Student From France, Monique Morelec, Joins U. of Delaware Campus

By MARCIA TOSELLI

Ever try to get a steamer trunk from Paris, France to Newark, Delaware? This is only one of the dilemmas which have recently puzzled a charming new woman on our campus, Miss Monique Morelec, a twenty year old graduate student from Yerres, France.

Imagine how difficult it must be to live and study in a foreign country! But Monique has had experience in living away from home. Two years ago she was a teaching assistant in a girls' school in Gloucestershire, England. Last year she completed her undergraduate studies at the University of Paris.

After only two weeks in the United States, Monique seems very much at home here. She can make friends easily because she is so much fun to be with. Monique has long, dark hair, a beautiful smile, and a petite figure. She is interested in practically everything, is very frank in her opinions, and has a wonderful sense of humor. She hopes to obtain a Master of Arts degree in English this year but has come to this country primarily to study the "American people - how they live and think."

She has already learned many things about our life that are different from the French ways. Restaurants are really an experience. Such puzzling things are on the menu like "coleslaw", "submarines", and "triple deckers." Houses are also different from those in France - but Monique likes our sample homes very much.

Our university regulations are also very different from those in France. Monique did not even have to be present at her university to take courses. All her work was done in independent study. Of course she had to pass exams at the end of the year.

Monique has been especially impressed with our beautiful campus. There are two "University cities" in Paris where students live but neither is directly connected with any school.

Finally, one of the main differences between French and American universities is that in France all higher education is FREE! Any one for a mass migration??

Welcome to Monique - and to all of the other new students. Have a wonderful year.

Modern Dance

Tryouts to Start

Tryouts for the Modern Dance Club will be held Monday from 7-8:00 p. m. in the Women's Gym, for Freshmen and graduate students.

Tryouts will consist of simple exercises and portrayals of objects and emotions. Previous experience is not required for the prospective members. The program is designed for relaxation and to develop poise in its members.

Dr. Bertocci Will Speak In RIL Week Program

Noted Speaker Will Conduct Seminars Also Students Urged To Participate

"Maturity: Is It Security or Creative Insecurity?" will be the topic of Dr. Peter A. Bertocci at the Monday morning convocation of Religion in Life Week, 10:15 a. m., at Mitchell Hall.

This meeting is only one of many opportunities to participate in the activities that have been planned for this Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Sunday vesper music will be presented by selected soloists and the University Madrigal Singers under the direction of Anne Tatnall, senior English major. Carillon music will precede the program, that will begin at 7:00 p. m. at Mitchell Hall.

NO ALTERATIONS

The class schedule will not be altered for the RIL Convocation Monday morning. The faculty has been requested to excuse interested students from their 10:00 class. Unless the professor has excused the entire class, students will appear for their attendance to be counted.

"What Maturity Means in Sex, Love, and Marriage" and "Mature Religion as Creative Insecurity" will be the consecutive topics of Dr. Bertocci Monday and Tuesday evenings, at 7:30 p. m., at Wolf Hall. There will be followup discussions following both meetings, the Tuesday evening discussion being held in the lounge of the Student Center. (Continued on Page 8)

Senior Class Nominates Two For Secretary: Weir, Schwarz

Nancy Weir and Ellen Schwarz were nominated for secretary of the senior class at the class meeting held Tuesday, announced Marie Hanson, class president.

A new secretary is to be elected under the rules of succession as stated in the SGA constitution concerning the vacancy of an office in the class. The election will be held at the class meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 4:15 p. m. in Brown Laboratory.

Nancy, an elementary education major is secretary of Delaware Christian Fellowship and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society. Last year she served as chairman of the Standards Committee of WEC and as a member of WEC. She was also a junior counselor and on Squire Honor Committee.

Ellen, an English major, is a member of Modern Dance Club and asst. head of house in Thompson A. Last year she served as a member of Smyth House Council and was on May Court. She spent the past summer studying for six weeks at the University of Vienna.

The class will sponsor a dance on Oct. 23 in the Studena Center following the pep fest. Bill Brereton is chairman of the committee for the dance.

Plans discussed included Senior Weekend to be held June 9, 10, and 11. There will be an in- (Continued on Page 8)

Turner Opens Artist Series; Includes English Folk Songs

Claramae Turner, leading American contralto, will be the featured guest for the opening Artists Series Concert of the 1959-60 season Thursday, Oct. 8 at 8:15 p. m. in Mitchell Hall.

Miss Turner, an artist of outstanding voice and exceptional stage presence, brings a richly varied background to this concert. Her experience ranges from over 75 roles in the Metropolitan, San Francisco, and Chicago Opera Houses to a featured part in the motion picture "Carousel." She has been closely associated with leading contemporary musical geniuses such as Gian Carlo Menotti who chose her to create the role of Madame Flora in his opera "The Medium."

Jay Harrison of the New York Herald Tribune said of Miss Turner's performance in the Menotti opera: "Her voice, too, with its preponderance of dark colors, is a vigorous instrument for the projection of the composer's sentiments, and her interpretation, as a result, has the power of a cannon blast."

The program for the Thursday evening concert will include the following:

"I Wonder as I Wander" and other American and English folk songs; works by Claude Debussy and Camille Saint-Saens, French composers; Gerecter Gott, from "Rienzi" by Richard Wagner; and works by Fernando J. Obradors, renowned lively Spanish composer. Also included will be the famous Madame Flora Aria from Menotti's "The Medium"; "Most Men" by George Cory and Douglass Cross; and "Jonah and the Whale," a Negro spiritual by Robert MacGimsey.

Single tickets for this opening concert may be purchased only at the Mitchell Hall box office during the hour preceding the performance. The price of admission will be $1.20 for students and $2.40 for the public.

