RED CROSS PRODUCTION IS LAGGING

Workers Are Needed to Help
Fill State Quota

A lag in production of surgicals is reported by the Newark Branch of the Red Cross. During the month of October 72 workers made 10,600 surgical dressings in 319 hours. This was a decrease from September when 89 women working 654 hours turned out 12,420 dressings. Both these months the branch has been trying to fill an emergency quota for sponges which include 2 x 2 1/2 by 4, and 4 by 8 types. Mrs. Robert C. Levis, acting production chairman, says that excellent work is being done, but that an enormous amount remains to be done. The rooms are open 3 days a week and one evening. There are places for more than twice the present number of workers.

The local Chairman calls attention to a statement made last week by R. R. M. Carpenter, Chairman of the Delaware Chapter. Pointing out that any average novice worker can turn out at least 15 dressings an hour, he said, "A game of cards played by four people and usually lasting 2 hours could be utilized to give our injured boys 120 dressings. I urge all Delaware men and women who can give a little time and money to do so."

WAR FUND NEAR QUOTA

Drive To End
Next Week

Robert C. Levis, co-chairman of the United War Fund Drive for Newark and vicinity, stated last night that there had been in excess of $9,000 subscribed to date as Newark's share in the campaign and it is expected that the goal of $10,000 will be reached by the end of the drive next week.

Several of the team captains are still to be heard from he stated and when they have turned in their subscriptions he feels that several hundred extra dollars will be added to the present figure.

Due to the shortage of gas and the fact that some persons were not at home when called on the first time everyone who has been missed is urged to make their contributions to either of the two Newark banks or any member of the committee.

John R. Couden In Navy

A letter was received this week from John R. Couden who is serving his country in the U. S. Navy expressing his thanks for the Newark Post. Sea-duty Couden states that he is on for-duty and the ship he is on is a transport riding baby but he says he is doing it and has a real good home aboard the ship.

APARTMENT ON FIRE SATURDAY

Three Engines
At New London
Avenue Fire

Prompt work on the part of the Newark firemen prevented what might have been a serious fire Saturday afternoon when an overheated oil stove set fire to the Walter Powel apartment house on New London Road.

The house is occupied by Julius A. Ryland, principal of the New London Avenue School and Lester Watson, the fire breaking out in the apartment occupied by Watson.

When the firemen arrived dense clouds of smoke were pouring from the windows of the upper floor and it was thought for a while that the blaze might prove serious. Firemen equipped with gas masks entered the smoke and had to break open the doors to get to the fire.

The local firemen responded with two pieces of apparatus and the Christians Fire Company made a record run to arrive a few minutes later. Damage was estimated to be around $100.

Earlier in the afternoon the firemen extinguished a field fire.

Any others interested are asked to contact Mrs. Preston, phone Newark 4311. The subjects to be taught will be found most useful, especially now when physicians and trained nurses are working under such terrific pressure, and should be relieved as much as possible.

FIRE HITS ELKTON BUSINESS DISTRICT

Seven Buildings Destroyed By Blaze; Newark
Sends Help

Newark firemen rushed to the aid of their sister town, Elkton, on Monday night with two engines and nearly every active fireman of the community when word was received that help was needed as flames threatened the entire business section of that town.

Several hundred firemen from a three-state area battled the flames till well past mid-night before the flames were brought under control. In addition to the volunteer firemen from Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania who battled the blaze, a fire brigade from the Bainbridge Naval Training Station and industrial firemen from nearby munition plants responded to the call for help.

Members of Company D of the Maryland State Guard assisted state and town police in controlling the several thousand persons who were attracted to the scene. The endangered district was quickly roped off and the great crowds were kept back by State Guards and Military Police.

Buildings destroyed by the flames include: Bryson Restaurant Building, which also houses the Western Union office, Grayhound Bus Terminal, the Walter DuBoise taxi office, and many upstairs apartments, City Cleaner building, John A. Gonce, department store, John A. Roman, optician building, Thomas R. Freeman, stationary store, Spence Building, housing the Coty Kay Beauty Shop, The Elkton Florists and several apartments. Poague Paxton Drug Store, John J. Minster Jewelry Store and the Frazer Drug Store were damaged by smoke and fire.

During the height of the fire between twenty and thirty streams of water were being played on the burning buildings from both the front and rear of the buildings and from the roofs of the Minster Jewelry Store and the Frazer Drug Store.

