University Suspends Six Students For October 12 ROTC Walk-In

By SHAUN MULLEN

It was homecoming this weekend on the Delaware campus, but it was a homecoming of another kind for six university students.

Six students were suspended "indefinitely" for their participation in the Wright Field "walk-on" ROTC protest Oct. 12.

Dr. John E. Hocutt, vice president for student affairs, said: "Six students who were identified as participants in the group which disrupted the military science class of Oct. 12 have been heard by the student-faculty committee responsible for discipline. All six have been suspended from the university."

NAMES WITHHELD

A university spokesman declined to disclose the names of those suspended. Apparently, no action has been taken on the other participants of the walk-on.

On Oct. 12, Col. Edward G. Allen, who will retire today as Professor of Military Science to become Director of Financial Aid for the university, said the 26 students who walked out of ROTC drill would be counted as absent from class. He said no disciplinary action would be taken.

However, Dean of Men Donald P. Hardy said that the non-cadet protest marchers involved in the walk-on "interfered with the class and will be disciplined."

PICKETS PROTEST

Students have been picketing on the steps of Hulihan Hall since Friday afternoon to protest the suspensions under the sponsorship of an ad hoc Committee for Reinstatement. One student has picketed for each one hour shift from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. carrying signs saying "Suspension For The Six Unjust" and "Justice Not Vengeance."

The Committee for Reinstatement leafleted dormitories and other campus locations over the weekend and yesterday. The leaflets announced a rally Tuesday evening on the steps of Hulihan Hall and asked "were the proceedings conducted in a fair and impartial manner by the Student Personal Problems Committee, or in an atmosphere of pressure and expediency?" The leaflet stated that "The committee violated their own standards of procedure" in not notifying the six students of their violation within 24 hours of the hearing; that "additional testimony was heard after the defendants had been told to leave

Newark Court Drops Charges For Nineteen

Charges were dropped for 19 people, among them university students, for a "disorderly" party Oct. 7, last Thursday evening in Newark Alderman's Court.

The 19 were among 31 people arrested Oct. 7 when Newark police raided a party at 125 E. Delaware Ave. Disorderly conduct charges had previously been dropped or dismissed against six others at the party. One man was found guilty of loitering. Four others were charged with additional offenses. Their cases were continued until Nov. 22 after their lawyer asked for more time to prepare a defense.

"The city doesn't condone what the group did," said Solicitor England, referring to the party. "The City of Newark, having reviewed all the

Statement On Suspensions

TO THE EDITOR:

There appears to be misunderstanding concerning action taken by the Committee on Student Personnel Problems with respect to the students who disrupted a Military Science class on October 12.

Six students were suspended on October 26 for their participation in this event.

There were two incidents which occurred on October 12. When the Military Science class began, approximately 18 students "walked out"; i.e., left the class. This behavior does not come under the purview of the Committee on Student Personnel Problems. Later in the same class period, a group of about 30 students and non-students walked on to the drill field and proceeded to march about the formations of cadets. Some in the latter group engaged in goose-stepping, the Nazi salute, and shouts of "Seig Heil" and "Kill." It was the "march-on" group which disrupted the class.

GROUP IDENTIFIED

As of October 26, six students who were members of the "march-on" group had been identified. Two of the six cases were heard by the Committee on Student Personnel Problems on October 19. The other four cases were heard on October 26. Decisions on the October 19 cases were deferred by the Committee until October 26 on the chance that additional information, pro or con, might be forthcoming at subsequent hearings. No new facts pertinent to the October 19 cases were heard on October 26, making it unnecessary to reopen the earlier cases. Thus, all six cases were decided on the latter date.

The Committee on Student Personnel Problems is the Standing Committee of the University faculty charged with the responsibility for student discipline. The Committee is comprised of seven faculty members representing each of the seven undergraduate Colleges, four students, the Deans of Men and Women and the Vice President for Student Affairs. All are voting members, except that the Dean of Men does not vote in the resolution of a case involving a male student and the Dean of Women does not vote in a case involving a woman student.

PROCEDURES PUBLISHED

In the review of disciplinary cases, the Committee follows published procedures. In no way are these procedures identical to those of a civil court. Every effort is made, however, to safeguard the rights of students referred to the Committee because of misconduct. Each student who appears before the Committee is given written notice in advance of the charge and of the procedures followed by the Committee. Each student is informed that his Faculty Adviser is being invited to attend the hearing and that in addition the student might invite one other member of the University Faculty or staff to attend in an advisory capacity. Others known to have first-hand knowledge of the incident also are invited by the Committee. Information pertaining to the student's misconduct is heard only in the presence of the accused student. The student is informed of his right to make known all pertinent information bearing on his case, or to remain silent if he so chooses. All Committee hearings are closed to safeguard the confidential and privileged nature of information to which the Committee sometimes is exposed.

