YMCA Day Camp To Begin June 25 For 6-14-Yr. Olds

Three 2-Week Periods
Of Camping Scheduled
For Rittenhouse Park

The Newark YMCA will operate a day camp for boys and girls, six to 14 in the Newark area, for three two-week periods beginning June 25, at Rittenhouse Park.

Special consideration will be given to five-year-olds with kindergarten experience. The day camp will have swimming instruction after the first day of each period, and a bus will pick up campers from their homes or schools to get them to Canby Park swimming pool by 9 a.m., and after one hour there, they will be transported to the campsite in Newark for such activities as nature study, hikes, archery, handicrafts, cookouts, group games, dramatics, and singing.

The camp day will be conducted from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

At the end of each two-week period, there will be a parent night program to which all parents are asked to bring picnic supplies. Swimming awards will be presented and each camp group will put on a skit. Campers desiring to sleep out, will be bed down after parents go home.

Registrations are being taken at the YMCA office, 90 East Main Street, Newark, and free brochures will be mailed upon request.

Travis Cosabon, last year's assistant camp director, will direct the Newark YMCA day camp this summer, and H. Trutt, executive secretary of the Newark YMCA, will supervise the overall program.

Death Of Dr. John J. Bunting, Jr. Cited As Due To "Tragic Lapse Of Rationality"

At funeral services for the Rev. Dr. John J. Bunting, Jr., last Monday morning at the Newark Methodist Church, the Rev. Dr. R. J. Cooke, district superintendent, urged Newark Methodists to continue the work of building their church along the lines established by their late pastor.

Dr. Cooke lauded Dr. Bunting's qualities as a human being and rejected his suicide of last Thursday as a premeditated act, but rather a "tragic lapse of rationality."

"The tragic death of Dr. John J. Bunting, Jr., was a great loss," Dr. Cooke said. "As you well know he was an outstanding minister, a well-prepared and well-rounded religious leader who was known to be a good preacher, a faithful pastor and an able administrator."

"He had a reputation for many contributions to the church and the community. John had a brilliant mind, a splendid education. He was noted as a clear analytical thinker, and strong convictions and the courage to stand by them. He always set for himself standards of excellence and demanded much of himself and expected much of others."

"As his family and friends look back over his last few days, they can see evidence of fatigue and some depression, related possibly to some feeling of failure in his own achievements, and a certain concern that others did not share his own sense of devotion to the church and its program."

"We do not know what factors or factors triggered the events of last Thursday, but I cannot believe, and will not believe that this was planned or premeditated. Rather it was a tragic lapse of rationality, an act not of character, as to be best described as temporary insanity."

Morris S. Cover Named For AVMA Consulting Post

Dr. Morris S. Cover, associate dean of the school of agriculture at the University of Delaware, has been appointed American Veterinary Medical Association representative to the committee on transmissible diseases of poultry of the United States Livestock Sanitary Association.

Dr. Cover, who also is associate director of the university's agricultural experiment station, is a recognized authority on diseases of poultry.

In 1959, he led a research team in the study of "red spot," a disease of unknown cause which alarmed the broiler industry, and he identified "red spot" as a condition of the more familiar disease, coccidiosis, and recommended successful corrective treatments.

At the University of Delaware since 1952 when he was appointed poultry pathologist and associate professor of animal and poultry science, Dr. Cover was named chairman of the department of animal and poultry science in 1959 and associate dean of the school of agriculture and associate director of the agricultural experiment station in 1961.

He holds degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, Kansas State College and the University of Illinois.

Cobbs Announces Teacher Vacancies For Local Schools

Primary Grade Openings
Offered In Resignations
Of 35 District Teachers

Teacher vacancies for the 1962-63 school year still exist in the Newark special school district, according to Dr. Ramon C. Cobbs, administrative assistant.

Vacancies are largely in primary grades, and district policy has been to place experienced teachers at these grade levels whenever possible.

Part of the cause for vacancies is continuing growth of student enrollment, and part reflects an unusually high number of resignations received by the district this year. Thirty-three teachers have resigned.

Dr. Cobbs reported that of these 33, five are retiring from teaching; five are leaving because their husbands have been transferred to other areas; five plan to be married and reside in another part of the country; and seven will be taking up the duties of motherhood.

One teacher has been granted a year's leave of absence due to illness and one teacher will leave to do graduate work. One teacher lacks necessary credits for certification renewal.

Nine teachers are leaving the district to go into better paying positions in other districts.

Dr. Cobbs pointed out that the Newark Board of Education has called for a referendum on June 9 to increase the local tax rate for current expenses by 15 cents, and "a large proportion of the increased revenue would go toward paying local supplementary salary increases for up to five years out of district experience," Cobbs said.

"Many surrounding districts already give credit for this kind of experience on their local salary schedules," Cobbs concluded.

