DEPUTY WARNS EMPLOYERS OF SECURITY ACT

Delinquent Penalties Range
From 5 To 25 Per Cent of Tax Total

RETURNS DUE APRIL 1 Revenue Collector Outlines Facts For Employers Of 8 Or More

Employers of eight or more persons who have failed to make returns in accordance with the provisions of title IX of the Social Security Act, which imposes an excise tax on the employment compensation tax, were today warned by Collector of Internal Revenue Willard F. Deputy that they faced delinquent penalties ranging from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of the tax their pay rolls call for. The returns are to be made on Internal Revenue form 940 and were due on April 1, last.

Collector Deputy referred to article 502 of regulations 90, which provide that "failure to file a return when due causes to accrue, under the provisions of section 406 of the Revenue Act of 1935, a penalty of from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, depending upon the period of delinquency." Employers were granted an extension of time for the filing of returns and paying of the tax until April 1 by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering.

One Per Cent Due

The Social Security Act, Mr. Deputy explained calls for a pay roll tax of one per cent on the 1936 pay roll containing eight or more persons on each of some twenty days during the taxable year, each day being in a different calendar week. In states such as this where there was no approved unemployment compensation law in 1936 as yet in operation, employers must make returns based on a one per cent tax of their 1936 pay roll. When an unemployment compensation law is adopted by this state and approved by the Federal Social Security Board an employer will be entitled to a credit of ninety per cent of his federal tax, provided he has contributed at least this amount to the approved state fund.

Collector Deputy said that recognition of the following facts by all employers would remove a great deal of the confusion that apparently exists as to the provisions of title IX of the Social Security Act:

New Law Demands Classifications Of State Fruits

W. T. Derickson, director of the Bureau of Markets, State Board of Agriculture, is advising all Delaware growers and shippers of fruits and vegetables regarding a law passed by the legislature in New York.

The law requires that every open or closed package of fruits and vegetables shipped into the State of New York from another state shall be marked in the terms of the official standards and grades or classifications, as promulgated from time to time by the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, commonly known as U. S. Grades.

This law becomes effective on June 1; however, Mr. Derickson has been advised that it will be the policy of the Department of Agriculture in New York to consider the months of June and July as an educational period, during which an effort will be made to assist all to meet the requirements of the act.

Growers Should Cooperate

A large quantity of fruits and vegetables from Delaware is shipped into New York City and other towns and cities in New York State, and our growers should make provisions to meet with the requirements of this law so as to avoid their products being held up or seized, Mr. Derickson added.

The Bureau of Markets provides official inspection and certification to growers and shippers of fruits and

Honor Graduate

Miss Kathleen Spencer, daughter of Dean and Mrs. Robert L. Spencer, 15 Kent Way, has been awarded a fellowship to the Connecticut College for Women, for a period of two years.

A graduate of the Newark High School in 1933, Miss Spencer will be awarded a degree with distinction at the University of Delaware commencement exercises, Monday. While a student at the Women's College, she majored in chemistry, and her work at the Connecticut institution will be concentrated on obtaining her masters degree in this field. She will do part-time teaching. Miss Spencer is 21 years of age, was placed on the honor roll every term of her college career and was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, student honor society.

3 LOCAL MEN GIVEN POSTS

J. Harvey Dickey Announces Appointment Of Local Men By Governor

J. Harvey Dickey, chairman of the Democratic committee, White Clay Creek Hundred, announced last night that Governor Richard C. McMullen had appointed three local men to important state agencies and commissions. Ten appointments were made throughout the state.

For what is believed to be the first time in history, Newark will have two magistrates with the naming of Benjamin Eubanks for a four-year term. Mr. Eubanks, a 55-year-old barber who lives at 42 E. Main St., has been a lifelong Democrat. His appointment has been anticipated by political leaders for several weeks.

In addition to the new police arbiter, people will have access to the services of Daniel Thompson, re-appointed for another four-year term last fall, who will continue his office at 24 W. Main Street.

Stearns Is Ousted

Donald MacCreary, 34, an assistant entomologist in the extension department, University of Delaware, was named to the State Mosquito Control Commission, replacing Dr. L. A. Stearns, 278 Orchard Road. Mr. MacCreary lives at 50 W. Delaware Avenue. The appointment is for two years.

Replacing Wayne C. Brewer, Nottingham Road, Guy E. Hancock, 340 Academy Street, received an appointment for four years as a member of trustees, State College for Colored Students, Dover. Mr. Hancock, 43, is a science teacher at Wilmington High School.

Native of Georgia

Magistrate Eubanks has followed the barbering business in Newark for 35 years, coming here in 1902 from New Castle, Kentucky. He was born in Morgan County, Georgia.

Mr. MacCreary was born at Jacksonville, Ill., and attended school at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. He was awarded a bachelor of science degree at Iowa Wesleyan College and received a master of arts degree at the University of Maryland. He has been associated with the State Board of Agriculture for 10 years.

Visiting Nurse Reports 317 Calls During May

Miss Alice Leake, visiting nurse for this section of New Castle County, reported 317 visits for the month of May, this week. The work included 179 nursing and 138 instructive calls.

Types of cases and number of visits were: prenatals 3, visits 6; maternity cases 2, visits 10; diabetes 1, visits 60; cancer 3, visits 43; apoplexy 1, visits 8; paralysis 1, visits 12; arthritis 2, visits 14; kidney infections 3, visits 19; pneumonia 2, visits 8; gall bladder infection 1, visits 17; neuritis 1, visits 2; miscellaneous cases 8, visits 24; treatments 14.

State work included the conduction of a baby clinic every Wednesday, from 1.30 to 4.30, with an average attendance of 10. Eleven birth certificates were delivered. According to the report, 18 cases of measles and 13 of whooping cough were quarantined while 21 cases of measles and 5 of whooping cough were released.

NEWARK MUSIC ORGANIZATION MAKES PLANS

Three Concerts To Be Given
During 1937-38 Period;
Change Meeting Date

Thirty members were present at the annual business meeting of the Newark Music Society held recently in the Hilarium of the Women's College, University of Delaware.

A growth in the society was reported by the secretary. During the current year, 66 new members joined, bringing the total active membership to 178. The treasurer's report also reflected the healthy condition of the organization.

Meeting Date Changed

It was decided that the time of the annual meeting be changed from January to the end of the year's activities. Election of officers will take place not later than the first week in May. This will enable the incoming officers to institute proceedings at once in order to start active work early in the fall.

Officers elected were: T. D. Myrea, selected to replace Dr. Walter Hullahen, president-elect, who resigned; Carleton E. Douglass, vice-president; Miss Freda Ritz, secretary; and Mrs. Carl Rankin, treasurer.

Following the business meeting, a concert was presented by the Casimir string quartet of the Curtis Institute of Music. The program was arranged by the retiring president, W. Frank Wilson.

At a meeting of the executive committee held this week, plans for the coming year were outlined. It was decided that during the 1937-38 period, the society would sponsor two concerts by the Curtis Institute and one by another similar organization. The presentation in December of Handel's "Messiah," by local singers will be varied by combining with it two selections by a symphony orchestra. Due to the large number of participants, this concert will be held in the Newark High School. The others will take place in Mitchell Hall.

Chairmen Appointed

In addition to these public concerts, three informal musicals for members will be given. The following committee chairmen were appointed: Mrs. F. A. Wheelless, membership; Mrs. Carl J. Reek, publicity; and Mrs. T. D. Myrea, program.

Children's Day

Children's Day will be observed at Wesley Sunday School on Sunday, June 13, at two o'clock.

Grange Launches Equality Campaign Following Decision In Wagner Case

By Robert Yearsley
Lecturer, Delaware State Grange

The welfare of the open country and the stability of agriculture are more dependent upon organization than ever before. Recent events compel the inauguration of an equality agricultural campaign for the Grange membership, based on four reasons.

First—In spite of the fact that the present national administration has been the most helpful in years, agriculture, representing almost 30 per cent of the population, receives less than 11 per cent of the nation's income.

Second—The recent Wagner decision gives to labor as well as capital new power for collective bargaining and price adjustment. Unless the farmer quickly increases his organization strength and bargaining ability, rural life will suffer.

Third—The threat of war in Europe, the unrest and continued unemployment, with tax burdens, bring the American farmer face to face with the necessity of using organization for his own self-preservation.

