Chautauqua Here Saturday

Will Continue for Three Days

Program Contains Many Interesting Features

Chautauqua comes to Newark next Saturday, March 15, for three days. As in former years two entertainments of an unusually high order will be given on Saturday, on Monday, and on Tuesday.

It was originally planned to have Chautauqua early in November, but owing to the prevalence of influenza all dates were cancelled. At that time the following citizens agreed to act as guarantors: H. L. Bonham, Everett C. Johnson, L. K. Bowen, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, Wm. H. Evans, Harry Hayward, N. N. Wright, Thomas F. Manns, Bayard Murray, William E. Holton, Mrs. W. H. Muchmore, Edward L. Richards, H. E. Vinsinger, E. B. Wright, Walter Geist, W. A. Singles, Omega Alpha Fraternity, Sigma Nu Fraternity, and Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

At recent meetings of the guarantors it was decided to have this series of entertainments on the above named dates in Wolf Hall.

Miss Mabel Tebo will have charge of the Junior Chautauqua always an exceedingly interesting and enjoyable feature of the program.

On Saturday afternoon at 2.30 Chautauqua will open with a series of lectures followed by a concert given by the McKinnie Operatic Company composed of Telka Farm McKinnie, soprano; Adelaide Lewis, contralto; J. Allen Grubb, tenor; Bert McKinnie, baritone, and Margaret Day, pianist. This company is well known to music lovers in this and neighboring states.

They will also open the program on Saturday evening at 7.30. Ross Crane, cartoonist and clay molder, director of the Extension Department of Art Institute at Chicago, will follow with one of his humorous lectures, delivered while making cartoons with clay or brush.

On Monday, a series lecture at 2.30 will be followed by a concert given by the Jordan-Holmberg-Parker Company composed of three young women, a cellist a flutist, and a vocalist.

This same company will give a concert in the evening preceding a lecture by George H. Turner, an army Y.M.C.A. worker who has

Notes From Head of Christiana

Services at Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church will be at the usual time. The pastor's theme will be "The Overseer of the Treasury."

The Sewing Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Milburn next Saturday evening.

The Bible School will hold a bake and Shadow Social in the lecture room of the church on Thursday evening, March 13, for the benefit of the improvement fund of the church. Home made candies, cake and ice cream will be sold in addition to the usual good things sold at a bake.

Recently Mr. William Creswell Cowentown, presented to the church a handsome hymnal board as a memorial to his son, John Paul Creswell. Suitable services attended the unveiling of the gift. Sunday, March 23 will signalize the close of the Every Member Canvass for the Victory Fund. Head of Christiana expects to go "over the top" in contributions to the budget.

Will Move Back to Her Girlhood Home

Mrs. W. H. Taylor has sold her home on South College Avenue and has put her goods in storage for the present. She is now staying at the Newark Inn and Restaurant and expects soon to remove to Wilmington, her girlhood home and the home of many of her friends and acquaintances. Mrs. Taylor has been an active member of the Presbyterian Church here and of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. Her friends here wish her God Speed.

LOCAL "Y" WORKER TELLS OF TRIP TO FRANCE

Miss Alice Evans Has Eventful Voyage on the Leviathan

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Evans have received several interesting letters from their daughter Alice who sailed for France on February 16 to do recreational work in the "leave areas" there, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A.

Through the fortunate circumstance of meeting an acquaintance who was returning on the Leviathan, the vessel on which she had arrived, her letters were brought back and mailed in New York.

She tells in detail of the incidents of the voyage from the time the giant transport left Pier 4, Hoboken until it landed in Brest Harbor. Interesting experiences of the stay in this quaint French town together with marked post cards showing views of the harbor and the town from the contents of a second letter received at the same time.

After telling of the departure of the Leviathan under convoy of eight or nine tugs, she describes the dropping of the paravains as follows:

"The paravains are dropped on either side of the front of the boat to protect it from floating mines. They look like torpedoes and have at the end sharp knives which are used to cut the cords of the mines."

A full description of the vessel is given, particularly of the dining room, called "The Ritz Dining Hall," to which on account of the great number of passengers, only half may be admitted at one time. She supplements her description (Continued on Page 4)

SGT. GARRETT SUC-CUMBS TO PNEUMONIA

Came Through Thickest of Fighting Without a Wound

Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Garrett, Strickersville, Pa., were apprized recently of the death of their son, Clinton H., Bu. Sgt. Maj. Hq. Co. 314 Inf. in France, February 9, 1919 in the twenty-ninth year of his age from lobar pneumonia resulting from influenza.

Sgt. Garrett entered the service last May and went abroad July 8. He was in the thickest of the fighting and came through without a wound.

Sgt. Garrett, at the time of his enlistment, was a member of the Faculty of Kentucky Military Institute, Linden, Kentucky of which he has been a member for the past few years. He was a graduate of West Grove High School, Conway Hall and Dickinson College from which he graduated with honors, being a person of unusual mentality. While a student of Dickinson, he was a member of the Glee Club, Orchestra and took an active part in Athletics.

"Every Member" Canvass to Begin March 23

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church has inaugurated a movement designed to put the church in its right place before the world. It is known as the New Era Movement, having the two fold object of increasing the efficiency of each individual church, and of reaching out to help the world. The Session of the Newark Church has adopted the plan which is to be put into effect on Sunday March 23rd. The members of the church and congregation will be waited on in their homes by committees appointed by the Session, and pledge cards presented for their weekly offering for the finances of the local church and the general benevolences, duplex envelopes being provided for the purpose. Through this Every Member Canvass, which has worked satisfactorily wherever it has been introduced, the Session hopes to double the offerings to the benevolences, and also relieve the pulpit of the monthly appeal for the various Boards of the church. The whole matter will be presented in detail next Sunday morning at the regular services.

FIREMEN HAVE CHOSEN CARNIVAL DATE

Are Rapidly Completing Plans for Week of Aug. 2-9

The date for the carnival to be given by the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company was definitely set at the regular meeting held last Friday evening. While no committees will be appointed until the April meeting the members of the society have their plans pretty well laid and expect to have this year during the week of August 2-9, the best carnival that has yet been held.

This has been in the past the big event of the year when grateful property owners in Newark and vicinity have an opportunity to show in a material way their appreciation for the protection afforded them and their property by the faithful Fire Company. Last year on account of war conditions no carnival was held. A special effort will be made by the firemen and their friends to make this year's affair a success.

Evangelistic Services at Glasgow

Miss Beatrice Newman of Philadelphia, will come to Penecader Presbyterian Church next Sunday for evangelistic work and will remain for a week. Evangelistic services will begin next Sunday and will continue through the week. Dr. Joel S. Gillfillan, Dr. W. J. Rowan and Dr. Reed will aid in the services.

FAMOUS ARTIST A FORMER NEWARK YOUTH

"Stein" Mason Returns to Boyhood Home to Give Recital

J. HELFFENSTEIN MASON

All Newark is greatly interested in the Recital which will be given on Friday night, March 21, by J. Helffenstein Mason and his associates—Miss Donlevy, Harpist; Mr. Austin, Cellist, and Mr. Thunders, Pianist. Mr. Mason is a Newark boy, being the son of the Reverend Henry F. Mason, who for many years was pastor of the White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church. Although a young man, "Stein" Mason, as he is known to Newarkers, has already attained great fame as a bass soloist. It will therefore be a great pleasure to welcome back to our town so distinguished a man.

The Recital will be held in Wolf Hall, Delaware College, under the auspices of the newly organized Faculty Club. According to the general rule of the college, such an entertainment, to which admission is charged, must be given under the auspices of a college organization. The Faculty Club was therefore asked to stand back of this worthy effort to obtain this high-class music for the community. If this Recital should be as successful as from present indications it promises to be, it may be possible to arrange next year for a series of such affairs. The great advantage of having such recitals in our own town is obvious.

The demand for seats so far indicates that the house will be sold out long before the date of the recital. All seats are reserved. In order to attract as many as possible of the pupils of the schools and of the students of the two colleges, special students tickets at 75 cents plus the 8 cents war tax are available. All other seats are $1.00 plus the war tax of 10 cents. It is to be hoped that the "standing room only" sign will have to be put up on the night of the Recital. Regular tickets may be obtained at Rhodes' Drug Store; students tickets only at the public schools or the colleges.

CONTINENTAL MANDOLIN CLUB ORGANIZES

Band Expects to Make Initial Bow Decoration Day

The Mandolin Club recently formed by nine young ladies of the Continental Fibre Company's office for met last week for organization and elected the following officers: president, Miss Ethel Campbell; vice president, Miss Anna P. Miller; secretary, Miss Alice Blackson; assistant secretary, Miss Ellen Crowe; treasurer, Miss Irma Cornog; assistant treasurer, Miss Florence Steele.

The club will hold its regular meetings on Monday evening in the office of the Company under the direction of Charles T. Edwards of Wilmington, who has been secured as instructor. The first practice was held on Monday evening of this week.

The band recently organized by the Fibre Company is progressing rapidly according to C. C. Hubert. They are learning their second selection and expect to make their first public appearance on Decoration Day.