Proposals To Better Business Offered At C. of C. Meeting

President Wm. J. Gallagher, Retail Merchants Section Chairman Reginald Rockwell Conduct Public Meeting
With Directors For Improvement Of Business In Newark

President William J. Gallagher of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, and Reginald Rockwell, director and chairman of the retail merchants' section of the chamber, presided at a public meeting between the board of directors and some 50 local business people at the Alice P. Smyth YWCA Center last Monday night, when proposals were presented for improving business conditions in Newark.

Proposals presented ranged from city provision of comfort stations in the shopping district, to improved interchange access for Newark with the new through-way, and all proposals were recorded by Secretary Carroll W. Munford and Director Raymond G. Weiner in some double-check minutes-keeping, for study and action by the Newark Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

The directors acted immediately upon one proposal — to improve Newark's public relations with shoppers by providing for payment of parking meter violation fines at depositaries on the street and for a quarter rather than the dollar required at the Newark police station.

Intermediate Action
The chamber is to formally request Newark City Council to modify the municipal parking meter fine procedure, with installation of quarter depositaries at intervals in the parking meter areas.

Persons in the audience cited fines levied for Newark parking meter violations as particular deterrents to out-of-town shoppers, and also urged that employees of local business houses be requested to use off-street parking facilities.

"We have no panacea for Newark's business problems," President Gallagher said in addressing the audience at the opening of the meeting. "But we want to work with you, and believe we can provide a 'voice' which you as individuals may not have."

Gallagher cited efforts to improve Newark Chamber of Commerce service with establishment of a central office with a professional secretary on duty; publication of a monthly newsletter; and regular liaison with city council.

"Our job is to sell Newark," Rockwell said, taking over from Gallagher. "We must overcome the lack of cooperation between merchants, he said. "It's true, we don't cooperate fully, but why should we? If we were all cooperators, we wouldn't be independent businessmen."

Rockwell said that the local chamber of commerce "has to lead the fight to preserve the profit in our profit system," and urged chamber leadership against unfavorable legislation, and sponsorship of that which is favorable.

Proposals presented for action by the chamber included improved parking lot lighting; resurfacing of privately-maintained but public parking areas for shoppers; consistent nighttime illumination of store windows; advertising circulars for the entire Newark area; north and southbound express lanes on Newark with the proposed through-way interchange; Main Street cleanup; improvement; and regulatory fees to be paid by out-of-town business people for operating in Newark in competition with local, tax-paying firms and individuals.

Provision of one or more public comfort stations in the shopping district was urged, and directors of the Newark Chamber of Commerce were warned to be on guard against sales tax legislation.

"People have said they're glad to trade here because there is no sales tax," and we should be on guard against such a tax," Felix Laub said.

Higher Education Becomes Big Business; UD Conducts $12 Million/Yr. Operation

Higher education is one of the nation's biggest businesses and is growing bigger every day. The nation's colleges and universities have combined assets of 21 billion dollars, nearly triple those of the General Motors Corporation.

At the University of Delaware, with 3,200 undergraduates, a like number of graduate and extension students, and 1,300 employees, management of the university's 600-acre plant with its 80-odd buildings is a 12 million dollar a year operation. It wasn't so many years ago that most college presidents signed all checks and made all management decisions and purchases. Rapid expansion has demanded modern business practices and caused college presidents everywhere to engage the services of business managers, efficiency experts, purchasing agents and electronic computers.

The same is true at Newark, where Dr. Bruce Partridge, vice-president for business and management, and his staff dutifully seek to stretch every available inflated dollar.

Following the lead of industry, the university has had central purchasing for eight years under the direction of Richard Blakeman, who came from the industrial field. He orders some 10,000 different items a year, ranging from mosquito and guinea pigs for use in agricultural experimentation, to a nuclear reactor and an electron microscope for the school of engineering.

As a result of his efforts, the university is in the diaper business. Diapers are lint-free, it seems, and are best for cleaning laboratory

Physical Fitness Playground Theme In GNRA Program

Physical fitness will be the main theme for the summer playground program announced by Glenn Smoot, acting director of the Greater Newark Recreation Association.

In line with President Kennedy's program of physical fitness for youth, the association is gearing its program in this direction.

To meet the needs of teen-age boys and girls, calisthenics, team sports, wrestling, weight-lifting and track events will be included.

Physical fitness tests on a voluntary basis, will be administered at the beginning and end of the season to measure their success over the eight-week period.

The summer playground program will be conducted from June 25 to Aug. 17.

The university used to spend $1,800 a year for towels and rags; now it spends only $186 for clean materials.

The best price is not always the best bargain. Blakeman often finds, as in the case of carpeting, upholstery and drapery materials—and billiard table covers. Utilizing facilities of the school of home economics, fabrics are tested for strength, durability and wearability.