Fourth—Cooperation and collective bargaining, along with education and legislative justice, are essential to agriculture. Organization alone can make them effective. The Grange is the best equipped agency in America

MEMORIAL DAY MARKED HERE LAST SUNDAY

Town Parade and American
Legion Vesper Service
Held In Newark

Several hundred people observed Memorial Day on Sunday afternoon with one of the most successful parades ever staged under the supervision of Mayor Frank Collins and his committee. Following the parade, the Memorial vesper service, under the sponsorship of the J. Allison O'Daniel Post, No. 10, of Newark, was held on the University of Delaware campus in front of the Memorial Library.

Town Parade

The parade was led by Major Pier L. Focardi, First Engineers, Fort du Pont and staff, consisting of Second Lieut. R. Curtis Potts and Scout William Simmons.

The band and two companies of First Engineers were next in line, followed by Battery E, Delaware National Guard, American Legion and Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary. In the second division were: Fire Chief Elmer Ellison and staff composed of First Assistant Chief Charles Tasker and Second Assistant Chief Edwin Shakespeare. Then followed the Continental-Diamond Band, Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, Troop No. 55, Boy Scouts of America, two troops of girl scouts, Sons of American Legion, the Junior Auxiliary of the legion, and a large group of public school children.

Legion Vesper Service

A demonstration by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Delaware Post, No. 1, of Wilmington, one of the highlights of the program, opened the American Legion vesper service. The veterans marched in cross formation up the steps of the library and stood at attention while the Rev. Andrew W. Mayer pronounced the invocation. The former soldiers then stood at attention in silent tribute for 30 seconds. "America" was then played by the Continental Band and the Rev. H. Everett Hallman read the Scripture. Following the singing of "America the Beautiful," Father J. M. Grant, of Hockessin, state chaplain of the American Legion, delivered an address. Benediction was given by the Rev. Leonard White.

Among those present were the two surviving veterans of the Civil War, R. G. Buckingham and John Ward; state commander of the American Legion, George D. Hill, of Dover, and Mrs. Hill, national executive committeewoman; Dr. Samuel E. Burr, of New Castle, Americanization officer; Samuel Green, of Wilmington, department membership chairman; John R. Fader, past commander and speaker of the House of Representatives, and Mrs. Fader, state commander of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Arzie Lewis, department secretary.

RECEIVES FELLOWSHIP

THOMAS LASKARIS

Following his graduation from the University of Delaware on Monday, Thomas Laskaris, age 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Laskaris, 41 E. Main Street, will take up graduate work in the fall at the University of Minnesota. He was awarded the Caleb Doir Graduate Research Fellowship in Agriculture in competition with 87 other applicants.

Mr. Laskaris matriculated from Newark High School to the university in 1933. Besides an appearance before the footlights, he has been an active member of the "Ag Club" and student assistant in the plant pathology department. A fine scholastic record during his junior and senior years was instrumental in bringing this award to the local graduate.

BUREAU FINDS GRADS POSTS

Lt. - Col. Ashbridge Reports
Successful Work Done By Guidance Bureau

According to the announcement made this week by Lt. Col. Donald M. Ashbridge (retired), head of the University of Delaware Business Guidance Bureau, the job of finding work for graduates is somewhat easier this year than in 1936.

Opportunities Increase

Col. Ashbridge stated that not only were there more jobs available but the salaries were also on a decided increase. According to the statements issued, all graduates of the engineering school have been placed and the demand for men of this type is in excess of the supply.

A complete report of the work of the bureau is not available at this time due to the fact that many students, lined up for positions, have not decided definitely or have not been decided upon.

Despite the fact that Col. Ashbridge achieved remarkable success in his work during 1936, he reported that the work accomplished thus far has surpassed that done by this time last year.

In addition to finding regular work for the graduates, Col. Ashbridge has also succeeded in securing summer jobs for many students who will return to college in the fall.

Numerous Contacts Made

Positions have been secured for members of the graduating class at the following business places or concerns: Equitable Life Insurance Society of the United States; Delaware Power and Light Co.; Ethyl Gas Corporation, Deepwater, N. J.; Atlantic Refining Co.; Socony Vacuum Oil Co.; Equitable Trust Co.; Blackstone Military Academy, Blackstone, Va.; Beaumont Business College; Goldkey Business College; Swift and Co., Chicago; Armour and Co.; Southern States Farmers Exchange; Bureau of Agricultural Economics; Sherwin-Williams Co.; Hercules Powder Co.; Claymont Industrial School; Newark High School; Westinghouse Airbrake Co., Pittsburgh; Foster-Wheeler Co., New York; Ingersoll-Rand Co., New York; (Continued on Page 5)

Dr. W. M. Johnson Asked To Lecture In Cleveland

Dr. Wallace M. Johnson, 257 E. Main Street, will give a series of lectures by invitation in Cleveland next week.

Leaving here on Sunday, Dr. Johnson will speak before the Cleveland Post Graduate Course, Huron Road Hospital, where more than 150 physicians will be assembled. He will return to Newark on June 13.

Alumni Reunions Saturday; Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday At Ten-Thirty

With one of the largest graduating classes in the history of the University of Delaware, officials of the institution are anticipating one of the largest crowds in years for the commencement exercises starting Saturday of this week.

Alumni Meetings Saturday

Saturday will be taken up largely in reunions of both alumni and alumnae associations and the annual meeting of the board of trustees. The Rev. R. L. Calhoun, Ph.D., of Yale University, will preach the baccalaureate sermon in Mitchell Hall at 10 o'clock, standard time, on Sunday. Commencement exercises, when degrees will be conferred and scholarships and other awards announced, will be held in Mitchell Hall at 10.30 o'clock Monday morning. About 150 young men and women, the majority being from Delaware, will receive their diplomas at these exercises.

Among the members of the senior classes at Delaware and the Women's Colleges are: Thomas Albright Foster, John Charles Geist, Thomas Laskaris, Herbert Stanton Leviton, Ernest Samuel Lomax, Howard Kent Preston, Jr., Daniel Vincent Stoll, Grover Tennyson Surratt, James Earl Wright, Dorothy Mae Dawson, Myra Isabelle Hall, Margaret Elizabeth Heiser, Elizabeth Wainwright McKelvey, Ruth Jeanette Mylrea, Alice Kathryn Sheldon, Doris Fay Smith, Kathleen Spencer, Betty Maree Stone, Margaret Carr Trumbull and Mrs. Dorothy West Wharton, all of Newark.

Delaware Seniors

Accident Victim Buried By Local Undertaker Wed.

Miss Ona Singles, Washington, who died Sunday following an automobile accident, was buried at the Head of Christiana Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, were held at the Ira C. Shellenor funeral home, 254 W. Main Street.

Pall bearers were J. Harvey Dickey, Robert Thompson, Harry H. Cleaves, Frank H. Balling, Andrew P. Cann, George Snyder, Otto Singles and R. W. Heim.

A former resident of Newark, Miss Singles died in the West Side Sanatorium, York, Pa., about three hours after she had tumbled from an automobile driven by her sister, Mrs. Elva Pennington, of Chester, Pa., according to a report received by local friends.

Bound For Mt. Alto

Enroute to Mt. Alto, Pa., for a holiday visit with Miss Miriam Gillespie, a college friend, Miss Singles and Mrs. Pennington were accompanied by a third lady, a neighbor-friend of the latter's who occupied the back seat of the car.

About four miles west of York, the report stated, Miss Singles fell out of the moving vehicle and died without gaining consciousness after being rushed to the sanatorium for emergency treatment.

Lesson for June 6

JOSEPH'S READINESS FOR SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 41:33-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seest thou a man diligent in his business? he shall stand before kings. Proverbs 22:29.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Joseph's Errand.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Joseph Goes Before the King.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Ready to Serve.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparation for Public Service.

Public service—that position of opportunity and responsibility—merits far better treatment than is commonly accorded to it, for we know only too well how often it is nothing but a political football carried hither and yon as the dictates of partisan purposes may indicate.

Scripture holds a very exalted view of the public servant. Paul tells us to "be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God" (Rom. 13:1). The Bible clearly teaches that every governmental agency and every public servant from the policeman on the beat to the President in the White House, is only permitted to exercise authority over his fellowmen because God has ordained that there should be such government. Clear it is that every right-thinking official of state and nation should be humble, teachable, discreet, and wise in the exercise of his power, and God-fearing in the discharge of his responsibility.