To Give Series of Sermons

Rev. Walter G. Haupt of St. Thomas' Church is giving a series of Sunday morning sermons on "The Facts of Christianity in the Light of Biology and Evolution." This series of sermons should do much to clarify the relation between two things that are by some considered irreconcilable.

AETNA COMPANY RESPONDS TO TWO CALLS THIS WEEK

Averts a Serious Blaze in the Residential Section

The Fire Company responded to two calls during the past week and by prompt action averted what might in both cases, have been serious fires.

On Friday some children playing with matches, by accident set fire to an out building which adjoins the kitchen of the house occupied by Harlan Herdman on East Main Street. The blaze had assumed serious proportions before the alarm was turned in and only the prompt arrival of the company saved that entire section, nearly all of which is of frame construction. The kitchen was damaged considerably and the back of the house scorched before the flames could be brought under control. The building is the property of Miss Mary McPike.

On Monday afternoon, an outbuilding at ex-Mayor Hossinger's residence caught fire in some mysterious manner and for a time threatened the adjoining garage. The flames were discovered by the college boys in the Sigma Phi fraternity house who took immediate action with garden hose and had the fire pretty well under control before the company arrived. The fire was at first supposed to have originated in an ash pit but later investigation showed that the frame enclosure of the pit was not burned. The origin is therefore still a mystery.

Friends of ex-Mayor Hossinger, who has been in poor health for some time, feared that the excitement would prove detrimental to him. According to a statement made by a member of the family last night, he stood the affair with great fortitude and calmness, apparently suffering no ill effects.

High School Orchestra to Play at Moving Pictures

The High School orchestra will play for moving picture audiences on Tuesday evenings beginning next week.

The young people composing this orchestra have been doing good work this winter and have given freely of their time and talent whenever called upon. This weekly public appearance will mean much to the orchestra and to their friends.

NEWARK GRANGE WINS $80 IN PRIZES

Triumphs Over Rose Hill by Close Margin

Recently the State Grange announced prizes for membership contests. The Grange in each county securing the largest number of members to have a prize of $40 and the Grange securing the largest percentage of increase in membership to have a similar prize of $40. This contest was to last through the month of February.

As reported to the office in Dover the Grange at Newark wins both of these prizes for New Castle County, starting with a membership of 80 it has initiated 71 members. Rose Hill Grange, near New Castle, starting with 43 members initiated 67. This was the only close competitor of Newark.

In Kent County, Milford Grange, starting with 176 members initiated 118, winning both prizes.

In Sussex County, Clearwater Grange, near Ellendale, also wins both prizes, starting with 34 members initiated 43. Midland Grange, at Georgetown, with 60 members initiated 33.

Appleton Milk Producers Organize

A meeting of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association was held at Appleton, Md., on Monday, March 10 for the purpose of organizing. About 15 farmers were present. The following officers were elected: president, S. M. Huston; vice president, Clement McMullen; secretary and treasurer, March Davis.

Another meeting will be held next Monday evening, March 17 with a view to increasing the number of members in the local branch of the organization.

Inform Senators of Wishes on Public Issues

Christopher L. Ward Advises Hearers

Declares Objections to League of Nations Will be Met

In the introduction to his speech on the League of Nations last Thursday evening Christopher L. Ward referred to his audience as "the most powerful, politically, to be met anywhere in the United States." He explained this by comparing Delaware's representation in the Senate with that of New York for example and made the conservative estimate that a Delawarean has ten times as much political power as the average citizen. This power, he said, carried with it a corresponding duty of keeping our representatives informed of what is the popular will on the great issues of the day.

Discussion of any subject is not only natural but desirable for it tends to crystallize public sentiment and to cause a closer scrutiny of vital subjects than would otherwise obtain.

A Republican in his political affiliations, and one who does not hesitate to criticize the president for what some people may term his autocratic methods, Mr. Ward "cut the wings" of the opposition to the League of Nations by showing its absolute practicability and its effectiveness in eliminating war. He criticized the draft of the League of Nations as we know it now, but predicted with certainty that, even as he spoke, the document was amended.

In speaking of the most vociferous opposition in the Senate of the United States, Mr. Ward said in part:

High School Benefit From Chautauqua Tickets

A part of the Chautauqua ticket sales has been turned over to the High School students as a benefit for their Athletic Association.

Fifty adult tickets at $1.25 each and 100 Junior tickets at 90c each are in the hands of the students who will receive for their association 25c out of every adult ticket sale and 15c out of every Junior ticket.

Health Station to be Located in Elliott Building

Miss Josephine Salmon, County Nurse for New Castle County, came to Newark on Tuesday of last week to assist in the opening of a permanent health station in the Elliott Building. Delay in securing equipment prevented the formal opening but Miss Salmon visited homes on Delaware Avenue to weigh and measure babies who because of whooping cough and other reasons were not weighed and measured last fall.

Cast Chosen For Play to be Given May 12

The cast has been chosen for the play to be given under the direction of Mrs. Herman Tyson for the benefit of the New Century Club Building Fund.

Monday, May 12 has been decided upon as the date of presentation.

KNITTERS, ATTENTION!

Knitters are again asked by the local Red Cross organization to aid in relief work. This time a call has come for children's sweaters. A quantity of wool has been received by Mrs. Cora Thompson, local chairman, who has arranged for its distribution.

Knitters may secure the wool from the former headquarters in the Elliott Building on Friday afternoons from 3 to 5, and may also return the finished articles at the same time and place.

NO CHANGE IN LOAN CAMPAIGN

By E. PUSEY PASSMORE,
Governor Third Federal Reserve Bank.

"Notwithstanding repeated statements from Secretary Glass, the proposed action of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in determining the types of securities to be offered has apparently left much misunderstanding in the minds of many people regarding the coming loan.

"The Treasury Department announces that the Victory Liberty Loan campaign will begin not later than April 21st and must of necessity be of a character similar in essential features to those conducted in the past through the existing Liberty Loan organizations. The imperative requirements of the Treasury cannot be financed without such a campaign, for it is of utmost importance that the securities offered shall be distributed as widely as possible among the American people.

"Only the form and terms of the securities to be issued remain to be determined and depend upon the enabling legislation to be enacted by Congress, but, whether bonds or notes are finally determined upon, the total amount will be so large that it is absolutely essential that the widest possible measure of distribution be realized.

"Surely all who believe in the principles for which the war was waged and on account of which such tremendous sacrifices of lives and treasure have been made will appreciate the necessity of properly meeting the financial commitments of the government made during the conduct of the war.

"Director Mason and his associates in conjunction with the Executive Committee are planning many new and novel features and already have the coming Victory Liberty Loan campaign in this district splendidly organized. The army of Liberty Loan workers who have done such effective work in the past are deeply interested in the coming campaign and are determined to see this final loan put over in good shape in order that their part of the war work may be creditably completed."

VICTORY LOAN LIMERICKS.

A far-seeing fellow named Fred,
Bought a bond, with a dollar, and said:
"Without being too thrifty
I'll soon pay the fifty
And then I'll be that much ahead."

DON'T EXPECT THE BANKS TO DO IT ALL

You may hear some people say that it won't be necessary for the public to subscribe to the Victory Liberty Loan this time because "the banks are going to take all of the loan."

Don't be misled by this argument. The Victory Liberty Loan must be taken by the people. The banks could, of course, take over all of the loan. But it would be one of the worst things that could happen to the country to have them do so. And you and every other wage earner, merchant or producer would soon realize it.

The first effect would be to tie up all the banking capital of the country. Then when the manufacturers, the farmers, or the merchants applied to the banks for the usual money advances upon which to go ahead with their important enterprises, the banks would be unable to make any loans to them.

It is easy to determine what the result would be. Manufacturers deprived of their usual banking accommodation could not run their plants and a wave of unemployment would sweep the country. Farmers being unable to obtain the privilege of bank loans would be greatly handicapped in their crop prospects. And merchants would suffer in the same manner.

The worst effects of such a state of affairs would fall upon the wage-earners. No work because of lack of operating capital for manufacturers, and highest prices in the food markets because of limited production on the farms, due also to lack of operating capital, are twin evils sure to appear when the banks have no money to lend.

The banks will do their share in this loan, as they have done it in every other loan. But they can't do it all and you have the greatest possible interest in seeing that they are not required to do it all.

This is the people's loan. Let everybody invest and the loan will "go over" with a whoop. And it will go over in a way that will be beneficial to the country. To the manufacturer, to the food producer and to the wage-earner. Don't rely on some one else to do the job. Do your share and the job will be done all around. Subscribe!

SOME FACTS CONCERNING THE LIFE OF ST. PATRICK

Teachings Swept Ireland Like a Conflagration

Historians tell us with unflinching zest that St. Patrick was born of pious and Godfearing parents in the year 372 of the Christian era. The little that is known of his youth has been sadly garbled by chroniclers who, being ambitious to produce something new, seem to have forged some points of the history. Of these chroniclers some are, no doubt, correct, but which? On this account some painstaking writer has given us the facts as far as truly known, and with these we must be content.