Fuel oil is tested to determine the most efficient brand and grade for campus boilers; bacterial smears from dining hall plates are studied for germ count in seeking the best detergents; foods are tested for nutrition; concrete, for strength; and soil samples to determine what fertilizers best satisfy campus needs.

Delaware purchases some 20,000 gallons of ice cream a year after testing various brands for appearance, odor, flavor, butterfat and food value per unit of volume.

David L. Coursen Patent Recipient In Metal Process

Local Man Develops New Explosive Process For Compacting Metal Powder

David L. Coursen of Newark, Delaware is co-recipient of U.S. Patent No. 3,022,544 "Explosive Compaction of Powders."

Techniques of powder metallurgy are employed in processing metals that melt at high temperatures, and are used for preparation of combinations of metals that cannot otherwise be obtained because the metals do not mix or because of wide differences in their melting points.

In the practice of powder metallurgy, loose metallic powder is compressed into a compacted mass which is processed further as by rolling or drawing into desired products by a heating operation followed by other steps. In either case, the quality of the compacted mass is dependent upon uniformity and degree of compression.

Coursen and his associates have devised a method of compacting powders within a seamless container surrounded by a layer of explosive material.

Desired results are achieved by detonating the explosive layer at a sufficient number of locations to avoid converging shock waves.

Advantages include formation of compacted masses of high density and strength and of large size.

This patent has been assigned to E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company.

Bike Riders In Accidents Fail To Observe Laws

Most bike riders in accidents with motor vehicles are violating traffic laws, the Delaware Safety Council declared yesterday.

The council appealed to parents to teach their children the traffic laws, to help them to use bicycles more safely.

"In four out of five accidents, the bicycle rider is violating a law," Francis Jamison, assistant manager of the council, declared at a staff conference on bicycle safety.

his physical plant staff of plumbers, carpenters, electricians and groundskeepers seeking more efficient operation.

Remodeling and small construction jobs are usually done by the university's own staff. Projects included design and construction of bicycle racks around the campus and sound-proof practice rooms for the music department.

Recently the university spent $30,000 on installation of heat control equipment to keep the campus buildings in all rooms and buildings at an even level. This saves up to $8,000 a year in fuel costs.

By providing storage space to enable bulk purchase of gasoline, the university saves $3,000 annually over the retail price of motor fuel, and a window-washing gadget that reaches four stories without a ladder saves $2,000 a year in time and labor.

Another time and step-saving device is the transistor radio receiver each foreman and security guard carries. It can be summoned quickly to any trouble spot on the campus.

Like all institutions, the university has its problems with pigeons, which have a habit of roosting over doorways. The ingenious physical plant people have come up with plastic barriers and slanted edges that eliminate nesting places without adversely affecting building appearance.

Feeding the university population is another demanding job. Donald Bickert, hotel management graduate, bases his menus on periodic surveys of student food preferences. In the newest campus kitchens, every possible food item has been routed for most efficient handling, and the university maintains its own bakery.

Receiving and distributing mail is handled by the university's own central post office, headed by John J. Haas, with 54 tons of letters, not including packages, received last year.

Keeping track of money is an important phase of the university's business. Controller Paul E. Becker, Jr., has this task, assisted by punch-card equipment that maintains records of all accounts. The same machines also aid in the efficient handling of registration, student records and class scheduling.

The business office issues some 50,000 checks yearly for all purposes, and by paying bills promptly, Becker finds the university saves about $4,500 a year in cash discounts.

Dean, Nicholls Awarded National Science Grants

Two members of the civil engineering faculty at the University of Delaware have received National Science Foundation grants to participate in a summer mathematics conference at Lehigh University, July 9-27.

Dr. Donald L. Dean, chairman of the department, and Dr. Robert L. Nicholls, assistant professor, will attend the conference to survey applications of linear algebra, probability and statistics, which are assuming greater significance in engineering and science.

The department recently added a course in systems engineering to its curriculum.

Eggs' Versatility For Menus Hailed By Janet Coblenz

There are a dozen or more ways to "egg your family on" to better nutrition through tastier meals.

Eggs also are a great help to the homemaker who prepares carefully budgeted meals, according to Janet Coblenz, extension nutrition specialist with the University of Delaware. They can be served either as the main dish or to extend other, more expensive foods.

Eggs are basic to good salads. They may be the main component of a salad such as deviled eggs; an ingredient in a mixed or tossed salad; or the source of richness in a mayonnaise dressing.

Eggs are the answer to the sandwich maker's every wish. They provide quick and appetizing sandwiches—plain or fancy—for lunch or party.

Eggs can be served to all ages, from infant to oldest family member, and they come in handy for quick meals for unexpected guests and for the teen-age crowd's popular snacks.

Eggs are the weight-watcher's friend. They are an excellent source of protein with a low calorie count.

Served hot or cold—plain or fancy—alone or in combination with other foods, eggs are always a hit! Miss Coblenz says.

