Committees Named For Memorial Day Observance Here

C. A. Short is Chairman of
The General Committee—
Program Announced Soon

MAY ERECT TABLET

Early attention to the annual observance of Memorial Day in Newark was given impetus late last week when Mayor Eben B. Frazer appointed committees to take charge of the various phases of the ceremonies.

Although too early to ascertain any definite plans, it is believed very probable that efforts will be made to have a suitable tablet erected on the boulder of the upper campus of the College, where New Castle County's drafted men were sworn into the United States Army. Many people have commented on the proposal and the opinion of the town appears to be favorable to such a move.

The first meeting of the Committee was held in the Faculty Club rooms of the University on Monday evening. The committee is as follows:

Major C. A. Short, chairman, Mayor E. B. Frazer, Dr. Walter Hüllihen, Mrs. Charles B. Evans, Mr. Norris N. Wright, Dr. W. O. Sypherd, Major L. B. Row, Capt. Roy Sparks, Mr. Everett C. Johnson, Mr. Fred W. Stierle, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, Mr. A. L. Beals, Mr. D. A. McClintock, Mr. Frank E. Mote, Mr. A. A. Christian, Mr. R. G. Buckingham, Mr. J. C. Hastings, Mr. A. G. Wilkinson, Secretary.

The following sub-committees have been appointed:

Committee on Speaker—Mayor Frazer, Chairman; Dr. W. O. Sypherd, Mr. N. Norris Wright, Mr. A. G. Wilkinson.

Committee on Memorial Tablet—Mr. E. C. Johnson, chairman; Mr. Fred W. Stierle, Mr. A. L. Beals, Mr. D. A. McClintock, Mr. Norris N. Wright, Mrs. Charles B. Evans, Mr. A. G. Wilkinson.

Committee on Program—Dr. W. O. Sypherd, Mr. E. C. Johnson.

Committee on Platform and Seating—Major L. B. Row, Capt. Roy Sparks.

The next meeting of the General Committee will be held Wednesday, May 7th, at 7:30 p. m., in the Faculty Club Rooms of the University.

ANOTHER BAND CONCERT SUNDAY

Continental Musicians Will Give Free Performance
Wilmingtonians to Assist

Announcement was made this week of the second of a series of free musical treats to be given next Sunday afternoon in the Opera House by the Continental Band of this place. The last concert by this organization drew a crowded theatre and many compliments came their way.

Manager Perry and Conductor Edwards are preparing an even better program for the coming concert. The band will be assisted by Miss Frances Sheridan, soprano soloist, of Wilmington and Miss Pearl Sklar, violinist, also of Wilmington. Both these artists have been heard by many Newark people. Miss Sheridan was recently featured on the radio broadcasting program of a large Philadelphia department store.

In addition, one of Wilmington's best male quartets will be present and under several selections.

Officials of the band are preparing for a record attendance providing the weather is favorable for the affair.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO

James Pappas, Local Confectioner,
Rendered Unconscious Friday

Blinded by the heavy downpour of rain while crossing Main Street near his place of business Friday last, James Pappas, proprietor of the Newark Candy Kitchen on East Main Street, failed to see the approach of a large Packard touring car, and before he could leap out of the way, was struck down. The force of the blow rendered Mr. Pappas unconscious. He was carried to the office of Dr. G. B. Pearson, and treated for a scalp wound and shock.

He regained consciousness in a few minutes and went back to his business as if nothing had happened.

The accident was declared unavoidable, and the driver of the car was exonerated by local police.

One man was badly hurt and another slightly injured about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning when the big Peerless automobile in which they were riding, turned over and was wrecked at the Lincoln Highway bridge at Roseville about a mile from Newark. The car was occupied by 5 persons. They were returning from a dance near Middletown.

James Smith, colored, aged 25, of Belvidere, Del., the driver of the car, was badly injured about the head and face and is in the Delaware Hospital, according to reports.

Samuel Elliott, aged 28, also colored, of Belvidere, sustained lacerations of the face and other minor injuries. His condition is not serious.

Both men are alleged to have been driving recklessly when their car overturned. They were picked up by a passing car and taken to the hospital.

State highway police are investigating. Elliott told the police Smith was driving the car.

Elkton Church Muddle Stirs Presbytery; Action Deferred Yesterday By 25-21 Vote

Rev. John MacMurray Rises in Defense of His Position Against "Delinquent Members" of Elkton Presbyterian Church

MINISTERS ENGAGE IN LIVELY DEBATE ON FLOOR

The perennial resurrection of the Elkton Presbyterian Church muddle occurred again yesterday at the regular session of the New Castle Presbytery, held at the First Presbyterian Church in New Castle yesterday.

Following a long, heated debate between friends and enemies of the Rev. John McElmoyle, pastor of the church in question, a motion, made by Rev. Charles Bohner, of Wilmington, was passed by a vote of 25-21 to "lay the Elkton matter and all its phases" on the table.

In this action, those close to the situation aver that the situation remains unchanged and that no satisfaction has been forthcoming in the fight which has raged throughout Presbytery meetings for the past

Youngster Badly Hurt In Fall Under Wagon

Little "Jimmy" Hutchison Narrowly Escapes Fatal Injuries Saturday Last

LEG CAUGHT IN WHEEL SPOKES

What might have been a fatal accident was narrowly averted by the quick work of witnesses last Saturday afternoon, when James, Jr., six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hutchison, of West Main Street, had his leg caught in the wheel spokes of a heavy farm wagon near his home here.

"Jimmy," as he is known by his many friends, is lying flat on his back now, with a double fracture of the left leg. The bone was broken just about the knee and the pelvis bone was also broken. Late reports indicate that he is much more comfortable and that he will recover.

That the youngster escaped death was due to the promptness and presence of mind of Dr. F. M. K. Foster, a witness of the accident and the driver of the wagon, Mr. Elliott.

It appears that "Jimmy" was playing with his express wagon in front of his home Saturday, and as the wagon loaded with cinders passed him going west on Main Street, he caught hold of the tail board with one hand, intending to ride behind on his wagon.

In some manner, his leg became caught in the spokes of a hind wheel, and he was whirled from the ground and his leg crushed between the wheel and the wagon. Dr. Foster, who saw the boy caught, shouted to the driver to stop the team. Mr. Elliott brought his horses up short, and both ran to the stricken youngster's aid. By this time "Jimmy" had fallen from the top part of the wheel to the ground and lay under the wagon. He made no outcry during the harrowing experience. Dr. Foster, Rev. R. B. Mathews, a neighbor, and Mr. Elliott carried the boy to his home, and a physician was sent for at once. Mr. Elliott naturally did not see the boy near the wagon and was exonerated from any blame whatsoever. He, as well as the other witnesses were shocked by the accident.

Mrs. Hutchison stated last evening that the physician attending the case is "very optimistic" over the condition of young "Jimmy" and seems to feel that he will have no permanent limp as a result of it.

The youngster is very popular with his little friends, and had started to school for his first year last fall.

REPUBLICAN "REGULARS" SWEEP CONVENTION; RURAL NEW CASTLE LOST IN DELEGATE SHUFFLE

Platform Adopted By Republicans Of Delaware In Convention Yesterday

The following is the platform which was unanimously adopted by the Republican State Convention, assembled in the Opera House in Dover yesterday. The text was read before the delegates by Charles Grantham, permanent secretary of the convention.

"We, the elected delegates of the Republican party of Delaware, in convention assembled at Dover, April 22, 1924, renew our declaration of faith in the Constitution of the United States; We resolve to guard its provisions from hostile attack and yet hold it responsive to the permanent growth and changes in our national life. In furtherance of this declaration we pledge our steadfast allegiance to the fundamental principles of the Republican party.

National Administration

"Under Republican leadership the National Government has protected American industry and labor, lived within its income and vastly reduced expenditures. Four years ago, five million workers were out of employment, capital was disheartened and industry was depressed. The burden of an enormous debt and the apprehension of sharing European bankruptcy oppressed every one. It is a matter for renewed confidence that the government, controlled by the Republican party, met these conditions with sound economy and fiscal policies.

President Coolidge

"In Calvin Coolidge we recognize a chief magistrate well qualified by temperament and ability to guide the nation through the period of reconstruction and readjustment. He was born and bred on a Vermont farm and reared to habits of industry and frugality. His point of view is shared by the mass of his countrymen. He has the confidence of the American people because he is one of them. We express the overwhelming sentiment of the Republicans of Delaware in calling for his nomination to the high office he now holds.