In 387 he was sold as a slave to a chieftain of Ulster. To the youthful slave Ireland seemed God-forsaken and overrun by fiends of evil power. There was no church, no sacraments. He was "alone among scoffers and the worshippers of graven images."

His life of prayer and self-sacrifice continued during his term of slavery. Finally freed from his bondage he entered the priesthood as he had so long desired. After he had finished his studies, he was ordained and the zeal of his soul became a conflagration. As many devout souls have prayed to do, he wished to convert the whole world, and prayed pathetically to wear the martyr's crown. France knew of him and there he labored for a time, as he did in Italy and the Thyrrenian sea islands. But it was to Ireland his heart turned most eagerly and he was permitted a vision in which he saw the people of Erin stretch forth their arms to him in supplication, and this vision determined him to undertake the difficult task of the conversion of Ireland. He traveled to Rome to get the permission of the pope and submitted his labor and himself to that high dignity. He was consecrated bishop and, having received his instructions and having been blessed, he began his journey to his new mission.

The inhabitants of Erin were considered in an advanced state of civilization, and St. Patrick began his labors by denouncing Druidism, astonishing its followers by the wonderful deeds he accomplished in the name of God, and little by little they believed and accepted the mysteries of the true religion. He explained to them the mysteries of the Trinity by picking from the sod a shamrock and discoursing on its trefoil leaf on one stem; then on the crucifix he explained the birth of the Christ and the purpose of his death and the beginning of the church. The religious fervor of St. Patrick appealed to the warm hearts of his listeners and his teachings swept Ireland like a conflagration. God's churches arose out of Druidical ruins and the houses of the Druids became monasteries. Bearing aloft the banner of his Master, St. Patrick's travels over Erin were triumphantly successful.

It is not given to many workers to see the fruits of their labors, but under St. Patrick's teaching, in his life, Ireland became known as the Island of Saints. He lived to be one hundred and twenty years old.

"Where Are The Nine?"

The chaplain of a regiment on the western front, on his rounds before the fighting ceased, met an officer of the same regiment who seemed to have something on his mind.

"I think I am due to make you a confession, padre," he said at last with an embarrassed laugh. "Two nights ago, during a heavy barrage, our telephone lines were shot out. I found I had to get over to the major's command post, three or four hundred yards away. As I looked out, it seemed to me the shells were dropping along the road like a Western hailstorm, but I had to go just the same. I don't mind telling the world that I was scared good and plenty."

"I hadn't said a prayer since I was a little boy, and never expected to say another, but as I went I found myself praying to God as naturally as if I had been praying all my life long. Someway I got over and somehow I got back, although it didn't seem possible that anyone could do either. It wasn't until then that it came over me how instinctively and how mightily I had prayed during that shell-ing, and I said to myself that there was only one way about it: if I prayed like thunder when I was being shelled, I should be a mighty low-down thing if I stopped praying just because I wasn't being shelled. It also seemed to me that the decent thing to do was to own up; and so I made it a point to tell you that now every night I'm saying my prayers."

"God bless you; and keep it up!" said the chaplain.

As he went his way the chaplain thought of the ten healed lepers, only one of whom came to give thanks. "Just about every man in France has had something of that same experience," he said to himself. "Why don't they all remember it afterwards?"

RIGID INSPECTION FOR NEAR HEROES' SLEEVES

Extra Stars and Stripes Will Go Home in Barracks
Bags

The wound and service-stripe market took a terrible slump at Brest last week when the news filtered back from out-bound transports that a new brand of inspection was being held for every batch of home-going members of the A. E. F. It was discovered that anybody whose sleeves didn't pass inspection and check with the little old service record had to report to the company tailor for an amputation.

For several weeks the needles in the base ports have been working nights, sewing six-months chevrons on five-months-and-twenty-nine-day veterans, decorating right cuffs of heroes whose only wounds are located in their pride, and attaching neat little French campaign badges that proclaim participation in every big event, from the first Battle of the Marne, Verdun, and the taking of Kiau Chau to the capture of Coblenz. When they walked across the gangplank lately a few outfits have looked like veterans of the Napoleonic wars. But when they walk off they won't.

Another emblem that rated high on the Heroes' Bourse was the silver bar for voluntary enlistment. A gold star also showed on a few sleeves for "the first 100,000." But when the men hit the deck for the first assembly both faded in the sea fog like a pint of cognac before an M.P.

Hereafter the extra stars and stripes will go home in the barracks bag, and if they appear at all it will be in the back parlor with the curtains drawn, probably with the nonchalant explanation of the wearer that modesty forbids wearing them out where any common M.P. could see them and get jealous.—Stars and Stripes.

St. Patrick's Day A National Celebration

March 17th is celebrated by Irishmen of all creeds and denominations as the birthday of their patron saint, Patrick. There is a story that once there was a dispute between two factions, one claiming that the patron saint was born on the eighth, the other that he came to this world on the ninth of March. As the quarrel could not otherwise be settled, the 17th was decided on by the simple compromise of adding eight and nine together. But there appears to be no reason for doubting that St. Patrick was born either at Kirkpatrick (or Dumbarton) in Scotland, or perhaps in France, in the latter part of the fourth century, on the day usually kept as his birthday. St. Patrick's day is purely a national celebration irrespective of any religious belief.

HOUSEHOLD SHOULD BE UNIT IN NATIONAL ECONOMY PLAN

Saving on Service Will Make Substantial Increase

In any plan for national economy, British specialists think that the household, rather than the family, should be taken as a unit. Under Household consumption they include, (1) services rendered maintaining the house and its inmates, (2) the goods consumed or acquired by the inmates, (3) the general charges of cleaning, decorating, offsetting deterioration, etc.

As a start in a saving program, the British Commission has pointed out that services should be valued even more highly than goods, as each person doing unnecessary and unproductive work not only consumes without producing but is also depriving the country of possible productive power. Translated into terms of American savings, this service idea would mean—"do not hire done what you can do for yourself in spare time that is not directly profitable." Few Americans are really honest with themselves as to the cost of services. Not one family in a hundred really knows what a servant actually costs. Most of them place the cost of her wages, and fail to count in her food, light, and other things she consumes. Most of them, moreover, have no way of figuring correctly the extra waste of food, or extra breakage or wear and tear due to the fact that the servant does not have the interest of ownership for making things go as far as possible. Few families know, at the end of the year, the important total that the "odd job" man, or hedge cutter or grass trimmer has cost them for service that might well have been rendered as recreation or needed outdoor exercise by the man or boys of the family.

This, of course, does not mean that no service should be purchased. Where a housewife's time is worth more in money or other contribution to family well being than the cost of a servant, she makes a profit by employing someone who frees her to do better paid work than household tasks. In many cases, physical or personal reasons make it essential to the welfare of the family to have help, but in many cases the time saved to the members of the household by servants is not utilized profitably in a monetary way, or even in a way to make for real happiness or advancement.

Saving on service will give many people important sums to lend to their Government and save for themselves through War Savings Stamps. In the case of children, such work is not only a practical means of earning and saving, but in itself is a valuable discipline for life.

General Foch, A College Professor Be- fore the War

[Howard Wheeler, in Everybody's] Like President Wilson, General Foch was a college professor before the war. Foch taught military strategy, to be sure, but he was a teacher, theorist; and when he became a commander in actual war he did not drop his theories. He practiced them. Many of the leaders under him had been his students. He called upon them to do in the field in the face of a savage, clever enemy what he had asked them to recite in the academy. One of his staff, Colonel Requin, told laughingly one day how some of these other generals, practical men, were shocked at orders he took to them from Foch.

It was a common experience of mine," he said, "to take an order to a division commander in the very crisis of a fight, directing him to perform at once a well-studied, typical maneuver. The troubled, busy general would take the order, read and reread the clean, careful writing, and then turn to me and exclaim: 'Impossible! Why, that would be hard enough to do in maneuvers, but in battle—Here? Now? My God, it is impossible!'

"The general, of course, would perform the movement, academically, under fire. 'And,' said Colonel Requin, 'when he tried it it worked out. And it was those things that won the battle that won the war.'"

tion with a drawing to show the layout of this magnificent room. The voyage, she states, was particularly rough, and the vessel rolled so at times that passengers were thrown from their chairs and dishes hurled from the serving tables to the floor. She tells of the warmth of the weather in the vicinity of the Gulf Stream and of the magnificence and comfort of the state rooms.

The meals, she says, are very good and gives as a typical dinner soup, turkey, olives, tomato and lettuce salad, ice cream, cake, and coffee.

A band of 40 pieces and an orchestra of 8 pieces furnished music for meals and for dances. For the latter, she says, there is a "marvelous floor and plenty of men." Movies every night, games every morning for all on board, group parties, classes in French, Arabic and Armenian—"something doing every minute"—all go to make up a ship's day.

An expedition to carry relief to the Armenians was on board, among them a number of young college men and women, who, she says, have no idea of what is ahead of them, for the Turks do not know they are beaten yet and will not give them a very warm welcome. It will be nine months before they can get mail or before their people can hope to hear from them.

She gives a spirited account of the "Abandon Ship Drill" and the following description of a fire on board.

