

We had something to learn,
now it's time for the wheel to turn . . .
grains of sand, one by one,
before you know it, all gone . . .

— T. Rundgren

Good-bye is not an ending but a different start for making brand new friends and seeing dreams come true . . . Good-bye is not an ending for you'll find along life's way, within your heart you'll always have a part of yesterday . . .

— A. Bradley

Fly —

But remember don't look down
Take as much as you think you ought to Give just as much as you can Don't forget what your failures have taught you
Or else you'll learn them all over again . . .

— D. Fogelberg

The road goes ever on and on, down from the door where it began. Now far ahead the road has gone and I must follow if I can, pursuing it with eager feet until it joins some larger way where paths and errands meet. And wither then? I cannot say . . .

— J. Tolkien

Perhaps my day is dawning at last . . .

— T. Hardy

Look around and choose your own ground
For long you'll live and high you'll fly
And smiles you'll give and tears
you'll cry
And all you touch and all you see Is all your life will ever be . . .

— Pink Floyd

The complexity of things becomes more close . . . here at college
. . . Every hour something new is unburied . . . What am I? I ask.
This? No, I am that. Especially now, when I have left a room, and people talking, and the stone flags ring out with my solitary footsteps, and I behold the moon rising, sublimely, indifferently over the ancient chapel — then it becomes clear that I am not one and simple but complex and many . . .

— V. Woolf

Only the laughter at the end can stay the same — because all the days are ahead of us . . .

— — C. Wolf

Grand Finale II

The Grand Finale of 1981 was such a success that the Commencement Committee and the Mortar Board decided to have a Grand Finale II for 1982. In the Hollywood tradition of Rocky III and Star Trek II, Grand Finale II featured the music of Shytown and the acting of a sold-out student center crowd. The scenery for the Grand Finale II was expanded to handle the larger crowd of pumped up seniors and friends, but tickets for the show were still sold out. President of Mortar Board, Allison Blaine, directed the show.