As firemen began to arrive from other communities the Women's Auxiliary of the Elkton Fire Company went into service at the fire house preparing hot coffee and sandwiches for the firemen. They were assisted by the Elkton Branch of the Red Cross who opened the Methodist Church house. The women braved the smoke and at times waded through water nearly to their knees to serve the firemen who were wet and cold.

TURKEY CEILINGS INCREASED

Raise Assures Fair Profit To Producers

The Office of Price Administration has just increased the ceiling prices on turkeys in order to assure producers a fair profit. Here are the prices which Delaware growers may charge, according to Garry A. Miles, Extension poultryman for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service:

Wholesale prices on young live turkeys are 36 cents under 18 pounds; 34½ cents at 18 to 22 pounds; and 33½ cents at 22 pounds and over. Wholesale prices for young turkeys dressed are 44 cents under 16 pounds; 42 cents at 16 to 20 pounds; and 40½ cents at 20 pounds and over. And for young turkeys drawn, the wholesale ceilings are 52½ cents under 13 pounds; 49 cents at 13 to 16½ pounds; and 47 cents at 16½ pounds and over.

The ceiling prices for young live turkeys when sold direct to the consumer are 45 cents under 18 pounds; 43 cents at 18 to 22 pounds; and 42 cents at 22 pounds and over. Young dressed turkeys sold direct to the consumer are 53 cents under 16 pounds; 51 cents at 16 to 20 pounds; and 49 cents at 20 pounds and over. And young turkeys drawn, direct to the consumer, are 63 cents under 13 pounds; 59 cents at 13 to 16½ pounds; and 56 cents at 16½ pounds and over.

Mr. Miles suggests that growers this year not put on the ultra finish which has been characteristic of the holiday bird in previous years. But here are some of the qualities which a bird ready for market should show: It should be healthy; should have a plump breast, well-fleshed back and hips, a thin layer of fat well distributed; the skin should be light in color, with no dark or blue flesh showing; and it should be free of pin feathers. Mr. Miles says it will usually pay to feed turkeys not well finished for two or three weeks after the prime birds are sold.

How About That!

By Ruth Safran

For a sight of a well-dressed, most bewildered-looking assemblage in New York City, I recommend a short visit to the Hotel Astor, where everybody makes appointments to meet everybody else, despite a million other potential meeting places.

From the vantage point of the balcony last Saturday night, you could see a milling group, wedged pretty tightly, and weaving in and out of every corner of the lobby, bar, telephone booths looking for the person who made that very original suggestion, "Meet you at the Astor."

We were standing next to three Navy ensigns who amused themselves by pitching pennies on the heads of the crowd below. For many minutes, no one would design to pick up the shiny coins. Suddenly, a girl would swoop down surreptitiously, pocket the pennies and walk away quickly without an upward glance. Then we decided to watch one person in the crowd below to see if anybody actually met anybody. This red-headed girl had a dejected strained look and kept re-appearing after a Sally into the various Astor corners to look for her companion. Finally we saw her with another girl. "Now she will be happy," we thought. Instead, the two linked arms and kept on looking and looking.

By that time, we had to dash to make the curtain at that memorable performance of "Othello".

After having viewed the three or four shows that previewed in Wilmington and somehow hobbled on to other cities, it was reassuring to see that the stage could offer something besides low comedy, sketchy plots, unsingable music.

It was an exceeding good cast and yet when Paul Robeson spoke it seemed as though everyone else on the stage had a small, tight voice or had only been whispering. His is as rich a speaking as a singing voice—and it flowed into and filled every corner of the vast theatre.

Go see "Othello" even if you have to wait months for a ticket. Stand up on the train and bring your own sandwiches so you won't have to stand in line at the restaurant.

Time Out

A chance to toughen up sitting-softened muscles was post-poned these two weeks because scenery was moved into the High School gymnasium and the WOW's were asked to check their basketball - playing zeal.

WORKERS RESPOND

1025 Dressings Made Tuesday

One man only, was among the many volunteer workers who made surgical dressings at the Red Cross work room Tuesday evening, but more have promised to help with the important emergency quota.

Between 7 and 9 p. m., 1025 dressings were turned out. Tribute to those who reported for this work after a full day at their regular employment, was paid by Mrs. Walter Hultihen, chairman of the Newark Branch of the Red Cross. "We are indeed grateful for these people who are helping us in a time of acute need," she said.

