New Hall For Women's College Is Proposed

Improved Conditions Here Prompt Quick Action by Graduates and Friends

Will Issue Bonds

Representative Collins, of Newark, introduced a bill in the House Monday authorizing the State Treasurer to issue bonds to the amount of $150,000 for the building of a dining hall and dormitory to be known as "Kent" at the Women's College, University of Delaware. It is provided that the bonds be issued by April 1st of this year, and the funds turned over to the trustees of the University who would have charge of the erection of such building. Provision is made for $5,000 of the bonds to mature each year, beginning April 1, 1924, and the last $5,000 to mature in 1928. Interest is not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent.

The new hall will be constructed in the same method as were the present buildings upon the lower campus. Representative Collins, by his influence and help in the matter has secured for himself to be one of the great workers for a bigger and better university, and in the eyes of the community he is referred to as the hero of the hour.

The opinion of many people here are closely connected with the building of the College, the conditions which the girls of the State are receiving their education are not well adapted to the great majority of the students. If the students would take up to Newark for inspection purposes it is felt that they would realize the need of a new building.

Alumnae Association of the Women's College backed the movement for the proposed hall to the effect that there are good reasons to believe that their efforts, combined with the help of Mr. Collins, will be successful. The Board of Trustees of the University, while making known the need of the building at the last session of the Legislature did not ask for the necessary amount this year. It was therefore felt that another year would be in view, with the local conditions growing each year. The local conditions that Representative Collins presented the actual need for the building that the members will vote approval. The facts are such, stated, that no member would

PROBLEM ON BUS

Sides Confident of Victory

On the Interstate Bus Company application for permission to operate a bus between Chesapeake and Wilmington was postponed today's meeting of the Street Commissioners because of the illness of George L. Townsend, attorney for the bus company.

The companies of Dover, Newark and Wilmington are opposed to the granting of the permission. The meeting tomorrow as the day for hearing.

The local bus line owner is confident that they are fighting the

ST. RESIDENTS PETITION COUNCIL

For Repairs on Street. Council Orders Work To Be Done

Residents of Choate street who some time been dissatisfied with the condition of the street fronting their properties, recently circulated a petition in the neighborhood to the Mayor and Council calling attention to the need of repairs and requesting some measure to be taken to restore the surface of the street.

A resolution was read in Council last night and action was taken. The Committee ordered clerks to go over the surface and the street up. L. Delaware Lovett was appointed to haul the material for the street.

DOVER POISON PEN CASE TO BE DROPPED

Reported that Letters Written to Residents of Town Are Work of Eccentric

NO PROSECUTION

Dover has been in a turmoil for the past few weeks over alleged poison-pen letters which have been received by several prominent men and women throughout the Capital City. In fact, it is stated that the Legislature with all its sensational and awe inspiring tactics has been forced to accept a back seat for the present.

At first the letters were thought to have been written with blackmail in view, but it has since been decided that the missives are the work of an alleged eccentric woman living in Dover but whose name, though known to many, is not for publication. Three years ago, a similar incident shook the social foundations of the town, but passed over without much damage. This one will no doubt do likewise.

The letters have been received by Mrs. Charles T. Jackson, 132 South Bradford street; Mrs. Harry Hancock, 118 South Governor's avenue, wife of a Councilman; Miss Clara S. Miller, a school teacher, Governor's avenue; Mrs. Marvel Gooden, Reed street, and Mrs. Ethel Fennimore, who lives in the same neighborhood.

P-T ASSOCIATION TO HOLD CITIZENS' MEETING

Invite Discussion of Pending Bills at Meeting Tomorrow Night

The Newark Parent-Teacher Association will hold its meeting, postponed from last week, in the High School tomorrow night at eight o'clock sharp.

The principal speaker will be W. H. Jump of the State Board of Public Instruction. Mr. Jump, it is understood, will talk upon various phases of the School Appropriation Bill, now pending in the Legislature.

The officers and members of the Association wish it to be known that this is a "citizens" meeting and that all the men and women in the neighborhood are earnestly requested to be present.

LEVY COURT SELECTS TRUSTEES OF THE POOR

Trustees of the poor for Wilmington and the various hundreds of New Castle County were elected yesterday by the Levy Court. They are: John Evans, Northeast district of Wilmington; LeRoy Kramer, Southwest, Wilmington; Lewis S. Cloud, Christiana hundred; W. Truxton Boyce, White Clay Creek; Charles E. Klingmeyer, New Castle; J. L. Ford, Pender; John W. Carrow, Red Lion, and Walter Gill, Appoquinimink. Each trustee will serve a three-year term of office.

THE SICK

Little Miss Phoebe Steel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walt H. Steel, is ill at her home with scarlet fever. She was taken ill the latter part of last week, and it is believed that she contracted the disease in Wilmington. This makes the only case within the town at the present time, according to authorities. The child is not believed to be in danger and her recovery is confidently expected.

Miss Pauline Coleman is ill at her home on Depot Road from a severe attack of throat trouble. Physicians are in attendance.

Ott W. Widdoes is recovering nicely from the grippe at his home on Delaware Avenue. Mr. Widdoes has been confined to his home for several days, but the attack was not considered serious.

George L. Townsend has been seriously ill for the past week or more with the grippe. His condition is quite improved now and it is hoped by his many friends that he will soon be completely recovered.

Regular Meeting Of Council Shows That Town Has Over $11,000 In Treasury

Pay Off $5000 Note in Full and Give Fire Company $1000 for Two-Year Appropriation at Prosperous Meeting

Make Up Street Program Budget

Newark Town Council sat in session Monday night very like unto a group of capitalists in a directors' meeting. Not content with paying the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. its regular two years' appropriation of $1,000, Mayor Frazer and his cohorts ordered paid off a standing note against them of $5,000 held by a local bank. This act cleared away the last debt other than the regular bonded indebtedness of the town, and Council has emerged square with the world for the first time in twelve years.

Mayor Frazer called the meeting order at 8:30 with Councilmen Wilson, Colmery, Beale and Patchell present. Councilmen Beale and Wilson read the list of bills for the past month and ordered drafts for the amounts to be drawn. Mrs. Laura Hossinger, secretary to Council, then read the minutes of the December meeting and the financial report to date.

The sum of $11,136.82 remained in the Treasury on February 1st after bills to the amount of $3,362.42 were ordered paid.

Plan Street Program

One of the most important acts of Council Monday night was the decision to start active work on street repair during 1923. Mayor Frazer stated that perhaps the best way would be to prepare a budget including a definite program of street building with plans and specifications attached. Councilmen Wilson and Colmery called attention to the fact that the preliminary work must be done as soon as possible. The two streets which will be first attended to are East Delaware Avenue and New London Avenue.

College President To Speak Tonight

Pres. Morgan of Antioch College to Address Faculty at University

Tells Unique Plan

President Morgan of Antioch College, Antioch, Ohio, will address members of the Faculty of the University and citizens of Newark in the Lounge Room in Old College, tonight.

President Morgan is the head of a unique educational institution. His work is an outstanding example of the principle of combining practical work with classroom education.

At Antioch, the students spend five weeks in the college and five weeks in industrial plants, stores and offices within a radius of one hundred miles from the city.

"The Antioch Plan" will be the subject of Dr. Morgan's address. Townspeople are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

CALL ON SENATOR

Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Derriekson and Rev. and Mrs. Reed, of White Clay Presbyterian Church near here were in Washington, recently as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crow of that city.

While in Washington the Newark people called upon Senator L. Heisler Ball in his office in the Senate Office Building. They spent a very pleasant few minutes in conversation with the Senator.

CLARENCE T. EASTBURN FUNERAL HELD TODAY

Popular Local Contractor Died Saturday in Wilmington Ill About a Month

DEATH WAS EXPECTED

Clarence T. Eastburn, for many years a resident of Newark and vicinity and well known in upper Delaware and Maryland as a hauling and building contractor, passed away in the Delaware Hospital last Saturday morning, after a month's illness. Mr. Eastburn was 44 years old.

About three weeks ago he was removed to the hospital from the home of his sister, Mrs. Laura Willis, on Cleveland Avenue, for treatment of a disease of the stomach. His condition, however, made an operation dangerous and he was accorded other treatment in an effort to save his life. A week ago it was reported that he was no better and that he could not possibly get well. For months before being taken to the hospital, the deceased had suffered somewhat but had never taken his ailment very seriously.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home of Mrs. Willis, where the deceased had lived for some time.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Frank Herson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and were attended by a great number of relatives and friends. Interment was made in Mill Creek Friends Cemetery, near here.

The deceased is survived by seven brothers, Louis, Calvin, Leslie, Irwin, Clifton, Herbert and Harry, six of whom acted as pall bearers this afternoon. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Edward Sharpless of near Hockessin, and two children, Iva, aged 13, and Stinson, aged 8 years.

Mr. Eastburn was born on a farm near Hockessin and has lived in Delaware all his life. For the past seven years he lived in Newark, and in that time had made a host of friends both in a business way and socially. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, Osceola Lodge No. 5, and the Red Men; took an active part in all progressive movements about town and at all times was a hard working, solid citizen of the highest type.

He was a member of the Society of Friends and in his youth was educated at the Wilmington Friends School.

SALE OF XMAS SEALS TO HELP PATIENTS

Hope Farm Inmates to be Cared For Who Cannot Pay Bills

The twenty tubercular patients from Delaware at the Brandywine Sanatorium, near Faulkland, who recently received notice from the State Anti-Tuberculosis Commission that they would have to pay their own board bills at the hospital after January 31 because of a lack of funds will not be compelled to return to their homes or other institutions.