"I was taking a nap and about 2 o'clock was awakened from a sound sleep by a bugle and by people rushing through the corridors. I walked out and the hall was filled with smoke. One of the sailors said 'Get to your life boat, there is a fire in the supply room on Deck F or G.' Leut back, got my life saver and went up to my lifeboat No. 55. No one was excited and everyone was laughing and joking with the exception of one or two girls who got excited and lost their heads. One of them was undressed and couldn't find her life belt. She was in a terrible way. I never was more calm in my life. It was such a beautiful sunny day and the ship is so big that you can't imagine any danger. The fire was soon out and we were allowed to go back. The officer who commands our life boat met us in the lobby later in the afternoon and showed us over the ship."

A recital of concerts, dances, and numerous social affairs closes with the statement, "Believe me, I wish this boat weren't quite so fast. I'd like the trip to last about two more weeks. I have never had such a great time. It is just like a big house party."

"A Steinway grand piano in one of the rooms was a personal gift from the Kaiser to the ship—formerly the German Vaterland—and cost $5000. The Kaiser's private quarters (5 rooms) are now occupied by the Commander of the ship and the Crown Prince's quarters by the Captain. I suppose some German officer has occupied my "bunk" too."

"I got to see the whole ship—was one of the two girls who saw the Gyro compass, the only one in America—others, if there are any are in Germany."

A second letter describes the landing and harbor at Brest. "For a wonder it was a clear day," she writes, "a most unusual thing for Brest. If I could only describe the harbor to you—its cunning sail boats with their bright colored sails, blue, green, gray and the flag ship flying all kinds of gay flags. When we got off our barges, scores of American boys met us, tickled to death to see girls from 'Home.' It really is pathetic. They are all just dying to get home. One boy who took me promenading this afternoon said I was the third American girl he had talked to in months."

"Brest is a very picturesque city. A very old chateau with its towers and dungeons, built by the Romans is the first thing you see. A boy from Montana took us to call on a charming French family named Chabal. The mother could speak English quite well, but her daughters could hardly understand us at all. They played the victrola and we all got around the piano and sang hymns in French. Then we sang the Marseillaise and that pleased them immensely. Then they sang the 'Star Spangled Banner' with us. It was a time never to be forgotten. Mme Chabal gave us her sister's address in Paris and we are going to call on her. It was a real treat to get into such a lovely French home.

"Eight of us spent the night in the Flag hut, one of the 'Y's' canteens. We slept in army cots between 'itchy' army blankets. I used my kimono for a sheet and a towel for a pillow case. We slept until 10 a. m. and then five of us went up to the nicest hotel in Brest, 'Hotel Moderne'—run for officers in the army and navy—and had a delicious meal as good as you could get anywhere in the U. S. A. No civilians or enlisted men can get in there."

"The grass here and many of the trees are green. The camellias which are very much like our gardenias are in bloom."

One of the party with whom Miss Evans is closely associated is a girl from Rome, Georgia, a charming Southerner whose mother was an intimate of the first Mrs. Woodrow Wilson; another is a Montclair, N. J. girl, a friend of Miss Gates, who visits the family of Dr. S. C. Mitchell.

what Senators Lodge and Knox have found objectionable in the document is all that they could find objectionable and that their criticisms very fully cover the ground which is open to criticism.

"Neither Senator Lodge nor Senator Knox," continued Mr. Ward, "has said that he is opposed to the whole idea of the League of Nations. Both have carefully reserved their decision in the matter. Their arguments were directed against the points in the first draft of the constitution to which they object. Senator Lodge did caution the people of the United States against lightly entering into entangling alliances; against lightly guaranteeing the territorial integrity of the nations of the earth; against lightly accepting the principle that each nation in the league should have one vote thus equalizing in power in the decisions of the body of delegates such widely different states as the United States of America and the Kingdom of Siam. But he did not say that alliances should not be entered into nor that territorial integrity should not be guaranteed, nor did he propose any other method of voting."

In concluding he warned his audience that unless the United States enters into the League of Nations, the scheme will fail. "If America rejects the league," said he, "if the Senate at last fail to adopt the revised and completed plan as finally settled by the Peace Conference, the league will fail—it will die. And what then? Why, chaos. The world will awake from its dream of peace and rub its eyes and see chaos—no less—international chaos."

"If a League of Nations be not formed, the world will be ripe as never before for a conflagration—a new world's war. And shall we be in that war? We shall. We cannot keep out of it. One may talk as one pleases about the desirability of our former isolation. That isolation is over, done, ended forever. Or about the undesirability of entangling alliances."

Do we want another war? Do we want to see the young men march away again and to know that so many of them will never come back? We do not. Then we must do all that we can to prevent it. We must accept the League of Nations in its final form as, under the circumstances, the best possible safeguard against war."

Soldiers' Graves to be Photographed

Every identified grave of an American soldier in France will be photographed by the American Red Cross and the picture sent to the soldier's next of kin. Several hundred photographs have been taken and forwarded to relatives and it was announced in Washington on Sunday last that at the request of the War Department the Red Cross has taken over the task of photographing all graves. Each photograph will be mounted on a cardboard frame, on one side of which will be inscribed the record of the soldier.

PUBLIC SALE OF DAIRY HERD

on the farm where I live, on the stone road leading from Elkton to Chesapeake City, on Friday, March 21, 1919 beginning at Eleven o'clock sharp my entire herd of Holsteins, Pure Breds and Grades, consisting of

24 Head Milch Cows

Some fresh, some close springers, some in full flow.

All of these cows are young—only one old cow in the herd—healthy, clean-cut and dollar getters. The veterinarian who recently examined this herd pronounced it the best all-round herd he had seen.

I will produce the milk checks on day of sale to prove my claim for the herd as a money-making proposition.

Papers for the registered cows and papers for the sire of the unregistered ones (grades) will be produced on day of sale.

14 Head of Heifers

One and two years old.

10 Heifer Calves

From four to eight months.

Registered Bull

A Letter From The Continental Fibre Co.

The Editor of the Post
Newark, Delaware
Dear Sir:

Mrs. Armstrong, with the assistance of some young ladies and gentlemen of the town, gave a very good performance in the Opera House, Monday night, March 3rd, to a crowded house. This performance was for the benefit of the Newark New Century Club Building. Everybody voted the Operetta a great success and the very splendid attendance verified this fact.

We are glad to note that the nine young ladies in our employ, known as the Continental Mandolin Club, added very materially to the successful sale of the tickets. They started out Thursday afternoon and on the final windup had sold 257 tickets. I wonder if the 100 members of the Century Club made quite as good a showing as this.

Either the Mandolin Ladies or the Century Club Ladies failed in a thorough canvass from the fact that from 50 to 75 tickets could have been sold at the box office the evening of the performance if the capacity of the House had not been sold.

Yours truly,
The Continental Fibre Co.

YOUNG CRIMINAL ADMONISHED BY JUDGE

Gets Sentence of 2½ Years Imprisonment and $500 Fine

Robert V. Cooling, aged 17, who in Court of General Sessions last week pleaded not guilty changed his plea on Thursday to one of guilty to a charge of assault with intent to commit robbery on Caleb D. Baker, near Newark, on February 10. He was represented by J. Frank Ball.

Colling attacked Baker, an aged man, with the handle of a shovel in his stable, inflicting a severe gash on the man's head. When the complainant came to, $80 was missing from his pocket. The boy confessed the crime to Stat Detective Frank W. McCoy and Melville R. Apsley following his arrest.

He could not account for his act. Judge Conrad sternly admonished the lad for the flagrancy of his crime, and said that the marvel of it was that he was not before the court on a much more serious charge. He imposed a sentence of two years and six months' imprisonment and a fine of $500 and

Rev. John Nellson Mills to Speak at Presbyterian Church

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church will hold a meeting tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2.30 in the lecture room of the church. At 3 o'clock, a public meeting will be addressed by Rev. John Nellson Mills, D.D. of Washington, D. C. on the subject "Foreigners in America from a Traveler's Standpoint."

"Every member present" is the slogan of the Society and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the 3 o'clock meeting. Light refreshments will be served.

College Notes

On Saturday evening the Dramatic Club of the Women's College gave a "typical rehearsal" for the benefit of the newly organized Dramatic Club at Delaware College. The sketch was full of "local color" and was enjoyed by a large audience from both colleges.

On Friday night very interesting exercises were held at the Women's College, commemorating the centennial anniversary of the birth of James Russell Lowell. Professor Dutton read a biographical sketch of the poet and diplomat and Dr. Moore read several selections from his works.

The college Dramatic Club under the direction of Dr. Moore is preparing a Greek play, the Electra of Euripides to be performed on the campus in front of Wolf Hall at next commencement.

Edward N. Vallandigham, LL.D. of Boston, is in Newark getting material for a history of Delaware College which he expects to publish soon.