Some response has been noted in the last week to the posters which were distributed by the Boy Scouts of Newark Troop No. 55. These posters told of the urgent need to fill a large Delaware quota of surgical dressings. New faces are appearing at the tables but there is room for many more volunteer workers.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bonham, Amstel Avenue were: Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, Collingswood, N. J., Mrs. Amy Fairbank, Philadelphia, and Miss Sarah Bonham of Wilmington.

Major Harvey M. Brown spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, E. Main Street. Major Brown is a Commandant of the Army Spec. Training outfit at Bard College.

Mr. William McCloskey of 180 West Main Street is spending a few days this week on a gunning trip in Sussex County.

Miss Ann Chalmers and Miss Jeanette Thoroughgood spent the past week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Paul MacMurray, Onerbrook, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nichols and family of Federalsburg, Maryland, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Nichols.

Lieutenant (j.g.) and Mrs. L. H. Roes of New Orleans, La., were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Leon A. Case, Tyre Avenue, Newark.

So that our armed forces may carry the fight..

Conservation is our Watchword

Latest ODT statement says in brief: "We are approaching the most serious stage of the war in relation to domestic transportation. The next few months can definitely be designated as critical."

LAST January, we were asked to submit, to ODT, three plans for curtailment of transportation service, and to be ready to enforce any one of these at a moment's notice. In May, the order came for a curtailment of 20% in gas bus operation. In August, we were able to have full service restored.

Now, again, ODT has called upon us to stand ready to curtail service, to help release critical materials—fuel, transportation, manpower — for war needs.

In the event of further cuts this winter, we shall deeply appreciate your giving us the same generous cooperation which you have given us in the past. Regardless of the limitations placed upon us, we shall endeavor to serve you with the greatest possible comfort and efficiency.

STANTON CIVIC ASSN TO MEET ON THURSDAY

Contribute $131 To Mill Creek Fire Co.

The Stanton Civic Association will meet next Thursday evening in the Stanton School, with Mr. C. Merritt Newcomb, President, presiding.

Mr. J. O. Hedlicka, Assistant Postmaster of the Wilmington Post Office, has been confined to his home here this week. His condition is improved.

Mr. Clarence Reed left on Sunday for a trip to Florida.

Stanton residents this week were called upon by the young women of the Stanton Methodist Church to give financial assistance to the Mill Creek Fire Company. The Stanton area is served by the Mill Creek Company, and envelopes were left at the homes on Wednesday which were collected later in the week, netting the sum of $131.00.

Women of the Stanton Methodist Church are organizing a Red Cross Unit here, where surgical dressings will be made. The headquarters will be in the basement of the Stanton Church, and the women will meet on Wednesday mornings and work until 3 p. m. Volunteers are solicited for this much needed work.

The pupils of the Stanton School are also continuing their efforts in the collection of old newspapers and magazines, as well as tin cans, etc., which are collected from the school periodically.

The Young Women's Class of the Stanton Methodist Church held a Covered Dish Luncheon on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Edgar Boyce, with 15 guests present. This class will send to all service men from this community a card containing scripture Readings for every day in the year, as a Christmas remembrance and greeting.

The Stanton Methodist Church will now be open two nights a week for recreational purposes. This step is being taken because of the fact parents are now working longer hours, and many mothers are employed which leaves children without their guidance.

This decision was reached with the desire of avoiding juvenile delinquency in the town. The church will be open on Wednesday and Friday evenings from 8 to 10 and there was a large attendance last evening. Wednesday evenings groups from 12 to 20 years are invited, and on Friday evenings children from 6 to 12 will attend.

Ping-pong games have been set-up, and there are checkers and other small games available for the children. Residents of the community are asked to look over their games and see if they could make some of them available for use at the church. In some cases they may have been put away, but are never used, and they could be put to very good use for these children.

NEWPORT SCOUTS HOLD INVESTITURE ON FRIDAY

Krebs School P.T. A. Launches Campaign For New Members

Newport Boy Scout Troop No. 73, under the direction of Charles Painter, Scout Master, observed Parents' Night Friday evening at their meeting in the auditorium of the Krebs School. There were approximately 125 parents and friends attended the affair. Various stunts were presented illustrative of Scout work, and there was an Investiture Service for new scouts. There was a presentation of badges for those who had passed second class tests, and a presentation of merit badges to Michael Brojous and Charles DeBender. The program was in charge of Dick Leader, Senior Patrol Leader. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

D. J. Richey, Principal of the Krebs School, announces that the annual P. T. A. Membership Drive has been launched. Miss Mary Catherine Gray's Sixth Grade pupils are leading the competition among the various grades to secure the most members for P.T.A.