Joseph, the one in the procession of the patriarchs of Genesis who passes before us in the lesson today is interesting from many angles. His personal history is charmingly written and a model of appealing biography. He is a marvelous type of Christ, and one could devote hours to such a study of his life. But our lesson subject presents him as one ready for public service, and we may well profit by the lesson. He is an example of what men who serve their country should be.

I. Before God—Humble and Teachable (vv. 33-36).

The background of our lesson is found in the four preceding chapters. Joseph, the boy with dreams and aspirations, has learned obedience, humility, purity, and many other useful lessons in the hard school of experience. It has well been said that the tuition of that school is high, but the lessons are well learned.

Now he stands before the king to interpret a double dream, sent as a warning to the nation. The wise men who knew not the true God had vainly sought to answer the king's questions. Joseph sets them and us an example—he receives instructions and guidance from God, and speaks wise words because taught of him. Would that all those who stand as counsellors before kings and presidents in our day would listen for the voice of God before they speak.

II. Before Men—Spiritual, Discreet, and Wise (vv. 37-39).

Pharaoh recognized that the Spirit of God was in Joseph. That is a great testimony for Joseph, and at the same time it reflects credit upon the king. Who can say what would be the result if our government officials were chosen for their spirituality?

Spirituality is not the only qualification, however, for such service. The Christian who expects men to favor him because he is a Christian, even though he be careless and incompetent, finds no comfort in the study of Joseph. He was discreet and wise. The follower of Christ should distinguish himself by diligent and intelligent application of all his powers to his work. Then men will honor both him and his God.

III. In Service—Responsible and Powerful (vv. 40-44).

He who had humbled himself under the mighty hand of God was exalted in due time. (See I Peter 5:6.) Joseph was willing to abide God's time, and did not run ahead of him as did his father, Jacob.

The record shows that he used his place of honor and privilege to perform a difficult and arduous task and to do it well. Right-spirited men do not glory in position or power, but use the opportunity to give themselves in sacrificial service to God and their fellowmen. Someone has aptly said that a politician is one who has his eye on the next election while a statesman has his eye on the next generation and its welfare. God give us more statesmen!

Never Despair

Let no man despair of himself. We may be sepulchres full of dead powers; but Christ is the resurrection and the life, to make us shine full of living, seeing, soaring, rejoicing thoughts and passions.—Dr. W. L. Watkinson.

Advantages of Tact

Without tact you can learn nothing. Tact teaches you when to be silent. Inquirers who are always inquiring never learn anything.—Disraeli.

Lt.-Gov. Cooch To Give Address At Christiana School

Lt.-Governor Edward W. Cooch

Christiana, June 2.—Lieutenant-Governor Cooch has accepted an invitation to address the graduates on Wednesday evening, June 9. The following pupils will graduate: Anna Amoroso, Mary Butler, Jeanette George, Irving Hutchison, Mary Jeandell, Beattie Larimore, Harold Laws, William Marshall, James McGrath, Frank Moore, Julian Murray, Anna Poore, Elizabeth Reusch, Anna Stevens, J. Jay Walker and Joseph Wood.

Services at the Christiana M. E. Church next Sunday will be: Sunday School at 10 a. m., worship service at 11. The odd fellows of Bear will hold their memorial service at this time. Rev. Green will speak upon the theme, "Appreciation." In the evening at 7:30 p. m., the New Castle County Ladies' Auxiliary will worship in a body. Rev. Green will speak upon the subject, "The Best Values in Life."

Children's day service will be held on Sunday evening, June 13.

Educational Trip

The Salem Young People's Society will take an educational trip to New York City next Saturday, leaving the church at 7 a. m. D.S.T.

The boy scouts will meet on Friday evening.

The annual strawberry festival of the Sunday School will be held on Thursday evening, June 10.

Christiana school dodge ball team played Ogletown team at Christiana last Thursday. Score, 17 to 2 in favor of Christiana. A return game was played at Ogletown last Monday, Christiana winning with a score of 7 to 1.

Erect Standards

New basketball standards have recently been erected through the support of Homer Vincent, Irving Hutchison, Jesse Dever, Charles Thorpe, Herman Stradley, H. A. Phelps and the P.T.A.

The local 4-H Club will continue its monthly meetings during the summer months in addition to their project meetings. The June meeting will be held on Friday evening the 25th at 8 p. m. standard time. All meetings will be held the fourth Friday evening. At the last meeting of the club, Miss Rutherford, county leader, awarded a scholarship to Christiana, to the short course at the University of Delaware. These scholarships were only awarded to clubs which have done outstanding work during the year. The children selected Anna Amoroso for this scholarship. Elizabeth Reusch was selected to go also, the cost of which was earned by the club.

Holiday Creates Lull In Juniors' Attendance

"Since Monday was a holiday, it had a detrimental effect on our attendance," A. Neal Smythe, publicity chairman for the American Flag Council, No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., said this week, in an interview.

"Our meetings during the summer will all boast of special features," he continued. "Next Monday night will be 'National Constitution Night,' Mr. Smythe announced, "and it's sure to be an interesting session."

"On Saturday, we plan to visit the council at Norristown, Pa., where a large initiation will be held," he concluded.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear brother, Allen P. Dickerson.

One more year has passed, dear brother,

Since you have gone to rest.

But the ones who think of you today

Are those who loved you best.

Sadly missed by his sister,

Mrs. Myrtle Gregg and Family.

Glasgow and Cooch's Bridge

By Mrs. J. Leslie Ford

The 227th anniversary of Pencader Presbyterian Church and the 21st annual reunion of the Cemetery Association was celebrated on Sunday with Rev. Dr. Edwin H. Rian, president of Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, as the morning speaker. His topic was "The Church the Light of the World." He urged to study and believe the Bible as it was written. A solo was sung by Miss Elinor Brown, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brown, a descendant from both the Barr and Brown families of the fourth generation. Mrs. Richard Cooch of Newark also sang a solo. A meeting of the cemetery association took place between morning and afternoon services. The following officers were named: Francis A. Cooch, president; Harry Frazer, vice-president; Miss Mary M. Janvier, secretary and treasurer; superintendent of cemetery, W. C. Brooks; directors, Allen Brown, Miss Elizabeth Clark, Gov. Richard McMullen, Bayard Kendall, Rev. Walter H. Stone, pastor of First M. P. Church of Wilmington, was the afternoon speaker. He is a nephew of a former pastor in 1894. His topic was "The Church of Yesterday, the Church of Today." A chorus of 12 voices sang two selections. Rev. Henry G. Welton, pastor of the church, presided and gave a brief history of the church. Rev. Robert Hodgson, pastor of Glasgow M. E. Church, pronounced the benediction.

Son Born

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Slack are receiving congratulations on a fine 7½ pound baby boy born on Tuesday in Wilmington General Hospital. The baby has been made John Wilson Slack. Mrs. Slack will be remembered as Miss Sarah Wilson. Mother and son are doing nicely.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Williams, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley J. Ford, of Wilmington, spent Monday with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Ford.

Mrs. Fred Ferris, of Baltimore, spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Frazer.

Mrs. Florence Barr, of Iron Hill and Mrs. Margaret Ball, of Baltimore, Md., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barr.

Miss Dorothy Wright has been confined to her home with tonsillitis.

The Wesh Tract School picnic has been changed from June 11 to June 10, on account of school closing one day sooner than expected.

STANTON

By Miss Emma S. Maclary

The first grade of the Stanton school, under the direction of Miss Ruth Bell, presented an original play entitled "A Day On The Farm" at the school on Thursday afternoon, which was the result of a unit of work on "Farm Life."

The second grade, under the direction of Mrs. Ada Helmbreck, presented an original play "Saber Tooth And The Fire Clan." All scenery, costumes and properties for these two original plays, were made by the children. Mrs. Phyllis Heck, supervisor, as well as parents and friends of the children, witnessed the performance.

The 4-H Club of Stanton school met on Thursday afternoon at the school, with Miss Rutherford, New Castle County 4-H leader, and H. McCaulley, state leader, present. Members from this group are planning to attend the short course to be held at the University of Delaware this summer.

Closing exercises of the Stanton School will be held June 10, on the lawn adjoining the school, and a special musical program is being arranged.