Sure Harbingers of Spring

Spring is here somewhat ahead of schedule time. At least the usual harbingers of that delightful period have put in their appearance. Tops, marbles and kites have emerged from their winter quarters and from the most reliable evidences that winter has packed up and gone. The best possible corroboration of the above evidence is the fact that the Kells Craftsmen have unearthed their quilts from the winter hiding place and have begun their annual contest for championship honor in their favorite noon hour sport.

Brother William Lovett holds the record to date. Yesterday's tournament according to a first hand account consisted as far as the champion's record is concerned of "every throw a ringer." Frank Balling's ability to "shoot straight," acquired under the efficient coaching of Uncle Sam during ten months of service here and overseas makes him a close competitor for first place.

H. H. Cleaves has not really warmed up to the sport yet nor have the girls evinced much interest but honors will not be won easily when the whole force wakes up and Justice can be induced to take a hand.

CONCERT AT NEW CENTURY CLUB WELL ATTENDED

The regular meeting of the New Century Club was replaced this week by a concert to which an admission fee was charged, followed by a dance. Every available seat was filled.

Miss Neff who graduates this year from Peabody Institute, a pianist of unusual talent played brilliantly and Mrs. Howard Clark of Wilmington, delighted the audience with her singing and her charming personality. She was accompanied by Mrs. Bartschlager.

Next week's program following St. Patrick's day will be devoted to Ireland and the Irish. "The Irish Problem" will be discussed by Mrs. E. S. Armstrong and Irish songs will be sung. Current Events will be presented by Mrs. A. T. Neale.

Social Doings

Mrs. Margaret D. Cann entertained at dinner on Sunday evening in honor of Mrs. Robert Weimer of Mansfield, Ohio, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Catharine Davis.

Miss Anne Hossinger entertained a few friends at afternoon tea on Thursday to meet Mrs. Delaware Clark.

Miss Alice Davey entertained at dinner on Friday and Miss Helen Steele entertained at cards on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Robert Weimer.

Miss Alma Dunlevy entertained the Young Ladies Mission Circle on Monday evening. The young people enjoyed a social hour and refreshments after the business meeting, then proceeded to the Newark Opera House to see Mary Miles Minter in "The Eyes of Julia Deep."

On Friday evening Dr. S. C. Mitchell entertained the basketball team at an informal dance at the Knoll. The team this year made a very enviable record and it was in appreciation of their good work that the men were entertained. The time was enjoyably spent with music and dancing after which delicious refreshments were served. Several townfolks were present including several young ladies from the Women's College. Among those present were: Grace Yates, Mildred Carter, Ruth Guyer, Justine Armstrong, Ann Van Sant, Mary Wright, Margaret Reynolds,

Helen Fisher, Louise Francis, Katherine Woodman, Katherine Robbins, Madeline Dixon, Mary Mitchell, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. LeCato, Broadus Mitchell, Morris Mitchell, George Mitchell, Mr. LeCato, Coach Shipley and eight members of the basketball team, McCaughan, Lord, Marston (Captain), Alexander, Pierson, F. B. Carter, Gray Carter, and Barnard.

County To Name Liberty Boat

Because of the amount subscribed and the large number of subscribers in New Castle County to the Fourth Liberty Loan, it has been awarded the right to name a government boat and provide a sponsor for its launching. The boats are honor boats being built by the U. S. Shipping Board.

It was requested that the boat not be named for an individual or association of individuals, but that it should be a sort of hyphenated name, with the word "Liberty" as the first word.

It has been decided that the New Castle county boat shall bear the name "Liberty-Brandywine." Liberty for the class and Brandywine for the name. The sponsor selected for the boat is Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont, and Mrs. duPont has accepted.

KENNARD & CO.

Coats, Suits, Dresses

These three popular items in ready-to-wear find here their strongest expression. Models in every instance unusual, workmanship and fabric the best, the price in every instance fair.

Coats--All represent the newer cape and dolman effect. Fabrics are serge, silvertone, Scotch mixtures, velours, Evora Cloth and Satin. Prices range from $18.00 to $97.50.

Suits--Models for every age and size strikingly featuring those "smart" models so sought after by young women. Then models more conservative, both regular and extra size. All the season's favored fabrics are represented. $29.50 to $75.00.

Dresses--This year we have increased our lines of dresses beyond the variety shown in any previous season.

For evening, dinner, street or utility purposes we show models and fabrics that are correct. Prices range from $15.00 to $75.00.

We have a particularly good showing of beaded Georgette Dresses at moderate prices.

Corset Service

Real corset service does not consist merely in selling a corset once. Here it must be a satisfied customer, one who will want to come back. This department is in charge of an expert in corset fitting. No reason why you should not be correctly and comfortably corseted. Let us try. All the leading makes are represented.

OLD WAR BONDS SOLD OVER PAR

Civil War Securities Brought 23 Per Cent Above Cost.

If History repeats itself, Liberty Bonds will, in a very short time after the peace pact is signed, be worth, in the open market, probably more than their face value.

This was the record made by government bonds issued at the time of the Civil War and upon which a much lower rate of interest was paid than is allowed on Liberty Bonds.

In 1861, the first year of the Civil War, bonds of the $100 denomination sold in the market as low as $83. But within a year they ran up to $107.25, and ten years later they brought $123.12.

This is practically the history of bond issues of all responsible nations. They sell low soon after issuance because many holders of them are foolish enough to throw them into the hands of speculators when they need money instead of obtaining loans upon them from banks or responsible financial houses.

Everybody knows that a first mortgage is one of the most desirable forms of securities. The Victory Liberty Loan is a first mortgage on the entire United States and is the very highest form of security in the whole world.

Holders of Liberty Bonds need not concern themselves about the market price of the bonds. That is only the price for the bonds that are foolishly disposed of by unwise investors. The bond actually is worth its face value all the time. Those who are quick to buy them at reduced prices know their value and don't let go of them.

MAKE VICTORY LOAN AN OLD AGE PROP

Young Man's Chance to Evade Middle-Life Dependency.

Any young man who will take a minute to study the tables upon which insurance companies base their risks will find therein an incentive for making the biggest possible investment in the Victory Liberty Loan.

The tables were compiled to enable insurance men to get reliable death rate averages. But in their preparation very interesting facts were also established bearing upon the earning capacity and ultimate fortunes of the subjects kept under observation.

It should point a moral to every young man to learn that in one hundred cases upon which are based many important insurance figures, only five of the subjects died possessed of sufficient means to pay for their own funerals.

When observation was begun, one hundred men of good health and standing, aged twenty-five years, were selected. Their careers were followed through life. At the age of 45 sixteen were dead, fifteen were no longer self-supporting, sixty-five were still able to work but had no other means of support than their wages, and only four were wealthy.

Think of it! Only four per cent of these young men, who started in the prime of life under the same circumstances, in the same town, with the same health and the same opportunities, reached the age of 45 with means to enable them to face with confidence the downhill path of declining years.

At 55 years thirty were dependent upon children, relatives or charity. At 65 only ten of them, including the four wealthy men, were still self-supporting. And at 75, sixty-three of the original 100 were dead without leaving any estate and all of the others, excepting the few possessing wealth, were supported by their children, their relatives or by charity.

These are no imaginary instances, but hard, matter-of-fact illustrations upon which the biggest insurance companies of the country stake their resources.

There is a wonderful sermon to young men in this little story. It is taken from the Book of Life and it preaches Thrift. Unless the habit of saving is acquired in youth the prospects of reaching old age with a competence are very poor.

No better means of saving is offered to the young men of the country than that presented by the Victory Liberty Loan. You can share in the loan on the easiest terms imaginable. In buying you will be taking the first step toward providing for your old age. Perhaps it may be the foundation of a fortune.

Take heed of the unfortunate experiences of others. The law of averages never goes wrong. It has pointed out an infallible moral in the case of the one hundred young men of insurance study and observation.

Don't drift into old age penniless as they did. Subscribe to the Loan!

KEEP BABY CHICKS SCRATCHING

Poultry Department Begins
Busy Season This Month

The poultry department of the farm establishment must not be forgotten. When pruning or culling time comes, spraying the orchard is no more important than spraying the hen-house or dusting or greasing the hens and chicks. Early hatchling is one of the prime essentials for success; but early hatching is only the beginning. If you want good, strong, vigorous, well-matured pullets to do the laying for you next fall, you must see that the chicks hatch out at the proper time, and then keep them growing, and prune and cull vigorously. The success of the future depends on the work of today.

Many people think that because they paid attention to details and "got things going" last year they don't need to bother much this season. This is a big mistake. The real results this year were caused by attention to details last year, and next year will depend on this year—which means that careful attention is necessary every year.

To those who have not raised poultry, the best advice is, "give the chicks a good chance and they will do the rest." Do not hamper them with needless restrictions.

Baby chicks are easily trained and will naturally seek places that are warm, but they have no power to regulate the heat or ventilate the room or to supply fresh water. Keep charcoal, grit, etc., before them all the time or when needed. They naturally will make the litter fly in digging after tiny morsels. Keep them scratching. This can best be done by not over feeding.