DuPont and Townsend Seated as Delegates by Acclamation Yesterday

SHARP CONTESTS STIR WILMINGTON FORCES

Beals of Newark Misses Rural New Castle Caucus Meeting

The complete return to power in Delaware Republican politics by the organization forces formed the basic feature of the State Convention, held in the Opera House in Dover yesterday afternoon. Following the smashing defeat of the Allee forces in the primaries Saturday, the way was paved for the duPont supporters at innumerable conferences Monday evening. The convention itself was marked by the ease with which the situation was handled by the "regular" wing, known as Old Organization.

High spots of the climax of one of the bitterest primary fights in the history of the State came on the Convention floor, and are as follows:

1. Gen. T. Coleman duPont was named delegate to the Republican National Convention by acclamation.

2. Thomas W. Miller, considered a dangerous factor in organization ranks, was defeated for a delegate seat by Wilmington caucus early in the day by a margin of two votes. (21-19.)

3. Mrs. J. H. Ashbrook, after being eliminated in caucus proceedings by Dr. J. G. Elbert, colored, of Wilmington, regained her seat by the vote of the convention later in the day.

4. The Allee forces throughout the State admitted freely an overwhelming defeat.

5. Rural New Castle County lost out in the apportionment of delegates as passed by the Convention, getting only one of the State's quota of nine seats.

6. Gen. duPont was given an ovation upon his appearance upon the platform during the course of the convention. In response to continued applause, he made a short speech.

The entire proceedings of the convention felt the effect of the high-powered but poorly oiled "steam roller" used by the Sussex and Kent County delegations.

This was brought out forcefully by the defeat by an 87-70 vote of the amendment offered by Register of Wills Brown of Wilmington to the Apportionment Resolution framed by the organization, in which Mr. Brown declared for a re-apportionment of delegates, giving each of the four representative districts two seats each and allowing one to be elected at large. Kent County, with the exception of a few scattered votes, and Sussex County en masse defeated this amendment aided by a few unsuspected votes from Rural New Castle herself.

As a result, New Castle County, and not Wilmington, felt the brunt of the shock. They received but one delegate. Surprising as it may seem this was made possible by their own vote.

At the New Castle caucus in the morning, Col. Henry A. duPont and Senator L. H. Ball were endorsed for seats as delegates. On the convention floor, however, Darlington Flinn, chairman of the County Committee, announced that "he was authorized to state" that both Messrs. duPont and Ball would withdraw from the fight providing the seat was given to Mrs. William K. duPont. Such action was immediately taken by the Convention. A precedent has therefore been attempted in which the delegates are apportioned as follows: Sussex, 2; Kent, 2; rural New Castle, 1; Wilmington 1; and three at-large.

Beales Misses Caucus

An unfortunate occurrence marred the chances of J. Pilling Wright of Newark being elected to the State Committee at its meeting yesterday morning in Dover.

Keen Rivalry Seen Among Local Dairymen

Delmarvia Cow Testing Association Members Are Showing Great Records This Spring

The leading herd in the Delmarvia Cow Testing Association for 1924 may be from Delaware, although the Feucht herd will be hard to beat. The Holstein herd of J. Wirt Willis, Porter, Delaware, is making the best showing of any for the month of April, although only one cow exceeds 40 pounds of fat. This herd consisting of 15 cows with only one dry and many milking for over ten months, is averaging 789 pounds of milk and 25.7 pounds of fat per cow with a feed cost of $1.12 per hundred pounds of milk and 34.2 cents per pound of butterfat. Cowview Beauty, the only grade in the herd is the leader with 1266 pounds of 3.6 per cent milk making 45.6 pounds of fat for the month. The low cost of production can be attributed in a great measure to the rye pasture that they have this month. It would certainly pay big dividends if every farmer would make preparations in the fall to provide this good feed.

The Holly Hall herd of Rev. R. M. Fontaine, Elkton, stands highest at this time in average butterfat production with 28.5 pounds of fat. H. B. Crowgey, Elkton Farm, is producing butterfat at least cost which is 28.7 cents per pound. Mr. Crowgey has turned out and is utilizing his pasture. This is not a good practice but Mr. Crowgey has no hay or silage left and through necessity had to take this step to keep his cows going.

Last week we gave the total production of Mr. Feucht's good cow in the first 121 days of this year. The next best cow to this time is the grade Holstein mentioned above, Cowview Beauty, who has a total production of 492 pounds of milk and 204.7 pounds of fat with a feed cost of $51.10 and a profit over feed cost of $102.86. She was fresh in November, 1923, and is just a little over four years old. Her feed has consisted of corn silage, alfalfa and soy bean hay, rye pasture fall and spring and a commercial mixed feed.

The average test of the herds in general has fallen off several points and may be traced in some instances to warmer weather and laxative effect of the grass that the cows are able to pick. When turning on grass there is danger in the cows eating so much as to start them scouring, in which case they will rapidly lose both in flesh and milk. It is best to give all the rough feed that the cows will consume in the morning and they will not gorge themselves on the grass. This will permit a gradual readjustment of the digestive system so that no ill effects will be experienced.

It may be a wise plan to make preparations for ample hay and green feed for the coming summer. Oats, sweet or field corn, sorghum, sudan grass, and soy beans can be used to advantage and for next winter plant cow beans. Green feed in summer and ample dry roughage or succulent feed in the winter is just as important as grain feed for cattle and will do much to cut the cost of production, but we must make preparations this spring and there is no time like the present to begin.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS OF THE PAST WEEK

Elkton Churches Are Crowded On Easter

Special Music and Sermons Mark Biggest Sunday in Years

Easter Sunday was an event in Elkton churches this year.

While this religious day is always observed with full congregations in most of the churches, this Easter appeared to have surpassed those of former years, according to reports emanating from the Maryland Town.

The Presbyterian, Methodist and Trinity Episcopal churches were crowded at the morning service. Rev. McElmoyle preached a special sermon at the former church. At the M. E. Church the choir was a feature of the day. Several anthems were sung both morning and evening. Rev. W. H. Harris was in charge of the services.

At the Trinity P. E. Church chairs were pressed into service to take care of the crowd which attended the morning prayer and sermon. A delightful feature of the service was the offering made by the little tots of the Sunday School, in the form of their mite boxes. Rev. Virgin, the rector, in turn, presented each little one with a pot of pansies and some Easter eggs. Mrs. H. Frank Hurn sang a solo during the offertory, and Easter music was given by the choir.

One of the most interesting features of the services in Trinity Church on Easter morning was the presentation to the church of a pair of handsome brass candlesticks, of seven branches each, to be used on the altar. They were the gifts of Misses Ida, Helen and Alice Jamar Smith, of Baltimore, formerly of Elkton, and their sister, Mrs. Thomas Maxwell Field, of Elkton, in memory of their mother, Mrs. Mary Ward Smith, and Elizabeth Ward Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Field, of Elkton. The rector held a short service of consecration at the opening of the morning service. The entire altar decoration of Easter lilies was a memorial to Mrs. Sophia Aletha Owens, of Chicago, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reuben D. Jamar, of Elkton.

The Black Hand of Politics

It was a sorry spectacle that the Senate made of itself recently in its floundering attempt to find some solid basis for a reply to the President's devastating comment upon its recent conduct. The Senate showed plainly what most of us knew already, that it is wholly incompetent in any emergency. It can not even defend itself with intelligence. Its members appear to have only the vaguest notion of the prerogatives of a Senator and to have no notion at all of the prerogatives of the co-ordinate branches of the Government or of the rights of private citizens or of individuals who may for the moment be occupying official positions.

The men who talk most on the floor of the Senate appear to believe that a Senator is something a little short of a demi-god and that as a whole the Senate is beyond censure by God or man. There is no reason to believe that a majority of the Senators are deliberately attempting to undermine our form of government. A few are working to that end but they keep quiet in such situations as that recently and let the plain asses do the braying and the high kicking.

There is nothing that can be more destructive than a puny, strutting incompetent who feels the crushing weight of his own importance bearing down upon him. The Senate is overflowing with men of this character—political, economic and social accidents—who have made money by the fortunate circumstances of having been associated with money-makers or have fallen into soft places through some perversion of nature for which there is no accounting.

But the incompetence of these men, their total unfitness for the high places they occupy and their ignorance of our political institutions and of the history of political progress, does not make them any less a menace. On the contrary, these shortcomings, coupled with their unexcelled egotism, make them a greater menace, for in the hands of the real Bolsheviks in Congress they are as putty and can be molded to any purpose.

