored two of their touchdowns on passes batted into their arms by Bill Bishop. Randy Cooper and Bill Shaw stood out defensively for the conquerors. Bartoshesky and Doordan each scored once while Alex Timme made two tallies for the crimson and gold. Captain Bob Monihan

Temple Noses Hens In Close Contest; Maryland U. Today

Journeying to Philadelphia last Saturday in quest of their second win, the University of Delaware soccer team bowed before a strong Temple squad, 1-0.

The Owl's squad, even though they lacked their star Meninchik, was too strong for Captain Thompson and his men. Opening with a strong offensive attack in the first quarter, Temple netted a goal when Saverson scored. Temple, taking immediate advantage of their early lead, tightened their defense and held Delaware scoreless for the remainder of the game. Faulty kicking and misjudgment ruined Delaware's chances to score.

Revenge for Last Year

Temple's excellent team work was the deciding factor in their victory. Delaware at no time in the game displayed the type of team play that they showed against Dickinson. Temple gained revenge for last year's tie game, and Delaware's hopes of an undefeated season fell by the way of Saverson's toe.

Today Coach Lawrence will send his men against University of Maryland to attempt a comeback. Last year the team was beaten by Maryland, but Saturday's defeat will give them the spirit they need to mark their second victory on the schedule.

Jayvees Tie Goldey

Goldey College of Wilmington dead-locked the Delaware Jayvee soccer team at Frazer Field Monday, 1-1.

The little Hens were forced to come from behind to tally the tying goal in the third quarter.

Ted Layton of Goldey scored in the first quarter and Emil Kielbasa accounted for the tying goal. Darkness prevented an extra period.

Henlites Dr. F. H. Squire Addresses Club On New Humanism

By Leon Heck

As the football team representing the University of Delaware runs out on to the field, the spectators always fail to realize all the work that the finished product represents.

Behind those eleven men there are many stories that have rarely been told. The story of the J. V. S.'s; the story of the unobserved linemen; the story of the unrecognized player; and above all the story of the manager.

Football Managers

As with all other major teams, the football team has at least one manager from each class. This year there are two Senior football managers, Bob Morgan and Bill Cornelius.

After three years of hard work this pair has acquired a position which is the most thankless job connected with collegiate sports.

Morgan Explains

As explained by Bob Morgan, "The work starts long before the season begins. In fact it starts two weeks before school is open.

"We have to be on hand as soon as practice starts to hand out equipment. We have to check and repair the equipment daily.

"We also have to assist the visiting teams in any way possible while they are here for a game."

While Bob stopped to come up for air, Bill Cornelius continued with a few of his duties:

"Every day we have to carry out 300 pounds of dummies and helmets. We also have to keep the shoes and some of the other equipment clean at all times."

Aid to Injured Players

At this point Bob Morgan, who besides being a football manager finds time to be President of Theta Chi Fraternity, added, "Nearly every day we get some orders from the coach. Besides this we have to be able to fix up the minor injuries suffered by the players and do what we can for the serious injuries before a doctor can be seen."

In return for these four years' hard work the manager gets a letter his Senior year and trips to all the games on foreign soil his Junior and Senior years.

The first meeting of the Humanist Society was held in the Lounge of Old College on last Tuesday. Dr. F. H. Squire spoke on "Humanism." Later the meeting was thrown open for discussion.

Humanism

The "New Humanism" was the principle theme of Dr. Squire's talk. New humanism protests against vocational courses in the liberal arts school. It advocates that the liberal arts school be prevented from becoming a general catch-all for all miscellaneous courses. The Jeffersonian system of selecting students for this school was quoted as opposed to the Jacksonian system of equality.

Suggested courses for this school were as follows: mathematics, natural sciences, religion, literature, philosophy, and history. A solution to eliminate the conglomeration of courses is to have the liberal arts school undergo a progressive transformation.

W.C.D.

W.C.D. was represented by the Women's College Press Club. Mr. Healy, the new Spanish instructor, was an interested participant in the ensuing discussion.

