Production Staff For "Jim Dandy" Winding-up Job

Bunin Contracts House Maid's Knee but is Expected to Recover

When the curtain rises on the first performance of JIM DANDY by the E52 Players next Friday night, it will be a momentous occasion in the history of dramatics at Delaware. For never before have the Players, or any other University theatre, had the opportunity to present so important a new play before its Broadway production.

And the E52ites realize what a big thing they have on their hands. The hustle and bustle rampant in Mitchell Hall for the last few weeks attests to this. George Samuels has designed and Eugene Herbener and his crew are building the surrealist set called for in this latest bit of Saroyana.

At the same time, other committees are also running about like mad, preparing for "M" day. Jane Stephens, costume mistress, is attending rummage sales to obtain the tattered rags necessary for the correct clothing of Jim Dandy and Jim Crow. Mary Shakespeare and Carolyn Miller have been looking about for such assorted properties as a large complicated cash register and a piano.

Greatest activity has been seen in the music department. Don McClellan, Arthur Krause and Milton Gerstine, three of the most nimble-fingered piano pounders attending the U. of D., have spent hours recording music to be used in the production of JIM DANDY. Some of the recordings were of tunes written especially for JIM DANDY by the composer Allen Hovness, others were familiar old melodies, and still others were boogie-woogie rhythms recorded in a tempo de knock-em-down and drag-em-out by Gerstine.

The cast, under the direction of Dr. C. R. Kase, is rounding into shape and should give a polished production. Each actor, from six year old Bobby Kase to six-foot tall Frank Annand, is straining at the bit, eager to give a good performance. Norman Bunin is laid up at present with a case of housemaid's knee (cause by an enraged townsman of Newark who came home to find the housemaid perched on Bunin's knee) but will be up and about shortly.

Another hard-working group is the business staff. In case you'd like to have a look-see at this amazing combination of nonsense and wisdom on display in Mitchell Hall next Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:15, just drop in and see the business staff any afternoon between 3 and 5 p.m. in Mitchell Hall.

Armistice Day To Be Topic Of Second Smoke Talk

On Tuesday, November 11, at 7:15 P.M. the Humanist Society of Delaware College in conjunction with the English Department will hold the second Smoke Talk of this term in the Lounge of Old College.

In deference to the occasion, Armistice Day, an appropriate program has been prepared by members of the society and faculty.

A dramatic presentation, prepared and transcribed by the Columbia Broadcasting Company, will be given and members of the faculty have consented to recollect for those present their personal experiences on this same evening, November 11, twenty-two years before when news of the Armistice had reached a war-weary America.

As in the past, informality will keynote the occasion. Following the program discussion will be opened for the general gathering, affording the student an excellent opportunity to establish personal contact with the faculty in a manner not feasible in the more formal atmosphere of the classroom.

Through the generosity of the Business Administrator, Mr. Grubb, coffee and other refreshments will be provided for the guests as has been customary in the past.

70 Students Assigned to NYA Work for Year

Despite the fact that the government appropriation for NYA work was cut this year, there are approximately 70 people receiving this assistance, Mrs. Bertha Worth, assistant director said. These students realize an average, she stated, of $15 per month.

Their work is done after hours and consists largely in assistance to the regular campus departments. They act as laboratory assistants, secretaries and give clerical help to the teachers. They also work under Mr. George Lynch in the maintenance of the buildings, and help keep the athletic fields in shape. Several work under Dr. C. R. Kase in Mitchell Hall in connection with the dramatic program.

Debating Society To Give Broadcast

At a meeting held in Dr. Able's office Thursday afternoon at 4:10, the Debating Society rehearsed the debate to be broadcast Saturday afternoon over WILM. The debate is on the topic: "Resolved that the United States immediately declare War on the Axis Powers". Delaware, represented by Bernard Ableman and Lloyd Jones, will uphold the affirmative side. At the meeting a large contingent of new Freshman members was on hand to criticize the speeches, to tear down arguments, and to offer constructive suggestions.

Plans were made for future debates to be held with nearby colleges and a tentative plan was formulated whereby a separate team composed of Freshmen will visit high schools, present sample debates, and try to stimulate interest in debating throughout the state.