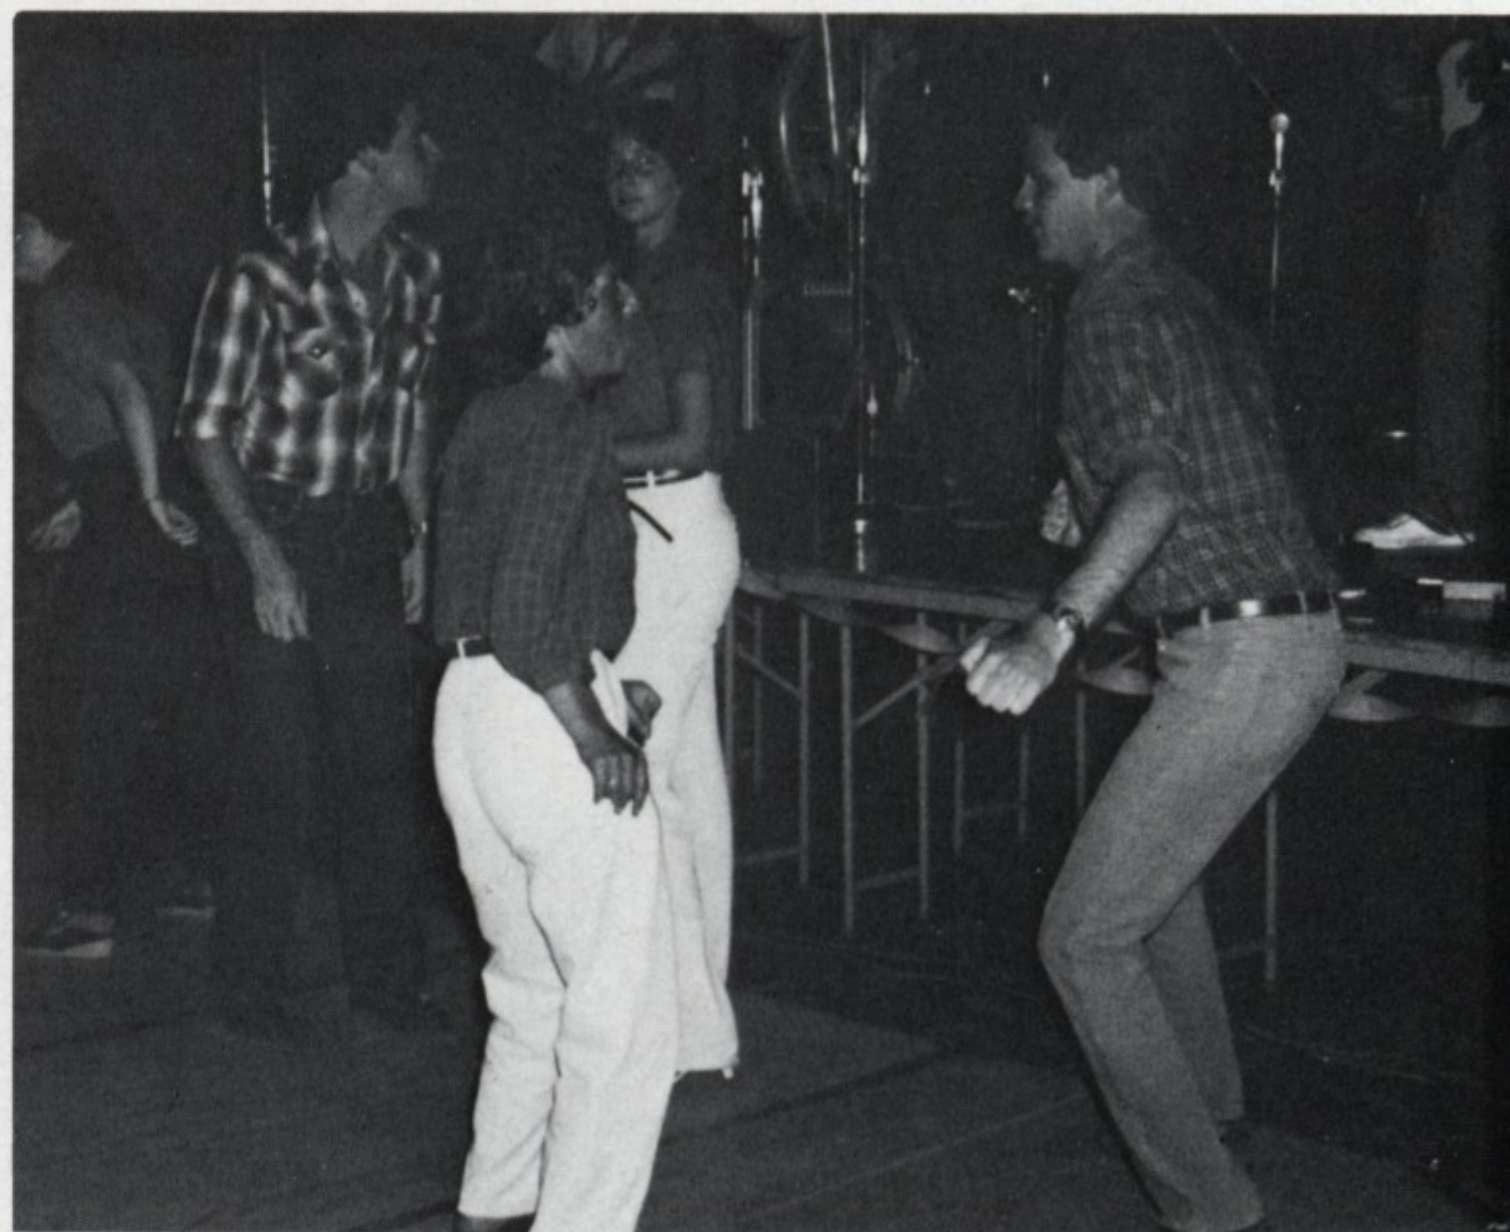

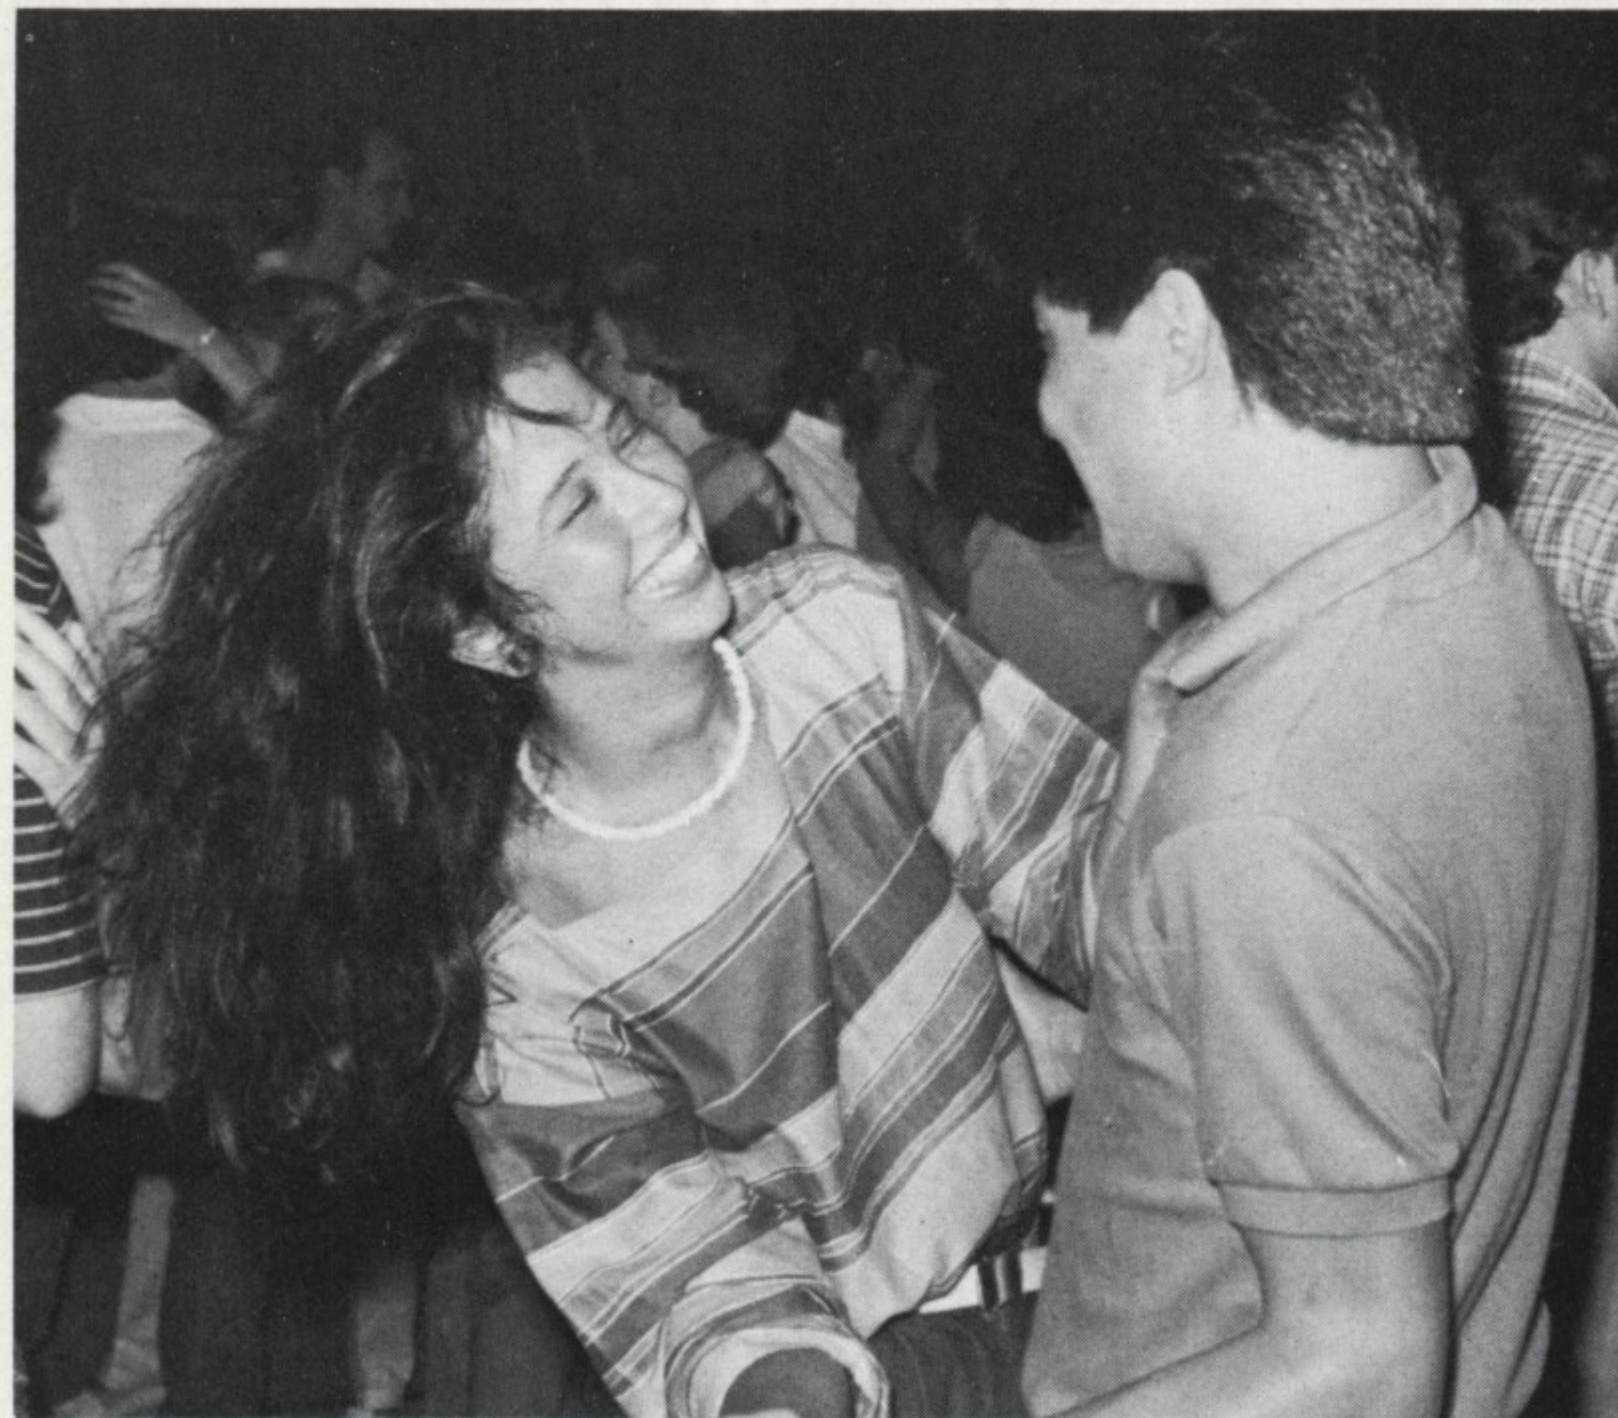

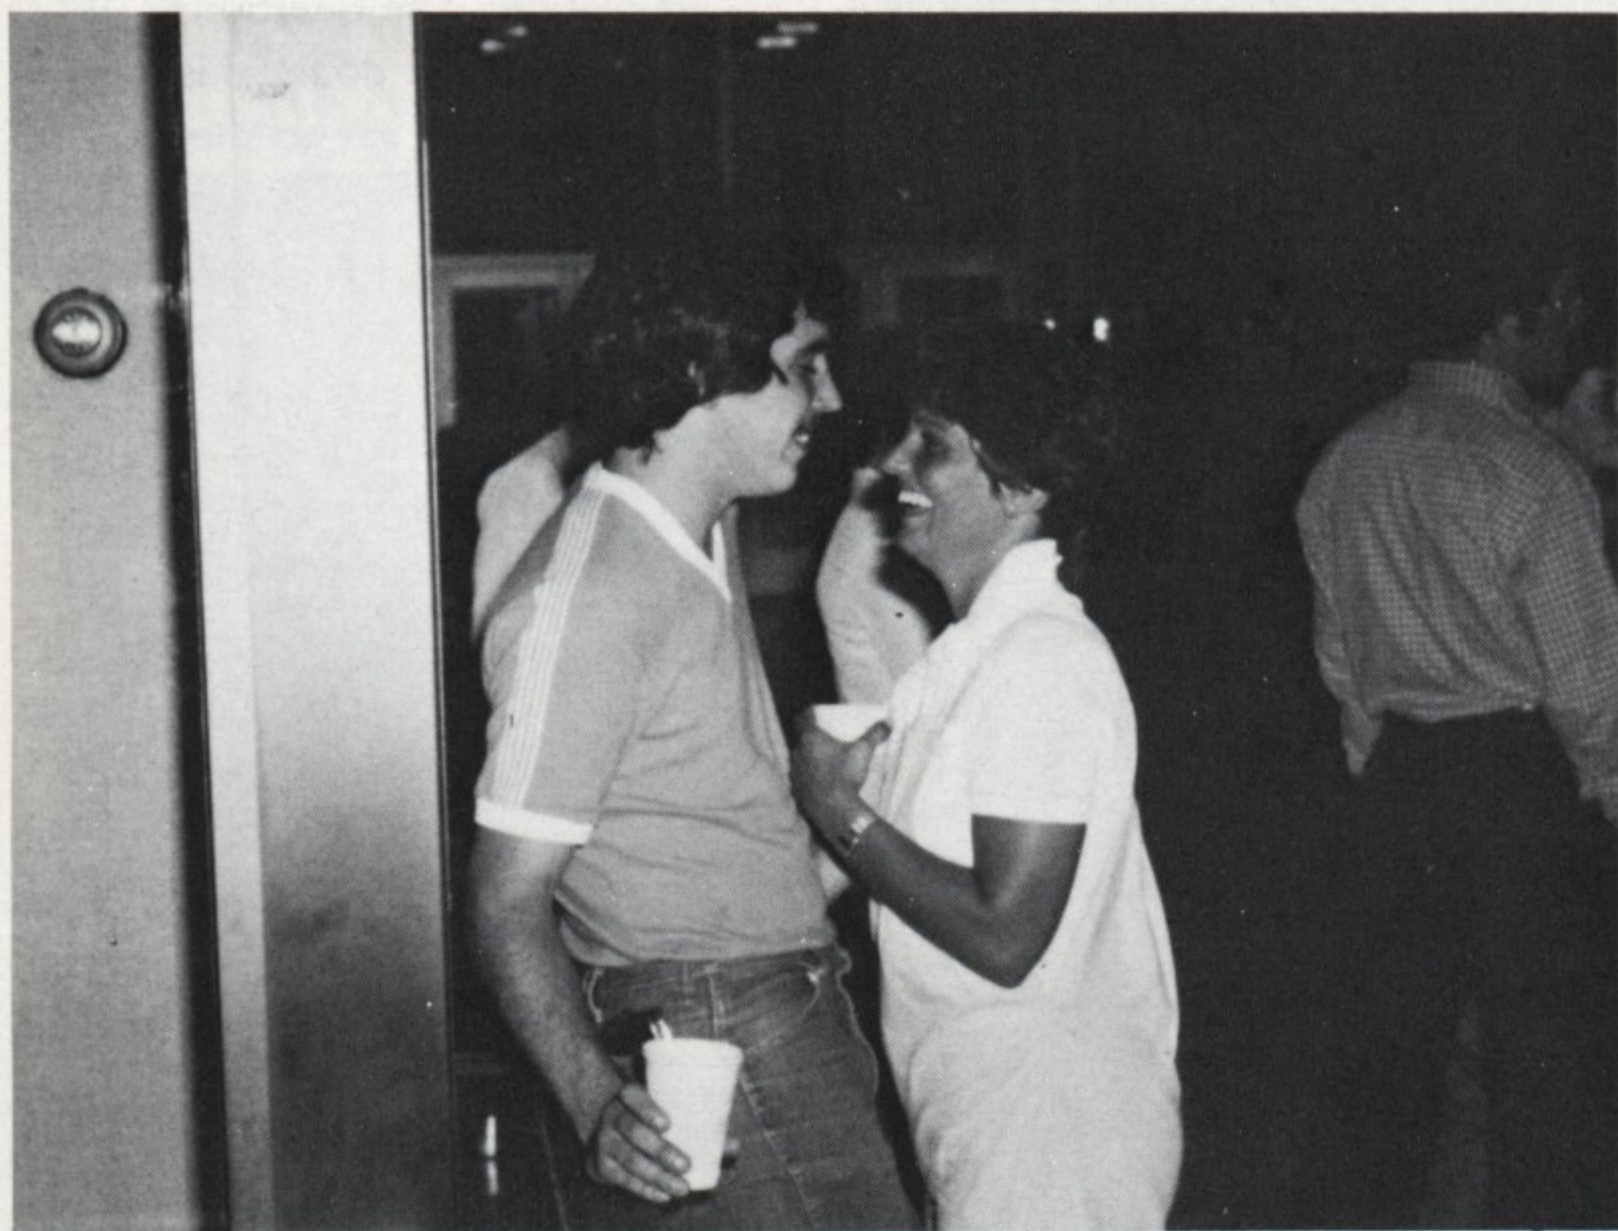

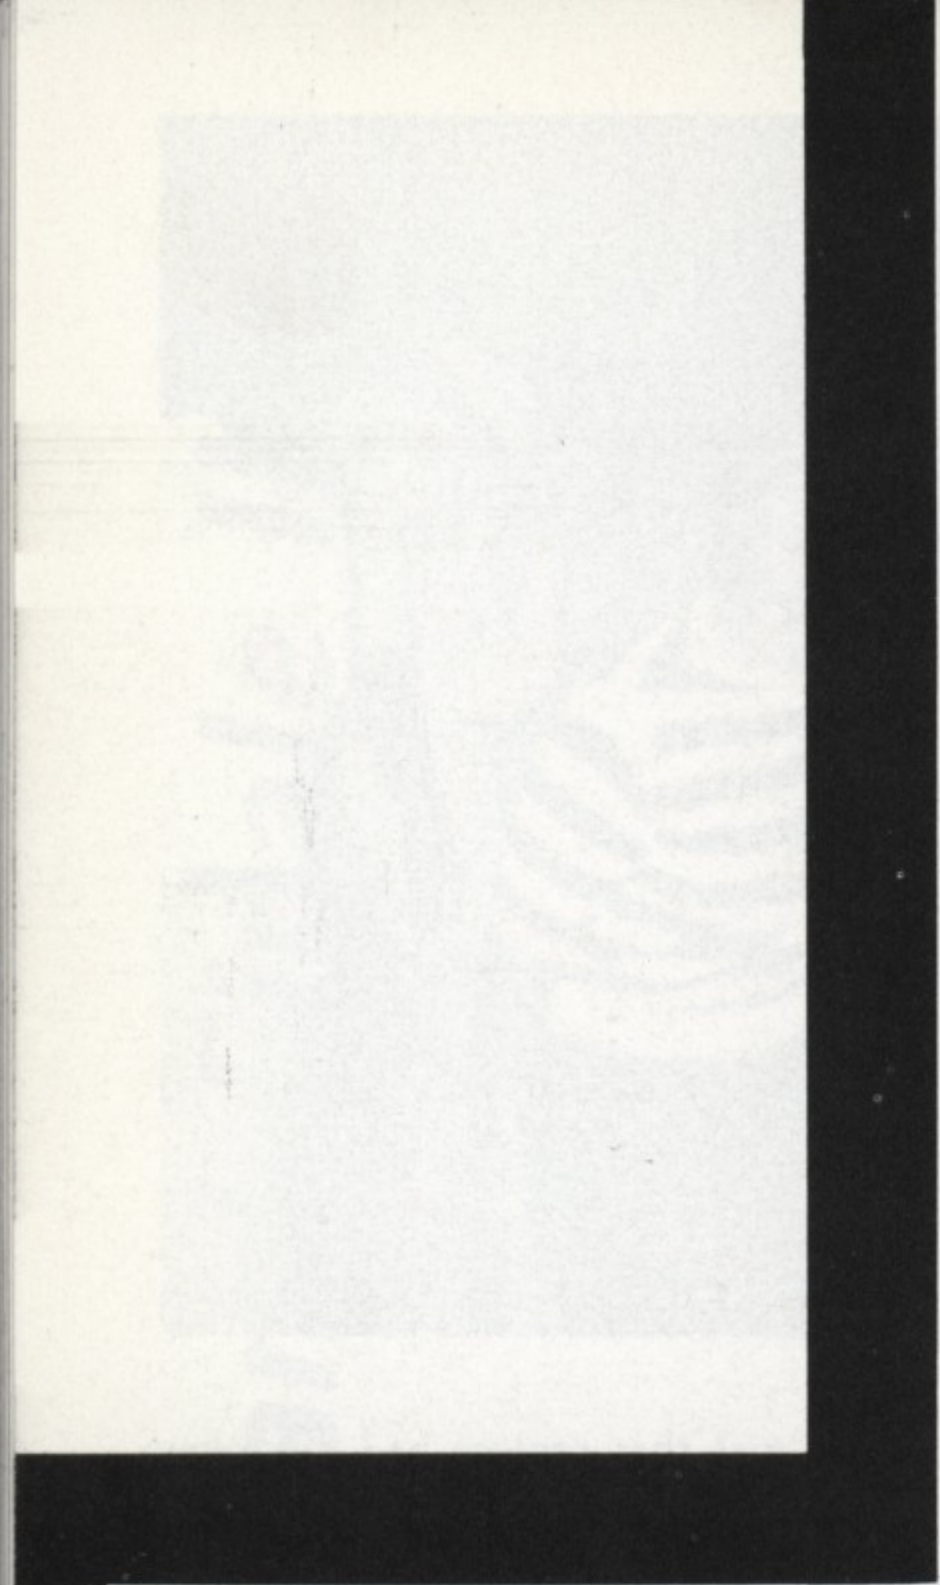

The Grand Finale II was an emotional time for most seniors. The mood at the beginning of the evening was that seniors had not seen their friends and classmates for an entire week between finals and graduation. The questions, "What have you been doing this week?" and "Did you get to the beach?" were common. As the evening unfolded, the band got heated up, the bar got busier, and the seniors got rowdier. The room became hot. The questions "Will you dance with me?" and "Can I get you a drink?" were asked.

