

Voters Approve Tax Increase With Referendum At Schools

Educational Program Approved In 2-Part Referendum
By Votes Of 2,013-658, And 1,855-781 For Five-Cent Tax Increase To Meet Demands Of Enrollment Increase

Voters in the Newark special school district approved a five-cent tax increase, from $1.45 to $1.50 per $100 assessed value of real estate, in last Thursday's referendum to support the $6-million-plus public school program to meet the need of growing student enrollment. The referendum in two parts was approved by votes of 2,013-658, and 1,855-781.

The proposal was defeated in but one of 10 polling places at the district's elementary schools. At Christians-Salem School, voters opposed the tax increase to meet enrollment demands by 49-40 and 51-38 counts.

Part A of the referendum provides $1,458,000 for construction of a new 24-classroom elementary school by September, 1969, to be named in honor of Rita J. Wilson; a new senior high school by 1970 at a cost of $4,493,000; and funds for purchasing a site and planning for another elementary school.

Cost Split
The state is to provide 60 percent of this cost, with the Newark special school district supplying the balance.

Part B of the referendum provides for a kindergarten feasibility study; additional district warehousing, and for educational equipment at a cost of $200,000—all in local funds.

At Brookside, the referendum was approved by votes of 147-11, and 130-47; at Central, by 356-92, and 137-113; Downes, 410-81, and 359-127; Eden, 64-50, and 58-33; Gallagher, 95-24, and 82-36; McVey, 220-57, and 211-61; Medill, 292-114, and 273-127; Smith, 121-60, and 117-44, and at West Park Place, by 288-90, and 274-102.

Polls were open from 2 to 9 p.m. last Thursday at all 10 elementary school buildings in the district, and all district residents over 21 with eligible residential tenure, were eligible to vote.

"Brig" Rehearsal Held At Airport For E-52 Troupe

In a search for a more realistic environment, cast and crews of the E-52 Theatre production "The Brig" recently conducted a rehearsal at the Greater Wilmington Airport.

Thomas J. Watson and William A. Bruhl of the University of Delaware's department of dramatic arts and speech held the rehearsal, complete with GI buildings and barbed wire fences looked more characteristic of a Marine Corps brig.

During rehearsal, the production team shot movie footage and TV tapes to be used as transitional devices in the play's action. They will be shown before and during the performance to give the audience another insight into the world of "The Brig."

Both Bruhl and Watson are pleased with results of the rehearsal. "We have some excellent footage and we know our actors are well on top of their roles," Watson said.

Kenneth H. Brown, author of "The Brig," and Jonas Mekas, film critic of the "Village Voice," will attend the first performance next Wednesday and join the audience after the play for an informal criticism and evaluation of the production.

Performances are scheduled in Mitchell Hall, Oct. 25-28, with a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

45,000 Youngsters Visit Local Farm With U.D. Tours

Too many children never see a cow and wouldn't know a sheep from a pig or a chicken from a turkey. Their food and clothes come from a farm but they might as well have originated in outer space as far as many city and suburban children know.

"What's going on down on the farm?" is a question answered daily during the annual farm tour for school children and kindergarten youngsters at the University of Delaware research farm in Newark.

Tours by elementary school classes are scheduled during October, Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. through 3 p.m.

More than 45,000 children have visited the farm since tours began in 1957, according to Edward H. Schabinger, New Castle county agricultural agent.

Teachers wishing to have their classes tour the research farm may schedule visits by telephoning Schabinger at the University of Delaware.

Penn Economist To Speak On Planning By Soviets

A University of Pennsylvania economist will discuss Soviet planning next Monday night in the third lecture of a five-part series at the University of Delaware.

The talk by Dr. Herbert S. Levine, associate professor at Penn, is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Rodney Room of the Student Center.

All lectures in the Monday night series are open to the public without charge.

Speed Of 100-mph Approved By PRR For Congressionals

Improvements To Tracks
To Increase Train Speed
Effective Next Oct. 29

Running time for two Pennsylvania Railroad trains passing through Newark between New York and Washington will be cut 15 min. by raising top speeds to 100-mph, beginning Oct. 29.