Students Attend Conference On Security Policy of U. S.

Persident Perkins has announced that the university will sponsor two student participants at a conference on United States affairs at the United States Military Academy, West Point, from Wednesday, Dec. 2, through Saturday, Dec. 5.

The subject of the conference will be the National Security Policy of the United States, with the main focus to be on the drive of this country in external affairs as an assurance of survival of the American way of life.

Each student during the conference, will serve on one of the discussion committees concerning problems and policy in the areas of economic and technical assistance, military assistance, the United Nations and assistance programs, foreign assistance in Afro-Asia, and in Latin America.

The program is open to any undergraduate who is interested in national affairs. Applications may be placed with any member of the Political Science department. They will then be reviewed and the two most qualified students will be selected. Applications should be filed no later than Oct. 8.

All expenses for the conference will be paid by the academy.

APO Announces Pledging of Eight

Zeta Sigma Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity announces the pledging of eight men last Monday. Pledged were Friedhoffer, Jan Hutapea, Robert Edward R. Sanders, Jeffrey A. Ert E. Townsend, Michael W. Mekalian, Richard H. Sutor, G. Clayton Richards, Jr., and Benjamin Crocker. All the men are freshmen at the university.

Merritt Hughes, vice president of the fraternity, was the chairman of the annual swim meet Tuesday, that was sponsored for the Boy Scout troops in the local area. Coach Harry Rostrum officiated. Hughes, a junior English major, is also currently serving as a junior counselor.

Gib Smith Announces Operating Committees For The Coming Year

Gib Smith, chairman of the Student Center Committee, has announced the student committees for the coming year responsible for the operation of the Student Center and urged students to participate in them. The six committees are:

The social committee which sponsors social programs and cooperates with other organizations using Student Center facilities. Its special functions include dances and jazz concerts. To publicize Student Center activities and to promote the use and enjoyment of Student Center facilities, is the responsibility of the public relations committee. Among this committee's functions are preparation of Student Center publications and maintenance of the Student Center Bulletin Boards.

The research and evaluation committee is responsible for uncovering new program ideas and evaluating the overall Student Center programs. This committee conducts research projects throughout the year. Another duty of this committee is to select students for the various operating committees of the council. Controlling other student committees by establishing standards in financial matters is the job of the finance committee. The duties include the presentation of a summarized operating budget to the Board of Directors and the establishment of accounts for each operating committee.

The cultural committee stimulates the constructive use of leisure time. Art and music programs, exhibits, lectures and discussions are sponsored by this committee. It also maintains the Student Center record library.

The recreation committee provides a program for relaxation during leisure hours in the area of games and hobbies that will be of continuing value to the students. This committee supervises the game room and plans tournaments and intercollegiate competition.

Interested students should contact either Gib Smith or Janet Kenton in the McHenry Room on the second floor of the Student Center between 4 and 5 p. m. any Monday.

Research Journal Discloses Recent, Valuable Findings

"Research today can't wait for books. The most recent findings are more quickly available in the journals," observes Dr. John M. Dawson, director of libraries at the university.

Library holdings at the university reflect the increased demand for journals by research-minded faculty members. In 1955, the library subscribed to 855 journals. Presently, 1,521 titles are found on the shelves. These include publications in French, German, Russian, Spanish, and Italian languages. European, Asian, Latin American, and English speaking countries are represented.

Most of the periodicals are serious studies of mathematics, history, archeology, physics, chemistry, engineering, art, music, economics and political science and agriculture.

According to Dr. Carl Rees, the university's provost and director of research, "It is well known that productive research men and research centers insist upon adequate journal resources. As a rule the first reports available of research findings depend upon journals for their dissemination."

Although the university's periodical resources have been improved substantially in recent years and continue to grow, there are many gaps to fill.

"In fact," Dr. Dawson observes, "no good librarian would ever admit that his collection is satisfactory."

Student Bills Due

Students who have elected to pay their first semester bill on an installment basis, are reminded that the second installment, 25% of the total charges, is due on or before Oct. 10.

A student who fails to pay this installment within ten days after the due date is subject to being dropped from the university.

BS Degrees To Be Given For Nursing

A four year nursing program culminating in a Bachelor of Science degree will be offered by the university in cooperation with the Delaware Hospital in Wilmington. Students between the ages of 17 and 35 who are interested should apply to both the university and the hospital. Out-of-state students are required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

Originally, scholarships provided by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society were limited to residents of Delaware. Recently, deserving students from adjacent counties of Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey have been included. Stipends range up to $750 a year for those of sufficient academic ability who are in need of financial aid. Renewal of the stipend depends upon satisfactory progress.

Students will take a three year course at the university including courses in biology, chemistry, English, history, home economics, mathematics, psychology, sociology, and physical education. Also required are fifteen credit hours of electives in the social sciences, languages, or fine arts.

In the summers following the freshman and sophomore years and the fifteen months after the junior year, the student will study at Delaware Hospital.

Discuss Dating In Other Lands

A panel discussion on dating customs in other lands will be a feature of the regular meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club tonight in the faculty lounge of Warner Hall.

The club, which also meets twice monthly, each first and third Friday, has made tentative plans for the remaining part of the semester. They include a South American evening when foods from the respective countries will be served and the customs of these countries will be discussed.

Major plans for the second semester center around the "Festival of Nations", an annual pageant to be given by the club in April.

Several weeks ago the club sponsored a dance and picnic, both of which club president, Lorraine Masik, reported as quite successful.

Field Trip for Beta Beta Beta

The first bi-weekly meeting of Beta Beta Beta, honorary biological society, was held in Wolf Hall last Thursday, Sept. 24.