It was learned Friday that the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society had arranged to use the proceeds of the sale of Christmas Seals last Christmas to maintain those patients at the hospital, they being unable to pay their own board.

LINEN SHOWER FOR MISS LAYFIELD

Mrs. Norris N. Wright entertained Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Grace Layfield. The affair was in the nature of a bridge party, but by a cleverly conceived plan was turned into a linen shower for Miss Layfield. All manner of dainty and useful gifts were showered down upon her from a huge inverted umbrella placed above the dining table.

Among those who attended the party were: Mrs. Richards, of Wilmington; Mrs. W. A. Layfield, Miss Grace Layfield, Miss Harriet Wilson, Miss Mary Houston, Mrs. W. H. Evans, Mrs. Armand Durant, Miss Bessie Whittingham, Mrs. R. O. Bausman, Mrs. J. C. Hastings, Mrs. W. Ray Baldwin, of Elk Mills, Miss Elsie Wright and Miss Eleanor Duffy.

An increase of one cent a gallon of gasoline has been announced by the Atlantic Refining Company. Atlantic "gas" has been retailing at from 23 to 24 cents a gallon, making the new price 24 to 25 cents.

High School Exams Held This Week

Many Teachers Unable To Meet Classes On Account of Sickness --Boys in Essay Contest

Supt. Owens in Dover

The mid-year examinations are being held in Newark High School this week with a more or less crippled teaching staff in attendance. The members of the High School faculty, however, are carrying along the work in splendid shape and there will be no delay in the schedule from advices received yesterday.

Several teachers in the High, Grammar and Primary Schools have been forced to go to their homes through illness and in one of two cases rooms have been closed for a few days because of the inability to procure substitutes.

Mrs. Howell, in charge of one of the lower grades, scalded herself severely last week and is unable to take up her duties in the school. Miss Maxwell has been off duty for several days owing to the critical illness of her father.

Misses Harriet Wilson and Charlotte Hobbs are also on the sick list, both suffering from grippe.

Mrs. Hill has returned after an illness of about a week.

Mr. Owens in Dover

Superintendent J. Herbert Owens spent Monday in Dover where he appeared before the Budget Committee of the General Assembly and told of the activities of the Newark School district in the matter of a new High School. He stated that the authorities here were estimating upon the accommodation of 350 children up to the seventh and eighth grades, and clearly outlined the reasons for a new building and an increase of $50,000 in the budget appropriation.

Hold Essay Contest

After the agricultural boys of Delaware returned from a day's visit at the College Farm, they wrote a theme entitled "What I Observed on Field Day at the Experimental Farm." Elimination contests were then held at each of the high schools, and the three best from each high school were forwarded to Dover, where the judges selected the winner. In order to stimulate interest in the contest, the University of Delaware offered a prize pig to the winner. Out of the first eight best themes Newark had three; Laurel had three; Georgetown, one; and Seaford, one. The themes of Clifford Buckingham, Marshall Manns, and Raymond Russell were the three sent from Newark. Franklin Gordy, of Laurel High School, however, won first place and received the prize offered by the University.

NO DAMAGE BY HEAVY SNOWFALL

Kids Delighted at Chance to Use Forgotten Sleds

Newark had its first real snow of the winter yesterday.

Shortly after noon the flakes started down and as evening settled in a high wind gave signs of a real blizzard. By this morning, however, the storm was over and Old Sol shone forth again.

No damage was reported today. The driving storm kept most everyone inside their homes. Trains on both roads ran practically on time.

The fall down State was reported much heavier and some difficulty was experienced by railroads and telegraph companies.

The kids of the town and some of the grown-ups expect to take advantage of the fall of snow in sledding parties tonight.

Quoit Game Held

A keenly contested quoit session was held Monday night in the Odd Fellows' Hall, when picked teams from the local lodge of the Knights of the Golden Eagle locked talons with the J. O. U. A. M. The former team finally won out two games to one.

The Mechanics, however, claim that they were in a slump and a return match will be played soon.

Members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. go to Summit Bridge tonight to help in the installation of officers at that lodge.

Budget Hearing May End This Week

Work of Cutting and Patching Appropriations Expected to Make Dover Solons Squirm—Finance Committee Will Have Hands Full

And Still The Bills Come Pouring In

With the time limit for the introduction of new bills moved from February 5th to the 9th to allow more measures to be drafted, and with more than 250 bills already upon the calendars of both Houses, the General Assembly of Delaware entered upon another week of hearings Monday last.

For the past ten days, Dover has been besieged by delegations from all parts of the State and representing practically all interests therein who have appeared or tried to appear before one of the committees in the interests of some particular bill. This has necessitated a general delay in the business of both houses while the members play respectful attention to the pleas of the citizens at large. Everybody has had a chance to speak his or her speech and it appears that by the end of the week, the legislative decks will be cleared for action and the real battles will begin on both floors.

Three Outstanding Bills

The Child Welfare Commission merger bill, the Budget Bill, including the State Board of Public Instruction appropriation, the University Appropriation and other requests, the Wilmington Charter Bill—these are the three outstanding measures from the viewpoint of public agitation. At least, they are receiving the most attention just at this time. There are a host of other bills which have been introduced which will not rest well upon the palates of many legislators, however, so that while these three may outrank the others in size, they may not in length of debate and political importance.

After the budget hearings are completed and the time limit for new bills has expired and all the delegations and spell-binders are shooed from Dover, there remains but one thing for the salons to do—lock the doors and jump into the mass of work with both feet. It is likely to be the same old story—the last days of the session produce the best results.

It is interesting to note some of the views of the probable action of the Assembly toward the budget. Every newspaper in the State has a way of looking at it; here is the view of the Sunday Star:

"It is a foregone conclusion that there will have to be some cutting of prospective budgets and that is when the trouble is going to start. Every member of the Legislature generally has some special pet among the various agencies that seek State financial aid. It is all right to knife everything else but when a cut is made on his pet, then an awful howl goes up and the budget committee will start to hear these howls this week. It is going to be interesting to watch the work and see how well the committee stands the pressure. Strings will be pulled from every direction to get the 'pets' through unharmed and of course that will mean many different appropriations, as most every member has his pet."

"For instance one member who seems willing for everything else to be slashed to the bone is pulling hard to bring the Mothers' Pension Commission through the storm without being merged with any other welfare organization and without the asked-for appropriation being decreased. Other members will pull just as hard to get all that is asked for the public schools, for Child Welfare, for the Tuberculosis Commission, for the State and county fairs, etc. As stated they all have their 'pets' and have them tagged, 'Keep off, danger.'"

"The Wilmington city charter bill is not even causing any talk among the legislators. They are not bothered in any way over the charter. Some of them are even saying there is no effort being made by the parties in Wilmington to agree on a charter bill and until that is done it is time wasted even sending a bill to Dover."

DAVID A. WARD TALKS TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Large Audience Hears Wilmington Educator Sunday Night. Re-Elect Old
Officers

Another rousing meeting of the Young People's League of St. Thomas Episcopal Church was held last Sunday evening at which time the audience listened to a plea for a better co-operation between children and their schools, delivered by David A. Ward, superintendent of the Wilmington public schools.

Dr. Ward in particular laid stress upon the unseen value of a good school education and of the many who never see the opportunities open to them inside a school house. He asked that the young people of Newark look upon a school, "not as a jail and with the teacher as the jailor," but as a bright, cheery place where they may learn things which they must know to succeed in modern competition.

Before the open meeting, the League held a business meeting at which time the officers now incumbent were re-elected for another term. Refreshments were also served later.

The full program follows:

Prayer by Dr. Edgar Jones, rector of the church; hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," lead by William P. White; soprano solo, Miss Marjorie Rose; hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," by congregation lead by Mr. White; contralto solo, Miss Jean McCaughan, of Westminster Church choir of Wilmington; address, Dr. David A. Ward; baritone solo, Professor Ryden of the University of Delaware; collection, by Malcomb Jones and William E. Hayes, Jr.; contralto solo, Miss McCaughan; benediction hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," congregation, lead by Mr. White; benediction, Dr. Jones.

Saturday

TO HOLD BAKE SALE

The regular meeting of Cooch's Bridge Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the home of the Misses Todd on Saturday afternoon, February third. The regent, Mrs. Ernest Frazer, presided at the meeting, which was a very busy one. Contributions were voted to the work of the society at Ellis Island, to the National Old Trails Road Committee, and to the State Treasurer for State purposes. The Secretary was directed to write to Senators Ball and Bayard and to Representative Boyce urging the passage of a bill providing for a permanent fireproof structure in which to house the priceless archives of the Government which are now in hourly jeopardy from fire.

Delegates to the National D. A. R. Congress, which convenes in Washington April 16-21, are as follows: Mrs. Ernest Frazer and Mrs. J. Wilkins Cooch, with Mrs. J. P. Cann, Mrs. Albert W. Foreman, Mrs. A. L. Beals, Mrs. Mary B. Donnell, Miss Henri Etta Todd, Miss Miriam P. Alrich, Mrs. Eleanor Pennington, Mrs. Mary D. Armstrong, Mrs. Samuel Zinberg and Mrs. W. F. Wright, as alternates.

The chapter will send to Memorial Continental Hall Library a copy of "Delaware and the Eastern Shore" by Edward N. Vallandigham.

Plans were made for a bake sale to be held on March second, and for a box of clothing, etc., which will be packed and sent to the D. A. R. Secretary in charge of the work among the immigrant women in the detention rooms at Ellis Island.