MISS GLORIA CHANDLER

Gloria Chandler To Lecture On Child's Theatre

An unusually capable group of experts have been assembled for the technical lectures and demonstrations which will occupy the morning sessions of the sixth University Dramatic Conference on November 15.

At 10 A.M. Professor Elizabeth Kelly of the Home Economics Department at the University, will conduct a lecture demonstration on costuming, assisted by Miss Jane Stephens and members of the costume staff of the E52 Players. During the same hour there will be a lecture demonstration of acting and directing by Mr. George Henry, of Dover High School, who last spring directed the winning play in the high school class at the Play Festival. His talk will be illustrated by a scene from DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY in which his students will act the various roles.

A highlight of the day is the Children's Theatre meeting at 11:30, at which Miss Gloria Chandler, director of Children's Theatre work for the Junior League of America will talk on "Producing Children's Theatre Plays". Miss Chandler directed the Children's Theatre at Chicago World's Fair and is one of the country's leading authorities on this type of work.

Also at 11:30 will be a lecture demonstration on scene designing by Mr. Paul Randall, for the past ten years director of dramatics at Temple University and a graduate of the Yale School of the Drama.

Following the luncheon, at which Dr. Alvin Kronacher, leading European theatre director will speak on "Experiences in an American University Theatre", there will be panel discussions for students in secondary schools, teachers and directors of community theatres, and students and directors of college theatres. At the close of the afternoon the delegates will hear an address, "The Non-Professional Theatre, Model 1942: a Preview" by Dr. Garrett H. Leverton of New York, editor for Samuel French Inc. For ten years Dr. Leverton was director of the University Theatre at Northwestern University.

The Conference will come to a close in the evening with a performance of William Saroyan's latest play, JIM DANDY, by the E52 Players at the University.

Hens To Try For Fifth Win Tomorrow Over Swarthmore

Anne O'Daniel Elected Editor Of the Cauldron

This week official announcement was made of the election of Miss Anne O'Daniel as Editor-in-Chief of the Cauldron, campus literary magazine, for the Fall Term.

Born of the union of the two originally separate publications of the Press Club of Women's College and the Humanist Society of Delaware College, editorship of the bi-annual magazine alternates between the two colleges.

Editors are elected by the retiring editor of the previous term, and the presidents, respectively, of the Press Club and Humanist Society.

Miss O'Daniel announced the selection of the staff to assist in the publication of the magazine, as follows: Assistant Editor, Dave Snellenburg; Managing Editors, Gwin Jones and Frank Annand; Associate Editors, Jane Sinclair and Bob Mather; Poetry Editors, Nancy Brown and Bill Terry; Copy Editors, Alice Ward and Tom Minkus; and Business Managers, Sara Feeney and Hal Arnoff.

A literary board to aid in the consideration and selection of material for publication was also appointed, consisting of: Anna Franchevka, Arthur Millman, Estelle Edmundson, E. Jane Lumley, Bob Wharton, Norman Bunin, Betty McFalls, and Virginia Elliott.

Appointments were made on the basis of merit and previous service and experience, following the established precedent of drawing from a broad cross section of campus interests so as to achieve a truly valid representation of the student body.

Solicitation for material is now being made. A box has been placed in the Library in which contributions may be put, or they may be made directly to members of the staff. All those interested are urged to contribute. Miss O'Daniel and her staff promise their careful and impartial consideration. Material submitted may take the form of short stories, poetry, or art work.

President Hullihen College Delegate

President Walter Hullihen left yesterday for Chicago, where he is attending a meeting of the National Association of State Universities. This association is meeting today and tomorrow. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week, Dr. Hullihen will be at the meetings of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

Dr. Hullihen is attending both of these meetings, since the University of Delaware is both a State University and a Land Grant University. There are twenty-one state universities that are not land grant institutions. The remaining twenty-seven states have, at the same time, a state university and a land grant institution.

President Hullihen has been, for many years, the chairman of the Committee on Military Organization and Policy of the Land Grant Association. He will make an extended report on military affairs to that association.