Mr. Couzens, the great tax authority whose spleen rose when he was exposed as a tyro by the Secretary of the Treasury, is revealed as a tool of the Great Gifford, the great arbitrator of coal strikes, to whom the public is still looking for a plan that will force the coal operators to absorb the increased wages that he so graciously handed the miners. Pinchot wants to make Secretary Mellon's former ownership of stock in the Overholt Distillery a matter of public record, and being a complaisant man, as well as a sore one, the Senator from Michigan saw no reason why he should not use some of the great power he supposed he had toward accommodating a friend and discomfiting an enemy. The President felt that such abuses of rights, as well as of powers, had gone far enough and he called a halt. To an overwhelming degree the published opinion of the press of the country supports him. The support given the President's position in the main is non-partisan—it comes from the East, the West, the North and the South. But as yet only a few realize what it was that Gifford was after and how he was willing to use the untutored and unlearned Couzens in an attempt to invade the private rights of the Secretary of the Treasury in the interest of his private political ambitions.

Pinchot once aspired to the Presidency. His bungling of the coal strike appeared to have eliminated him, but the exposure of his hidden hand in the attempt to use the Senatorial investigatory powers for the purpose of making political capital against the President and the Secretary of the Treasury indicate he still hopes. This exposure of the black hand of politics is a mere incident—although a sickening one. The President's defense of our form of will lead more of us, including Senators, to a study of our history government was necessary and inevitable. Let us hope that it and to an appreciation of the value of our institutions.—New York Commercial.

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM

Law Enforcement

"We endorse the determination of the President to enforce the laws as expressed in the words: 'There will be immediate, adequate, unshrinking prosecution, criminal and civil, to punish the guilty and to protect every national interest. On this effect there will be no politics and no partisanship. It will be speedy, it will be just.'"

Secretary of the Treasury and Tax Reduction

"We recognize the remarkable financial ability with which Secretary Mellon has performed the duties of his office. We heartily commend the Mellon plan for the reduction and revision of taxes, and we urge the speedy adjustment of the differences between the Senate and the House on the pending tax reduction measure.

Agriculture and Industry

"We endorse the President's views that the farmer should receive as much aid from the Government as any other class of our citizens. He should have available credit, co-operative marketing and fair transportation. The Delaware farmer holds a favored position among the agriculturists of the country due to climate, soil and neighboring markets. Better methods of marketing will substantially increase his returns.

"We recognize the right of labor to have a fair wage with safe and healthful conditions of service and that differences arising between capital and labor should be equitably adjusted.

Public Welfare

"We pledge support to a continuation of practical legislation for the public welfare, especially for the education, health and industrial safeguarding of the children.

"We particularly commend the activities of the Health and Welfare Commission of our State.

Conservation

"The conservation of natural resources calls for our ablest statesmanship. The Republican party is committed under the leadership of President Coolidge to a vigorous prosecution of this national policy.

International Relations

"The Disarmament Conference, called by President Harding, limited the naval strength of the great powers and was the greatest practical step towards maintaining the peace of the world ever taken.

"We believe that the United States should become one of the supporters of the Permanent Court of International Justice at the Hague, and should find means of permanent co-operation, in every proper and practical way, with the other nations.

President Harding

"In the three years of his administration, Warren G. Harding won a permanent place in the hearts of his countrymen and on the pages of history. He saw the great issues of his time, both national and international, and inaugurated the wise measures of reconstruction and readjustment that are now being carried out.

Republican Senator and State Officers

"We commend the industry and efforts of our Republican Senator at Washington, and express our appreciation of the services of the officers of the State in the administration of their departments.

State Financing and Consolidation of Departments

"We favor rigid economy in State affairs and congratulate the State upon the adoption and use of a budget system which contributes towards an economical administration of the finances. We demand that the taxes, already authorized by law, be systematically and fully collected. We oppose the multiplication of commissions involving useless expenditures. We commend the creation of the State Department of Health and Welfare. We recommend the further grouping of the work of State Government under a small number of appropriate departments responsible for the State business. By proper consolidation efficiency will be increased and waste eliminated.

Education

"To provide sound and thorough education for the children of Delaware is the chief duty of the State. We pledge our party to such a development of our public schools as our finances will warrant and to that end recommend disinterested and non-partisan study of our financial resources.

Highways

"We enthusiastically commend the State Highway Department for the financial management and engineering skill shown in the development of its program. The completion of the highway from State line to State line is a significant event in the history of Delaware."

REPUBLICAN REGULARS SWEEP CONVENTION

When the Rural New Castle caucus began in the Senate Chamber at the State House, neither Mr. Beales or his alternate, Hughie Morris, responded to roll call. It was announced that Mr. Beales had missed connections at Porters, owing to the failure of the Delaware Road train to stop. He arrived in Dover after 1 o'clock.

In the meantime, Mr. Wright was defeated for membership on the State Committee. With Mr. Beales' vote, Mr. Wright would have been elected. Kent, Sussex and New Castle caucuses were devoid of excitement in the morning. Organization forces held the whip hand through each session, and only the formality of running down the order of business prevailed. Wilmington's caucus, however, proved to be a veritable battleground.

Hundreds of visitors jammed Dover all day Tuesday and Monday night. Delegates, their wives and families, newspapermen, politicians, big and small, and plain onlookers and various other sets, sects, organizations and interests gave increasing quaintness to the old town and an unusually colorful appearance.

Coolidge Eulogized

The Convention was opened about 1 o'clock in the afternoon with prayer

by Rev. Leonard White, of Dover.

Governor Denney who had been introduced by A. R. Benson, chairman of the Republican State Committee, made a short address and urged the convention to send delegates to the Republican National Convention who would support President Coolidge and who will elect General Coleman du Pont as National Committeeman from Delaware.

The other committees met during the noon recess, but it was nearly 2:45 before their reports were all ready for presentation and the afternoon session was opened by Temporary Chairman Denney and Temporary Secretary Grantland, with Miss Elizabeth Bullock, temporary assistant.

The temporary officers were then made permanent officers of the Convention, and reports of committees read and approved, without comment, except that portion of the report of the resolutions committee relative to apportionment of delegates to the National Convention, which was adopted after a motion by Isaac R. Brown to amend was defeated over his protest that the apportionment was unfair in that only one delegate was allotted to Wilmington, which has half the population of the State. The Wilmington delegates voted solidly for the amendment, but ten rural New Castle county, 35 Kent county and all of the 42 Sussex county delegates, a total of 87 of 157 votes cast were against it.

the General Assembly."

Rev. William T. Little in plea in behalf of the delinquent members, asked that they be re-instated, and that Rev. John McMurray, pastor of Head of Christiana Church, Newark, and moderator of the Elkton Church, be ousted.

Dr. McMurray immediately arose in defence of the action of the church session in suspending the delinquents, asserting that the ousted members had not only failed to obey the laws of the church and the request of the session, but were also attending other churches.

Near the close of the session, Rev. Little dropped a bombshell by charging that McMurray had betrayed the confidence of the Presbytery. He requested the session to appoint Rev. Schell as moderator of the church in McMurray's place. The request was not granted and was censured as being out of order.

"This Elkton business is a stench in the nostrils of the whole Presbyterian Church, and, furthermore, the Elkton Church is thriving on this controversy," declared Dr. Böhner in making his motion that the discussion be tabled. "The Presbytery is at its very wits' end in the problem and we should, in my opinion, leave the whole matter up to the Elkton Church to solve."

Dr. Aquilla Webb, pastor of First Central Church, Wilmington, suggested that the Presbytery free itself of the Elkton affair by officially turning ing over the property and books to the Elkton Church and to allow it to run as an independent church and join some other denomination.

"Let them do anything as long as they leave the name Presbyterian out of it," Dr. Webb said. "We want to get rid of them."

The motion by Dr. Böhner to let the matter rest was passed. Dr. Webb's suggestion came too late to be taken up. The Elkton Church minutes were sent back to the session of the church, marked, "without action."

The occasion was the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The band played a splendid musical program to open up the evening's festivities, and the Chalmers home was a scene of much merriment. As Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers appeared before the assembled guests the band struck up "Here Comes the Bride." Mrs. Chalmers was then presented with a large bunch of spring flowers by her friends.

Following a joyous evening, refreshments were served to the guests just before their departure. The recipients of the party were wished many more happy years together by their guests.

RARE TROUT CAUGHT IN MILL RACE HERE

Edward Hawn, of this place, while cleaning out the rake at the outlet of the mill race at the Curtis Paper Mill here the other day, picked out a 2½-pound Red Spot Trout. The big fish had become entangled in the debris at the rake and was easily captured.

Local anglers are at a loss to explain the presence of so rare and game a fish in nearby waters. The upper White Clay has been almost "fished out" and the appearance of this aristocrat of the fish family is causing plenty of comment.