To those poultry raisers who brood by the hen, all there is to say is to let the hen do the brooding. Keep the hen free from lice and also keep her dry and keep the coop clean. It is no difficult task; all that is needed is thoughtfulness and careful attention. Baby chicks will get under the old hen whenever they feel the need of a little warmth. It is therefore, very important that the hen should be kept dry. Do not allow the hen her liberty with her brood for at least four weeks. This will give the chicks plenty of opportunity to become strong. Unless the grass is short and conditions favorable, it is better not to turn her out as early as four weeks. The first two weeks, however, are the most important in the life of the chick, and the most important factor is brooding during that period. The hen will do that properly if given the proper place and let alone. To those operating brooders, the best advice that can be given is, "Watch and follow instructions." Don't be too big-hearted and overfeed the baby chicks the first week, as it is a well-known fact that more chicks die as a result of overfeeding the first week or two than from any other cause.

Saving Ideas—How and What to Save

Higher rates of wages paid during the war have opened to workers the choice of various new stands of action—they cannot all be called standards of "living."

The near-sighted have used their unusual wages to indulge in all sorts of extravagance which gave little real satisfaction and contributed nothing to permanent family stability. Where they are not harming themselves, they are cultivating tastes which they cannot hope permanently to gratify.

Others, the far-sighted ones, have used their increase in wages to improve their comfort up to the full efficiency point for themselves and their families, and are thinking carefully before they spend their surplus. Many are investing wisely in homes or working out other well-considered investment purchases. The wisest of all are putting a large share of their earnings into War Savings Stamps or savings banks to provide for necessities that may arise, for the education of children, etc. and particularly to establish a "turn around" fund that will enable them to meet more comfortably any changes in business or employment that may result from post-armistice conditions. These far-sighted people have taken the war, and its unusual opportunities for earning, very seriously; just as they did not expect the war to last always, they have not banked on war conditions in employment enduring indefinitely. They are ready for the future. If wages keep up, they are still so much ahead of the game.

"Our First War Song"

Although practically all the old stand-bys in the song line have been tried out at one time or another during the last 18 months and more of the A.E.F.'s history, there is one martial lay, the great-granddaddy of them all, that has never been rendered often enough to make it a staple. As far as is known, the only time it was ever seriously trotted out for inspection was when a certain thoroughly depraved and unreconstructed New England unit whistled it while marching through the streets of Southampton, England.

Its name is "Yankee Doodle." It was the "Tipperary," the "Madelon" of the first war in which the American Army, as an American Army, ever engaged. Played by the Moodus, Connecticut, Fife and Drum Corps it can still stir the sluggish soul to martial resolve—possibly because the members of the Moodus Fife and Drum Corps still wear the uniform of the battered old Continentals, and can each of them trace encephaly back to those liaisonless but none the less efficient fighting men.

Why has it not been sung more over here? It used to be in all the school books and in some effete and backward downeast communities it used to be sung in the kindergarten. But, in France, everybody knew it, but nobody sang it. What's the answer?

Was it respect for our Allies of over-channel, "united now to save?" Was it fear that the original words (as not taught in the downeast kindergartens) might crop out—for the way the Continentals sang it, Yankee Doodle did not stick the feather in his hat? Or was it just plain neglect?—Stars and Stripes.

ANTON AND NEWPORT

FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The following letter was sent recently to one Delaware's Congressmen:

The Hon. L. Heisler Ball, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Honored and Dear Sir: We, the congregations of the Peniel M. E. Church, Newport, Del., and the Union M. E. Church, Stanton, Del., believing that there are many reasons for the creation and successful operation of the League of Nations to enforce universal peace, and that there are no reasons against its finished constitution, request that you will give it all the support and forwarding that you can, referring this request to you, we are persuaded that we represent the entire community in which our churches are located.

Signed, for the Congregations, Howard T. Quigg, Pastor.

P. S.—Dear Senator: The above letter was read to both congregations and adopted by the unanimous vote of both, this second day of March.

UIT CROP

APPARENTLY SAFE

According to fruit growers in recent parts of the state peach and apple buds have not been affected by the changeable weather.

There are no budding frosts in March and the first two weeks in April it is believed that fruit will be insured. The warm days of the past two weeks have had a tendency to swell the buds, but if the weather remains cool for the next three weeks it is believed that they will pass the danger period and a bumper crop may be expected.

WANT INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR COLORED GIRLS

The Delaware State Federation of Colored Women will inaugurate their campaign for the erection of an Industrial Home for Colored Girls this week. It has long been felt by the colored women of the city that one of the crying needs for the colored girls is an industrial home where girls supposedly incorrigible, or those accused of slight offenses and remanded to imprisonment might have a chance to be set aright. To this end the State Federation will devote itself for the next few years.

WILL ERECT SYRUP FACTORY

Governor John G. Townsend is now having lumber hauled to erect a syrup factory in Bridgeville, to be in operation for the coming summer season.

MANAGER EDWARD LADLEY RESIGNS

Middletown, Del., March 7th.—The people of this community were surprised yesterday to hear of the resignation of Edward Ladley, manager of the Middletown branch of the Delaware Trust Company. He has been connected with the company since its recent absorption of the Citizens' National Bank, more than a year ago, and had been cashier of the latter institution since the resignation of the late John S. Crouch, who had been connected with the bank for more than forty years. Mr. Ladley has taken a position in Wilkes Barre, Pa.

INSPECTED C. & D. CANAL

Cost of reconstructing the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal in accordance with plans now formulated will be about $12,500,000, according to Colonel J. P. Jervey, United States Engineer, who is in charge of the work.

Colonel Jervey has returned from an inspection of the canal, making the trip to Chesapeake City and return in the "Gannett." Some of the right-of-way, Colonel Jervey says, will have to be obtained by agreement, some by condemnation proceedings. There are no apparent difficulties of an engineering nature, it is understood.

Work of construction will be complicated by the necessity of maintaining traffic through the canal while it is being improved and rebuilt. Acquisition of the canal from the present owners through condemnation proceedings has been started, hearings to be held in Wilmington during the March term of Federal Court.

Dog's Bad Name Removed

[From the Cleveland Plain Dealer]

The dachshund was not really the emblem or national bird of Imperial Germany, but American cartoonists so long associated the waddling little fellow with the Kaiser that the reputation has quite killed his popularity. Probably no dog was ever so unjustly saddled with a bad name. There are, in America, friends of dachshunds who are not at all friendly in their feelings toward Germany, but it has become almost necessary to conceal this sentiment of kindness. As for the "sausage dog" himself there is not the least reason in accusing him of pro-German sympathies.

The Westminster Kennel Club, of New York, has devised a way to rescue Bruno. The waddler will not be banished or exterminated, but he will be given a chance to begin life anew under another name. He will, in brief, be Anglicized. Henceforth he is to be known not as dachshund, but as "badger dog." His name is banned in order that he himself may continue to exist.

It will, probably, be some time before Americans can contemplate a "badger dog" without thinking of the Kaiser or a junker, but there is hope that the unfortunate association of ideas may ultimately be eradicated. There is no sense in taboos Thanksgiving turkeys because they remind us of the Ottoman Turk or eschewing buttermilk because it happens to be the national tipple of the Bulgars. Let us give the "badger dog" a chance on his own merits to live down a bad reputation which he doubtless never deserved.

To Test Staple

Clothing Materials

When buying staple clothing materials, if you are not a good judge of quality, it is an excellent idea to look at several pieces of the same type of material but with different prices and compare the weight, color, and firmness of weave. Such a comparison will often emphasize the fact that the most expensive piece is not necessarily the best quality. It may be the season's most fashionable color and weight and its higher price probably is due to slight variations in the finishing and the fleeting popularity of the style.

There has been a tendency to abuse the practice of asking for samples from dress goods departments, but it will give the opportunity for home tests. Cotton and linen are affected by acids and very slightly affected by alkalis, while the reverse is true of wools. The alkalies found in the home are washing sodas and the washing powders.

The following is a simple test to determine the amount of cotton in a mixed fabric:

Add 4 tablespoons of washing soda, or 5 tablespoons of washing powder to a pint of soft water. The washing soda should be rolled to a powder before measuring. Bring to boiling and add sample, which should be about 1½ inches square. Boil carefully, to avoid spattering, for 20 minutes, adding water at intervals to replace that lost by evaporation. Transfer sample to cold water and rub between the fingers. The wool, which is gelatinized by the boiling, will disappear on rubbing and the cotton threads will be left unchanged.

PAY AND FILE INCOME TAX BEFORE MAR. 15

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to a close on Saturday night, March 15.

All payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night.

The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who should and tooted his horn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war.

The lagards and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File.

Residents of Maryland and Delaware should make their returns and pay their taxes to Joshua W. Miles, Collector of Internal Revenue, Baltimore, Md., or to any of his deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss.

If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity an agent or legal representative may make your return.

If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.

Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered.

If unmarried or if living apart from her husband she must make her return for 1918 if her net income was $1,000 or over.

If married and living with her husband her income must be considered with the husband's in determining the liability for a return. Their joint income, less the credits allowed by law, is subject to normal tax. The wife's net income is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return the wife must file a separate return.

Severe Penalties.

The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is imposed and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing wilfully to make return or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.

Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for resale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overtime and Bonuses Taxed.

Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.

Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft.

SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY INCOME TAX PAYER.

Washington, D. C. — "The rights of all persons now filing Income Tax returns are amply protected by provisions for abatements, refunds and appeals," says Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

"Every person can be sure of a square deal. No person is expected to pay more than his share of tax. His share is determined solely by the amount and nature of his net income for 1918, as defined in the law."

"Abatement petitions are dealt with open-mindedly. Refunds will be made in every case where too much tax is paid and only collected."

"The Income Tax is 'on the level' all the way through."

Half A Million Mules in France With "Old Glory"

Mules are in favor as draft animals in the war operations in this country and in western Europe. The exports during the war, undoubtedly for war purposes, were about 350,000 mules in place of a normal export of probably 22,000. The shipments overseas by the War Department numbered about 29,000 mules, and at about the end of 1918 approximately 106,000 were in the service of the War Department in this country. Therefore, nearly 500,000 mules, the Bureau of Crop Estimates says, were supplied to the War Department and the Allies by the farms of this country for war service.

Comparison of mules with draft horses is interesting. The War Department shipped overseas about 29,000 mules and 33,000 draft horses, of both of which only 600 were lost en route. That department bought 29,000 mules in France, Great Britain, and Spain, and 123,000 horses for all purposes, the draft horses not being separately reported. On December 25, 1918, there were on hand with the American Expeditionary Forces 56,000 mules and 110,000 draft horses, and the War Department had on hand November 2, 1918, 162,000 mules and 186,000 draft horses.

How "Black Jack" Pershing Got His Nickname

There has been a good deal of mystery as to when and why Pershing got the nickname "Black Jack." He is a pronounced blond. What suggested to his foster-children the label "Black?" I have talked with army officers, old friends of Pershing, who have expressed the belief that the name was simply invested by some newspaper man who believed that a man with a picturesque career should have a picture handle to his name. Ever since Pershing's military achievements in the Philippines put his name in the newspapers chroniclers of his doing have presented him to the public as "Black Jack" Pershing. The use of this sobriquet has always sounded a certain note of admiration, as though Pershing, the soldier, were possessed of the same deadly wall-plop as is that deadly little weapon whose name he shares.

The truth is that Pershing was nicknamed by the cadets "Black Jack" because of his unpopularity as a tactical officer. The cadets wanted an opprobrious title for him. Those unusually fertile fields of suggestion—some peculiarity of appearance or manner—were barren. The inspiration came to some cadet: Pershing was detailed to the Military Academy from the Tenth Cavalry, a negro regiment. "Nigger Jack" he became. In time this evolved into "Black Jack."

Homing Pigeon Trained Through Generations to Fly

It is odd to realize the practical use of the dove, generally accepted as the symbol of peace, in carrying on war, and it has probably surprised many people to learn that the homing pigeon differs materially from the carrier pigeon so long associated with the bearing of messages. As a matter of fact, the carrier pigeon has practically ceased carrying and is nowadays raised for its fine looks rather than its homing instinct. The homing pigeon used in the United States Army and Navy is of another type, which has been trained through many generations to fly. Training begins when the birds are about three months old, and the flying distances are gradually increased to 500 miles, when the bird is held to be qualified for real work.

Don't Abandon The Home Garden

Don't forget to include the home garden as one of your main lines of work the coming season. If you have not already made your plans for a garden do so at once. Select, fertilize, and prepare your ground as soon as possible. The seed supply should also be looked after and ordered at the earliest possible date, in order to prevent disappointments and delays in planting. See that the garden includes a good variety of vegetables, and also plant it so that it will continue to work for you and supply your table with fresh vegetables throughout the entire summer and fall. Too many gardens are abandoned after the first crop of vegetables is harvested in the spring.

He Wanted A German Hunting License

George Walsh, the popular William Fox star will be seen at the Newark Opera House Tuesday March 18 in his latest picture, "I'll Say So."

Those who admire the George Walsh brand of dash and ginger will not be disappointed in this new production of his, for it is ever present in new and startling surprises.

"I'll Say So" is the story of a young American, who wanted a German hunting license as soon as he heard that the United States has declared war. He had flat feet however, and as the Germans were fast runners, Uncle Sam turned him down, because he needed men who could keep up with them.

George may have been too slow for the army but he certainly was not too slow for a number of German agents who were respectively engaged in stirring up a bush league war with Villa.

A Mexican raid staged with all the elaborateness of a serious drama is but a mere incident to form a background for the rapid fire action of the hero.—Adv.

All in a Day's Work

W. H. Logan, Jr., tells of Varied Service Performed by the "Y"

Since Claude Patterson of Atlanta, left to go home, the bed which he had in my room has been occupied by transient officers who need a place to sleep. They usually stay for one night or so and there is always another coming in as beds are at a premium in this crowded town.

Last Tuesday night an Australian was my roommate, the next night, an Egyptian, Thursday a boy from Toronto and Friday a chap from Prince Edwards Island who had enlisted in Nova Scotia, in the Princess Pat's regiment and wore the khaki uniform. I was initiated into the mysteries of how the skirt was worn and what really did go on besides it to keep a man warm. I decided that I would stick to my present togs while in the service, at least.

Another night a Lieutenant from Vancouver, was with a lumber division in Southern France, gave me a new angle on the activities of the war and he was followed by a man of 60 or so who had two sons in the scrap, one in the air, the other on the ground, while he was cutting timber for them both. They are all alive and well and expect to "get back home to Mother, thank God."

The boy with me the last two nights was from Toronto, had two years post graduate work in geology in Yale and is to go in Government work when he gets home. A chap in the house was a professor in Mathematics in Chicago University and is now teaching in the Khaki University over here with the Canadians.

Today, Sunday the 2nd, Charlie Whittemore of Chester, Pa., and I went to the Royal Academy to see the very interesting Canadian War pictures. We picked up a chap outside to whom we told what we knew of the Royal Academy and its place in art and took him in with us. He was a flying officer, on crutches, water on the knee as the result of a drop in his plane from which, among other things he was delirious for 15 days. He comes from Toronto and was studying (?) law but thinks he will not go back to it. We found the body of an airplane in the exhibition, in which a Canadian flyer had fought 60 Hun buses. The fellow who did this stunt is now in the hospital with the chap who was with us.

Keeping records is some job, but it is a satisfaction to have them the way they should be. The other day two men came in, with rather nondescript uniforms and wanted to register. One said his name was Lytle. I said, "Where do you come from?" He told me he had been a prisoner with the Germans from May 27 to November 22 and had just arrived at Hull from Copenhagen and Rotterdam, that he had originally gone to France through England. I opened a drawer and pulled out his card, from his former trip here and added the latter history. With him was Lieutenant Shea, U. S. Army who had been in captivity with the Y.M.C.A. man and had been doing Y work with him in Berlin, pending their release.

Yesterday a fellow with a fur trimmed collar and cuffs came in to register. I said, "From Paris?" He said, "No. Archangel." He gave me his name and I took his card out of the Russian file, which I had been crafty enough to have compiled from all available records, some days ago.

In the late afternoon of Friday, a very unassuming woman walked in to register from Paris. "Your name, please?" "Mrs. Maud Radford Warren." She is on her way to Ireland on a special commission from Mr. Carter, head of the A. E. F., Y.M.C.A., to write on the Y for Colliers. She did not know there were American troops or Y people in Russia and said, "I guess I will have to go there." She wears a Y uniform.

It is a very difficult matter to get sailings to U. S. and we have 25 men listed now to return,—most of them have no chance before April 1. One fellow wanted to take a boat to Jamaica and chance getting up from there; another smooth guy, he thinks he is, wants to go to France and try that route, but the Boss is crafty and fooled him. At present the Admiralty has shut down on our using Southampton to Havre and it takes five days to get to Paris from London, via Liverpool. We shipped 140 out of Liverpool on Sunday, the 2nd, who had arrived from U. S. on January 24th.

During the month of December 1918, 1175 Secretaries, men and women passed through the U. K. to France and in January 1919, 603. Since this outfit started in 1917 there have been 5422 handled by this office and the Movement department 4400 have gone by since I arrived here.

A man came in from Egypt the other day on his way to the States. He will have to wait awhile for a boat. A chap and his sister registered this afternoon (February 3). He is from China and she is Mr. Carter's secretary. They have been having "Leave" together and go to Paris tomorrow. Two other men here now are collecting $100,000.00 worth of supplies for Russia and expect to get off next week. The ends of the earth meet in our little room on the top floor of 48.

We have been having the first snow of the season since Saturday. It has not been much of a fall but the atmosphere has been clear. We had 12 minutes of sunshine in 13 days. Some class to that. You can stand over the usual coal fire and see your breath as you talk. We have an oil stove helping out the gas fire and had weather strips put on the windows and a spring on the door, so the office is fairly comfortable.

Sunday afternoon, two weeks ago I went to Queens Hall to a beautiful concert, given by an association for that purpose. There were 60 in the orchestra and 20 of them were girls. They played very well and the hall was crowded to capacity, 3000.