Power of Ancient Rival Unknown

By BYRON SAMONISKY

Attempting to run its present winning streak to five in a row, the University of Delaware football machine will travel to Swarthmore tomorrow afternoon and meet a Swarthmore team whose present strength is unknown.

This will be the first meeting between these two schools in several years. Coach Martin who scouted Swarthmore in its last game against a much more powerful Hamilton team stated that there couldn't be much determined as to the "Little Quakers'" offensive strength since the game was played in the rain and mud.

Coach Bill Murray has been stressing the fact that the Hen team cannot afford to have a let-down in this stage of the season and has been sending the team through a strenuous week of drills. Emphasis has been stressed on downfield blocking and tackling as well as perfect timing and coordination of plays.

Swarthmore, who had to cancel a few of their games due to a Polio scare, has only played two games. They looked very impressive in defeating American University, but were hopelessly outclassed by a huge Hamilton team last week.

The Hens, on the other hand, have been much more successful in their present campaign. After being held to a 7-7 tie by West Chester, they have annexed wins over P.M.C., Ursinus, Dickinson, and Mt. St. Mary's by the following scores—20-0, 24-0, 28-0, and 25-0.

The Delaware lineup will probably be the same as that which started last week's game against the Mount. Sposato is still not fully recovered from his knee injury and therefore Lee "Bugs" Baer will start at his halfback post. The only injury in last week's encounter was to Gerald "Dutch" Doherty who suffered a cut lip and slight ankle injury. Doherty is coming around fast however, and will probably see action in the game tomorrow.

The lineups:
Pos.	Delaware	Swarthmore
L.E.	Sloan	Dugan

English Reading

Dr. Augustus H. Able of the Department of English will give the second in the series of English Readings held at the Women's College of the University of Delaware, on next Monday evening, November 10. His topic will be "Scenes from Delaware Authors." The public is cordially invited to be present, as usual, in the Hillarium at seven o'clock.

Delaware College and the Draft...

The draft is again about to hit Delaware College. Local Delaware Draft Boards are now beginning to call those students previously deferred, students who are not enrolled in courses termed "essential to national defense."

Most of these students who were deferred were so placed because of minor physical defects. Because of this deferment, which seemed permanent, many of them entered school this Fall with the expectation of being able to finish the year and eventually be graduated.

Calling these students now in the middle of the school year for reclassification in order to immediately induct them into the army will do little to aid the defense program. True, many will say, but that is the way in which democracy works.

We disagree with this view. Surely, the deferment of these students will not cause the collapse of the country, nor will it defeat the premise of our democracy that all men are equal. Extended deferment for these men till the end of the year does not mean that they wish to or will escape the draft.

College students are willing to serve their country even in the lowest ranks of the army. But, to take them now before they have completed their education will produce in these men a defeatist attitude which will do the country little good.

The E52 Players...

Next Friday the E52 Players will present William Saroyan's latest effort, "Jim Dandy". In conjunction with other collegiate and amateur groups the Players will premiere the play before its subsequent production on Broadway.

In thus essaying to present a play that presents manifold technical problems and calls for a keen appreciation and perception on the part of the actors without first having the work pioneered by competent, experienced professionals, the Players again show that spirit of courage and enterprise which has characterized this organization in the past.

Thus Friday's performance will be something more than entertainment, though it certainly shows all indications of qualifying in this essential respect. It must also be regarded as an experiment, an experiment in the new techniques of acting and staging which Saroyan has introduced to the American stage. At once subtle and obvious, sophisticated and ingenuous, "Jim Dandy" calls for a feeling and flexibility that is rare even in the professional theatre.

Broadway as well as Newark will judge the efforts of the Players on Friday night. And if enterprise is matched by talent, there will be no disappointments.

Rollin' Round The Turntables

DICK AYDELOTTE

ELMER'S TUNE—Dick Jurgens and Orchestra—Some fine piano work is shown in this version of this bright ditty by Jurgens and his versatile band. Since adopting the byline, "Here's That Band Again", this outfit is really rising to nation-wide prominence. This is the band that appeared in "Skipper," that well known comic strip. The publicity it enjoyed in appearing as guest artists in the comics has served as a booster along the road to success.

