WALTER DENT SMITH WARNS AUTO OWNERS

Uninspected Machines To Be Barred from Roads; State Code Cited

5 LANES IN DELAWARE

Vehicle Dept. Authorized to "Rescind, Cancel or Suspend" Registrations

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Walter Dent Smith this week sounded a warning that failure to have motor vehicles approved in the eighth annual motor vehicle inspection campaign, now being conducted jointly by the State Motor Vehicle Department, the State Highway Department and the Delaware Safety Council, will cost their owners the registration of their cars.

Mr. Smith cited two sections of the State motor vehicle laws which provide for this action.

Under one provision of the law it is stated the State Motor Vehicle Department shall not grant an application for the registration of a motor vehicle "when the applicant shall not furnish satisfactory evidence of the motor vehicle to be registered having been inspected and determined to be safe and fit and properly equipped as hereinafter provided."

Unfit Vehicles Barred

Further provision is made that "the department shall rescind, cancel or suspend the registration of any motor vehicle which shall be determined by said department to be unsafe or unfit to be operated or to be not equipped as required by law. Any motor vehicle which has not been examined and determined safe and fit for operation and found equipped according to law by the agents of the Vehicle Commissioner of this State between the fifteenth day of July and the thirty-first day of August of each year, shall be conclusively determined to be unsafe, unfit or not properly equipped by the department."

Lanes Still Open

A lane located in New Castle all of this week will be in Middletown all of next week. Another lane located in Milton until Saturday will be in Bridgeville all of next week. A third lane, in Laurel all of this week, will be in Selbyville all of next week. These three lanes outside of Wilmington are open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m., standard time. The two Wilmington lanes are open from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m., daylight saving time.

Cann May Answer Council On Injunction by Monday

A request from the Council of Newark concerning the possibilities of filing injunction proceedings against the State Highway Department and the Pennsylvania Railroad to its legal advisor, John Pearce Cann, may be answered by the attorney in time for the August meeting next Monday night.

On complaint of Councilman John F. Richards, who requested the action, Mayor Collins sought legal advice following the July session of the body early this month. Mr. Cann, however, has been on vacation and the matter has been held in abeyance.

The requested action was brought before the Council upon complaints of property owners in the vicinity of the new overhead bridge being constructed at the foot of South College Avenue. Mr. Richards also objects to a curve in the overpass that does not exist in the street.

"Orchard Road Apartments" To Be Completed Soon

A modern apartment containing all conveniences which is being built by Herman Wollaston, local contractor, on Orchard Road, near Delaware Avenue, is expected to be completed by September 1.

The "Orchard Road Apartments" will be divided into three complete sections and will contain nine apartments of four and five rooms. The whole building will be weather-stripped and will contain electric refrigeration and gas stoves, linoleum bathroom and kitchen floors, modern plumbing, ample closet space and hot-water heated by oil furnaces. All apartments will be wired for radio and telephones.

ISSUES NOTICE

Hon. Walter Dent Smith

Delaware motorists were warned this week by Mr. Smith's Motor Vehicle Department to make sure that all cars are inspected during the Safety Campaign now being carried on throughout the state. "Registrations for 1937 will be denied cars not inspected and passed," was part of the warning sounded by Mr. Smith.

ACTIVE CHURCH WORKER BURIED

Following an illness of seven weeks, Mrs. Rebecca Ann Crossan died at the age of seventy-six in the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, Sunday evening, July 26. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Leonard White at the Jones' Funeral Home. The body was interred at the Newark Cemetery.

Born near Kemblesville, Pa. in 1864, the deceased moved to Newark forty years ago following her marriage to the late John B. Crossan which took place a few years after the death of her first husband, James B. Crossan. The men were twin brothers. Before coming to Newark, Mrs. Crossan taught in several Pennsylvania schools.

Was Active Church Worker

Upon her arrival here, she taught Sunday School and became an active member of the Newark M. E. Church. Up to the time of her illness and despite her age, she maintained this interest in the church, of which she was financial secretary. She was also a member of the Official Board, the Ladies Aid and the Women's Home Mission Societies. Church work was her life and she fulfilled those duties with utmost sincerity.

She is survived by three sisters: Mrs. Fred Dallenback of Champaign, Ill.; Mrs. Mary S. Jones of Franklinville, N. J.; and Mrs. Wilkins Crossan of near Kemblesville, Pa.; one brother, Norris Strickland of Philadelphia, Pa., and two grandchildren, Mary L. and Richard B. Thomas, of Newark.

Dr. Charles M. Wharton Seeks Senate Nomination

Dr. Charles M. Wharton, retired head of the University of Delaware Department of Physical Education, became the second Democratic candidate to toss his hat into the ring for nomination for United States Senator from Delaware.

The action took place this week when Dr. Wharton, who is residing in Dover, made his intentions known to party leaders in the form of a letter wherein he outlined his political ideas, ideals and desires.

Deadline For Tax Rebate Ends Saturday, August 1

Local taxpayers will have to hustle if they are thinking of taking advantage of the five per cent rebate offered by the Newark Town Council. The town of Newark's capitation and property taxes for the year July 1, 1936 to July 1, 1937 are now due and payable at the rate of 40c on the $100. In order to be given the rebate, taxes must be paid by Saturday, August 1, 1936.

STATE PLANS INCLUDE NEW ROAD BRIDGE

Bids, To Be Opened Aug. 19, List Modern Span At Christiana

AMONG FALL PROJECTS

Bids for the construction of ten new bridges, a new section of concrete highway, roadside beautification and highway widening will be opened by the State Highway Department on August 19, according to an announcement at Dover this week.

These projects are a part of the department's program to provide work for the early fall months, and will be carried on under the provisions of the Federal Highway Act of 1935.

Two pieces of work important to residents of this section are included on the list. The construction of a 20-foot wide concrete highway between Cranston Heights and Brandywine Sanatorium, 1.915 miles long, to connect with the present concrete highway at the sanatorium, is the first item on the list.

New Christiana Bridge

Removal of one of the most dangerous hazards to motorists in New Castle County will take place with the construction of a new bridge over the Christiana River, on the road leading from Christiana to Bear. The new span will replace the antiquated structure that has proved too narrow for present-day needs many years ago.

Bids also will be opened for the Vines Creek Landing and Mill Creek bridges in the lower portion of the state. Seven timber bridges for Kent (Continued on Page 8)

ATTORNEY IS SPEAKER FOR CLUB DINNER

Albert W. James Tells About Delaware's Courts in Talk Before Lions

DANBY AT CONVENTION

Speaking before the regular weekly meeting of the Newark Lions Club Tuesday night at the Deer Park Hotel, Albert W. James, Wilmington attorney and president of the City Council, classed Delaware's judicial system as one of the finest in the world. The meeting was in charge of former State Representative Wayne C. Brewer, a member of the group. President Joseph M. McVey officiated.

A representative list of members received Mr. James' highly informative remarks with profound interest. He spoke for about thirty minutes and outlined the entire court system that includes eleven tribunals of various classifications in Delaware.

Praises Corporate Set Up

Citing many reasons for this state's enviable position as a corporation center, Mr. James praised the entire judicial system for its simplicity, speed to act and unquestioned honesty. He also pointed out the recourse afforded people of all classes in Delaware whereby cases of any nature—large or small—are heard for unusually low costs.

