And Vets Will Talk At Forum
Here Tuesday

The J. Allison O'Daniel Post, No. 10 American Legion, will sponsor a Town Forum on universal military training in the Newark New Century Club on Tuesday, at 8:15 p. m.

Following a short movie on military preparedness, J. P. Heinel, of Wilmington, will discuss in detail the American Legion's plan for universal military training contained in Congressional Bills H. R. 1988 and S. 651.

Short talks will be given by a clergyman, a World War II Combat veteran, a mother, a World War I veteran, and an educator on "Why I Am in Favor of Universal Military Training." Participating will be Rev. John Oldman, Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church, Wilmington; Dr. George R. Hill, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Thomas Lewis, Wilmington.

The public is invited to attend; admission is free. Following the talks, there will be a general forum. Dr. Carl J. Rees, Newark, Delaware State Vice Commander of The American Legion will act as moderator.

Vice-Commander Wm. K. Richardson will preside. The Legion's plan is nationally known as "The American Plan," since the bill, as placed before Congress, was drawn up by a group of clergymen, educators and various other professional people.

The American Legion legislation calls for:

1. A National Security Training Corps to be administered by a civilian commission.

2. Enrollment of all male citizens in this Corps upon reaching the age of 18, to undergo periods of training carefully integrated into every young man's plan for his career, with instruction provided close to his home.

3. Four months of basic training to develop the spirit of team-work and determine each trainee's capabilities for advanced training.

The advanced training can be selected from the following six plans:

Pursuance of basic scientific, professional, advanced military, technical specialist or educational courses at colleges, universities, or approved special schools for 36 weeks.

Satisfactorily completing a cadetship at either the U. S. Military, Naval, Coast Guard or Maritime Academy.

Completing a college or university ROTC course.

DELAWARE DELEGATES TO NATIONAL 4-H CAMP

Glasgow Boy
Is Selected As One Of State's Representatives

From June 11 to 18 the nation will be host to 200 4-H delegates from all over the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. This year the National 4-H Club Camp will be held at Arlington Farms, Virginia, across the Potomac from the Lincoln Memorial.

Those members chosen to represent Delaware's 4-H boys and girls are Ann Sapp, of Houston; Ida Milbourn, of Milford; William Francis O'Brien, of Seaford; and Boyd Cook, of Glasgow. Although the camp serves as an incentive for all 4-H boys and girls, only a few can be chosen as delegates. Each state selects four members who have been outstanding in achievement, leadership, and community service to represent all its 4-H members.

The camp theme this year will be "Serving as a Citizen in Our Representative Government." Through tours and discussions these boys and girls will gain a better understanding of how our National Government functions and the important part that can be taken by each citizen. 4-H members also gain a wide variety of suggestions from one another which they can use in the cooperative development of their own local 4-H Club programs.

This year four camp delegates will be accompanied by Miss Mary Jean Lee, State 4-H Club Specialist, who will attend the state leaders conference which is held in conjunction with the camp.

STRONG U. S. ARMY, NAVY NEEDED SAYS ADM. BLANDY

Required As Safeguard, Not
Imperialistic
Threat Abroad

A strong American fighting force will be a safeguard for our own country and not an imperialistic threat to others, said Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, halve of Newark, who returned here Saturday to speak at the Alumni Day banquet of the University of Delaware.

The argument that a powerful U. S. Army and Navy need cause fear in other countries he described as childish nonsense. "If we had intended to grab anything from any other nation the time to have done so was in 1945 when we had the greatest Navy, the strongest Army and the most powerful Air Force the world had ever seen."

As for international control of the atom bomb, he said, "A mere promise, even by all countries not to use or make use of atomic weapons will probably be no more effective than the Kellogg-Briand Treaty of 1929 by which the signatory nations renounced war. . . . Germany and Japan signed that treaty. What were their signatures worth?"

Describing his early associations here, the famed commander of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet said he was returning home in a "very real sense." "I lived here as a boy," he said, "and then attended the university until in my junior year I was appointed a midshipman in 1909."

While visiting here he met many of the Purnell and Blandy family relations. He stayed with his sister, Mrs. Paul F. Pie, of 313 West Main Street.

Dr. W. O. Sypher, former President of the university and now university professor, was presented with a clock from the Alumni Association.

Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the university, was the main speaker at a banquet attended by approximately 150 members of the Alumnae Association.

NAVY SEEKS RESERVES IN DRIVE HERE

Campaign
Began Monday;
Benefits Listed

Newark is participating in the nation-wide celebration of Naval Reserve Week from May 18-25 through a drive to enroll veterans in the Volunteer Reserve and the Organized Reserve. It has been announced by Lt. Commander F. H. Squire, who heads the local committee.

Other members of the local committee are: Lt.-Commr. G. C. Price, Lt. Winifred Taylor, and Lt. William S. Martin.

Pointing out the advantages of such action to the individuals concerned, Commander Squire emphasized the value of training to be received or renewed, the fact that longevity credit accrues through membership, and that training cruises are available to members, all without interruption of civilian life or employment.

During "Operation Naval Reserve" interested veterans have the privilege of filling out "Decorations of Intent," the first step in becoming a full-fledged member of the Reserve, with all the attendant privileges. A supply of proper forms are available in the offices of Paul Adams, Veterans Administration Training Officer at the University of Delaware. His office is located in the basement of the Memorial Library.

Veterans of not only the U. S. Navy, but of the Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Army as well are eligible within certain age groups. Non-veterans between the ages of 17 and 40 are also eligible.

Pay opportunities in the Reserve, it was pointed out, will be of interest to college students, especially veterans receiving education under the GI Bill. Most of them would be able to increase their monthly incomes 20-30% by attending Organized Reserve meetings once a week. Rate of pay is based upon rate of rank held.

Sunday, May 25, which brings Naval Reserve Week to a close, has been officially designated as "Navy Reserve Day."

To Consider Forming A. A. U. W. Branch Here

The possibility of establishing a Newark branch of the American Association of University Women, to be composed of study groups with regular sessions beginning next fall, will be discussed at an organization meeting next Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Warner Hall.

All women interested in establishing an A. A. U. W. chapter here are urged to attend.

Brief talks on the purpose and work of the organization will be given by the following members of the Wilmington branch: Mrs. Earl Ridler, Mrs. George Rigby, Miss William Blakey and Mrs. Frank R. Swezey.

If organized here, the chapter would meet in the homes of members to discuss music, books, world affairs, child care and other timely subjects.

Lice Control In Poultry Houses

With summer approaching poultrymen are likely to find lice on the hens and mites in the cracks and crevices of the laying house.

For control of lice, J. Frank Gordy, extension poultryman, suggests applying a thin stream of nicotine sulfate solution on top of the roosts about one-half hour before the birds go to roost. To kill mites, apply old crank case oil in all cracks and crevices.

Dye Removal Methods Listed

Many Delaware homemakers know that the soft sturdy cotton fabric of many floor and feed bags can be used for all sorts of household purposes such as aprons, tea towels, luncheon cloths, draperies and even bedspreads.

But the trick is getting the black printing off the material. Five different methods have been suggested by textile authorities of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

1. Scrub the bags with water and laundry soap. This often removes nearly all the ink. The rest usually disappears if bags are boiled in soap water for half an hour and rinsed. A chlorine bleach may be used to take out the last traces of black.

2. Wet a bar of laundry soap and rub on the dry bag until it is entirely covered with a thick layer of soap. Roll up the bag and let it stand several hours. Then wash and boil if necessary.

3. Soak the bag in kerosene overnight. Then wash—first in lukewarm water, then in soapy water—and rinse thoroughly.

4. Cover the black print with lard or soft petroleum jelly, rubbing the grease into the fabric thoroughly. Leave overnight to loosen the black, then wash in soapy lukewarm water and rinse.

5. Boil bags in water with sodium hydrosulphite or other dye removers, which may be purchased at drug stores. Follow the directions given on the package. Rinse well.

WALTER PERCY CHRYSLER.
An Editorial.

By Edgar Pennington Young.

Elbert Hubbard used to say that every great and successful business Institution was but the reflection of a single man.

He spoke the truth.

The vast Chrysler Corporation is but the reflection of an outstanding business Executive—one of the greatest the world has ever known,—Walter Percy Chrysler.