I expect to go to some dances at the Palace Hotel, which we have recently taken over for officers, has them three times a week and I have just gotten a pair of very light of-ficers high boots to make the going as easily as possible. Also I know a nice Irish girl who can and will dance with me and the prospect is attractive.

Milk Producers Hold Big Meetings

Five hundred and seventy-six cows signed in the Odessa and Middletown organizations of the Interstate Milk Producers Association is the standard set at the meetings held Wednesday night and Thursday night respectively.

Although the farmers over the county and state are perfecting local organizations of the Interstate Milk Producers Association with surprising rapidity, yet the farmers of Middletown broke all previous records by those present coming in the Association 100 per cent strong. The Odessa farmers ran a close second by coming in 95 per cent strong. Regular meetings will be held in each community until every milk shipper has become a member of the Association. Regular meetings are also being held in Newark, Mt. Pleasant, Townsend, and Smyrna. Organization meetings will be held at Kirkwood, Bear Station, Kenton and Greenwood. These meetings are held under the direction of the farm bureau.

After completing the Middletown organization, Chairman J. S. Moore called on Mr. Edward Ladley to explain the farm bureau farm record books, and handed out fifteen of them. Mr. Moore presented the "pure bred bull in every farm" project. The meeting went on record as supporting the project.

W.H.M.S. to Meet March 14

Justice and Brotherhood, is the topic of the lesson to be studied by the Newark auxiliary of the W.H.M.S. at the home of Mrs. Patchell, Friday, March 14th, at 2.30. Please have the enigmas prepared.

been stationed recently at Camp Grant, Illinois. When asked what should be told about him in advance he replied:

"So far as my 'obituary' is concerned, I am one of the veterans in the Chautauqua movement. Was Superintendent of Old Salem Chautauqua, one of the most successful of the old independent Chautauqs, for five years, during which time my personal acquaintance with Dr. Pearson began. I was living in the state of Idaho when Dr. Pearson dreamed his dream of Chautauqua moving in inspiring procession across the eastern states, and he came across the continent to talk with me about his dream, with the result that I returned to help him transform the dream into reality. After serving as platform superintendent of the Oxford, Pa., Chautauqua the first year, I was called to the pastorate of the influential Presbyterian Church there. After a pastorate of five years, I resigned for a few months of Army Y.M.C.A. work. I am now serving as Camp Religious Work Secretary in the Camp Grant, Ill., Army Y.M.C.A. I am 48 years old; still have a fair equipment of hair on my head, and have lost only one tooth."

Mr. Turner's subject will be "Humanity's Last Reserves."

A series lecture on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 will be followed by a concert given by the McDonough-Eagleston Company.

"Dull care has no show when they are around." So the advance notices say of the two young ladies who in striking costumes feature "The Girls from the North and South," and with readings and impersonations present a delightful entertainment.

On Tuesday evening this company will again appear.

"Russia in Revolution" will be the subject of a lecture by George Lawrence Parker, an eloquent speaker and former minister of the British American Congregational Church in Petrograd. He was an eye witness of the exciting and epoch making revolution during his three years stay in Russia. His acquaintance with all classes in that unfortunate country enables him to understand and present the Russian question fully.

The country's greatest reserves, the boys and girls, will be mobilized for three days of patriotic program, under the direction of Miss Mabel Tebo who will tell something of what the children did to help win the war. Games will be taught and other features unlike those of any previous Junior Chautauqua will be carried out. An hour for this exercise will be arranged for in co-operation with the school authorities with school work.

The guarantors are well pleased with the outlook for a successful Chautauqua.

Will Again Send Students to Oxford

With the resumption of the election of Rhodes scholars from this country, to attend British universities, Delaware will again select its candidates. According to an announcement made by Professor Frank Aydelotte, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, American secretary to the Rhodes trustees, Delaware will be entitled to select students for the 1918 year, during which no students were sent to England from this state on account of the war. An interesting feature of the method of selecting students will be the elimination of qualifying examinations. Candidates will be selected on the basis of their collegiate or university records.

Judge Constable Passes Away Suddenly

Judge Albert Constable, chief judge of the Second Judicial Circuit and a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals died from heart failure Friday at his home in Elkton, Md. He was considered one of the leading members of the Maryland judiciary.

He was the son of the late Albert Constable and Elizabeth Groome, both of Elkton and was born on July 22, 1871. He attended the Elkton public school and later went to Princeton University where he was graduated. He then studied law under his father.

In 1908, Judge Constable was elected State's attorney for Cecil County on the Democratic ticket. He was nominated for Chief Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit in 1912, succeeding James Alfred Pearce. No nominations were made against him.

Republicans and Democrats alike say that Judge Constable had an excellent chance to become Governor of Maryland in 1915. He refused the nomination, however.

Judge Constable married Miss Emily Frazer Evans of Elkton, and is survived by his wife, two sons, Albert Constable, Jr., and James Constable; two daughters, Emily and Elizabeth Constable; four brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services were held from his late residence, Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Interment was made in Elkton cemetery.

ENTERTAINMENT NETS GOODLY SUM FOR TREASURY

Missionary Society Draws Crowded House

The entertainment given on Thursday evening by the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church was a success in every way. It added a creditable sum to the treasury reflected credit upon the participants and gave pleasure to the large audience present.

The Choral Society under the leadership of Mrs. J. O. G. Duffy rendered several selections very acceptably to accompany Miss Nellie Wilson.

Miss Mary Houston sang "Ma Baby" and "Mighty Lak a Rose," with Miss Turner as accompanist and Miss Madeline C. Raby to a sprightly washboard accompaniment told the humorous details of "Mrs. Puffer's Silver Wedding" and for an encore gave "The Retort Discourteous."

"Packing the Missionary Barrel" was the source of much merriment, with its amusing situations, clever dialogue and grotesque costumes.

The characters were: Mrs. Brown, hostess—Miss Eleanor Todd.

Mrs. Dumps, short and stout—Mrs. H. E. Tiffany.

Mrs. Flim, simpering spinster—Mrs. Dunlevy.

Mrs. Green, a bossier—Mrs. Margaret Cann.

Mrs. Jones, confirmed invalid—Mrs. Ernest Frazer.

Mrs. Lamb, a widow—Mrs. Chas. Strahorn.

Two willing helpers—Mrs. A. W. Moore and Miss Anderson.

Mrs. Hicks, a strong minded woman—Miss Yearley.

Sophie, a Polish girl—Mrs. C. P. Steele.

Coffee, cocoa, cake and sandwiches were sold and with the admission tickets netted $68 for the general fund.

Will Vaccinate Against Anthrax Free of Charge

All live stock owners can have their animals vaccinated against anthrax free of charge, if they will apply for the service.

The State Live Stock Sanitary Board requests the owners of farm animals to notify the office of the Board in Dover, or Dr. H. P. Eves at Wilmington, if they desire to have their cattle vaccinated.

It is the purpose of the Board to protect all live stock as far as possible, but it does not enforce vaccination, except in cases of outbreak, where vaccination or quarantine becomes necessary.

Appleton Organizes Grange With 50 Charter Members

The organization of the Appleton Grange was completed on Saturday evening, March 8, with fifty charter members. Mr. Charles Anthony, State Organizer of Granges, was again present.

The newly appointed officers will be installed at the next meeting, March 15.

This week the Appleton Social Club will meet on Friday evening, March 14. This is in order to take advantage of Mr. Anthony's promise to attend the Grange meeting if held Saturday evening.

Card of Thanks

Miss Graff would like to thank some of the ladies of Newark for their generous response to her appeal for clothing for the Pine Mountain Settlement School, Pine Mountain, Harlan County, Kentucky. If any one is moved to contribute money, no matter how small the sum, or more clothing for boys or girls, from 7 to 17, if sent to Miss Graff she will gladly forward the same.

NEWARK OPERA HOUSE

PROGRAM WEEK BEGINNING

Thursday 13th

"The Zero Hour" was penned by Paul West, the famous writer, just a short time before his death in Paris. It is one of the most grippingly interesting and entertaining pictures ever written by this famous author. June Elvidge is the star of this picture, and she is seen in two unusual roles—playing one of the longest double exposure roles on record. Also—Pearl White in the second chapter of "The Lightning Raider."

Friday 14th

Mae Marsh in "Hidden Fires." A Novel double exposure drama in five parts.

Saturday 15th

Bushman and Bayne in "Poor Rich Man," Pathe News and a two-reel comedy.

Monday 17th

Tom Moore in "Thirty a Week," by Thompson Buchanan, a Goldwin comedy drama in five parts.

Tuesday 18th

George Walsh in "I'll Say So." The whirlwind story of the chap who couldn't get in the war and who couldn't stay out—so he does neither, and does it well. Also—U. S. War Review. Music by the Newark High School Orchestra of four pieces.

Wednesday 19th

William S. Hart in "Shark Monroe." The story deals with the notorious skipper of a sealing schooner in Alaskan waters who is widely known for his cruelty and primitive savagery.

NOTICE—Beginning Tuesday, March 18th, and every Tuesday until further notice, the High School Orchestra of four pieces will play for the pictures.