The Krebs School Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first meeting of the season on Thursday evening in the auditorium of the school. Mrs. Frank R. White, President, will preside.

The Sale of War Bonds and Stamps at the Krebs School this week totalled $418.05, and was in charge of Mrs. Elva K. Bogia, Defense Chairman. Mrs. F. L. Wharton's seventh grade was 100 percent in their purchases, and were also high grade for the school with purchases of $126.05. Mrs. Margaret Ford's seventh grade pupils were also 100 percent.

Collections for the United War Fund were also made at the Krebs School this week, and the pupils were also 100 percent in joining the Junior Red Cross.

The Krebs School will continue its collection of newspaper, magazines and tin cans, and parents are urged to cooperate by savings these materials for the children.

Armistice Day Programs were presented by the various grades at the Krebs School on Thursday.

Mrs. Leslie Mahan, Welfare Chairman of the Newport and suburban community, is again asking for volunteers at the Red Cross Headquarters in the community building. The room is open on Wednesdays from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and again Wednesday evenings from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. The women are sewing and making surgical dressings, and more workers are needed.

The Women's Auxiliary of the St. James P. E. Church meet on Wednesday days from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the Parish House to sew for the Advent Mission Box. Mrs. A. C. Gamble is in charge of the work.

There was a Confirmation Service in the St. James P. E. Church on Sunday morning at 11 a. m. at which time Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry officiated. Rev. Alex Boyer assisted with the service.

The St. James P. E. Church will hold a Harvest Party next Friday evening in the Parish House. Mrs. Moxley Gray is Chairman of arrangements for the party.

Conserve Light

but do

to help release critical materials . . . fuel transportation, manpower...for war needs

1 TURN OFF LIGHTS WHEN NOT NEEDED

If you remember to turn off lights as you leave each room—you save electricity. Also, check to see that no lights are left on in the cellar, attic or porch. Small lights in halls should be left on when needed for safety.

When you listen to the radio or just sit talking then, of course, you require less light than for reading. Light from a decorative lamp is ample or if you have a three-way lamp, reduce it to its lowest wattage.

3 HAVE CORRECT DIRECTION OF LIGHT

Bring the lamp close to your work so that it sheds its light directly on the reading or working surface. Don't let anyone face light directly—light should come from side, unhindered by shadows.

2 HAVE ENOUGH LIGHT WHERE YOU READ, STUDY OR SEW . . .

There's no economy in trying to read or work by poor light. To attempt to do so is to risk straining your eyes. The use of one large bulb instead of several smaller ones in a floor lamp is recommended when possible. If you can use a 100 watt bulb in lamps where you now use three 40 watt bulbs, do so as you will also be conserving material.

4 PROVIDE LIGHT FOR SAFETY

50% of all accidents occur in the home—don't make your house more hazardous by eliminating light on stairways, in cellar or at danger spots. One injured person may mean the loss of valuable manpower and manhours for Uncle Sam. Carefully planned lighting is inexpensive accident prevention.

More Coal Promised To Poultrymen

Reserves of grain held in the Ever-Normal Granary of the AAA will help feed the Nation's record livestock population next year, says Mr. Oehlert. There are 27,000,000 more cows being milked than last year, 4,200,000 more sows to farrow, 127,600,000 more pigs saved, 131,000,000 more chickens raised, and a record number (51,224,000) of beef cattle carried.

Applicants for farm tractor gasoline during November and December should report to rationing committees the number of acres under cultivation, acres to be plowed or harrowed, cords of wood to be sawed, feed to be ground, other tractor work, number of horses working on farm, and number of men employed on farm.

Any person who eats on a farm operated by a livestock raiser may consume meat point-free (such as a resident farm worker).

Arrangements have been made to provide increased fuel for operators of brooders and hatcheries who heat with anthracite coal. An earlier order from the Solid Fuels Administration for War specified that dealers were authorized to provide brooders and hatcheries with 100 per cent of the anthracite they used during a comparable period in 1942.