The story of how this great man began as a lowly mechanic and rose by the power of his own ability to the Presidency and Chairmanship of the mighty Chrysler Corporation, constitutes one of the most fascinating episodes in modern times.

The genius and ability of Walter Chrysler has brought to Newark and to Delaware a blessing for which we should not only be thankful, but should cause us to honor and respect the very mention of the name of Chrysler.

We live in a day when the tendency is to bite the hand that feeds us. Let that not be said of us.

The pity is that our Benefactor is not alive that we might express to him our heartfelt appreciation.

Walter P. Chrysler was born in Waukegan, Kansas, on April 2, 1875. After attending High School in Ellis, Kansas, he became an apprentice in the Machine Shops of the Union Pacific Railroad for which his father was a locomotive engineer.

In 1896 Mr. Chrysler became Foreman of the Denver and Rio Grande shops in Salt Lake City, and in 1900 General Foreman of the Colorado and Southern Shops at Trinidad, Colorado, where he was promoted to Master Mechanic.

As he gained experience Mr. Chrysler became deeply interested in the possibilities of the Automobile Industry and, in 1912, when Charles W. Nash became President of General Motors, he selected Mr. Chrysler as Works Manager of the Buick Motor Company, a Division of General Motors. His genius increased the Company's output in 8 years from 40 to 550 cars daily and netted General Motors in 1919 a profit of nearly Fifty Millions of Dollars.

This achievement marked him as one of America's foremost automobile Builders and resulted in his election as President and General Manager of the Buick Motor Company in 1916, and first Vice President of General Motors in charge of Operations in 1919. He resigned these positions in 1920 to become Executive Vice President and General Manager of the Willys-Overland Company, where he placed the business, which had been in financial difficulties, on a sound basis. In the midst of this task, in 1920, he undertook the reorganization of the Maxwell-Chalmers Motor Company, also on the verge of Bankruptcy, with liabilities of Thirty Millions and 26,000 unsold cars scattered throughout the Country.

A Reorganization Committee, with Mr. Chrysler as Chairman, purchased the assets of the Company at auction and formed the new Maxwell Motor Corporation, of which he became President. Under his management the indebtedness was financed, the unsold cars disposed of and new outlets developed for future production.

Mr. Chrysler saw and seized upon the opportunity to realize the ambition of many years: to create a new Company and a new car, which resulted in the production of the Chrysler automobile, introduced in four models in 1924. The first year produced 32,000 "Sixes" which was then a record in Automobile history unsurpassed until 1928, when another Chrysler product, the DeSoto Six, established a first year production of 81,065, which resulted in Mr. Chrysler being called the "Pacemaker."

The Chrysler Corporation, of which Mr. Chrysler was President and Chairman of the Board, succeeded the Maxwell Motor Corporation in 1925 and became one of the strongest units in the Industry. In 1928 it purchased the business organized by Dodge Brothers. In 1933 the Chrysler Corporation produced 451,734 cars, passenger and commercial, the value of which was $238,675,951.

Mr. Chrysler was not only a genius for Administration and Finance, but his ability as a mechanical engineer was universally recognized. He made it a practice to devote every spare moment with his Engineers with whom he studied, analyzed and experimented to keep his products in the front rank.

Following are the automobile features for which Mr. Chrysler was responsible: Hydraulic four-wheel brakes; high duty cam development muffler pressure-relief valve; paraflex spring suspension; oil purifier; full pressure lubrication for moderate priced cars and clutch case ventilation; high frequency valve springs; chilled cast iron faced tappets; one-piece heat control of manifold electric fumer and invar strut pistons; rubber engine mounting; fully counterweighted crankshaft and balanced road wheels; isotherm invar pistons; rubber-cored shackles; grouped gauges and instruments; high compression engines; down draft carburetors; floating power engine mountings; valve seat inserts; coincidental starter, and air wheel tires.

In 1930 the Chrysler Building of 77 stories with a height of 1046 feet, was opened in New York City, then the tallest building in the World.

Mr. Chrysler was forceful, exacting, quick minded, far sighted, optimistic and home-loving. He criticized severely and frankly but rewarded success generously. He saw the future clearly, and when called upon to make a decision, did so quickly and without hesitation. Boating, golf and hunting were his principal sports and the collection of tapestries and Oriental rugs his hobby.

