

Alma Mater

Hail to thee, proud Delaware,
In loyalty we stand;
We give thee thanks for glorious days
Beneath thy guiding hand.
Full often will we praise thy name,
Thy colors proudly bear;
We lift our voices now to sing,
"All hail to Delaware!"

Friday, April 20, 1951, Dr. John A. Perkins was formally inaugurated as the twenty-first president of the University of Delaware. The impressive ceremony took place on the campus at Newark. Notables from every section of the state and in many fields of education attended. Academic garb, embellished with school colors, was the order of the day. Dr. Perkins who has been functioning as the school's president for nearly six months gave the principal address.

In the academic procession which preceded the ceremony was this group of platform guests (shown above) headed by (left) Mrs. T. Muncy Keith, president of the Alumnae Association, and Milton L. Draper, who represented the Alumni Association. Behind them are Samuel J. Talucci, president of the Student Government Association and John G. Leach, a trustee. Next can be seen Henry F. duPont, Warren C. Newton and Robert H. Richards, all trustees. Others visible to the rear include Henry B. duPont, Dr. Charles M. A. Stine, and Judge Richard S. Rodney, also trustees, and Carl S. Rankin, representing the town of Newark. Then in academic regalia, are Dr. Augustus H. Able of the faculty, and Bishop Edmond J. FitzMaurice. Behind the Bishop is Dr. Perkins. Governor Carvel is behind the president, and Dr. W. Owen Sypherd is beside the governor. Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry is behind Dr. Sypherd. In the picture below members of the faculty listen to their president's inaugural address.

Governor Carvel delivers the state's official greetings to the U. of D.'s new president. Behind is President Perkins.

PRESIDENT'S INAUGURATION APRIL 20, 1951

The faculty entered Mitchell Hall after a procession across the campus behind marshals William A. Mosher (left), and William G. Fletcher.

What goes into a YEARBOOK?

A NUMBER OF BASIC INGREDIENTS FIRST AND FOREMOST AMONG WHICH IS:

- WORK —
Hard work! Long hours, supplemented by arduous creative effort, combined with:
- SKILL —
Skillful planning, layout, editing, co-ordinating — skill on the part of student editors and staff, backed-up by:
- EXPERIENCE —
Experience on the part of those charged with responsibility of production — Publisher & Photographer. It is especially important to know the types of service these agencies are capable of rendering. Know their work and you know them.