Lions Elect Brewer To Head Club During Year

Wayne C. Brewer, insurance broker, who is the only member of the Lions Club of Newark with a perfect record for attendance since the group was formed in 1927, was elected president Tuesday night. He will replace Joseph M. McVey, who presided at the session.

Other officers named are Daniel Stoll, first vice president; Paul R. Lovett, second vice president; I. Newton Sheaffer, third vice president; A. E. Tomhave, secretary and treasurer; Herman Handloff, lion tamer; C. H. Rutledge, tailwister, and J. K. Speicher and W. C. Waples, directors for two years.

Herbert W. Mason and Mr. Speicher were elected as alternate delegates to the Lions International convention scheduled for Chicago in July.

The Lions endorsed the plan advanced by the Newark New Century Club for keeping the University of

Pupils Give Recital In Local Methodist Church

The first of a series of recitals was given by the piano pupils of Miss Marion C. Gilmore last Friday evening in the social hall of the Newark M. E. Church.

Those participating were: Betty Jane Perry, Anna Perry, Jane Klair, Alice Yearsley, Wanda Gilmore, Ella Pierson, Robert Hollingsworth, Florence Cranston, Betty Mumford, Alice Kendall, Nancy McAtter, Carolyn Guthrie, Nancy Lysle, Sara Klair and Mary Alice Pierson.

Tomorrow evening another group of Miss Gilmore's pupils will be presented in a recital in the Avongrove School.

Robin Hood Theatre To Sponsor Novice Group

The Robin Hood Theatre, Arden, will this summer offer a few qualified students of the theatre the opportunity of working in close connection with a professional organization.

Following an experimental season in 1936, when apprentices were accepted for the first time, the Robin Hood management has decided to sponsor an apprentice group. The plan will be carried out from July 5 to August 28.

It is estimated that 1,750,000 tourists visited Florida last season, spending $625,000,000.

Meeting Date Changed

The next regular meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church will be held in the form of a picnic at the home of Miss Jennie Smith, S. College Ave., on June 12. The session was originally scheduled for June 10.

Mrs. L. H. Pennington To Head White Clay Creek Group Coming Year

STAGE QUILTING PARTY

By Miss Sara A. Pennington
Mermaid, June 2—Officers of the White Clay Creek Improvement Society were elected to serve for the coming year at the monthly meeting on May 26, with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lindell of Milltown Road as hosts. They are: president, Mrs. L. H. Pennington; vice-president, Mrs. David Eastburn; secretary, Mrs. Howard Bradley; treasurer, Mrs. Nathaniel Richards.

The society completed the plans for the painting of the interior of the Sunday School rooms and hallways and the refinishing of the floors. The work will be started about June 21.

Full Program Given
Mrs. Louis Krapf and Mrs. P. C. Vansant had charge of the program as follows: hymn, "Softly and Tenderly," by men accompanied by Carroll Hamill; recitation, "The Little One-Room School," by Mrs. Jane Chambers; piano solo, "A Polka," by Laura Jane Vought; Mother's Day readings by Miss Sara Pennington; piano solos by Mr. Abner Woodward; reading, "A Mother's Day Acrostic," by Miss Pearl Vought; vocal solos by Mrs. P. C. Vansant and Mrs. Lillian Eastburn; a spelling contest conducted by Miss Iva Eastburn and Miss Madeline Johnson.

Members of the White Clay Creek Missionary Society and their guests held a quilting in Harmony Grange hall last Thursday. The patches were pieced by Mrs. Addie Pennoek, one of the oldest members of the society. Five patchwork quilts were completed and will be given to the Needlework Guild at Hockessin this fall for distribution. Those attending were: Mrs. Pennoek, Mrs. Mary Smalley, Mrs. Alice Appleby, Mrs. L. H. Pennington, Mrs. Leslie Derrickson, Mrs. Ferris Eastburn, Mrs. Harry Brackin, Mrs. Harvey Ball, Mrs. Abner Woodward and daughter, Margie, Mrs. Walter Scott, Mrs. Eugene Woodward, Miss Mary Rubenecame, Miss Clara D. Morrison, and Miss Sara Pennington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pennington and children, Billy and Emilie Ann, were guests of friends in Sellersville, Pa., on Sunday.

THIS WEEK—150 YEARS AGO

The Story of the Constitutional Convention of 1787

BY RAYMOND PITCAIRN

UNIQUE IN GOVERNMENT
"Something new in history!" Thus have historians described a principle of government evolved by delegates to the Constitutional Convention which met in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, just a century and a half ago.

And it was exactly 150 years ago this week—from May 30 to June 5—that members of the Convention, sitting as a Committee of the Whole, first considered seriously that unique idea.

Briefly, it was the plan of our Federal form of Republic, combining a number of states, each with its own powers, under a central government with separate executive, legislative and judicial authority—a "sovereign nation of many sovereign states."

But this was only one of numerous ideas, more or less novel to the political thought of the day, that were introduced, weighed and sifted at that history-making meeting.

Informally its members approved also the now familiar idea of balanced powers among the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial Departments of the National Government, which became so distinctive a feature of our American system.

Vigorously the majority of them fought to put the reins of authority in the hands of the people.

Firmly many insisted that both the Executive and the Legislative branches be held responsive to the public will.

Voices notable in American history were raised in the demand for popular rule and individual rights when the Committee considered methods of choosing members of the proposed Congress.

James Madison, "Father of the Constitution," announced that he considered the popular election of one branch of the National Legislature as essential to every plan of free Government.

George Mason, of Virginia, declared it should be "the grand depository of the democratic principles of the Government," insisting that "we ought to attend to the rights of every class of the people."

James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, wished "authority to flow immediately from the legitimate source of all authority . . . the mind of the people at large."

Benjamin Franklin pointed out that an Assembly elected by the people "cannot easily become dangerous to liberty; they are the servants of the People, sent together to do the People's business."

With the distrust of royalty still fresh in their minds, the delegates were similarly eager to keep the proposed Executive responsive to the people.

Governor Randolph, sponsor of the Virginia Plan, wanted to divide the Executive authority among three men, lest one assume kingly prerogatives. "The permanent temper of the people," he said, "is adverse to the very semblance of monarchy."

Franklin wanted the Executive to serve without pay. Many delegates were opposed to granting him the power to veto any acts of the Legislature.

Finally the Committee of the Whole approved a plan proposing that a single Executive be chosen by the elected Legislature, and that his veto could be overridden by a two-thirds vote of the Congress.

These and other democratic proposals were vigorously defended—and not infrequently opposed—during succeeding weeks, when debated in the formal sessions of the Convention. Many, of course, were changed—as later articles will show.

Next Week: Big States vs. Small.

Hollywood Ghosts

Say, you Mrs. Movie Fan, did you ever sit through a picture with your husband and then, when it was all over have him rave about the leading lady's singing voice? And you Mr. Movie Fan, you've probably listened patiently while your wife loudly praised the hero saying she didn't see how a man could be so good looking and yet have such a "divine voice." Well, in the case of lots of movies, you both could have had the last laugh. If you only had known what the film's producers knew. For quite often it isn't the hero's baritone that is raised in song at all. True he is holding his loved one in his arms and he may look as though he is warbling away for dear life, but many times the voice is that of a "ghost singer." Sopranos, contraltos, tenors and basses, these ghosts double for the stars who either can't warble themselves or don't quite fill the particular vocal requirements of the picture. Remember the famous "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" sequence in "The Great Ziegfeld"? You probably admired personally Stanley Morner as the Boy to Virginia Bruce's duly glorified Girl. But none other than Allen Jones sang the song. Take the highly successful "Wake Up and Live." Jack Haley gleaned armfuls of bouquets for that one. Yet in reality he did some of the singing and "Ghost Singer," Buddy Clark was responsible for the rest. Tricky, these Hollywood people. Eh, what.

Sparkling entertainment, combining whirlwind comedy with a delightful romance, catchy music and some of the most unique dance numbers in recent years, forms the basis of "Shall We Dance?" RKO Radio's new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers musical offering. With Edward Everett Horton and Eric Blore heading the featured cast, the new picture is said to offer a wealth of novelties. The story deals with a turbulent love affair between a famous ballet dancer who brings his company to this country and a noted revue artist with whom he falls in love. George and Ira Gershwin composed the song hits of the Pandro S. Berman production. Eight spectacular dance routines are woven into the story, along with several unique ensembles.

