

Garbage Collection Will Now Be Made From Regular Place

Mayor Johnson Announces Agreement Has Been Reached With Jesse Gorman To Collect Garbage At Rear Doors

Mayor Wallace Johnson announced this week that it will no longer be necessary for the people of Newark to place their garbage cans along the street curbs for collection.

In face of the strenuous objections voiced by the community against the practice which was made necessary recently when the present collector, J. S. Rowles, informed City Council that he no longer would go behind the houses to pick up the cans, Mayor Johnson and members of the Council have sought a solution to the problem.

It was apparently solved this week by the Mayor's announcement that he had entered into an agreement with Jesse Gorman, who until recently had collected the garbage here in Newark for more than twenty years, to have Mr. Gorman pick up the garbage from the usual place.

Last week in the announcement regarding the appointment of David A. Williams, negro, to the Newark police department, we stated that his appointment was confirmed by a unanimous vote of City Council.

We failed to state that Samuel Diehl, councilman from the middle district, was not present when the matter was voted upon.

Mr. Gorman had previously bid on the collection contract at the same time as Mr. Rowles but his bid was not accepted since that of Rowles was considerably lower. It will therefore cost the people of Newark more to have the collection made but it will solve the many problems that were in the curb service.

Whereas the Council awarded the contract to Rowles at a price of $400 per month and which was reduced to $300 per month when the city agreed to place the cans on the curbs, it will now cost the city $7968 per year for the collection. This was the original bid which was submitted by Mr. Gorman at the time the contract was awarded to Rowles.

Mayor Johnson, at the same time that he made the announcement, urged the people of the community to place their garbage cans as near to the rear entrance to the houses as possible and not in garages or other remote places. This was one of the reasons that Rowles claimed made it necessary for him to insist on curb collection.

Parents Invited To Annual Conference On Delaware Campus

Parents Of Freshmen Will Meet Faculty, Discuss Many Subjects

Dr. John A. Perkins, on behalf of the faculty of the University of Delaware, has invited the parents and guardians of freshmen students to attend the First Annual Parent's Conference on January 19, 1935. The conference will be held on the campus of the University at Newark. The invitation was contained in a letter addressed to all parents and guardians of freshmen by the president of the university, who will speak to those attending at the opening session on the morning of January 19.

The principal reason for arranging this conference is to provide parents and faculty the opportunity to know one another and to discuss the programs of the freshmen students. In the course of the day, the parents will be told about the courses offered at Delaware, the grading system, the requirements for graduation and the aims of the University generally.

After the first general session which will be held in Mitchell Hall immediately following registration, the parents and appropriate faculty members of the five schools of the university will convene for group discussions of these group discussions will be reviewed and summarized at the luncheon which will be held in Kent dining hall.

After lunch the parents are invited to continue their discussions in private or in small group meetings with individual faculty members.

A number of the members of the university faculty will meet prior to the conference date for preliminary discussions preparatory to serving as group discussion leaders.

Dr. William O. Penrose, dean of the school of Education and Chairman of the University Conference committee, pointed out that the date, January 19, set for the parent's conference, was agreed with the secondary school officials of the state and does not conflict with any other similar meeting of major importance. This date also avoids conflict with final examinations for the first semester and will give the members of the faculty an opportunity to study the ideas which will be forthcoming as a result of the conference.

University To Enroll Qualified Students At Second Semester

Perkins Says Practice Will Help Students To Lose Little Time

The University of Delaware will accept applications for the admission of qualified students at the beginning of the second semester on February 5, 1935. All applications and inquiries should be addressed to the Director of Admissions, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware.

This opportunity for students to matriculate at the mid-year is representative of an effort on the part of the University of Delaware to make its program as flexible as possible. As Dr. John A. Perkins, president, has outlined the university's aim: "The admission of qualified students at the beginning of our second semester is intended to provide our young people with an additional opportunity to lose no valuable time in pursuing their educational careers. We recognize, as we wish to encourage them to do, that in these times particularly our every effort must be bent to developing every young citizen so that all may make their maximum contribution to the progress and betterment of our society as well as realizing their individual goals and ambitions."