Plans were made for a field trip to the Brandywine Valley. A tentative date for the trip is Saturday, Nov. 14.

A tour of the Valley will be conducted by Clayton M. Hoff, executive vice-president of the Brandywine Valley Association. Mr. Hoff is also director of the American Water Shed Council in Washington, D. C.

The trip includes observation of various types of farming techniques and conservation practices used in the Brandywine Valley. Sites of prepared dams for "The Brandywine Water Supply and Food Control Project" will also be visited.

Students interested in going on the field trip should contact John Honour at Wolf Hall by phone or by mail, or by seeing any Beta Beta Beta officer.

Revision of the by-laws was scheduled for note at a special meeting last night.

Farris and Holmes Receive Hagley History Fellowships

Mrs. Sally Guertler Farris and William Fowler Holmes, have been awarded Hagley Fellowships in American history for the 1959-60 academic year.

The fellowships are awarded annually by the Eleutherian Mills-Hagley Foundation to graduate students enrolled in the cooperative program in American history offered by the Museum and the university. Each fellowship provides a stipend of $1,800.

Each fellow takes two courses a week at the university for four semesters and spends a part of each week in special training at the museum.

Courses at the university will include English history, American history, history of science and American literature. At the museum the students will study industrial history and problems, techniques and philosophy of the museum's operation. The fellows also will work at the Historical Society of Delaware and take field trips to other historical sites and museums.

At the university the fellows will work with Dr. John A. Munroe, chairman of the history department, and Professors H. Clay Reed and Ernest J. Moyné.

Mrs. Farris was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania with honors in English and has completed a year of teaching at Bordentown High School. She would like to do historical research or work in a small museum following the completion of her graduate study.

Mr. Holmes is a Notre Dame alumnus. His vocational objective is college teaching.

According to Dr. Munroe, Hagley Fellows have done remarkably good work during the five years the program has been conducted. A recent graduate, Joseph Bruce Sinclair, has been named executive director of the North Andover Historical Society, North Andover, Mass.

Do you think that a man who can pole-vault 16 feet but doesn't like to, should (A) go out and do it anyway? (B) keep the whole thing to himself? (C) do a bit of self-analysis on why he doesn't like to go so high? (D) have the bar set lower?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐ D ☐

When you choose a filter cigarette, do you (A) ask all your friends, and take their word for what's best? (B) take the one that makes the loudest claim? (C) investigate the facts, then use your own judgment? (D) go for the filter that gives you taste plus filtering?

Orientation

Condensed to Intensity

The Class of 1962, headed by President Roy Adams, did a fine job on their part of the freshman orientation program.

The dink-sign-button-sophomore-court program was this year condensed to a period of one week. Some upperclassmen objected because this limited opportunities to obtain substantial date lists. However, this shortening of the period was done in consideration of one of the purposes of freshman orientation to intensify spirit of both freshmen and upperclassmen, whereas a more extended period becomes tedious.

Other purposes of the orientation program as set forth by President Adams and university administrators are:

1. To assist freshmen to become acquainted with each other as well as upperclassmen.

2. To assist freshmen to become acquainted with university traditions and the campus itself, and to make these things have some meaning to the new students.

3. As a result of becoming acquainted with the university and some of its students and traditions, to enable freshmen to become adjusted to university life.

Examination of these purposes will reveal that they were successfully accomplished this fall. As always the signs and dinks encouraged intermingling, but hazing was kept to a minimum so that freshmen could respect upperclassmen for what they were rather than fear them for what they did. Also encouraging new acquaintances was the effective orientation week social program.

The sophomore court as conducted this fall was effective for accomplishing the second purpose, as stated. Punishments included guide service in which freshmen became acquainted with the campus, and the court also enabled the new students to meet some of the most prominent members of the Class of '62. When a freshman was brought before the court for breaking a rule he was not penalized for so doing but the tradition behind the rule was set before him.

The only setback of the orientation period was the failure to set aside five minutes at halftime of the Lehigh game for the tugs-of-war. This was unfortunate but it is hoped that next fall it will be done. It is also hoped that next fall the Class of '63, in conjunction with the university administration, will do as good a job for the incoming Class of '64 as was done this year for them.

Notes

By ANN TATNALL

The Religion-in-Life Week committee has added something new this year, a Sunday vespers service with music provided by the University Madrigal Singers and soloists. The service, an introduction to the week's program of discussions and talks, could be one of the most meaningful half hours of the week. This remains to be seen... but do come and see for yourself.

The Madrigal Singers, a group which for some reason is a favorite of mine, went professional last summer... providing the music for the Newark Methodist Church during July and Grace Church in Wilmington, during August.

The group's part of the RIL program will be drawn from last summer's anthems, plus a slightly more extended work, the "Alleluia" of Randall Thompson. The appearance of the Madrigal Singers this Sunday will be one of our very few performances during the semester. As a contrast to the past school year, when we sang twenty concerts, we have left ourselves time this semester to learn quite a bit of new music.

The Artists Series season will begin next Thursday evening, with the appearance of Clarence Turner, alto. . . a type of voice which has not been heard in the Artists Series since 1949. I hope you have bought Series tickets (which are, incidentally, available at student rates at the University Bookstore) . . . and that you will attend every concert.

One concert a month should be bearable, even without the threat of a quiz the next day in Mu 101. The Artists Series includes world-famous, first rate performers; it is a mistake not to take advantage of the musical opportunity. I hope I'll see you in Mitchell Hall on Thursday evening.

Center Corner

The busy weekend is over and the students are still elated about the Blue Hens' victory over the Lehigh Engineers. The Senior Class dance was a great success with many students enjoying the music of the Hurricanes.