The changes—effective with the switchover to standard time—affect only the afternoon Congressionals. The trains are now limited to 80 mph and make the run between the cities in three hours 10 minutes.

Currently, the northbound Congressional leaves Washington at 4:11 p.m., arrives at Wilmington at 5:39 and at New York at 7:35. Under the new schedule the train will leave Washington at 4 p.m., arrive at Wilmington at 5:25 and at New York at 7:20.

A Pennsy spokesman said the schedule changes are due to track improvements made between Washington and New York. All-welded rail has been installed over the route to gear the roadbed to high speeds.

The railroad has decided this will permit 100-mph maximum speeds by conventional trains. The right-of-way improvements were made to accommodate special new trains traveling up to 160 mph, which had been scheduled to start at the end of the month, but which have been delayed at least until early next year.

Newark High School winners are Maria Bennett, Christian Carter, Katherine Ciesinski, Mary Anne Foster, Joanne S. Godek, Marian Gollage, Jo Anne Hitchcock, David Hutchinson, Sharon Jones, Jeffrey Kerner, Elsa Leach, Mary Mitchell, Elizabeth Monroe, Sharyl Moore, Jeffrey Purcell, Steven Ross, Lynda VanHorn, Karen Vogelzang, Bonnie Wertman, Carolina Willis, and Catharine Zeller.

Therapy-Massage By Olga Mahler Offered At YWCA

The health education department of the Newark YWCA of 318 South College Avenue, announces the opening of a new service—hydrotherapy and massage—on Friday mornings beginning Nov. 4, under direction of Mrs. Olga Mahler, masseuse.

Mrs. Mahler, born in Vienna, Austria, received her nursing degree while specializing in hydrotherapy. During World War II, she worked under the supervision of her husband, an orthopedic surgeon, and at his death, came to the United States to work at the Alfred I. du Pont Institute for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Mahler's patrons come with slipped discs, arthritis, back weaknesses and tensions. With three massages and exercise in the water Mrs. Mahler's rehabilitation effort helps both mentally and physically.

An outside ramp is available to the handicapped, for easy access to the pool.

Appointments may be made on recommendation of a doctor, and all physicians in the Newark area are being notified of the new service.

Appointments must be made in advance by calling the Newark YWCA Center.

This service is part of the program of the health, physical education and recreation department of the Newark YWCA, directed by Gail Lit.

Sidewalk Program, Topic For Council Next Tuesday

A special Newark City Council meeting to consider local sidewalk construction policy will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Central Junior High School auditorium.

The meeting is open to the public, and prepared statements are to accompany public presentations.

Questions to be considered include subdivision sidewalk requirements for new developments and sidewalk installation in older sections of the city.

Matteson Cravy, Candidate With Naval Aviation OCS

Naval Aviation officer candidate Matteson S. Cravy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cravy of 422 Orchard Road, Newark is attending OCS at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

The 11-week course includes instruction in world affairs, Naval history, physical fitness, communications, navigation, seamanship and military tactics.

Upon successful completion of the course, he will enter flight preparation school at Pensacola.

Community Hallowe'en Program Planned With Pre-Parade Contests, Mardi Gras GNRA Director

The 13th annual Hallowe'en Mardi Gras on Main in Newark will be conducted Monday, Oct. 30, with a rain date of Oct. 31, under the auspices of the Greater Newark Recreation Association and local service and business organizations to "encourage a safe and constructive Hallowe'en."

Pre-parade activities will include a Jack O'Lantern decorating contest for boys and girls of pre-school age through 6th grade, with registration and pumpkin display at the Eagle Furniture Store at Main and Haines Street. Whole pumpkin and Jack O'Lantern shells will be accepted, and creations must be the work of the children.

Registrations for this contest will be accepted next Thursday and Friday, with judging on Saturday, Oct. 28. All pumpkins are to be removed by noon Saturday.