The admission of students in February at the beginning of the second semester affords all those who are qualified an opportunity to receive as much college training as possible before eligible males are liable for military service.

Toscanini himself led the procession of music-lovers who found in the Virtuosi di Roma music of surpassing beauty. The great conductor went backstage after their concert in Philadelphia and told the musicians: "You are the great instrumental ensemble of this age and your playing brought me exquisite pleasure."

Fourteen musicians, each a virtuoso in his own right, make up the ensemble. Any one of the members may be called on to be a soloist. Renato Fasano, the director, is a part of the elite of the group, an interpreter of high gifts, and a musician of tremendous integrity and idealism. It was he, several years ago, who brought the ensemble together, searching all over Italy for the perfect talents which would combine into a chamber orchestra and still be of soloist caliber. He found men in Venice, Rome, Naples, Turin, and the other great cities of Italy.

In Europe, the Virtuosi di Roma is known as the Collegium Musicum, a Latin name which was given to groups of musical amateurs in the 17th and 18th centuries in Germany, Sweden and Switzerland. These groups would come together to sing the concerted (Continued on Page 8)

Work Is Completed On Glasgow Highway

Asphalt Surface Will Be Applied In Spring

The work of repairing the concrete and widening of the northbound section of the Glasgow dual highway between Glasgow and the Maryland state line has been completed by the Wilson Contracting Company and last night both sections were opened.

The applying of the "hot-mix" asphalt concrete surface material will be undertaken in the spring.

John I. Cahalan, New Castle County division engineer, State Highway Department, said both sections will remain open until spring.

The northbound section of the dual highway between Glasgow and State Road is closed to traffic as the repairs to concrete and the widening of the road in this part are being continued.

When this part of the work is completed, the section will be opened to traffic, until spring, when the surface material will be applied.

Fresh Meat Supply Rises; Price Drops

Cattle Supplies Are Above Normal Now

Competition from the Thanksgiving gobble, together with a number of other factors, have resulted in adequate supplies of all types of fresh meat—beef, veal, pork and lamb.

According to Joseph J. McBryan, regional director of the Office of Price Stabilization, this adequacy includes top grades of round steak and chuck roasts, with more than enough of the other grades of beef and fresh pork.

Meanwhile, meat prices to the housewife continue to drop, and McBryan expects will remain at lower-than-recent prices in view of the record number of cattle and hogs on the nation's farms and in the feeding lots.

As an indication that cattle supplies are above normal, McBryan cited the four and half percent drop in a single week in the price of cattle at the Chicago market.

Imports of beef and pork products have increased at record rates also, with beef importations so far this year already 60 percent above last year's total.

Chicago is known as the Windy City.

COURTESY PAYS

on party-line telephones, too

Little courtesies like helping Granny off the train, help to make life happier.

Consideration for the other fellow is the basis of good party-line telephone service, too. If you are always courteous on the telephone, you're sure to find your party-line neighbors the same. Remember the three R's of party-line courtesy—Relinquish the line as soon as possible when you hear others try to use it; Replace the receiver gently when you find the line in use; Regulate your calls so that others may use the line in-between.

Home Gardens Help Cut Food Expense

Expense records show that food costs for Delaware farm families have been going up rapidly in recent years. This is a result of increased farm income, changes in the types of food used, and, possibly, a decrease in home food production, says Miss Louise R. Whitcomb, home management specialist with the University of Delaware.

"Farm diets are becoming more like city diets, which means more expensive diets," Delaware families have reported that up to 50 percent of the family food is raised at home, but this figure could easily go to 65 percent, or higher. The more home produced food that is substituted for purchased food, the lower household expenses will be.

And studies show, too, Miss Whitcomb explains that diets become more balanced and better nutritionally when a family has an ample home vegetable garden.

Farm people as a rule eat more fatty foods, sugars, sweets, and grain products than do city people. They also use more eggs, and slightly more meat and poultry. The fact that most of these foods are produced at home is probably responsible for higher farm consumption. Families need more vegetables and fruit to round out this diet.

