Thursday -

Hearts.

Now if that isn't a new one, what is?

Mr Cardoza was here to inquire about your tipping business. I told him I'd hear from him in a day or so.

I send you the mail. I sent the Ohio Lady a sketch. The Florida poems are exquisite, especially Life's Tragedy.

What do you think of the Ladies Home Journal?
I sent them one of the old pictures, one of yours,
and urged them to return it as soon as possible. Aren't you glad with me? I am. I almost bristled with embarrassment telling Mollie Ferrell.

Am rather tired and nervous this evening. Went to the session of the American Social Science Assn. this morning, but I must restrain the feeling of that to another time when I can take my seat with pen in hand and plenty of time and energy of which I have been men. Oh, its rich, rich.

Prepare for a stunning letter to-morrow I'm going to take a day off to tell you about it.

Mom & I both will do as can be.

Lots of love and a heartfull of Kisses.

Your own
Wifeline.

I've been lying down all evening resting from too much Science.