"Delaware," said Mr. James, "is noted for its good roads, its many millionaires and the fact that it is the home of the duPonts. Delaware's" (Continued on Page 8)

Delaware Liquor Law May Be Liberalized

Liberalization of existing liquor laws to wean the drinker from speakeasies is the solution proposed by the Delaware Liquor Commission to break the grip of bootleggers and petty racketeers in the state.

Figures presented by the commission indicated that some 72,000 gallons of bootleg liquor is sold in the State every year. State, city and Federal authorities combining with commission agents are endeavoring to cut down this figure.

The commission is also battling the sale of "legal liquor illegalized" by which is meant liquor legally bought, but sold after hours legalized by the commission, or without a license.

As an indication of the commission's activities it cited the fact that more than 85 per cent convictions have been secured in the past and that recently the score of convictions has been almost perfect.

The commission may urge the Legislature to authorize later hours of closing of taprooms and beer gardens as a method of combatting bootlegging.

SOIL-SAVING GROUP NAMES COUNTY HEAD

E. H. Shallcross, Middletown, Is President of Body; Met Here Tuesday

FORD ELECTED TREAS.

Various Problems Discussed During Session; Work Sheets Reviewed

Permanent officers of the New Castle County Agricultural Conservation Association were named by the board of directors at a meeting Tuesday night held in the offices of the County Agricultural Agent George M. Worri- low here.

E. H. Shallcross, Middletown, was named president; George K. Fall, Marshallton, vice president; George M. Worri- low, secretary; and J. Leslie Ford, Newark, treasurer. The county committee will consist of Messrs. Shallcross, Fall, and Benjamin W. Vinton, St. Georges, with Harris B. McDowell, Jr., Middletown, as alternate. Walter L. Marker, Clayton, is the other director of the association.

Group Aids Soil-Saving

The organization is authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture to aid in the administration of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act and carries the responsibility for all problems of administration pertaining to New Castle County.

At the meeting Tuesday night, the committee reviewed the work sheets submitted by farmers from the local districts, and studied probable adjustments necessary in order that the benefits derived from the program may be more equitable.

Consider Other Problems

Another problem discussed during the session was the procedure to be followed for the determination of performance, preparation of reports of performance, and application for payments due individual farmers.

In order to carry on this compliance work, local supervisors will check the performance on each farm participating in the program, and a complete picture of the farming enterprise as it applies to the 1936 crop year will be reported.

It will be necessary in determining compliance to ascertain the number of acres on each farm devoted to soil depleting, soil conserving and neutral crop land classification.

Supervisors Ascertain Practices

Supervisors will also ascertain the soil building practices that have been carried on by the farmer during the 1936 crop year so that an application may be made for the correct amount of benefit payment that each individual farmer is entitled to.

This work will, in all probability, be started by August 15, and each farmer who is participating in the program is being urged to cooperate with the supervisors making the check-ups, so that the program may be carried out as efficiently and promptly as possible.

Farmers desiring more definite data concerning the program should contact any of the above officers of the association or the community committeeman in the district in which their farm is located.

State Finance Commission To Meet In Dover Friday

A luncheon meeting called by Governor C. Douglass Buck for members of the State Finance Commission will be held in Dover Friday, July 31. Conservation of dwindling State revenue from corporation franchise taxes will be discussed. Members of the State Finance Commission are Pierre S. duPont, John Biggs Mayor Walter W. Bacon, Wiley Trought, J. Henry Hazel, and Angus B. Echols.

The commission was appointed by the Governor following the last session of the legislature to investigate the franchise taxes which vitally affect the school fund. A previous committee had made a majority and minority report on the situation to the General Assembly, but no action was taken.

Mr. duPont, who is state commissioner, is expected to make an exhaustive report from studies during the year.

PHILIP'S MISSIONARY LABORS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:4-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word.—Acts 8:4.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Philip Tells the Glad News.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Philip Tells the Glad News.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering for Jesus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Gospel Crosses the Frontier.

Evangelism is the work of every follower of Christ, and primarily the work of the layman. This duty cannot be delegated to the church as an organized body or to its official servants.

Philip was a layman, a deacon in the church by office, but an evangelist by the gift and calling of the Holy Spirit. His experience in leading the Ethiopian eunuch to Christ demonstrates that one who is yielded to the Spirit—

I. Will Find Opportunity for Soul Winning (v. 26). Most unexpected places will afford opportunities. Philip was in the midst of a great revival in Samaria when the angel of the Lord sent him to Gaza—a desert place. Who would he meet here? Remember that the great world-evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, was converted in a humble shoe store by the earnest approach of a Sunday school teacher.

II. Will Respond Immediately to the Spirit's Leading (vv. 29, 30). The Spirit said "go." Philip "ran." The fundamental of fundamentals in God's children is obedience. The opportunity, the inquiring soul, the equipped personal worker, all were prepared by God for just that moment. All would have been lost had Philip failed to obey.

III. Will Find That Men and Women Are Ready to Receive the Truth (vv. 28, 31-34).

God prepares souls, and more are willing to be saved than we think. Whether it was through his experience at Jerusalem, his spiritual hunger before he went up, or the reading of the Word, or all these together, the eunuch was ready.

Neighbors, schoolmates, tradespeople, fellow workers—they may present God's opportunity for us.

IV. Will Find That God Honors Men by Using Them to Win Others. He could "save a man all alone on the top of the Alps," but he doesn't ordinarily do it. Remember it was "the sword of the Lord and of Gideon" that wrought a victory. The eunuch needed an interpreter of the truth. Philip was God's man.

V. Will Know God's Word (v. 35). We cannot interpret what we do not know. One who is not personally acquainted with the Living Word by regeneration, and the Written Word by diligent study, is not able to help others. Could you begin (as Philip did) at Isaiah 53:7, and lead a man to Christ? If not, should you not begin to study your Bible with such an end in view?

VI. Will "Carry Through" to a Decision (vv. 36, 37).

A salesman may be brilliant, cultured, and persuasive, but what counts is the signature on the dotted line at the bottom of an order. Philip pressed for and obtained a decision.

VII. Will Follow-up His Convert (vv. 36, 37).

Much so-called evangelism fails to go beyond a mere profession—a declaration of faith. The eunuch and Philip both knew that an inward faith declares itself in an outward act—and he was baptized.

VIII. Will Recognize That the Message Is Important, Not the Messenger (v. 39). When the work was done the evangelist was carried away by the Spirit. God's work goes on. His workman we set aside. As an advertising company has well expressed it, "The purpose of advertising is to impress the product upon the reader's mind, not the medium."

It is a fine testimony to the effectiveness of Philip's ministry that although he was gone his convert went "on his way rejoicing." His faith did not rest on the evangelist nor any human fellowship—he knew God. Let us be sure to win souls to God and not simply to a personal allegiance to us or to a religious organization.

Why not be a Philip? Any man or woman who knows the Lord Jesus Christ as personal Savior can be a winner of souls. It has well been said that all that Philip had was "a love for souls, a knowledge of the Word and a sensitiveness to the leading of the Lord. That is all we need. If every Christian were a Philip the world would be won for Christ in ten years."