YOUR'RE THE SUNSHINE OF MY HEART—Dick Jurgens—Of note in this record we find a smooth blending of muted trumpets and saxes in a harmonious run that flits along high and low notes in a new and different music sound. Harry Cool supplies the lyrics to this tune.

CONCERTO FOR TWO—Claude Thornhill and Orchestra—Ever since Freddy Martin's platter of Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto came out on Bluebird, the record salesmen have been going crazy trying to obtain enough records to meet the demand. Out on Columbia last week came Mr. Thornhill with his version of the above title which is an adaptation from the original concerto. Dick Harding sings the words which, by the way, are very catchy. This fine recording is spoiled, however, by the reverse side which has Kay Doyle struggling through the love song "Jim" in a manner suggesting a dying calf. "Jim" is a beautiful song and has been slaughtered by every singer in the business, and such a song doesn't deserve such treatment. However, the writers of this song may breathe a sigh of relief for little Dinah Shore saved the day with her Bluebird version of this sleeper. Whenever there is a love song to be sung this young singer can do it up brown. Every recording by Miss Shore has been a best seller and any song writer is "tickled pink" whenever he hears that Dinah is going to wax his tune.

Thompson & Bunin Co-directors of College Playbill

Two of the dramatic groups of the University of Delaware, the Puppets Club of the Women's College and the Footlight Club of Delaware College, will present the annual Playbill Program on December 11, in Mitchell Hall. Three one act plays will be offered. The casts will consist of university students.

Miss Dorothy Thompson of the senior class will direct "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde. An active member of the Delaware dramatic group, Miss Thompson was in the cast of "Faraway Prince" in 1939 and "Mannikin and Minnikin" which won the Women's College Competitives in 1940. She also played in "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter" and has served on the make-up committee.

"Riders to the Sea" by John Millington Synge, under the directorship of Norman Bunin, is the second play listed. Mr. Bunin is currently doing the title role of "Jim Dandy". He was also a member of the cast of "Flight to the West" and "Love's Old Sweet Song" in 1940. He directed a cutting from "Of Mice and Men" which won the Delaware College Intramurals.

The third play, as yet unannounced, will be presented by a visiting college or community group.

Aggie News

By EDWARD LEGATES

Last Friday the Hayward Memorial Plaque was unveiled in Wolf Hall in memory of Mr. Hayward who served as Dean of Agriculture and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station from 1906 to 1920. He was in charge of agricultural activities at the university when the Delaware Agricultural Extension was founded. Dean Hayward also exerted considerable effort in the founding of the Women's College in 1914.

Dr. C. C. Palmer, who was associated with Dean Hayward, was in charge of the ceremony. He introduced Dr. T. F. Manns and Dr. T. A. Baker who were also associated with Dean Hayward.

They both spoke on Dean Hayward's accomplishments, especially in connection with the University of Delaware. Dean Emeritus Winfred Robinson spoke about Dean Hayward's efforts in founding the Women's College.

The plaque, which was accepted by President Hullihen, was unveiled by Mrs. A. D. Warner, a member of the Board of Trustees, and also William Hopkins and Horace Short of the Ag Club.

The plaque was donated to the University of Delaware by the Philadelphia Society for Promoting Agriculture, and by funds of Dean Hayward. The secretary of the Philadelphia Society, John M. Okie, has very energetically fostered the recognition of Dean Hayward's work.

Letters to the Editors...

Dear Editor:

"And the money changers were stayed in the Temple". So must read the Book of 41-42 in the University of Delaware Scripture. I fear.

Yes, our annals probably will divulge to posterity another stultification of investigatory procedures. How lamentable a state has our student government fallen into when something which demands an investigation must be investigated by the charged.

I feel Mr. Grier, who is doing a commendable job as President of the Council, should be slightly reprimanded for allowing the senator from a certain fraternity house to impede the progress of a report on that odoriferous white elephant, the Blue Hen. Then, my colleagues, to allow this same personage to further obfuscate the disclosure of the "untold Blue Hen tales" by allowing him to delegate himself to be on the investigating committee.

It is also of great interest to me to be cognizant of the fact that the complete work of the investigation is being carried on, now that he is on the committee, by him alone.