On June 6, 1901, Mr. Chrysler married Della Viola, daughter of John Forker, of Ellis, Kansas, and had four children: Thelma, who married Byron Cecil Foy, now Vice President of the Chrysler Corporation in New York;—Bernice, who married Edgar W. Garbisch; Walter, Jr., and Jack Chrysler.

Mr. Chrysler died on August 18, 1940.

Active work on the construction will soon begin. The General Contractor is the well known firm of McCloskey & Company, of Philadelphia, who will be introduced to our readers in a subsequent Editorial.

To the Chrysler Corporation; its President, K. T. Keller; its Vice President, Byron C. Foy, and to the President of the Chrysler Motor Parts Corporation, which is building our Plant,—S. W. Munroe, we extend our thanks and felicitations, and assure them one and all of our heartfelt appreciation and co-operation. Their welfare will be our welfare.

The Architects for this great Construction project are the Albert Kahn Associated Architects and Engineers, Inc., of Detroit, who have become famous in their particular line, and of which organization George Miehs is President. We will have more to say of this Institution in the near future.

DELAWARE FARM FRONT THIS WEEK

Only during the next two or three weeks will pastures alone furnish sufficient feed for maximum production predicts Delmar J. Young, extension dairyman. After this period, Young cautions Delaware dairymen to watch their pastures closely and as they become grazed down to supplement their dairy feeding with silage and hay.

Young bases this recommendation on the fact that the average cow needs 100 pounds of grass daily to maintain her body and produce 20 pounds of 4 per cent milk if she is given no other supplemental feeds.

Cows producing more than this amount of milk and cows on pasture that is short must get the additional food elements from barn feeding.

Maximum milk production through the summer can be maintained only by careful attention to adequate feeding.

Whether you are transplanting acres or plants or only a few in the garden, give starter solutions a trial this year. It will pay dividends.

This is the advice of E. P. Brasher, extension horticulturist, who points out that a starter solution will lessen the shock of transplanting and speed early plant growth.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Sir:

The members of the Newark Legion Post invite all the citizens of Newark to participate in a public discussion of Universal Military Training to be held in the Newark New Century Club, Tuesday, May 27, at 8:15 p. m.

For the enlightenment of your readers I want to set down a few particulars about Universal Military Training. Universal Military Training is insurance against war. The very fact that the United States is prepared for war would serve as a powerful brake on anyone contemplating attack upon America.

At the same time, should war prove inevitable the reservoir of trained men acquired from a program of universal military training would enable us to meet the enemy on at least even terms. It would preclude the appalling sacrifice of men and material which has accompanied entry of an unprepared America into all our wars.

Twenty-eight years of study, research and evaluation have gone into the UMT plan which The American Legion is proposing to the Congress for adoption.

This plan calls for four months of basic training for every youth of 18. The youth may round out his training through one of several options offered. Among these are: enrollment in the National Guard or active organized Reserve for a three-year term; technical or scientific training in college; a four-year ROTC course; and enlistment in the Regular Army or Navy. The training would commence any time after graduation from high school but before the youth's twentieth birthday.

Under this plan the responsibility for administration of the general program rests with civilian authorities. To assure maximum integration with educational and economic pursuits, basic training would be given the young men as near to his home as possible. The plan guarantees that the trainee receive constant attention to his moral and physical development.

Very truly yours,
Wm. K. Richardson
Vice Commander
American Legion

TO OBSERVE 4-H SUNDAY

Special church services will highlight the observance of 4-H Club Sunday, May 25, in Delaware 4-H clubs, it has been announced by club agents in each county.

Since its inception a decade ago, the observance of 4-H Club Sunday has become an increasingly significant part of the 4-H Club programs in a large number of states, including Delaware. This year, the theme, "Working together for a better home and world community," was given its first impetus during the observance of National 4-H Club Week, and will continue to be the theme of all 4-H events during 1947 in accordance with the action taken by State club leaders.

In the observance of 4-H Club Sunday, members are always encouraged to attend the church of their own choice. At that time their attention can well be directed to the development of their own spiritual lives—as expressed in the recent Children's Charter. "For every child, spiritual and moral training to help him stand firm under the pressure of life." It is this individual spiritual development that is the crucial factor in carrying a people through triumphantly in any crisis which unites them in working earnestly together for a better home and world community.