A Vindication

"You no longer thing women should be prohibited from voting?"
"I've changed my mind about that," said Mr. Grumpton, "and I have a much higher opinion of their political acumen than I had before. I used to think when women got the ballot no man could be elected to office who didn't have curly hair and a dimple in his chin, but it's heartening to observe that the crop of successful candidates is just about as homely as it ever was."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ELKTON BUSINESS MEN IN LIVE MEETING

Chamber of Commerce in Full Swing. Industrial Committee Named. Rush Work of Census Taking

NEW P. O. PENDING

The regular meeting of the Elkton Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening with a very large part of the membership on hand to talk over the affairs of the town.

Two main reports, that of the census committee and of Chairman Perkins, of the Post Office Committee were heard by the body. Both reported progress along their line of work.

With the advent of a complete and accurate census of the town, the Chamber will be in a position to know really more about the people, industries, assets and liabilities than the committee was ordered by the presiding officer to complete the work at its earliest convenience.

Mr. Perkins is still in close touch with the authorities at Washington concerning the probability of an appropriation for a new Federal building in Elkton, but so far nothing definite had been accomplished.

What could be considered one of the most important standing committees of the organization was named Monday night. It is called the Industrial Committee and is composed of the following men:

D. J. Ayerst, chairman; R. W. Criswell, Philip King, Delancey Scott, Emerson R. Crothers, Walter C. Miller, Harry W. Pippin, W. Frank Karl, William D. Creamer, and John H. Minster.

A membership committee was also appointed to devise ways and means for adding new faces to the meetings. W. J. McAllister was named chairman of this group, with J. Frank Hurn and A. Victor Davis as the other members.

The business men of Elkton seem to be driving right ahead with the one organ through which they may derive real power in any number of ways. They have become affiliated with the National Chamber of Commerce, have active committees working and a bright future ahead.

Another howl to high heaven. Chesapeake City, our neighbors to the south and where we Elkton people sometimes pass by with turned up noses and feet on the accelerator, is very much on the job. In fact, some people have said they are somewhat ahead of their job.

The Board of Trade has entered formal and impressive protests against any alteration of the present causeway and high drawbridge over the C. and D. Canal where it passes through the town. Given to understand that since the Government has purchased the canal and will undertake many radical changes in the matter of depth and width, the Board of Trade is making doggone sure that Uncle Sam doesn't take away that historical and awe inspiring bridge. They have heard the voice in the distance, and they are losing no time.

It is not safe for a Maryland Senator or Congressman to venture near the canal town, for they won't let him out unless he promises to fight the proposed change in the path of the canal.

The new X-ray outfit has arrived at the Union Hospital from Chicago and will be set up within the space of a few days.

This announcement on the face of it has no germ of international, State or county importance, and if in comparison with the warm meeting of the boys of Singlerly Fire Co. held Monday night.

But it's worthy of a little thought, anyhow.

The Union Hospital in Elkton has for many years done a great work in Cecil county. It has been, on the whole, wisely managed and is a recognized asset to the town.

With the addition of an X-ray machine, it should further enlarge on the work it has already done.

As it stands now, the folks over there in the big frame building can gaze right through your vitals and find a safety pin or a broken rib just as easily as they can take a splinter from your finger.

The Singlerly Fire Company held its annual meeting for the election of officers and a board of directors Monday night of this week in the Hose House. The meeting came along and settled all questions of probable office holders for 1923, and everybody breathed a little easier after it was all over. While there was no argument or warm discussion upon the floor of the meeting, there was known to be plenty of opposition to some of the proposed directors. In other words the members came in "loaded for bear."

Out of a membership list containing 102 names, 98 votes were cast in the ballot box. This in itself shows that interest was not lagging.

The election of John H. Minster, a young business man of Elkton, to the position of President was somewhat a surprise to many of the townspeople. Mr. Minster, it is said, is the youngest president the old Company ever had. He is popular, capable and energetic, and particularly so among the firemen.

More young blood entered into the leadership of the company when Robert L. Gonce was named by the Directors as secretary.

No other important action was taken by the assembled member after the elections were held.

PETER, AT AGE OF 22,

IS OWN GRANDFATHER

A genealogical contortionist is Peter E. Linsky, of Fertile, Ia.

At the tender age of 22, he is his own grandfather by all the laws of man. It was the recent birth of a son that made a fourth dimension necessary to determine Peter's exact position in his family tree.

Eighteen months ago, Linsky married a widow with a grown stepdaughter. Linsky's father, a widower, married that stepdaughter. So the younger Mrs. Linsky became the mother-in-law of her father-in-law, and his stepdaughter was now his stepmother, while his own father was his stepson.

But hold! The elder Linsky's wife gave birth to a son. This son, of course, was the younger Linsky's half-brother; but he was also the grandson of the younger Mrs. Linsky.

Now enters Peter's own son and practically scrambles the family tree. It makes the wife of the senior Linsky the grandmother of Peter's boy, as well as his stepaunt. It makes the senior Linsky some sort of a brother-in-law to his own grandson. It makes the baby the child of Peter's step-grandmother. Peter logically becomes the brother-in-law of his stepmother, while Peter's wife discovers herself as her own child's aunt. The elder Linsky develops into the uncle of his

Abraham Lincoln

*He grows no further from us with the years;
Rather, time draws him closer; and our tears
Well free as though 'twere yesterday he died,
Spreading a cureless sorrow nation wide.*

*All of the things that can be have been said:
"Fathomless eyes," "kind lips and craggy head,"
"Quaint humor," "awkward figure monstrous tall"—
Yet that remains which none may say at all.*

*The mystic in him—who may lend it name?
The charm of him that gave him more than fame?
Searce human seems the person that might doubt him;
And none may read, dry eyed, ten lines about him.*
—Strickland Gillilan.

Voice of Lincoln

Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of '76 did to the support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and laws let every American pledge his life, his property and his sacred honor. Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty.

That is the voice of the Past and that Master Man of yesterday is speaking. It is the spirit of American Institutions and the words are those of Abraham Lincoln. Not always do the words and deeds of History apply today, but as we approach the anniversary of his birth, America can always find in some expression of his principles, the ideas and ideals of our national life. Upon our adherence to those principles rests the safety of our Institutions today. So we can well listen to him, even yet. No one man so represents the American idea of American institutions as does he whose birth we are about to honor. No phrase nor epigram, no eulogy nor description can depict our national life as can the one name, Abraham Lincoln. More than ever before he stands, today, at home and abroad, the undisputed representative of the ideas and ideals of our life and government.

A study of his life and words will reveal no stronger love than that for the Founders of the Republic with their Constitution, and no stronger passion than that for the strict observance of the law. It seems to us that his warning is seriously pertinent today and we can well pause a moment in patriotic reflection.

If America, with her ideals and Institutions, is in danger, we may be assured that these dangers are not from a foreign foe. The facts of History verify our boasted confidence in being able to defend ourselves from foreign jealousies, based either on national misunderstanding or economic ambition. America is the World Leader in very fact. She is so admitted by the Nations of the earth, by her Ideals expressed and her Services rendered. No, her danger, if danger there be, is not from outside influence nor interference. Nor need she fear those who come to our shores, yearning for rights and privileges so generously shared and enjoyed.

Her danger lies within her own borders, in the daily lives of her own citizens. Upon our reverence of our past, our respect and strict observance of the law, rest the future and safety of our government.

That there is a growing disregard for the law and its observance is admitted. And in many instances laughingly so. Nor is this so alone in rural sections or among the uneducated or with those by force of circumstances not so responsible. There is a disregard for the statutes in the high places. That's where the great danger lies. In big business, in professional circles, in high social life, in educational institutions, the law with its integrity is often sneered at. These men scoff at law-makers and will take no part in their work and then boldly violate the statute enacted if not in conformity with their interests, desires or opinions. Circumvention of Law by those in high places, in American fact, is only polite bootlegging. The example set by these men, who by virtue of advantage of training and circumstance are our leaders will be followed by the rank and file. Upon our Captains of Industry, our Teachers of our Youth rests the safety of America. When they sneer at History and scoff at authority, they lose respect of those who follow them. And when that confidence is lost Liberty with its restrictions becomes Personal Freedom with Law, an expression of Desire acquired by Force. We care not whether it be Prohibition, Income Tax, Filing Fee or statute provisions for public expenditures, the Law is supreme. We hold no brief either for or against any of these—the great point at issue is their observance while in force.

Macaulay predicted that American civilization would be destroyed by lawlessness engendered within her own institutions. And the voice of Lincoln is heard today—and well may we pause.

Delaware Railroad and Delaware

The editorial comment of the Milford Chronicle on the Delaware Railroad printed below, recalls an incident of some years ago at the Delaware legislature. Representatives or so representing themselves, of that Company were taking a very active part in some legislative discussion of public interest and the force of their influence was being used. To counteract this, a resolution, criticising the railroad service was prepared and was about to be presented. A copy was handed around the corridors of the "Third House." Immediately conferences were called, the resolution withdrawn and the legislation in question passed unmolested by any so-called Railroad influence.

This resolution is still pertinent and in line with the argument presented by the Chronicle.

WHEREAS, the citizens of Delaware have, during the past few years, caused to be enacted legislation leading to progress in roads, schools, agriculture and industry and

WHEREAS there is a marked improvement and development in all civic and business activities and

WHEREAS efficient transportation is so essential in a State Development,

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Members of the General Assembly do hereby call attention to the service rendered by the Delaware Railroad is totally inadequate for the needs of the State

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. H. Everett Hallman, Pastor

Last Sunday was an interesting day at the First Presbyterian Church. The pastor, after an illness of five weeks, was back in the pulpit, and was greeted by a splendid audience. One of the features of this service was the dedication of a new solid walnut communion table. This table was presented to the church by Dr. H. M. Kollock, in memory of his wife, Annie M. Evans Kollock, who was a faithful and active worker in the church. During the service the pastor read the following lines from a friend as summing up the life of Mrs. Kollock:

"Fearless in well doing—in sorrow strong.