Coed Classes As Seen Through The Eyes Of Women's College Students

Once again your Inquiring Reporter set out to find out what was what on the Women's College campus. This week, the question was: "What do you think of co-educational classes?" or rather, "What do you think of having boys in your classes?" The replies to this question are very enlightening.

Kay Burke . . . "Well, at least it would make the boys shave and the girls would have to keep their hair curled."

Jeanne Chambers . . . "It would give us a chance to see if the boys are really as smart as they claim they are."

Betty Weldin . . . "They're all right—it makes it much simpler for us to get A's—huh?"

Mary Armour . . . "I should think it would give us a better chance to get acquainted."

Sally Dickinson . . . "I'm in favor of it. The more males, the merrier."

Mary Salmons . . . "They're all right with me."

Evelyn Conant . . . "It's more natural to have boys in the class."

Kay Haggerty . . . "I don't approve of it, because I think it would lower the scholastic standard of Women's College."

Jane Staving . . . "I have no objection to it."

Edith Holden . . . "It all depends who is in the class."

Liz Attix . . . "I've never had any, but I'm willing to try."

Elaine Owens . . . "It's darned hard on the boys."

Dot Taylor . . . "It gives the boys and girls a chance to know each other, not as dates, but as individuals."

B. J. Brown . . . "The only trouble with co-ed classes is that the professor teaching them thinks that the girls are taking the course to be with the boys, or else that the boys are taking it to be with the girls. And, of course, no one would think of doing such an unscholarly thing as that."

Elva Grogan . . . "I think it's a darn swell idea, except, of course, I don't know how much studying can be done."

Peg Teitworth . . . "I hate to admit it, but I never know what is going on in my co-ed classes. I can't understand the words my intellectual male friends persist in using. They are amusing, but not particularly educational."

Lillian Marshall . . . "I think that having boys in a class makes it more interesting because boys always enter into a general discussion more so than girls."

Priscilla Stees . . . "I think it's a good idea because as things are now boys and girls in these two colleges look on each other as odd creatures from different worlds. It might give some of them a chance to see that the opposite sex is just as human as it used to be in high school."

Jane Hastings . . . "No co-ed classes—I need education."

Peg Smith . . . "Just depends."

Ginny Rupert . . . "As long as the professors at Men's College continue to respect our honor system during examinations given to co-ed classes, I can see no great disadvantage to the co-ed system. In fact, I'm in favor of it."

Mary Shakespeare . . . "I think it would make us study more because we'd want to be sure to give the right answer when called on in classes."

Flies In

The Library

Dear Ed:

I would like to know if something can be done about the flies in the Library. Not that I object to flies, of course, but they do interfere with my studying.

Perhaps fly-paper would be a solution, but that might be objectionable. May I suggest that as a solution some Freshman (preferably from the Men's College) be conscripted to wield a fly-swatter or spray some suitable insect exterminator.

Chairman

Evelyn Conant Heads W. C. Social Committee

Women's College to Hold 'Open House'

Everyone is invited to this year's first W.C.D. Open House, which will be held tonight from 8:00 to 10:00 in the Hilarium of Residence Hall under the auspices of the Women's College Social Committee and Student Council.

There will be dancing to the recordings of the leading bands in the country. Those who do not care to dance may play cards. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

Interest Desired

The Social Committee is planning to make the Open House a weekly event. But the outcome of this plan will depend on the size of this week's attendance. In the past, there has been a noticeable lack of interest. These dances have been arranged in order to offer the students an evening of enjoyment and entertainment. Therefore, it is up to the student body of the University to support them if they wish them to be continued.

The Student Council and the Social Committee of Delaware College have been invited to attend the first Open House. But this invitation is not limited to these two groups. The entire student body of Delaware College is included in the invitation.

House Parties

Epsilon house presented Charles Breckler, a ventriloquist and magician, who performed several amazing card tricks and did an "Edgar Bergen" with his pal and dummy, "Gus." At the Sigma Nu smoker on Wednesday night a magician entertained the Freshmen. Sigma Tau Phi also held a smoker on Wednesday night to welcome possible pledges of that house. Additional smokers were held Thursday night by Theta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Kappa Alpha.