This Friday night, the bridge sessions will again get underway at 8:00 p. m. These sessions are not just for people who know the game, but for anyone who is interested in learning how bridge is played. So, make it a date to stop down at the Center for some bridge.

Before you know it, Homecoming will be here again. The plans for the dance are well along, and it should prove to be one of the biggest affairs of the year. The highlight of the dance will be the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, chosen from the beautiful girls of our campus. So, mark Oct. 17th down on your calendar as a "Night to Remember".

There's lots going on down at the Center in the coming weeks, so I'll be seeing you there!

As ever, Iyam Stoodn't Center

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

This is to acquaint the student body with difficulties encountered in arranging the freshman - sophomore tug-of-war. Arrangements for this function should have been made last spring.

However, due to a misunderstanding, the arrangements weren't made until this fall. At this time, it was too late to incorporate the tug-of-war into the half - time schedule at the Lehigh game.

If the classes of '62 and '63 and the cheerleaders desire to have it so, we are sure that the administration would be entirely favorable to having the event become an established tradition, thereby eliminating the necessity of making annual arrangements.

The organizations mentioned need only contact Mr. Scotty Duncan to realize the successful fruition of this plan. As soon as the freshman class officers are elected and the class is consulted, action can be taken.

Sincerely,

Roy Adams, President of Sophomore Class

Barbara Bilancioni,

Captain of the Cheerleaders

"She may not be beautiful but she sure is the life of the party."

Offstage Notebook

By GEORGE SPELVIN

Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are undoubtedly two of the greatest actors who have ever appeared on the American stage. The strong talented influence that they wield on the stage lifts the theatre to high artistic heights.

Their recent engagement at the Playhouse in Wilmington with THE VISIT is one we hope very few people missed. Somehow, we don't think very many did, because the performance which we attended had stand-

Very simply, the story concerns the cigar-smoking Claire Zachanassian (Lynn Fontanne) who returns to her native village of Gulen to seek revenge from the man, Anton Schill (Alfred Lunt), who seduced her when she was seventeen. To get what she wants, Mme. Claire offers one billion marks to the starving town for the life of Schill.

The first act at first hand seemed to go along rather discreetly until Mme. Claire's electrifying presentation of her offer to the town, but upon second-hand examination, one sees how subtly and ruthlessly this woman is weaving her net. Words and actions which originally seemed harmless took on a sinister meaning. From the end of the first act on we were sitting on the edge of our seat.

GRADUAL BREAKDOWN

The second act shows the gradual and unnerving breakdown of the town in its resistance for the offer of the life of the poor town's most beloved citizen and shopkeeper. Townspeople begin sporting new shoes, new clothes; they start smoking imported tobacco and drinking imported liquor. Even Schill's wife turns up in a new fur coat. The insidious thing about this aspect of the play is that the new things have been bought on CREDIT!

The third act shows the town finally turning against Schill and trying him for the crime of his youth and finding him guilty. He is executed by Mme. Claire's hand - picked man and in the manner which she finds most satisfying - strangling.

STRONG CHARACTERIZATIONS

All of the leading characterizations were extremely strong and polished. We did find one flaw, however, in Miss Fontanne's performance, and it just couldn't be overlooked. It seemed that she killed almost every laugh line that she had. Some of them were quite witty and we felt that her character could have been more rounded if she had made more of an effort to make these lines click properly.

The action moved along fluidly and swiftly. The nearly three hours' running time seemed really much less. The entire company was the same that played during the New York run and seemed to be about the best touring company we've seen in a long time.

EXPERT PERFORMANCE

It would be impossible to list all of those in the cast who performed so expertly, however, those especially worthy of note in addition to Mr. Lunt and Miss Fontanne were Thomas Gomez as the Burgomeister and Glenn Anders as Professor Anders.

Ted Otto's impressionistic set was well suited to the play, but (Continued on Page 5)

Commuter Chatter

By DAVID KAPLAN

The Commuters' Organization met as a body for the first time this year on Sept. 22 in the Morgan and the Vallandigham Rooms of the Student Center Building.

Connie Parker, presiding officer told us that this year the organization will strive for the acquiring of benefits for its members and for its recognition on campus as an organization of purpose and quality. Connie announced the formation of five committees to help accomplish these aims.

The Social and Publicity Committees will be jointly responsible for producing entertaining and financially successful dances and parties. They will also stage the annual charity affair of the Commuter's.

FLOAT COMMITTEE

The Homecoming Float Committee will handle the task of representing our club in the Homecoming float competition. Since Oct. 19 marks the date of the competition, all who are interested in our success are urged to sign up for the committee as soon as possible. There is plenty of work ahead.

The fourth committee, the Special Problems Committee, will arrange for dormitory affiliations, tutoring services, and special car pools for activities. This committee will also sponsor the acquisition of campus mailboxes for commuters, the biggest goal of the year for our organization.

MAILBOX CAMPAIGN

This committee will start an all-out campaign for the mailboxes immediately. The club asks for the support of everyone in the endeavor, the results of which can be a great benefit to us if we succeed. By having mailboxes, it will be easier for other clubs to contact us enabling all of us to be more conscious of the activities that are taking place around us.

The final committee is the Program Committee, whose duty is to present interesting programs for us at our meetings.

Our next meeting will be held in the Morgan and Vallandigham Rooms on Tuesday, October 6 at 12 noon. We hope to see all of you there.

MRHA Promotes Learning, Social Life and Recreation

A once dormant and almost forgotten organization is fast becoming one of the most important and functional on the campus. The Men's Residence Hall Association, of which every dorm man is a member is beginning to count its achievements by the score.