THE TOWN ELECTION

So quiet and orderly was the Town Election here two weeks ago, involving the re-naming of Messrs. We admit the grave mistake, and consider the omission a real offense of this paper. We are informed, however, that about ten votes were cast and no contests were to be seen in any direction.

Treat 'Em Rough

George Neel, a farm hand, near Coatesville, is the original exponent of the treat 'em rough philosophy in this vicinity. He was so desperately in love with Miss Elizabeth Troupe, aged 15, of Rock Run, that one night last week he climbed up the porch post into her bed room at two o'clock in the morning and massaged her charming countenance with the handle of a small shovel.

When he was arrested upon complaint of the girl's father, he confessed that his love had got the better of him and when she refused to marry him, he decided that if he couldn't have her neither could anyone else.—Oxford, Pa., News.

P. T. A. NEWS

McClellandsville P-T. A. held their April meeting on Thursday, April 10th, with 16 members and ten visitors present. The program included a very interesting demonstration of the work being done at the school, under the direction of the teacher, Mrs. Newton. There was a talk on Delaware Schools, given by Mr. Newton, and a reading about the Delaware Colony, by Mrs. Hobson, the Secretary of McClellandsville Association. A social hour was enjoyed at the close of the evening.

North Star P-T. A. near Hockessin, met on Thursday evening, April 17th, for their regular monthly meeting. The delegates who had attended the Annual Convention in Dover on last Saturday, gave reports of the meeting and the banner which was won by the association was presented to the school. All the members were very much pleased with this achievement. The program included living representations of famous paintings, among them: "The Gleaners," "The Angelus," "The Age of Innocence," "The Infant Samuel." There was a demonstration of spelling by the pupils of the fourth and fifth grades, given by the teacher, Miss Pennington. The gasoline lamps bought for the school by the P-T. A. of North Star, were in use for the first time at this meeting. Another meeting, the last one of the term, will be held on May 27th.

Two of the Colored Associations met on Tuesday evening, April 8th—Iron Hill, with an enjoyable program by the school children, and a talk on "Thrift," by Miss Rivers; and Williamsburg, with a talk on "Beginnings in Delaware," by their Vice-President, Mrs. Mary F. Grinnage, and some interesting selections by the pupils. Williamsburg Association has chosen Miss Mildred Money and Mr. Edgar Williams as delegates to attend the Annual Colored Convention to be held in Dover on April 26th.

New Fertilizers Cut Freight Bills in Two

High freight and labor charges have caused the State Agricultural Experiment Stations to develop fertilizers which contain no useless substances. These high-analysis fertilizers, as they are called, reduce freight bills from one-fifth to one-half. When all the other handling, hauling, and spreading operations are considered, the saving to the profit side of the farmer's ledger is not to be scoffed at.

A. W. Blair, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, gives some figures to show what a large saving in freight results from buying the high-analysis fertilizers.

"Sixteen hundred pounds of a 5-10-5 will furnish just as much plant food as 2,000 pounds of a 4-8-4; one-fifth less freight and handling charges.

"Four hundred pounds of a 3-12-3 will furnish as much plant food as 600 pounds of a 2-8-2; one-third off for freight and hauling.

"One thousand pounds of a 6-12-3 will furnish as much plant food as 2,000 pounds of a 3-6-1 1/2; a reduction of one-half in freight and handling charges.

"There is a reason for the high-analysis fertilizer; hence, the high-analysis fertilizer has come to stay."

DELAWARE CITY MAY BE ONE OF 3 SCHOOLS CLOSED UNDER NEW PLAN

Assistant Superintendent Shilling Proposes Consolidation in Three Districts of State

Included in several recommendations made by Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction John Shilling before the State Board of Education at its meeting in Wilmington last week, an important move is contemplated which may close the public schools of Delaware City.

The recommendations of Mr. Shilling concerning the suggested consolidation of school districts, came, it is stated, because of the small chance there appears to be at present, of any definite, far-reaching building program to come before the next session of the Legislature. Because of this fact and in order to advance high school education as he sees it in the three communities, where he suggested consolidation, Mr. Shilling believes this to be the best way. His suggestions call for the abandonment of the high schools at Delaware City, Frederica and Rehoboth.

At all three of the places, it is stated that the school buildings are inadequate and that new structures are needed soon. It might be possible to continue on for a time, but it would not be for long. Either new buildings should be erected or some other arrangement, such as consolidation, considered. Because all three of the towns are located on magnificent highways or roads, it is possible for the children to attend other schools in nearby towns, no matter how stormy the weather might be.

Delaware City Plan

If the Delaware City High School was abandoned, the students who live in the town could attend the New Castle High School. Those living below the city could go to Middletown, which is without a suitable school building, but the citizens of which are strongly considering erecting a new building. Perhaps if the Delaware City authorities should combine with the Middletown residents through a plan of co-operation for sending a certain number of students to Middletown to receive instruction, the result would be a much better building.

For the Frederica students there are three schools open, Felton high school, Caesar Rodney and Milford. Roads are good all around and transportation problems very simple.

Pleasant Hill

The Parent-Teacher meeting held at Union School House, District No. 31, on the evening of April 15 deserves more than a passing notice. Regardless of mud roads, with our Supervisor counted in, about 45 members answered to their names at roll call. After the usual opening exercises, followed by a short entertainment by Mrs. M. J. Collins, the evening was given over to a box social. And, oh my, how boxes sold. It would take three bushel of wheat to buy a box, and then some more. Where a young fellow had gotten a tip from his best girl regarding how her box was trimmed, he must buy it regardless of cost. All had noticed an unusually large gathering, including many not known. About 8 o'clock in marched eight Klansmen, "booted and spurred." They lined up on the platform where their spokesman with a few appropriate remarks presented the school with a beautiful Bible and an American Flag, 6x10 ft. F. H. Buckingham received them in behalf of the Association. Then the bugle sounded on Conner's Hill which was the signal for more to come. Three bombs were exploded and a cross was burned on a neighboring hill. Ice cream and cake in abundance were sold, and $32.00 was cleared.

Newark Loses In Opening Game 11-2

Five Points Team Too Strong for Locals—Three Newark Pitchers Hit Hard

Newark's County League entrants ran into a snag in the guise of Goebner, the mainstay of the Five Points pitching staff, last Saturday afternoon at the latter grounds and their opening efforts were put to no effect whatsoever. In fact, Mr. Goebner was so extremely canny with his arm that the "Aces" could garner but two measly hits in five innings from his delivery. The final score was 11-2, against us.

Hayward, remembered from last year, pitched the last four innings of the game at which time Newark scored their markers. In the meantime, Johnny Naylor's group of sluggers were having a field day at the expense of three Newark pitchers, "Bob" Watkins, Manager Ewing, and "Buck" Ramsay. It was either a case of the local hurlers not being in form, or that the Five Point batters would not be denied. Take your choice.

However, the all-round work of the Newark team in the field was an encouraging factor in an otherwise depressing game. The official scorer failed to find a misplay on our side. Steedle, again in a Newark uniform, showed the way with seven chances, some of them hard. If the ball was within reach, the Newark boys got it, but most of the runs were scored on clean, hard safeties. Bill Bland was the leading hitter for the home forces, his two bingles including a long double.

The game lasted 2 hours and 50 minutes, according to statistics, and was not very interesting. Vannort and Grant were the big guns for the winners, gathering seven hits between them.

By and large the Pointers have the heaviest hitting aggregation, on paper, in the league, and unless some home talent is uprooted in the other towns, they will be a hard club to stop this year. They field well, and hit that ball high, wide and handsome. The figures follow:

Although several Marshallton players were on hand ready to go, the umpire declared the grounds at Yorklyn too wet last Saturday for a ball game. Since the boys forgot to bring their toy yachts and steamboats there was nothing to play with and they all went home again.

Baby Camel Born On Circus Train

The Walter L. Main Circus, which left Havre de Grace, Md., for its opening in West Chester, Pa., had five camels at the start but there were six on arrival, one having been born during the trip. It is said to be the fourth born in a circus in this country and attracted much attention. It weighs about forty pounds, but it is in good condition physically.

NEGRO REFUSED BAIL

Dainey Pendleton, Wanted Here for Crime, Held for Attack on Girl

The authorities of Chester County appear convinced that the Negro who attempted an attack on Miss Elizabeth Connell of Avondale two weeks ago is Dainey Pendleton, of Kennett Square. The man was arrested and was refused bail late last week. He is being held in the Chester County jail until Court.