Count Your Blessings

THE ISOLATED CHILD MARY ELIZABETH THOMSON

"So this is your baby, Margaret. How are you dear?"

The little boy put out his hand and looked his mother's visitor in the face. "I have a little doggie," he said. "Santa Claus brought it for me. Come and see."

Katie Wilson, who had been away in the West for a number of years, had come for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Kennedy. She followed her nephew out to the kitchen.

A little Spitz puppy was lying fast asleep on a cushion. "My! what a lovely doggie," she exclaimed. "Such a dear pet for a boy. I'm sure you love it."

Mary Sent Collar

He nodded assent. "I call him Gyp. Mary sent him a collar and I take him for a run. He barks at the pussies and can make them run up a tree. He plays with a ball, too."

Before bedtime Dick and his aunt were fast friends. He showed her his books and his toys and told her the story of Goldilocks and the three bears, which was his favorite just then.

When the little chap was safely tucked in bed the sisters felt free to talk about him. "What a fine boy he is," said Kate. "I was so afraid he would be a spoilt child; he is so much younger than the others. Nearly nine years, isn't there, between Emily and Dick?"

"Yes, his coming was a surprise."

Boy Not Cordial

"I was at Mrs. Carey's yesterday. You know her. She married after I left. She has one boy. He is older than Dick by a year or two, but how different! He wouldn't shake hands or speak a word or even look at me. He sat like a solemn little owl staring at a funny page. I wondered if he thought he was showing me how dignified he was. His mother never seemed to think he was acting rudely. Do you know, I was afraid Dick would be like him. I'm so glad he isn't."

"I'm sure Mrs. Carey's little boy was just longing to talk, but couldn't. The child seldom sees anybody but his father and mother. Mrs. Carey is a martyr to duty and never seems to want to go anywhere and seldom has visitors. That's what is wrong with the child."

Fond of Visitors

"I feared I would have the same problem with Dick. He is practically an only child, too, for the others were up and out of the nest by the time he was out of his cradle. Fortunately, I am fond of visitors, so from the first Dick was accustomed to meeting strangers. I have always made a special effort to persuade mothers who have little children to bring them when they came to call, for with no children in the family to play with, I realized Dick must depend on our friends to give him those early social contacts that are so important. They have understood and cooperated with."

No Monotony in Ground Beef

In the summer when there is gardening and a dozen other things demanding attention, or for that matter, whenever time is at a premium, quick and easy meals are a necessity. So Inez S. Willson, home economist, suggests ground beef as a the main dish for busy day meals.

Ground beef is not only economical, but there are so many ways to prepare it that monotony need never be a factor. Ground beef cakes, otherwise known as hamburgers, is a frequent method of preparation. In most cases, all this means is shaping the meat into patties and frying them in hot lard, but here is a way that with just a little more time, makes them ever so much more delicious.

Fricadeller

1 pound finely ground beef
2 unbeaten eggs
1 tablespoon flour
4 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon salt
Cream or milk to moisten
Add flour to the finely ground steak and mix thoroughly. Season with salt and pepper and grated onion. Add the eggs and enough cream or milk to make the mixture quite soft. Meat thoroughly—the longer the mixture is beaten the better it is. Place heaping tablespoons of the meat in hot fat and fry until done.

Exposition Star

JESSICA DRAGONETTE, voted Queen of the Air, will sing at the Great Lakes Exposition on August 7. Breaking a ten-year precedent, Cities Service, her sponsor, will broadcast its regular Friday evening concert on that date before 13,000 people gathered at Radioland in the Exposition. It will be the first time in more than 520 weekly concerts that the program will be broadcast outside its New York studios.

In tribute to the Exposition, Rosario Bourdon, conductor of the orchestra, has composed a march entitled "Salute to Ohio," which will be played for the first time during the Cleveland broadcast.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Vice-President Garner has been forced to abandon his practice of walking to keep physically fit. People always are stopping him to ask if he is not the Vice-President. This reminds him that he is and spoils the whole day.

The Half Double Crochet is a variation of the double crochet. Proceed as for a double crochet until there are 3 loops on hook, then thread over and draw thread through the 3 loops on hook with one movement, thus completing 1 half double crochet.

Meat "Birds" Don High Hat for Company

Meat "birds" are almost as numerous in kind as are the natural species. First, there were veal "birds," thin rectangular slices of veal wrapped around a bread dressing; then along came beef "birds," with thin slices of beef wrapped around partially cooked vegetables; but the latest version are the meat "birds" which are meat through and through.

These all-meat "birds" are made especially for company dinners when you want something very nice and yet easily prepared and served. The centers of the birds are made from a mixture of ground beef and cured ham. These are shaped into rolls and a piece of flattened pork tenderloin wrapped around them and then wrapped with bacon. To cook them, the bacon is browned first, then transferred to a baking dish, covered and cooked in a slow oven until done, forty-five minutes to one hour.

HUNGER

Mary L. Roberts

There's the hunger of a baby
Longing for its mother's arm.
There's the hunger of the weary
Seeking rest from ruder's harm.

There's the starving for a teasing love
When jealousies arise
Just a hidden longing to be loved
And cared for as a prize.

But to keep one's love it must be shared
To hoard it means to lose
Be generous with this precious love
For giving merely proves.

That faith in one you cherish
Means understanding's sure
And sharing of affection
Is proof that love is pure.

Trust Services

Trustee Under a Will

It is frequently desirable to place all or part of an estate in trust. A trust is defined as a gift of money or property to one person, the trustee, to be held and used for the benefit of one or more beneficiaries. When a trust is created by will it is called a testamentary trust. Upon the settlement of the estate the money or property constituting the trust fund is turned over to the trustee named in the will to be administered in strict accordance with the terms set forth in the will. Usually the income of the fund is paid to the designated beneficiaries over a period of time until, on the termination of the trust, the principal is distributed.

Landon Pledges Jobs, Lower Cost of Government, and Aid to Farmers

80,000 Assemble to Hear Candidate. Voice Plans and Criticize New Deal Incompetency.

PRAIRIE STATE GOVERNOR SPEAKS

Excerpts follow from the acceptance speech of Gov. Alf M. Landon, delivered at Topeka, Kas., July 23, 1936:

"The (1936) record shows the primary need is still for jobs for unemployed."

"Those who need relief will get it."

"Mounting debts and taxes constitute a threat to all (our) aims."

"No sound national policy will neglect the farmer . . . the administration has taken the American farmer out of foreign markets and put the foreign farmer into the American market."

"The right of labor to organize means to me the right of employees to join any type of union they prefer . . . plant, craft or industry . . . free from interference from any source."

"Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the Chief Executive, or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?"

Topeka, Kas.—With all the impressive simplicity and the searching earnestness of a Lincoln, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, "a typical prairie state," made his speech accepting the Republican nomination for President July 23 before an audience of nearly 80,000 gathered at the south entrance of the Kansas state house.

His address was in reply to the official notification given him by Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, that the Republican party had conferred upon him its highest honor. Besides the wildly enthusiastic throng who filled Topeka to overflowing, Governor Landon's talk was heard by millions of radio listeners.