Rush week officially ends Monday at noon after a hectic week of smokers, house parties, rushing, and lack of study. From noon of Monday until 5 p. m. a silent period will be in effect. After the silent period the Freshmen will be permitted to make their choice of the fraternity they wish to pledge.

ON REVIEW

By PEG TEITSWORTH

This week, "On Review" presents number two in its review of Women's College personalities, Evelyn Conant, Chairman of the Social Committee.

During her three years of college life, Evelyn has been what most people would call an all-around college girl. When she gave me a list of her extra-curricular activities, it was so long I was overwhelmed. How, I thought, can I condense a career like that into a three hundred and fifty word column? Evelyn has been very active in athletics. She has been on the basketball team for three years, the baseball team for one year, and the soccer and hockey teams for two years. Last year she was a member of the Athletic Association. This is her fourth year as a member of the Forum Cabinet and the Y.W.C.A. During her Sophomore and Junior years, she was on the May Day Committee.

This year the Women's College Social Committee has been joined with the Student Council. The Chairman of the Social Committee is now a member of the Council and works with them on any problems which may come up.

The Social Committee is in charge of arranging for and holding all of the Women's College dances with two exceptions—the Junior Prom and the Freshman Formal. These two dances are sponsored by the respective classes. Together with their work on dances, the Social Committee is involved in the question of student recreation, both for resident and for commuter students. They work with the resident and commuter recreation chairmen, and supplement the dances and Open Houses.

The first event on our social calendar is to be an open house. The Committee is undecided whether or not to continue these dances every week. This will depend on you, boys and girls.

Outing Club Elects Officers At Meeting

The Outing Club held its first meeting this week, and officers were elected for the current year. Mary Bradford was elected President; Louise Zurkow, a Junior, Vice-President; and Jeanie Chambers, a Senior, will serve as Secretary-Treasurer.

In order to receive credits for the Athletic Association, the girls must hike fifty miles. Therefore, four hikes have been planned, three of which are required.

Outing Club Rides

But, hiking isn't the only thing the Club is planning to do. Such things as golf, riding, ice skating, roller skating, and sledding will also be added to the schedule.

The first hike of the year is under the guidance of Jeanie Chambers. The participants are required to build fires, and then cook their own dinner. Commuters and resident students alike are eligible to membership in this club. The enrollment for this year is the largest in the history of the organization.

W. C. Prepares For Hockey Play-off

Play-offs for the interclass hockey tournament will soon be underway at the Women's College. The various teams are bearing down in hope of winning the coveted championship.

As usual, the Freshmen are the ones who have come out in the greatest numbers and who have brought with them the largest amount of enthusiasm and vitality. The Sophomores combine a tempered eagerness with experience and skill, while the Juniors, last year's champions, take everything in an easy-going stride. The Seniors, although lacking in quantity, plainly show their years of experience on the field.

The play-off consists of three games. The first game is between the Sophomores and the Seniors. The second game is between the Juniors and the Freshmen. The third game is a match between the winner of the Senior-Sophomore game and the winner of the Junior-Freshman game. The winner of this third game is the championship team.

Only those girls who have participated in three-fourths of the total number of practices are permitted to play on a class team. Consequently, several make-up practices are being held to enable everyone to be eligible for the tournament. From all accounts, the Juniors will have no easy time defending their title.

W. C. D. Recordings Can Now Be Heard By Del. College Too

Delaware College students may now have access to the records of the Music Building at the Women's College. Due to the demands of a representative number of students Mr. Anthony J. Loudis, director of the Music Department, plans to arrange for regular hours for entertaining.

The recordings will probably be available during weekday afternoons after 4:10, one or two weekday evenings, and Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings. Mr. Loudis would like Delaware College students to send him their preferred hours of attendance.

Because of the extensive additions to the music library last spring and because of past experience, an N.Y.A. host or hostess will be on hand to play the requests. Hours for playing depends on student response.