Better diets and less expense are two good reasons for more emphasis on gardens and home food preservation in 1952, Miss Whitcomb feels.

For this first issue of the New Year we would like to bring you the following lines on "A Way To A Happy New Year" by Robert Brewster Bates:

To leave the old with a burst of song,
To recall the right and forgive the wrong;
To forget the thing that binds you fast
To the vain regrets of the year that's past;
To have the strength to let go your hold
Of the not worth while of the things grown old.

To dare go forth with a purpose true,
To the unknown task of the year that's new;
To help your brother along the road
To do his work and lift his load;
To add your gift to the world's good cheer,
To have and to give a Happy New Year.

NEWARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Taken from Issue of Post dated December 22, 1926

If you have any doubts about a crisp new five dollar bill being a fine and useful Christmas gift, just ask any employee of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company of Newark. That is the present that Santa brought as early as last Saturday to everyone working for that firm.

The social welfare committee of the Newark New Century Club is finding real work to do, especially at this Christmas season. There are fifteen families at present on the committee's visiting list, and these have been given shoes, underclothing, coal and wood.

Fifteen Christmas baskets containing fowl, groceries and vegetables for a big dinner, together with toys and candy, were distributed yesterday. A basket containing food and presents was also sent to the Delaware Colony at Stockley.

Average Citizen Is Saving More Money To Keep Prices Down

Public Socked Away About $19,000,000,000 During Past Year

The public has more money than ever before, stores are jammed with goods—but buying is off. The average citizen is saving more now than he has in five years.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer reported these trends this week in a year-end review of the nation's economy.

The commerce secretary said high savings—amounting to an annual rate of $22,000,000,000 over the past three months—helped turn the tide in 1951 against rampant inflation.

But if the public loses its huge savings in a new wave of buying, he cautioned, inflationary pressures will surge up again. Sawyer listed that as one of the nation's basic problems in 1952.

Personal income soared from $225,000,000,000 in 1950 to $251,000,000,000 this year. Right now the annual rate is about $260,000,000,000. Even though taxes went up, disposable income—what's left after the government gets its cut—rose 9 per cent over 1950.

In the face of this flow of dollars to the public consumer buying—in terms of unit volume—was slightly under 1950. The difference between income and spending made up the total of almost $19,000,000,000 put into savings during 1951.

This savings total was the highest since World War II years, when the public virtually had to save because of a scarcity of goods. This year, however, business inventories of goods reached a value of $70,000,000,000, an all-time high.

During the fourth quarter of the year, spending was 3 per cent below the first quarter, but disposable income was 3 per cent higher. Both calculations were made in terms of constant dollars, discounting price fluctuations.

Savings during the past nine months have amounted to about 10 per cent of total disposable income, the percentage the most experts advise for a sound savings program for individuals. The average from 1947 to 1950 was only 4 per cent.

Automobile Dealers Must Display Ceiling Prices

Posting of dollars-and-cents ceilings for extra, special, or optional equipment, and posting of rates for other allowable charges is an Office of Price Stabilization requirement for new automobile dealers. It was pointed out today by W. Staunton Moylan, acting district OPS director.

Displaying of "basic" ceiling prices is another requirement. The notices, Mr. Moylan explained, must be displayed in conspicuous places, and must not be less than 18 by 24 inches.

They must state the make, body, style, line or series, and model of each new car offered for sale. Ceiling prices should be itemized to show the basic price for each particular body style.

It was pointed out that "basic price" is the manufacturer's ceiling price to the dealer, F. O. B. factory, plus the customary retail markup. It does not represent any change in existing retail ceiling prices for automobiles.

EYES ARE AN ASSET

A person's eyes are a valuable asset. Yet many neglect them. As an adult gets older the eye lens, like an old rubber band, loses its power to accommodate the eye to dim light or small print.

This is not serious. It is not a disease any more than grey hair. It is a natural sign of middle age which can be relieved by the use of ready-to-wear reading glasses.