4-H CONTEST IS LAUNCHED

A better work methods contest is now being offered Delaware 4-H boys and girls, through the cooperation of the Delaware Power and Light Company.

This new project will include the same goals as those set up by the National 4-H Club Better Farm and Home Methods Contest, the awards for which are provided by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation. The requirements differ slightly, in that the minimum age for competing in the National contest is 14 years. In the Delaware contest, any boy or girl at least 12 years of age may take the project and compete for one of the five cash awards of $10 each.

In the better work methods project, a club member chooses a farm chore or household duty which he thinks can be improved, either by rearrangement of equipment or by the addition of a few new pieces of equipment, either homemade or manufactured. By analyzing each step or phase of the job he may find many simple time or step-savers.

At the end of the project year, all 4-H members enrolled in this project will submit their completed better work methods record book to the county 4-H club agents, who will serve as part of a committee to select the five best records in the state. The club members who meet the requirements for the National contest may then continue in the competition for the Westinghouse award.

Meet the greatest career woman of all!! She doesn't manage a business, write novels, paint portraits, or sing over the radio. Her job is more important than any of these—she runs a home!

What a job that is! In a year she washes more than 6 tons of dishes, cooks more than 1,000 meals, wades through mountains of laundry, trundles her vacuum cleaner across acres and acres of rugs!

A lot of work? Sure! But it's much easier work with electricity. And, like everyone, she has come to depend upon Electricity—to take it for granted. Just one more proof of a service so reliable you can confidently trust it to do countless jobs in home, office, farm, store or factory.

CONCERT BY SYMPHONIC BAND FRIDAY

University Group To Give First Program

The first formal concert of the University of Delaware Symphonic Band will take place tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. in Mitchell Hall, when a program featuring both classic composers and modern contemporaries will be presented under the direction of J. Robert King, instructor in instrumental music at the University of Delaware, and director also of the Newark Civic Symphony, which gave its initial concert just last month.

The Symphonic Band was organized immediately after the close of the football season, and made its first appearance at the Christmas program presented jointly by the music and drama departments at the university.

As a result of the cooperative efforts of the university and the State Department of Music the Symphonic Band gave three concerts on April 13 in Caesar Rodney, Georgetown and Seaford Schools.

The program for this Friday's concert includes the following: Prelude and Fugue in B-flat Minor by Bach; Royal Fireworks Music, Handel; Suite in E-flat for Military Band, Holst; Prelude in E-flat Minor, Shostakovich; Malaguena, Lecuona; Mardi Gras from Mississippi Suite, Grofe; and Headlines, Colby.

Annual ROTC Inspection Held Tuesday At U. Of D.

On Monday a group of four officers from Headquarters, First Army, arrived in Newark to conduct the Annual Final Inspection of the ROTC Unit at the University of Delaware. The Inspection Board consisted of Col. H. P. Storke, Field Artillery, President of the Board and Lt. Col. G. M. Simmons, Signal Corps; Major M. T. Nesbitt, Field Artillery; and Major R. W. Van Wert, Ordnance Department as Board Members.

The Inspection was held Monday and Tuesday. The Board Members observed classes and conducted tests requiring practical application and demonstration in all subjects taught during the year in the Military Courses.

The Inspection was concluded Tuesday with a Review of the ROTC Cadet Battalion on Frazer Field.

Mrs. Earle Evans Named Outstanding Club Member

The Wimodauss home demonstration club of the Hockessin and Marshallton communities has named Mrs. G. Earle Evans, of Marshallton, as its outstanding member. Mrs. Evans was a charter member of the Wimodauss club which was organized in 1929 and was the club's first treasurer. In 1938 she was president and in 1939 served as secretary. In addition to the offices she has held Mrs. Evans has been publicity chairman for her club since its organization.

In 1934 she attended a "National Rural Forum" at Washington, D. C., and in 1936 she was one of Delaware's representatives at a conference of the Associated Country Women of the World.

She has had almost a perfect attendance, has been a faithful project leader and has attended 3 of the 7 homemakers Short Courses held at the University of Delaware, Newark.
