City Council passes bypass resolution

City officials to meet with DelDOT

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark officials are meeting with Delaware Department of Transportation (DelDOT) representatives Monday to discuss a bypass around Newark, according to City Council member Jane Tripp.

The meeting is in addition to a resolution council unanimously declared Monday evening declaring their support of a bypass between Elkton and Nottingham roads. It will be forwarded to DelDOT and WILMAPCO representatives, according Mayor Ronald Gardner.

Tripp, who said she will attend Monday's meeting with DelDOT, said she plans to push for a short-term solution as well as for the bypass.

"The first thing we have to do is get state representatives to re-route truck traffic... even if construction started tomorrow it would take five to ten years to finish," Tripp said. "The city has drawn up alternate route maps."

The university also plans to consider a resolution supporting the bypass. According to John Brook, vice president of government and

No new leads in missing girl case

Police to turn attention elsewhere

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

With no new leads in the case of the 16-year-old Newark girl missing since Halloween, police will now be turning their attention to other missing persons cases.

"At this point without leads, we can't go any further," said New Castle County police detective Rand Townley, who has been searching full-time for Bari Goldsboro for three weeks. "I will be devoting time to other cases, with no leads to follow."

He said police are not giving up on finding Goldsboro and will investigate any new information which surfaces in the case.

"If we have to we'll put her (picture) on milk cartons," Townley said. He also said Goldsboro's photo might be run in national magazine ads of missing children.

Police report Goldsboro, a student at Newark High School, was reported missing Nov. 1 at about 6 a.m. by her mother, when she woke up and realized her daughter was not home.

Her mother had dropped her daughter off at her job at McDonald's Restaurant on Main

Reservation confirmed, city won't appeal decision

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark City Council will not appeal New Castle County Court of Chancery's decision to allow construction of a 97-room Sleep-Inn Hotel across the street from the University of Delaware's Bob Carpenter Center.

The decision will end Five-T Associates' five-year struggle to build a hotel. A special-use permit, the only component of Five-T's plan that seemed to go smoothly in the beginning, ultimately stopped construction in March 1994.

Council granted a special-use permit in February 1989 and September 1991 but financing and water supply problems forced Five-T, the landowners, to postpone building.

When the developers went to reapply for a special-use permit in December 1993, council turned them down. Dissenting council members said the hotel was a lower end hotel that shouldn't be near an entrance to the city, and traffic and pedestrian safety were at risk.

However, council gave Five-T another chance in March 1994 when the developer successfully lobbied to have council reconsider the special-use permit. Five-T lost again in a tie vote, which according to city code equals a loss.

Five-T then took its case to court and won. The judge said Five-T's 1991 building was still valid because the developer contributed to a service road and razed two apartment buildings on the site.

Councilman Tony Felicia, who was absent for the March vote that sparked the lawsuit, motioned Monday evening to appeal the lawsuit.

He was backed by Councilman Irene Zych, but Mayor Ronald Gardner and council members Thomas Wampler, Jane Tripp and Gerry Grant voted against. Councilman Hal Godwin was absent.

Felicia said he wanted to appeal the case because he was told an appeal could not harm the city. He said he acted as he believed his constituents would have wanted.

"I was waiting for someone from the legal side to say don't pursue this, but we weren't hearing that it was an additional

Glasgow, Christiana have programs

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Local students are gung ho for the Junior ROTC (Reserve Officer Training Corps) programs in the Christina School District.

This is the first year for both the Naval Junior ROTC at Christiana High School and Air Force Junior ROTC at Glasgow High School.

In both programs, students are learning marching, drilling and leadership skills while also experiencing the military.

At Christiana, students are also learning astronomy, seamanship and navigation in the classroom, aboard ships and on planes.

The students recently experienced navy life, when 19 ROTC members took part as ushers in passing out programs in the commissioning of the U.S. Navy minesweeper ship, the USS Chief in Norfolk, Va.

Students stayed for two nights aboard the USS Ashland, had bunk inspections and had to request permission, like all sailors, to come aboard and leave the ship.

Also, 41 students were chosen (according to highest grade-point-averages) to take a plane ride in a C-130 and learn about geography while flying over Delaware in a Delaware National Guard plane out of New Castle.

"It's going really well," said Master Chief Chuck Baldwin, who assists in teaching ROTC at Christiana. "We started with 38 students the beginning of the year and within three weeks were up to 85." He said 26 cadets are women.

Junior Kim Belcher said she participates in ROTC because she hopes to join the U.S. Air Force after high school and the program gives her a taste of what the military is like. "I enjoy wearing the uniform, because it shows a sense of pride," Belcher said.

Freshman Gloria Otis said she joined because she wanted to improve her leadership skills. "I've learned to read navy time and some of the navy alphabet," Otis said.

"My dad is in the military," Adriano Marra, a freshman, said as to why he is in the ROTC program. He said he has learned to respect elders in the program.

The Naval Junior ROTC program has voluntary after-school activities such as a drill team and color guard. The drill team plans to compete in the national drill championships in Washington D.C. in April.

Police beat

Man stops attack

A 22-year-old Bear woman was attacked by an acquaintance while shopping in Newark Shopping Center Nov. 11, Newark police report. Police said the woman was grabbed by two men and taken to a car where her arm was shut in the door. Police said the woman was then shoved to the ground and jumped on until an unidentified man broke up the attack and carried the woman to safety as the attackers fled. Police said the woman was taken to Christiana Hospital by a friend, where she was treated for a sprained wrist and bruised finger and released. Police describe the suspects as two white women with long blond hair, a white man about 5 feet tall, weighing 120 pounds with blond hair and a white man, 6 feet tall, weighing 185 pounds with brown hair. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Students assaulted

Police report spitting on a truck

reportedly led to the assault of three University of Delaware students Nov. 13. Police said Tony Furman 21 of Brookhaven, N.Y. got out of his truck after the incident, while he was at a red light at the corner of Cleveland Avenue and North College Avenue, and assaulted the three university men with a lacrosse stick. Police said a passenger of the truck also participated in the assault. Thomas Shirley 19 of Maplewood, N.J. was issued a criminal summons for disorderly conduct and released to appear in court at a later date. Furman was given three criminal summons for assault and later released from police headquarters. Police do not know if the three students received medical attention.

Racial slur sparks fight at Stone Balloon

Police report racial remarks told in a story by a white woman from New York to a black man started a fight at the Stone Balloon Bar on North College Avenue Nov. 11. Police said a 21-year-old white woman was telling a black man a story with racial remarks when the man got offended and poured beer on the woman's friend. This action started a fist fight between the man and woman which ended up with them kicking, screaming and pulling hair on the bar floor. Police said neither sought medical treatment but were asked to leave the bar.

Man breaks into neighbor's house

Police report, a 21-year-old Newark man accidentally entered his neighbor's home through a kitchen window of the house in the 200 block of Madison Drive Nov. 8. The police report says the man was "intoxicated and thought he was entering his own house" which was in fact next door. Police said the neighbor is not pressing charges.

Cash, checks missing

Three DuPont dividend checks and an undisclosed amount of cash were reported stolen Nov. 10 from a house in the 100 block of Dallam Road. Police report also dresser drawers, a jewelry box and purse were ransacked but nothing else was taken. Police do not know how the house was entered.

Car stolen

A blue 1986 Ford LTD was reported stolen Nov. 13 from the 500 block of Briar Lane. Police said also an attempt was made to steal a Volkswagen car from the same house.

Moped stolen

A black 1991 Yamaha moped was reported stolen Nov. 12 from the 200 block of Park Place, police said.

Final service for local Vietnam MIA

The remains of Maj. Gerald F. Ayres of Delaware, originally reported missing in Vietnam in 1972, were positively identified last month, according to the Pentagon. A group memorial ceremony was held at Arlington National Cemetery at 11 a.m. on Nov. 17 for Ayres and the other 11 men killed in an AC-130 gunship when a surface-to-air missile slammed into their plane over A Shau Valley in Vietnam. Ayres, 33 at the time of his death, was born in Wilmington and studied at the University of Delaware before going to Vietnam as a navigator. According to Ayres' niece, Melinda Casula of Glasgow, the family always hoped he was alive. Ayres' relatives have scattered over the years and now live in Texas and Florida as well as Delaware. They are trying to arrange a family memorial service in Texas, where Ayres' sister, Mary Ayres Manyak, now lives.

Christiana man sentenced in DUI death

Superior Court Judge William C. Carpenter has sentenced Brian Rebarchak, 23, to two years in prison and three years of probation for vehicular homicide. Rebarchak, an acknowledged alcoholic, was driving south on U.S. 13 near Buena Vista on March 19 of this year when his car collided with a church van containing 15 members of the Fire Holy Ghost Ministry in Milford enroute to services in Wilmington. Doretha Taylor, 44, was killed and the 14 others injured when the van flipped over. Taylor left a husband and three teenaged children. Judge Carpenter, who sentenced Rebarchak to five years but suspended the final three years, stated that "You did not just hurt somebody, you murdered somebody."

Bear area traffic stop nets murder suspect

New Castle County police arrested Joseph C. Norwood of Bear Nov. 7 for attempted murder in Maryland after a traffic stop on U.S. 40 near Bear. A routine check showed that there was a warrant out on Norwood in Rockville, Md. where he is wanted by Montgomery County police. He is being held without bail at Gander Hill prison while awaiting extradition to Maryland.

Glasgow man charged with child molesting

Michael Delle Donne, 33, of Summit Bridge Mobile Home Park, was charged during the week of Nov. 9 with 14 counts of sexually molesting a child in 1992, according to county police. The alleged incidents of raping and molesting a 12-year-old girl between June and October 1992 were reported to police on Oct. 26 of this year. Police arrested and charged Delle Donne with two counts of first-degree unlawful sexual intercourse, nine counts of unlawful sexual contact and three counts of unlawful sexual penetration. He was arraigned and released on $20,000 secured bail.

UD won't allow Wilburfest

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

University of Delaware has decided Wilburfest, an annual all-day concert that benefits the Emmaus House, will not occur in its backyard.

According to John Brooks, vice president of government affairs, the university is prepared to work with the city and students to find another location for the party, but that location will not be on university property.

"We won't have that kind of party on campus," Brooks said. "Can't we find another way to raise money for the university?"

The party is held each spring in the backyard of five homes on Wilbur Street that have historically been rented by students.

This year considerable opposition to the party has surfaced and Newark City Council adopted an amended large gathering ordinance in response.

Student organizers will now have to apply for a permit, just as parade and marathon race organizers do, if more than 500 guests are expected. The party has attracted as many as 5,000 people in the past.

The overwhelming concern of most council members was safety. Undercover Alcoholic Beverage Control officers "dubbed the party a disaster waiting to happen."

Other concerns were underage drinking and property damage.

Police crack burglary ring

NEWARK POLICE have arrested four people for the rash of business burglaries which occurred this summer, mostly on Main Street and in the Newark Shopping Center.

Police arrested William Marsh, 19, of 250 Oak Drive in Middletown on nine counts of burglary, Andrew Pine of 501 Shue Drive in Newark for one count of burglary and two 15 year-old boys - one on seven counts of burglary and the other for three counts.

Police report the arrests are in connection to the following burglaries: Samiches, Park Deli, Farmers Donuts and Dogs, Captain Blue Hen Comics, No. 1 Chinese Restaurant, Headlines, Just Nails, Hair Cuttery, Outer limits, TJ's Place, Wings to Go, Newark Video and Matt Slapp Subaru and Sally's Beauty Supply, which were both burglarized twice.

Both Pine and Marsh are incarcerated at Gander Hill Prison for lack of bail. The two boys are being held in the New Castle County Detention Center.

"If the city or property owners are concerned about liability, then you know we are," Brooks said.

Rick Armitage, director of state and local government, said, although every partygoer is not a student, 83 percent of university students overall are under 21 - which raises the ratio of under-age to legal-age drinkers considerably.

Bear incident labeled a hate crime

A 24-year-old black man from Salem, N.J. was walking to visit the apartment of a friend Nov. 10 when three men in a car driven by Mark C. Hobbs, 29, of Wilmington, yelled racial epithets at him. One of the passengers, Robert L. Hanulik, 35, of Kimberton, allegedly got out of the car and tried to start a fight. As he and the victim argued, Hobbs allegedly pulled out a pistol and fired several shots in the air. The victim fled into his friend's apartment and the others drove off.