Guided by the Inter-Hall Council, consisting of the Dormitory presidents and elected members, the association's main function is to promote scholarship, social and recreational activities, and to captain the intra-mural athletic program. Success is marking the way as Mr. Robinson, head of university housing and advisor to the group, reports that scholarship and morale are showing remarkable rises in the dormitories. This upward trend shows through candidly in Harter Hall's advance from a 2.22 average scholastic index in 1956-1957 to an amazing 2.53 index in 1958-1959. This, at least in part, Mr. Robinson attributes to the association's emphasis on scholarship. New sidewalks, vending ma-

Chaplain Holds Coke Meetings

Seventeen Delaware students attended the first of a series of "coke and conversation" parties last week at the home of the Rev. Marvin H. Hummel, chaplain to Episcopal students at the university.

Mr. Hummel believes that more progress in fellowship and counseling can be made by meeting students individually than through larger group discussions and meetings. Any interested students can arrange to attend one of these informal open houses by contacting Mr. Hummel at his home, 2 Indian Road, Newark.

The university is one of the few such institutions which has a full-time Episcopal chaplain. Although Mr. Hummel preaches each week at St. Thomas' Church, his responsibility is ultimately to the 300-plus Episcopal students at the university. He holds a coffee hour for Episcopal students and faculty after the 11 a. m. service each Sunday, and special holy communion services every Monday evening at 7 p. m. and on Wednesdays at 7 a. m.

Mr. Hummel said that regular Canterbury Club meetings will resume if students feel a desire for them later in the year. Meanwhile, several activities and field trips are being planned by the group.

Alpha Tau Omega Announces Party

Alpha Tau Omega cordially invites all freshmen and sophomore women to come to a tea on Sunday, Oct. 4, from 2-5 p. m., announced Rick Mainwaring, Worthy Master.

The purpose of the tea is to provide an opportunity for the women to meet the brothers of ATO and have a chance to see the fraternity house, located on West Main Street. Since the brothers were unable to entertain the freshmen women last year, they are extending the invitation to all sophomore women, in addition to freshmen, as traditionally done.

Transportation will be provided from the dormitories for those who desire it. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Murray, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert King.

even more effective than the set were the lights. With a chair here and a table there Mr. Paul Morrison imaginatively created breathtaking effects. There were literally hundreds of light cues and they were all smoothly run.

Let us hope that the Lunts have many more shows up their sleeves for us before they roll down the final curtain.

TIDBITS — This show as well as almost every other show at the Wilmington Playhouse is available to students at the U. of D. for reduced rates. Matinee tickets can be bought for $1.30 and evening tickets for $1.50. These are often the best seats in the house. To get these tickets one merely has to stop in the office of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech and ask for them.

The Wilmington Playhouse has some impressive shows lined up for this season among which are "Look Homeward Angel," "Two for the Seesaw," "My Fair Lady," "An Evening With Carl Sandburg," with Bette Davis and Gary Merrill as well as many pre-Broadway tryouts, the first of which is "Odd Man In," with Ann Sheridan now playing.

'Neath the Arches

By Michele

Hearty, well-deserved congratulations to our Blue Hens for turning in the score that counts. It's a nice feeling to see Delaware's season starting on the foot that gets ahead. And even if most of us won't be able to watch this Saturday — for some sundry irrelevant reason like time, money, or transportation — spirit like the first pep fest, it typified what a pep-rouser rouses when roused — good, and good again.

It's hard to realize it but the Alumni are coming to visit the campus just two weeks from tomorrow to revive memories, talk about the "way it used to be" and marvel how young the students are "These days." In addition, it's time to start thinking about your own Homecoming, your floats, dresses, tickets, votes, and all the things that add up to a wonderful football fall fun weekend.

Even after two weeks of school, I find I have not given honors to all those who have special days set aside in their summer memory books: Best wishes to Joyce Witting, pinned to Robert Brown, a Sigma Theta Psi at Colby; and to Elaine Demitral on her engagement to Jimmy Mendes — the bells will ring next summer for Elaine and Jimmy; and to Sigma Nu Jay Gorry on his pinning to Miss Ganelle Fearnow of Madison College. Two Theta Chi men have pinned their girls in the past week and best wishes to them — Dick Constable to Helen Tell, a graduate of Keystone Junior College, and "Little Joe" Jerkovich to Nancy Thompson.

While the freshmen women are going to the Open Houses at the fraternities this weekend, and our thoughts are in Amherst, enjoy yourself, study if you must or maybe should . . . see you here and there . . . 'neath the arches.

Phi Tau Prepares Tea for Freshmen

All freshmen women are invited to attend an open house at Phi Kappa Tau tomorrow night from 8 - 11 p. m. Tours of the house will be in order, and music will be provided for dancing.

The house is located on South College Avenue, opposite the Hullahen Hall parking lot.

Transportation will be available to and from the dormitories.

Play Cards Tonite

The bridge sessions sponsored by the Student Center will be resumed tonight at 8 P. M. in the Kirkbride Room of the Student Center.

These sessions are held for those who enjoy bridge and would like to learn more about the game.

All are invited to attend.

Delaware Tops Lehigh, 12-7, On Last-Period Touchdown

TONY SURAVITCH straight-arms a would-be Lehigh tackler early in the second period. Tony went on for a 13-yard jaunt. John Bowman is seen on the left as he runs the pattern.

By HOWARD ISAACS

Coming from behind in the final quarter, Delaware overcame the stubborn Lehigh defense to eke out a 12-7 decision over the Engineers before 7,100 spectators at the home gridiron.