Another pre-parade activity will be a window-painting contest for junior and senior high school students. Business establishments in the greater Newark area will host local artists and prizes for best paintings will be awarded. Next Thursday has been set as painting day, with Friday, Oct. 27, the rain date.

The Mardi Gras masquerade parade will assemble at 6 p.m. in the Newark Shopping Center on Monday, Oct. 30, moving at 6:30 p.m. west on Main Street to College Avenue, to Delaware Avenue, to Academy Street where it will terminate in the parking area behind the Academy Building.

This year for the first time, elementary school children will be treated to cartoon movies. Junior and senior high students will be treated to an indoor dance from 7:30 to 10 p.m., featuring a live band and refreshments at the Aetna Fire Hall on Ogletown Road. There is no fee for the Hallowe'en activities, and everyone in the Newark area is invited to attend and participate in this program, GNRA Director James F. Hall stresses.

26 ROTC Cadets Leave Drill Field In Course Protest

Col. Edward G. Allen
Heads Military Program
Required For Federal Aid

Twenty-six University of Delaware Reserve Officer Training Corps students walked out of a drill last Thursday, and 35 other young people marched Nazi-style alongside the remaining ROTC cadets.

Col. Edward G. Allen, professor of military science and head of the Delaware ROTC program, said the 26 students who left would be counted as absent from class but there would be no disciplinary action. Dean of Men Donald P. Hardy said that the protest marchers "interfered with the class (and) will be disciplined."

Most of the protesting marchers were students, but at least one, who identified himself as a member of a Florida motorcycle club, was not. The two-year ROTC course is required of all male students.

Delaware, a land-grant college, must offer an ROTC course to receive federal funds. Last year, it received almost $800,000 in such funds.

The ROTC program as a requirement for graduation, however, is a university regulation and not required by the act.

The student protest began a week prior to Thursday's incident when a group of "concerned students" distributed leaflets to freshmen ROTC cadets as they approached their drill field at Wright Field.

The leaflets protested compulsory ROTC and announced a meeting for Wednesday night last week.

According to university sources, about 75 persons attended Wednesday night's meeting at the Westminster Foundation.

Accidental Poisonings Topic For YWCA Speaker

"Mom's Day Out" luncheon yesterday at the Alice P. Smyth YWCA Center, featured a talk and movie on accidental poisonings.

Harvey Rappoport, from the Poison Information Service, Wilmington, presented the program.

Philadelphia Theatre Actors At Schools To Offer Public Assembly This Friday

The four actors from Philadelphia's Theatre of the Living Arts will close their three-weeks work with local high school students by presenting an assembly program at 1:30 p.m. this Friday in the Christiana High School auditorium. Theatre-minded members of the community are invited to attend with some 200 seats available.

The group has been working in English, social studies, drama, art, music, speech education, and home economics classes during their stay in Newark, with a project designed to dramatize literature, personal relationships, history, and social problems.

Playwright Lester Franklin has evolved a script from cuttings of plays ranging from "Romeo and Juliet" to "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," in an attempt to answer a question voiced by a student in Myron Lazarus' course on problems of society—"What is the purpose of the young generation's stay on earth?"

Yesterday, the group which includes Gloria Maddox, Patti Ann Gaul, and Peter Bailey Brinton, traveled to Dover to tape the program for showing on Delaware's closed circuit educational TV.

The experiment in closer relationships between secondary education and professional theatre has been financed by funds for the performing arts under Title III of the Federal Aid to Education Act.

Dr. C. Robert Kase of Newark Center, will guide a tour to the Philadelphia Museum of Art on Saturday, Nov. 4, leaving the Newark YWCA at 9 a.m. and returning at 4 p.m.

Loper's guided tour to the Washington National Gallery was so successful that the Newark YWCA has requested his assistance in guiding this, and a tour to the Museum of Modern Art in New York on Jan. 13. Reservations are being accepted at the YWCA, 318 South College Avenue.

Markley, Mrs. Jessie Duncan, Mrs. Aletha Scraggell, Mrs. Doris Chapman, Mrs. Prue Leahy, Mrs. Carol Peters and John Smith.