Monday and Tuesday

Modern writers who bring down the wrath of governments on their heads by too pointed reference to actual history might learn a lesson from the example of Mark Twain, famous American humorist and man of letters. In his foreword to "Prince and the Pauper" which incidentally will be repeated at the start of the First-National picture of that name being played at this theatre these two days, Twain cleverly side-stepped possible criticism in this manner: "This is not a history, but a tale of once upon a time, so it may have happened, it may not have happened, but it could have happened." Which anyone will agree, is completely disarming and a person who would take issue with his text after that must indeed be captious. First-National is fortunate in having the 12-year-old Mauch twins, Billy and Bobby, in the title roles. Errol Flynn, who has soared to stardom in less than a year shares the top billing with the two young boys.

"Outcast" is the story of a woman who devotes her life to avenge what she believes to have been a murder committed by a physician. She falls in love with the man, but too late to save them both from the fury of a mob whose hatred she has incited. The supporting cast includes Jackie Moran, Christian Rub, Jonathan Hale, Esther Dale, John Wray and many other feature and character players.

NYA Conducts Survey Of Crippled Children

The National Youth Administration, cooperating with schools, social and civic clubs, welfare agencies, hospitals, individuals and the State Board of Health, has compiled a record of crippled children in Delaware.

The purpose of the survey is to determine the number of crippled children who need medical attention, their ailments, and to attempt to pro-

Records indicate that a total of 406 crippled children are in the state. New Castle County has 259; 56 are in Kent County; and 91 in Sussex County. The record has not been entirely completed.

Filed with the children's bureau of the Department of Labor at Washington, and with the State Board of Health at Dover, the record is available to any group or individual wishing to use it legitimately.

The NYA requests that the names of any crippled children be forwarded to headquarters at Sixth and King Streets, Wilmington, in order to complete tabulation.

ANNUAL SHORT COURSE OPENS HERE JUNE 13

Delaware Homemakers Gather For Three Days at Women's College, U. of D.

FILING DEADLINE SET

Homemakers from over Delaware will meet June 13 to 16 at the Women's College, University of Delaware, for the second annual homemakers short course, it has been announced by Mrs. Helen McKinley, state leader of home demonstration work, who is in charge of the meeting.

The annual affair, which last year brought 60 women to the university campus, is planned this year to be even more attractive to those interested in the various phases of home-making, according to Mrs. McKinley. This year the program will include, besides three days of life in one of the dormitories at the Women's College, talks and demonstrations on foods, clothing, economics, interior decoration, landscaping, use of leisure time, and nature study, as well as a schedule of recreation and entertainment.

Swimming Hour Feature
A new feature of the recreational program will be a daily swimming hour at which a Red Cross expert will be present to give instruction and to guard swimmers. Several well-known speakers, all specialists in various lines of endeavor of interest to homemakers, have been scheduled to appear during the short course to present talks or demonstrations.

Following last year's plan, only those who enroll for the entire short course and who live in the dormitory at the Women's College will be permitted to attend the meetings, Mrs. McKinley pointed out. She explained that such a rule was necessary to prevent interruptions at the lectures and demonstrations and said that the dormitory life was as much a part of the short course as the talks and demonstrations in that it presented an opportunity for the women attending to become acquainted with one another and to exchange ideas.

Applications Piling Up
Applications for registration have already started to come into Mrs. McKinley's office. She stated that no applications could be received after June 10 and that all expecting to attend the short course must have their applications in her hands on or before that date.

Applications should be sent to Mrs. Helen McKinley, State Leader of Home Demonstration Work, University of Delaware, Newark. The cost of the short course has been set at $5.00 which will include room in the dormitory, meals, and supplies for the study periods.

A WORD ABOUT DOMESTIC PETS

Merely chaining pets in the yard is not sufficient protection against contraction of rabies, warns Clarence S. Foster, chief game warden of the Delaware Fish and Game Commission. Rabies continues to appear in northern New Castle County, and Newark owners, for the protection of their pets and themselves, will do their utmost to avoid contamination by contact with strange animals.

It is not necessary that an animal appear rabid to be infectious, nor need it bite another animal to transmit the disease, Mr. Foster states. The disease may be passed on through transmission of saliva from an infected animal to a cut in the body of a non-infected animal.

Another dangerous practice, he points out, is that of allowing pets to take a short run alone. No length of time is necessary for an animal to acquire the rabies germ. The occasional solo run may prove entirely as dangerous as a whole day on the loose.

Since the discovery of a rabid dog in Wilmington in March, 15 have been examined by the State Board of Health laboratory, and 12 of them have been found to be victims of rabies. ALL OF THE RABID DOGS HAVE COME FROM NORTH OF THE CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL. NEWARK OWNERS SHOULD TAKE SPECIAL COGNIZANCE OF THE SITUATION.

"AS MAINE GOES—"

Maine is certainly pointing the way for traffic accident control in at least one respect. That is, curtailing the activities of the drunken driver.

A survey recently completed by the Maine Highway Safety Campaign revealed that one-fifth of motor vehicle fatalities in Maine in 1936 had liquor associated with them. Even in 1936 Maine had effectively reduced traffic fatalities as compared with the preceding year. However, not satisfied with partial success, she is now setting out to better her own record with special emphasis placed on drunken driving. The motor vehicle division urged better cooperation by the courts in handling cases involving drunkenness, and held certain "legal loopholes" and technicalities to be inimical to effective law enforcement.

Public officials, as well as the citizens of Maine, realize that the drunken driver is a criminal to be handled the same as any other criminal. Both menace society. There is absolutely no excuse for driving while under the influence of liquor. Every person doing so is a potential murderer. In some respects the drunken driver is even worse than the average murderer because the murderer usually commits his crime in the heat of passion. The drunken driver blunders along with callous indifference toward all who are unfortunate enough to be in his path of death.

Maine is to be congratulated, as are all other states that take a determined stand to "wipe out" the drunken driver.

NO LONGER A "LABOR" QUESTION

The labor situation has reached a point where it affects every citizen.

The unlawful occupation of property by workers to enforce their demands, and the breakdown of our law enforcement agencies in protecting the property owner, is a new experience in the United States. It is but one step removed from revolution.

If one class of citizens can dispossess another class of the use of their property, it is only a step further to take over such property permanently. We have witnessed that in Russia and Spain.

If workmen stop and think, they will see that they are destroying their own safety and liberty when they foment revolutionary practices.

Thoughtful persons who have the best interests of workers at heart, can only warn them against such tactics which in the long run will lose unless government stability is destroyed—then what?

A FRIEND PASSES

While the present editors of this paper never had any direct or indirect business contacts with Ona Singles, who suffered a tragic and untimely death Sunday in an unusual automobile mishap, we have learned to know and appreciate her by reputation.

Blunt in manner and willing to sacrifice diplomacy for results, Miss Singles contributed valuable and valiant service toward the life of the paper during many dark and trying years of its existence.

We admire a fighter and Miss Singles was all of that. She refused to be stopped by red tape and insignificant details, but obtained prompt and ready results by dint of a forceful character that would not be denied. There are too few people of that kind in the world and their passing is to be regretted.

That we knew Miss Singles at all was a privilege. That we were never associated with her makes her passing a two-fold loss.

WHY NOT TRY ANOTHER STREET?

As the time draws near for another state-wide inspection of motor vehicles, we think it appropriate to suggest a change in site for the examination of cars in Newark.

When Orchard Road was selected several years ago, we have been informed the street was not developed and habited as it is today. Growing rapidly, however, it has become not only a show place in the town, but is likewise an important artery. Its temporary closing causes inconvenience for residents and others want to use the street. And the incidental noises connected with the inspection are not entirely conducive to a quiet neighborhood.

Since a portion of lower Academy Street is almost entirely unpopulated, it might be wise to shift the scene of the inspection to that thoroughfare. Traffic to and from the growing section in the southern end of Newark could easily be handled on College Avenue.

GROWING UP WITH TREES

LYDIA LION ROBERTS

In speaking about conditions among the natives of Africa, Livingstone once said, "When a tribe takes an interest in trees, it becomes more attached to the spot in which they are planted, and they prove one of the civilizing influences."

If we in these modern times value our trees, wish to endorse reforestation and agree that Livingstone's words are applicable to conditions in our country today, we shall teach our children the worth and dignity of a tree. We shall try to open their eyes from babyhood to the dignity and gracious beauty of green branches set in the pattern of a tree growing tall against the sky.