Lens-type operators frequently need simple plus lenses to help them see the "copy" they set on their machines. Tool makers and machinists in defense plants must read with accuracy the gauges with which they turn out precision instruments. The older and more skilled these men are, the more apt they are to have middle-aged far-sightedness, which can be overcome by inexpensive ready-to-wear reading glasses which are sold in variety, department and dime stores in all states of the Union. These "see" are ophthalmically excellent recommended by physicians.

This Model Plane Beat Russia

Washington, D. C.—The model airplane which ended Russia's monopoly of the model aviation scene twenty-eight months ago and brought a world's record to the United States for the first time has gone on display in the Smithsonian Institution, where it joins such famous planes as the Wright Brothers' Kitty Hawk, the Spirit of St. Louis, the Winnie Mae, and other history-making craft. R. C. Somerville, left, general sales manager of Plymouth Motor Corporation, is shown above presenting the plane to Paul Garber, curator of the Smithsonian's National Air Museum. Somerville announced that youngsters will have another opportunity to try for world records at Plymouth's Sixth International Model Plane contest at Detroit next August. Details of the contest will be announced soon.

Class Tells As LaSalle Quintet Downs Ambitious Hens, 85-44

Unbeaten Philadelphians Have Little Trouble In Handling Delaware Quintet Its Second
Loss Of Season

Delaware's four game winning streak came to an abrupt end Saturday night when the Blue and Gold went down to their second defeat of the season before a powerful LaSalle College five, 85-44, in a game played in Philadelphia.

It was the seventh straight victory for the Explorers and the seventeenth ranking team in the nation had little trouble turning back the charges of Coach Fred Emmerson who were seeking to add prestige in the battle with the Philadelphia.

The Blue Hens started off in front of the Explorers, jumping into a four point lead in the opening few minutes, but the winners came on fast to lead at the end of the first quarter, 17-8.

Delaware hung on tenaciously during the second period as the Philadelphia started to click offensively led by the six-foot, five-inch freshman, Tom Gola. Vern Lamkin, 6-foot, 6-inch sophomore tossed in three field goals during this second session to hold the Explorers to a three point lead during the second quarter and the half-time whistle found the ultimate winners in front, 40-28.

With the start of the second half the charges of Ken Loeffler really started to show the brand of ball they were capable of and proceeded to run up a third quarter total of 26 points while holding the Blue Hens to five. With Loeffler and Buddy Donnelly leading the way, the Explorers extended their margin to 66-33 at the end of the third quarter.

Loeffler substituted freely during the final stanza but the charges of Fred Emmerson found the team equally as rough and were able to hang up only 11 points during the final period while LaSalle scored 19 to bring the final to 85-44.

At one point during the final period, LaSalle had a scoring streak of 20 points, running the score from 50-33 to 70-33 before the Delaware club could score a point.

Buddy Donnelly, Fred Loeffler, and Tom Gola scored a total of 50 points between them to extend the LaSalle winning streak to seven straight, while Ray Crawford and Dick Goldberg led the Blue Hens scorers with eight points each. Jim Kruzinski and Vern Lamkin followed the leaders with seven points apiece.

Racing Commission Reports Increase in Delaware Park Tax Blue Hens Back In Own Class In Game With Garnet Five

State Receives $1,047,091
Gross Receipts From
Track For 1951

A three-and-a-half per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting at Delaware Park during the last season brought $966,962, while the 20-cent tax on each admission contributed $73,728.80 towards the gross receipts of $1,047,091.06, according to the annual report of the Delaware Racing Commission.

The state received $1,047,091.06 in taxes after $540,554 expenses of the commission were deducted. The state revenue this year is $1,047,091.06 higher than the $506,929.51 received from Delaware Park following the 1950 race meeting, and exceeded the $975,329.49 total in 1948 by $63,761.56, according to the annual report.

Pari-mutuel sales for the same years were: $27,667,493 this year; $22,761,763 last year; and $26,062,236 in 1949. The 20-cent admission tax was paid by 368,644 persons during the past meeting. In 1950, a total of 313,154 racing enthusiasts paid this tax and 330,756 racetrack patrons paid it in 1949.

