First Spade of Dirt Being Removed by George N. Davis, President of the University of Delaware Alumni Association

Library Foundation Is Excavated Amidst Novel Circumstances

Students and Faculty Labor Side by Side to Initiate Work on New Structure on Delaware Campus

Dr. Hullihen Sets Example

In attire, more suggestive of a small-town impromptu masked ball rather than of a gang of serious-minded earth-removers, the entire student body and faculty of Delaware College picked, shovelled, and wheel-barrowed mud, last Tuesday, in a heroic and successful attempt to dig the foundations for the new Memorial Library.

After two very brief and condensed orations by President "Doc" Hullihen and Everett C. Johnson, Chairman of the Committee in Charge of the Library Campaign, Mr. Davis, President of the Alumni Association, scooped up the initial shovelful of muck and the mud-slinging began.

The Seniors and Freshmen worked in the morning shifts, and the Juniors and Sophomores composed the groups which excavated in the afternoon. Girls from the Women's College—God bless them—kept up the morale of the delvers in mire by applying large doses of hot coffee and doughnuts.

The contractor admitted afterward that the scene was the most unique one in his many and varied experiences with labor gangs. Blue overalls hobnobbed with white flannels and other trousers of more dignified colors. Black and yellow stockings stood unabashed beside more sober hosiery. Straw hats, felt hats, caps a la Belgi, stood out among a veritable sea of black, red, and brown locks and, in some cases, shining bald pates, upon which chapeaux were not. White shirts, green shirts, yellow shirts, black shirts, red shirts, and blue shirts gave to the wielders of picks and shovels a chameleon-like appearance. But their ideas of personal decoration did not hinder the efficiency of the mud-horses. Mud flew. Some of the more radically appressed realized this fact only too well.

"Bill" McKelvie Elected Football Captain For 1924

At a meeting of the 1923 letter men in football held last night in the West Wing of Old College immediately after dinner, William McKelvie, '25, was selected to lead the Blue and Gold warriors on the gridiron of 1924. "Bill" is well capable of taking care of this job, having been a whiz bang of a tackle ever since he entered Delaware. He has made his letter every year that he has been here. "Bill" is a husky chap, measuring slightly more than six feet and weighing close to 190 lbs. He has been a popular member of the squad as was evidenced by his uncontested election.

Pygmalion Played To Crowded House In Wolf Hall

Frederic B. Smith and Peggy Wegley
Take Star Roles In Popular Comedy
Presentation Thursday Night

Under Direction of Van Keuren

The presentation of "Pygmalion" last night by the Dramatic Club of the Women's College was one of the most ambitious and successful productions that has ever been attempted by any of the University of Delaware's theatrical organizations.

The selection of the cast for Shaw's comedy of manners was a decidedly happy one. Margaret Wegley was a very attractive, a very clever, and a very real Eliza Doolittle. Miss Wegley proved herself to be an excellent actress by playing a difficult role in an extremely convincing manner.

Gamma Delta Rho Entertains With Informal Dance

Members of Gamma Delta Rho fraternity held a most delightful informal dance in the Commons of Old College last Saturday night between the hours of eight and twelve.

The decorations, while not elaborate, were very effective and tastefully arranged. Black cats, ordinarily looked upon as harbingers of bad luck, were the most conspicuous features of the decorations. Earle E. Weggenman, Lewis H. Kramer, Horace Nunn, Norman H. Collison, Paul Garvine, William Lohman, Floyd Hubert, and Manager John Schaefer.

WESTMINSTER CLUB RENDERS DELIGHTFUL VOCAL CONCERT

Mr. John Thoms, Director

The Westminster Choral Club of Wilmington was at Wolf Hall Monday, December 10th, and gave a recital under the auspices of the Old College Singers.

The sixty young women and men, who compose the Choral Club, presented an excellent two-hour entertainment. The program was well-chosen, well-conducted, and exceptionally well-rendered. The flawless co-operation among the singers and between them and Mr. Thoms, the director, was one of the remarkable features of the concert.

The singing of the Club was both melodious and harmonious. Their tones were full, round, and clear as those of a pipe organ. (Continued on Page 2.)

Edith R. Abbott Lectures On Art

Last Saturday night, the Social Committee of the Women's College provided an interesting program in the form of an illustrated art lecture, given by Miss Edith R. Abbott. Miss Abbott is a member of the Metropolitan Art Museum; she is an entertaining and interesting talker, and greatly pleased her audience.

The lecture dealt mainly with the different types of paintings originated during the ages, and how each artist made these types famous. As the pictures were flashed on the screen, Miss Abbott discussed the different manner in which the artists used the lights and colors. Among the periods discussed were the Bonticelli, the early Italian, the Venetian, the Titian; also a few of the moderns were shown, but most of Miss Abbott's talk dealt with the old masters.