Healer of wounds—affliction's minister.

More good than pious—Just a little blind

To mortal weakness. A woman born

Affecting not to scorn a woman's fate,

At peace with destiny; her husband's crown.

THAT the service given both passenger and freight does not express co-operation that the citizens have right to expect.

THAT this communication be transmitted to the officers of said Company as expressive of our constituency, representing the Industrial and Agricultural interests, with the attending travelling public.

The following is the editorial from the Milford Chronicle:

How long will the people stand for the poor service given by the Pennsylvania railroad to those who travel over the Delaware division and its connecting lines? The passenger cars now operated over the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia branch between Harrington, Lewes and Franklin City, are of the days of thirty years ago—old wooden coaches, dirty, uncomfortable and worst of all, dangerous in case of collision and fire traps to snuff out life. The entrance to most of these cars are narrow, and hinder quick handling of passengers, while ladies wearing delicate fabric dress materials, must be careful to cover the seats to protect their clothes from damage. Before the war the car service was better and satisfactory to the people. Parlor car service was given to travelers who desired that service—but even this is denied to them now. Have the war conditions deprived the people of the right to have at least former conditions restored? If you, as an individual will protest by letter to the Superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad at Broad Street Station, against this continued service forced upon the people who travel in lower Delaware, we believe that attention will be given and the trouble remedied. The management of the connecting lines operated as branch lines in Delaware will not bestir themselves to make any changes, either in train or car service, until the people protest vigorously. Do not wait for some one else to do this, but go after the service we are entitled to have. Write your own letters of protest, direct to the Broad Street Station officials. Write your letter of complaints to the local papers in Maryland and Delaware, and especially to the Milford Chronicle, and we will see that they are printed and that the railroad authorities see them after they are printed. It is up to the people to get better service, in the grade of coaches and in the trains. Why not restore the Pullman Service now? The railroad earns the right to receive the best service in Delaware. Go after it, or know the reason why. The Chronicle will help you to arouse the people while the legislature is in session to help them. We are no enemy to the railroads, because the people need the railroad service as bad as the railroad needs their support; but we do want to see a fair deal for the traveling public restored.

Congratulations

Representative Collins of Newark is to be congratulated on his presentation of the bill providing for additional building at the Women's College. No one except those thoroughly familiar with the conditions existing can begin to realize the extreme necessity for a new building there. This is not mere sentimental interest or ambition for the growth of the institution but a definite actual need if the authorities are to care for the girls as their parents would wish and expect of them. A casual survey and inspection by the members would be all that is necessary for a unanimous vote in favor. Mr. Collins has so formed the bill that the State would be relieved of any financial hardship and will, we feel sure, so present its merits as to warrant serious consideration.

There are other Departments strained to capacity and seriously handicapped for lack of equipment. The engineering department is being run on almost a "shoe string" equipment and merits attention! It is remarkable the work that is being done with the handicaps existing. In fact, it could not be done except through the loyalty and personal sacrifices of the heads of that Department. That Mr. Collins is acquainted with conditions is shown by this action and for this the Institution and State are to be congratulated.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody."

At the Young People's meeting at 6.45 p. m., under the leadership of Miss Kathryn Steele, a most interesting program was rendered. This being the annual young people's week, the program was directed toward the spirit of enthusiastic service and decision. Those who were present have called it one of the best meetings of the year. Watch for surprises!

At the evening service the pulpit was filled by the Rev. John J. Rankin, of Clark's Summit, Pa. Mr. Rankin preached a very helpful, thought-inspiring sermon on "Drifting," from the text Hebrews 2:1. He used as a background a picture comparing Solomon uttering wise sayings, with Solomon building altars to all the gods of his heathen wives.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday night at 7.45.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Tiffany on Thursday night, 7.30.

The Communion Service, which was postponed from January 1st, will be held Sunday morning, February 11th, at 11 a. m.

The monthly meeting of the Executive Council of the Christian Endeavor Society was held Monday night. A number of surprises were planned for the coming weeks.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Revenue officers are visiting every county in the United States to aid taxpayers in the preparation of their income tax returns for the year 1922. Information concerning the date of their arrival and the location of their offices may be obtained by writing the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives.

Forms for filing returns of individual net income for the year 1922 are being sent to taxpayers who filed returns for the year 1921. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax on time, on or before March 15, 1923. The forms, 1040A for filing returns of net income $5,000 and less and 1,040 for filing returns of net income in excess of $5,000, may be obtained from collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1922 was $1,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more.

"Pardon—A. Lincoln"

Newark and a Lincoln Story—by E. N. Vallandigham

Thomas Musgrove of Newark, a short, pale youth, with dense black eyes and a firm mouth, joined the Confederate army. His father was a tailor and Presbyterian elder, a tall, grayhaired man, of gentle aspect, but much native dignity. Everybody liked and respected the Musgroves. They lived precisely opposite the house now occupied by Stiltz's store. While young Tom Musgrove was fighting "somewhere in Virginia" news reached him that his mother was seriously, perhaps fatally, ill. In those days letters passed mysteriously back and forth between the lines. Ours came to us addressed to "Miss Sarah Prideaux," an aunt, as our family name was an object of suspicion to the postal authorities, or so we supposed.

Tom, eager to see his mother before he should die, put off his Confederate uniform, donned citizen's dress, and crept home to her bedside. News reached some loyal person in Newark that this red-handed Rebel was within the Union lines, and before Tom knew that he was detected, the Federal authorities made him prisoner.

Being an armed enemy within the lines, and not in uniform, he was technically by the laws of war a spy, and in danger of a disgraceful death. Luckily for the Musgroves, they were related to Samuel Murphy, also a Presbyterian elder, and an ardent Union man. Mr. Murphy lived in the Colonel Miles house, now owned by the Country Club, and to him posted Elder Musgrove in the dire straits of his son Tom.

The ties of common blood and religion held, and Mr. Murphy, although by nature a somewhat bitter partizan of any cause he espoused, went down to Washington to intercede for his young Rebel kinsman. Stanton, the able but inexorable, was then Secretary of War. Had Mr. Murphy had to depend upon Stanton's mercy, perhaps Tom Musgrove would have fared ill; but his final appeal was to that merciful man in the White House, Abraham Lincoln, in whose melancholy eyes lay the prophetic gloom of his cruel fate.

The story that went the round of the village as to Mr. Murphy's mission was that he went to the White House, and set forth to Mr. Lincoln that this mere youth had risked his life imprudently that he might see once more alive the mother whom he loved. The President according to the story took his pen, and saying: "It's a pity if a poor youth can't come home in safety to see his dying mother," wrote across the paper that was to determine Tom Musgrove's fate, "Pardoned, A. Lincoln."

Mrs. Musgrove did not die of that illness, and perhaps Abraham Lincoln's mercy saved her life as well as her son's. As to Tom Musgrove, he did not go back to the Confederacy. He studied dentistry, and practiced his profession for many years with success, in Philadelphia, where he died. Naturally he did not patiently hear anyone speak ill of Abraham Lincoln, and naturally also his old Confederate comrades in arms who happened to live in these parts became Tom's regular dental patrons.

SHOE DIDN'T FIT

A certain couple, having been married about ten years, lived a life made up for the most part of quarrels and bickerings. One day the husband went to visit a friend whose home life was entirely different.

On leaving he said to his friend: "I have enjoyed my visit here. You seem to be so happy; how do you manage it?"

"It's quite simple," replied his friend: "I make a fuss over my wife, and kiss her quite often."

The husband decided to try this method, and when, on arriving home, his wife opened the door he kissed her. His wife burst into tears.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"Oh, dear!" sobbed the wife. "Everything has gone wrong today. I fell down and broke a lot of china, the dog has pulled all the clothes off the line, the maid has given notice, and now you come home drunk."—Tatler.

She will appear in the beautiful play, "Anna Christie," at the Playhouse, Wilmington, next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Important Discovery

"What we want to discover," said counsel, "is who was the aggressor."

"Eh?" said the fierce-looking witness, doubtfully.

"Let me explain," said counsel patiently. "If I met you in the street and struck you in the face I should be the aggressor."

"No, no. You don't understand. If I struck you without provocation I should be committing an act of aggression."

"Excuse me boss, you'd be committing suicide," declared the witness darkly.—Savannah News.

THE ODYSSEY OF A DOLLAR BILL

The Houston Post has been conducting a "spend-it-at-home" campaign which should be imitated in our national business policies. Recently the editor of the Post, having received a dollar bill as part of his weekly salary, attached a piece of blank paper to the bill, wrote his name on the blank and then spent the dollar at a local department store for some handkerchiefs. He asked that the receipt of the bill write his name on the blank sheet of paper and spend the money in Houston so that it would be used to build up Houston trade, and also requested that each person who received the bill write his name on the sheet attached thereto. In two days that dollar bill had passed through the hands of 24 merchants in Houston.

Starting his story of the travels of the dollar bill, the editor declares that "if every dollar earned in Houston were spent in Houston this would be the most prosperous city in the country. Money would be instantly available for every civic need and every just request would be immediately satisfied." Of course the editor knows, as everyone else does, that Houston does not produce all it needs, and, for climatic reasons, can not do so. But, so far as practicable observance of the doctrine laid down would produce the results he describes. The same thing may be said of the nation. If every dollar earned in America were spent in America, this would always continue to be, as it is today, the most prosperous country in the world.

After the Houston dollar bill had passed through the hands of 24 people, it returned to the editor, presumably in part payment of a subscription, and this is what the bill said to the editor: "I hope that I won't fall into the hands of some disloyal citizen who will send me away from Houston for I like it here and I want many of my brothers to settle in Houston as quickly as they can. I was made to work and I want to work in Houston."