Pendleton is the same Negro who is accused of breaking and entering the home of Frank Jamison near McClellandville about two months ago, and making off with about $900. He was given bail by the Delaware magistrate and when his case came up at court, his attorney presented a doctor's certificate to the court that the client was unable to appear because of illness. Within a week after this episode, he is alleged to have made the attack on the Avondale girl. Nothing can be done about the Jamison case, it is said, until he has faced the charge against him in Pennsylvania.

Meanwhile, friends of the Jamisons here are at a loss to account for the apparent laxity of the Attorney General's office in prosecuting the case.

"Ye Sutable and Healthy Olde Village of Newark"

Being an Excursion into the Dim Past, when we were but a Cross-roads Village "on the highway from New Castle to New Garden in Chester County"

Extracts from J. Thomas Scharf's "History of Delaware" (1888)

First Charter of Newark Granted by King George in 1758

"GEORGE THE SECOND, BY THE GRACE OF GOD, OF GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE AND IRELAND, KING, DEFENDER OF THE FAITH, AND SO FORTH. TO ALL UNTO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETINGS:

"Whereas, our loving subjects, James McMechan, Reynold Howell, William McCrea, William Eynon, William Armstrong and David Wilkin, of our County of New Castle, within the government of our counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex, have been at great expense in building houses and making improvements in a piece of land ten miles west of New Castle at the intersection of two very public roads, the one leading from New Castle to the Cross-roads in Chester County, and the other leading from Kent and Sussex to New Garden, in order to erect and make a town there, which is called Newark, in the County of New Castle. And, whereas, the said James McMechan, Reynold Howell, William McCrea, William Eynon, William Armstrong and David Wilkin, with divers others, the proprietors of houses and lots of ground in and near the said town, have humbly besought our trusty and well-beloved William Denny, Esq., with our loyal approbation Lieutenant Governor of the counties aforesaid, under the Hon. Thomas Penn and Richard Penn, Esqs., true and absolute proprietors of the province of Pennsylvania and counties aforesaid, for our letters patent under the great seal of the governor of the said counties for granting to the present and future inhabitants of the said town or village, called Newark, the powers and privileges of having fairs yearly, and one weekly market there, for the encouragement of trade and better accommodation and supplying the inhabitants thereof with provisions and other necessities. Therefore, know ye, that we, favoring the petition and good purposes of the said James McMechan, Reynold Howell, William McCrea, William Eynon, William Armstrong and David Wilkin, and being willing to encourage trade and industry amongst all our subjects, and to promote as much as in us lies, their welfare and utility, have of our special grace, certain knowledge and nicer motion, granted, and do by these presents for us, our heirs and successors, grant and ordain that the present and future inhabitants of the town aforesaid, called Newark, shall and may from henceforth forever hereafter hold and keep two fairs yearly at the said town called Newark, that is to say, on the third Thursday and Friday in the months of April and October in every year, for the buying and selling of neat cattle, oxen, cows, horses, sheep and hogs, and all other goods, wares and commodities and also a weekly market, to wit: on every Thursday, together with the free liberties, customs, profits, privileges and emoluments to the aforesaid fairs and markets belonging or in any wise appertaining forever. And we do further grant for us, our heirs and successors, to the present and future inhabitants of the said town and all our liege subjects, that it shall and may be lawful for them to assemble themselves together at the said town called Newark for holding the aforesaid fairs and weekly market on the respective days and times herebefore limited and appointed at such places within the said town and all other things belonging to the office of clerks of the market within the said town. In testimony whereof we have caused these our letters patent and the great seal of our said Governor to be hereunto affixed. Witness, William Denny, Esq., with our royal approbation Lieutenant Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the province of Pennsylvania and counties aforesaid, this thirteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and in thirty-first year of our reign."

This is signed by William Denny, and the great seal of the province of Pennsylvania is carefully affixed by a blue ribbon. Outside it is endorsed:

Newark Is 186 Years Old

The Town of Newark is 186 years old this month.

How the community has grown from the little straggling cluster of houses at "the cross roads," when its first charter was granted by the Crown on April 13th, 1758. And how everything has changed since the old days when the "market house" and the "turn-pike street" were the chief items of interest.

And what a difference in the luxuries. How seven telephone users in Newark were considered a mark for other towns to shoot at. Tradition, old names, old memories—all are conjured up in this gripping sketch of "Ye Olde Newark," taken from Scharf's History of Delaware.

It is peculiarly fitting that on this, the birth month of the town, a bit of old history can be brought to light once more. We have enjoyed digging it out. We hope you will enjoy reading it.

The Town of Newark, situated in the western part of White Clay Creek Hundred, was settled more than two centuries ago by natives of England, Wales and Scotland. The name is probably taken from the "Newark" in the old country, mentioned by Scott.

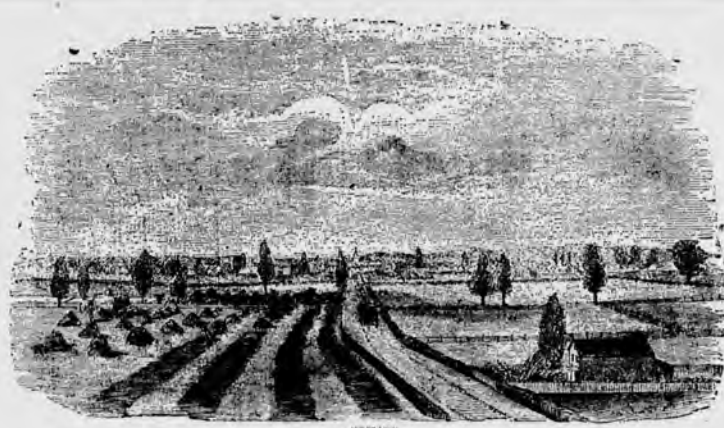

"Where Newark's stately tower Looks out from Yarrow's birchen bower."

The growth of the village was slow and nothing important is known concerning it until 1757, when Jas. McMechan and others applied to William Denny, acting Governor of the three lower counties of Delaware, for corporate privileges. He referred the matter to King George II, sovereign of England, who, on April 13, 1758, granted the first charter.

In a paper published in 1770, Newark is spoken of as a "healthy and suitable village not too rich or luxurious, where real learning might be obtained." In 1772 an Act was passed establishing two market days, namely, Tuesday and Friday, and special provisions for regulating the markets. The principal prohibitions were buying and selling provisions elsewhere than on the markets; killing cattle, sheep or hogs on Academy Square, or the market house; selling unwholesome meat; using false weights and exposing for sale any flesh meat on Monday and Tuesday of each week, except during June, July and August. The bakers were also required to stamp their bread in such a manner that it could be identified.

In the same Act the boundaries of the town are given:

"And for preventing all uncertainties and disputes that may arise, touching or concerning the limits of the said town of Newark; Be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the lines and bounds hereinafter mentioned are and always hereafter shall be deemed, allowed, and taken to be the boundaries and limits thereof. That is to say, beginning at the junction of the public roads, near an Inn now known by the name of St. Patrick, and extending thence along the road leading to New London township in Chester County, to a small stream or run to the mouth thereof, where it empties into White Clay Creek; and from thence down the said

Three big steel bridges are planned to span the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal at St. Georges, Summit Bridge and Delaware City, according to statements made by the Government engineers in charge of the improving of the waterway. The bridges will be of the vertical lift type and will cost several hundred thousand dollars.

Levy Courtman Harry Buckson, of St. Georges, is supervising the placing of a boardway along the Causeway in St. Georges.

A new garage is being erected on the property of N. E. Vansant near Hockessin this week. The new owners will engage in a general auto repair and accessory business.

The National Bank of Rising Sun, Md., is reported to have completed plans for the building of a new $100,000 building on the site of the present institution. Work will start immediately on the project. While their new home is being built, the bank will occupy the Community Fire House.

Although the official racing dates have been announced there to date has been no place set aside on the schedule by the Racing Commission of Maryland for the proposed meeting at the new track near Glasgow. A representative of the Cecil County Fair and Agricultural Association is reported to have applied for dates next fall. The track continues to be a thorn in the side of the anti-racing element in the county, and a long fight is expected before the track will become a fixture in the Maryland circuit.

Fred B. Martenis, official tester for the Delmarvia Cow-Testing Association, announced Monday that he would finish up this month's test by the end of the week. The complete test will be found in the columns of The Post next week.

A large motor truck skidded and turned over near the Mayer farm just west of Newark last Sunday afternoon. The driver was uninjured, more than can be said of a section of the Mayer fence. The truck was righted and proceeded on its way within a few hours.

Although the team was all ready to depart, the track meet between Drexel and Delaware scheduled for Philadelphia last Saturday, was cancelled at the last minute by the Drexel manager. The Delaware athletes will continue their intensive drills for the balance of the Easter vacation.