After trailing by one point from the second period, the Blue Hens mounted a sustained drive following an out-of-bounds punt. Dave Beinners picked up twenty yards to midfield. A tripping penalty moved the pigskin into Lehigh territory to the thirty-six yard stripe.

Ken Schroek, Tony Suravitch, Jack Turner and Beinners combined to lug the ball to the eleven. A penalty put the Hens inside the ten. Turner smashed to the four where fullback Suravitch dashed off tackle to pay dirt and ultimate victory.

GRINDING ATTACK

Delaware utilized its familiar slow, grinding attack, picking up 234 yards to only 162 for the visitors. The Hens took to the air only seldom, completing four aeriels for 38 paces. One pass set up the Blue and Gold's first score, early in the second canto.

With the ball on Lehigh's thirty-one, Turner heaved the skin to Dick Broadbent in the corner. The big end leaped into the air, evading two defenders and brought the egg down on the three. Turner plunged into the end zone from the two but the two point conversion failed.

Three more times the Hens penetrated deep into Engineer territory. Immediately following their first score, the Blue Hens intercepted a Lehigh pass. Suravitch, Turner and Bowman alternately carried to the eighteen. Quarterback Gampy Pellegrini, trying to find receivers was twice thrown for losses. On fourth down a field goal attempt failed.

UNSUCCESSFUL

In the second half Delaware sandwiched the winning touchdown with unsuccessful bids for a score. Both attempts led to field goal tries by Broadbent, which were close but wide. Once the Hens penetrated to the Lehigh nine while just before the game's end, Turner carried to the one.

The lone Lehigh tally came at the end of the initial stanza. Beinners intercepted an Engineer aerial but fumbled on the Delaware twenty-five. Lehigh's fleet halfbacks picked up a first down to the fifteen. A lateral wide around right end moved the visitors to the eight.

QB SNEAK

A quarterback sneak caught the Hens defenders by surprise and the Engineer signal-caller scored standing up. The extra point was good.

Leading the Delaware ground gainers was halfback Turner with 92 yards on 21 carries. A close second was fullback Suravitch who ran 18 times for 88 yards. Bowman, Beinners, Pellegrini and Schroek filled out the Hens offensive machine.

In the first down department, Delaware rolled to 17, passing for two. Their opponents managed nine rushing, one passing and one as result of a penalty.

Last season the Engineers edged Delaware 8-7. The series, dating back to 1912 now stands at 7-6, Lehigh still holding the edge.

LEVY LEVELS On Sports

By Ernie Levy
Sports Editor

Rumor has it that the victorious football team is to be placed on social probation for the appearance of halfback Dave "Bugs" Beinners minus his outer leg coverings on the sidelines last week. We are still not sure how it happened, but we feel that perhaps the administration will overlook the incident in view of the final outcome of the contest.

Though victory was ours, we were not too impressed with the game for the expected radical changes were not evident. With quarterbacks Gampy Pellegrini, Barry Fetterman, and Gary Hebert so much on a par, we were amazed at the total absence of the latter two.

Several good opportunities arose that called for a good running quarterback. At these times, when the Delaware attack sputtered, we would like to have seen Hebert or Fetterman to vary the play. It became evident to the Lehigh club that when there was to be any running to do, it was not going to be attempted by Gampy.

The opening play will remain a sore spot for some time in our minds as Pellegrini threw a pass past the outstretched hand or (did he slip?) Dick Broadbent; it was obviously a touchdown play. It would have relieved the pressure on the home forces immediately, while causing the opposite effect on the opponents.

To atone, however, for the opening sequence, Jack Turner heaved a very accurate aerial to the same Broadbent which the latter grabbed despite the vain efforts of several Engineers.

We would like to point out that the line, hampered by injuries, was not nearly as effective as last year's. We do think that the Delaware offense will be greatly strengthened by the return of the injured. We were impressed with one lineman (besides Broadbent) in particular; guard, Jim Garvin repeatedly made his presence felt in playing both offense and defense.

Tony Suravitch, John Bowman, and Jack Turner vaulted through the line — hole or no hole, Ken Schroek, given the opportunity only once, made good use of the time with an electrifying scamper. Why couldn't he have spelled one of the other backs a few times in reward for his good performance? Maybe next time!

We want to note also the heads-up defensive play of Pape Lukk. The same kind of play was evidenced by Leon Dombrowski when he purposely went off sides. The idea on that maneuver was to cause a penalty in order to stop the clock. When the clock is stopped "wild card" substitution is permitted. This substitution was Lukk, who went in to punt for Gampy.

For those of us who wondered why there was an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty levied against the Hens after a sustained drive had carried them to the Lehigh one yard line, here is the explanation: Nothing can be thrown onto the playing field without the direct request from a member of the team. When head manager, Sheldon Soss threw the placement kick tee onto the field, the

Gold Gridders Fly to Amherst; Meet Redmen

Soccer Squad Starts Shaping But Game Experience Lacking

The Delaware football team will fly to Amherst, Mass., tonight to prepare for Saturday's engagement with the University of Massachusetts Redmen, at 1:30 p. m.

The game will be the second in the series between the two teams. Delaware soundly romped over the Redmen, 28-14, last season at Delaware Stadium.

Massachusetts, fielding a club made up primarily of sophomores and juniors, threatens to be much stronger this season. The Redmen defeated the University of Maine in its Yankee Conference opener, 21-16, scoring all 21 points in the final 20 minutes of the contest. Maine had been regarded as the only real threat to dethrone Connecticut, the conference champion.

WINGED-T
Much of the Redmen success this season can be attributed to the installation of Coach Dave Nelson's Winged-T offense at the Amherst school. Saturday will mark the first time Nelson has coached his own offense in 11 years of coaching.