The first sentence of his speech accepted the honor. His second: "In accepting this leadership, I pray for Divine Guidance to make me worthy of the faith and the confidence which you have shown in me," adding: "Facing this honor and responsibility, I hope for the gift of simple and straightforward speech. I want every man and woman in this nation to understand my every word, for I speak of issues deeply concerning us all."

"Short of Success" Governor Landon first dealt with the social policies of relief and unemployment, declaring: "The New Deal has fallen far short of success," and went on to explain his plans to correct the evils. Make the Social Security act "workable," freed from "political exploiters," he urged, and pledged his party never to neglect the obligations to the unemployed.

He next scored rising public debts and taxes and the "uncertainties" of the present administration's policies which have frightened the average American and prevented the launching of new enterprises which would promote recovery.

He capped the New Deal with: "The most important question now before us: Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the Chief Executive or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?"

The address concluded with a succinct series of statements as to his belief in Constitutional government and his proposals for the executive policies, if elected. Summarized, these were:

"The Republican party does not believe the people wish to abandon the American form of government. We propose to maintain the Constitutional balance of power between the states and the federal government."

"We propose to use the full power of the federal government to break up private monopolies."

Rights of People. "A free competitive system is necessary to a free government. Neither political nor civil liberty long survives the loss of economic liberty. Each and all of these liberties, with the precious human rights which they involve, must be preserved intact and inviolate."

"I propose to restore our government to an efficient as well as Constitutional basis. I shall co-operate wholeheartedly with congress in an effective reorganization of government agencies, to eliminate duplication, to insure better administration, and to save the taxpayers' money."

"It is the right of our people to have their government well administered."

"These are some of the aims and proposals of a Republican administration (pledged) to conduct the public business with honesty, frugality, courage and common sense. I look forward to the America that is to be."

"It should be a nation in which the old wrong things are going out and the new right things are coming in."

"It should be a country which produces more and more until there is plenty for all, with a fair chance for all to earn their share. It should be a land in which equal opportunity shall prevail and special privilege shall have no place.

"It should be an America that shall . . . drive the curse of war from the earth; an America that, for the sake of all mankind as well as ourselves, shall never lose the faith that human freedom is a practical ideal."

"Everything we need for realization (of these aims) we can find within the principles under which this nation has grown to greatness."

"God grant us, one and all, the strength and the wisdom to do our part in bringing these things to pass."

Early in his address, Governor Landon pledged himself to the Republican platform with the words: "The 1936 platform has my complete adherence. It sets out the principles by which we can achieve the full national life that our resources entitle us to enjoy."

His reference to the question of how many promises the present administration has broken, was: "The citizen who assumes the direction of the Executive branch takes an oath that he will, to the best of his ability, 'preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.' No man, in common good faith to his fellow citizens, may rightfully assume the duties of the high office of Chief Executive and take the oath unless he shall keep his oath inviolate. It is with a full understanding of the meaning of this oath that I accept this nomination."

On relief and unemployment Governor Landon committed himself to the policy: "Those who need relief will get it. . . . We will not take our economies out of the unemployed. We will take them out of the hides of political exploiters. The whole American people want to work at full time and full pay (with) the right to live according to American standards. . . . The (1936) record showed the primary need was jobs for unemployed. The (1936) record shows the primary need is still for jobs for unemployed. . . . The New Deal has fallen far short of success. . . . American initiative is not a commodity to be delivered by the pound, through some government bureau."

Governmental Intimidation. "We must be freed from incessant governmental intimidation and hostility. We must be freed from excessive expenditures and crippling taxation. We must be freed from an arbitrary and uncertain monetary policy. We must be freed from private monopolistic control. Once these things are done, the energies of the American economic system will remedy the ravages of depression and restore full employment."

"The security of us all depends on the good management of our common affairs," was the keynote of his economic theme. "We must be able to produce and accumulate enough to finance our normal progress. . . . Mounting debts and increasing taxes constitute a threat to all of these aims."

"Taxes add to the price of everything. By taking more out of the family purse they leave less for family security. Let us not be misled by those who tell us others will be made to carry the burden. Even if we tax to the limit those best able to pay, the average taxpayer will still have to bear the major part. For every single dollar spent, we will pay back two dollars."

People Finally Pay. "Crushing debts and taxes are usually incurred, as today, under the guise of helping people—the same people who must finally pay them."

As to national agriculture, Governor Landon stated flatly:

"No sound national policy will neglect the farmer, because the needs of a great nation require that its food producers always stand upon a plane in keeping with the importance of their service." He accused the present administration of having "taken the American farmer out of foreign markets, and put the foreign farmer into the

Reading His Speech

This hitherto unpublished picture of Governor Alf M. Landon was taken at his desk in Topeka, Kas., as he was making the final revision of his speech of acceptance.

"By Deeds Performed and Promises Fulfilled"

Topeka, Kas.—Excerpts follow from the address by Representative Bertrand H. Snell notifying Governor Alf M. Landon of his selection as the Republican presidential nominee:

"Here and now this nation turns its back forever upon broken promises and hollow oaths!"

"The spontaneous expression of popular sentiment from coast to coast, which culminated in your nomination at Cleveland, offers eloquent testimony that your authority is rooted in the silent, secret hearts of the whole people."

"The crisis which calls you to be first among us will never yield to the sounding shibboleths of mere partisanship. You are saluted today by patriots of all parties!"

"Here in a solvent Kansas the people found a man who worked calmly amid all the noisy din of the New Deal's failures and false starts. They found a man who kept his books and the books of his government by simple, honest, old-fashioned arithmetic. . . . a man who stood like a rock against the hallucinations of those who supposed that they could guide America to stability and prosperity by shameful political squandering of the people's substance. In this choice our people are guided by deeds performed and promises fulfilled!"

"As you set forth upon your high endeavor, carry in your heart the message of this hour: America is with you! America will sustain you! America will see you through to victory!"

American market," adding: "The loss of markets both at home and abroad far outweighs the value of all the benefits paid to farmers."

He declared American farmers are "entitled to all of the home market they can supply without injustice to the consumer. We propose a policy to protect them in this right."

He declared for soil conservation, and for protection of "the wealth of the soil"; for flood prevention and "national land use" programs; for "widespread ownership of medium-sized tracts," according to the Republican Home-stead act; and for maintenance of "opportunity" to all in agriculture.

"We shall fulfill its (the platform's) pledge to give every reasonable assistance to producers in areas suffering from afflictions," he promised, and charged the Roosevelt administration with having "gambled with the needed feed and food supplies, through its program of scarcity." It overlooked the fact that Mother Nature cannot be regimented," he said. "The time has now come (to) replace this futile program with one economically and socially right."

Right to Organize. On the subject of labor, he recognized the rights and usefulness of organized labor, and added: "The right of labor to organize means to me the right of employees to join any type of union they prefer, whether it covers their plant, craft, or industry . . . free from interference from any source."

Discussing "the basic principles upon which our Nation is founded," he said: "The prime needs of men have not changed since the Declaration. The people themselves set up this government. . . . any change which the people want they can have. . . . But for any official or branch . . . to attempt such change without authority from the people, is to do an unwarranted and illegal act."