John Brill Elects To Retire May 31 From DuPont Co.

Film Department Director Of Research, Development To Retire After 38 Years

John L. Brill, director of research and development of the DuPont film department, has elected to retire May 31, after a company career of 38 years. He resides on Paper Mill Road, near Newark.

Brill joined DuPont in 1924 as a research chemist at the Experimental Station in Wilmington, and in 1926 assisted in the start-up of the Belle (W. Va.) Works.

In 1930 he went to England as a technical representative of the old ammonia department, and a year became special assistant to the chemical director of the department.

In 1937-38 he assumed additional duties as director of the ammonia department's experimental station laboratories.

He became assistant to the production manager of the ammonia department in 1941, and during 1942 was in charge of the department's work with heavy water, a part of the wartime atomic energy program conducted for the Federal Government.

He was named chemical director of the plastic department in 1943, and when the film department was organized in 1950, was appointed research director.

A native of New York City, Mr. Brill attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving his BS in chemical engineering in 1923, and his master's degree in 1924.

More State Funds Sought By Newark With New Streets

Seeking more money from the state under the municipal aid fund, affidavits were submitted recently to the state treasurer and to the State Highway Department by Charles D. Long, Newark city secretary, over the signature of Mayor Carl S. Rankin, with an increase of 2.36 miles of streets not maintained by the state.

Newark received some $70,000 last year from the fund, second in the state among municipalities getting aid. Wilmington was first with some $400,000.

The fund, from gasoline tax, is distributed by a formula based on population and city-maintained street mileage.

Newark is still using the 11,404 population figure of the 1950 census but has increased its street length by more than four miles, to 27.19 miles since 1960.

Robert L. Ferry Awarded Key Dealership In Area The first Newark key dealership— and Delaware's second—in the U-Haul Rental System has been opened. It is the Rent-It Tool & Equipment Co., owned by Robert L. Ferry, and located at 1929 Capitol Trail.

Phillip Schneer, manager of the U-Haul Co. of Delaware, reports that competitive volume of business transacted, plus customer service, are the factors which determine status of dealerships within the systems.

Of the 7,763 U-Haul dealers in the United States and Canada, 822 are key dealerships which handle the full line of the system's rental trailer, truck and moving equipment.

Of local interest is the announcement of the engagement of Judith Beverly Gregg of Kilar, Estates, to William T. Scott, Jr., of Newport Gap Pike, by the brides-to-be parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Gregg.

Miss Gregg is a Conrad High School graduate and of the Beebe Hospital School of Nursing. She is a member of the staff of Eugene duPont Memorial Hospital.

Control Of Leaf Miners

Cited By Ed Schabinger

Leaf miners are insects that "mine" leaves or ornamentals for their food. They feed between the two layers of the leaf.

The "mining" or feeding results in dead areas, spoiling the appearance of the leaves.

The insects can be readily controlled by application of DDT, according to County Agent Edward H. Schabinger, when the first adult flies are noticed.

Robert E. Albert Inventor For Film Splicing Method

Newark Resident Awarded
U. S. Patent For Process
With Adhesive For Film

Robert Eyer Albert of Newark was the recipient on April 17, of U.S. Patent No. 3,030,254 "Method Of Splicing."

The splicing of films has been a problem in the motion picture industry for years, and cements used for this purpose have comprised a combination of an adhesive composition in a suitable solvent, with the action of the solvent and dissolved material relied upon to produce the necessary, strong splice.

The splicing problem has become more acute with recent developments and use of films which are not attacked by common solvents for cement. These films cannot be spliced effectively by conventional solvent-splicing cements. When a solvent does attack the film, the film becomes brittle and the splice breaks easily.

To present a solution to this problem, Albert discovered a splicing method patented especially for use with motion picture films, including those recently developed.

His invention involves use of a special adhesive which is adequately adherent to photographic films and does not have a toxic effect upon the person performing the splice, or harmful effect on the film.

The adhesive is a special "polyurethane" composition.

In a splicing operation with Albert's invention, the adhesive may be utilized as a filament or thread, or it may be coated upon a supporting tape or film. It is applied to the film areas to be joined, and the splice is made quickly by the application of heat and pressure with conventional splicing equipment.

The adhesive may be employed to bind other materials such as plastic, wood, paper and certain metals.

This patent has been assigned to E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company.

Letters

May 20, 1962

To the Newark Post,
The 4-H Junior Council wishes to take this opportunity to thank all the New Castle County 4-H Clubs and their leaders; the New Castle County Home Demonstration Clubs; Mr. Vernon Steele and his parade committee; the Newark Policemen; the Central School Cafeteria women; and the many, many helping hands, too innumerable to mention, for donating their time to making this Memorial Day Parade, a great success.

We 4-Hers served the refreshments to the marchers, and this year 4-H turned out a record number of cookies, totaling close to 800 dozen.

Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Sincerely,
Nina Tammi
4-H Jr. Council Pres.

To the Editor:
Your cartoon and editorial of May 17, add insult to injury in its attempt to charge lack of interest for refraining by the unemployed in West Virginia. It is rather a credit to their working-class instinct that they refuse to flock to the government bonedoggle that would have them straining for non-existent jobs.

What they lack is the knowledge that there is a way out of this misery accelerated by automation under capitalism. Only by organizing into Socialist Industrial Unions composed of all productive workers, jobless as well as those still employed, for the express purpose of taking, holding and operating the industries in their own behalf can we put an end to the system that offers unemployment solved by war.

The ballot is the way to proclaim the advent of a new society. Vote for The Socialist Labor Party!

Speaking of Money...

"Those Mid-Career Blues"

Speaking for the Wilmington Savings Fund Society

Hi there. This is John Buchanan SPEAKING OF MONEY.

"Those Mid-Career Blues"—Tell you what I mean. A man or a woman gets to 41 or 51, and looks up in mid-career to notice for the first time that he's been standing just about still on the company chart for four-five years.

Same time, he looks around and he sees a whole bunch of eager young lions blowing hot breath up the company ladder behind him. He doesn't notice them until now. There seems to be a hundred of them. Same time he notes a few of his contemporaries who have shot up ahead like boy-wonders.

He wakes up in a panic. Believe it or not that's fairly normal and there are good reasons for it. The top business schools and management associations have been studying this phenomenon recently, and I have studied their work on the subject.

Don't worry. I'm not going to lean back in relaxed tones and tell you this is dandy, and don't worry. But I am going to go on and tell you that it is no catastrophe. It is fairly common. And the important thing is what a man does about it once he discovers it. And there are things to do about it, very effective things. I'll explain.

The first thing you need to know: the reasons for the mid-career slump. Then you'll see what to do. When a man first notices in alarm that he has been standing still for about five years in business,

Miller, a platoon leader, is regularly stationed at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

Engineering Enrollment Up At U.D., Down In U.S.

The number of undergraduate engineering students in the United States has dropped for the fourth consecutive year, according to a recent survey published by the U.S. Office of Education.

The University of Delaware, one of 181 institutions surveyed, appeared to go against the trend by showing a 10 per cent increase in engineering enrollment, with 541 in the four undergraduate departments at the start of the school year.

Delaware Dean Edward W. Comings said the one-year increase is not indicative, and shared the nationwide concern for the shortage of students.

"Actually, our enrollment is about the same as it was five years ago," Comings said. "We experienced a decrease about three years ago, so we're just getting back to where we were before, and we're far behind predictions."

GODFREY SEKS INFORMATION ON TOPICS FOR EXTENSION

Plans are being made by the extension division, University of Delaware, to serve educational needs of the people of the state during the coming academic year, and Dr. Gordon C. Godfrey, director, has invited interested persons to call to his attention the desire for credit or non-credit programs in any Delaware community.

Two programs have been scheduled for the coming season, Dr. Godfrey said.

A philosophy of science lecture series, and a problem solving and practical creativity series for management and administrative personnel, will be offered on the campus.

Off For Bermuda — And Back Again!

Two Newark public school teachers—Dorothy Arndt, 46 North Chapel Street, and Nancy Cooper, 71 East Delaware Avenue—were photographed aboard the "SS Queen of Bermuda" just before sailing from New York for a spring holiday cruise to Bermuda.

Both ladies are back in their classrooms here in Newark, and the trip is a memory, but better late than never with publication of an engraving of two photogenic young teachers—a photo engraving that has been withheld pending proper placement with the Post's recent space squeeze.

AAUW Chapter To Be Hostesses With Conference

The Newark branch, American Association of University Women, will be hostesses to the Middle-Atlantic Regional Conference on the University of Delaware campus, June 14-16, with Mrs. Bruce Deering of Newark, general chairman.

The theme of the conference will be "AAUW in Progress," and representatives from 172 branches will attend.

A special feature will be a banquet in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of AAUW, with Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, to give the keynote address.

Mrs. Deering's committee includes Mrs. E. W. Lewis, reservations chairman and treasurer; Mrs. Richard Crawford, reception; Mrs. Richard Cook, information desk; Mrs. Paul McCormick and Mrs. Cyrus Day, flowers and decorations; and Mrs. William Stevenson, Mrs. Walter Hubert, Montgomery and M. Caroline Budd, meals.

Reservations close June 4, and may be made with Mrs. Lewis, 10 Briar Lane.

A report was given by Becky McCann on the Strawbridge and Clothier 4-H Dress Review in which Becky, with Lynn and Ann Moran modeled.

A report on the Flower Show training school was given by Karen Elwood, and sandwiches for the Memorial Day parades were made by Carol Smith, Susan Stork, Marcia Hayden, Margie Wiser, Mary Lou Skrotzky and Linda Stetslow. The club contributed 30 dozen cookies.