OLD FASHIONED MAY DAY

Reminder of Old Days When Everybody for Miles Around Visited Fishing Shores

The old fashioned May Day, so popular when dad and ma were young is again coming into fashion. This day, long since gone in discard, is to be revived and Saturday, May 3d has been designated as May Day at the fishing shores in Cecil County, Maryland. Red Point at the headwaters of the Chesapeake Bay and right at the mouth of the North East River, as in the days of yore, will again prove the big attraction and special efforts are being made to re-establish this day in the popularity it enjoyed a decade ago.

In the days when most every farmer visited the fishing shore and laid in a bountiful supply of shad and herring for next winter, going in the old "carry-all," the good wife, kids and everything, this was the day of days, everybody anxious to see the mile-long seine hauled in, full of wiggling fishes, eels and everything, that was the sight many went miles to see. Then the big fish dinner which was another attraction participated in by the throng.

But, try as they may, there will be many changes noticeable to those who remember the old May Day parties at the Fishin' Sho'. Old dobbin will not be seen dragging home a heavy load of fish, the creaky old barush having given way to the smoke buggies. Oh, yes, they'll be there, from the "Detroit Hop Toad" to the improved "Rolls Rough" and all in-between, pa, ma, kids and everything; the boys and girls all dressed up in their best bib and tucker, the flapper and the Shiek. And instead of time dragging on the hands of the younger folks who are not interested in talking over the crop outlook, there will be a real live Brass Band to enliven the occasion. Then the picnic lunches under the shady trees, and all in all, despite the many changes wrought by Father Time, it will be an old fashioned May Day at the Fishin' Sho'.

The Cecil county authorities have been asked to search for Miss Ethel Berch, age 16 years, daughter of Philip Berch, of Magnolia, Md. The girl left home on March 20, without saying anything about where she was going. When she left home she carried a suit case containing some clothing. She is described as being five feet in height, weighs about 100 pounds and wears her dark hair bobbed. Her parents are much worried over her disappearance.

The members of the Middletown Volunteer Hose Company at a meeting recently decided to hold their annual carnival July 11th to 19th inclusive. The carnival will be held on the public school grounds, and the firemen are completing arrangements for many new and novel attractions for their patrons this year.

Chief N. W. Kumpel has been made chairman and Assistant Chief Harris Berkman has been made assistant chairman of this year's carnival. They have purchased of Mr. E. M. Shallcross a handsome Jewett car, which will be given away on the closing night.

Ex-Governor John G. Townsend, Jr., presented Middletown schools with fifteen copies of the Sypherd English Bible. Each book is only a part of the Bible and each book is written as literature rather than in the form in which the Bible is usually written. The object of writing the Bible this way, is to put it into a form easily read and in which everyone can grasp the meaning more easily.

The target and regular practice firing drill for the Delaware Anti-Aircraft Regiment will be held this year at Rehoboth Beach. The date has not yet been announced. The regiment will leave the rifle range at New Castle and march to Rehoboth. Colonel John P. LeFevre, Adjutant-General J. Austin Ellison and all the officers attached to the regiment are bending every effort to complete arrangements for the motor convoy that will insure the safe and speedy movement of the troops.

GOOD ROADS AFFECT- ING HOUSE ARCHITECTURE IN THE COUNTRY

Better Farm Living Results
From Hard Surface
Highways

According to statistics compiled in the building trades, a decided increase in the use of permanent building materials has been noted in country districts and the building of farm houses. The shortage of timber accounts for this only in part, since stone and brick and cement are more expensive building materials than lumber.

Farmers can now build farm houses of non-burnable materials because good roads make it possible for them to haul such materials from a distance without a prohibitive expense. The American farmer is a sensible, hard-headed, practical man. He has not endured the greatest home fire hazards of any nation for years because he knew no better, but because he found it too expensive to overcome the risk by substituting for the easy-to-get timber, the hard-to-import stone, brick, tile, cement.

With the advent of better roads, and the coming of the automobile truck, he is finding it increasingly possible to erect his farm house of fire-proof material without paying too great a price for haulage of materials. He is also finding it good business to erect a more pretentious house on land which has increased materially in value through the influence of better roads.

Better houses, better fireproofing, better land values, better transportation, better profits on farm produce; they are all by-products of the hard road, which, in the long run, is not an expense to the taxpayer, but a source of profit.

FORM GUNNING RESERVE

Historic Farm on North East River Bought by Rutters and Williams

William Rutters and Thomas R. Williams, of North East, have purchased the Hance Point Farm along the North East River and will convert the estate into a ducking preserve, according to reports.

The farm has been one of the historic spots of Cecil County and has been in the Wingate family for generations. Hance Point was named for a chieftain of the Shawnee Indians.

Mr. W. T. Derickson, of the Bureau of Markets, will confer with officials of the American Railway Express Co. this week, in regard to putting on an active educational campaign in regard to the packing and grading of eggs, the main features of which will be suggestions in regard to packing eggs so as to decrease the loss from breakage, and bring the best prices. The American Railway Express Co. has just completed campaigns of this nature in several states, and they are very successful in assisting the shippers of eggs in marketing their product. Definite plans for this campaign are not yet complete; however, they will be completed soon, and additional announcements in regard to this matter will be made.

Fertilizers Help Peaches

The application of fertilizers high in ammonia, (nitrogen) to peaches has proven so profitable in Missouri, that the practice has become quite general in that State. Winter injury is one of the serious detriments to peach growing, and fertilizers have shown a distinct tendency to increase the hardness of the trees. The importance of this may be gathered from the fact that in some parts of the State winter injury is so severe that a crop is not looked for more than once in three or four years.

SCHOOLS OF NEWARK IN 1888

"The citizens of Newark have always taken a deep interest in educational affairs. This is evidenced by the support given to the Newark Academy, the oldest institution of its kind in the State, and by the fact that it contains the only college in Delaware.

Numerous private schools have been patronized by the citizens in the past, some of the most noticeable of which were the seminaries for ladies, conducted by the Rev. Samuel Bell and Mrs. Pierce Chamberlain, and the Franklin Seminary. The school opened by Miss Wilson in 1869 and still in existence, received hearty support. In all of these institutions have been found students and not only from all parts of Delaware, but from adjoining States. On October 11, 1830, the first meeting was held to organize a system of public schools. In the following year a school house was erected in what was termed District No. 39, and shortly afterward a school was opened in District 41. Both districts are within the limits of the town. The first annual meeting of the School Board was held on October 8, 1832. Both schools were conducted separately until 1873, when they were joined and called United Schools. In 1884 a new two-story brick building was erected at a cost of $10,000. This building is divided into four rooms, at which four teachers preside. The number of pupils at the present time is 185. V. A. Groves is principal.

(Note.—The building in question is probably the present Primary School on Main Street.)

NEWARK ACADEMY

This institution, so famous for learning in the latter half of the eighteenth century had its origin in a school opened in 1741 by Rev. Francis Allison, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in New London, Chester County, Pa. A few years previous to this, Rev. Allison, a native of Ireland and a graduate of Glasgow, came to this State and entered the family of Gov. John Dickinson, as tutor. During his year at New London he received several young men into his family as pupils and schoolmates of Gov. Dickinson's son, and this formed the nucleus of the present Academy.

Several years later, following the adoption of the school by the Philadelphia Synod as its own, Dr. Allison was succeeded here by Rev. Alexander McDowell, and the school was moved to Elkton, where it remained for a short time. In 1767 the school was again located in Newark, where it now is. In 1769, Thomas and Richard Penn, proprie-taries of Pennsylvania and the "lower counties" granted a charter to the Academy as an institution of learning. In 1773, Rev. Dr. Ewin and Dr. Hugh Williamson were sent to England and Scotland to secure funds for the Academy. They were successful in their undertaking and the generous donations of the Penns and others enabled them to erect a substantial building and formed the basis of the present endowment. In 1774 Morgan Edwards, of Newark, conveyed to the trustees of Newark Academy a lot of land on the Main Street of Newark, adjoining the lot of the Rev. Thomas Reed, containing seven acres and fifty perches. This tract was sold to them by Alexander McBeath in 1777 for about 230 pounds sterling. The Academy was in active operation until the latter part of 1777 when, on account of the Revolution then raging, it was closed and so remained until 1780. During this period the building was used for the manufacture of shoes for the Continental Army under Washington. The prevalent idea that the Academy was closed during the entire period of the war is dispelled by the fact that the trustees approved and paid a bill of John Brattons for teaching in 1776 and 1777.