RIGHT TO LEARN

Among the major obligations of a university is that of protecting the right of students to learn. Therefore, any willful disruption of a class is regarded as a most serious offense, and is comparable in its gravity to cheating in academic work. The Committee on Student Personnel Problems may impose penalties which range from reprimand to expulsion. In relation to penalties which have been imposed for other types of student misconduct, the Committee considered suspension for the six who participated in the class disruption as an entirely appropriate and just penalty.

The Military Science class which was disrupted is a regularly scheduled class in which students are enrolled for credit. The fact that this particular class is held outdoors on a drill field does not alter the fact that the University must afford this class the same protection from disruption which must be given every other class taught at the University whether it is held in a lecture hall, in a laboratory, or in a seminar room.

The University has stated that it respects

Smokey Robinson Draws Crowd Distractions Mar 'Miracles' Show

By ANDREW STERN

If it weren't for the poor sound system, if it weren't for the rowdy teenyboppers, if it weren't for the walk-off of the Monitors, then it would have been the perfect concert.

If it weren't for Smokey Robinson and the Miracles it wouldn't have been a concert at all.

Point by point it was possibly the worst concert put on in recent years. Everything was set for a perfect concert last Friday night. After all it was Homecoming weekend and Gilbert D-E had the tremendously popular Smokey Robinson.

For the weeks leading up to the concert everything went perfectly but at 7:30 Friday night the balloon burst.

The show began at 8 p.m. with the Monitors, three men and a girl, who seemed to be the typical Motown group. Seemed, that is, because nobody in the fieldhouse heard them with the possible exception of Bohammar, and the Motown Sound, the back-up band.

With the first song, the sound system blew out. The engineers worked feverishly but the amplifier was gone and the Monitors walked off the stage after doing only three numbers.

The lights went on and it was announced that there would be a slight 15 minute delay while a new sound system was installed. An hour and a half later at 10 p.m. two loudspeakers from Colburn Hall were brought and the concert went on.

Skipping the preliminaries, Smokey and the Miracles came right on to perform. After their opening, Smokey set the tone for the evening by moving into "Tracks of My Tears." Although Johnny Rivers was the latest to record this song, his effort was forgotten when Smokey poured his soul into his own composition.

"Love Is Just a Mirage" was next and the screaming of the teenyboppers, possibly attracted by the announcements on the Wilmington radio stations and newspapers, began.

Admitting admiration of Burt

Bacharach, Smokey next did the song Bacharach wrote for Dionne Warwick, "Walk on By." Screaming continued and several of the little people from the high schools surged forward.

Briefly, and perhaps this should have been the entire review, Smokey Robinson and the Miracles were great. They are true showmen knowing how to draw out a crowd and make everyone appreciate their talent. Their voices flung out the songs with just the right touch of soul and inspiration and they truly showed themselves to be great entertainers.

However, one cannot overlook the distractions that quite frankly ruined the show.

Congressman Demands Colleges Ban SDS Or Lose Federal Educational Funds

WASHINGTON (CPS) -- One United States Congressman thinks the Federal Government should deny funds to any college or university which permits Students for a Democratic Society to have an organized chapter on its campus.

"SDS has been infiltrated by the Communists, and therefore I think all colleges throughout the United States should ban SDS from their campuses," says Rep. Joe Pool, (D-Tex.).

Pool, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HUAC), said he is currently investigating SDS, but he has not decided if he will introduce legislation in Congress concerning the student organization.

DISLOYAL ACTS

However, he strongly believes Congress should stop giving Federal money to colleges which have SDS chapters. "Why should Congress furnish money to any organization or institution that is fostering disloyal and unpatriotic acts against the United States?" Pool asked. He said college administrations, by merely permitting SDS on their campuses, are showing their approval and in a small way promoting the goals of the organization.

Pool said he is opposed to SDS because its members are "trying to destroy our national security by getting rid of the draft--they are sabotaging our war effort."

AID DRAFT EVASION

SDS members are "informing our young people of both legal and illegal ways to avoid the draft," the Congressman said. "They may not be breaking the law themselves because of the First Amendment, but they are getting other people to break the law."