Coach Charles O'Rourke, entering his eighth year as the Redmen coach, said the new offense has given them better balance in their running and passing game. Operating the Winged-T are a pair of alternating quarterbacks, veterans John Conway and sophomore John McCormick, who combined for five touchdowns passes in the Maine and (Continued on Page 8)

Things are starting to shape up for Coach "Whitey" Burnham's booters. The team is composed almost entirely of sophomore talent, lacking in experience but none-the-less very enthusiastic. The team is still very much in need of some experienced halfbacks to replace last year's graduating seniors.

Among them were captain Dick Holden and four year letterman Paul Williamson. The probable replacements for these two valuable grads are sophomore Bill Ziegler and junior Jay Gorry. There is one sour note here, however, with Ziegler out with a slight injury.

The fullback situation takes on a much brighter appearance. The right fullback position has been nailed down by this year's captain, Pat Dyer. The left position is being equally well handled by returning letterman Howard Murray. There is considerable depth at these positions with Dave Dunn, and John Woodward pushing for starting positions.

The outlook for the season is favorable with improvement slated as the season progresses. An all around team effort is expected by Coach Burnham when his team travels to Washington College on Oct. 16, for their opener.

Dr. E. Comings To Open Series

Dr. Edward Comings, dean of the School of Engineering, will present the first of a series of lectures given by the School of Graduate Studies, on Oct. 12, at 4:20 p. m., in room 220 Hullen Hall.

Dr. Comings will lecture on the behavior of gases under high pressure.

The series will include talks by university faculty describing their various research projects. They cover such fields as education, biology, literature, and chemistry.

FASTER, FASTER!

College enrollment continues to spiral upward. The need for more classrooms and more teachers grows more desperate daily. But classrooms, alas, do not spring up like mushrooms—nor teachers like May flies. So what must we do while we build more classrooms and train more teachers? We must get better use out of the classrooms and teachers we now have. That's what we must do.

This column, normally a vehicle of good-humored foolery, will today forsake laughter to examine the crisis in higher education. My sponsors, the makers of Philip Morris Cigarettes, as bonny a bunch of tycoons as you will see in a month of Sundays, have given cheerful consent to this departure. Oh, splendid chaps they are—the makers of Philip Morris, fond of home, mother, porridge, the Constitution and country fiddling! Twinkly and engaging they are, as full of joy, as brimming with goodness, as loaded with felicity as the cigarettes they bring you in two handy packages—the traditional soft pack and the crushproof flip-top box.

How can we make better use of existing campus facilities? The answer can be given in one word—speedup! Speed up the educational process—streamline courses. Eliminate frills. Sharpen. Shorten. Quicken.

Following is a list of courses with suggested methods to speed up each one.

PHYSICS—Eliminate slow neutrons.

PSYCHOLOGY LAB—Tilt the mazes downhill. The white mice will run much faster.

ENGINEERING—Make slide rules half as long.

MUSIC—Change all tempos to allegro. (An added benefit to be gained from this suggestion is that once you speed up waltz time, campus proms will all be over by ten p.m. With students going home so early, romance will languish and marriage counsellors can be transferred to the Buildings and Grounds Department. Also, houses now used for married students can be returned to the School of Animal Husbandry.)

ALGEBRA—If X always equals twenty-four, much time-consuming computation can be eliminated.

DENTISTRY—Skip baby teeth—they fall out anyhow.

POETRY—Amalgamate the classics. Like this:

*Hail to thee blithe spirit
Shoot if you must this old gray head
You ain't nothin' but a hound dog
Smiling, the boy fell dead*

You see how simple it is? Perhaps you have some speedup ideas of your own. If so, I'll thank you to keep them to yourselves.

referee called the penalty. Soss thought that Mark Hurm had requested the tee, but actually Hurm was merely making a random gesture which Shelly mistook to be a signal.

In conclusion, we hope that lack of variety and ingenuity will not mar next week's game. Maybe the home forces were afraid to deviate from the habitual ground game because of the seriousness of the first test. We start out on a better note this season by knocking over our first MAC victims. Let's hope it is an indication of further and greater successes.

NOTE: Karl Frantz was suited for the Lehigh game! This addition strengthens our already strong end situation. Maybe one of the ends will shift to a new position!

Unwritten Law By 63er's Spirit

Even though it doesn't say under the written laws of the qualifications for the office of president that you must be prepared for abduction, future sophomore class presidents should be prepared. Ask Roy Adams — It happened to him.

At 9:55, Roy opened his door to friendly visitors, he thought. About one minute and a half later he was sitting in a car between two spirited freshmen on his way to Wilmington.

After a stop at the Wilmington home of two of the kidnappers where signs for the car were picked up, the party started back to campus.

A short distance out of Newark, Roy was tied to the fender of the car surrounded by posters reading "63 Got Him" and "Bye Bye Dinks" and taken on a tour of the town which terminated at the scene of the freshmen-sophomore tug of war. Here, without further ransom, Roy was released in order to officiate the event.

"I am sure that the class of '62 is indeed proud of the spirit exhibited by these class members on behalf of the entire class of '63", stated Roy Adams. He also remarked that it is also important to note that the event was handled very well and that I was returned to my position unscathed.

Harvard games. All TD's came in the last quarter of both games!

Massachusetts has good depth in the line and in the backfield and is using two teams interchangeably. Seventeen lettermen returned from last year's squad that compiled a 2-6 record.

VETERANS

Coach Nelson will field an all veteran team, principally the same that started last weekend's game with Lehigh at Delaware Stadium. Quarterback Gampy Pellegrini will head a backfield composed of halfbacks Jack Turner and John Bowman and fullback Tony Suravitch.