Every one who heard Miss Abbott enjoyed her thoroughly.

FIFTEEN MEN AWARDED LETTERS IN FOOTBALL

Dr. Hullihen Entertains

At a meeting of the Athletic Council of the University last Tuesday night, fifteen men were awarded letters for football during the past season. The letters were awarded for having participated in half the number of quarters played during the season or for having played at least two quarters in the two games, those with Haverford and Dickinson, designated as letter games.

The men to receive letters were: J. Harmer Donaldson, John D. Williams, Merwyn A. Akin, Isaac H. Elliott, Everett Magaw, William McKelvie, Rich- (Continued on Page 2.)

STUDENT RELIEF HOLDS DINNER IN PHILADELPHIA

Russian Relief Discussed

Students from the colleges of the Middle Atlantic States met at a dinner given in the Clover Room of the Bellevue-Stratford on Saturday night, December 8th. The needs of European students were discussed.

Dr. Taylor, who has been for many years connected with the American Embassy in Russia, gave a vivid account of the conditions in the universities of Russia. Students are crowded together in sheds that serve as dormitories. The American Student Relief Fund is making it possible for one hot meal a day to be served to the students. For the most of them, this is their only meal a day. Fuel is very hard to find, and students go into the mines to obtain with a pick their own fuel.

In Central Europe, the conditions are fully as bad as in Russia. Mr. Koffman, Secretary of the Student Relief of Europe, described the work of the Relief Stations at the university centers of Europe.

Forum Discusses President's Message

On Tuesday afternoon, at the usual hour, the Forum was held in the Hilarium. Marion Neide, the hostess served tea and cakes to the members. The subject for discussion was the organization of the Sixty-eighth Congress, which convened last week. Marjorie Burns discussed the details of the organization of the Congress. The President's message to Congress was read. There was then a discussion of what the President opposed and what he advocated. The leaders were Helen Black, Kathryn Moffitt, and Merrel Pyle.

When is a university not a university. When the students of its various colleges have absolutely separate and distinct rights, privileges, and duties.

On Tuesday the faculty and students of Delaware College dug the cellar for the new Library. This digging was a generous and loyal act of which the students of Women's College highly approved. Since the boys were excused from classes to dig, the girls also asked to be excused from classes in order to serve coffee to the workers. The girls were not greatly surprised when this request was not granted them. They served the coffee during their vacant periods. Nor were they greatly insulted when they were gently but firmly invited to stay away from the Library site while the boys were at work there. One slight which they received on that day did, however, make them extremely unhappy. They were not invited to attend the ceremony of the digging of the first spadeful of earth for the new building. Nor were they even informed that such a ceremony was to take place. The girls are just as much interested in the Library as are the boys and they worked just as hard to secure the funds for its erection. Surely, then, it would be only fair to allow them to witness the ceremonies attendant upon its construction. Let us hope that the students of Women's College will not again be so slighted, as we should like to be a university in fact as well as in name.

ORPHEUS CLUB
TO GIVE CONCERT
JANUARY 10

Under Auspices of Review

The justly famous Orpheus Club of Wilmington will give a concert in Wolf Hall on Thursday evening, January 10th.

These fifty singers will be conducted by Dr. H. Alexander Matthews, and Noah H. Swayne, 2nd, will be the assisting soloist.

Recently the Orpheus Club presented the first concert of their seventh season in the Playhouse, where they won the enthusiastic applause of the large audience which filled Wilmington's largest theatre.

The program this season contains seventeen scheduled numbers, including four negro spirituals rendered as only Noah Swayne can render the negro folk song. Another selection which was unusually successful in Wilmington was "The Toreador Song" by Bizet. This song has a very pleasing melody, despite its difficult passages, and with Mr. Swayne taking the lead and supported by the entire chorus of male voices it makes a particularly impressive number.

Remember—January 10th.

Class Numeral Awarded

The following men were awarded class numeral for participation in two or more quarters of the Sophomore-Freshman Football game at a meeting of the Athletic Council on Tuesday night: Sophomores—Hanson, Owens, Maxwell, Carrol, Davis, Catchcart, Baxter, Records, Pikus, Marshall, Ladd, and Prettyman. Freshmen—Coale,

To avoid conflicts, all organizations that wish to use Wolf Hall or Old College must have their written applications, signed by the Chairman of the Social Committee, approved by the Business Administrator at least one week in advance of the dates on which they wish to use these buildings.

who has established a custom, and a popular one at that, of entertaining each year the members of the football team, the Athletic Council, and the coaches. In addition to these men, Dean Dutton graced the occasion with his genial personality. Dr. Hullihen acted as toastmaster of the occasion and called upon Coach McAvoy, "Pat" Keyes, and Dr. Sypherd for short speeches to the men concerning the past season's work. Then followed an informal discussion on football, chief among the topics, being the discussion of the effectiveness of the new rules instituted during the past season. Favors in the form of miniature football players were given out to each man. The affair was unanimously pronounced a most enjoyable one by all who attended.