Experience has demonstrated that there are a lot of disloyal citizens in the United States who go abroad to do their buying, if given an opportunity. The only practical method of discouraging that sort of trade is by imposing a tax on buying abroad, and this is known as a protective tariff. That protective tariff keeps the dollars working in America—passing from hand to hand, paying for goods and for services, and adding to the prosperity of the nation.

The whole United States should express its gratitude to the Houston Post for its impressive exhibition of the home-building effects of buying at home.

THE OBJECT OF THE CORPORATION

The Florida Discount Corporation is organized for the purpose of financing automobile paper, short term second mortgages and other well secured short term loans, and will be directed by a group of conservative, influential and successful business men.

There is an outstanding need in South Florida for a security company of this nature.

Auto dealers in this territory depend quite largely upon financial institutions in Jacksonville, Atlanta and other localities to handle their deferred paper. The formation of the Florida Discount Corporation will enable them to keep these profits at home. The demand for short term mortgages is always good because of the need for capital to start construction, prior to the building being financed. This character of business is now well established and is both safe and profitable.

The stock is conscientiously recommended as a safe, conservative and profitable investment.

ACCURATE

George W. Rhodes To Head Local Ball Team Next Season

Chosen Thursday Night As Leader of Newark Club in County League—Committee of Five to Govern

Plan To Raise Funds

George W. Rhodes was selected to lead the destinies of Newark on the diamond next summer at a meeting of baseball enthusiasts last Thursday night in the Armory.

For many years Dr. Rhodes has been a loyal follower of both University and town in the matter of baseball and has given much of his time and energy to help out wherever possible. The selection will prove very popular with the baseball fans and players of the town.

It was decided at the meeting that a committee of five men be put in sole charge of the team, and that it should consist of the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and manager.

The next step will be to choose a manager. The selection is in the hands of the above named men, and will be announced in the near future.

Must Raise Money

The principal problem confronting the local moguls is that of finance. An amount in the neighborhood of sixty dollars in past debts is still outstanding, and it was intimated that this sum must be wiped off the books before any money goes into the treasury for the coming season. It is believed by those closely connected with the art of running a ball team that at least $500 will be needed to start off the season, based on the probability of a 20-game league schedule. Gate receipts are expected to partly keep up the running expenses.

Along this line of ways and means, nothing definite was done at the Thursday night meeting. It was thought advisable to let ever baseball fan or player be ready with a suggestion and bring to the meeting tomorrow night in the Armory. A plan will then be decided upon and active work started for funds.

THREE HARD GAMES IN ROW FOR DELAWARE

Blue and Gold Meet To Pa. Teams This Week. P. I. C. On Monday Night

The schedule maker at the University certainly did himself proud in the matter of basketball games. After a long layoff due to mid-year amputations, the Blue and Gold faces two ancient and worthy rivals when Gettysburg and Muhlenberg come here on Friday and Saturday respectively.

Both these visiting teams come from Pennsylvania and have each year exhibited strong five-in college athletes. They are considered games which Delaware must win to retain her laurels garnered in the defeat of the Penn Jr. Varsity.

On Monday, after one day's rest, Coach McAvoy's charges will oppose P. M. C. on the home court. Whenever these teams break in action there is always plenty of excitement for all concerned.

The Blue and Gold are in excellent shape physically for the game series, but the rest and lack of practice no doubt has slowed them up and altered otherwise eagle-sharp eyes. But by the time the open whistle toots Friday, the team will be ready.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS W. C. I. TONIGHT

Lively Game at Arroyo Expected When Local Face Dover Team

Newark High School will line up against the team from Vley College Institute tonight in the Armory. The game is scheduled to start about 7:30. Joe Wilson, coach of the local tossers expects a hard game and has been driving his team along towards this struggle. The regular line-up of Wilson, Chalmer Hopkins, Townsend, and Hubert is set.

W. C. I. always puts along team in the basketball field of year and this is no exception. They have defeated teams from all over the State and will prove a Tartar Newark to overcome.

AMONG THE SPORTS

THE SPORTING TICKER

A Column Devoted to Clean Athletics and Sportsmanship, written by one who loves the Game.

PASSAIC—THE LATEST STORM CENTER

With the usual flexibility of mind and whim, sports enthusiasts have turned on their heels and completely deserted big league baseball deals, heavyweight prize fights, and southern golf and have flocked to the question of whether a High School basketball team can register one hundred straight victories in less than three years without a semblance of a defeat.

The high school in question is in Passaic, N. J.

Most everybody knows about Passaic—how they started back in 1919 to clean up. And be it said that they have made a splendid job of it.

But the issue which is causing the most comment is whether just an ordinary High School in an ordinary suburban town of perhaps ten thousand souls can produce a "miracle team" such as this one on a strictly amateur, wholesome and home talent basis.

It would spell ruin to Passaic High if some curious person delved into the inner workings of the institution and found that things were not as they should be, but it seems to us that with all the publicity given the team there has been ample opportunity for such investigation; and so far, no one has spoken his little piece about "paid players," "post graduate stars," and the like.

Last week there was considerable agitation on the part of both Philadelphia and New York promoters to entice Passaic over to one of the big cities and to stack up against one of the metropolitan High Schools. The wisest thing for Coach Blood of Passaic to say would be "No." He would have everything to lose and nothing to gain except perhaps a big silver trophy, emblematic of no particular championship.

A lot of people are skeptical about the schoolboys from north Jersey. On the other hand, there seems to be no reason to doubt their record.

We, in our humble way, would like to say that we are naturally an optimist anyhow, and as long as Passaic wins one hundred games without a defeat, we can't find the anvil, and wouldn't use it if we did find it.

Speaking of anvils, isn't it funny how the printed word today can be analyzed. It is written with the aid of but two instruments—the Hammer and the Horn. The Hammer, we would judge, leads its rival by a few years, but when springtime arrives and the baseball playboys troupe south, the Horn should be in front again. In other words, when there is nothing much doing in the sporting world, everybody looks around to see who and what they can attack.

WILL THE FOX RUN NEXT WINTER?

Senator Prettyman last week introduced what might be termed minor bill in the Delaware Senate. It urges the repeal of the present law under which the State protects foxes. If the bill is passed and the law repealed, it is altogether likely that fox-hunting will be revived in "the First State."

The present law prohibits the sale or exposure for sale of hides of foxes, forbids the killing of the animals unless they are actually caught robbing chicken houses, and further makes it unlawful to dig out a female fox, to kill it, or to kill its whelps.

This, in brief, is the present statute.

It might be well to point out that in a fox hunting country where the sport flourishes among the farmers during the winter months, that never does a fox hunter deliberately kill a female fox or injure its whelps. Of course, there are people in this State who would take advantage of the repealer and kill the animals right and left, without thought of sex and offspring.

It would be a real boon to an almost vanished sport to allow foxes to be hunted, dug out of holes, kept in clean quarters, and later released at a drop of a hat before a pack of hounds. Fox hunters of the state know how to protect the offspring and the females providing the farmers co-operate and help stop promiscuous killings.

Sportsmen from all over the State are expected to write or appear in person at Dover advocating the passage of the repealer.

Within the next three or four years, Delaware may yet become a horse-loving State. Back in the old days the sport used to flourish here as well as in other sections, but of late years, horses and dogs have been furthered away from the mind of the average farmer and sportsman.

The repealer may not bring the expected revival in the sport, but it will go a long way towards encouraging it. And it may bring back to the growing generation the love of the horse and the dog, two of the finest animals ever created and placed upon earth.

The Prettyman Bill is meant as a real boost for outdoor sportsmanship and pleasure. It provides for no Budget, neither does it bear a "ripper" clause dangling from it. It can't be called a party measure, for Democrats can fall and get muddy as easily as Republicans. Therefore let the Senate breathe freely.

CAESAR RODNEY HIGH FALLS TO NEWARK 34-14

Down Staters No Match for Local Basketball Tossers Friday Night

G. CHALMERS STARS

Newark High traveled to Wyoming, Del. last Friday evening and roundly trounced the basketball artists from Caesar Rodney High School by the score of 34-14.

The game was played on a floor which handicapped both teams considerably, although Newark had much more trouble than their opponents. The low ceiling made it almost impossible to cage the ball outside the foul line. However this fact made no difference to Newark and they went right out there and won the game five minutes after the start. The locals led at half time by the one-sided score of 21-4. The only points scored during this half by Caesar Rodney were made by Kennedy. Newark led throughout the game.

G. Chalmers the diminutive forward on the local team carried off a large share of the glory Friday night. Beside caging two field goals, he stepped up to the foul line on 15 occasions and dropped the ball through the net 14 times, which is to say that he showed the fans down there how the trick is done. Hubert led the scoring from the field with 5 baskets to his credit.

For Caesar Rodney, the work of Kennedy stood out prominently, but the expert Newark defense always kept him from doing any serious damage. The line up:

AT THE MOVIES

Three richly embroidered costumes weighing 105 pounds provide much of the interest attendant upon Rodolph Valentino's colorful and varied Spanish wardrobe in his new Paramount picture, "Blood and Sand," by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, which comes to the Opera House next Monday. Thirty-five pounds each, weigh the gorgeous silver, gold and satin tunic and costume worn by the star in his appearances as "Juan Gallardo," a bull fighter of Spain. When fully dressed with the addition of his cape of pink silk, a Spanish bull-fighter tinkles and rings like a battery of bells on a busy Sunday.