Pool said any college which has such activity on its campus should not receive "the taxpayers' money. We should not use tax funds to pay for draft resistance."

"I am sure the majority of the members of Congress will be interested in stopping this SDS group and their attempts to destroy our security," Pool added.

"I believe in freedom of speech and freedom of the press and all the other principles in the First Amendment," Pool said. "But you have to draw the line when an organized group actually tries to destroy the very strength of our armed might, the draft."

OVERTHROWN GOVERNMENT

The Congressman said if SDS members "are teaching people to violate the law and to engage in illegal acts, it is not a violation of the First Amendment to stop them. They have exceeded their rights to freedom of speech and the press. These people are getting close to advocating the overthrow of the government when they do this."

Pool said young persons who turned in their draft cards this week should be prosecuted. He also voiced strong disapproval of the anti-war protest at the Pentagon October 21.

Although Pool is conducting his own investigation of SDS, he said he also has asked HUAC to investigate "SDS and other organizations which are trying to stop the draft." He said he wants HUAC to have "a formal widespread investigation to see if our internal security laws need tightening."

WOULD BE TREASON

Pool said the acts of SDS members "would be treason if we were in a declared war. The fact that we are in an undeclared war does not alter the situation in my mind."

Asked if SDS is the only organization colleges should ban from their campuses, Pool said, "I don't think colleges should recognize such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan, the American Nazi Party, or the Communist Party either."

Buckley Appears On 'Dissenters'

William Buckley, Jr., noted conservative columnist, will appear on the local educational television station, channel 12, tonight at 9:30 p.m.

Buckley will be the guest on "Dissenters," a program dealing with the so-called "Lunatic fringe."

He is the editor of the "National Review," a well-known television personality, syndicated columnist, and presently noted for his verbal assault on the John Birch Society.

The program will be a rebroadcast of an earlier show, and will be centered around Buckley's conservative view of America and the world.

England said that there was no desire upon the part of those concerned with law enforcement to jeopardize the academic careers of those not responsible for maintaining the "disorderly" house or interfering with police officers in the course of their duties. "I would hope that you would learn something by this treatment, for if you don't, you don't deserve to be in school."

Jacob Kreshtool, representing the other four defendants, said he needed more time to prepare the defense. Kreshtool, president of the Delaware chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, also made a motion for a bill of particulars, which is a request for more information on the case.

Alderman Daniel Ferry agreed to the requests but reminded Kreshtool that he was not in Superior Court but Alderman's Court and that the court must try to provide justice rapidly for both the prosecution and defense.

DENIED RIGHTS

In conclusion the Teaflet stated that "The suspensions are effective immediately, the students have been denied their right of appeal."

In a letter to the Review (see this page), vice-president Hocutt and Dr. Robert L. Bull, chairman of the Committee on Student Personal Problems, justified the committee's decision.

Committee Action: Reservations?

Almost everyone agrees that some action had to be taken in the case of the students who "walked on" the ROTC drill field on October 12. The disagreement concerns the relative severity of the punishment. Not having in its possession the records of the Committee on Student Personnel Problems in these cases, the Review finds it impossible to pass judgement on any decision reached by the Committee, however the right to comment on the situation as it appears to the academic community at large is reserved.

A memorandum distributed to the university faculty on October 13 by Dr. Robert L. Bull, chairman of the Committee on Student Personnel Problems, cites as two objectives of the Committee: "responsibility for protecting the university's standards of integrity" and "assisting those few students who are guilty of misconduct to profit from those mistakes." In taking action against six students involved in the "walk-on" the Committee has fulfilled the first objective, however one might question whether or not the second objective has been considered.

Suspension would seem like a last resort, to be used only after the strictures of disciplinary and/or social probation have been breached by a student, for the possibility of helping an individual to profit in any but a small way by a complete severance with the university environment seems quite slim. Of course if the students involved in this case have records of misconduct, the decision would be entirely warranted. The probability of all six students being or having been on disciplinary probation is, however, unlikely.

It would seem, also, with a decision of "indefinite suspension" having been reached in all six cases, that individual circumstances were not considered so much as the offense itself and the necessity for punishment. Did all six have records of misconduct, and was the decision to "walk-on" premeditated and unregretted in each of six separate cases? If so, the decision is warranted.