"There has now appeared the impulse to take away and lodge with the Chief Executive, without the people's consent, the powers which they have kept in their state governments or reserved to themselves. It is not my belief that the Constitution is above change. But change must come through the people and not by usurpation."

Food Preservation

Of all the different kinds of food preservation that fall to the lot of the housewife in summer, bottling or canning fruit juices is probably the easiest. The acid contained in the fruit makes it possible to use the water-bath method of processing, and one does not have to use a boiling-water bath because the processing is really pasteurizing at 185° F. The juice should never be allowed to boil or it will lose both its color and its fresh flavor. Some heating is necessary to extract the juice from most fruits, but the heating should be done quickly just to the boiling point and the pan then removed from the fire.

Berries, Currants and Plums

Berries, currants, and plums make good juice for use in fruitades and punches. They are easily made by mashing a portion of the fruit after washing it, then stirring it over the fire until it just reaches the simmering point, 185° F.

It is not necessary to sweeten fruit juices at the time of bottling, but sugar may be added in the proportion of 1 cup to a gallon of juice. The sugar helps to retain the color and improves the flavor of the juice but is not necessary for preservation. When used it should be added to the strained juice and dissolved by stirring just before the juice is reheated for bottling.

Reheat the Juice

After the juice is strained and the sugar added, if used, reheat the juice to the simmering point and pour into hot sterilized bottles or jars. Fill the bottles to within 1 inch from the top to allow for expansion if crown caps are used for sealing, or 2 inches if corks are used. Bottles must be sealed tight before they are processed. Leave the wire clamps up on glass jars. Then put them on a rack or false bottom in a large container of warm water. Bottles may be placed on their sides but jars should stand upright. Do not crowd them. The water should come at least 2 inches over the top layer of bottles or the tops of jars. Heat the water to the simmering point (185° F.) and hold it at this temperature for 10 minutes. Remove the bottles or jars at once, and cool.

If corks are used, dip the cork and top of the bottle in semi-liquid paraffin or sealing wax. Clamped caps need no further attention. Spring clamps on jars should be put down. Store in a cool, dark, dry place.

Egg Outlets

New outlets for domestic eggs are being sought through a research project inaugurated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and conducted by the Poultry Section of the Division of Marketing and Marketing Agreements, according to word received at the University of Delaware from Washington, D. C.

Since 50 per cent of the annual production of eggs is produced during the four spring months of March, April, May, and June, a surplus of eggs above immediate domestic consumption requirements piles up during the period. This surplus is carried over into less productive seasons by two methods, cold storage of shell eggs and cold storage of "canned" eggs, that is, breaking the eggs out of the shell, putting them into cans, and holding in a frozen condition until needed by the trade.

Outlets of Benefit

It is believed with more outlets made available for eggs, more stable conditions in the industry might result with considerable benefits to producers, consumers, and to the handlers of eggs.

One known outlet is in the drying field, which has been used successfully in other countries, although attempts in the past to establish it here have been transitory. In this study it will be necessary to give attention to uses of dried-egg products, the cost of producing dried eggs, methods for drying, desirable months for drying, and capacity of plants in the country to handle the production.

Such an analysis would also include a study of the effect which diverting eggs into drying channels would have on consumers' and producers' prices to see that disadvantages would not result to either group.

Newark Youth Interrupts Snake's Meal With Bullet

Gaylord Greenwalt of near Newark, while rambling through the woods this week, came upon a small snake which was in the act of swallowing a young sparrow, nearly feathered.

Placing the gun, which he was carrying, to his shoulder, he took aim and delivered the snake to its maker. The bird was half eaten.

Part of the body and legs of the bird are exposed. The head and wings are hidden in the mouth of the snake.

The reptile is preserved and should serve as a warning to other snakes whose diets lean toward our feathered friends. Naughty, naughty—shouldn't eat between meals, anyhow.

JULY 30, 1936

NO PARKING ON MAIN STREET

"No-Parking" signs along Newark's principal thoroughfare are necessary. There isn't room to park anyway, unless the middle of the street becomes available for that purpose very soon. And it might as well be adapted for parking—on Saturday nights, at least—since the double line of waiting vehicles on each side of Main Street make it an unfit highway for driving.

Yes, parking is a real problem for Newark's city fathers to consider and some sensible solution of the situation is needed, and needed at once.

Local business men are perturbed about parking and they have a right to be. Why they haven't emitted a combined roar of disapproval long before this is surprising, to say the least. Their patience is admirable, but they are rapidly realizing that it is also costly.

It is customary for people "to go to town" to shop. Newark residents, for the most part, shun local business houses in favor of stores in Wilmington and Philadelphia. Merchants here, therefore, depend largely on rural buyers for support. AND THOSE POTENTIAL CUSTOMERS DODGE NEWARK, TO A LARGE EXTENT, BECAUSE OF THE PARKING SITUATION.

Several months ago the Town Council entertained an informal report that some 42 cars belonging to Newark business men and their employees were parked daily along Main Street. These people were urged to utilize a lot on Delaware Avenue, near Academy Street, for parking their own cars.

The lot, however, was never made suitable for parking, as promised by the Council, and the condition on Main Street is not helped thereby. What with an extensive list of municipal improvements approved at the July meeting of the Council (which failed to include the sorely needed parking lot), how about placing that item at the top of the pile for consideration at the August session Monday night?

DOING SOMETHING FOR THE FARMER

During the coming campaign, spokesmen for both the great parties will do a lot of talking about farm relief. Both will claim that their party has found the Royal Road to farm prosperity, and that anyone disagreeing with it is an enemy of the people.

This is to be expected, politics being the kind of game it is. But a great many unprejudiced persons, without any partisan axe to grind, are coming to the opinion that the best kind of farm relief originates not in Washington but on the farm. The old maxim that "self help is the best help" may have been obscured by some modern theories, but it hasn't been outlawed yet. It is as sound today as it ever was.

The finest example of that old-fashioned "self help" is found in the agricultural cooperatives, which act as the farmer's representative in the process of producing and disposing of his products on the most profitable basis. These co-ops are permanent—they are non-political—they aren't managed by bureaucrats—they aren't trying to advance the fortunes of this party or that one. And they're doing more that is sound in a business way for agriculture than all the "farm relief" bills proposed since the war.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR RAILROADS

"There will never come a time when railroads and their equipment are not necessary to the commerce of the nation," said Alfred E. Smith recently.

The growth of other forms of transport has served to emphasize, rather than dim, the service provided by the railroads. The truck systems perform a valuable service in certain fields, but when it comes to mass hauling, the rails are preeminent. Buses likewise are a transportation asset, but the average traveler has a growing appreciation of the speed, comfort and safety of the railroad train. Airplanes have an important place in the transportation scheme—but they certainly do not replace rail service.

It is an interesting fact that we hear less than we did a few years ago to the effect that the railroads are out of date, and are approaching oblivion. The truth is that they were never more essential to the public. And they were never more progressive. The improvement that has been made during the last decade in bettering road beds, adding to the comfort of passenger trains, speeding up both freight and passenger schedules, reducing accidents and damage to freight, and so on, is nothing short of revolutionary.

It is reliably forecast that the railroads will be "fairly prosperous" this year, although the average line is still far from earning a reasonable return on its investment. The sooner the rails attain substantial prosperity, the better for all of us.