Is the modus operandi of this investigation what was requested? No! So I beseech you of the Student Council to ameliorate a truly undemocratic procedure and stop this infernal procrastination. And further, if the faction which has charge of this presently anemic conglomeration of imperfection is shown to be incompetent take steps to castigate the situation.

Respectfully yours,
Gil Rowlinson.

THE REVIEW
Dear Sir:

It seems as if everybody is beefing about something or other on the Delaware campus. I guess that I might as well put in my two cents worth.

Where in the world is the so-called "school spirit" around this place? I don't know whether anybody realizes it or not but we have a "hot" football team that deserves some support. What happens at football games? Does everyone cheer? No. They sit and mope as if we'd never won a game and never would win one. The few hearty and more spirited souls who try to show a little enthusiasm are frowned upon by the silent throng. The over-worked cheerleaders sweat and swear trying to get some support, but all they hear are a few scattered murmurs and the boom of the bass drum and the cheers from the band. No doubt, the stands are filled to capacity with a mob who apparently have their vocal chords dissolved with excess alcohol, or the tepid "cokes" that are served at the refreshment stands on the field. Let's have more cheering!

Radio Guild Will Feature Talks By Faculty Members

"The Short Story" will be the title of the forum discussion by three members of the English Department for the University of Delaware Radio Guild on Sunday, November 9, at 1:30 P.M.

Dr. W. O. Sypherd will discuss Rudyard Kipling, short story writer of the older English school; Dr. A. H. Able will discuss Ernest Hemingway, contemporary American short story writer; and Professor E. H. Long will discuss O. Henry, short story writer of the older American school.

The Radio Guild plans to produce one forum a month conducted by professors, students, and prominent guests from outside the campus.

The Radio Guild will present something novel and new on November 16. Coach W. Murray, Asst. Coaches Martin and Adkins, and co-captains Brooks and Mullen, will be interviewed. This Football Review will also include college songs by the Radio Guild chorus and stirring marches by the Guild orchestra. A large audience of students and faculty members are expected to attend the gala affair. Everyone is invited.

Blue Hens Continue Undefeated Streak Crushing Mt. St. Mary's College, 25-0

by Byron Samonisky

Amidst a steady downpour and playing on a field that had been exposed to the elements the last 24 hours, the University of Delaware Mudhens ran their present winning streak to four in a row when they trounced a highly-rated Mount St. Mary's football combine, 25-0.

The Hens have now gone undefeated in their last ten contests. After winning five in a row at the tail end of last year, they were tied in their opening game of this season, and since then, have not been defeated nor have had their goal-line crossed. A season's total shows Delaware has scored 104 points while its opponents have only tallied 7.

Bill "Red" Hogan was again the star of the Blue and Gold attack. He scored one touchdown and threw passes responsible for two others, the other Delaware score came in the early moments of the closing period when Wade Pitt intercepted a pass on the Mount's 16 yard stripe and went over standing up.

Delaware kicked off, Furman's kick going into the end-zone and Mount St. Mary's put the ball in play on the 20. After trying to penetrate the powerful forward wall of the Hens without avail, the Mountaineers punted to their own 32 yard line. Two line plays failed to gain for the Hens and on the third down Hogan whipped a pass to Sloan on the visitor's 13. With Paul and Hogan carrying the ball on reverses and line-bucks, Hogan finally went over from the 1 on the seventh play of the game for the Hens' first score. Paul skirted right end for the extra-point. Delaware again kicked off, and the Mount's offense was again bottled up and they punted; Bogovich broke through and blocked the kick and carried the ball to the 16 before being brought down from behind.

Three plays later Hogan passed to Sloan in the end-zone for the second Blue Hen touchdown. Newcomb's placement for the extra-point hit the cross-bar and bounded back. At the end of the first period Delaware led 13-0.

In the second period the play was pretty even and the only time a score looked in the making was when the Hens' attempted a field goal from the 15 which was wide.

In the second half the Hens pushed across two more six-pointers. The Mount's opened the third period with a strong offensive that netted them two first downs in a row, but then the Hens braced and took the ball on a punt on their own 20. On the first play Hogan passed to Paul on the 40 and Paul reversed his field picking up blockers as he went along and raced 60 yards for the tally. Newcomb's placement was blocked.