That the suspended students participated in what amounts to disruption of a regularly-scheduled class, abridgement of the right to learn of fellow students, and interference with the functioning of the university is undeniable. Equally as clear is the fact that the six deserve correction, even to the severe curtailment of privileges.

It is neither our responsibility nor our desire to prescribe punishment in this or any other case involving student discipline. It does appear, however, that the Committee on Student Personnel Problems is not adhering to its stated objective of helping the student to profit from his mistakes, and that the cases were not considered on a truly individual basis without some conscious or unconscious response (however slight) to outside pressure.

Letter To The Editor

Library Needs New Audio System

To The Editor:

I would like to bring to the attention of the college community the deplorable condition of the audio resources of the Morris Library.

I believe that in the planning of the library's audio facilities, the establishment of its operating procedures and the determination of a plan for increasing the quality and extent of its holding, not enough attention was given to the importance of recording as an educational instrument, as well as a source of pure human enjoyment.

At a time when attempts are being made to increase the quality of service in other areas and to provide greater opportunities for study and research, I find it inconsistent that the audio facilities should be orphaned to the corners of the reserve reading room.

One must contend, in using the phonographs, with the pounding of books, turnstiles and time clocks, all of which, when combined with the loud talking at the desk, provide a menacing and unwanted obligation to the music or drama which the listener seeks.

There is no surface on which one may place a score, libretto or text, there is hardly any room for the record jacket which is not in use and there is no hope of writing comfortably.

Elbow on the table and chin in hand, a position which is both comfortable and relaxing (and because the neck needs some help holding the weight of the head and those enormous earphones, necessary) is difficult to achieve when there is so little table available.

There is the necessity of constantly changing and turning over records, and it is a demonstrable fact that, even in careful and experienced hands, records are subject to scratching and dirtying in proportion to the amount of handling they receive. The condition of the records in the library is, in general, terrible.

The extraneous accompaniment of scratches and skips detract from the tenderness of Mimi's death. Very often the library's holdings are limited to one or two versions of a work where there should be four or five. Many works are not available at all, and often an important interpretation or new production of a play or musical piece is not in the holdings.

It is very easy to find the flaws in a system and a bit more difficult to find solutions. As proof of my concern for this situation, I should like to offer some suggestions which may be of some use in solving or ameliorating the problems which exist.

Many institutions have begun to use a system of self-contained cartridge tapes, the advantage of which are quite evident. The cartridges require less storage space than conventional records, and are far easier to use; they are inserted into a slot in the machine, and no threading is required. There is little chance of damaging the quality of the recording since the "recording surface" is never touched.

The tapes can hold an entire play or opera so fewer changes are required. Not being subject to the vagaries of damaged needles and dirty fingers, the tapes are capable of greater quality of reproduction and are immensely more durable. The versatility of a tape is also clear—university programs,

'Brig' Analogous To Suspensions

To The Editor:

"The Brig" has been generally acclaimed on campus as a truly shocking or revolting experience (even by Dean Collins). As members of the cast, we are deeply gratified by this reaction. However, during the run of our presentation, a situation highly analogous to "The Brig" has developed on campus which should also inspire a similar reaction. We are referring to the suspension of six university students.

When a prisoner approaches the freedom line, he is beaten to insure that no one else will approach the line. When one prisoner is distinguishable from the rest by an unsquarred cap, he is pressed back into the mass.

Similarities are almost self-evident. The "system" has demanded the crushing of the different and the anti-system. The method used is that of excessively harsh punishment rather than the more American and more subtle carrot.

Just as the punishment of the prisoners goes beyond a loss of liberty, that of the six goes beyond mere suspension. The nearly total loss of their semester fees, the nullification of their 2-S deferment and the disinterest with both the individuals and due process are all designed to mold the six into obedient inputs of the system.

The reaction to "The Brig" has been of this system's inacceptability in human relationships. With respect to the suspension of the six we can see no reason for a different response.

broadcasts and lectures could be made available and tapes can be reused many times.

BASEMENT COULD BE USED

More time and money must be devoted to improving quality and extent of the collection. A series of "Hamlet" interpretations, for example, can be just as educational as a series of scholarly articles on the play, and it may well be more enjoyable. The facilities must also be made more comfortable--Julian Bream's lute is strangely out of place in a corner of the reserve area, and a listener needs room to fly with the Jefferson Airplane.

The recordings certainly deserve a better location; in the basement of the library is a large unused area, a spacious, modern and comfortable facility for listening, away from the maddening crowd. We have to let Mimi die in peace.