Coach Grant Ewell's Yellowjacket Nine To Meet Lions For First Place BHC Tie

Newark High (7-4) invades De-LaWarr (8-3) this Friday in hopes of finishing in a first-place tie with the Lions after suffering a 4-0 setback here on Tuesday at the hands of Mt. Pleasant—a defeat that ruined any chances the Jackets had of gaining sole possession of the Blue Hen Conference title.

The Jackets are in third place behind Mt. Pleasant (8-4).

Last Friday, the Jackets moved into second on the strength of Bob Buchanan's 2-0 whitewash of William Penn.

Coach Grant Ewell had no choice but to go with Alan Whiteman on the mound against the Green Knights, although the ace right-hander had been out of school for a few days due to illness.

The 6-1 fireballer failed to last through the first inning as Mt. Pleasant scored two runs on five walks.

Buchanan came on with only two days rest and pitched two-hit ball the rest of the way while fanning 10, but the Green Knights' Buddy Rice threw a two-hitter of his own.

Lead-off singles by Gene Garritt in the second and Whiteman in the fourth were Newark's only safeties. Garritt was rubbed out at second on a fielder's choice and Whiteman

Named College Coach

Cliff Browning

Newark High School basketball coach Cliff Browning has been named assistant football coach at Central Connecticut State College in New Britain.

Former University of Delaware football end, track, and swimming star, Browning is a three-time champion Middle Atlantic Conference pole-vaulter, setting a university and conference record with a flight of 13-2 1/2 ft. as a Blue Hen senior.

John Kuipers, Baltimore sportsman who introduced Lew Waggoner and Lew's Newark brother and nephew to Jim Sperry's Fisherman's Paradise on Long Haul Cove at St. Michaels on Maryland's Eastern Shore last October, caught 68 rock in a recent spring outing with Capt. Jim Sperry in Eastern Bay between the Kent Narrows and Holaga Snood.

And John Kuipers caught most of these rockfish in just about the most satisfying style imaginable—spinning with light tackle from Jim Sperry's drifting cruiser—tossing light lures into schools of surfacing strippers where the fish struck and fought the whip of the light rod rather than the drowning power of a trolling boat.

Some were caught trolling—and there's nothing wrong with that—but the greater portion of the 68 were taken casting—and that's even better.

With our introduction to Jim Sperry and his Long Haul Cove Fisherman's Paradise cabin and fishing facilities last October, we caught one good rock and a half a dozen striped kindergarten pupils from the schools in the Miles River as a howling nor'easter with its cold rain drove all but Jim Sperry's mate, Clark Lednum, and his party aboard the cruiser "Goa" from the gray, white-capped surface of the Chesapeake's tributary.

And then, even under the most adverse circumstances, Clark Lednum found fish for us.

Jerry Collier, a Jerseyman from Pennsville, spent a day of his recent vacation with Ed Redmond of Castle Hills, fishing for rock in the Delaware River below New Castle. "We caught some small rock," Jerry reports, "but the big thrill for me was in hooking and fighting a whopping big carp—and I wasn't even looking for carp. The fish took a bloodworm."

"He splashed water like a sailfish," Mr. Collier continued, still operating under a big head of steam, "but he got off after I had him almost to the beach." Jerry Collier concluded with some sadness. The Collier-Redmond team caught some big channel cats and some small white perch along with the juvenile rock in the Delaware.

Raymond Records 7th Winning Card For Hen Baseball

Coach Harold R. (Tabby) Raymond, who has never endured a losing baseball season in his coaching career, turned in his seventh straight Hen winner as the '62 schedule ended with a brilliant 7-6 overtime victory over NCAA-playoff-bound Penn State last Thursday.

Rightfielder John Strode, 164-pound junior, capped a series of individual heroics by singling in the winning run with two out in the 10th inning. Delaware took an early 3-0 lead with ace right-hander Steve Sundra on the hill, only to see the powerful Lions tie the score on a third-inning rally.

State picked up two more in the fifth. Delaware countered with two in the seventh and the score was 5-3 at the end of the regulation nine.

In the top of the 10th, a tremendous homerun over the right field scoreboard by third baseman Fred Light gave the visitors a 6-5 lead.

A single followed, and Raymond battered for Lutz and walked; Newark's Luke Lackman singled; and Strode cracked his second hit of the day as Aldridge jogged home from third.

Lutz gained his second win over Penn State in less than a year, as he'd turned back the Lions in 1961's NCAA District playoffs.

The Hens ended up with an overall 17-7 season and 6-2 in the Middle Atlantic Conference.

Bowling Porpoise Instructor Plans Local Exhibition

Bowling has many honors to bestow upon its champions, but few can compare with the claim of Betty Niemi, of Miami. The Brunswick Advisory Staff bowler holds the distinct honor of being the personal instructor of Flippy, the bowling porpoise who topples the tennpins at the Miami Seagrass.