Pedrick, Krewatch, Coffin, Manns, Edwards, Beatty, R. McKelvie, Wilson, Wheeler, Elliott, Beck, Bringham, Donohue, and Mendenhall.

WESTMINSTER CLUB

Particularly, did their rendition of "Dusk of Night" remind the listener of a great organ being played by a masterly and sympathetic musician. The chorus of mixed voices sang this difficult composition of Arkhangel-sky's as only a perfectly trained choir of splendid singers could sing it.

Mr. Frank La Forge, world famous composer-pianist, who was recently in Wilmington, heartily congratulated Mr. Thoms upon the Westminster Choral Club's work, in particular referring to the above-mentioned number.

The finished manner in which the Choral Club sang, the mellowness and crystal purity of their tones, and their superb soloists should make them an organization of which any city should be proud to call its own. This concert was the Choral Club's initial one in Newark, but judging from the hearty and prolonged applause that followed each of their selections, it will not be their last appearance in this town.

The program was as follows:

Part One

1. "Come On, Let's Go" (Bell Chorus) from "I Pagliacci" (Leoncavallo)
2. "Jack Horner" (Bartlett)
- Soloists: Florence Lewes, Jean McCaughan, Harper Spry, Chas. Southwell, Raymond Mitchell
3. "Will o' the Wisp" (Winne)
4. "Dusk of Night," Russian Chorus (Arkhangel'sky)

Part Two

1. "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," Old Negro Folk Song (Diton)
2. "Mah Lindy Lou" (Strickland)
3. "Homing"
4. "Nightingale"
- Solos by Florence Lewis
5. "Gypsy Love Song" (Victor Herbert)
- Soloist: Ruth E. Storms
6. "Flanders Requiem" (LaForge)
7. "Where the West Begins" (LaForge)

Soloists: Florence Lewes,

Jean McCaughan, Harper Spry
"Vagabonds" (Fannings)

LIBRARY FOUNDATION
STARTED BY STUDENTS

"Doc Sy" and George Breuninger applied themselves zealously to labor, which, in theory at least, might be pointed out as being identical to that which goes on in the lecture room.

"Doc" Hullihen and "Speed" Robinson were rival contestants in a wheel-barrow race, in which our august president emerged the winner by the extremely narrow margin of the thickness of his spectacles.

"Tiny" Givan proved himself to have had previous acquaintance with a pick, and was the principal subject in several photographs. The crowd that gathered to watch Givan handle his pick was so large that it almost surrounded him.

The members of the Student Council acted as foremen and traffic cops for the wheel-barrow brigade. They also tried to provide a serene and congenial working atmosphere for the mud-bathers, but little things would ooze up.

"Muggins" Johnson computed, upon his faithful slide rule, that exactly 17,473,956.333 cubic inches of dirt and 44,978.72 gallons of water were removed in Tuesday's work-out. Although these figures cannot be vouched for, nevertheless they are as imposing as any figures we have ever had the good fortune to be an eye-witness to, and Marriott is "an honorable man"—at least he says he is.

At four o'clock the last of the laborers reluctantly pulled their feet out of the mud and slowly wandered over to a nearby house where about fifteen W. C. D. girls were waiting with the final consignment of hot coffee and doughnuts.

It is rumored that a good bootblack could make a fortune in Newark by just cleaning the mud off of the sabots of the haulers of mud.

GAMMA DELTA RHO

On Wednesday night the above men were royally entertained at the home of our president, Dr. Walter H. Hullihen, the decorations. These animals, cut in profile in black pasteboard, adorned the center of each panel, and were set off in strong contrast on pink crepe paper lanterns which covered the ceiling lights. A large electrically lighted Gamma Delta Rho badge occupied the center of the balcony balustrade. The lights in the lobby, hallway, and lounge room were covered with pink crepe paper, which cast a rosy glow over the entire affair.

About seventy-five couples, including the active members, alumni, and invited guests attended the dance, the music for which was furnished by George Madden's Orchestra.

The patronesses of the occasion were: Miss Ada Willim, Mrs. L. W. Tarr, Mrs. W. F. Manns.

Father (at top of stairs)—"What are you two doing down there?"

Daughter—"We're going to play 'Sweet Kisses' on the Victrola."

Father—"Would you just as soon play it on the davenport? I'm afraid two would be pretty heavy for the Victrola."—Voo Doo.

The Student Relief has a tremendous work on its hands. It is keeping up the intellectual life of Europe in a substantial way. The money for this work is given by students all over the world.

Mr. Hoffman said that the meals served by the Relief stations cost but five cents. For ten dollars a student can be served with one hot meal a day throughout the collegiate year.