CONFIDENCE

"My physician recommended the Arbors at New Castle after I'd spent six months in the hospital. It was great to be in a more home-like setting. Now I'm home again...and glad to be back teaching."

Bill Stabosz, Newark, with Joanne Williams, RN

Confidence is critical in healthcare. It's a two-way street. An exchange. Of communications. And understanding.

For patients, confidence involves belief. Belief that someone else's claims can be supported. With evidence. With positive outcomes. For caregivers, confidence involves knowledge. Knowing what one can, and cannot, do. Knowing one's ability. And experience.

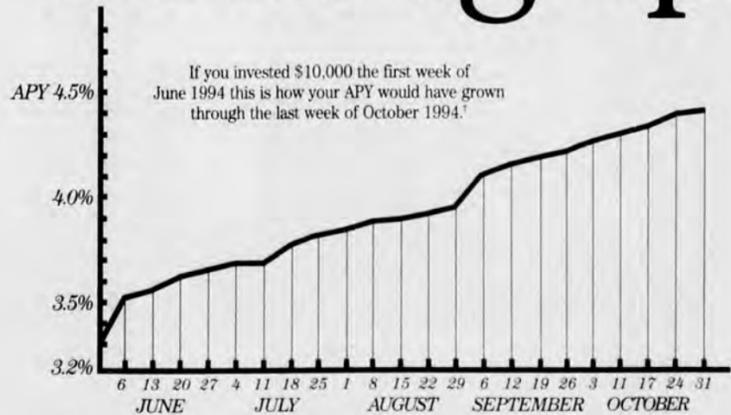

In healthcare, confidence is what distinguishes the excellent from the marginal. There is no middle ground. There's no need for it. No one is willing to compromise their confidence. No one should have to.

You can see that confidence in the faces of the Arbors at New Castle. Take a closer look. Then decide. We invite you to come see us. Face to face.

Despite narrow election loss, Felicia's City Council career continues on

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark City Councilman, Tony Felicia, said he would resign his council seat if he won his bid as the Democratic candidate for Delaware's 25th Representative District, but he lost the Nov. 9 election by 76 votes to Republican Stephanie Ulbrich.

Felicia said going back is a "hard transition." However, he said he enjoys being city councilman for the third District and looks forward to continuing.

"It is one of the reasons why I never wanted to resign while running," said Felicia. "One reason I decided to run for state representative was I wanted to learn more about state government, just as I did with city government."

Felicia ran unopposed in the April city council election after he announced his candidacy for state representative.

The councilman said he didn't anticipate any changes in his representation because he "always gave the city first priority."

"Whenever I felt the need to campaign or be at city functions, I went to city functions," Felicia said. "The only thing I didn't give a lot of time to was my family."

He counts his loss as one of the many casualties created by the Republican tidal wave.

"I'm proud to only lose by 76 votes in a very difficult year for Democrats," said Felicia. "I believe we lost because of the Republican tidal wave. If anything is disappointing, that is."

Another disappointment for Felicia was the Democratic Committee for the 25th District.

"The 25th District Democratic Committee did not have as many resources (volunteers) as one would like to have," Felicia said. "One of my goals will be to help do that."

The councilman said he also wants to help critique the election - lending a first time impression to seasoned opinions.

What would Felicia say to U.S. President Bill Clinton - the politician some argue is primarily responsible for the Republican romp?

"I don't know exactly, obviously he is responsible for some things and he has taken responsibility, but I think the country puts too much blame on him," Felicia said.

He said he has no political plans on the horizon. He wants to continue his goals for council.

New post office to be built in Bear

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The location of the proposed new Bear Post Office will be decided the beginning of next year.

Bear Postmaster Bruce Cataldi said the postal service will advertise for bids of land in the Route 40 corridor in December and most likely decide where the new post office will be built in early 1995. He said the new post office currently has a scheduled move-in date of September 1996.

He said the rapid growth in the 19701 and 19702 zip code areas is one of the reasons a new post office is needed in the Bear area.

The Bear Post Office, currently located on U.S. 40 near Del. 1, is so overcrowded that for the last seven years customer service operations are run out of that building but the mail is sorted and delivered from a building near U.S. 40 and Del. 72.

Cataldi also cites serious safety concerns for customers parking at the post office in Bear. "People will park along Route 40 during Saturday mornings," he said, because parking is so limited patrons cannot find space during busy times at the post office.

The new post office will be 29,900 sq. ft. and will have retail operations for people to mail letters and packages, buy stamps and rent post office boxes among other postal services.

Cataldi said the new facility is where mail in the 19701 - Bear and 19702 - Newark zip codes will be processed and delivered. Currently, 19702 mail is processed through the Newark Post Office on Ogletown Road.

"As the project stands now we will move the 19702 operation from the Newark Post Office to relieve some of the overcrowding Newark has," said Cataldi.

Cataldi said although it has not been officially decided, people with the 19702 zip code will most likely keep their Newark address and not be changed to Bear.

He said currently the Bear zip code has 15 postal routes and 19702 has about 28 routes.

"We'll get more staff and carriers to come to Bear post office," he said, to handle the increase in mail delivery. "The only difference to postal customers will be they will pick up mail and packages at a new post office."

Junior R.O.T.C. programs at Christiana, Glasgow

► R.O.T.C. from 1A

High School currently has 99 cadets, 29 are female.

The group recently held a flag-raising ceremony at the school on Veterans Day (Nov. 11.) It was the first time the unit had marched together because, although the students march twice a week during class time, they are divided into five classes.

"We have a good corps of cadets," said Chief Waldberge Bryant, one of the ROTC instructors. "They are very enthusiastic."

Besides the drilling and marching, students at Glasgow are learning the heritage of flight, rocketry, propulsion, space travel and leadership education.

Future projects for the unit include a flag raising ceremony at the Veteran's Memorial Cemetery on Del. 896 and participation there in the Memorial Day program.

"We're not recruiting for the military," said Bryant. He said some of the students do plan to go into military service after high school but for others its a way to be a part of something and improve their self image.

Students in both programs are required to maintain their uniforms including dry cleaning and shining shoes. The students wear their uniforms to school once a week and peers judge each other during uniform inspections.

"They were razzed about wearing their uniforms at first," said Bryant, "but it some ways its admiration and envy from other students."

Freshman Erin Knight agrees. "At first I couldn't wear my uniform without walking down the hall and someone yelling, 'Incoming'," she said.

But now the novelty has worn off and ROTC is accepted like other activities at Glasgow.

Newark High girl still missing

► MISSING, from 1A

Street in Newark the evening before. Police report the girl was seen by co-workers at McDonald's, but never clocked in to work.

"We're checking up on reports that she may be in New Jersey," Townley said. He said police are also searching for Goldsboro's older sister Eva to find out if the girl is traveling with her.

Townley said now he will be devoting time to the other 42 cases of missing persons in New Castle County, excluding cases being investigated by the State, Wilmington and Newark police. He said of those cases about 95 percent will usually turn up as runaways.

"The big difference in this case is that Bari has not been heard from by family or friends," Townley said. "Most runaways leave notes, have an argument and verbally say they are leaving and most return or are accounted for within 72 hours."

He said police have received virtually no tips from the public, except a call from a student at Glasgow High School who reported seeing Goldsboro and said she knew her because she attends the school.

But Goldsboro is a student at Newark, not Glasgow. "Tips like that are not real reliable," said Townley.

He said besides riding around after dark in Newark and Wilmington to look for the girl, he has addressed classes at Newark High School, talked to Goldsboro's teachers and met with co-workers at McDonald's in an attempt to "retrace leads."

He said police in conjunction with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children are generating flyers of Goldsboro, which will be posted around town.

Townley said police have not ruled out the Goldsboro was abducted by a stranger. "There is no evidence and no witnesses to say she was abducted," he said, "but with 3,200- 4,600 (non-family) abductions (of children under 18) in this nation a year, according to Federal Bureau of Investigation figures, we have to look at it."

Goldsboro, who lives on Hobart Drive in Spring Run Apartments near College Square Shopping Center, is described as black, with a light complexion, 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighing 125 pounds, with brown hair and hazel eyes.

Police said she was last seen wearing a McDonald's uniform when management and co-workers saw her leaving the store alone.

Goldsboro has been entered in the National Crime Information Computer run by the FBI and the case has been opened with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

To report information to New Castle County police, call Det. Rand Townley at 571-7930.

risk to city, or that it would put the city in some sort of jeopardy—unfortunately the others didn't see it that way," Felicia said.

Councilman Thomas Wampler said he voted cautiously. He said he didn't want to take any chances with the judges decision to uphold the March 1994 decision.

In the lawsuit, Five-T said council's reasons for voting against the special-use permit were arbitrary and capricious. The judge, however, disagreed, setting an important precedent council can use when considering future special-use permit applications.

"I was told there was a slight chance that (the March 1994 ruling) could be overturned and I was concerned," said Wampler.

public relations, a draft resolution should be considered by the Board of Trustees by the end of this year.

"The important thing to consider is the President (David Roselle) and administration are very supportive of the bypass and we will do what we have to get it done," Brook said.

In 1973 council approved a similar resolution for the Christina Bypass, an extension of Del. 4.

Bob Smith, a Newark City Council member from 1973-1976 and an advocate for the Christina Bypass, wrote the 1994 resolution.

"All residents of Newark are safer today because of the construction of the Christina Parkway and now we need to continue to move forward," Smith said.

He speculated that the 1994 resolution will lend weight to the issue because the 1973 resolution did.

There are some skeptics, however. Some argue the proposed bypass has become nothing but a political tool. City homeowners and University of Delaware students launched a "No Bypass, No Vote" campaign and protest before the election that attracted many candidates.

Tripp, who represents residents in areas most affected by truck traffic, said, "I introduced the resolution because my constituents brought it to me...people think it is just politics but if it is, then maybe politics can get it done."

Tripp said she believes that the only way to get results is to "keep going from all angles."

Mayor Gardner, director of WILMAPCO, together with a new slate of state representatives, residents, students and university officials have made their support known.

Safety tips for the bathroom

A nice relaxing soak in a bubble bath shouldn't turn into a stressful trip to an emergency room.

While the bathroom is often the site of numerous household accidents, it is often an area of the home where safety precautions are not taken. In fact, in 1991 nearly 140,000 people were treated at hospital emergency rooms for injuries resulting from accidents in bathtubs and showers, according to the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission.

Shelley Siegel, ASID, president of Accessible Interiors Network Inc., a Florida-based interior design firm, recommends keeping the following suggestions in mind for bathroom safety.

Nix glass—Let's face it, in the bathroom you are basically defenseless. Usually you are bare-foot, so any falling objects create a hazard, especially glass tumblers or bottles. Install a paper cup dispenser or buy a plastic drinking tumbler for the bathroom. Buy shampoo, mouthwash and other personal hygiene products in reusable plastic containers.

Don't Slip Up—Bathroom floors, tubs, and shower floors tend to be very slippery once water gets into the picture. Some manufacturers now offer flooring products with increased slip resistance, such as Congoleum Sensation sheet vinyl. The additional cushioning that vinyl flooring provides can go a long way in preventing bruises, as well as breakage from falling objects. Use a rubber bath mat or rubber appliques on the bottom of the tub or shower floor to decrease your chances of slipping.

Get organized—Keep any items you use at the sink grouped together nearby in your medicine chest, in an under sink cabinet, or in stackable baskets next to the sink. Pull out baskets installed in cabinets also keep toiletries handy and reduce the chance of injury from bending over to retrieve a needed item. Any products you'll need in the shower or tub should be kept within arms reach. Basket organizers that hang from the shower head or that can be placed in a shower corner offer maximum convenience.

Hold on—Installing grab bars in the tub or shower is a good idea especially if there are small children or elderly family members in your home. Having that extra safety measure can prevent slips getting in or out of the bath or shower. Make sure grab rails are properly installed by reinforcing the areas where the rail attaches to the wall to prevent loosening over time. It may also be a good idea to reinforce towel bars and toilet tissue holders. You may want to check with someone at your local hardware store or home center on the best methods for installation and reinforcement.

Don't get burned—Test the water temperature before getting in the shower or tub to prevent scaldings. And if your water temperature tends to vary between cold and hot during the course of bathing, install an anti-scald valve.