IN A LETTER TO WASHINGTON

Gov. Thomas McKean, in a letter to General Washington, dated Newark, Del., October 8, 1777, says:

"On my arrival, I found that all the records and public papers of the County of New Castle, together with the fund belonging to the Trustees of the Newark Academy, etc., had been captured at Wilmington. The minutes of the trustees of the Academy during and immediately previous to the Revolution, were, by some misfortune, lost.

(NOTE.—This is but a part of the history of the Academy as outlined in the volume at hand.)

SOME NEWARK LAND-MARKS (1888)

The Foundry

In 1851 a foundry was built by Dr. Palmer Chamberlain on a site nearly opposite the Deer Park Hotel. In 1854 C. and H. P. R. Blandy purchased the plant and conducted the business until 1875, when Lewis L. Allen became the proprietor. Allen was the proprietor for eleven years and then Edward R. Wilson, the present owner purchased it. The business was never carried on extensively and was unprofitable. Since 1886 nothing at all has been manufactured at the foundry.

In 1885 Jacob Casno and C. established a manufactory in the limits of Newark in a building erected for a sash factory. Mr. Bedwell manufactured hammocks and gauze goods of every description. There are ten looms in the factory and fifteen employees are required to operate them. The factory has a capacity for four hundred hammocks a day. The products are shipped to New York.

The Brick Yard

In 1882 The Newark Brick Company commenced manufacturing within the limits of Newark. Their production amounted to one and a half million bricks per year. Twelve men were employed. Two years later the brick yard was purchased by A. J. Hayward and Co., who ran it for a year. It is at present owned by Johnson and McMichael. They have six workmen in their employ and at the present time manufactured yearly about 500,000 common brick. Their clay bank is in close proximity to the plant.

In 1885 Jacob Casno and C. Mendenhall began the manufacture of road machines. The business was carried on for a year, during which time twenty-six machines were built. The inability to sell the machines led to the abandonment of the plant.

In 1831 R. M. and William Armstrong conveyed to Thos. B. Armstrong a tannery located at Newark. In 1836 Alexander Walker purchased the tannery and conducted the business until 1852, when he failed. The tannery has since been torn down.

HOTELS

St. Patrick

It is impossible to ascertain the exact date of the erection of this hotel, or by whom it was built. In 1750 John Pritchard was the landlord and owner. When Mason and Dixon, with their corps of assistants made their surveys in 1764, St. Patrick's Inn was their headquarters. In describing the boundaries of Newark in 1772, the same Inn is mentioned. The hotel remained in the Pritchard family for a century and was often called Pritchard's Hotel. In 1848 James S. Martin bought the property and three years later tore down the building and erected a four story brick hotel, sixty by forty, and called it the Deer Park Hotel. This hotel has been owned successively by Jacob DeHaven, J. Marshall Harlan, Alexander Laws, Colonel Joshua Clayton and John E. Lewis, the present owner. The hotel is successfully managed by Mr. Lewis.

Newark Hotel

The date of the erection of this hotel or the names of the early proprietors cannot be definitely ascertained. The earliest accurate information in regard to it is that a license was granted to Joseph Hossinger in 1797 to keep a hotel in Newark, and some of the oldest citizens remember the place being called Hossinger's Tavern. The hotel was successively owned by John Herdman, John W. Choate, and in 1880 was purchased by the Newark Hall Company and torn down. The present Exchange Building stands on the site occupied by the hotel. Tradition says that General Washington passed a night within its walls during the Revolutionary War.

Washington Hotel

This building was erected in 1825 by a Mr. Betts. He was proprietor until 1838, when he sold it to Mr. Blandy, who built an addition and remodelled the part already built. The next and present owner is James A. Wilson.

Postoffice

The Postoffice at Newark was established at a very early date, which cannot be accurately determined. The present office is in the Exchange Building. The following are the postmasters from 1840 to the present time. Thomas Benneson, Matthew McClain, James L. Miles, Jonathan Drennen, John Miller, S. R. Choate.

Then follows sketches of the first Building and Loan Association established in 1867, and the Newark Library Association, organized in 1878, with eighty members, under the supervision of Wilbur Wilson, librarian. The officers in 1888 were Joseph Dean, president; Miss Sue Evans, secretary; Dr. H. G. M. Kollock, treasurer.

Telephone

W. A. Woodrow, in 1882, opened a telephone office in Newark to communicate with Wilmington. Only one wire was then in use. In the following year Miss Lillian Gray took charge of the office and in 1884 secured seven subscribers. From that time the office has been known as the Telephone Exchange. At the present time there are twelve wires, ten of which are used and by means of which communication can be held with all parts of Wilmington.

National Bank of Newark

The Bank of Newark was chartered by the State with a capital of fifty thousand dollars. Daniel Thompson was the first president. James L. Martin, Frederick Curtis, William McClellan, James L. Miles, Benjamin Caulk, John Miller, Daniel Thompson, Solomon Leech and Joseph Hossinger were appointed commissioners to open the books, secure subscriptions for stock and attend to general business incident to its opening. In 1864 it was converted into a National Bank. Its present surplus is twenty-six thousand dollars.

LOOK FOR BUMPER PEACH CROP IN STATE

Early Spring Frosts Do Little Damage to Orchards Here; South Hard Hit

From present indications, Delaware will be favored this year with a bumper fruit crop. The mildly cold weather for the past few weeks has held back the buds so that now there is not much likelihood of a damaging frost. The snow about two weeks ago did not do any damage to the fruit of Delaware, as owing to the mildly cold weather as stated above, it was not sufficiently matured to be affected. This cold weather, however, did do considerable damage in some of the peach growing sections of the South. The Sand Hill section of North Carolina, reports their estimated number of cars now, since the freeze, at fifteen hundred, whereas, before the freeze, they had made an estimate of three thousand cars.

It is reported from other sources that thirty to sixty per cent of the blooms of all late varieties in North Carolina were killed outright by the freeze of April 1 and 2. There does not seem to be any great damage to earlier fruit.

The damage to peaches in Georgia by the freeze was not so great; however, in the Cornelia district of northern Georgia the temperature dropped below freezing on the morning of April 2 and has resulted in fifty per cent damage to Albertas, which are the only variety which is grown commercially in that district. However, it is reported that the trees were very heavily set, and even with the heavy damage there may be the normal crop in the Cornelia district. The temperature did not fall below freezing in the Fort Valley district on April 2, and no damage has been discovered.

The first shipments of Mayflowers, which are the earliest of Georgia peaches, will probably be made about May 20. This year there are approximately one hundred thousand Mayflower trees. It is very difficult to make an estimate as to the total number of cars of peaches to be shipped from the Georgia section until after the April drop; and, even then, it will be conditional upon the extent of the May drop. However, a large crop of peaches is generally expected from that section.

The peach growers in Delaware have been spraying their trees for some time, and are exerting every effort to control the various pests, and to produce the highest quality fruit possible; and, with the improved methods in orcharding, it is possible that, if Delaware has a good crop of peaches this year, the Delaware peach may once again resume its place upon the pedestal as the standard of the world.

HOME

How much will you pay for safety, for permanence, for comfort?

Portland Cement, the material making this possible, is the cheapest of all products undergoing a complete process of manufacture.

A permanent, fire-safe home can be built for from 2% to 5% more than one of impermanent materials. The protection of your investment, the safety of your loved ones, can be assured for a ridiculously small outlay. And such a home is warmer in winter, cooler in summer, and more sanitary the year 'round.

Ask your building material dealer for facts and figures on such construction. Your contractor will also tell you that it is more rapid, as well as safer, than temporary building.

PORTLAND CEMENT

A GLIMPSE OF THE NEW AMERICAN LITERARY SENSATION--H. L. MENCKEN

From an interview by B. F. Wilson, Published in The Sunday Star, Wilmington

He loves music better than any other phase of human creation. He is passionately fond of good black cigars—the Havana brand.

He is one of the most bitter open-opponents of Prohibition.

He detests intolerance, narrow-mindedness, and above all, stupidity. He will walk a mile—or ten if necessary—for a glass of real beer.

He prefers falling asleep to any other sensation known to man.

He is fond of the "gals," as he terms them.

He is a confirmed bachelor.

And he views the world and the antics of its inhabitants with his tongue in his cheek!

I sat in his editorial office. His desk is unlike any editor's desk in the world. The top of it is absolutely bare of the usual heterogeneous mass of manuscripts, letters, writing apparatus, signed photographs, deer-horns and other souvenirs from grateful subscribers out in Wichita, Kansas. It resembles the neat literary bureau of a school-marm. The inkwell is filled to the right height. His pencils, which I strongly suspect he never uses, are nicely sharpened and in their proper places. There is a blotter, large in size and new in appearance. In his moments of deepest abstraction he never embroiders it with initials or flowers.