Practically every summer a seasonal recession occurs in business. This year is an exception—few industries have shown a drop from spring levels, many have made substantial progress in the face of seasonal influences. Motors are still making records.

Worst factor in the business picture is the labor situation. The steel industry is threatened with a strike—other, lesser strikes are possible. Widespread labor disturbances could wreck havoc with the currently favorable business indicators.

Runs Into Truck; Pays Fine for Reckless Driving

Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, Lawrence A. Chambers of West Grove, Pa., was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Magistrate Daniel Thompson.

Chambers, who was arrested by Officers W. I. Cochran of the State Police, crashed into a truck belonging to C. Forest McNeal, also of West Grove, at Elliott Heights. According to reports, the truck was at a dead stop.

Damages to both machines were slight.

SCREEN SNAPS

Actresses Now and Then

According to the film fan's belief, screen actresses are fragile flowers that die in the box-office at the end of five years. But facts prove otherwise. It was 16 years ago that Norma Shearer made her screen debut in "The Stealers." Her recent performance in "Romeo and Juliet" is hailed as the best characterization of any actress in the history of celluloid entertainment. . . . The name Kay Francis attached to a picture has always meant 100 per cent value. Kay makes no secret of the fact she was born before the turn of the century. "The Marriage Playground" in 1929 was her first film, her latest is "Give Me Your Heart" . . . Film goers will long remember the stir created by the lovely Dolores Del Rio in the 1926 edition of "What Price Glory." Prepare for a similar thrill following the showing of the brunette's 1936 feature "Continental" . . . Marion Davies made her first screen appearance in "Runaway Romance" (1918). Her achievements of 1936 include "Hearts Divided" with Dick Powell, and her coming picture "Cain and Mabel" in which Clark Gable has the favored masculine role. . . . Mary Astor is another star of 1926, playing in "Don Juan" and "Forever After," now holding her own in the current year. Her next film will be "Dods-worth," playing the role of Mrs. Cortright. . . . Joan Crawford, now working in "The Gorgeous Hussy," was rated as promising star material as long back as 1925 in "Pretty Ladies." . . . Loretta Young has been standing under hot Kleig lights since she began her screen career in "Naughty But Nice" eight years ago. She is one of the few screen veterans who is young in years. She is 23.

This theatre will again offer $25 to the holder of the lucky ticket tonight (Thursday). May you all be lucky.

W. C. Fields, master of juggling, master of pantomime, master of dead-pan, master of the world's most startling vocabulary, and Master of Arts Theatrical makes his return to the screen in the "Poppy," a carnival film of the 80's with a background of calypso music, snake charmers, and concession operators. The setting and story gives Fields his best opportunity in a long and successful film career to exploit the inimitable Fields humor. Backing up this great star is a list of outstanding stars headed by Rochelle Hudson, Richard Cromwell, Lynne Overman and Rosalind Keith.

W. C. Fields

Ken Maynard in "Heroes of the Range," a thrilling western film, will be added to the bill on Saturday.

Monday and Tuesday

What is proclaimed as an entirely new type of murder mystery thriller plays this theatre these two days under the startling title of "The Walking Dead," starring Boris Karloff. The picture deals with the resurrection of a dead man who walks again among his fellow men in a half dream, dazed but possessing an unfailing and seemingly supernatural power to recognize the members of a band of crooks he had not known before as the persons who had framed him for a murder and caused him to be electrocuted for a crime he did not commit.

BORIS KARLOFF

Wednesday and Thursday

A picture of raw, stark realism, said to bare the terrors prisoners are subject to in a penal institution run by grafting politicians comes to this playhouse on these days. "Road Gang" is the title of the film and stars Donald Woods, Kay Linaker, Henry O'Neill and Joseph King. The picture is set in the sombre background of a farm conducted by a county for convicts and a mine where incorrigible prisoners are shipped and where conditions are so terrible that the inmates are said to either go insane or die.

"Money DODGE saved on Gas Paid for my Vacation!"

...the big Dodge 'Beauty Winner' gives me 8 more miles to the gallon than my old car...it has saved me over $85 this year" says MARJORIE FRANK, ENGLEWOOD, N. J.

SUCH statements as those of Miss Frank and thousands of other enthusiastic owners from coast to coast speak for themselves. These owners are themselves surprised when they discover at first hand what a money-saver Dodge is on gas...18 to 24 miles to the gallon they report—up to 20% savings on oil—unbelievably low upkeep cost...and that isn't all... They contend they are unable to find in any car priced within $500 of Dodge such an extraordinary combination of extra-value, expensive-car features...the luxury of the famous Dodge Airglide-Ride...Chair-Height seats...Patented Floating Power engine mountings...Balanced Driving Control and the protection and security of genuine hydraulic brakes and the safety-steel body!

No wonder more people buy Dodge cars than any other make excepting the three lowest-priced cars!

Drive this big, new Dodge at the first opportunity and you too will understand the amazing popularity of America's big Money-Saving car. Insist on the free economy test. See right before your own eyes how Dodge saves gasoline. And remember, Dodge now delivers for just a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars!

DODGE

Division of Chrysler Corporation

"Dodge is using so much less gasoline than the old car I had that I could hardly believe it," says Miss Frank. "I began to keep an accurate record and discovered that the big Dodge gives me 8 more miles to the gallon than my old car. I have put 13,518 miles on my Dodge and it has saved me over $85 this year. That money that Dodge saved me on gas actually paid for my vacation."

CHAIR-HEIGHT SEATS!—See how Dodge seats approximate the shape and height of a comfortable easy chair! In many cars, high floors and low seats raise the knees to an unnatural position—cramp the feet and legs. In Dodge, floors have been lowered, and Dodge Chair-Height seats give you a natural sitting posture!

ROAMIN' WITH RUTLEDGE

Who Gets It?

While some Wilmington columnists are kidding themselves into thinking they are introducing something original by predicting Ed Bardo as the successor to Dr. Charles M. Wharton as head of the University of Delaware's Physical Education department (an idea that has been rife in this sector since the latter's resignation last winter), the problem is who will get Bardo's post, if and when he steps up the ladder?

"THE ROAMER"

Probably George Victor (Shorty) Chalmers, a Newark boy of some athletic attainments and polish, has never thought about it (he's like that), but there isn't any question concerning his ability to fill the post.

Competent to Coach

Shorty provides the University of Delaware with a prospective assistant coach of three major sports in addition to filling a vacancy in the Physical Education department.

Everyone recognizes Bardo's ability as a swimming mentor. He fills that role as an extra task to his regular duties. His record is particularly meritorious and speaks for itself. Why can't Chalmers do a similar double job?

Both Lyal Clark, head football coach, and his assistant, Bud Schilling, were linemen as players. Shorty was a back. His talents there would help to bolster a sport that looms as needing everything by way of support it can get this fall at Delaware. Clark is an excellent coach and Chalmers would merely add him in filling a tough assignment.

Goodness knows that Doc Doherty could use a little help in basketball and baseball. Blue Hen teams in those sports have proved pitifully weak in recent seasons.