Short circuit shocks—Using hair dryers, radios, space heaters or other plug-in appliances in the bathroom can be extremely hazardous if they come in contact with water. If your bathroom is not equipped with a ground fault circuit interrupter (GFCI) outlet, have your electrician install one. You already have a GFCI in place if your outlet has tiny test and reset buttons. A GFCI instantly shuts off electrical power to everything plugged into it when there is a leak of electrical current or when an appliance is exposed to water. Adding extra outlets can eliminate appliance cords being stretched across sink vanities.

Vanity cabinet adds storage space

One sure sign of an outdated bath is a wall-hung sink. Not only do these fixtures look low budget, but they deny you the valuable storage space offered by a vanity cabinet.

If your bathroom is cramped, as most are, then a vanity will add storage space. By concealing the sink's plumbing, it will also make the bathroom look a little less mechanical, and it does so without costing a fortune.

If adding storage space is not your top priority, but fixing up an old bathroom is, then now also is the time to replace the sink, especially if its faucet set is worn out and dripping. It also makes sense to replace the sink if you are thinking of painting and freshening up the grout lines in the tilework.

You can spend as little as $150 for a vanity if you shop for specials and closeouts. On the other hand, $1,500 will get you a long vanity and an expensive top, basin and faucet.

As for the style of vanity, consider the position of the water and drain fittings in your bathroom's wall or floor. Don't buy a vanity with drawers that will obstruct these piping connections. As for length, you'll find standard sizes to fit almost any space, from 18 inches to 6 feet. If your vanity will abut the toilet, most codes require that the countertop ends at least 15 inches from the center of the toilet.

And finally, if you don't care for molded tops, you can build a custom top of high-density particleboard and plastic laminate or tile. You would then cut a hole in the top for a porcelain, plastic or china basin.

You can shoot for an entirely custom installation by building the vanity cabinet as well. The cabinet is simply a box with a space for a toe-kick beneath it. The cabinet can be built out of a high density particleboard and covered with the same plastic laminate used on the top, or you can build it out of lumber. You can make the doors yourself or buy them separately.

City Council's passage of resolution is good move

WE AGREE with Newark City Council's bypass resolution that was passed at Monday's meeting.

We realize that this resolution is largely symbolic and does not, in itself, mean that the bypass will be built. However, we believe that it sends a clear message to the General Assembly, DeDOT and WILMAP-CO that Newark needs and wants a bypass.

Until this point in time, the bypass movement was largely one that has been championed by fed-up citizens. Politicians have jumped on the bandwagon at times but now, with the resolution, the city's request becomes more official and more united.

Adding to the strength of the message is the fact that the University of Delaware is drafting its own resolution supporting a bypass.

It's hard to believe that the powers that be could ignore the state's second largest community and its biggest university when it comes to an issue that all the affected parties feel so strongly about.

Newark and its citizens are not just whining about an insignificant issue. The traffic in Newark is terrible. The residents of West Main Street put up with undue hardships because of truck traffic and university students, and any other pedestrians, walking on South College Ave. are put in unnecessary danger.

This is a big problem in Newark and we deserve to have it solved, however difficult and complex a solution might be.

Kudos should also again be passed on to those angry citizens who hoisted the issue on their backs and dragged it to everybody's attention. Without that effort there might not be so many promises from politicians and the recent resolution.

We hope that the effort continues to prosper.

For all the dwellers around Iron Hill, Delaware, there has been drawn the pretty picture of Washington, Lafayette and Greene on that height by George Morgan in his volume, "The True Lafayette."

The three, with their aides, must have made an interesting group as they reined their horses on the crest of the highest hill in Delaware. The counseling and electrification of Wendell

By MARVIN HUMMEL
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

August 4, 1994

Dear Wendell:

Few letters have come across this advice counselor's desk in recent years that permitted a one-word answer, but yours does: FORGIVE!!!

You write that two early-teenagers dared each other to ride their bikes roughshod through your wife's lovely flower garden, and they either hit her with their bikes or frightened her so badly she fell down. Wendell, your only action is to FORGIVE!

How can you know what problems these obviously upset boys suffer from? Broken homes? Dysfunctional families? Single parents? Loved too much? Not enough?

Intense sibling rivalry? Bad grades? Low self-esteem? They may be victims of any or all of these maladies of modern society. Yes, Wendell, you must FORGIVE!!!

In your letter, you said this garden-ruining has happened before. In a sense, that's good for you because the rule is to forgive 70x7, and those earlier instances would decrease the number of times you have to forgive those poor, benighted children.

(Try to remember exactly how many times they have already ruined her garden.)

In a way, it will be good fun for your wife. You described her as loving "all kinds of flowers." Well, these misguided lads will provide her with the opportunity to replace the destroyed ones with new varieties and species! A dream come true! She'll also be outdoors, which is quite healthy for her, and I predict that long before she runs out of flower species, the boys will get bored and move on to something else. (Do you see the incalculable riches of FORGIVING?) However, if they DO persist past 490 times, I'd put in AstroTurf.

Come see me!

My public relations person said I should explain my side of the "Wendell controversy" which aired on the King show. It's simple: Wendell is an idiot, and Larry King is a blatant opportunist to allow him on the show.

The letter that Wendell person read on the King show was indeed mine, as my millions of faithful readers already know.

I have checked with Security people on my estate, and a person named "Wendell" did indeed try to invade my property on September 24, claiming he had an invitation to "come see me!!!" Wilburfest is really big help to Emmaus House

To: The Editor
From: Eric A. Nauman

In all the discussion about the future of Wilburfest, I get the impression that none of us realize just how important the event is to the Emmaus House, its parent organization Homeward Bound, and the community as a whole. Last year's $24,000 donation amounted to 1/12 of Homeward Bound's entire operating budget for the year. The money made by the event was used to fund everyday activities such as buying food, (which costs the Emmaus House approximately $100 each week) buying laundry detergent, medicine, and those things that the rest of the community doesn't or isn't able to donate. Without that money, they would not be able to provide nearly as many services as they do.

The Emmaus House isn't just a shelter or a charity. It is a program that helps homeless families get back on their feet and at the same time doubles as a battered women's shelter. There are no handouts. Everyone works together to mop floors, vacuum, do dishes, cook meals, and so on. It's a place where people can go to gain a respite from the endless line of bill collectors and angry landlords. The children attend school while their parents use the resources at the Emmaus House to find affordable housing and good jobs. It does all this partly with the moneys given it by groups like the United Way and Wilburfest, but primarily through the physical efforts of the community it aims to help. Last year volunteers, many of whom are members of churches, fraternities, sororities, campus organizations, or lone individuals like myself, contributed 9000 hours of service to the Emmaus House. Without our support, and that of events like Wilburfest, the Emmaus House simply could not function.

Canceling Wilburfest is not about heavy traffic on Cleveland Avenue one weekend out of the year. If that were the case, we would have to shut down every one of the parades that run down Main Street every year. Next, we'll have to cancel all the football games and graduation to alleviate traffic on South College Avenue. And it's not about damage to the buildings on Wilbur Street. In truth I don't think 3500 people could do enough damage to those buildings for me to notice. Nor is underage drinking the issue. Eleven arrests in the past two years is nothing compared to those made at Park Place and Towne Court over the same period of time.

If the Newark City Council thinks that stopping Wilburfest is going to put a dent in underage drinking in Newark I'm afraid that they're either lying to themselves or, more probably, us.

What is at stake is a fundamental lack of community support on the part of the Newark City Council. How can they destroy an event which provides such a huge contribution to a non-profit organization that benefits the City of Newark in so many different ways based on heavy weekend traffic, easily repairable damages, and a relatively small underage drinking problem? Whatever their reasons, I hope that Mr. Godwin and the rest of the Newark City Council are prepared to deal with the consequences. I would hate to think that one of them or their families might have a run of bad luck that makes it impossible for them to pay their bills or feed their children. Especially if their actions today doom the Emmaus House tomorrow.

Double standard for traffic tickets

To: The Editor
From: Elaine W. Williams (Newark)

On July 27, 1994 I was enroute south on Casho Mill Road. I approached the four way stop sign at Casho Mill Road and Church Road, stopped briefly and continued on. I saw a police car on parked on the corner to my left in Nottingham Green. I was amazed when I was pulled over and the policeman cited me for not stopping at the stop sign. There were no cars at any of the three corners and I felt I had made a safe stop. I still fee that way.

I decided I would go to Alderman's Court and plead my case. The judge listened and ruled in favor of the officer. I paid my $59.50 fine and left.

Last week as I was waiting to make a left turn into the College Square Shopping Center I observed 10 cars in sequence who did not stop while exiting from the Center—some didn't even slow up. After I completed my shopping I followed a car exiting at the same point who did not slow as he headed toward Kirkwood Highway and there were two Newark Police cars waiting at the light into College Square observing him, but they chose to ignore the situation.

Since my "violation" I have been very aware of stop signs and have nearly been rear-ended three times when I stopped at the very same corner! I have also been cognizant of the many times on Casho Mill Road that drivers often do not yield to oncoming traffic at the railroad underpass, as well as on Main Street approaching Elkton Road.

I recognize that the officer and I had a difference of opinion about the length of my stop on July 27, but I still feel unjustly accused. I think a warning would have been sufficient if he really thought I didn't stop long enough, but obviously he was there to get his "quota" and make some money for the City of Newark, I learned I was not the only one in Court when I made my appearance that felt the same way I did.

Parking ordinance for rentals unfair

To: The Editor
From: Mark Julian

I recently read an article in your paper addressing the problem of the two parking place restriction for rental properties in Newark. I echoed these same sentiments to my councilperson just days before the article was published. Requiring two parking places and access to them is unfair. My townhome is currently for sale and I have had several interested buyers. However, as soon as they find out it can't qualify as a rental property, they lose interest.

The problem is many of the adjacent houses are "grandfathered in" as rental properties, though they lack the required parking. This limits potential buyers to "owner/occupant." But, what family would buy a home that is flanked by houses stuffed with college students?

Another consideration is the value difference between houses that are "grandfathered in" and those adjacent that aren't. Houses that are "grandfathered in" will sell for considerably more than those that are not because new owners can continue to rent and make money as an investment. People selling homes that aren't must take a loss if they sell to a family at all.

I have elderly neighbors that worry about this also. What will ultimately result with their homes in the future?

The issue of renters in Newark is not an easy one but complicating it with drastically reduced real estate values and unfair restrictions doesn't seem to be an answer.

Variances are granted for all sorts of real estate properties. However, they're not granted in this type of situation at all.

This is a problem that will only grow in magnitude and impact. Other similar situations will undoubtedly arise.

Wendell's counseling serious

▶ HUMMEL, from 8A

their repeated demands, they did shoot blanks over his head. And, when the man turned berserk, they did have him arrested and detained.

He asked why he was to forgive those kids 490-invasions-worth and I had him arrested on his first attack on my estate? Simple. I AM A NATIONAL TREASURE and Wendell is—well, he's just Wendell.

I don't feel guilty about Wendell's wife calling him a d...ed wimp and leaving him for a toothless truck driver. He should have married a religious woman who understood 70X7.

And finally, my writing "Come see me!" at the end of the syndicated letter about his problem was no excuse for Wendell to come see me! Those words are my trademark!

Carol Burnett tugs at her ear lobe and Johnny Carson swings an invisible golf club.

Do people send Burnett ear syringes or Carson golf balls? Of course no! And to all my faithful readers who know enough to NOT come see me when I write "Come see me"—all I can say is, "Come see me!"

HEARING AID NEWS

Can a hearing aid be virtually invisible? Today the answer is yes. You will agree when you see, or better yet when you do not see the Hearco "INVISIBLE™".

Is there a hearing aid that helps you hear in noise? The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) now requires manufacturers to produce evidence to verify all advertising claims about hearing aids.

What could be better evidence than one's own trial experience?

Today's technology produces a product that we feel is the "hearing aid" answer for so very many who need help but do not want to be seen using a device. Technology, know-how, experience and technique permit us to offer a completely new device manufactured specifically to the individuals hearing loss and ear canal. AND TO OFFER THIS ON A 21 DAY FREE TRIAL; THERE IS NO ADVANCE PAYMENT, NO DEPOSIT, NO PAYMENT OF ANY KIND. This offer is limited those we feel are credit worthy and are motivated toward better hearing.