But the tunic suits are not the only colorful features of the Valentino impersonation in this picture. There is a ragged outfit of the young street gamins with bull-fighter aspirations and the dashing gypsy costume worn at Gallardo's country place. All have been figured to display at its best the vivid, exotic touch which has created the sudden, country-wide Valentino vogue.

GEORGE WINTERS TO HEAD COUNTY LEAGUE

Newark Included in Six Club Circuit. Other Officers Elected

PETITION ASSEMBLY

That the New Castle County Baseball League will be a certainty next summer was assured Sunday last when representatives from all clubs in the old circuit held a meeting at the home of George Winters in Wilmington.

Mr. Winters, a one-time major league pitcher and an active worker in sports around Wilmington, was elected to again lead the organization through 1923. Chandler Gehard of New Castle was elected vice-president and James E. Stein secretary and treasurer.

Six clubs will make up the league this year: New Castle, Marshallton, Newark, Yorklyn, Delaware City and Five Points.

Another matter was brought up at the meeting which caused action to be taken. The proposed bill in the Legislature to abolish daylight-saving time would almost kill twilight baseball in the State, and a petition will be made to the body in Dover to ask for the defeat of the bill. The officers and team representatives of the local league were loud in their protests of the new measure.

Mr. Haver was sent to the meeting by the Newark Club to represent that team in whatever capacity needed and to assure them that Newark would have a team.

His Excuse

"Paw," excitedly exclaimed young Runt. "Zeke Yawkey and a passel of fellers are out in front. They say the bank at Tumlinville has been robbed, and they want you to grab your gun and go with 'em to hunt the robbers!"

"Tell 'em I'm much obliged and powerful sorry," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, "but I hain't in no shape to j'in 'em. Gabe Gosnell dropped in a spell ago and 'lowed that as he was going to be married this afternoon to the Widder McCorkendade he'd like to borrow my best britches to wear during the anecdote, and as I felt I'd just as soon sleep today, as not I let him have 'em. And your maw is just sewing up the gable end of my old ones whur the roan cow hooked me by mistake for her calf or something. So you tell the gents, Runt, that if 'twas any other time I'd be tickled to go with 'em, but just at present I'll have to lay out."—Kansas City Star.

SPLENDID PRIZE FOR BEST JUDGE ON DAIRY TOUR

Blooded Holstein to Be Offered to Farmers of County

"The best judge of dairy cattle who takes the automobile dairy tour February 14 is going to be the owner of a son of King of the Ormsbys. Every farmer knows that King of the Ormsbys, owned by Winterthur Farms, is one of the greatest bulls of the breed and that his service fee is held at $1000." This statement was made by R. O. Bausman, County Agricultural Agent of New Castle County when interviewed relative to the dairy tour.

The annual automobile dairy tour will be held February 14. The down-State farmers who have been invited as guests of the New Castle County Farm Bureau, will be met at Middletown on the 9:28 train. J. D. Reynolds, of Middletown, H. C. Milliken of Cooch, Wilson Pierson of Hockessin, and R. O. Bausman, of Newark, comprise the committee.

Among some of the novel events that will be staged during the tour is a dairy cattle judging contest on the basis of production held at Winterthur Farms. Five mature cows will comprise the class and the production records will be withheld until the contest is finished. Winterthur Farms will give as an award a son of King of the Ormsbys, to the man showing the highest score in this contest. Only farmers having herds are eligible to compete in this contest. However, there will be a judging contest at the University of Delaware on the basis of conformation where everybody is eligible so there will be something for everybody to do.

Lunch will be served at Newark by the ladies of the Century Club. Dr. C. C. Palmer, of the University of Delaware, will speak.

The following farms will be inspected during the tour: J. D. Reynolds, Middletown; Mrs. May Janvier, Middletown; University of Delaware; J. Howard Mitchell and Son, Hockessin, and Winterthur Farms, Winterthur.

Worth Remembering

"Reggie," said old Goldbags as he handed over a $20 banknote to his son, but still kept hold of one corner of it as he delivered his homily, "Reggie, I don't want to stint you on spending money; whenever you go out with the boys—and girls—I want you to pay your share of the expenses, but—"

The old man stopped, then continued:

"But, Reggie, every once in a while I want you to remember that it takes $400 165 days, working day and night and Sundays, at 5 per cent to earn $20."

DELAWARE CATTLE IN TESTING BULLETIN

Winterthur Farms Stock Shows Splendid Records

Aaggie Josephine De Kol 2nd, a pure bred Holstein cow, owned by H. F. duPont of Winterthur, is mentioned in the latest bulletin of "Reported Tests of Holstein Friesian Cows," published by Malcolm H. Gardner of Delavan, Wis. She is reported as having made at the age of five years and eleven months a record of 27660.0 lbs. of milk and 919.80 lbs. of butter fat, equivalent to 1149.8 lbs. of butter.

Nonparell Altoona Ruble, another pure bred Holstein cow, also owned by Mr. duPont, is listed in this bulletin too. She is credited with having produced in 365 days at the age of six years and eight months, 22832.5 lbs. of butter.

The Champion Holstein for Delaware in the full aged class for 365 day production is Emeretta Korn-dyke De Kol, whose record of 28025.7 lbs. of milk and 1077.55 lbs. of butter fat, equivalent to 1346.94 lbs. of butter, surpasses all others, according to the records of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This record was made at the duPont Farm, Winterthur, Delaware.

AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Seats are now on sale at the Playhouse, Wilmington, for the engagement of Pauline Lord in "Anna Christie," Monday and Tuesday next. Undoubtedly her work in "Anna Christie," Eugene O'Neill's great drama, stamps pretty Pauline Lord as one of the greatest of our younger American actresses. The play comes, to the Playhouse with the original cast, including George Marion and Frank Shannon, and is presented by Arthur Hopkins, with the original settings designed by Robert Edmond Jones. No play in recent years has created more discussion than this and its coming will surely mark the highest point of the season's dramatic offerings.

Edgar Selwyn, author-producer, has accomplished some brilliant things in the theatre through both of these mediums of artistic expression. He has written a round dozen phenomenally successful plays and produced some of the biggest money-makers on the American stage. Among the greatest of his personal triumphs have been "The Arab," "Pierre of the Plains," "Rolling Stones," "Nearly Married," "The Country Boy," "The Crowded Hour" (in collaboration with Channing Pollock), "The Mirage," in which Florence Reed was seen at the Times Square Theatre all last season, and "The Love Chef," and a new three act comedy, "Anything Might Happen," that the Selwyns will present at the Playhouse, Wilmington, for three nights, beginning Thursday with a matinee on Saturday.

Aside from being a brilliant playwright and artistic producer, Edgar Selwyn is President of Selwyn & Company, the most enterprising and prosperous theatrical firm in America. He is an American by birth and education, having been born in Cincinnati, Ohio, from which place he went in his infancy to Toronto, Canada. As a youth he came to New York to "make his fortune," an undertaking in which he has succeeded beyond even his most rose-colored dreams of boyhood.

UNITED CANNERIES CORPORATION HAS BIG YEAR; PLANS FOR NEXT SEASON Local Packers Will Pay $1.00 Per Ton Extra Over Contract Price On Tomatoes. May Increase Stock

WILL SUPERVISE PLANTING AGAIN

Announcement was recently made by officials of the United Canneries Corporation, having packing plants in Newark and Kennett Square, Pa., that plans are progressing for another big season in the tomato and corn departments of the industry.

The organization is a co-operative one, upwards of 400 growers holding stock in the enterprise. Due to the fact that many more are anxious to join the ranks, it is very likely that the outstanding stock will be increased before the active season starts.

Although the corporation has one-quarter of its entire pack yet to be sold and is holding same under the most favorable conditions in its Newark plant heated with American Ideal Radiators. In spite of the fact that the plant in Newark is in its first year's operation, the company created a surplus and is paying its stockholders a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent on their 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock and is paying its farmer-growers $1.00 per ton extra over and above the original contract price on tomatoes.

Contrary to the general practice of canning plants, the plants of the United Canneries Corporation are open to the public's inspection at all times. The plants are not only models and up-to-date in every respect but cleanliness is the watch-word of their methods in packing. In packing, the sterilizing process is far more complete and exacting than the process used in other plants.

The policy of the United Canneries Corporation is to begin at the source of the supply. At the very beginning it supplies to its farmers at cost the best seeds obtainable in the country. The tomato plants last season were procured by the Delaware College Experimental Station and were grown under the supervision of Prof. Dean.

Road men are continually kept going from one farm to another to advise the farmers how to get the best results. The farmer-growers of this corporation are not permitted to pull their corn or pick their tomatoes until notified by the company at the proper time. This insures that extra flavor which is contained in "United Quality" and "United Farms" brands when used on the table.

The United Canneries Corporation contemplates enlarging its factory for the coming year in order to take care of the demand for membership in its organization.

in urging that the mileage book privilege be restored to persons required to travel extensively in the transaction of business. The commission noted that the general business opinion was that the reduction would result in a greater number of salesmen going out on the road and an increase in the amount of travel by those now engaged as salesmen. The sale of the books will be open to all desiring them.

The commission did not name the roads excluded from the order.

Finally Punished

When the late Gen. Horace Porter was manager of the Pullman Company an army officer wrote him saying that the Pullman car that had carried him from Jersey City to Long Branch had not been properly swept and dusted.

Gen. Porter wastebasketed the letter; also the second, the third and the fourth. But the fifth was so violent that Gen. Porter dictated the following reply:

"Sir: We have run the train off the track, burned the cars, shot the conductor, hanged the porter and discontinue the line. Hoping that this will be satisfactory, I remain, etc.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Inconsiderate

As long as the grass in a Chicago public park is healthy and green the citizens seem to look upon it as some sort of garden and keep off it as the signs command them. When it begins to die out, however, their respect for it instantly vanishes.