In short, he is unlike any editor in the world. Also he is remarkably different as an individual. Mentally, one is left aghast at his wide-reaching knowledge and profound wisdom. He knows everything. This sounds like a fatuous statement; but should you hold conversation with him, should you read his books, should you receive first-hand impressions of what he is like from his colleagues and friends, you would certainly be inclined to consider the statement true.

He knows the history of music from its earliest days to its latest modernistic caprice. He knows art, he knows history, he can argue with the most intelligent student of Blackstone and hold his own. He is familiar with medicine, and at one time in his youth he became ordained in the Episcopal Church. Literature, of course, is the keynote of his existence. Above all, he is a boon companion.

One wonders how and where he finds the time in his busy existence to absorb all the knowledge he possesses, for in addition to editing The American Mercury—and prior to that the Smart Set—he is one of the editors of the "Baltimore Evening Sun." He is either in the throes of finishing one of his books, or filling orders for a critical essay from some leading publication, or writing reviews, or attending meetings, concerts, the theatre, or communing from Baltimore, (where he lives) to New York, or holding, by a fascinating spell, the attention of a group of male comrades at a luncheon or dinner. His keen sense of humor, his flashing wit, and the play of his fancy usually cause his listeners to forget the existence of their business world, and those meals take on again something of the old-time flavor given them in the days of The Mermaid, Will's, The White Horse Tavern, and others where conversation and wit were developed to a fine art.

In the eyes of the young Intellectuals of this country he is considered a heroic figure; something in the nature of a demi-god. To them he is the Bernard Shaw of America, who knows everything there is to know about literature, social economics, the drama, music, medicine, law religion, liquor—and women.

Recently he wrote a book on the last mentioned problem characteristically naming it "In Defense of Women", and proceeding to write, with a Satanic pen, a graphic, sardonic unveiling of the female of the species. Unless she is abnormally hardened, any woman who has read the book should be ashamed ever again to look a male in the eye. He professes to disclose the truth about marriage, love, courtship, et al. As a man's conception of the feminine mind and soul it is a tremendous achievement. As a bachelor's viewpoint, it is the finest piece of guess-work in print.

"Any career except marriage is absolute nonsense for the average woman," he declared. "Most women realize that, as an economic advantage, marriage is unequalled by any other form of existence. A woman obtains a free meal-ticket for the rest of her natural life; she gets material comfort, she has a life-lease on a substantial roof over her head, and she doesn't have to worry about meeting the rent every month. Her husband does that. Her existence, after marriage, becomes a simple problem of mathematics. She realizes that the earlier she solves this problem, the better; that is why women marry young as a rule. Also, a woman invariably selects from her waiting-list the man who can offer the largest amount of material comfort; for, this question settled, she knows that the difference between man and man is so slight that it is not to be considered in choosing a husband.

"Don't you think there are exceptions? Every woman in the world doesn't live with the sole idea of marriage. What about the women who want a career?"

"Rubbish! This is a practical world. That is to say, the petty achievements of man are held in the highest respect. Therefore, a woman is doing herself a grave injustice by not choosing marriage instead of any other career. You must realize that woman is the one who holds the widest vision in life. She is superior to a man and it is impossible for her to stoop to petty labor. She cannot make a good bookkeeper, a clever house-painter, a hod-carrier, an efficient builder, because there isn't sufficient incentive for her to develop these small phases of industry. She has too much sense. She is the great realist of life and knows that it is beneath her intellect to adopt any means of this sort in order to make a living. Why, all the tommy-rot you hear about women being the home-builders is nonsense. Women make the worst cooks and the worst housekeepers in the world. Men have a natural talent for cooking; they develop it to a fine art. A bachelor has a far better arranged home than a married man," he added with a certain complacent air.

"You don't seem to be overfond of the female sex," I interrupted. "Of course after what you have said, you wouldn't be. You haven't any illusions left on the subject, have you?"

"Oh, yes, I have," he replied emphatically. "I like women very much indeed. Not too young—I think the flapper is a triviality not to be discussed—but I admire women more than I do men. I abhor sentimentality in women, because I believe it to be a masculine weakness. I have fallen in love very often—but not for very long. I like 'em not too young—with dark eyes and a sense of humor."

His smile vanished. The broad, genial face took on an expression of seriousness.

Strangely enough," he continued, "women show a lack of understanding—a sort of mental falling-off after marriage which is becoming more common every day. The cause for so many divorces, the underlying fault for domestic unhappiness lies in the hands of wives. They reveal so much sagacity before marriage that it is incomprehensible to me when they develop stupidity afterwards. And yet they do; the average wife nagging her husband, falsely accusing him of various intrigues, usually loses him by the very method with which she won him. She hurts his vanity, and more men are unfaithful to their wives because of this than anything else. It stands to reason that a man in order to protect his pride will eventually commit the crimes he has been unjustly accused of. When a jealous, unreasonable woman berates her husband day after day because he is flirting with some woman, he instinctively will turn to that woman to find out whether or not he is still good at the game—and flirt with her.

The other woman becomes a matter of personal interest, naturally, and soon you have a divorce."

His secretary had been endeavoring to break in on the conversation. She now insisted that he answer an important telephone call. As he talked, we gazed with amazement about his office. A scarlet banner with "Atlantic City" emblazoned on it, hung over a war poster depicting the horrors of the trenches. A huge French placard announced in native tongue the evil effect of absinthe on the liver. As a piece of artistic tapestry, one of those fast-disappearing rugs with the large Newfoundland dog holding the baby in its mouth which has just been rescued from drowning, hung on the wall. A yellow "tidy" made out of thousands of silken cigar bands and sent to Mr. Mencken by a secret female admirer, adorned the bookcase, and life-size Follies girls gazed down from the wall.

"My dear girl?" he replied, in answer to my last question. "I have described her in my book. Get it and judge for yourself if she isn't almost perfect."

Here she is: "A woman who will be a perfect hostess to my friends. No bachelor can entertain in a proper manner. In addition, let me draw you a picture of what represents perfect peace and contentment to me as far as women—or rather—a woman is concerned.

"It is the close of a busy and vexatious day—say half past five or six o'clock of a winter afternoon. I am stretched out on a divan in front of a fire, smoking. Close enough for me to touch, sits a woman not too young, but still good-looking and well-dressed—above all, a woman with a soft, low-pitched, agreeable voice. As I snooze, she talks of anything, everything, all the things that women talk of—books, music, the play, men, other women. No politics. No business. No religion. No metaphysics—nothing challenging and vexatious.

"But remember, she is intelligent. What she says is clearly expressed. I look at the fine sheen of her hair, the pretty cut of her frock, the glint of her white teeth, the arch of her eyebrows, the graceful curves of her arm. I listen to the exquisite murmur of her voice. Gradually I fall asleep.

"But only for an instant. At once, observing it, she rises her voice ever so slightly, and I am awake. Then to sleep again—slowly and charmingly down that slippery hill of dreams. And then awake again, and then asleep again. And so on.

"I ask you seriously—could anything be more beautiful?"

"The sensation of falling asleep to me is the most exquisite in the world. Well, here is sleep poetized and made doubly sweet. Here is sleep set to the finest music in the world. I match this situation against any that you can think of.

"In the end when the girl grows prettily miffed and throws me out, I return to my sorrows somehow purged and glorified. I am a better man in my own sight. I have grazed upon fields of asphodel."

The Truth

About this Light-Six—plus proof on proof

THIS Studebaker Light-Six is the supreme value in the "thousand-dollar" class.

It offers, not a few, but scores of advantages. In its chassis it represents the best that modern engineering knows. In its steel and quality of construction it is identical with the costliest cars we build.

This is to offer you proofs. Then urge that you see it before paying $1,000 or more for a car.

Some evidence

The extra values which this car typifies have made Studebaker the largest builder of quality cars.

They have made these cars a sensation. Sales have almost trebled in three years. Last year 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

The multiplying demand has forced an investment of $50,000,000 in model plants and equipment. Of this, $38,000,000 has been spent in the past five years, so the plants are up-to-date. The engineering department which designs and superintends this Light-Six costs $500,000 per year.

The machines which build it are modern and exact. 517 operations on this car are exact to 1/1000th of an inch. 122 operations are exact to one-half 1/1000th of an inch.

1,200 inspectors are employed to submit each car in the making to 32,000 inspections.

Infinite care

The steels are selected from 35 formulas, each one proved best by