Training porpoises to bowl is not, however, Betty's sole claim to fame. The 1961 Miami City Double champion, she maintained a 193 average to spearhead her team into 6th position in the highly competitive National Women's Team Tournament. Her high game for the event was a 283.

Next Thursday, Betty will appear at Blue Hen Lanes in the Newark Shopping Center. She will bowl against local champions and offer free instructions on the finer points of bowling.

Robert Williams, manager of Blue Hen Lanes, reports the program will begin at 10 a.m.

Brandywine Polo Season To Begin This Sunday

Brandywine Polo Club will open its 12th annual summer-fall season this Sunday at 3 p.m. on the outdoor field at Toughkenamon, Pa. Practice matches have been under way for the past month, getting players and ponies fit for the inaugural.

George A. Weymouth, Brandywine president, will captain the local varsity, and his teammates include Bob Wicker, Don Ross, Jr., and club manager Bob Connors. The Concordville quartet will be captained by Norm Taylor, a member of the National 16-Goal Championship Team in 1954. Fred Fortugno, Harley Williams and Gus Leo complete the line-up.

"I took the catfish home for my sister-in-law, Jean," said "She's from Tennessee," he explained, as though Tennesseans are particularly partial to catfish.

Wes Stack Named Top Senior UD Athlete; Seven Local Boys Win Varsity Letters

Distance runner Wes B. (Wes) Stack, of Seaford, won the Alumni Association trophy as the outstanding senior athlete of the year at the University of Delaware athletic banquet last Thursday night, as varsity letters were awarded to seven Newark athletes.

Stack, one of 143 lettermen honored at the Student Center banquet, holds the school mile record 4:17.4 set in the recent Middle Atlantic, and has captained the track and cross-country squads for the past two seasons. During that time he maintained an unbeaten string of dual meet mile and two-mile competition and in cross-country.

The alumni award was presented by George W. Thompson, president of the association.

Stack will remain at the university as a graduate student next year, and will help coach the freshman track team.

Blue Hen Teams Set Record Season In School History

University of Delaware athletic teams compiled a 92-40-1 record in 1961-62, best in the school's history.

Despite more than a fair share of bad luck, eight of 11 varsity squads engaged in intercollegiate competition, enjoyed winning seasons. The cross-country, basketball, track, lacrosse and golf teams drove to "best-ever" records, winning 52 of 60 contests among them; the revitalized soccer squad gave Delaware its first win in soccer since 1941; the Blue Hen baseballers extended their streak of winning years under Coach Harold (Tabby) Raymond to seven; and the Delaware swimmers repeated their 6-4 season of 1959-60.

The tennis and wrestling squads were the sole teams under .500. Football broke even for eight games in a building year.

The three fall sports aggregations had a combined 19-8-1 record (cross-country 9-0; soccer 6-4-1; football 4-4-1); winter sports ended 27-17 (basketball 18-5; swimming 6-4; wrestling 3-8); and the five Blue Hen spring squads were 46-15 (baseball 17-7; track 7-0; lacrosse 8-1; golf 10-2; tennis 4-5).

The 11 teams won 69.2 per cent of their contests.

Waltch Chick Nine Outscores Rivals 71-9 In 6-0 Card

The University of Delaware freshman baseball team, which just closed a 6-0 season, left no doubt in opponents' minds about Blue Hen superiority.

Coach Vern Waltch's yearlings outscored their rivals 71-9 while amassing a .290 team batting average and an 0.85 ERA. They won half their games by shutouts and four times scored 13 or more runs.

The team wasn't playing all paties, either. Delaware downed Penn, Drexel and Lehigh.

Terry Arnold, a graduate of De La Warr, was the top pitcher. Arnold didn't allow an earned run in 27 innings of pitching—in fact, he gave up no runs at all on his way to a 4-0 record. He struck out 44 and walked 12, allowed only seven hits.

Conrad High product Jim Barger had a 2-0 hill mark and a 1.63 ERA. He fanned 40 and walked nine in 22 innings.

The hitters were equally impressive. Infielder Jim Bitter, Haddonfield, N. J., batted in 14 runs with a .346 average.

Outfielder Archie Freeman, Princeton, N. J., hit .347, and outfielder-third baseman Al Beltman of Mt. Pleasant High School, batted .417 and led the team in hits with 10.

Blue Hen power hitters cracked six home runs, three triples and nine doubles in six games, driving home 62 runs.

Opponent pitchers had a cumulative earned run average of 8.84; and enemy batmen managed a .104 plate mark, or slightly over three hits per game.