The Racing Commission reported that the Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association paid $3,000 with its application for a 1951 racing license, and $2,000 as a license fee for conducting the race meet.

The report, sent to Gov. Elbert N. Carvel by John K. Johnston, chairman of the commission, disclosed that $978,250 in purses was distributed during the past race meeting.

Three disqualifications were made this year, as against six in 1950 and four in 1949. There were seven suspensions this year, compared with nine in 1950 and four in 1949. Fines numbered five this year, two in 1950 and one in 1949, while there were 23 claims in 1951, a total of 32 in 1950 and 23 in 1949.

The average of winning favorites for 1949, 1950 and 1951 is 32.37 per cent; the commission reported. In 1949, the percentage of favorites winning races was 37.35; in 1950, the figure dropped to 28.51 per cent, and this year came up to 31.25 per cent.

Swarthmore Will Be Met At Carpenter Fieldhouse On Saturday Night

Given a thorough trouncing by nationally prominent LaSalle College last week when they ventured into the higher circles of collegiate basketball, the University of Delaware basketball team will pick on someone their own size this week when they tangle with Swarthmore College at Carpenter Fieldhouse on Saturday night.

It will be the first game of the season for the Hens against a Middle Atlantic Conference foe, and it is the same club that defeated them in the final game of the season last year to knock them out of the Southern Division Championship of the league.

Coach Fred Emmerson blamed the long layoff during the Christmas vacation period for the feeble showing of his club against LaSalle. Emmerson felt that his team did not play any where near its best against the Explorers. Not only were the Hens off in their shooting and ball handling, but LaSalle successfully dominated the play under both backboards to control the ball most of the contest. This control "the ball" had been one of the stronger points of the Delaware five in previous games.

Ray Crawford, high scoring sophomore, was held to a meagre eight points by the LaSalle defenders and marked the first time this season the New Jerseyite had been able to garner less than twenty in a game.

Swarthmore will be about the same club that defeated Delaware 52-50 in the season finale last year and will once more have Joe Carroll, leading scorer, as a threat to the Hens. However, the Delaware club is much stronger than last season and should not have too much trouble with the Garnet.

In 1949 the American publishers issued 10,892 new books, which represents a ten percent gain over the year before and 40 percent gain over 1945.

Sophomore Skyscraper

Vern Lamkin

Vern Lamkin, 6-foot, 6-inch sophomore from Egg Harbor, N.J., is shown here demonstrating the technique that has made it possible for him to average 7.0 points a game so far this season as a member of the University of Delaware basketball team.

Lamkin has connected for 21 action shots out of 55 attempts for a better than average shot percentage and sunk seven foul tries for a total of 49 points in the first seven games played by the Delaware quintet.

His height and ball handling ability make the scrappy sophomore a valuable man under the baskets.

Promotion of John Lehman Announced By Air Force

John M. Lehman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lehman of 24 Benny Street, has been promoted to Private First Class and will be assigned to Camp Gordon, Georgia, for technical training in the air force air police career field, it was announced today by indoctrination center officials here.

He completed his indoctrination training at Sampson December 29, 1951. His Air Force career field was selected following a conference with a career guidance expert and was chosen on the basis of the needs of the service, his personal desires and his aptitude as determined by a series of scientifically designed tests.

Training here included character guidance, mathematics, psychological and chemical warfare, customs of the service, drill and other subjects in the intensive indoctrination course.

Better Diagnostic Service Available For All Poultrymen

New Diagnostic Laboratory At Georgetown Opens This Week

Charles F. Mandy, Jr., Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, announced today the beginning of an improved diagnostic service to Delaware poultrymen that will make possible a 50 percent or more increase in the amount of disease control and eradication work done by the poultry pathology department. This week a new diagnostic laboratory at the University of Delaware Agricultural Station, Georgetown, opened to poultrymen.

Said Mandy: "An increasing pressure and work load on our diagnostic services has brought about this change. Formerly, a field pathologist visited farms when called. Today a change will enable us to serve more people, eliminate the possible spread of diseases from farm to farm, obtain quicker diagnosis and treatment, and bring about closer coordination of state agencies and better use of their facilities."