The hearing aid is the new HEARCO "INVISIBLE™". Yes, it is virtually invisible in your ear canal. Although mighty small, it is, because of today's technology, powerful enough for hearing losses up to 80 decibels. This is termed "severe". Of course, there are always exceptions, but the number of people this aid helps is substantial.

This new HEARCO "INVISIBLE™" will take about 14 days to manufacture after we measure your hearing loss and take a special type ear canal impression.

You use the aid for a full 21 days in your every day life. Use it at work, use it in church, use it in noise. If you find that this is not the answer to your hearing needs or if anyone sees the device in your ear, return it. Similarly, if you keep it we ask that you pay for it or lease it.

In my 49 years of fitting and supervising over 25,000 hearing aids in Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, Ohio and Florida, I have never worked with a hearing aid that was so "perfect". The quality of results and acceptance of this aid prompts me to make this 21 day free trial offer. This is better than a money back guarantee because you have made no payment.

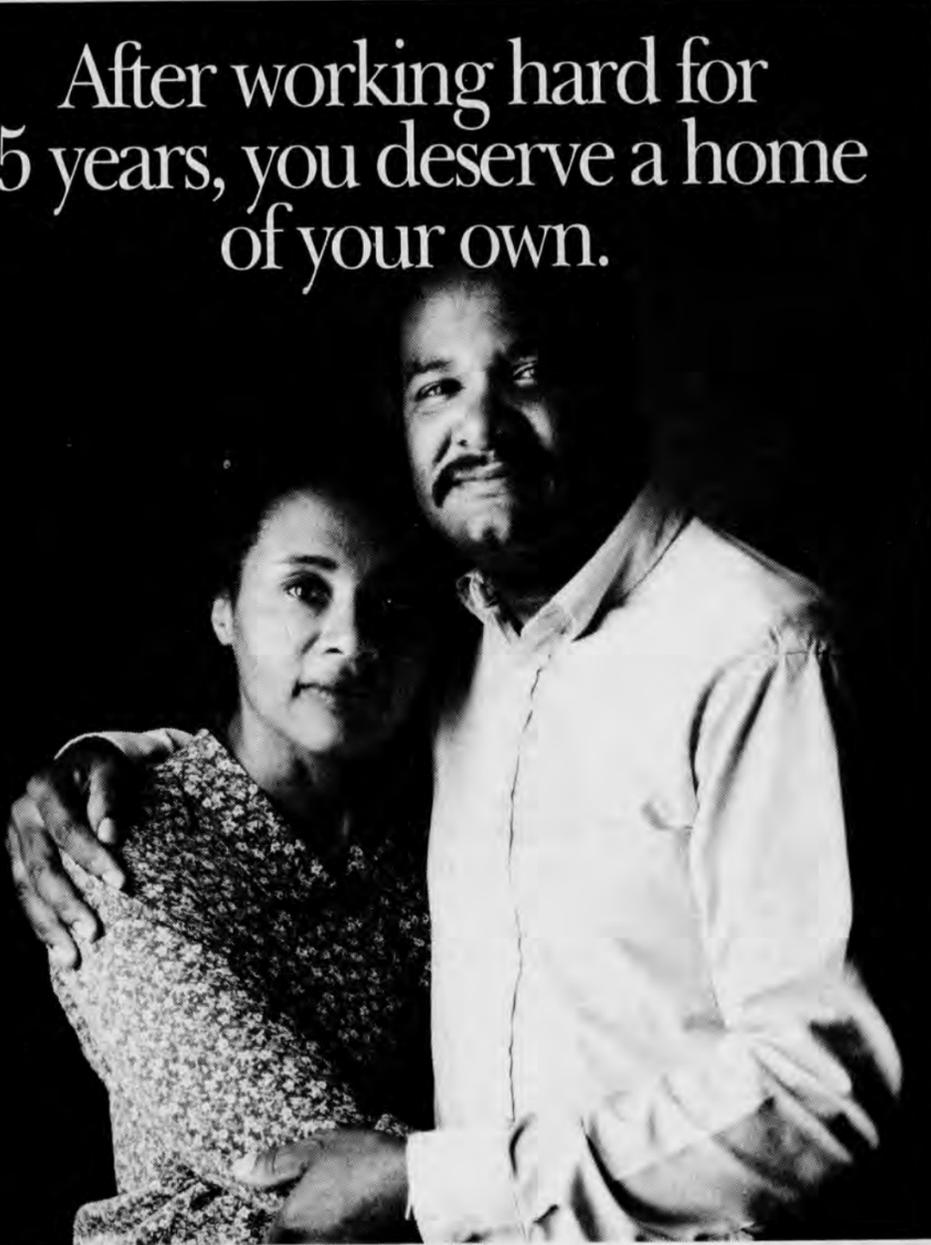

Handelman Hearing Aids has been in Wilmington since 1932. You know of our reputation for satisfaction, quality and performance. We are here every business day for service.

Hearing aids help many people hear better, but no aid can solve all hearing problems. Find out for yourself if this tiny HEARCO "INVISIBLE™" is your answer. Phone us today for an appointment with our manager, Nettie French.

Newark junior has brush with fame in national magazine

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A local Newark High School student came within a hair of being a cover girl for Teen Magazine.

Newarker Mona Parikh, 16, recently returned from New York City where she competed with three other girls chosen from 5,000 who entered the magazine's "Salon Selectives Super Hair Search" last March.

Parikh, a subscriber to Teen for five years, said she was reading the magazine when she saw the contest entry form. She asked a friend's father (John Llera) to take photos and sent five photos and the entry form to the magazine.

"In the back of my mind I was hoping something would happen with the contest," she said, "but I didn't have my heart set on it."

Then in May she got a call from Teen saying she was one of the 24 finalists and that her photo would be in the September issue of Teen.

As a semifinalist, Parikh had to pose for more photos by having a 36-roll of film taken and sent undeveloped to Teen.

This for Parikh was the most unnerving part of the competition because she did not know what the photos looked like and couldn't remove the ones she didn't like.

So with the help again of Llera and this time a hair stylist, Parikh posed wearing both formal and casual clothing and with seven different hair styles.

Parikh's hard work paid off. On Sept. 26 Teen called to congratulate her on being selected a finalist, telling her she had won a $1,500 college scholarship and coordinating with her details of the New York trip.

"I was so excited and happy," she said.

"It (the contest) was a big deal but didn't start that way," Parikh said. "I didn't have high hopes but I was pleasantly surprised every time they called me back."

On Oct. 22, Parikh and three other girls - from Florida, Oklahoma and Michigan - were flown to the big apple and pampered for four days.

The girls were taken in limousines on sightseeing trips to the Empire State Building, the "Damn Yankees" musical, Planet Hollywood, NBC studios, Hard Rock Cafe and then were featured in an six-hour photo shoot for the magazine.

For the shoot, the girls had their hair and make done for them. "I had more hairspray than I've ever had on my hair," Parikh said. "But I was happy with the results."

During the competition in New York, the girls were asked about hair styling products, their daily hair routines, whose hair they like on television and judges felt the texture of their hair.

Parikh takes about 5 minutes each morning to do her hair. Her routine includes washing and brushing it. "On special occasions, I'll pull it back and use hairspray and a barret," she said.

She said the only bad hair days she has are when she gets static in her hair. "I'll use a few squirts of hairspray on my comb," she said, to resolve the problem.

Her tips for great hair, although she gives credit to her parents and their genes, are to not overstyle hair, including perming and coloring. "A person's natural hair color is probably the one which suits them best," she said.

Parikh will be in the March and April editions of Teen magazine.

What else is in Mona's future? She said she wants to pursue modeling, not as a career choice but as an experience, because this hair contest gave her a boost of confidence.

And she said, she is considering cutting her long hair to shoulder-length.

Safety tips for alternate heating

As we approach winter's cold temperatures, our thoughts may turn to home heating and alternate heat sources such as wood/coal burners and portable heaters.

The reasons are many - the aesthetic or romantic aspect of wood-burning stoves or fireplaces, emergency use during power failures, efficiency or some combination of these.

There are risks when these alternate heating sources are not used with caution.

and many could have been prevented if the chimney had been properly installed and maintained.

Ron Jester, University of Delaware Cooperative Extension safety specialist, has addressed the most important safety aspects associated with these alternate heat sources and offers the following checklist for safe use of wood-burning stoves.

- Be sure chimney and stovepipe are installed correctly in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations and local codes. If there is any doubt, a building inspector or fire official can determine whether the system is properly installed.
- Minimize creosote formation by using proper stove size; avoid low damper settings that restrict air flow for long periods.
- Have the chimney checked and cleaned by a chimney sweep at least once a year. Inspect it frequently (as often as twice a month if necessary) and clean when a creosote buildup of 1/4 inch is noted.
- Always operate the stove within the manufacturer's recommended temperature limits.
- Check often for signs of structural failure such as cracked masonry or heat spots.

A portable space heater is a heating device that poses special hazards. Because it is portable, it is likely to be put in a location not originally designed to accommodate it. Be sure that the location does not pose a tripping or fire hazard.

Check with the authorities in your jurisdiction on regulations governing your specific heater; Delaware prohibits the use of portable kerosene heaters in multi-family dwellings.

The following list of safety precautions will help ensure a safe heating season with your portable heaters this year:

- Purchase UL-listed heaters.
- Read the owner's manual to understand proper operation and safety.
- Refill kerosene heater outside the home after it has cooled 10 to 15 minutes.
- Do not use flammable materials - gasoline, solvents, aerosol sprays.
- Do not leave heater unattended.
- If you suspect the heater is not operating properly, disconnect or extinguish it and call the dealer.
- Store kerosene outside the home in clearly marked, non-red containers.
- For un-vented kerosene heaters, provide fresh air through a window opened 1/2 to 1 inch per heater.
- Keep heater 3 feet from combustibles.
- Keep children away from heaters; teach them not to touch or play near the device; if possible, provide protective railing.
- Make sure that an electric heater is on a dedicated circuit.

Home fire protection is paramount to saving lives and preventing needless injuries.

Enjoy what winter has to offer and heat your home safely!

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

By James C. McLaren

This week's author: Carl Davis

Every 44 seconds fire strikes a home somewhere in the United States. Last year these fires killed 3,200 people. The death rate from fires is highest among children and the elderly.

The chief danger in heating with wood comes from creosote buildup in chimneys, which can result in chimney fire.

Creosote is a sticky mixture of tars and organic matter produced by incomplete wood combustion. The sticky matter condenses on the flue liner, where it builds up and can eventually catch fire. Users of wood stoves and fireplaces should be aware of possible creosote problems.

Most wood-heating fires involve the chimney and not the appliance,

Lunacies

POEMS, PUNS and PROVERBS

A Thanksgiving Turkey,
His future quite murky,
Went on diet to forestall the Fates.
His plan went awry.
Stuffing, gravy and pie
Joined doomed Birdie on revelers' plates.

A chilled Pilgrim Father
Thought of things he'd have rather:
Warmer days when his face wouldn't glower.
So, he feasted on Pheasant,
Cobs of corn: not unpleasant,
While he longed to, in Spring, pick Mayflower.

Why was the flounder so spiritually dedicated?
It was his sole activity.

Why was the Joker clumsily swabbing the deck?
He was wild, and shuffled about.

Alien creatures, drifting through space, need never envy the emptiness of Earthfolks.

It is an always hopeless task to turn back the sands of time in an hourglass.

■ Author's note: Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws - the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Newark Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Right: Gallaher Elementary student artists recently transformed the school cafeteria into an exhibit of larger-than-life children's book illustrations. Artist Yolanda Chetwynd and Gallaher Art teacher Kelly Walz organized the project.

Obituaries

Henry P. Murphy Sr., retired superintendent

Newark resident, Henry Patrick Murphy Sr., died Nov. 5, 1994, of an apparent heart attack at Christiana Hospital after being stricken at home.

Mr. Murphy, 72, was a superintendent at Chicago Bridge & Iron Co. plant in New Castle until retiring in 1971 after 19 years.

He taught catechism at his church, St. John's-Holy Angels Catholic Church, Newark. Since 1963, he was a lay member of the Discalced Carmelite Order, of Morristown, N.J. He was a charter member of Disabled American Veterans' Richard Curry Chapter and a member of Newark's Veterans of Foreign Wars post. A Navy veteran of World War II, he served as a shipfitter on the USS New Mexico and USS Moloa in the Pacific.