Chalmers has what it takes and here's hoping the University of Delaware recognizes the fact. Shorty can use the job and it's a certainty that Delaware can use—yes, needs—him. How about it?

RWR

Will It Reopen?

Reports have persisted throughout the summer, here and elsewhere, that historic Pennsylvania Military College will not reopen this fall. We wonder? Similar reports, later proving to be unfounded, have been circulated about the school in other years.

Possibly the following news release is significant of something ament the situation. Maybe not—how can we tell? The Philadelphia Record carried this item last week:

ALLENTOWN, July 21.—Three members of the Pennsylvania Military College varsity football team of last season, Mike Sowards, Jack McCarthy and "Boop" Klein, have transferred to Muhlenberg College it was learned tonight.

All three players are former Allentown High School stars, McCarthy and Klein being backs and Sowards an end. They will not be eligible to play varsity football this season, but will be for the 1937 season.

It is possible that P. M. C. has merely dropped athletic scholarships, if any were ever given there. Possibly Muhlenberg made the trio a better offer than was obtainable in Chester. We said, "POSSIBLY."

We nourish a hunch, however, that the transfer is significant of something more than is apparent on the surface.

VERDICT IN TITLE-SET OPENER

Wilmington Crew Comes from Behind to Win; Spectator's Interference Mars Finish; Lone Pass and Doordan's Miscue Hurt Ewing

By "The Roamer"

Bob Ewing's lone pass of the ball game and a mental miscue by Jackie Doordan, coming one on top of the other Monday night, were prominent and principal factors in the 3-2 setback handed the youthful tossers representing Newark and the J. Allison O'Daniel Post in the opener of the annual American Legion "Little World Series" competition. The game went an extra stanza over the agreed seven innings.

A gang of hustling kids from the Boys' Club, Wilmington, playing under the banner of Delaware Post, drew first blood in the best-out-of-three-game-series which finds the Newark youngsters defending their state crown won in 1934 and retained last year.

Big Crowd Present

Playing under leaden skies and on the diamond at Continental Field that had been readied for the contest by emergency treatment following a heavy storm, the Newark crew was off to a good start.

Single runs were counted in the third and fourth innings much to the delight of a large home crowd. Only three Wilmingtonians had reached the bases in the first five innings and two were out in the sixth when the visitors bunched two hits and a walk with Doordan's error to tie the score.

Ewing fanned Bohack and Healy to open the fatal stanza and Lagowski's one-base stab to left did not cause undue alarm among local partisans.

Issues Lone Pass

Tibbitt waited for a walk, Ewing's only free ticket of the game, to place runners on first and second. Marchlewicz, Wilmington pitcher and cleanup hitter, then rolled to Doordan.

The local shortstop failed to make the orthodox force play at second and his throw to first was wide, loading the bags. Miglicco connected for a hard hit single through Melvin Brooks to tie the score.

Following a profitless seventh inning, Healy opened Wilmington's eighth with a single to center. He went to second on Lagowski's sacrifice. Tibbitt singled to right, Healy advancing to third on the short drive.

Warrington Takes Peak

Coach LeRoy Hill, at that stage, replaced Ewing on the mound with Caleb Warrington, giant 15-year-old speed artist from Dover High School. Tibbitt stole second before Marchlewicz won his own game with a perfect squeeze bunt down the third base line, counting Healy.

Newark made a serious but empty threat to again deadlock the issue in its own half of the season when a bit of questionable strategy went haywire and visiting spectators took a hand in the proceedings to end the rally. Garrett drew a pass and stole second. He went to third while Tibbitt was dropping Gunther's throw to give Mills a life.

On the first pitched ball, Burke attempted to squeeze the run across, but the bunt was a pop to the pitcher whose throw nailed Garrett at third.

Dispute Marks Finish

Kee rolled to Gunther and was ruled out at first by Dick Roberts, umpiring bases. He changed the decision a moment later, however, when Tibbitt was pulled off the bag by the throw.

The first sacker, thinking the original decision stood, rolled the ball across the infield. Mills, meanwhile, had ambled to third on the play and was streaking for home.

Spectators streamed onto the playing field from the Wilmington benches, blocking Umpire Carter Simpers' view of the proceedings. With Mills tearing in with the tying run, a fan picked up the ball that had been turned loose by Tibbitt, threw it to Lagowski, whose heave nailed the local catcher at the plate.

Leave in Hurry

Simpers called Mills out to end the game and the Wilmington team dashed off the field and promptly left the scene of action. Local players and spectators besieged Simpers to

Newark Sluggers Fail
To Annex "Wheaties"

Members of the Newark ball club did not diminish Jarmon and Moore's stock of "Wheaties" last Sunday as no clout was good for a round trip.

This offer made by the grocers, situated on South College Avenue, is still good and a case of this favorite breakfast food will be given to any member of the Newark team who slams out a round-tripper at the Continental Field.

inform him of the Wilmington fan's interference, but the game could not be continued due to the immediate departure of the visitors.

While no official action has been taken by officers of the local post, it is likely that a formal protest will be filed anent the unfortunate happenings.

Newark's first run came in the third when Gregg walked, stole second and was singled home by Garrett after two were out. Burke's double, Butts' fielder's choice and Doordan's infield hit accounted for the second run in the fourth.

Meet Again Friday Night

The rivals play the second game of the series tomorrow night (Friday) at Pennsylvania Railroad Field, Wilmington. Warrington, who showed plenty of stuff during his brief tenure on the mound Monday night, is a logical choice to do the pitching chores.

A left hander, he has been going great guns since the close of school. Several hundred fans from Newark are planning to go to Wilmington for the game which starts at 6:15 P.M.

In the event of another victory for Wilmington the series will terminate Friday night. A Newark triumph, however, will necessitate a third contest which will be played on a neutral diamond, probably Frazer Field, next Monday night.

Swimming Meet A Feature of Home Coming at Resort; Set for August 15

COMPLETE CARD DRAWN

Earl Waters, professor of physical education, State Teachers College, West Chester, Pa., is to act in an advisory capacity to the committee for the Lewes Home Coming Swim Meet, August 15th, it was stated this week by Chairman Irvin C. Kepner, who, at the same time, announced the program of swimming and diving events to be run off that day.

Entrance applications from all over the Delaware Peninsula have been received, and plans are rapidly going forward for the securing of necessary floats and preparation of diving equipment.

Four Male Classes

Class A, including men of twenty years of age and over, and entrants who have attended college, will feature fifty yards free style, hundred yards free style, and hundred yards back stroke races, as well as a diving competition.

Class B, for men of nineteen years and under, and weighting 125 pounds and over, will include one-hundred yards free style and fifty yards back stroke races, and a diving competition.

Class C, for boys weighing between 111 and 125 pounds, will have fifty yards free style and fifty yards back stroke races, and a diving competition.

Class D, for boys of 110 pounds and under, will include a fifty yards free style race, and a diving competition.

Women In Tests

In the Women's and Girl's Division, seniors of seventeen years and over, will engage in fifty yards free style and fifty yards back stroke races, and in a diving competition.

The juniors of this group, of sixteen years and under, will vie in fifty yards free style and fifty yards back stroke races, and in a diving competition.