The planning for the improved service was done by a special committee of the Delaware Poultry Commission. John Hammond, Bridgeville, was the committee chairman. Other members were Byard Carmean, Laurel, chairman of the commission, and Edgar Timmon, Millboro.

These men conferred jointly with representatives of the State Board of Agriculture, and the University Experiment Station to determine the change would be to the advantage of all state poultrymen, and at the same time make the best use of the present staff and diagnostic facilities. The Poultry Commission further aided the change by supporting financially the remodeling of the laboratory new equipment needed at the sub-station.

Dr. Frank Willis, new assistant pathologist, will do the work at the sub-station, under the direction of H. R. Baker, head of the poultry disease department in Dover.

The University Experiment Station is cooperating not only by offering laboratory and office space at the sub-station, but through closer cooperation of staff members. Ernest F. Waller, chairman of the department of animal and poultry industry said he felt this new working arrangement would stimulate the poultry disease research at the sub-station through closer contact with the poultrymen's problems and disease developments.

Simultaneously with the improved down-state service, the University and the State Board announced improved diagnostic services to poultrymen in New Castle County. As the university facilities are close and convenient it was decided to use them as a central delivery point. E. S. Biddle, State Board veterinarian stationed at the university, will take case histories there, then send the specimens to Dover in a new refrigerated truck. If poultrymen wish quicker diagnosis, they may take birds to the animal and poultry industry department. Diagnosis will be made, the poultrymen advised, and reports forwarded to the central laboratory in Dover.

music of the time, when our modern concerts were unknown. In some cities, the local university Collegium Musicum was the nucleus of future concert associations, and the name has been revived in universities where musicology students wish to delve into the delights of rarely heard or contemporary music. The title Virtuosi di Roma is particularly apt, however, for the group which now plays public concerts.

Six violins, two violas, two cellos, a contrabass, a flute and a piano make up the ensemble.

Many rare works, as well as the finest examples of chamber music by such composers as Mozart, Turina, Debussy, and Respighi—not to mention the Bachs, Johann Sebastian and Philip Emanuel—enrich and color the programs of the Virtuosi. They make "music at its finest and purest," as one writer said.

Automobile Winning 1951 Earnings In Mass Killer Race Delaware Expected To Set New Record

Accidents Will Surpass War As Cause Of Death Next Month

Total Estimated To Reach $388,194,000 By End Of December

The automobile will outpace war as a mass killer of Americans sometime in February, when its fatality toll will exceed for the first time in history the total of the nation's military dead since 1775, unless the new year starts with a marked decline in traffic deaths and Korean casualties increase greatly in the meantime, the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies said today.

At the end of the first year and a half of the Korean conflict on December 25, military deaths in all U. S. wars since the Revolution started had reached approximately 1,004,000, according to the association's comparative study of war and traffic fatalities. The automobile killed its millionth victim on December 22. Its toll on Christmas Day, when the Korean war was 18 months old, was approximately 500 over that historic mark, 1,500 below the all-time total of war deaths but 56,500 higher than the tally of 944,000 motor vehicle fatalities at the start of the Korean war on June 25, 1950. In the same 18 months the Delaware 17,800 U. S. military deaths in Korea.

Barring resumption of full-scale war and far greater American casualties in Korea or a huge reduction in the motor vehicle toll during the next few weeks, the automobile will soon overtake war's head start of 125 years in which 600,000 military had occurred before the motor age claimed its first victim just before the twentieth century began, the association declared. At the 18-month mark of Korean hostilities, traffic fatalities were occurring seven times faster than those of war, claiming in one day as many American lives as the total lost in one week's fighting in Korea.

The historic death race between these two mass killers toward their respective million marks ended with war claiming the life of a new unknown soldier, "GI-X," in Korea last September 3 or 4, according to the association's study. His civilian counterpart in traffic accidents, "Victim X," died about 110 days later. Both "GI-X" and "Victim X" will remain unknown, it added, although some attempts have been made to establish the identity of the millionth traffic victim, of which no one can be certain because of incomplete early statistics. However, the deaths of these historic victims of war and the automobile a little more than three and a half months apart have centered attention on the relative deadliness of occasional American wars and daily traffic accidents, the association said in pointing out that within two months the automobile will take a commanding lead as the deadliest of the two wholesale destroyers of merican lives.