A man in a hurry started one day to cut across a yellow patch in the upper park, but was stopped by a policeman.

"What difference does it make?" demanded the citizen. "The grass is half dead already."

"Sure!" said the indignant officer, "if ye had a sick friend, would you be walkin' on his stomach?"—Harper's Magazine.

MILEAGE BOOKS TO RETURN SOON

Railroads were ordered last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission to resume the practice of selling interchangeable mileage books good for 2,500 miles of travel at reductions of 20 per cent from the regular passenger rates. Sale of the books must begin March 15, the commission decided.

A number of small railroads were excluded from the requirements of the order because of their financial inability to meet the reduction. Practically all of the Class 1 roads, however, must establish the reduction.

Re-establishment of the mileage books system, which was abandoned during the war, resulted from passage of a bill introduced by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, which directed railroads to again issue interchangeable books subject to determination by the Interstate Commerce Commission as to whether there should be a reduction in rates.

THE NEWARK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

THE PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE FULLY DISCUSSED

Now that we are drawing close to resolutions and promises? That our first anniversary, we look back upon how much you wish to help in retrospect. To the casual observer we need your help—every man in—the man on the outside—probably town. If you are not a member, we the accomplishments of the "Cham—want you to be—there are no restriction of Commerce" do not stand out, no lies, no politics—we want in bold relief. But to the man or woman who is really interested in the following men will be the their town and Chamber of Commerce Committee: Geo. Medill, merce and who watch every little Mr. Dougherty, Louis Handloff, Mr. thing in the way of improvements, Strahorn, John Richards.

The most important question in Commerce has had something to do Newark now is the housing question with these improvements—things justice. This is not a debatable question—happen—for every improvement, because everyone admits that ment someone has done some think—we need houses. There are right now ing and done some work. Our first, about 40 applicants on waiting lists for houses in Newark. The Chamber of Commerce has under consideration now a plan by which a stock company would be formed—sell stock to the amount of $10,000, and from this amount secure about $20,000 from Building Loans, making a total of $30,000 for building houses. It is proposed to build fifteen or twenty houses to rent at $15 to $18 a month. The plan seems feasible, and unless something unforeseen happens the Chamber of Commerce hopes to put it into operation.

Other questions that the Chamber of Commerce has on its program for the coming year are signs at either end of the town—playgrounds, sidewalks all the way to Pennsylvania Station, a no-parking light districts on Main Street, etc.

In conclusion let me say this: Let's get into the game; let us do something worth while; let us live and enjoy life to the fullest extent, but above all, let us try to make the other fellow happy.

For when the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name He writes Not what you won or lost—but how you played the game.

JIM HASTINGS.

When the first Germans coming to America brought this belief with them, the common groundhog or woodchuck was adopted in place of the badger, because the latter was not so well known here.

But the belief that the weather on February 2 predicts warm or cold weather for six weeks to come dates back to the fifth century, when the festival of Candlemas was established.

This festival is still being celebrated in the Anglican Roman and Greek churches. Other names for the festival are "The Purification of the Blessed Virgin," "Christ's Presentation at the Temple," "The Holiday of St. Simeon," and in some parts of England, "The Wives' Feast."

On this day church candles are blessed.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank relatives, friends and neighbors for the sympathy, assistance and floral offering in the sad and bereavement of my husband.

GROUND HOG FAILS TO SEE HIS SHADOW

Early Spring is Forecasted by Wise Animal. Usual Comments from Both Sides

AN OLD TRADITION

Last Friday was Groundhog Day, and His Honor duly emerged from his lair, decided there wasn't a shadow in sight that would frighten him, and therefore it was spread over the land that Winter will soon be over.

Scientists and weather bureaus scoff and smile indulgently at these reports and call people foolish who believe in them, but that fact does not seem to alter the importance of Groundhog Day to a great mass of citizens.

As usual, the weather gets a little colder after the hog predicts a warm spell, and this year was no exception. But he didn't see his shadow, and that means no more winter, and that's all there is to it.

The idea of Groundhog Day seems to be of German origin. In Germany, however, it was the badger that foretold the weather February 2.

GREAT PROGRESS MADE BY Y. W. C. A.

Northern District Anniversary This Month—300 Girls Enrolled.

Start Spring Drive

The Young Women's Christian Association of the Northern District of Delaware is celebrating its first anniversary this month. The year has been one of work and play along organized lines and has given to the girls in rural Delaware opportunities that have heretofore been only within reach of girls living in the larger towns. The success of the year's work is due largely to the splendid service of its officers, Mrs. William Denney of Dover, president; Dean Robinson of Newark, vice-president; Miss Edith Spencer of Newark, secretary; Miss Winifred Morris of Dover, treasurer; Miss Martha A. Good, district secretary, has her headquarters at Middletown and covers the entire organized portion of the State.

One of the interesting events of the winter was the presentation to the Y. W. C. A. of a new Ford coupe by Mrs. T. Coleman duPont. The car that has been used for several years in the preliminary organization work was also presented by Mrs. duPont. An interesting feature of the new car is to be the christening. The girls themselves are going to suggest names and the most popular will be selected by vote after which a fitting ceremony will give the gallant little car its official title.

That the year has been successful is clearly demonstrated by facts. Over three hundred girls are enrolled in organized clubs with the ideal "Ready for Service." There are Girl Reserve clubs of high school age membership in New Castle, Newark, Dover, Felton and Caesar Rodney School. In Smyrna, Townsend, Claymont, Newport and Marshallton the clubs include both grade and high school age girls. The Reserves of Leipsic, Cheswold and Felton are made up of girls in the grades. The Business and Professional Women's Club is proving a most popular organization. In Dover the club has an enrollment of fifty and there are requests for four similar clubs in the district which will be organized as soon as possible. Christmas was most fittingly kept by the Girl Reserves. Baskets were filled for Christmas dinners by many. The Caesar Rodney girls filled Good Will Industry bags with clothing. The Townsend Girl Reserves earned money with which to furnish the Christmas treat for all the children of the town and community. They filled and distributed at the school entertainment 302 bags with fruits, nuts and candy. They also gave a tableau representing the Nativity. Claymont observed Christmas with stories of folklore. The girls of New Castle and Newark distributed baskets of food.

Perhaps one of the most interesting divisions of Y. W. C. A. is that of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs. A feeling of fellowship prevails in these organizations and makes possible all sorts of good works. Dover has in its club a flourishing gymnasium class, a class in basketry and a round table where all matters pertaining to standards for business women are discussed. Under the auspices of the club several good things in the way of music have been brought to Dover. In the near future they are planning a musical with Harry Nason. Similar clubs are to be formed in Newark and Middletown.

For February the subject for general study in Girl Reserve Corps is the one of Citizenship. As Citizenship is a best form of service it is a part of the Y. W. C. A. program.

At a meeting of the board of directors held last week at the home of Mrs. Henry Ridgely, Dover, finance chairman of the district, plans for a spring drive for the work of the Y. W. C. A. of the Northern District of Delaware were made. The budget for the year was formulated and the goal for the drive is $3400. The drive is to begin February 13 and continue through the week. Captains are now at work organizing teams which plan to cover the district and give everyone an opportunity to have a part in the continuance of the Association.

BETTER INSTRUCTION IN THE HIGH SCHOOLS

Supervisor from State Board of Education Visits High Schools

The school law provides for a uniform system of high schools throughout the State of Delaware and places the administration and supervision of these high schools directly in the hands of the State Board of Education. In order to comply with this law the State Board of Education has employed an Assistant Superintendent, whose duty it is to visit these schools and to see that standard instruction is maintained throughout the State. Through his efforts it has now become a fact that a pupil can move from one school to another without endangering his standing and can take up his work in another school without loss of time. He can obtain his four years of high school instruction in as many different schools and at the end of this time be admitted without examination to the University of Delaware. In fact, some of our boys have gone from our Delaware high schools direct to the Naval Academy at Annapolis and have been admitted without examination. But entrance into college is of course not the only function of the high schools. Most boys and girls who attend them will never go to college. These, while they take in general the same studies as the others, are not bound by the college entrance requirements and thus have more freedom of elective. For both, the curriculum is arranged with the purpose of making better citizens, better home makers and better members of the community generally.

A Typical Day's Work by the Assistant State Superintendent

The following is a day's work which is typical of many days spent in the class rooms throughout the State:

The supervisor arrived in the school at nine o'clock. He makes a point of being in the school at this time whether the school is five or fifty miles from Dover, his starting point. He met the pupils in their assembly and after the devotional exercises, which consisted of the reading of the passage from the Bible, the Lord's prayer and a few songs, he gave them a few words of greeting, explaining that he would be in their classes during the day and expressed a hope that his visit would be helpful.

The first class visited was the tenth grade in Biology. During the discussion he put in a few questions to bring out the points which he proposed to discuss with the teacher at the close of the period. After the pupils had passed out he emphasized these points with the teacher who, although she is a college graduate, is this year teaching for the first time and needs suggestions as to certain points of technique which can be gained only by experience, either at first hand or through another. He told her of the ways in which she was doing good work and suggested that while her information was accurate and well presented, that there was a certain lack of expression on the part of the pupils which made for good learning. The plan for the recitation could have been improved and made a little more accurate. Several opportunities for bringing good material in for demonstration purposes had been missed.

The next class was twelfth grade English. This class was using as its material for English composition the History of Constitutions of the State of Delaware. The pupils had at hand Conrad's History of Delaware and Scharf's History and were making outlines of future composition work. The teacher of this class has many years of successful experience and it was the supervisor's duty in this class to congratulate the pupils and the teacher on the good work being done and with a few suggestions as to even greater interest, passed on to another class in an adjoining room.