Teach About Trees

Every child should be taught to regard trees as blessings, as natural assets of life, as treasures which must be guarded from vandalism and cherished for both practical and esthetic reasons. A little ceremony may add to the pleasure when a tree is planted on home grounds; perhaps each child may be given a tree of his own to care for and especially enjoy. A tree diary or record might be kept by the children as seasons bring their changes to the young trees and growth increases their beauty.

If the city plants trees along certain sidewalks, the children should be helped to think of them as a personal responsibility and realize that these trees are adding to the value and attractiveness of their home, street and city. They may water the trees, protect them from injury and take pride in their steady growth. The trees in parks and reservations, in picnic grounds and woodlands are in great need of this attitude on the part of young people. There is much need of education for both child and adult on the importance of saving our trees and spreading the understanding of tree-love.

Schools Foster Appreciation

The schools try to foster this appreciation of trees by suggestion, story and song, and by observance of Arbor Day. Sometimes the planting of trees on the school grounds is made an occasion for instilling a love and admiration for all trees. The parents often cooperate with the teachers by attending the exercises or contributing something towards them, or at least by showing a definite interest in the subject and inspiring their children to further study.

We should be sure that the children know these reasons, that they understand how trees are regarded by both the practical man and the poet, by the farmer and the architect, the home-lover and the traveler. Anyone interested in child development, in character training, or anyone who works as parent, educator, or merely as a friend will be wise to include an appreciation and love of trees. I began with a quotation from Livingstone, let me close with one from Luther Burbank. He once said, "The substantial, the thrifty, the worthy, and the likeable classes of people plant trees—the planted and tended tree is as sure a sign of civilization as a revered flag, or a church spire, or a schoolhouse belfry."

GOOD ON DOUBLE PLAYS

The combination of Del Young at second and George Scharen at short-stop for the "Phillies" has proved to be the finest double play duo in the National League. According to the last averages they led their nearest competitors, the Cincinnati "Reds," by six twin killings.

LEO NORRIS NEAR RECORD

Playing second base for the "Phillies" against Brooklyn, Leo Norris came within one accepted chance of tying the modern fielding record for second baseman. Leo had 3 putouts and 7 assists for 15 accepted chances and missed a new mark when he erred on two other opportunities.

Maryland Youth Awarded Rich Yale Scholarship

Paul Eugene Graybeal, a student at the Tome School, Port Deposit, and a resident of Rising Sun, has been awarded one of the two scholarships just established for next year by the Edwin Gould Foundation. This is one of the largest and most important awards available at Yale.

Young Graybeal's excellent school record and the remarkable showing he made in the regional tests to qualify for such scholarship, placed him in the top group of this year's scholarship applicants.

Graybeal will receive his diploma and other honors from Tome on June 14.

ROAMIN' WITH RUTLEDGE

Making Good, At Last

Finally given a chance to show his stuff without interference, "Irish" O'Connell has made good as a coach the first time out. Believing, with plenty of reason, that opportunity only knocks once, O'Connell has accomplished things in a big way.

"THE ROAMER"

Irish's baseball "orphans"—step-children in the scheme of things at Newark High School—won't gain any national recognition on their 1937 record. They won't even gain much of a rating in Delaware on wins and losses. For general improvement, however, they'll just about top the pile in the state.

Minus the services of Robert (Bones) Egnor, who is playing better ball as an independent performer than anyone ever thought possible, O'Connell has practically the same team that represented the local school a year ago. He faced practically the same schedule as last year, too.

Instead of losing games to Wilmington, P. S. duPont, Conrad and other schools by football scores, however, Irish's charges are losing by close margins of one and two runs. A little more punch and their record for the year would surpass anything in Delaware.

On what he has shown as a diamond mentor and in view of his background as an athlete, we'd suggest that O'Connell be given a free hand with the athletic program at the Academy Street institution.

R-W-R

Fibre Helmets

The tragic accident to Mickey Cochran may have its beneficial result to players throughout the country, if baseball authorities and manufacturers will seriously consider methods now being advanced for the protection of batters.

While tests are being made with pith helmets, a new lightweight polo cap made of fibre which is strong enough to guard polo players against flying balls—made of willow wood—or even a mallet blow, has been suggested for baseball hitters.

Another suggestion is a fibre skull cap that could be worn under the head covering now used by players.

In any event, pith or fibre—players should be protected. And with Newark producing its share of fibre for the world at large, there is reason to hope that the needed protector can be developed and manufactured here.

R-W-R

Taken At Random

Vic Willis, Senior and Junior, have teamed up as quoit tossers. Not horseshoes, explains the elder of the two, but quoits. While generally pleased with their success, the Willis duo moans for some stern competition. They claim to have stopped everything in and around Newark and are looking for new fields to conquer.

Earl Sheats, who tagged college pitchers at a .412 gait for the University of Delaware this spring, and who would be breaking down fences (if fences existed around Wilmington ball parks) as a member of the St. Ann's team in the City League, has a tough time to hit New Castle County League pitchers, when he makes an occasional appearance with Glasgow. Yet it was with that team that Sheats first gained his reputation as a slugger.

Pete Sivess, Dickinson College alumnus and known to members of Delaware's 1936 baseball outfit, was recently optioned by the Phillies to Milwaukee in the American Association. Regarded as a fine prospect by Manager Jimmy Wilson, Sivess should acquire the polish he needs to make the big-time grade. It's a long step from college company into the big top that few players make without minor league experience.

It is reported around the Delaware campus that Eddie Graham will not be back next year, but will transfer his baseball ability to Duke University, where Jack Coombs has an uncanny habit of developing big league material.

BEAGLES SHOW AT COWEVIEW FARM

Yellowjackets Journey 13 Innings To Defeat Milford Sunday

EASTERN CLUB CLASSIC DRAWS
120 HOUNDS FOR EXHIBITION

Entries Close For Annual Showing Of Prize Dogs; Rich Awards Draw Animals From Noted Kennels; First Class Called For 11 O'Clock Sunday

With the final closing of entries last Sunday, the 1937 specialty show of the Eastern Beagle Club will far surpass any previous event staged by the local organization of dog fanciers. This year's show, which will be held at Coweview Farm, Glasgow, next Sunday, will offer a total entry of 120 beagles.

Many Prizes Listed

Cash prizes and silver trophies listed for winning owners far exceed the offerings of any other beagle club in the country, which will enable the Eastern show to draw many outstanding hounds. This gathering of fine animals, many of them valued at thousands of dollars, should prove a rare treat for all lovers of the common rabbit hound in this vicinity.

Prominent among the contenders for the top award will be Foxcatcher Beagles, owned by Mrs. William du Pont, Jr., of Bellevue. The string lists such outstanding hounds as Ch. Delco Minor, probably the most famous beagle being shown at the present time. Ch. Foxcatcher Meryman, another famed and valuable hound, and Ch. Foxcatcher Squire are also entered by Mrs. du Pont.

Leaders From Pennsylvania

Ross S. Robinson's Sankanne beagles from Kimberton, Pa., headed by Sankanne Peter Pan, will come in for plenty of attention. Saddlerock Kennels, of New Hope, Pa., will be represented by an array of hounds, as will Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Bissell's Stockford beagles; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Snyder's Grandview beagles from Phoenixville, Pa., and the Bohemia River Kennels, owned by John W. Scott, Earlville, Md.

A large entry has been made in the special class for members of the club and it is expected that Horace F. Shearer, Pittsburgh, Pa., expert, who will judge the show, will have as difficult a time selecting the entries in this class as he will have in the class composed of champions who will be competing for the top award.

Prepared For Rain

Conducted on daylight saving time, the show will start at 11 o'clock, when the first class will be called. No admission fee will be charged and ample facilities have been provided in the event of rain.

Inasmuch as the show is being held primarily for the convenience of exhibitors, there will be no benching of hounds for public inspection.

With the interstate complexion of the show, the committee in charge consists of Ross S. Robinson, chairman; Winfield S. Conner, Glasgow; William P. Fisher, Charles T. Hartmann, August Mayer and Robert Slaughter, all of Wilmington; Harvey G. Hayes, Marshallton; Charles Marlowe, Jr., Elkton; and Eugene Regener, Elsmere.