"Americans must face the fact that the automobile is a bigger killer of their sons and daughters than our wars," said Thomas N. Boate, public safety director of the association and acting manager of its accident prevention department, in commenting on the study. "The new year should witness the most determined effort ever made by the nation to reduce the tremendous loss of life in highway accidents."

Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman are the only persons who were born and lived west of the Mississippi river to occupy the office of President of the United States.

10,000 Delawareans Are Now Receiving Retirement Benefits

Public Invited To Visit Wilmington Office This Week

An "Open House" Question and answer desk will be available at the Federal Social Security office in the Old Custom House, 6th and King Streets, January 2 to January 5, 1952. The first of the year marks the completion of 13 years of operation of this insurance system under the Social Security Act. It was pointed out today by Mr. Roger R. Minkler, manager of the Wilmington Office. "Monthly retirement benefits are now being paid to over 10,000 Delawareans in the amount of $378,533," Mr. Minkler continued. "It pays to be informed about your rights and privileges under the Social Security System."

Mr. Minkler stated, "During the first week in January the public is cordially invited to visit the local Social Security office. The latest pamphlets explaining the Social Security operation are available at no cost and during this week is your opportunity to get answers to your questions, and also to witness social security in operation."

Mr. Minkler pointed out that everyone is welcome to learn what the program means to themselves and their families in the form of family insurance. Mr. Minkler said that from its comparatively modest beginning in 1937, the system has developed in a decade and a half into the largest single insurance operation the world has ever known. In 1940, the first year in which monthly benefits were paid, total benefit payments for the year were approximately 35 million dollars; for the fifteenth year, ending December 31, 1951, total benefit payments were 1,900 million dollars ($1.9 billion) paid to nearly four and one-half million people.

The greatest increase in benefit payments occurred in the program's fifteenth year. This, as Mr. Minkler points out, was caused by higher payments to individual beneficiaries, and by the large number of people made eligible for benefits under liberalized qualifying requirements. Increases in benefit payment rates to retired workers range from 50% to 100%. For example, the minimum payment of $10 was doubled. The maximum payable to a retired worker in August 1950 was $45.50; this was raised to $62.50.

Penny Postcard No Longer With Us As We Start New Year

Some Other Postal Prices Will Also Be Raised At Same Time

One of the things that John Q. Public will have to do without during the New Year is the traditional penny postcard.

A victim of inflationary times, the scenic card on which untold millions of Americans have written "Wish you were here" will cost two cents to send through the mail, effective at 12:01 a. m., Jan. 1. So will the unadorned government card.

Some other postal prices will rise at the same time, but the three-cent rate for letters remains intact. The boost in postcard and other rates is designed to yield $120,000,000 a year more for the Post Office Department, which has long been operating in the red.

This is the second time the postcard has been raised to two cents since its birth in 1873. The rate was doubled for 20 months during World War I, then returned to one cent in 1919.

The first class letter rate has fluctuated several times between two and three cents. It has been three since 1932.

Officials said that for the next 60 days the Post Office will take it easy on people who keep on sending postcards with only a penny stamp attached.

After 60 days, all one-cent cards will go back to the sender, if known, or to the Dead Letter Office, if unknown.

Nearly four billion penny postals were mailed this year, compared with 30 million in 1873. Other changes effective with the New Year include: Parcel post—Reduction in maximum weight and size of packages mailed between any first-class domestic post offices, from 100 inches in total length and girth to 72 inches, and from 70 pounds to 30 or 20, depending on zones. Also, a half-cent increase for third-class postage on books, catalogs, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots and plants not on special bulk rate.

Special delivery—higher fees, from 15 and 45 cents to 20 and 60. Domestic registered mail—up from 5 and 30 cents to 5 and 35. Domestic collect-on-delivery (C.O.D.) mail—Up from 20 and 60 cents to 30 cents and $1.