As the final scene commenced and the wee hours of the morning were reached, a different mood descended upon the crowd. Through the haze in their minds, seniors began to realize that this Grand Finale II was likely to be the last time that they would be with these friends. The questions "Did you find a job yet?" and "Where will you be living?" became the most important topics of conversation. Seniors who had never been close before were emotionally drawn together to share their common frame of mind before the final parting of the ways. Friends kiss, hug, shake hands and say farewell. The music stops. Questions go unanswered.

Commencement '82

with Tradition*

June 5th, the day to remember for the largest graduating class in Delaware History. The record number of graduates was treated to a less than ordinary commencement ceremony. It is ironic that 1981 graduates refrained from rowdy behavior in order for the class of 1982 to be permitted to use the stadium. On the morning of June 5th, the weather looked threatening and thunderstorms were predicted. An impromptu ceremony was devised where graduates were split up according to college and assigned to different buildings. The ceremony for Arts & Science graduates (the largest college) was held in the Field House. The speeches were broadcast to the remote buildings through campus radio station WXDR and Diamond State Telephone Co. Ironically, the stadium was spared the trauma of a rowdy graduation.

Newark and the University:
a mixture of Traditions and Trends

Newark is a traditional town where students feel comfortable coming and going. Students bring change to Newark, yet for the most part they are unaware of the subtle and major ways they affect life in the community. Students view Smith, Purnell, Kirkbride, and Ewing as a part of campus, yet Newark residents remember the three story Apartment building and the sledding hill on the same site before those classrooms were built.

Newark is a traditional town with Main Street, U.S.A., country club, golf course, and road repair. Small and large industry dot the area, but the main drive behind the town is the University. A mini community within a community, the University brings a certain spark to the town. Each are highly independent, yet uniquely interdependent, which gives a mixture of Tradition and trends to Newark.

The Blue Hen '82 Yearbook was printed by Herff-Jones Yearbooks in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. TBHY's Herff-Jones representative was Douglas Martin of Elkton, Maryland. There were 1400 copies of the 304-page book published.

The cover is a white lithox base material by Holliston Mills with 4-color process photos and lamination applied. The binder's board is 160-point weight. Lettering was hand set by the staff.

Endsheets are printed on 65# white vibracolor stock by Meade Paper Company. "Colonial Blue" ink has been applied in 100% for all printing.

The book is Smyth-sewn and is rounded and backed with head and footbands. Paper stock is 80# gloss enamel by Meade Paper Company trimmed to 9" x 12".

Standard body copy is 10-point "Garamond," with caption copy in 8-point. "Garamond Bold Italic" is used as an emphasis font. Sub-heads are set in 24-point "Lydian Italic," with main heads set in 36-point "Lydian Bold Italic." Division page headlines are set in "Times Roman." Headlines in the opening section are hand-set by the staff using "Formatt" brand acetate lettering.

Spot color on divider pages is "Colonial Blue."