Officers of the club are R. Wirt Willis, Glasgow, president; Matthew J. Haley, Wilmington, vice-president; and Raymond V. Buckingham, Newark, secretary-treasurer.

Newark Marathon
Taken By Quaker
City Vet Runner

Philadelphia runners representing the Passon A. A. showed their heels to a field of 20 starters in the second annual "baby" marathon sponsored by the Alto A. C. here last Saturday.

With the 40-year-old William Wilson covering the 10-mile course on one hour flat, the first six places were captured by harriers wearing the Passon silks.

Charles Deputy, winner of the eight-mile affair in 1936 and a former star distance runner at the University of Delaware, finished seventh. Representing Wyoming, Deputy was the first Delawarean to cross the line.

Walter White of the host club was the first Newarker to complete the course, finishing strong in 1:16:40, three minutes and twenty second back of Deputy. Wayne Pierce, Alto, headed the field over the first mile and a half, but was soon raced out by the steady Philadelphia group.

Honors For 1937

Earl Sheats, Middletown High School turnout and a freshman at the University of Delaware, slammed out 28 safeties in 68 trips to the plate for 1937 with an average of .412. He will receive the gold baseball, awarded annually to the leading hitter by Mayor Frank Collins.

In second position, Ferris Leon (Sluggo) Wharton completed the schedule with an average of .395. Thirty-eight times at bat resulted in 15 bingles for the former Newark Highlet who was at the top of the heap for a lengthy period during the course of the season.

Trailing Wharton, Eddie Graham, after a bang-up start, slipped from the top of the heap in favor of Sheats, to wind up the year with a .342 percentage. The Caesar Rodney offspring garnered 27 safe blows in 79 journeys to the platter and also led in stolen bases with a total of 6 pilfered advances to his credit.

Roland Pusey (Boney) Jackson, another Newarker, wound up in the fourth spot with a .317 finale while Lew Carey followed the hurler with a mark of .313. Captain Dick (Pink) Roberts occupied the seventh position with a mark of .269, trailing Harold Hickman who hung up a .294. Jack Daly followed two steps behind Roberts with an average of .210.

Team averages for Coach Gerald (Doc) Doherty's batters revealed only six Hens above the slugging mark of .283 while seven cleared the mass fielding average of .890.

A complete summary of batting and fielding averages for the year is as follows.

Winter Vs. Whiteman

Fresh from their thrilling, 13-inning triumph over Milford, Cleaver Potts' Newark Yellowjackets will battle the Diamond Ice and Coal Company array at Continental Field on Sunday. The game will start at 2:45, daylight time.

Headed by the redoubtable George Winter, who is scheduled to oppose Paul Whiteman on the mound, the Dico delegation is undefeated in the Wilmington Industrial League this year.

On their last visit to Newark they swamped the Jackets, after the local club had won a 7-to-4 verdict at Townsend early in the campaign.

Enthusiasts Requested To Enlist In Newark Post Tennis Tournament

DEADLINE — JUNE 19

By Ace Seeds

Entry blanks are now available for the Second Annual NEWARK POST Tennis Tournament, scheduled to take place the week of June 26 on the University of Delaware courts.

Increased Number Expected

Last year's contests brought some twenty-five aspirants to the courts to vie for the supremacy of the town and the 1937 tourney is expected to enroll many more into the fight for the statuette trophy awarded to the singles champion.

Since the trophy must be won three years for permanent possession, an additional award of a gold medal will be presented to the singles winner. Gold medals will also be awarded to the members of the winning doubles team.

A special invitation is issued to summer school students and University of Delaware faculty members in the hope that the list of entries will swell to unprecedented proportions.

According to present plans for the event, matches will be scheduled for all day Saturday and Sunday, in the hope that the tournament will gain enough headway to finish on the following day.

TO OVERTIME WIN OVER SELBY

Final Count 3-to-1 As Wharton and Roberts Score In Last Stanza; "Squeeze Play" Aids Jackets; Sheats Gets 3 Blows; Wharton, Daly and Egnor Glitter In Field

By "The Roamer"

Memorial Day turned into a memorable one for the Newark Yellowjackets who took the long ride to Milford and then spent a long afternoon in defeating Doc Grier's classy combine, 3-to-1, in thirteen innings. In stopping the 1936 independent champions of the Delmarva Peninsula, the Jackets broke a two-game losing streak and handed the home horde their initial reverse of the 1937 campaign.

Patched Line Up

With Bones Egnor subbing for Vic Willis at first base and Ferris (Pop) Wharton doing the chores at third base in place of Bill Barrow, Newark's pre-game attitude was anything but confident. Once the battle started, however, the Jackets showed their mettle by outlasting the vaunted Milford crew in a grueling test.

Behind the sterling pitching of Paul Whiteman, who limited the slugging Molar Menders to nine hits, three of which were bunched for a lone run in the eighth, the Newarkers, on the other hand, found Johnny Selby's and Tim Hall's offerings for eleven safe blows, all singles. Outside of Johnny Johnson's scratch double, the game was devoid of extra-base hits.

Earl Sheats again paced Newark's attack with three blows in five official trips to the plate. Jackie Myers, Wharton and Ernie George each contributed two blows to the Newark

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

FROM COUNTLESS SOURCES we are pumpled with the question, "What good will a Newark tennis club do me? And we have endeavored to present the story side of the picture to our interrogators, have heard the query so many times that it has become like unto the maddening drip, drip of water from a faulty faucet and the pity of it all is that we have accomplished nothing by way of relieving this torture.

Following our explanation, our grilles merely shake heads, knot bushy eyebrows, rub chins and stroke beards (if they have one), emoting doubt in a most emphatic manner.

True enough, even the fact that we are interested enough to take the time to ask about advantages shows there is some interest, but "Time Marches On" and to date, the pecuniary response has been a little more than nil.

Advantages of such an organization have been pointed out, and there are advantages. The group cannot act without funds, consequently we submit an urgent plea for those who would like to see the plans take shape to pay the small entry fee. Nothing will be done with the money unless the return is large enough to take a definite advantageous step toward the purchasing of equipment and if the amount falls short of the mark, all membership fees will be refunded.

Let's see a few entry fees roll in.

MISCELLANEOUS—Eddy Graham, flashy Blue Hen outfielder took a terrific beating from Newark teammates on Sunday. At least that is the report from Slugger Wharton, who played for the Yellow Jackets against Milford. Graham, performing for the 1936 state champions, was limited to a single hit in six plate visits, and according to The Slugger, "It just did me good to gloat a little." Who's the goat now?

The most popular sport of the exam season seems to be dashing to the various book-buyers located here and there around the town and exchanging the mental torture machines into the metal stuff that jingles in your pockets (for a few fleeting seconds, at least).

ACCORDING TO THE REPORT, fame gave Wayne Pierce the cold-shoulder Saturday, despite the fact that the Newark youth coupled a sharp brain with a fighting heart.

It all happened at the finish of the baby marathon run and Bill Mitchell, a Philadelphia representative was loping easily down the home stretch, a few hops, steps and jumps ahead of the fagged Pierce. Realizing that the Newarker was finished, his gait was hardly more than a walk and Pierce, seeing an opportunity to take advantage of his opponent's indifference, crossed to the sidewalk and turned it on, dashing towards the goal behind the friendly shelter of parked automobiles.

The Philadelphian discovered the cause as Pierce drew even with him and a mad dash down the stretch provided the closest finish of the meet as the local lad dropped the decision by a nose. And so Pierce's attempt to grab the fourteenth position was never but not clever enough, and the moral of the story is, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," or why run in the doggone thing anyway?

BEROOVES US to amble into our garden, select the largest daisy in bloom and pluck and present it to John (Soap) Fisher, sagacious reviewer of films slated for our fair city.

We opine that Film Fancier Fisher should be awarded the Pulitzer prize for a most understanding commentary on William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," in last week's edition of this paper.

In soul stirring words, Fisher hints, "What a man this Shakespeare must have been to write a script that would prove as alive as ever after 400 years and that the crossing of an ocean and a continent would not defeat."

He waxes poetic, "Words are deathless, if beautiful enough it can be argued."

And even more poetic, with this, "Certainly the sheer poetry of the line never ravished across footlights more incredibly than here spoken from the miraculous lips of a machine."

He concludes with a tribute to the makers of today, thusly, "Incredible is the word for this loyal service to a great poet by the most modern arts."