Effective April 1, second-class mail including newspapers, magazines and other printed matter will cost 10 per cent more. Additional 10 per cent raises are scheduled for these items on April 1, 1953, and April 1, 1954.

Labor day in the United States was first celebrated by the Knights of Labor in 1882. It was made a legal holiday by Congress in 1894.

Individual Income Questions Answered

Tax Receipts Rise On Farm Income Tax

Jump Nearly Seven Times In Recent Years

Individual income tax receipts in Delaware increased nearly seven times between 1939 and 1950, jumping from about $1,983,000 to $7,378,000. The figures were released as part of a survey conducted by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit research organization, which said rises in income and changes in tax rates account for the rise.

Motor fuel tax receipts for the state rose during the period from 2,096,000 in 1939 to $4,201,000. Tobacco tax receipts, based on a two-cent per package tax in 1950, amounted to $1,036,000. The state had no tobacco tax in 1939.

The alcoholic beverage tax brought Delaware $53,000 in the 1939 fiscal year, and $883,000 in the 1950 fiscal year, according to the study.

Motor vehicle and operators' license collections in this state amounted to $1,177,000 in the 1939 year and $1,685,000 in the 1950 fiscal year.

An electric motor is probably one of the cheapest "hired hands" on the farm.

What items make up farm income? How do you handle trade-in allowances? Are livestock deaths deductible? What are the recent changes in farm income tax rates?

These and many other questions are answered in a new booklet from the Delaware Agriculture Extension Service, "Farmer's 1951 Income Tax" ES 57, is now available from the county extension offices and from the Bulletin Mailing Room, World Hall, Newark.

The booklet gives simple formulas and how to fill them out, examples of records needed for these such as depreciation, and gains or losses from sale of property. There is a check list of farm expenses that can be deducted, and items that should be included as part of farm income.

The type of farm to use for different situations is outlined on page one. Reporting on cash or accrual basis is also explained.

This booklet is printed annually by the Extension Service to help farmers keep abreast of changes in farm tax regulations.

It is compulsory for virtually all self-employed persons earning $400 or more a year, except:

1. Farmers, including farm tenants as well as farm owners.

2. Doctors, lawyers, dentists, architects, osteopaths, optometrists, naturopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, Christian Science practitioners, licensed or registered accountants, certified accountants, funeral directors and professional engineers. Persons in these professions are exempt since they frequently do not retire at 65 and thus feel they do not need federal old-age and survivors insurance.

3. Clergymen and members of religious orders. Many of these take an oath of poverty and have no taxable income.

Under 1950 amendments to the Social Security Act, most self-employed persons have been earning credit toward federal old-age and survivors insurance starting in 1951.

Such persons must make their first social security tax report for 1951 as part of their income tax returns due by next March 15.

The social security tax for 1951 is 2 1/2 per cent of net earnings up to $3,600.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES
Mrs. Agnes Miller Ward, 57, wife of Benjamin Ward, died suddenly at her home in Columbus, Ohio, on December 27.

Mrs. Ward was a daughter of the late James Miller and lived in Newark many years before moving to Ohio.

She is survived by her husband, a son and daughter, her mother, Mrs. Mary Lyons, two sisters, Mrs. Marian Selger of Ocean City, N. J. and Mrs. Francis Smith and a brother, Lindsey Miller of California.

MRS. JESSIE SCOTT INJURED
Mrs. Jessie Scott, 272 E. Main Street, was injured Monday afternoon when she was struck by a car while crossing Main Street at Tyre Avenue. She was taken to the Delaware Hospital in the Newark ambulance and it is reported she sustained a broken leg as well as other bruises.

COST OF LIVING UP
The government's cost-of-living index rose another 0.5 per cent to a new peak in November.

As a result, approximately a million and a quarter railroad workers will get a pay boost of four cents an hour. Their wage scales are tied to the rise and fall of the index.

The bureau said the Nov. 15 index was 10.8 percent higher than in June, 1950, before the outbreak of the Korean war, and 6.9 per cent above November, 1950.