It would not be too curious to consider a few separate booths in which students or faculty could practice a reading or a lecture by listening to the playbacks of what they record, or even for them to bring their guitars and cello to see what they can do with Vivaldi or Dylan.

I don't believe that a modern university can ignore these suggestions, nor can it afford to avoid the expense involved. The writer welcomes comment and offers his help to anyone who is concerned enough to improve the situation.

Temple Dashes Hens' Title Hopes

By STEVE KOFFLER,
Assistant Sports Editor

Tom DeFelice threw two touchdown passes within three minutes in the final quarter to lead Temple to a thrilling 26-17 comeback victory over luckless Delaware before a record Delaware homecoming crowd last Saturday.

DeFelice threw for four touchdowns and 322 yards, a new Temple all-time single game passing record, surpassing injured John Waller's record of 268 yards set in last year's Temple 82-28 romp over Bucknell.

DeFelice's favorite target for the afternoon was end Jim

Callahan who hauled in 12 receptions breaking the old team mark of 11 set last year. Callahan also dropped two long bombs that could have gone in for scores.

MATHEMATICALLY ELIMINATED

During the first 30 minutes Delaware, now 1-5 on the season and mathematically eliminated from retaining their Middle Atlantic Conference championship of a year ago, held the Owls to eight yards rushing and 79 yards in the air. The Hens fired up for their homecoming game, marched 146 yards on the ground and 61 yards in the air to build up a 17-0 lead at half-time.

The second half however belonged to Temple. The Owls took the second half kickoff on their own 24 and marched 76 yards in 12 plays for their first touchdown. DeFelice passed six times in that drive including a three yard scoring pass to Callahan in the right side of the end zone. The attempt for a two point conversion was batted down, and the Hens led 17-6 with only 4:08 gone in the third quarter.

HENS STOPPED

Delaware got a break minutes later as DeFelice was clobbered landing off by Art Smith and John Miller recovered for the Hens at the Temple 20. The Hens moved the ball down to the Owl two yard line but were stopped there. On a fourth and goal from the two, Frank Linzenbold's pass, intended for Brian Wright, was broken up by Arnold Smith.

On Temple's next series of plays, DeFelice passed eight times in a drive that was culminated in a 33 yard touchdown bomb to George Agalias in the endzone. DeFelice's conversion pass attempt was knocked down by Keller and with only 14 seconds having elapsed in the fourth quarter, Delaware's lead was cut to a slim five points.

FUMBLE COSTLY

After an exchange of punts Delaware took over from their own 43. On the first play from scrimmage Gerry Twardowski stopped Jim Lazarski hard, forcing him to fumble the ball. Marteen Jones picked up the loose ball and Temple took over on the Delaware 43.

The Owls scored in seven plays, four of them in the air. DeFelice found Agalias open in the endzone for the score with 11:44 gone in the final quarter. Dick Eastwick's kick split the uprights and Temple took a 19-17 lead.

On a desperation pass from his own 43, Linzenbold fumbled attempting to pass and Wayne Coleman recovered for Temple. Five plays later, DeFelice hit Callahan in the endzone from the Hen 25 to insure the Temple victory.

HENS DOMINATE HALF

Delaware, in the first half, scored easily and literally ran over Temple. After their first sustained drive was stopped at the Temple 11 yard line, Lippincott attempted a field goal. It was blocked and the Owls took over from their 10. Four plays later Mike Busch fumbled a pitchout and Steve Sloan recovered for the Hens on Temple's 25.

cott attempted a field goal. It was blocked and the Owls took over from their 10. Four plays later Mike Busch fumbled a pitchout and Steve Sloan recovered for the Hens on Temple's 25.

Starting in his first game for the Blue Hens, sophomore Mark Lipson hauled in a Frank Linzenbold aerial on the Temple two. Two plays later John Spangler dove into the endzone to put Delaware out in front.

Early in the second quarter another Delaware drive stalled on the Temple 13. Lippincott again came into the lineup and this time booted a 25 yard field goal to up the Hens lead to 10-0.

With seven minutes remaining in the half Chuck McCallion recovered a DeFelice fumble on the Hen 48. Two plays later Brian Wright broke at least three tackles in a 48 yard touchdown run that, along with the conversion, gave the Hens a 17-0 halftime margin.

Frosh Whip Owls

By JOHN FUCHS

Ordinarily, when a football team wins by a score of 21-8, people don't consider it a decisive victory.