New Buildings To Be Completed Soon

The latest additions to our campus, the Administration Building and the Library additions, are now rapidly nearing completion. Although the Administration Building was originally intended to be ready by the first half of October, it will not be completed until Dec. 1. The major task of moving from the present Recitation Hall to the new building will take place during the Christmas vacation. Use of the classrooms will begin with the second term.

Georgian Style

The architecture of the two buildings is a free rendition of the Georgian style with classic influence. This very appropriately adds to the architectural symmetry of the campus. The Library additions with their high-vaulted ceilings, light-hued walls, and comfortable furniture make an ideal place for study or browsing. The addition on the W.C.D. side of the Library will insure a safe place for the stacks which were endangered by water in their former position in the basement. In the process of construction, the sunflower medallions, which were over the windows of the central section of the building, were removed and replaced by bricks which correspond to the building.

Administration

The Administration Building is in the form of a hollow square. The west side of the building contains two entrances and a gateway to a blind court. The wall of the

Praised by Critics

"Merlusse" has been acclaimed by critics as one of the outstanding masterpieces of the French film. It was placed third on the New York World-Telegram's list of Best Foreign Films of 1938.

The Department of Modern Languages hopes that in the near future a sound machine will be installed in Mitchell Hall in order that foreign language films may be shown once a month and at a lower admission price.

court is relieved by four pillars which, when viewed through the gate, are much more effective than a blank wall. All the walls of the court are faced with a light colored brick, which insures a maximum of light reflection.

The total cost of the two buildings is approximately $530,000, the major portion of which came from the Federal Government.

'em around—especially at the beginning of a speech. I heard some guys say it was with the touch of a master that you took your pencil in hand and carved up Europe. I ain't jesting a mite, Prexy, when I say that, down there under the tables, I didn't hear a single person say that he didn't like some element of that spiel of yours.

But you know me, Prexy, I was sorta disappointed. For days I had anticipated your telling about your nights in Paris: Paris from the Eiffel Tower; tete-a-tetes with international spy 24X90Z in the Latin Quarter; the faces that you saw in the flickering gas lights along the Rue Morgue; the smells that came over the roof tops of Paris after the sun has gone down; the Rue de la Paix on a certain midnight that you remember; quiet beers along the West Bank that first week in September (ah me, Prexy) with that mysterious Madame X; that ride through the Parc de Bois in the cab of the exile of White Russia. I had expected to hear you tell of the war-strained look on the faces of the English. I thought perhaps you noticed something different in the people who rode to work on the tops of the London buses. I had hoped maybe you had talked to Welsh miners, Picadilly dance hostesses, or Mayfair tea-biscuit-soppers. But I guess you didn't.

I guess that Paris and London, all Europe, just doesn't mean the same to you as it does to me. I guess that you looked for different things than I would have looked

Delaware Engineering Notes

In a short time the University will have an amateur radio experimental station on the air. W. J. Mearns, of the Electrical Engineering Department, has ordered a complete two hundred and fifty watt transmitter which will be installed in the Radio Laboratory in Evans Hall. The equipment will be operated under the call letters W3CHJ.

Course Offered

At the present time there are three students licensed to operate the station. Unfortunately, all three are Seniors, and unless some student in the present Junior class obtains an operator's license, the station may be idle next year. To prevent this condition from arising, a radio club will soon be formed, and of course I found different things. But, Prexy, I know that sometime not so very long ago your pulse must have quickened at the thought of chestnut trees blooming in the Bois of a little MIMI that hosed the potables around in a little place where the exiles of all nations are friends.

It is from all of these places, too, Prexy, that one can learn the "conditions in Europe."

Love,
Herbie.

formed, and all instruction needed for the obtaining of an amateur operator's license will be given.

If you are interested in becoming a radio amateur, stop in and talk to Mr. Mearns in the Electrical Engineering Room in Evans Hall.

Soaring Club

After a summer of rebuilding, the Delaware Collegiate Soaring Club is ready to resume activity. During the summer the Mead Secondary was converted into a Schwartz Special Sailplane, and from all calculations the glider should now soar as well as any secondary type in the country. A new enclosure over the cockpit will make flying possible all winter.