Ciesinski's Squad Cops Second Place At Interscholastics

Coach Ray Ciesinski's Yellowjackets won second place behind Howard's high-stepping Wildcats in the Delaware Interscholastic Track Championships at Frazer Field last Saturday, and Coach Cornelius Morgan's Newark Central squad won third place in the junior high events.

Jon Owens won the 880 for Newark in 2:01.3 and Joe Brothers took first in the shot put with a heave of 47-11 3/8.

Bill McCarns tied for second in the broad jump, and Joe Hughes tied for fifth in the pole vault.

Howard ran away with the Interscholastics, scoring 43-3/5 points to Newark's 19-3/5. Dover was third with 18 points, and Brandywine finished fourth with 17-3/5.

In the junior high events, Mendenhall and John Mayer took fourth and fifth in the 110-low hurdles; Norris Saunders won the broad jump, was second in the 220 and fourth in the shotput.

Ogletown Junior High's Durham won the shotput, as Ogletown finished sixth in the meet.

Heinecken's Hens Record Top Season In Lacrosse At UD

Delaware wound up its best Lacrosse season in university history, by spanking Stevens Tech at Delaware Stadium 18-5.

Coach Mickey Heinecken's forces registered their eighth victory against one defeat and won the Middle Atlantic Conference B championship for the second straight year.

The only loss was administered by Lehigh, 10-9 in overtime, in the second game of the season.

Hayley Osborn and Bill Waggoner paced the Hens with seven goals each.

There are two kinds of partygoers. One wants to leave early, one wants to stay late. Trouble is, they're usually married to each other.

$20,000 Polly Drummond Stakes For Saturday Renewal At Delaware

One of the most interesting renewals of the $20,000-added Polly Drummond Stakes, first of five major events for two-year-olds to be decided at Delaware Park, looks for that juvenile filly test which will have its 25th running this Saturday.

A larger-than-usual field is anticipated for this five-furlong speed whirl, judging by a whopping list of nominations. And among the eligibles are two of the outstanding young fillies of the year—Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Affectionately and Meadow Stable's Speedwell—both already 1962 stakes winners.

Affectionately, a daughter of the renowned Swaps, got away to a flying start toward championship honors in her first races. Her first stakes conquest came in her fourth outing on May 16 at Aqueduct when she kept her record unblemished by capturing the Fashion at the same distance as the Polly Drummond.

Speedwell became the first stakes winner sired by mighty Bold Ruler when she accounted for the Debutante on Kentucky Derby Day at old Churchill Downs. Bold Ruler, 1957 Horse of the Year, has his initial crop of two-year-olds racing this year.

Another highly regarded Bold Ruler filly eligible for the Polly Drummond, is Bold Princess, who sports the Wheatley Stable silks of Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phillips and is trained by the grand old man of the turf, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons.

Among numerous other ones named are Harold G. Bensinger's Chusinia, who equaled a Laurel track

Over the CLOVER

by Dean Belt
4-H Club Agent

Over 4-H girls thrilled a crowd at the Strawberry Festival on Wednesday night at the New Castle County Fairgrounds. The girls, dressed in their traditional 4-H uniforms, served refreshments to the festival-goers. The girls were from 10 to 14 years of age and were supervised by their 4-H leaders.

On Thursday night, New Castle 4-H trailer members enjoyed the fruits of their labors at a chicken barbecue. Edward Comly of Bear placed 14th and Arthur Carlisle finished 19th in a field of 107.

A large force of 4-H'ers was present to serve punch and cookies for the annual Memorial Day parade marchers. Each year 4-H'ers prepare cookies in sufficient quantities to complement the punch which is served to all individuals taking part in the parade. It's a token of appreciation after the long minutes and even hours of standing, walking and waiting to do their part in the parade.

"One of these days somebody's going to come up with a book on 'How to Get Out of Doing It Yourself.' He'll make a fortune!"—Lee Hatcheler, Sauk Rapids, (Minn.) Herald.

Architects Named For School Plans In Newark District

The building commission of the Newark Special School District has approved appointment of two architectural firms—Howell Lewis Shoy & Associates of Philadelphia and Martin & Watson Associates of Wilmington—for the proposed school construction program in the district. Shoy & Associates has been retained to plan a junior high school for the district, and Martin & Watson, for construction of an elementary school.

The building commission approved use of Gallaher Elementary School plans for the new elementary school construction. The Gallaher School was designed by Martin & Watson.

Junior high plans are to include development of a fully-equipped junior high school, and provision for construction of an elementary school on the same site.

The district has legislative approval for a $4,000,000 school construction program.

Nutritionist Offers Aid With Diet Information

"How much do you know about the food you eat?" asks Janet Coblenz, University of Delaware nutritionist.

Two rules for good health, according to Miss Coblenz are to eat a variety of food, and eat the amount of food which keeps your weight at a healthy level. If you have a question about nutrition, check with your physician, your county home demonstration agent, or write to Miss Coblenz at the University of Delaware in Newark.