However, the undefeated Delaware frosh beat the formerly undefeated Temple frosh by that score last Friday afternoon and anyone who saw the game had to be impressed by the performance.

A powerful Blue Hen defense, led by middle linebacker John Sohanchak, didn't let the Owls get past their own 45 in the first half. The losers never posed a serious threat until the closing minutes of the fourth quarter when they scored their only touchdown.

The defensive line, Ted Gregory, Chuck Avery, Yancy Phillips and Eric Holle and linebackers Ray Holcomb, Sohanchak, and Mike Barbieri did a tremendous job. The Owls only managed 28 yards in 19 carries on the ground in the first half.

DREW FIRST BLOOD

The Hens drew first blood late in the first quarter as the Owl punter bobbled a pass from center and was forced to fall on the ball. Delaware took over with the ball resting on the Temple 3. On the second play, Dave Smith ran 6 yards around end for the score. Joe Shetzler kicked the extra point.

Shortly before the end of the first period, Ron Klein picked off an enemy aerial and ran it back 32 yards to the Owl 48. The Hens worked the ball down to the 20 where Smith took it in. Shetzler once again converted.

The Hens rallied again midway through the second quarter, gaining possession on a punt at the Temple 42. The drive was highlighted by an 18 yard Glenn Davis to Dick Kelley pass which set up Smith's third TD run, from the 20. Once again, Shetzler made the PAT and the score was 21-0 at the half.

Temple made their only score late in the fourth period on a nine yard run by quarterback John Lomdregan.

Booters Win 2-0 Over Ursinus

By ROSS FISCHER

Delaware's soccer team under the coaching of Loren Kline won its third game of the season this past Friday when they beat Ursinus College 2-0.

Under cloudless skies and with a strong wind which was against the Hens for two quarters Roger Morley sank the only two goals in the game. Early in first quarter Ken Morley crossed the ball in front of the goalmouth to center forward Jerry Wichmann. Wichmann literally wiped out the Ursinus goalie and as the ball came free Roger Morley capitalized for the point. It was almost a complete repetition of events when Morley scored his next point during the same period.

Although the game remained scoreless for the last three periods the pace of play did not slacken and Delaware maintained a superior standard of play against their opponents. Delaware's defense made full use of three fullbacks and two halfbacks in keeping Ursinus scoreless. Delaware outshot Ursinus, and their superior conditioning which has been evident throughout the season once again came through allowing the university team to maintain its fast pace.

The next game on the schedule is this Saturday when Franklin and Marshall plays the university in a home game at 11 a.m. behind the stadium. With the improved facilities including stands and an excellent playing surface soccer fans cannot help but enjoy the match. Delaware's record is now 3-2-1.

Losses Hard To Figure

By LYLE POE Sports Editor

It is very hard to figure how Delaware's football team can loose five times out of five in close games in which they appear capable of winning. There appears to be no obvious explanation. Sometimes, such as at Rutgers, we come on strong late in the game, only to fall short in the fourth quarter. Other times the Hens get off very fast and look like a sure winner, only to fall apart in the second half, like at Hofstra or in last Saturday's game. Occasionally the defense has had troubles while at other times the passing game or the running game are not as sharp as usual. But the Hens always make a decent showing and usually play exceptionally well in one facet or another of the game.

*** **

Why then can't the Hens put everything together, or at least put enough together to come out on the long end of the score in some close games? Usually when a team consistently wins its close battles, it is credited with being fired up and full of desire. Praise then is heaped on the coach for getting his boys ready and making the key play when it is most needed. With the Hens in the reverse situation, do they lack the aforementioned qualities? No they don't. Coach Raymond has directed the Hens strategically well this season. He also appears to have gotten the most from his players and has them ready for each game. The defense always hits hard and the offense plays with alertness and hustle.

*** **

Maybe Delaware is just in a year of transition. The fine football that some of the outstanding seniors, like halfback Brian Wright, have played is still in them. But the second and third times around the playing styles of Wright and Linzenbold may be more readily dealt with by our opponents. Linzenbold does not throw to a Mike Purzycki anymore, and Wright and Spangler don't follow the blocks of Ed Sand, Russ Bonnadonna, and Herb Slattery. This has to slow us down. On the other end of the scale are the sophomores, some of whom play good football but get hurt too often by apparent inexperience. Next year we have to be better off, with more experience particularly in several defensive spots. Also the best freshman team that the Hens have had in years should contribute many good players.