Raised in South Portland and Cundys Harbor, Maine, he moved from Livingston, N.J. to Newark, Del. in 1967.

He enjoyed ham radio, using the call letters WB3IV1, and was a member of the East Coast Amateur Radio System.

For the past eight years, he and his wife, Marie G. Murphy, enjoyed summers at their second home in Wayne, Maine, near their daughter, Blanche M. Fyler. He enjoyed golfing, boating, fishing, bowling, and painting landscapes in oil.

In addition to his wife and daughter, he is survived by four sons, Michael P. Jr. of New Castle, Henry P. of Middletown, Stephen P. of Oxford, Pa., and Kevin P. of Newark; nine grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial was offered Nov. 9 in St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, Newark. Burial arrangements were not announced.

The family suggests contributions to Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, 34th Street and Civic Center Boulevard, Philadelphia.

Harriet Osuchowski, dormitory operator

Former Newark resident, Harriet M. Osuchowski, died Nov. 5, 1994, of cancer at home in Faulkland Heights, near Prices Corner.

Mrs. Osuchowski, 85, operated a women's dormitory out of her Newark home for the University of Delaware in the 1950s. Her daughter, Priscilla Fitzsimmons stated that she was one of the first house mothers appointed by the university. The site of the house, at 64 E. Delaware Ave., is now a parking lot.

She enjoyed cooking and sewing, and until about age 70, she played tennis twice a day at Cavalier Country Club. She was a member of St. John's-Holy Angels Catholic Church, Newark.

Raised in Manchester, N.H., she moved to Newark in 1949, when her husband was assigned to organize a union at a Yorklyn hosiery mill. In 1989, she moved to her daughter's home in Faulkland Heights.

Her husband, Victor R. Osuchowski, died in 1974. In addition to her daughter, she is survived by her son-in-law, John Fitzsimmons, who helped care for her, and a granddaughter, Amy Comperatore, also of Faulkland Heights, whom she helped raise.

Service and burial will be private. The family suggests contributions to Delaware Hospice or Delaware Epilepsy Association.

Linda R. Baughan, 52, liked camping, gardening, country music

Newark resident, Linda R. Baughan, died Nov. 7, 1994, of complications from Lou Gehrig's disease at home.

Mrs. Baughan, 52, was a homemaker and enjoyed camping, gardening and country music fairs.

She is survived by her husband of 33 years, Gary W. Baughan; two daughters, Rita C. Eggers and Debra L. Baughan, both of Newark; two brothers Gary Nowlin of Beckley, W.Va., and Alvin Nowlin of North Carolina; three sisters, Dorothy Nichols of Elmira, W.Va.,

Sharon Nichols of Hammond, Ind., and Carolyn Sue Johnston of Kincaid, W.Va.; and two grandchildren.

A service was held Nov. 9 at Spicer-Mullikin & Warwick Funeral Home, Newark. Burial was in Gracelawn Memorial Park, Minquedale.

Ingeborg Heidelberg, enjoyed Saengerbund

Newark resident, Ingeborg M. Heidelberg, died Nov. 7, 1994, of Cancer in Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Heidelberg, 71, was a homemaker and enjoyed going to Delaware Saengerbund & Library Association, dancing and baby-sitting.

She is survived by her husband, Thees Heidelberg; two daughters, Christine Seletos of Smyrna and Ursula Cox of Bear; two brothers, Hellmuth Czojor of Wilmington and Adolf Czojor of Bear; a sister, Krystina Szymonowicz of Wilmington; her former husband, Horst Koepf of New Castle; and four grandchildren.

A service was held Nov. 9 at McCreary Memorial Chapel, Marshallton. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions to St. Jude Children's Hospital, 322 N. Lauderdale St., Memphis, Tenn.

Robert B. Parsons, sales vice president

Glasgow resident, Robert B. Parsons, died Nov. 6, 1994, of a heart attack in Christiana Hospital after being stricken at home.

Mr. Parson, 47, was a vice president and director of sales with Delivery Verification Service Inc. in New Castle for 15 years.

Earlier, he was Eastern regional sales representative for DePree Pharmaceuticals, Holland, Mich.

He won several sales awards throughout his career.

He was past president of Melody Meadows Civic Association, a member of St. John's/Holy Angels Catholic Church, Newark, and St. Luke's/St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Ocean City, Md. He had been a volunteer bus coordinator for St. John's/Holy Angels Elementary School.

He was a 1969 graduate of Michigan State University, where he was lineman on the varsity football team and a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He enjoyed golf and spending weekends at his home on Fenwick Island.

He is survived by his wife of 23 years, Anne M. Parsons of Newark; a daughter, Amy E. Parsons of Newark; his father and stepmother, Richard and Pauline Parsons of Saginaw, Mich.; and two sisters, Kathy Basner of Saginaw and Nancy Tews of Waukesha, Wis.

A Mass of Christian Burial was offered Nov. 10 at Holy Angels Catholic Church, Newark. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions to Ursuline Academy or Salesianum School.

Alice M. Foresto, baker at Shue school

Former Newark resident, Alice M. Foresto, died Nov. 6, 1994, in Churchman Village, her residence for the past two years.

Miss Foresto, 80, was a baker for more than 10 years at Wilmer E. Shue Middle School and several other local schools. Earlier, she worked in a hosiery mill in Newark.

She is survived by a brother, William J. Foresto of Newark, and a sister, Rose DiCicco of Philadelphia.

Mass of Christian Burial was offered at Holy Angels Catholic Church, Newark. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery.

Laura 'La' LaVerde

Former Newark resident, Laura LaVerde, died Nov. 6, 1994, in Franciscan Healthcare Center, Wilmington.

Miss LaVerde, 89, enjoyed bingo, baking, watching the Phillies and trips to Atlantic City casinos. She was known for her 'La La' sandwiches and her Christmas cookies, according to her family.

Miss LaVerde is survived by three sisters, Josephine Bocelli of Northfield, N.J., Elsie Brignola of Cardiff, N.J., and Anna Ferrara of Pleasantville, N.J.; and a granddaughter, Mass of Christian Burial was offered Nov. 10 at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Pleasantville. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Mays Landing, N.J.

Hospital, Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. McIntyre, 87, spent six months a year with her daughter, Patricia Pembroke of Newark, and the balance of the year with her other daughter, Elizabeth Muller of Orlando.

She had been a licensed practical nurse. She later worked and retired from Grand Central Railroad.

Her husband, Edward McIntyre, died in 1951. Besides her daughters, she is survived by five grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

M. Kathryn Mayer, 79, active in government, civic affairs

NEWARK resident, M. Kathryn Mayer, died Nov. 7, 1994, of cancer at Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Mayer, 79, ran for a General Assembly seat from Delaware's 24th District in the early 1960s and was an attaché in the state House of Representatives. She was a delegate to the 1966 State Democratic Convention and was vice-chairman for the Old Pencader Hundred (24th District) Committee for four years. She served on the New Castle County Executive Committee.

She was a research clerk during the 123rd session of the state legislature and a clerk in the Senate Attorney's Office during the 122nd session. She ran for a seat in the new 26th District in 1968.

Mrs. Mayer was a strong advocate of states' rights and favored better care for the elderly and elimination of school taxes for older citizens.

She worked for the New Castle County recorder of deeds in the early 1980s.

Mrs. Mayer owned Cody-Kay Beauty Salon, Elkton, Md., in the late 1930s.

She had been president of Sealand Services and Arjay Inc., a branch of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

In Newark, she had been a Cub Scout den mother and a Girl Scout leader, and she was an adviser of Tri-Hi-Y in the late 1960s.

Forget the reindeer, join Santa on the railroad

THIS THE SEASON! I think it would be appropriate to do a chorus or two of "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town." Would you like to join me?

When I was growing up, the "official" day for Santa to arrive at department stores was Thanksgiving. There were, and still are, great parades to mark Santa's arrival from the North Pole for his annual visit. As the downtown department store took on less and less importance to our country, Santa began to arrive at shopping centers in helicopters. Somehow, that never fit my idea of the arrival of the great old man.

It simply isn't Santa with swirling rotors and high pitched, ear drum splitting noises. Santa is just a bit more old fashioned than that.

One problem that hasn't changed between the time of my visits to Santa and today is the crowd. There is a lot of pushing and shoving, less than the "Christmas Spirit" among those waiting. Photos aren't free. There is a thriving business of getting your child with Santa long enough to snap the shutter, then the child is on his/her own for a very brief visit. The tumult often makes the child afraid and spoils the event.

In the past few years I have become acquainted with a Santa Claus "arrival and visit" that is not the least threatening, not the least rushed and you can take all the photos you want free of charge. It is the Santa Claus Specials operated by Delaware's Working History Museum, The Wilmington and Western Railroad. The specials are not new. Some children who enjoyed the experience are now taking their children. Since 'tis the season for such things, I would like to address my column to parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, etc., who might want to share a meaningful experience with youngsters.

The experience begins when you arrive at the Wilmington and Western Railroad's Greenbank Station located on the Newport-Gap Pike, Del. Rte. 41, just a quarter mile north of its intersection with the Kirkwood Highway, Del. Rte. 2. The friendly train crew members, all volunteers, welcome the children and get the family aboard the train and into their reserved seats, for which you arrange earlier. Then, after the family unit gets settled, the train gets underway. The children do not leave their seats. Santa and his helpers come through the old coaches to the children and the family.

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

The nice part about this is that the child may stay in the lap of someone he/she knows or move to be with Santa. New surroundings and the leaving of one's family are not at all necessary, although Santa's lap is readily available. The child gets a gift from Santa, and then, if the child wants it, there is a conversation with Santa, but no pressure. Photo taking can go on throughout the visit. Many children give letters to Santa on the train ride too.

This is not a rushed experience. The train meanders through the beautiful and historic Red Clay Creek Valley to Mount Cuba and then returns to Greenbank. The trip takes about an hour. On some trips, Santa comes through a second time for those who were not to sure they wanted to talk to him the first time. Always the child is with family members. The train crew adds to the fun of the day talking to the children and answering all kinds of questions about the railroad. If a few families, or a larger family, want even more fun, they can charter one of the Wilmington and Western's cabooses that are on every train.

When the train gets back to the station, the activities are by no means over. Santa leads the parade of children — and their accompanying adults — across the road to a party at the Greenbank Mill. In addition to the refreshments, photo opportunities are available.

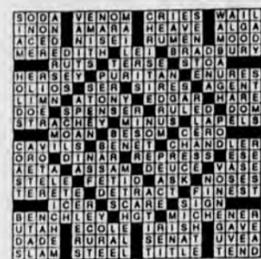

If the child, or one of the adults in the group, is a rail fan, there is a railroad gift shop on the station property where stocking stuffers and gift certificates are available.

This year there are 18 trains scheduled. The Santa Claus Specials begin the Friday after Thanksgiving, November 25, and continue November 26, 27, December 3, 4, 10, 11, 17 and 18. There are two runs on each of those nine days, 12:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Since these all-reserved-seat trains often sell out, reservations are strongly advised. You may call the Wilmington and Western during regular business hours at 302-998-1930. If there are any seats on train days, they go on sale at the Greenbank Station an hour before the first departure.

The fare is $7 for children two to twelve years old; $4 for those under two years old; six months and under are free and adults are $10. The child's fare includes the round trip train ride, a visit from Santa, a gift from Santa and a party at the Greenbank Mill after the trip.

The Wilmington and Western Railroad is part of the non-profit Historic Red Clay Valley, Inc., dedicated to preserving the history and artifacts of the area for this and future generations.

Hope Santa Claus is coming to town! I hope your youngsters can meet him on the Wilmington and Western.

Local 4-H agent wins national award

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Local resident Mark Manno has been nationally recognized for his Newark Outlook columns in the Newark Post.

Manno, a 4-H Cooperative Extension Agent for New Castle County, recently won first place for his monthly columns in competition against other 4-H agents nationwide.

Manno and three other 4-H agents have been writing the Newark Outlook column for the newspaper since February 1993.

He said the joint project between the Newark Post and the Cooperative Extension began when Manno approached former Newark Post Editor Scott Lawrence.