Clown Diving Contest

A special event of the meet, which is receiving much favor and creating great amusement elsewhere, is a clown diving contest, for which prizes will be given for the most comical exhibition from either high or low boards.

First, second, and third prizes, in gold, silver, and bronze, respectively, will be awarded in each of the events. These trophies will be either medals or watch chain plaques.

The meet is to be held under inter-collegiate swimming rules, says Chairman Kepner, and competent judges are being obtained.

Elkton Surprises Providence By Taking Pair; Second Game Protested

Splitting a pair of games with Perryville over the week-end, 4-6 and 7-2, Newark's Yellowjackets dropped out of a first-place deadlock for the second-half crown in the Bi-State loop when Aberdeen took a pair of close and hard-fought battles from Havre de Grace, 13-11 and 8-6. The double defeat tumbled the Rivermen, 1935 champions, into last place.

A shattering jolt to carefully laid pennant plans was handed to the Providence aggregation in a double dose when the previously winless Elkton team arose with a mighty surge to topple the Papermakers, 9-4 and 17-4, to complete the schedule for the week-end.

Jebb In Great Form

The league's leading hurler, Toy Jebb, was in rare form Saturday when the Jackets took it on the stinger at Perryville. Although two of their hits were for the circuit, Charshee and Willis pounding home runs with the bags unoccupied, the local clubbers were held to six blows by the big Pennsylvanian who did not issue a single pass.

Perryville touched the combined offerings of Argo and Craig for 13 safe smacks, including doubles by John Bailey and Cooney and a three-pley bash by Bud Lloyd. Argo gave up four runs in two and two-thirds innings while Craig was touched for single markers in the seventh and eighth.

The Newark tallied once in the fourth, twice in the eighth and once in the ninth.

Bailey Wild Sunday

Despite the 7-2 score at Continental Field on Sunday, the Jackets were forced to hustle every second of the game as the pesky Pandours figured largely in the picture until a three-run spurge in the eighth gave the local delegation a decisive margin.

Four runs in the fifth inning on two hits, a sacrifice, two hit batsmen and three passes, gave the Jackets a lead that was never relinquished. Stan (Mae West) Bailey, who worked seven innings for Perryville before giving way to his younger brother, John, was unusually wild.

Although in frequent difficulty, the first Bailey managed to hold Newark scoreless except in the fifth. He granted seven hits, issued six passes, hit Charshee and George and fanned six. The second Bailey coughed up three runs and as many hits in the eighth.

Whiteman Hurls Steadily

Paul Whiteman, working on the mound for the Jackets, was in excellent trim, hurling nicely in the pinch-es. He was credited with nine strikeouts while issuing a lone pass.

Bill Barrow continued to shine by slamming three hits, one for two bases, in three official trips to the plate. Ernie George also had a perfect day—two for two. Willis, Lucas, Bud Lloyd and Stan Bailey were other two-hit batsmen of the afternoon.

While the Jackets were being partially checked by the Pandours, Freddie Baldwin's crew of Cannners were making hay while the sun shone although the Havre de Grace opposition put up a lively battle.

Players and Fans Fight

The first tilt at Aberdeen on Saturday, when the Cannners won, 13-11, developed a free-for-all fight that involved players and fans from both sides.

Thompson and Budnick, according to reports, started the altercation by a misunderstanding at first base that soon called for fists. Team mates (Continued on Page 7)

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

HO HUM—here we go—it's a long way to the bottom of this here column and the scattered thoughts refuse to mobilize—we'd sort of like to branch out and comment on a few national or international questions but there are three styles—namely: first and foremost, we don't know anything about national or international questions; secondly, this is strictly a local column, and thirdly, if we did know something about forementioned topics and this weren't a local set-up, it would be too hot to write anyhow. So we'll just keep pounding until we bang out two pages of palaver.

A LITTLE COOPERATION in this corner would be welcome, especially on a sultry day when thoughts are spread like a shatter-proof windshield that's been hit by a brick—we'll say a red brick and fill out this line. A few stories each week would be received with open arms so why not start writing this column for us. And so with a mind devoid of typewriter fodder, we throw ourselves at your mercy.

EVERY DOG HAS ITS DAY and it is with a sight of relief that we note the gradual retirement to obscurity (we hope) of the "knock knoek" craze which made most of the country a wholesale farnhurst. Like all epidemics, however, it had to go and we await expectant for the next plague.

Do you remember? . . . "So's your old man," "So's your antique," "So's your uncle Dudley," "Oh Yeah," and the more recent, "Wanna Buy a Duck?" . . . everyone a curse in its time but all gone now. And so with "knock knoek" . . . the disease which made otherwise peaceful towns sound like antiquated vehicles.

WHAT A PITY that the notorious Mann's Orchard should fall before the advance of civilization. Newark's Lover's Lane will soon be no more and aspiring swains will be forced to take their heart's desire several miles further to Sunset Lake.

'Tis a pity indeed, for the orchard was once an ideal spot for lovers who wished seclusion and were still able to gain full benefit of the moon and a truly romantic atmosphere.

Ah! If only the trees could talk. First Tree—"Apple of my eye, do you see what I see?"

Second Tree—"Do I it fairly makes my sap run cold. Well do I remember when you were so young and slender with only twenty rings. How you used to sway and dance in the breeze."

First Ditto—"Ah, but that was pulp love. (fo-give) We've got something now."

Second Tree—"And they've got something there."

TREES REMIND US of wood—and wood, bats—and bats remind us of Ferris Wharton who was once up there in the ten leading hitters.

Wharton started playing for Providence the latter part of the first half and socked the apple to the tune of a nice juicy .167. In an effort to preserve the dignity attached to his name however, he played under the monicker of McMullin.

Starting the second half in bang style, Newark's loss permitted his own name in the lineup and then started wracking his brain in an effort to preserve the averages. A threatened job put him on the sick list for a week-end and finally after many other evasive methods had failed, the slugger walked to the plate three times in Saturday's game, hit one single and dropped from the "ten." We have one thing to say for him, however, and that is, he doesn't eat, sleep, and talk baseball every minute of the hour . . . which is another disease in this town that comes with hot weather.

DRAINED the end has come . . . this is the finish, the climax, the culmination and we have finally staggered through two pages of talk it what you will.

NEWS NOTES HERE AND THERE

The first person molested was a pedestrian travelling from New York to Washington, and Miss Maloney in an automobile with three girl friends, on her way home in Townsend, was the victim of the second attempt.

Later Lawyer R. C. Thackeray and friends of Elkton, were threatened with a revolver. Being in a machine they speeded past the man and brought the news to Newark. A fourth party composed of Westerners touring in the East, was also way-laid.

Magistrate Lovett, Officer Reed and Delaware Lovett hurried to the scene, but no trace of the man could be found.

It is rumored that a strange, half-witted person seen this morning in Glasgow is the suspected man. All the persons concerned state that the highwayman was masked.

No Awards Likely

Possibility that no awards will be made this summer for roadside beautification along the state highway is seen in former Governor Robinson's statement Monday that his latest tour of inspection has convinced him that little interest is being taken by residents in this form of improvement.

The ex-governor, who is judge of the roadside beautification committee, said that his tour last Saturday convinced him that there were no new properties showing sufficient interest to justify awarding any prizes.