A Record Still Unbroken

At 5:20 P. M., March 8th, 1920, Westinghouse Turbine Established World's Record for Continuous Running.

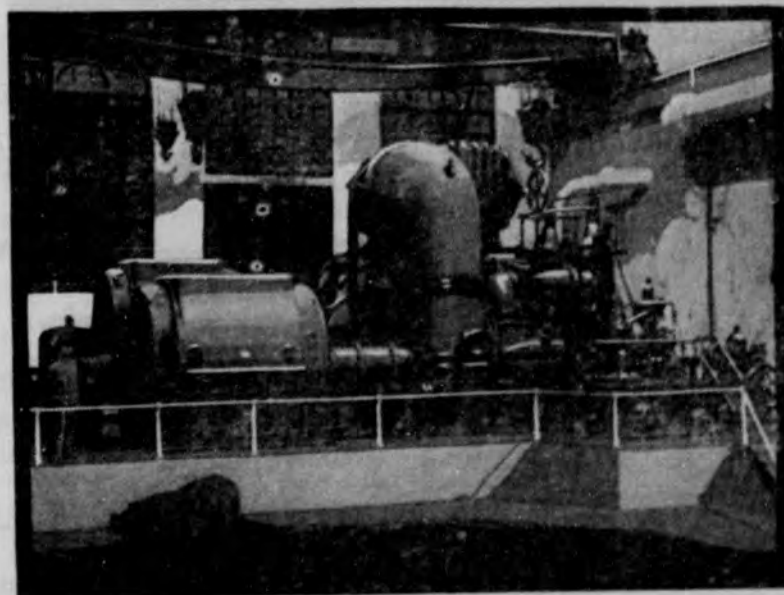

WHEN Westinghouse installed a 45,000 K. W. Turbine in the power house of the Narragansett Electric Light Company, Providence, R. I., early in December, 1919, there was no thought of more than the average weekly power house run. Abnormal weather conditions, however, brought so steady a demand for power, that the unit was not shut down until March 8th, 1920, after a continuous run of 84 days, 11 hours, and 36 minutes.

This was especially remarkable in that the unit consists of two turbine generator sets, each of which operates independently of the other, so that the result was the mechanical equivalent of operating a single machine continuously for 169 days.

If space permitted, many astounding figures could be cited—about the K. W. H. generated during this period, the water and coal used, the cooling system, the oiling system, etc.

For example, to keep the generators cool, over 18,000,000,000 cubic feet of air passed through them, which equals 2,000 times the total weight of the generators and their bed plates.

45,000 K. W. Westinghouse Cross-Compound Turbine Unit at the Station of the Narragansett Electric Light Company, Providence, R. I.

Equally impressive, oil was pumped through the self-contained lubricating system to the bearings at the rate of 600 gallons a minute. Had the oiling system failed for only 30 seconds, the bearings would have been wrecked, and other parts of the unit harmed!

There is interesting history back of the operation of Westinghouse Turbine Units of 3,000 K. W. and higher. Notable records have been made in many of the world's great power plants, performance that is a tribute to remarkable engineering and good workmanship.

PYGMALION PLAYED TO CROWDED HOUSE

little touches which are essential character. His delineation of the unique Higgins showed that Smith had put a great deal of study upon his part. The scenes between Higgins and Eliza were superb bits of comedy, besides being rather interesting studies in psychology.

Marion Neide, as the mother of Higgins, and Merwyn Akin, as Colonel Pickering, deserve a great deal of praise for the commendable way in which they handled themselves upon the stage.

Alfred Doolittle, as conceived by Clifford Smith, as a vivid personality with an entertaining philosophy. Even after wealth, in the form of a legacy had forced Doolittle "down" into the ranks of the middle classes, where he found the yolk of respectability and of social custom constraining and remoulding his spirit of freedom into commonplace virtue,—even then he retained an atmosphere of refreshing humor.

Limited space prevents the other members of the cast from receiving the commendation they rightly have earned. For those who saw the play it is needless to mention the realistic manner in which each of the performers presented the character he or she was representing.

The play itself was exceedingly clever, which is characteristic of Shaw's dramatic offerings. "Pygmalion" was also intensely amusing, a real mental tonic and a thought-stimulator, which, perhaps, is not such a distinctive mark of the author's literary work as the former feature is.

Such a play presented by such a well-balanced and capable group of young women and men would be received delightedly by any audience, and the large number of persons who were in Wolf Hall yesterday evening were no exception.

Why Young Men Should Consider Insurance Selling

Seven Reasons for Life Insurance Career

LIFE INSURANCE is founded on the highest ideals.

It is capable of yielding a good income and the satisfaction of accomplishment.

It offers opportunities for real leadership.

It brings insurance salesmen in close association with big business and big business men.

It requires education in business methods, law and finance.

It is a field for workers, not shirkers.

It is an alluring and practical calling for men of dynamic energy.