"We (4-H agents) were sitting in a staff meeting in 1992 and talking about things we could do to promote 4-H in the mass media," Manno said. "I approached the editor about contributing articles to the Post and he suggested something semi-regular."

Manno along with agents Jo Mercer, Carl Davis and Maria Pippidis now write a weekly column in the paper.

"We wanted to tie the local county extension office to the local Newark area," Manno said, although his office covers the entire New Castle County.

Manno said the column topics include seasonal information including safe heating alternatives, leaf raking and food preparation safety during Thanksgiving and Christmas. He said other topics focus on insects, gardening, consumer credit and bird feeding.

The Outlook column, Manno said, has had positive results for the 4-H agents. "People are doing things and volunteering as a result of reading the column," he said. "People read these articles."

Manno said when he offered a hand out about making the most of parent-teacher conferences he gave out about 600 copies from people calling the office after reading in the paper how to get a copy of the information.

"The practicality and usefulness of the column's information is important," he said. "We want people to pick up a column and get two, three or four pieces of information they can read and use."

Manno won the award at a conference the beginning of November in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Buick to sponsor Chesapeake Golf Show in Baltimore

Former Masters champ will be special guest

Baltimore Area Buick Dealers will sponsor the 3rd annual Chesapeake Golf & Travel Show produced by the Chesapeake Golf Association. The three-day extravaganza, which will be held December 2-4 at the Baltimore Convention Center, will now be called the Buick Chesapeake Golf & Travel Show. More than 10,000 golfers are expected to attend.

This year's show will feature more than 120 exhibitor booths, including the latest in golf equipment, apparel, teaching aids and novelties. Golfers will also be able to book their next golf vacation through any of the dozens of popular resorts which will be represented. A number of local courses will also be on hand.

Highlights of the Buick Chesapeake Golf & Travel Show include:

- Special appearances by former Masters Champion, Bob Goalby.
- Buick long distance putting contest. An attendee could win a brand new Buick!
- Long drive, chipping and closest-to-the-pin contests.
- Ongoing lessons by teaching pro.
- Hitting nets.
- Computer swing analysis.

Free V.I.P. Passes may be obtained by visiting the showroom of a Baltimore Area Buick dealer.

Co-sponsors of the show include: American Golf, Amelia Island Resort (Fla.), Mammoth Golf, Baltimore Magazine, US Air and WJZ-TV 13.

Show hours are Friday, December 2, 10 a.m.-8 p.m.; Saturday, December 3, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; and Sunday, December 4, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Admission is $6. Children under 12 get in for $3. CGA members are admitted free. Call (410)893-8003 for more information.

County police honored at ceremony

More than 100 New Castle County police officers were honored for bravery, courage and duty at the New Castle County police's annual commendation awards Nov. 4.

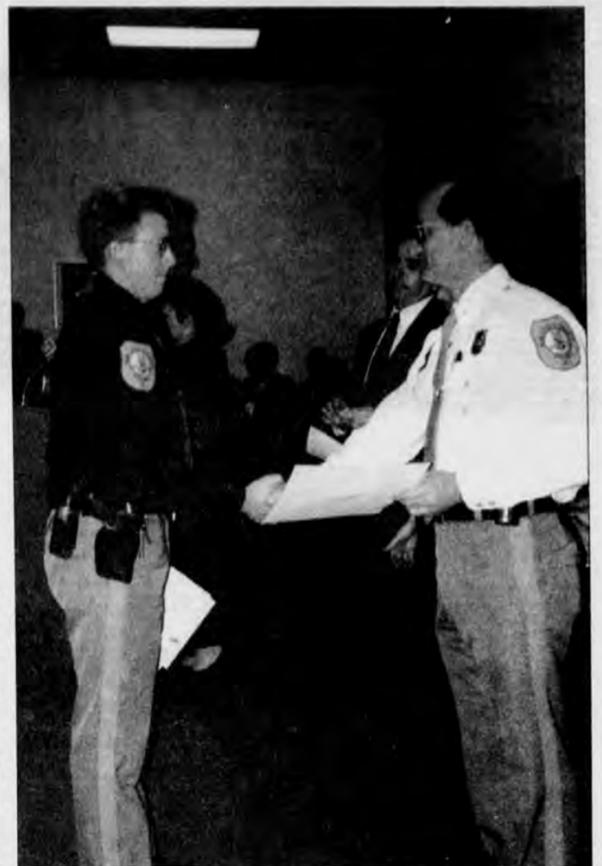

Also four citizens of New Castle county, a Delaware state police officer, seven civilian employees of the county police and a police horse were cited for service.

Some of the more outstanding awards went to officers for talking a person out of committing suicide, saving a 10-year-old boy from an apartment fire, raising money to buy Christmas presents for a needy family and finding an 18-month-old baby who had been kidnapped by a family member.

Officer Patrick Crowell and his horse Dancer were cited the commendation of bravery when the driver of a car almost hit the horse as the officer tried to stop the car. The officer saw the license number and was later able to arrest the driver for numerous traffic violations.

Officer Kathleen Rego was awarded a commendation of merit and Officer Joseph Fitzgerald received a letter of commendation for obtaining a search warrant of a Newark home after a 16-year-old babysitter showed the officers pornographic photos, including people performing sexual acts with animals. The investigation led to the arrest of two residents of the Newark home for prostitution and six men for patronizing a prostitute.

In the Newark and Bear area, officers were commended for investigating numerous shed burglaries in the U.S. 40 area and making arrests in the case, finding a missing person who was unconscious in a car possibly from carbon monoxide poisoning, making burglary arrests, arrests for stolen cars, arrests of cocaine dealers, arresting people for convenience store robberies and arrests for safe burglaries.

Newark spikers fall in state title tilt

Ursuline sweeps Yellowjackets to capture crown

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

Sometimes a taste of honey is better than none at all.

After finishing in third place the last three years, Newark High advanced its farthest since winning the state championship in 1990 only to lose to Ursuline Saturday in the state volleyball championships at Bob Carpenter Center.

The defending champion and top-seeded Raiders (20-1) swept the 'Jackets 15-5, 15-6 to win their third title in four years.

"I said to the team in the locker room, 'You know the state tournament is fun and all that; it's two weeks of chaos that somehow takes the spotlight away from the season,'" said Newark Coach B.J. Apichella. "It took us all season long to get here and we have to remember what we did to get here and not just the note on which we end."

"That's the shame about it," Apichella said. "Sixteen teams enter the tournament and 15 end their season on a losing note. It's only a happy ending for one. But when the hoopla of the tournament dies down we'll realize it was the excellence of the season that really matters. I think we have a core of kids coming back next year who want to play. We'll work hard and we'll be back. It's fun just to be here."

Glasgow, Lewis fall in season finale

By BRETT LOVELACE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The 1994 Glasgow football season resembled a roller coaster ride. The up and down year ended last Saturday as host Brandywine rode the Dragons 28-12.

The game marked the finish of a 3-7 season for Glasgow but more importantly it was the close of a brilliant high school football career for senior quarterback Tyjuan Lewis. Lewis capped his career with a 131 yards passing, improving his career total yardage to over 5,200 yards.

"I can't describe how it feels to know I will never wear the Glasgow uniform again," Lewis said. "The losing was hard to take this year but I will never forget the good times I had on this team."

Lewis is now looking forward to the collegiate level where he has received offers from Division I schools Syracuse, Rutgers and West Virginia.

"You will never see another athlete like Tyjuan," said Glasgow Coach Dave Scott. "Years from now we'll be talking about when he used to play here and what he accomplished."

Christiana rips Newark in Flight A title showdown

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

CHRISTIANA — It's getting to be a family thing at Christiana High.

Six different players scored as the Vikings chalked up an impressive 49-13 win over backyard rival Newark Saturday in a clash of Flight A powers at Coder Field.

"I want to dedicate my touchdown to my great-grandmother Theda Nutter who went into the hospital (last Monday)," said

Vaughn Brooks. "This win was all I wanted; this is what it boils down to. It's a great victory. We won it. We just wanted to capitalize on our outside running game and defensively keep Butch (Patrick) contained and keep (Jeff) Stengari under pressure."

Brooks, a 5-foot-10, 285-pound senior who's listed as a tight end and starts on defense, scored on a 22-yard pass play from Jon Boney with 10:22 gone in the third period to give the Vikings a 35-0 lead. He also caught a two-point conversion on Christiana's fourth TD.

The victory was the Vikings (8-1, 6-0) eighth in a row in a scalding streak where Christiana has steamrolled its opponents 325-52. Saturday's win propelled the team into its third state championship playoff tournament in the past four years.

"This was a very big game, no doubt about it," said Viking Coach Bill Muehleisen. "I'm going to smoke me a nice cigar tonight. We were fortunate. The ball is an oblate spheroid and bounces funny ways.

It bounced our way today.

"But isn't this what high school football's all about? I mean really. A beautiful day, the stands were packed and you have two quality teams playing. This is what we tell the kids. 'This is a big game but isn't this why you're here.'"

Christiana held Newark to 176 net offensive yards, recovered three fumbles and snagged three interceptions, one with 2:25

Playoffs out for Hens; team preps for finale

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Instead of aiming for an NCAA playoff berth this week in its final regular season game against Rhode Island, the University of Delaware football team is aiming to honor its seniors.

The Blue Hen senior class, with a win this week, can set a record for most wins (37) by a class since the early 1970s.

"This week is Senior Week," said Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond. "They've done a terrific job. They've been great at selling Delaware football and maintaining the tradition of Delaware football."

After tying Hofstra 41-41 last week, the Hens enter the game with a 6-3-1 record while the Rams, after falling 28-26 to Delaware State last week, come to town with a 2-8 record.

Delaware, which has won five straight games in the series, holds a 10-5 overall edge in games between the two schools.

"I really think they're in full gear now," Rhode Island Coach Floyd Keith said of Delaware. "Offensively, they have a lot of weapons. Their quarterback and skilled people are very good. Their rushing game is always tough but they're also able to beat people with the passing game."

In games against common opponents, Rhode Island lost 38-17 to William & Mary; beat Maine 28-21; beat Northeastern 27-20; lost to UMass 22-12 and lost to Hofstra 42-

16. The Rams, after starting the season 2-1, have lost seven straight games.

Despite not having a shot at the NCAA I-AA playoffs and playing against a 2-8 team, Raymond expects the Hens to be ready to play Saturday.

"Those things are true but at the same time we want to dedicate the week to the seniors," the coach said. "I really think they'd want to go out and win to set that

Newark nips Glasgow in O.T. thriller

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WILMINGTON — Beating a good team twice in a row is a tough thing to do. The Newark High soccer team found out just how tough in Saturday night's dramatic victory over Christina District rival Glasgow High in the quarterfinals of the Delaware High School Soccer Tournament at Baynard Stadium.

The Yellowjackets (14-1-3), which handled the Dragons 3-0 to clinch the Flight A championship just nine days earlier, nipped Glasgow 2-1 in match decided by penalty kicks. Two second half goals (one for each team) left the two teams tied after regulation. Four scoreless 10-minute overtime periods later, the score remained 1-1 and the game went to penalty kicks.

The drama was played out the full way as the game was not decided until Newark goalkeeper Joe Smith knocked away Glasgow's fifth kick to earn a 4-3 victory.

Ben Thompson, Dave Benin, Colin Carew and Jason Concavage all successfully converted their penalty kicks for Newark while Brook Buckingham, Eric Buckingham and Nivan Vidanovic all converted for Glasgow.

"It's a great way to win and a horrible way to lose," said Newark Coach Hugh Mitchell, who has also been on the losing end of state tournament games decided by penalty kicks.

The win advanced Newark to a semifinal match against McKean Wednesday night. The winner will advance to Saturday's championship game, which is scheduled for 2 p.m. at Newark's Hoffman Stadium.

The Dragons (12-5-1) actually outplayed the Jackets, outshooting them 17-10 and collecting six corner kicks to Newark's five.

"They did — they outplayed us," Mitchell said. "I certainly want to give [Glasgow Coach] Bob Bussiere and his kids a lot of credit."

"They had the revenge factor to use as motivation and they played really well. But we pulled together and feel good to get the win."

Bussiere, who won coached New Rochelle High to a New York high school soccer championship several years ago, agreed that his team had the better of the play.

"We really felt like we outplayed them," he said. "We hit posts and crossbars all night."