Line starters include ends Dick Broadbent and Mickey Heincken, tackles John Mordas and Ray Klapinsky, guards Leon Dombrowski and Otto Fad, and center and captain Mark Hurm.

Backfield Coach Tubby Raymond has credited Turner, last year's leading ground gainer, with "giving his all" during game and practice sessions. He said the Philadelphia native will go down in Blue Hen history as one of Delaware's "all-time great backs."

Karl Frantz, veteran end, rejoined the team last week after announcing his retirement from the game at the start of the season. One of the team's top receivers over the past two years, Frantz will probably see limited action until later in the season.

In other sports activity tomorrow, the Blue Hen cross-country team will open the season with a triangular meet with Franklin and Marshall and Juniata, at the F. and M. course in Lancaster, Pa., at 1:30 p. m.

Dick Green, of Middletown, is captain of the Delaware club, coached by D. Kenneth Steers. The largely sophomore team will seek to better its record of last season, when it dropped all six meets. One of the top prospective runners is Carl-Olaf Homen, special exchange student from Finland, who was an outstanding trackman in his native country.

Noted Speaker

Panels will conduct seminars Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons, at 4:15 at the Morgan-Vallandigham Room in the Student Center. Seniors Betty Kintigh, Harold Woodward, Neal Warrington, and Dave Heeren will discuss "The Role of Religion in College Life."

"Modern American Morality" will be the topic Tuesday evening. Participants will be Peter French, graduate student, seniors Larry Cordrey and Denny Fuhr, and Dave Kaplan, junior. "The Agnostic Stand" will be presented by Anne Milbury, sophomore; Dr. Lawrence Gullick and Dr. Loren Smith, both of the psychology department; Father William Hammer, pastor of St. John's Church; Rabbi Leonard Gewirtz of the Adas Kachaplain of the Westminster desch Shel Emeth Congregation; and the Reverend David Wiley, Foundation.

In addition, dorm and fraternity discussion will be held Tuesday and Wednesday evening. Slated for Tuesday are DTD, Phi Tau, ATO, PIKA, Sigma Nu, and AEPI. Also included will be Smyth Hall; Thompson and Colburn, who will combine their meeting; Kent and Syphard; and Warner and Brown, scheduled for Wednesday evening are New Castle and Harter and Sussex and Sharp; with Squire and Cannon meeting separately.

PERSONAL CONFERENCES

Students and campus groups will have the opportunity to hold personal conferences with Dr. Bertocci. Requests may be made at the information desk at the Student Center. Dr. Bertocci will be available 10 a. m. to noon and from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. on both Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

Dr. Bertocci received his bachelor of arts from Boston University, his master of arts from Harvard University and his doctorate from Boston University. He has published articles in psychology, education, ethics, religion, philosophy, and contributed to the "Encyclopedia of Religion" and the "Dictionary of Psychology."

Last spring Professor Bertocci was the platform speaker at a weekend conference at the Methodist Student Movement of Pennsylvania. He has participated in many Religious Emphasis Weeks and in lectures at many universities. His books "The Human Venture in Sex, Love, and Marriage," and "Religion as Creative Insecurity" will be on sale at the Bookstore.

COMMITTEE INCLUDES

Jean Jaquette, senior chemistry major, is general chairman of the RIL Committees. Members of the publicity committee are Dagmar Raun, sophomore, and Peggy Schaal, Joanne Davis, and Lorraine Millelot, juniors. Coordination of speakers is in the charge of Sue Kane, sophomore, while Robert Walsh, senior, will head the seminar committee.

David Gray, junior, will be in charge of the resident groups with fraternity discussions headed by Don Reed, senior; men's dorms, Earl Cone, sophomore, and women's dorms, Sara Thomas, junior.

Commuter's activities are in the control of Bette Frohock, senior; faculty committee, Phyllis Miller, junior; physical arrangements, Pat Willett, sophomore; and evaluation and follow through, Elizabeth McKinney, junior. The general secretary is Mary Nolan, junior.

New products lead to better jobs at Du Pont

DOUGHNUTS YOU CAN'T DUNK

These bizarre-looking underpinnings have taken a lot of the risk out of ticklish over-water helicopter operations. Tough and lightweight, they can be inflated in a few seconds. They're made of neoprene-coated nylon fabric.

This year nylon, product of Du Pont research, is 20 years old. Since its discovery, hundreds of new jobs have been created. To improve it in the laboratory. To make it in the plant. To find new uses. To advertise it across the nation. To sell it in world markets. These new jobs range from trainee to administrator.

At Du Pont, our business is to discover the undiscovered. We don't find a nylon every year, but we come out with new products often exciting in their degree of improvement over the old. New plastics like "Teflon" fluorocarbon resins, new finishes like "Lucite" acrylic automotive finishes, new families of products like the polyesters — "Dacron" polyester fiber, "Mylar" polyester film, "Cronar" polyester film base.

How does all this affect you?

When you join Du Pont you and your future are backed by research, and its promise of growth. Each year more jobs are created, all the way to the top.

At the bottom rung of the technical graduate's ladder, you are given an actual project assignment almost at once and begin to learn your job by doing it. All training is personalized—tailored to your background and interests. It permits periodic evaluation of your performance. Our promotion policies are based on the conviction that you should work at the top of your ability. It stands to reason, then, that the better your training, the more rapid your rise is likely to be... and the brighter your future.

If you would like to know more about career opportunities where growth through research has been the history and continues as the objective, see your placement officer for literature, or write E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co (Inc.), 2420 Nemours Building, Wilmington 98, Delaware.