Early in the final period, Woods took a punt on his own 35 and made a spectacular run-back to the Mount's 35. After no gain, Coady punted and the ball downed on the Mountaineers 16. The Mounts passed, but Wade Pitt intercepted and scored the final touchdown of the game. The extra-point try was no good.

Soccer Team Will Face Stevens Col.

The Delaware soccer team finally picked up their regular stride when they held a strong University of Maryland team to a 2-0 score, and then decisively defeated Ursinus at Collegeville, 3-1.

Playing Maryland on a mud-soaked field that hampered both teams, Delaware's defense held together very well, allowing a team that tied the Temple booters to score only twice, the scores coming in the first and second quarters. Tallying for Maryland were Tierney and Hudak, both of whom scored a single goal.

Up at Ursinus, the homesters scored early in the initial quarter to take the advantage. The lead was soon erased as Bob Ketchum knotted the count with a goal in the latter half of the first period. Showing the better offensive, the Delaware eleven tallied twice in the second quarter, on goals by Fernandez and Grier. The second goal of this period was made by pushing the goalie, who had caught the ball, between the uprights. Grier was assisted by the other men in the forward line.

The second half produced no scoring, although Delaware held the upper hand, playing continually in Ursinus territory. Delaware threatened several times, but the team was unable to convert the chances into scores.

Tomorrow the Blue Hen soccer team takes on the team from Stevens College, New York. In last year's contest the New Yorkers shaded the Blue Hens, 2-1. The game will be played on Frazer Field at 2:30.

To date, the Delaware soccer team has played 3 league games, and is undefeated, having beaten Seton Hall, Franklin and Marshall, and Ursinus. All of their last three games are league contests, the teams being Stevens, Johns Hopkins, and Gettysburg.

IS FOR ZAMAK

ZAMAK is an alloy of zinc, aluminum and magnesium. It was most widely used in the manufacture of " housings " for telephone sets.

Now, however, new telephones are being made with plastic instead of Zamak " housings ."

This is only one of many substitutions already made in the Bell System's program to cut down its use of vital defense materials. These substitutions are being made promptly because Bell Laboratories have been foresighted—preparing to meet the shortages before they happened.

SKRIPPS' SCRIBBLING

By TOM SKRIPPS

Never in the history of the University has there been an undefeated football team. Perhaps, this year Delaware will be able to boast of one. With only three games remaining the Blue and Gold have not been defeated. Should the remaining teams be taken into camp then we will make college history at the University. Although the remaining teams are no push-overs, at least we will rule favorites in all three.

The Henites goal line has been crossed once in five games of this season. There are not many teams in the whole country that can boast of a record such as this. Should our pay-off zone be kept clear for the rest of the season, then this team of 1941 will truly be the greatest that ever wore the blue and gold of Delaware. One outstanding factor of this team is that there is not one star but eleven. With such a star-studded eleven how can we lose. Here's to our continued road to success.

Once again Walt Paul does the unexpected. Proving that lightning can strike twice in the same place. Three weeks ago he took a pass from Hogan and after reversing his field ran 70 yards for a touchdown. Against Mt. St. Mary's with the ball in the almost exact spot, except on different fields, Paul again took the same pass from Hogan and reversed his field to go for 70 yards through the slot for a carbon of his former 70 yard jaunt. Paul has now caught three passes for a total of 160 yards to lead the squad in the pass snatching department. * * * "Cowboy" Thompson after being laid up for a few days with a stomach disorder, comes out to play a really bang up defensive game in the mud. * * * "Rebel" Sloan proves that he is a mudder by catching passes for touchdowns and long gains as well as nailing enemy runners whenever they come his way. * * * Mt. St. Mary's was not the only loser because Wilmington Park lost about a ton of dirt, when the two teams left the field at the end of the game. * * * The general condition of the field resembled a quagmire. If there is any truth in the fact that women take mud baths for beauty, then our team should be a mixture of Robert Taylors, Tyrone Powers, and Clark Gables, because there was enough mud to supply packs for all the girls in the country.