"After losing to them such a short time ago we felt we had nothing to lose. There was no pressure on us. I really think that attitude helped us."

Newark and Glasgow battled through 120 minutes of play deadlocked at 1-1. The Yellowjackets eventually won the match on penalty kicks.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

CARSON BRADLEY - JOE SMITH
NEWARK HIGH

GOALKEEPERS often have a big role in the outcome of soccer games. It's not that often, however, that two keepers on the same team have equally big roles.

Newark seniors Carson Bradley and Joe Smith, though, both made big contributions in the Yellowjackets quarterfinal penalty kick victory over Glasgow last Saturday night.

Bradley started the contest and played the 80 minutes of regulation and 35 of the 40 overtime minutes. Smith, who was inserted in the last five minutes of the last overtime period, was the keeper during the shootout (he had to be on the field at the end of the match to be able to participate in the shootout).

The first-team All-Conference goalkeeper, Bradley - diving left and right - made several outstanding saves in the second half and overtimes to keep the game tied.

"I thought I might," Bradley said when asked if he was surprised to be replaced after such a great game. "We worked on penalty kicks all week and Joe did better than I did."

Was it a tough decision for Newark Coach Hugh Mitchell?

"Carson had a great game," Mitchell said. "There's so much more that goes into playing a good field game than in penalty kicks. We worked on penalty kicks all week and I just think that Joe is technically a little better on PKs."

Smith, after getting his hand on one penalty kick only to see it deflect into the net anyway, guessed right on the final kick to give Newark the win.

"[The kicker] lined up straight behind the ball," Smith said. "I knew, unless he was going to do something tricky like scrape it off his outside foot, that he was going to my right side. I just had to guess the right height and, luckily, I did."

St. Mark's ousted from soccer tournament

For the first time in five years, the St. Mark's soccer team will not be playing the championship game of the Delaware High School Soccer Tournament.

The 15th-seeded Spartans, after knocking off second-seeded Dover in the opening round, fell 1-0 to 10th-seeded Caesar Rodney in the quarterfinals last Saturday night at Milford.

CR's Steve Corbett scored the game's lone goal 33 minutes into the first half.

The win advanced the Riders to a semifinal matchup with Tower Hill. It's the third time in five years that Caesar Rodney has made the semifinals.

St. Mark's finished its season with an 8-5-5 record while CR improved to 12-5-1.

That, combined with the first round win over Sallies elevated us to another level. Everything was really clicking for us."

Despite the loss, Bussiere was happy with his team's fine season. "I think we really made the next step in Glasgow soccer," he said. "This will hurt for awhile but there will be more pride now in Glasgow soccer. We beat Sallies and we were right there with Newark in the state quarterfinals. It's been a great year."

first quarter when freshman half-back John Adams (101 yards rushing) put the Dragons ahead 6-0 with a three-yard run.

Brandywine (4-6) quickly responded on its next possession with a 70-yard touchdown run from senior Matt Wichlinski (198 yards). Fullback Calvin "Big House" Wilson logged the conversion run to put the Bulldogs ahead 8-6.

The Bulldogs would go on to the victory, scoring three more times to Glasgow's once.

"You live a roller-coaster ride when you have a young team like we had this year," Scott said. "It is hard saying good bye to our seniors when they all worked very hard for me and they're all class kids."

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

The regular season has just a few games remaining and the state tournament picture is a lot clearer now.

Christiana, with a victory over Delcastle this week, clinches the Flight A championship and qualifies for the tournament. William Penn will be an at-large team. Caesar Rodney (9-0), with a victory over Dover Friday night, qualifies as the Henlopen North champion. A Rider victory also vaults 8-2 Newark into the tournament. A Dover victory, however, would qualify Dover as Henlopen North champs and CR as an at-large team, knocking Newark out.

The Yellowjackets took it on the chin from Christiana last week and are chomping at the bit for another chance to beat a good team and show everyone that their 8-0 start was not the result of an easy schedule.

We recorded a 5-0 record last week to improve the season mark to 37-12-1, good for a .750 winning percentage.

There are just three games this week but, since it's so important to Newark, we'll throw in a bonus pick in the Dover-CR game.

ST. MARK'S (7-1-1) VS. WILLIAM PENN (8-1) - Friday night at Baynard Stadium, 7:30. The Spartans ripped Archmere last week and this is their last shot to show everyone they belong in the state tournament, even though the outcome will have no bearing on whether they will or not. Because of a lower point total - because of the loss to Salesianum, the tie against Division II St. Elizabeth and two other Division II teams on the schedule - even a win over the Colonials will not enable the Spartans to outpoint William Penn. This could be St. Mark's state championship game. Or it could be just another game at the end of a season in which they can't make the state tournament. A good attitude could make this a great game. The Colonials want to stay on top of their game for the playoffs and shouldn't be caught flat. It should be a great game. The Pick - William Penn 20, St. Mark's 14.

CHRISTIANA (8-1) VS. DELCASTLE (0-9) - Saturday afternoon at Christiana's Coder Field, 1. The Vikings have just winless Delcastle in their way of an undefeated Flight A season, a conference championship and a trip to the Division I Delaware High School Football Tournament. Christiana, after crushing cross-town rival Newark last week, is just too good to trip up in a game like this. Besides, the Vikes want to keep their momentum going into the state tournament. The Pick - Christiana 42, Delcastle 6.

CARAVEL (0-9) VS. DICKINSON (6-3) - Saturday morning at Dickinson, 10:30. The Bucs could have a lot better choices than Dickinson to try and pick up their first win against in the last game of the season. The Rams just missed qualifying for the Division II state tournament and appear to be the better team. The Pick - Dickinson 14, Caravel 6.

CAESAR RODNEY (9-0) VS. DOVER (6-3) - Friday night at Dover, 7:30. This is probably the biggest rivalry in the state and this year there is a whole lot at stake to make it even spicier. The Riders are looking for an undefeated season, the Henlopen North crown and the top-seed in the state tournament. A loss, however, would earn Dover a tie with CR in the conference and the automatic berth - based on the head-to-head victory - to the state tournament. A Dover win would also knock Newark out of the tournament. That, however, shouldn't happen. The Pick - CR 27, Dover 21.

St. Mark's gridders rip Archmere

WILMINGTON - The St. Mark's High football team is determined to have a great season whether it qualifies for the state tournament or not.

The Spartans dominated Archmere from start to finish in last Friday night's 40-7 romp at Baynard Stadium. The win improved St. Mark's record to 7-1-1 entering Friday night's contest against William Penn.

St. Mark's opened the game strongly, scoring on its first three possessions. The Spartans drove 88, 52 and 40 yards to earn the three scores with the rushing attack amassing 162 yards during the drives.

"We came out early and put some touchdowns on the board, and that's what we needed to do," said St. Mark's Coach Vinnie Scott. "It was an impressive performance for our kids."

Junior Andy Burt led the Spartans' attack, rushing for 160 yards and three touchdowns on just 10 carries. Burt also started the onslaught in the first quarter with a 31-yard scoring run to give St. Mark's a 7-0 lead.

J.P. Budd's three-yard touchdown run improved the Spartans' lead to 14-0 with 2:43 to play in the first quarter.

Quarterback Todd Scarborough's three-yard scoring pass to Jimmy Jones pushed the lead to 21-0 early in the second quarter.

St. Mark's picked up in the second half where it left off, scoring three more touchdowns to seal the victory.

The one blemish of the game for the Spartans was senior leader Tim Hamberger being ejected in the second quarter. According to DSSAA rules, Hamberger will have to sit out this week's final game against William Penn.

Kappa hoop tourney at Newark

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

After a short hiatus, the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity 1994 Basketball Tournament has returned to Newark High.

The double-elimination tournament was held at Wilmington the past two years, but expansion of the tournament's field from four to eight teams has necessitated a larger capacity gymnasium. Plus, this year four local teams are competing.

In the opening round starting Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 6:30 p.m. Sanford plays Glasgow and Howard plays Newark. On Wednesday, St. Mark's takes on Mount Pleasant and Wilmington squares off against Christiana.

"I don't think you can find a better group of coaches," said Christiana Coach Ron Hollis, back in the competition for the first time since 1991, when the Vikings finished third. "It's probably the best test for the kids (to open the season)."

"We play everybody in the tournament with the exception of Wilmington in the regular season. So this tournament allows us to play an additional game against some teams we would play only once," Hollis said. "And I'm familiar with Kappa Alpha Psi's contribution to the community and helping high school kids get scholarship money and a chance."

The fraternity maintains chapters at several area colleges including University of Delaware, Delaware State University and Cheney. The tournament, which nets approximately $2,100, partly funds scholarships and helps support achiever and mentor school and community programs.

Applicants for Kappa Alpha Psi college funding must maintain between a 2.0 and 3.0 grade-point-average and past recipients have have matriculated in schools such as Brown University, Duke, Howard and Hampton.

"I'm excited about the Kappa Alpha Psi tournament this year," said Newark Coach Jim Doody. "There's a lot of talent in the state. We should have a good draw and it's an exciting start of the season for basketball in Delaware."

"We hope to be competitive," Doody said. "We will be able to rebound but we lost some starters from last year. We'll fill in around them with individuals that have been part of our program but not starters. Our inexperience could catch up to our experience."

"We think we'll be a decent team; our running game should be better," said St. Mark's Coach Lee Sibley. "We have some holes we didn't have last year. Rebounding might be our Achilles heel, but we're going to be a good team."

left in the first that Curt Henry returned 16 yards for a TD. Henry finished the game a pair of interceptions and caught five passes for 102 yards and a four-yard TD late in the first half.

"I didn't think (the score) was going to be this bad," said all-state safety Marvin Adams. "Everybody was feeling good, everybody. It seems like we have quickness and talent in every position. If everybody keeps doing good, good things are going to happen to this team. I think this is the team, I really do."

"We noticed last week (against William Penn) that Stengari was having a hard time holding on to the ball. He's the star for Newark; everything revolves around him. Whenever he or anybody turned it over, we tried to capitalize on it."

Rashad Bailey, who had 13 carries for 66 yards, scored Christiana's second TD from the Newark 30 early in the second period. Seth Davis added a 27-yard TD reception with 2:28 left before half and Henry scored his second TD with 20 seconds left to make the score 28-0. Christiana racked up 369 yards in total offense and Boney completed nine of 21 for 186 yards.

Anthony Tolbert put the game astronomically out of reach when he bounced off tacklers and scored from Newark's 17 midway through the fourth. Sunno Davis scored the Vikings' final TD late in the last period with 2:07 remaining."

Newark got on the board late in the final period. Backup quarterback Ryan German ran in a TD from the Viking 4 and Patrick finally broke a 28-yard run with 46 seconds left for the 'Jackets' scores. Patrick finished with 101 yards on 10 carries.

"You look when the other teams are scoring against us and its usually with a couple of minutes left in the game," Muehleisen said.

Bockius will help lead UD v-ball team into NAC tourney

Volleyball is a team sport. To be successful in volleyball the team concept must really come into play.

Carolyn Bockius, a Newark native and a junior on the University of Delaware women's volleyball team, understands this concept and knows that a complete team effort is essential for the Blue Hens as they prepare for this week-end's North Atlantic Conference championships at the Carpenter Center.

The Hens (29-11) begin tournament play Saturday at 5:30 p.m. against the winner of the Hartford-Northeastern match, which begins at 3.

Hofstra, which received the tournament's other bye, will play the winner of the Drexel-Vermont contest.

There will be two loser's bracket matches at 8 on Saturday with play beginning again Sunday morning at 10. The championship match is scheduled for 3:30 Sunday afternoon.

Bockius, who played on conference and state championship teams at Newark High, plays an integral part for the Hens, who are 8-0 in matches at the Carpenter Center and riding a 13-match winning streak.

Bockius

"Being the number one seed (in the tournament), as well as being undefeated at the Bob Carpenter Center, puts added pressure on us," said Bockius, who has a .8 blocks per game average. "One expects us to win. But, it also gives us a 'never say die' attitude."

Adding even more pressure to the Hens is the fact that they can break the school record of 14 straight wins, set in 1992.

Bockius, however, realizes that the team's real goal is winning the tournament.

Coach Barb Viera, who ranks seventh on the all-time career win list for Division I coaches, is quick to praise Bockius for the role she has come to accept.