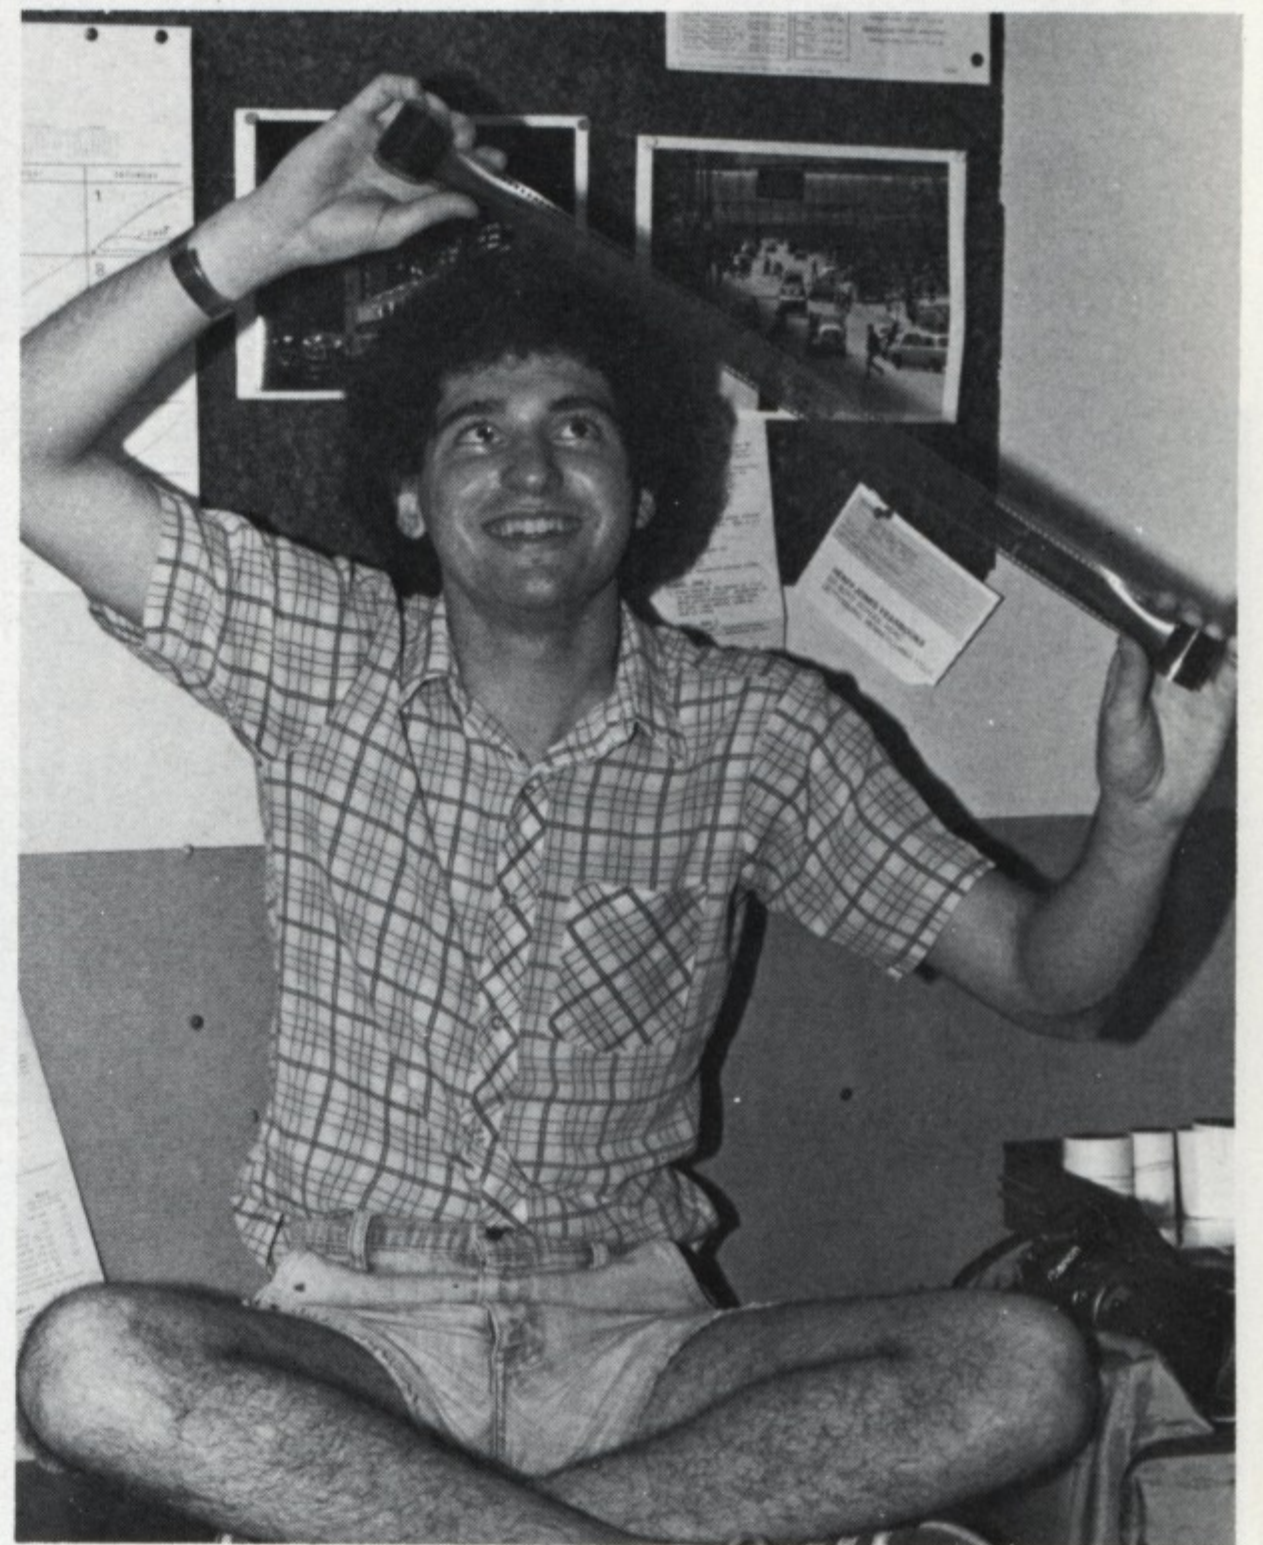

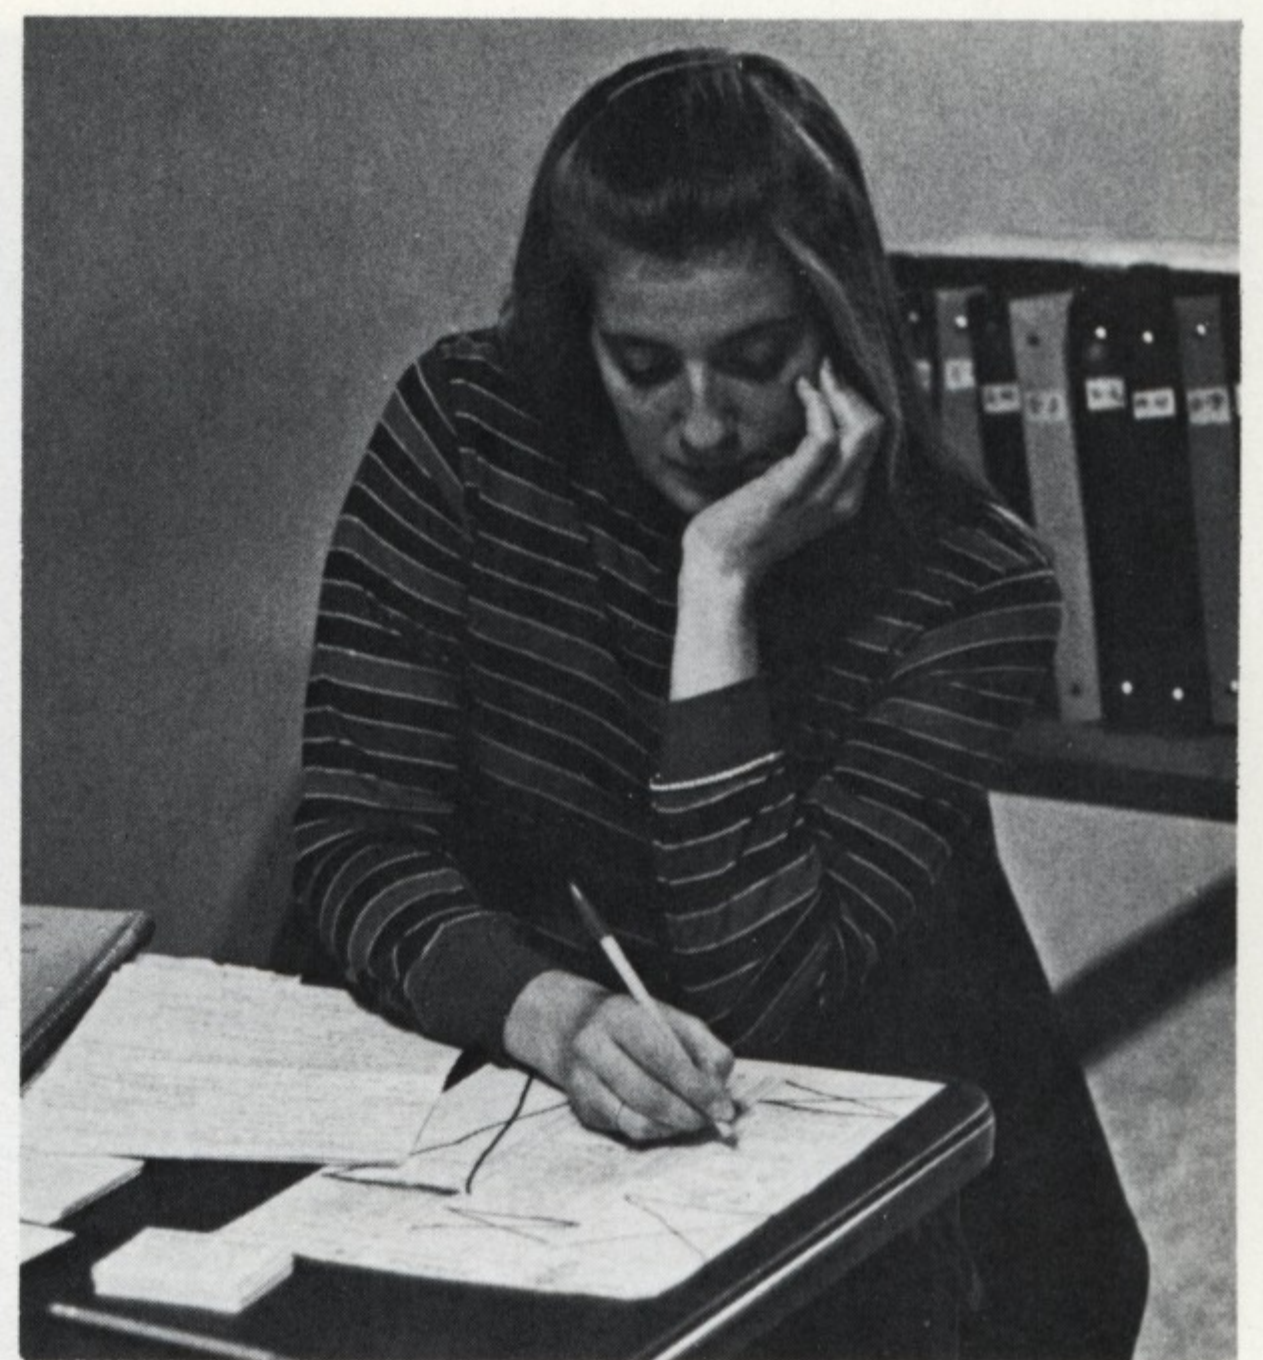

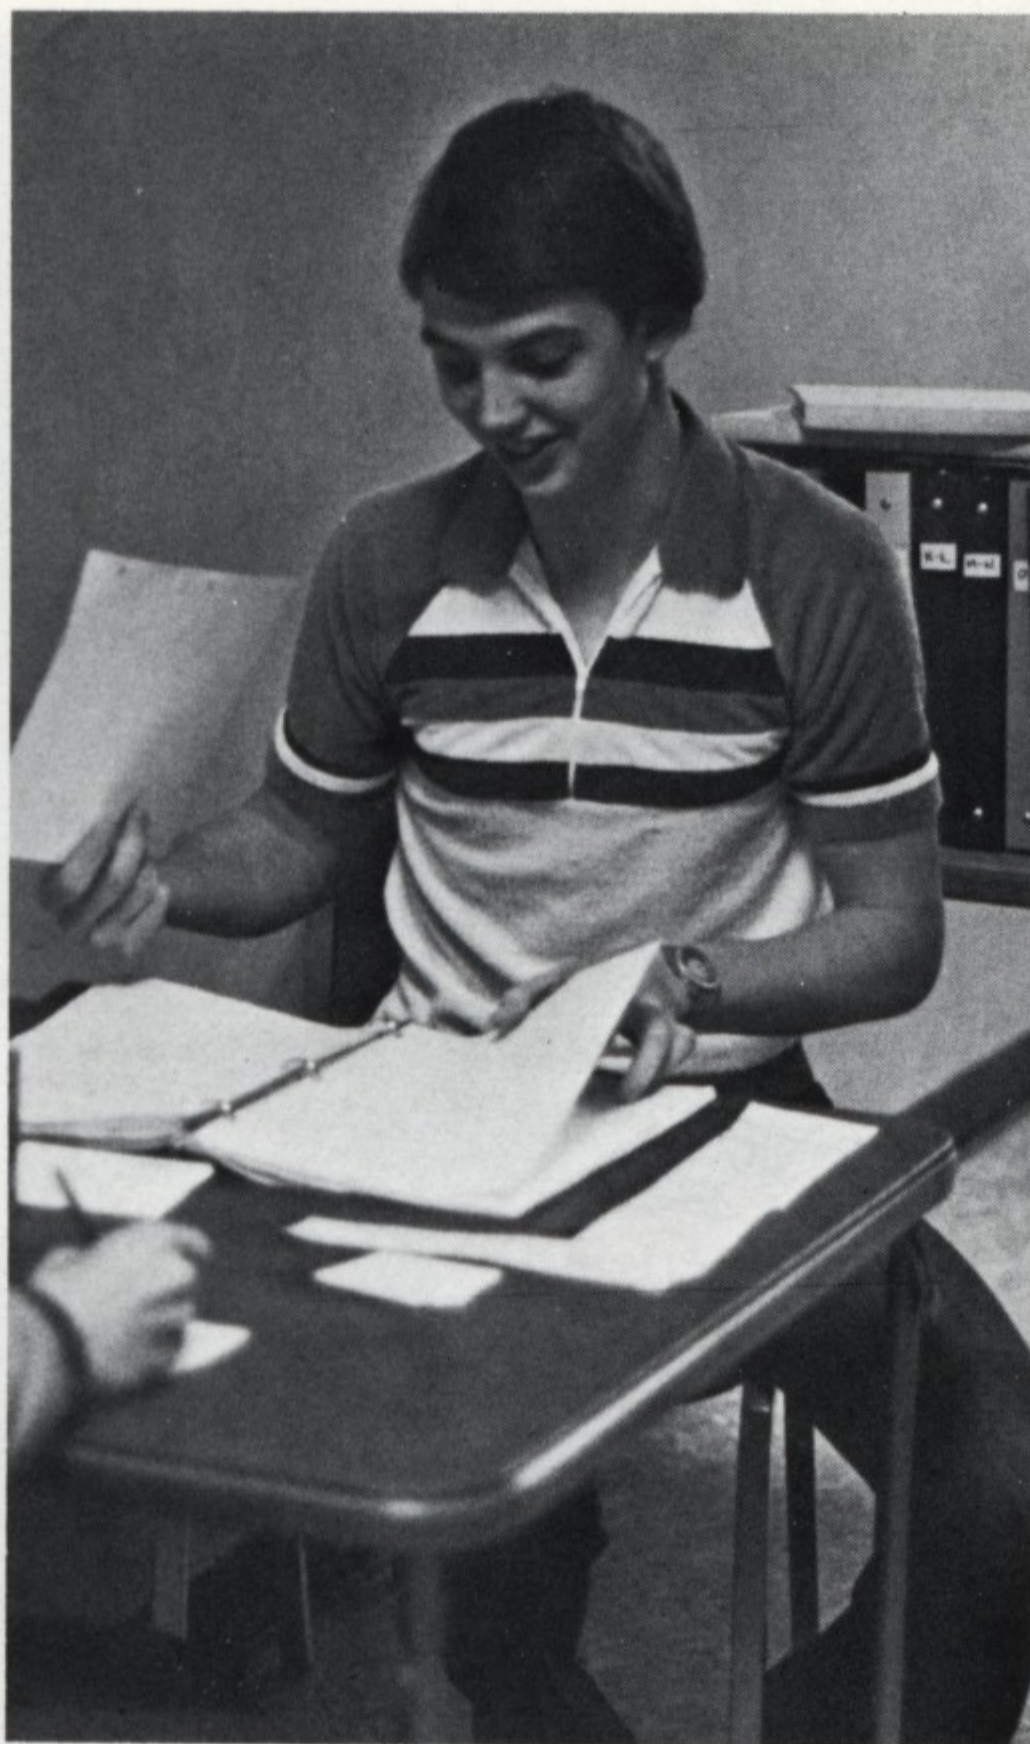

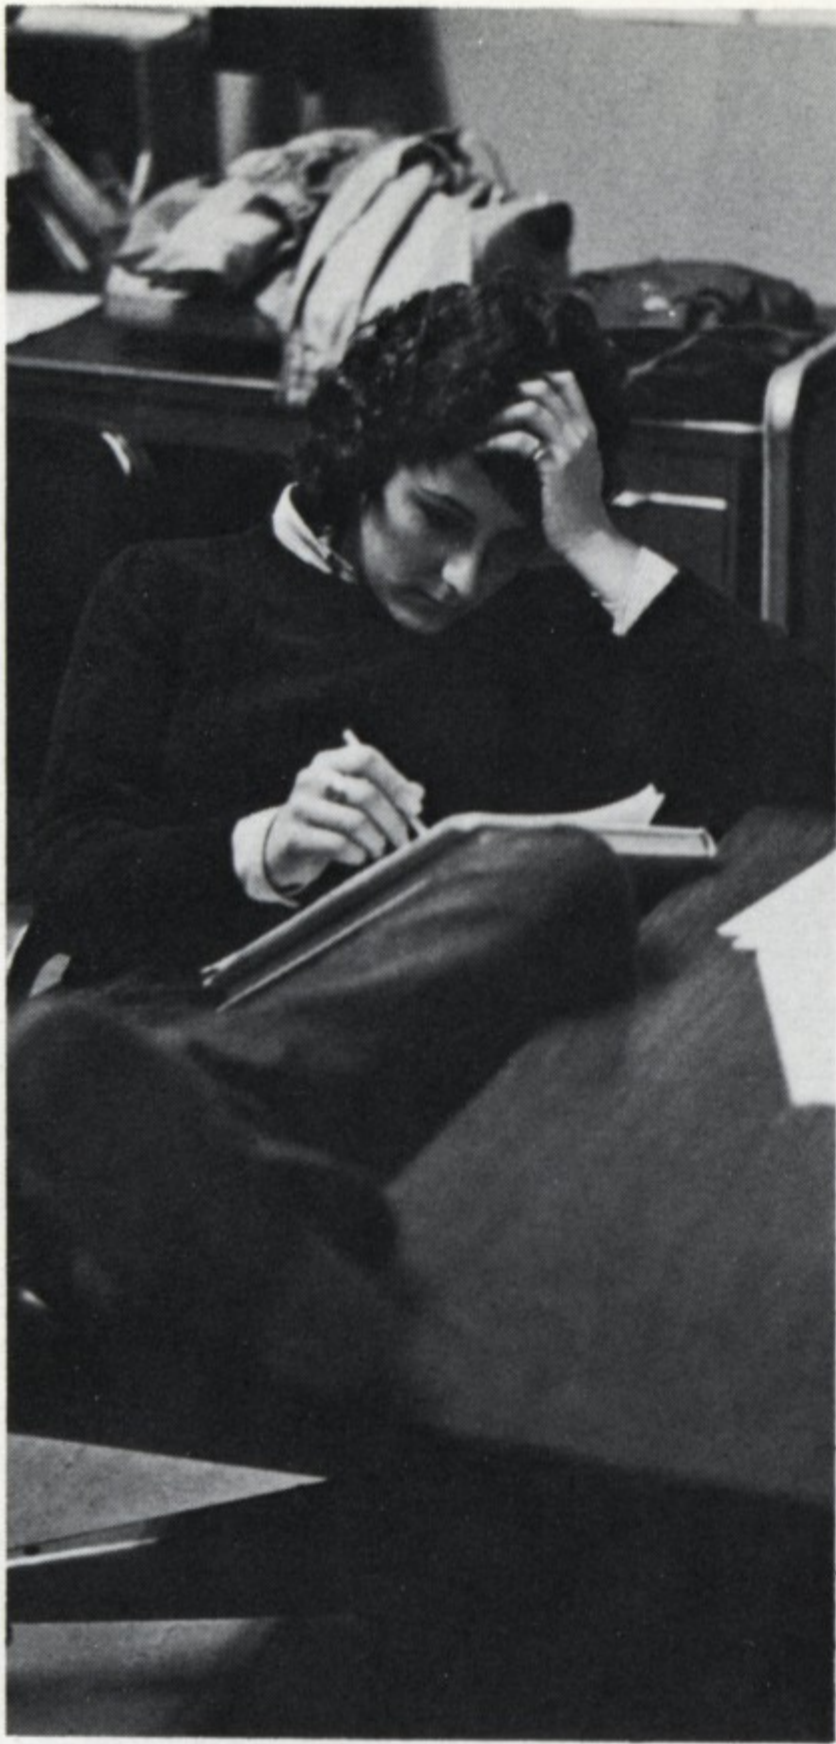

All color photos were taken by University of Delaware students. Black and white photos were taken by UD students and by Merin Studios. Senior photos were taken by Merin Studios of Philadelphia.

Constructive criticism is welcomed and may be sent to: The Blue Hen Yearbook, 201 Student Center, Newark, DE 19711.

TBHY is a registered student organization under the guidance of the Coordinator of Student Activities. TBHY is financed through sales of books, advertising, and senior photo sitting fees. No direct funding is received from any University source.