Tish, tish, John, you old flatterer.

Back On Land After Another Cruise (?)

No, the POST photographer must be wrong. The stalwart figures pictured here aren't English sailors. We know now, they're the Carey brothers, even though they aren't wearing athletic apparel furnished by the University of Delaware. Reading in the usual order, we find Lewis, age 23; John, age 25; and Fenton, age 21. The Blue Hen's famous brother trio serve as lifeguards at their native Ocean City, N. J., every year and are pictured in full dress uniform. "Lew" and Fenton are still in school, while John graduated last year after being named the most outstanding athlete of the season.

Paul Whiteman Hurls Newark To Overtime Win Over Selby

beat out a bunt for a single. Daly "squeezed" Roberts home to make the count 3-to-1.

Milford never had a chance in the home half of the inning as Whiteman retired them in one-two-three order.

High-Class Fielding

Although charged with one boot, Jack Daly handled 13 chances, five put-outs and eight assists, for a busy afternoon. Both the shortstop and Wharton turned in some great fielding plays to discourage Milford's scoring chances. Egnor, with 18 put-outs at first, also turned in a high-class fielding exhibition.

Selby, who is slated for Washington College next fall according to reports, fanned eight Newarkers while walking two. Whiteman fanned six and issued three passes. Two of the free tickets by Selby and Hall were instrumental in Newark's run.

The victory was the Jackets' fourth of the season against two setbacks.

lowing week-end, July 1 and 2.

Small Entry Fee

All persons wishing to take part in the tourney are asked to sign the official entry blank, and return it, with the entry fees, to THE NEWARK POST, care of the Tennis Editor. All entries are subject to approval of the tournament committee. Participants are urged to send in their blanks before June 19, the deadline set by tourney officials.

Entry blanks may be secured upon request to THE NEWARK POST. A small entry fee of 50c for the singles and 50c per team for the doubles matches is charged.

The winner of the singles championship will have his name engraved on the trophy and will have possession of the trophy for one year. Permanent possession will be obtained by being declared champion three years, not necessarily consecutively.

Due to the fact that adequate feminine interest can not be secured to merit a separate women's tourney, all girls interested are invited to participate in the men's championships.

Fossett Takes Lead In Summer Billiards Play

Jack Fossett, Newark, nabbed first place in the summer pocket billiards tournament being conducted at Jimmy Martin's State parlor, this week when Bus Vandegrif, Elkton, dropped his first start of the tourney. Don Pierce, another Newarker, and Vandegrif are tied in second place, one half game back of Fossett. Bub (Continued on Page 10)

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Pierson spent Sunday with his parents.

LOCAL NEWS

Twenty braves from Little Elk trailed, by way of the Federal transfer, to the hunting grounds of Wilmington, where they shared corn and venison of the Minqua tribe of that city. The new O. W. Wildoes' transfer was pronounced an excellent means of conveyance for a party of this size.

T. W. Moore, while operating his car, which runs between Wilmington and Newark, carrying express, was thrown from the vehicle and severely injured last Friday. He is now in a critical condition in one of the Wilmington hospitals.

Members of the Senior Class, Delaware College, are enjoying two weeks vacation, previous to the rush of commencement time.

Robert Potts has accepted a position at the American Vulcanized Fibre Company. Mr. Potts has been in the employ of the H. B. Wright Company for the past twenty-five years.

Rev. Francis Burgett Short, alumnus of Delaware College, who has many friends in Newark, is visiting in Wilmington, after a visit in Europe. Mr. Short had a ticket for his return voyage on the Titanic, planning to return on the third trip. He expects to be in his home, Salt Lake City, Utah, by June 20th.

Continental Wins Pair Over Twilight Rivals

Ellis Cullen's Continental Diamond Fibre aggregation won a thrilling, 1-to-0 victory over National Fibre last night at Continental Field, after defeating the Newark Cardinals last Friday night in a nip-and-tuck, 5-to-4 battle. Both games were Newark Twilight League affairs.

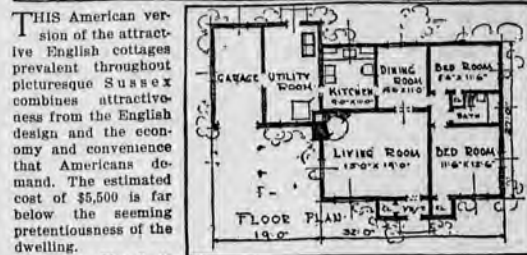

Reggie Conway and Boney Jackson hooked up in a grand hurling duel in the tilt last night. The former only granted two blows to earn the decision.

Jackson, who held the clouting Continentals to three safeties, was the victim of an error and two singles in the fifth. Crowe gained a life on a boot, advanced to third on Cole's single and crossed the plate when Paul Whiteman followed with another single.

"Sussex Place," English Cottage Plan, Points the Way to Easier Living Here

THIS American version of the attractive English cottages prevalent throughout picturesque Sussex combines attractiveness from the English design and the economy and convenience that Americans demand. The estimated cost of $5,500 is far below the seeming pretentiousness of the dwelling.

"Sussex Place" is really a cottage with an exceedingly compact plan. Whether one builds such a house or not, ideas for one's present home can be derived from it.

Notice particularly the utility room. It contains the heating arrangements as well as all the convenient home laundering facilities. There is no reason why half of a big kitchen or some back hall space, or even a big, inconvenient pantry cannot be adapted for the home laundering arrangements. The utility room shown contains the built-in tubs and the convenient household washer and ironer. A door leads to the drying yard, and the room's location between the garage and the kitchen makes it possible for the man of the house to clean up in the utility room before he ever enters the home proper.

Arrangements of this sort are becoming more and more popular, often being built into old homes, inasmuch as this kind of installation makes it so much easier and more convenient for the woman of the home to supervise all the washing and ironing arrangements.

Q.—When is the best time to paint buildings?

A.—Spring and summer are usually considered the best time of the year to paint buildings. The generally accepted rule is that outside painting should not be done when the temperature is likely to fall below 50 degrees.

Q.—Are beets that have been frozen poisonous?

A.—Freezing itself will not cause beets to become poisonous but they will spoil much more rapidly after they have become frozen. Spoiled beets have an objectionable odor. If the beets are soft but have no odor, they are probably still fit for use as food.

Q.—Do pullets require as much water in the winter as in the summer?

A.—Laying pullets should be provided with just as much water in the winter as in the summer. At this time of year they are laying heavily and since eggs are largely water, the birds need more than if they weren't laying. Plenty of water from which the chill has been removed should be provided if egg production is to be maintained.

Q.—Can hay be profitably fed to hogs?

A.—Good leaf alfalfa hay fed to brood sows during the winter when pastures are bad contains many valuable nutrients and cuts down feed costs. It would probably be profitable to feed it under these conditions.

Q.—What are the bluish colored flies which are sometimes found in the house during the winter?

A.—They are not large house flies as many people think but belong to other species which have varying habits. The more common of these species are called blow flies and breed in decaying meat. They enter houses to obtain protection from cold weather.

and J. H. Dickey, whose shot was just short of the nineteenth green.

F. L. Stiegler was awarded the silver spoon for the low net score of 68 on Sunday.

The local golf team defeated the duPont Country Club representatives here Saturday 46-42. B. F. Richards, ace Newark club swinger, had low medal with a score of 73.

Bridgegroom—What's the matter, dearest? You seem flustered.

Bride—Oh, it's nothing. This is the first time I have got married. I'll do better next time.

Local Couple To Leave Sunday For California

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Shakespeare, 333 S. College Avenue, will leave on Sunday for a trip of five weeks to California. Miss Alice Blackson, Delaware Avenue, and Miss Helen Hastings Holloway, Newark, Md., will accompany them on the journey which will be made by automobile.

Traveling by way of the southern route west and returning over the northern route, the party will visit the Grand Canyon, Boulder Dam, Sequoia National Park, Yosemite National Park, Mt. Rainer, Yellowstone National Park and Glacier National Park.

On the return trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shakespeare will visit relatives at Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

SPORTS SHORTS

Walter Johnson, probably the greatest pitcher that ever lived, retired from baseball, is preparing to operate a huge dairy at his home, New Germantown, Md., estate. Big Train, always a model slugger, doesn't look much older than he was when he mowed down such sluggers in his daily chores as Spencer, Cobb, Crawford and Jago.