"She's a leader on and off the court," said Viera, who is in her 22nd year as the Hens' coach. "Her strong hitting and blocking set the tempo for our front line play, while keeping the team's spirit up as a leader."

Bockius is also a leader in the classroom. She has maintained a 3.635 grade-point-average in chemical engineering and was named to the 1993 NAC Academic Honor Roll.

championship against Alexis I. du Pont. The Yellowjackets ended the season 19-4 and defeated Caesar Rodney, Archmere and St. Mark's, a team that had defeated the Yellowjackets twice during the regular season, for a shot at Ursuline.

The Yellowjackets led 1-0, 3-1, and 5-4 in the opener that featured four ties and three lead changes until Ursuline took a 6-5 lead and ran off 10 straight points for the first-game victory.

"It was a matter of who was going to show up and start playing," said Ursuline Coach Susan Heiss. "And initially in the first game when both teams were tentative and not hitting I didn't know what was going to happen because I know Newark could turn it on just like that. And they did in the second game when we were ahead 13-2. They were getting back in sync. We knew we had to stop that because they are capable of bouncing right back."

With Jessica Phipps serving, the Yellowjackets took a 2-0 lead in the second game, but Ursuline went on a 14-point run to take a commanding and insurmountable 14-2 lead. Newark came back with two Ursula Cornich kills and Megan Hoosty's two service points, but Megan Gardiner got the final point for Ursuline.

Phipps ended the game with two aces and one kill. Lori Wagner added two perfect passes and one kill, Michelle Hoosty had two perfect passes and three kills, and Heidi Scott had nine perfect passes.

"Ursuline is a tough team, but especially No. 42 (Gardiner)," Apichella said. "She's amazing. She does it all. We expected that and a player like that is going to get her share but I'm disappointed because I know we could play better than we did. I give credit to the whole team but Megan's outstanding."

The third-year all-state selection Gardiner recorded nine kills, 14 digs and four blocks. Joanna Pennell had eight service points, 16 assists and six digs, Erin Keegan added nine digs, four aces and three kills, and Jennifer Glover had four kills, seven digs and four blocks.

record for a class."

Delaware, on paper, appears to have the upper hand. The Hens lead the Yankee Conference in scoring (33.4 points per game) while the Rams are last in scoring defense, giving up 30 points per game.

C.Y.O CHAMPS

Newark tops St. Mark's in v-ball semis

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW — The third time was definitely a charm for Newark High.

The Yellowjackets avenged a pair of regular-season losses last Thursday and swept St. Mark's 15-11, 15-8 in a semifinal match in the Delaware High School Volleyball Tournament at Glasgow High.

"I think we really just wanted to go and crush them because they made us so mad by beating us before," said Heather Lloyd, who finished with four digs and three kills. "Winning the first game was very important. It carried us through the second game."

The opener featured five ties and three lead changes and remained deadlocked 8-8 until Newark ran off six straight points with Michelle Hoosty and Heidi Scott serving to take a 14-8 lead. With Danielle Castagnola serving, the Spartans came back to 14-11 but Heather Lloyd's ace finished the game.

"There was no way we were going to lose to (St. Mark's) three times in a row," said Newark Coach B.J. Apichella. "The first two games (earlier this season) we let them back into the game. We had a hard time putting them away."

"This time we got on them early in both games and had a nice runs. That kept the momentum going our way. We knew we had to keep them down and that's what happened."

Newark jumped to a 6-0 lead in the clincher and then extended that lead to 14-4. Liza Stapleford brought St. Mark's back to 14-8 from the service line. Lori Wagner served and the Spartans hit out of bounds for the final point.

"We just wanted to come out and beat them," said Wagner, a senior who finished with five kills. "St. Mark's gave us a good game and we just worked hard and gave it our best to get to the state championship."

Catholic Conference co-champion St. Mark's set a school record for most wins in season and ended the 1994 campaign 18-3. The Spartans beat Christiana and Wilmington Christian on the way to the semifinal matchup against Newark.

"We had a wonderful year," said Spartan Coach Dave Stover. "Our main goal was to get to the Bob (Carpenter Center). I told the team before the tournament that you can't base the whole season on the outcome (Thursday) and they'll be able to look back years from now and look at all the wonderful things they did."

"Going into the game I figured we were pretty equal talentwise," Stover said. "We just picked a bad night not to attack the ball."

Kate Hubbard had 11 perfect passes for the Spartans, Castagnola had 21 assists, Allison Sternberg recorded seven kills and Kristen Darby had six.

For the 'Jackets, Jessica Phipps had 16 assists, Ursula Cornich had four digs and four kills, Hoosty registered 10 digs and three kills and Scott added seven digs and six perfect passes.

Caldor opening breaks records

Tony Kiska, manager of Delaware's newest Caldor in Pencader Plaza (formerly Castle Mall) said the three days the store was opened before its official Grand Opening set records with the company. "It was the largest soft opening in the company," said Kiska. The store took in $136,000 during its first days, which is 150 percent more than projected revenue. "We think it will be a big winner for our company that draws from three states," Kiska said. As for the remainder of Pencader Plaza, Tony Fusco, of Fusco Enterprises—owners of the plaza, said all satellite stores are rented and leases should be signed by Dec. 1. Fusco is currently looking for a grocery store chain to anchor the end of the mall that is opposite Caldor. He said there have been leads, but no store is signed for sure.

Hope for city picnic at Gore Louviers site?

W.L. Gore and Associates announced Monday it purchased 138 acres of undeveloped land from DuPont at the Louviers site in Newark. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed. The transaction is expected to close by the end of 1994. The property, which has a picnic shelter, softball diamond and other recreational facilities, is bordered by Paper Mill Road, the White Clay Creek Preserve and Mrs. Genevieve Gore's land. Gore has no immediate plans to develop the land, which is next to its existing plants. During Newark City Council's Monday evening meeting, Mayor Ronald Gardner said he suspects Gore's primary interest in the property is to protect the property and keep it as natural as possible. "They are certainly a good neighbor," Gardner added. City manager, Carl Luft joked, "There is hope for the city picnic up there at the Gore property—hopefully they'll lease that out." Previously DuPont announced plans to sell two buildings and the Golf Course at Louviers to MBNA. DuPont retains more than 200 acres at the site including the Corporate Data Center.

Super Fresh school recycling program

Super Fresh, a grocery store chain, is paying schools to collect to Super Fresh plastic grocery bags as part of its new School Recycling Program Trash Bags. Restaurants for ho ho hors d'oeuvres

New Castle County Parks and Recreation is looking for restaurants and senior centers to work together to identify seniors who are alone during the holidays and ensure they will have at least one festive meal with friends. Restaurants should provide a free meal on a prearranged date and time. Senior Centers will arrange transportation. The program, in which 15 local restaurants participated, helped more than 300 seniors in 1993. For more information, call Cheryl Amey at 323-6436.

Drugs at Christiana HS give students business high

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

HAPPY HARRY's recently held the grand opening of a mini-drug store at Christiana High School.

Christiana High teacher, William Prodders, said the mini store is one of the best ways industry can join forces with schools—because employers and employees teach students what their daily jobs are.

The store does not sell products. Instead it helps teach Diversified Occupation students retailing, merchandising, inventory and customer service.

In the classroom, shelves are stocked with aspirin, cough medicine, contact lens solution, cotton balls and more. A cash register/computer is also set up for hands-on instruction.

Students are motivated to take this class seriously because part of their next test is being designed by Happy Harry's personnel.

Happy Harry's President Alan Levin addressed classes this week to kick off the nine-week program in which employees will teach a Retail Series a couple days a week.

Levin shared to family history of the Happy Harry's with students.

The store was opened by his father, Harry Levin 32 years ago in North Wilmington.

"He started with one store and not enough stock to fill the shelves," said Levin. "Today Happy Harry's has every flavor, every shape and size of products."

Happy Harry's 26 stores in Delaware, Levin said, fill 53 percent of prescription drugs in the First State. The company also has one store in New Jersey and two in Pennsylvania. Levin said next year's plans are to expand by four additional stores, including their first in Maryland.

The company employs about 900 people including those who work at their distribution plant in Newark. He said employee loyalty is gained by promoting only from within the company.

Levin touched on various business topics including customer service. "All customer complaints come directly to me," he said. "They even get me out of meetings to take customer calls."

He said Happy Harry's is currently in transition to using UPC codes on all products, not price tags, so when items are scanned at the register a computer in the machine will compile information on customer buying patterns. When the new system is in place Levin said, "If a product doesn't sell, then it doesn't get a place on the shelf." "It's important we teach the basic knowledge of retailing to kids," said Levin. "Also we plant seeds for them possibly coming to work for us."

Levin said employees of Happy Harry's can teach the kids the realities of retailing because "this is what we do."

"This information is not in our books," said Prodders. "The books can't seem to keep up with technology." The company donated $850 for the new books on retailing.

Levin also told the story of how the chain got its name. He said it happened one night when his dad was closing up a store to meet with a radio ad salesman. "The man said, 'Here comes that happy Harry' when he saw my dad," said Levin.

Soon after his dad picked up on the phrase and changed the stores' name from Discount Center to Happy Harry's.

Gershman's celebrates 25 years in Newark

By NANCY TURNER
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

There are Newarkers who will say that Gershman's Things to Wear, Inc. on Main Street is "one of Newark's best kept secrets," but when you hear about shoppers traveling from Philadelphia and Baltimore just to dig through the store's piles of designer sweaters, you know that at some point in Gershman's 25-year history, someone talked.

Since its opening on Sept. 17, 1969, Norm Gershman's 168 E. Main Street store (originally located at 50 E. Main St.) has expanded from specializing in women's clothing to offering something for every member of the family.

With a no-frills reputation for selling top brands at bargain basement prices, Gershman's has earned its place in both the hearts and closets of Newark.

The roots of Gershman's go back to Norm's father, Ben, a regionally acclaimed merchandiser whose name was practically synonymous with the ladies sports wear department of Wilmington Dry Goods Company.

Ben, who died in 1991, was famous for novel promotion strategies like his legendary $7 ladies' suit sales.

"I've had retailing in my blood since I was 9 years old and I used to work for my dad in the Dry Goods," said Norm Gershman. "I worked the register for 'Dollar Day' sales until I was 15. That was back in the days when the sales got really wild."

Norm was born and raised in Wilmington and graduated from Pierre S. DuPont High School. He and Marilyn, his wife of 25 years, and their two sons, David and Brett, have all worked in the family business. (David is currently managing the first of the family's chain of three Gershman's stores, which opened on May 28, 1966 in Rehoboth, Del.) Brett attends Western Maryland College.

"We appreciate the support that we've had from the community for the last twenty-five years," said

Gershman. "Good business is a two-way street and we consider ourselves very fortunate to have loyal customers."

Tuesday is always "Senior Citizens' Discount Day" and there are frequent sales at Gershman's.

Last St. Patrick's day, when it was time for the store to lower its inventory, rather than selling extra stock for "pennies on the dollar," Gershman launched a $10/bag sale.

Yes, no matter how you stuffed it, no matter how many items you put in it, a full shopping bag of merchandise was only $10. "Crazy Norm" became a retail hero.

Asking Gershman about the secret to his success can have surprising results.

"You think I want everybody else opening clothing stores down the street?" responded Gershman with a tone that hinted that he works too hard to notice his rewards. It's not surprising that he never has a "set" day off.

Gershman's merchandising formula doesn't seem too complicated. Maybe it has something to do with the number of times he walks from the front of the store to the rear, heralding discount percentages, and matching customers with the "best-deals in the store."

Perhaps it's the way Gershman tells his customers, "you don't have to park at the meter—just pull around to the back of the store!" that keeps them coming back.

Maybe it has something to do with Marilyn, a self-proclaimed "born shopper" who enjoys being on the selling end of a good deal as much as she likes finding a good bargain for herself. In a tattered spiral notebook, she has clothing profiles of some of the best dressed women in Newark.

"I keep a book of what our regular customers are looking for," said Marilyn turning the pages like a proud teenager with a well-filled autograph book.

The Gershmans are looking forward to the next 25 years in Newark. Norm says that he has some ideas about growing or maybe branching out again, but he assured, "the plans are nothing that would change the way they we business."

Ben, (left) and his son Norm Gershman on opening day Sept. 17, 1969 of Gershman's. The store is now a downtown institution.