This happened to be the ninth grade in General Science. Here the subject was the different kinds of artificial light and their development from the candle to the Mazda. By means of a sketch on the board and a problem proposed in cost of various kinds of light which the supervisor added to the already interesting discussion, he laid the foundation for his criticism at the end of the period which was to the effect that many good methods were used in this class but that the whole tone of the recitation might be improved by a little more careful look-out on the part of the teacher for the little misconceptions that creep in and must be cleared up at once or made note of for future work, that the material at hand could be more largely used than is being done, and that possibly more apparatus could be borrowed from another department and brought in to class. The discussion and enable the pupils to remember more profitably the things which they have learned. The morning work was rounded out by two short visits to the Science Department, where a class in Chemistry was meeting in one room and a cooking class in another. Since the supervisor of Vocational Home Economics visits the Home Economics teachers and supervises their technical work the Assistant Superintendent did not spend much time there except to note that the group was working earnestly and well at their project for the day. Only a short time was left to visit the Chemistry class which he observed was giving a good and well connected recitation on the subject of "Balanced Equations."

The first class in the afternoon was in Commercial Arithmetic. This was a large class and was reciting in a room not well adapted to the purpose but used because it was the only room in the building large enough to accommodate the numbers. Three people only could be accommodated at the blackboard. The rest were working on paper the problems which were proposed by the teacher. This on a whole was a good earnest class and the work of the supervisor was limited to suggesting a few better methods of handling certain processes. At the close of the period he took up with the teacher the possibility of improving the class by raising the plane of the work from that of mere calculation to a general form represented by the formulae which could be applied to the cases involved. Arithmetic in high school is a different proposition from arithmetic in an eighth grade. Unless problems of sufficient difficulty and problems requiring more independent thought are used it can hardly be considered as a high school subject.

The second period of the afternoon he visited the eleventh grade English where the work was oral composition. The material for the composition was to be found in the copies of the Literary Digest in the hands of the pupils. The method here was to have pupils in turn rise and deliver their speeches on subjects of current interest previously assigned to them. The supervisor's suggestion here was that inasmuch as the material suggested had not been well mastered that more elementary material might be given in order that the main purpose, namely, an oral expression, could be more readily obtained. In all high school classes the basis for criticism is: What is the purpose of the recitation and is that purpose accomplished?

This form of criticism was well illustrated in the class in Caesar which was next visited. The pupils had worked out their translations well and in general made reasonably good English of it but there was lacking that rounded out English which should always be the final result of a translation from a foreign language. By means of a few words with the pupils at the close of the period the supervisor secured from them the statement of the main purpose of all Latin translations which is "A good English statement of the ideas obtained from the Latin text." When this was done the criticism for the teacher was merely to emphasize what had been said to the pupils and impress upon her that the rounding out should come from the pupils rather than from her, as had been the case.

The last period was the tenth grade in European History. Here a good teacher was handling an important subject in a way that showed that her purpose was worthy. She was striving to give the pupils a connected idea on the movement known as the "Industrial Revolution" as it spread throughout all the countries of Europe and over to America. The supervisor on occasion put in a question which caused a complete difference of opinion on the part of mem-matter of the tally. At the close of the period the teacher informed him that the pupils should proceed to the principal's office to defend their various propositions. This is exactly in line with the best teaching and of course was encouraging.

This rounded out a full day's work, except for one period in which a representative of the Red Cross on her weekly visit was giving to a class of girls instruction in home nursing. During this period the supervisor went over various subjects connected with the school affairs with the Principal.

All of these criticisms are written up in letters to the teachers, copies of which go to the Principal. These letters are kept for reference so that on the next visit the supervisor can immediately recall the points wherein he should expect to find improvement in these various teachers.

There are twenty-five high schools in the State which this Assistant Superintendent must visit in a supervisory way. Some of them do not have as many teachers as the one just described; some have more. His visits are as frequent as possible. He works at all times through the Principals of these schools to the end that the instruction in the schools may be improved from day to day and from year to year. One discouraging aspect of the situation is that as these teachers improve it is difficult to keep them in our schools because of inadequate salary schedules. Many teachers leaving us whose value is considerably by their experience and who kept in our system in order boys and girls may get the best of our efforts in improving the chosen profession.

Dear Jane;

I have so much to tell you. Miss Lela Jackson, the other day. She told me a full of interesting things. Queen Marie of Rumania, she said, she was in France and asked the American people to come into Rumania for girls. They need to go to school to learn to be nurses. American girls haven't good gym camps and they have team games with basketball and volleyball. C. A. went over to see them. They needed the help, no sleep with open teeth, drink water, out-door exercises, the most attractive snapshots of the girls. I have never seen a looking family. Of their pictures before and I only wish I could see them. A few of them are so pretty. Queen Marie is very stylish. It seems often queens and princesses to be frumpish. I weren't. One of her friends, the King of Greece, the King of Serbia, pretty, too, and their weddings were a twist of lots of girls. The head and then making the veil at the edge of the dress. Kings were mighty pretty brides, for the not so good to look. They were supposed to be matches though. I track again, but I'm interested in that family. They had camps. The Royal Family, the Y. W. C. A. Mountains and the Princess Ileana, in name, visited them. A king and queen, but the Gold Denney did and seemed to have. Princess Ileana is so cute. She has been so interested in loved "Wild Nell," some of the girls in the U. S. May be some day. The Queen wanted to start for the Red Cross, and they had it? QUANTICO HOTEL OF OLDEN DAYS

Landmark in Wicomico, Md.,
Dated Back Before the Revolutionary War Was Burned Recently

The following story was written from information secured from land records of Wicomico county and Somerset county, before the division of the two, from manuscripts almost a hundred years old, and from traditions handed down through generations of Eastern Shore people.

The burning recently of the building familiarly known as Quantico Hotel removed from Wicomico county one of the two remaining landmarks of the pre-revolutionary way of life. With it passes the last relic of the background about which were interwoven many pages of history concerning the colonial gentry of Maryland. The only other known building erected on the Eastern Shore before the Revolutionary War is the ancient Spring Hill Church edifice, now more than 150 years old.

In the days when a single stage coach, plying up and down the peninsula was the only means of travel and communication between the hamlets on the eastern side of the Chesapeake Bay the most important points appear to have been Quantico, Spring Hill and the Barren Creek section along the route. In these communities were settled the gentry and landed proprietors of Colonial times, some owning more than one hundred slaves.

The first stage coach route is said to have been established from lower Virginia, through Somerset county, across Upper Ferry into the Spring to Lewes, Del. It is said that the gentry traveling over the route always endeavored to reach the Quantico Hotel in the early afternoon in order to participate in the card games before joining the women at the dance in the evening. The following morning the coach would proceed into Delaware.

It is certain that the old hotel was the center of social activities of a large section immediately preceding and following the Revolution, and many traditions and stories of revelries in the building and its connection with the romances of Eastern Shore settlers are still told by the older folks of this section. This prominence appears to have been maintained as late as the beginning of the twentieth century.

The first Episcopal church service to be held in Quantico was conducted in the barroom of the hotel. Another incident that adds to the historic standing of the town is the claim that the late Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, was born there while his parents were guests at the hotel. The proprietor of the hotel during the Civil War was "Jimmie" Scraggs, who, with two brothers, was killed in battle. Incidentally during the war the negro church near the hotel was burned by persons prejudiced against the blacks. An appeal was made direct to the Federal authorities and the citizens of the village were compelled to erect another church.

The hotel was erected upon leased grounds, the only 99-year lease ever given in this county, until 1886, when Sarah G. Hill, Dorchester county, as lessee, joined in a deed to Thomas B. Gordy, breaking the lease. Prior to the passage of control into the Gordy family the property was held by William J. Ballard, Judge Irving, Osborn O. L. Brady, George Venables and many others. It was purchased by John C. Bailey in 1893 and continued as a hostelry for many years, recently having been converted into a dwelling.

Wicomico countians of the present generation recall it as the place where the famous annual "turtle dinner" was given. This dinner had its origin in the late seventies, when the late Stephen P. Toadyne, William Howard, Wicomico's first sheriff, and several other party leaders met there during a spirited campaign to outline the party platform.

The next year the number at the dinner increased and from this it grew to be a famous semi-political occasion, attended by prominent men, both Democrats and Republicans.

from every section of this county and from adjacent counties. The old "war horses" were supposed to get together and agree upon a ticket. Turtles were not the only dishes served, for the menu called for oysters, fish, fried chicken and other delicacies of the section, including a variety of liquors—all for the sum of 50 cents.

It was here that "Bill Bunker" Smith (William B. Smith) made a local reputation by the number of turtle eggs he consumed. Reporters from daily newspapers attended the dinners, which gradually were abandoned.

The hotel, with its wings, contained more than fifteen rooms and covered a large area of ground. A colonnade was formerly erected on two sides of the building, presenting a striking example of Maryland Colonial architecture. The town itself received its name from the Indians of that section, Quantico meaning "a place to dance."—The Morning News.

Rumor Has It That Alien

May Refuse Post

There is a rumor current in Washington and in other political circles that President Harding will ask Col. Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian and a native of Wilmington, to head the U. S. Veterans Bureau. The resignation of Col. Charles P. Forbes leaves this post vacant.

The matter of a new Director for the Bureau is creating somewhat of a stir in Washington. Service men and those in a powerful position in military affairs have recommended Col. Miller to the President. The office is outside the pale of Cabinet supervision and is handled directly under the guidance of the Chief Executive.

Col. Miller, while making no comment on the matter, is believed to be loathe to leave the work of Alien Property Custodian just at the time when definite progressive results are coming in.