Harley S. Hastings, vice-president of the music section, is responsible for the music program.

Methodist Women "Call To Prayer" Program Planned

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Newark Methodist Church will participate next week in one of the most important annual observances of Methodist women throughout the United States.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial, initiated by Methodist women in 1897, as a week of prayer and self-denial, focuses on guided mission study, an offering for special mission projects, and a deeper spiritual life.

The theme of the 1967 Call to Prayer and Self-Denial is "Feed My Sheep," and emphasizes love and brotherhood through care for children and young women in the United States, and leadership training for women around the world.

A Quiet Day service will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. next Wednesday at the Newark Methodist Church, with Mrs. R. Jervis Cooke and Mrs. Laura W. Nichols as leaders.

"Breath of Life" Topic For "Mom's Day Out"

"Breath of Life" is the topic for next Wednesday's "Mom's Day Out" luncheon meeting at the Alice P. Smyth Center YWCA, with a film provided by the Diamond State Telephone Co.

Carroll W. Mumford Resigns As Newark C. of C. Secretary

Directors Of Newark Chamber Of Commerce Accept
Resignation Of Executive Secretary Effective Oct. 31;
Membership Increases From 66 To 153 During Service

Carroll W. Mumford has resigned as executive secretary of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, effective Oct. 31, and his resignation was accepted at last Monday night's meeting of the chamber directors in the Avon Products conference room. Mack Emmert has been appointed as Mumford's successor.

Executive secretary of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce since Jan. 15, 1962, when he succeeded Robert M. Rowlands, Mumford was instrumental in the chamber's increase from 66 to 153 members.

Mumford served as executive secretary during the presidential terms of William J. Gallagher, Reginald Rockwell, Samuel L. Diehl, Jr., Silas W. Pettit, Harlan C. Williams, and P. Racine Stafford.

A native of Emporium, Pa., he served with the U. S. Army in World War I as a sergeant, and retired in 1958 after 35 years as superintendent of the University of Delaware poultry farm in Newark.

Legion Commander
Past-president of the Newark Lions Club, he served as adjutant and commander of the local J. Allison O'Daniel American Legion Post, and as a member of the Newark Planning Commission.

He resides at 29 Kells Avenue with his wife, and they have three children—Mrs. J. Fred Mitchell, and Carroll W. Jr., of Newark, and Mrs. John C. Houck, Claymont.

In his Oct. 16 letter of resignation to President F. Racine Stafford, Mumford wrote:

"Please convey to the directors of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, my resignation as executive secretary, to become effective Oct. 31, 1967."

"On Oct. 2, the date Mr. Mack Emmert, the new executive secretary arrived, I requested of you a complete audit of my books and that of Treasurer Harold J. Meade, the work to be done by an approved CPA firm by Oct. 31."

"The main speaker at the directors' meeting of the chamber, my thanks for their cooperation during my period of employment."

At last Monday's meeting of the chamber directors, Mayor Norma B. Handoff discussed the five-year capital improvement program for the City of Newark.

Former Resident Willard Crater Heads Marketing

Former Newark resident Willard deCamp Crater, of the W. D. Crater Co., Upper Merion, N.J., has been named to manage marketing activity for Aquilaine-Organico in the United States.

As Aquilaine-Organico's representative, Crater's responsibilities will include expansion of the firm's plastics to manage marketing activity for Aquilaine-Organico in the United States.

Crater has had experience in development, manufacturing, and marketing with internationally known firms such as International Telephone and Telegraph, Uniroval, Inc., and W. B. Grace & Co. He holds several patents and has published a variety of articles on plastics, marketing and foreign investment.

His recent activities have included international plastics export, and domestic and foreign sales.

Crater received his education at Tome, the University of Delaware, and at Rutgers. His wife is the former Miss Louise Murray of Newark.

Services For Aged Topic Of Meeting Next Wednesday

The Delaware Commission for the Aged will sponsor a conference at the University of Delaware Student Center next Wednesday on the subject of protective services.

"The term widely used in professional circles, is apt to be misleading," a commission spokesman said. "It can apply to legal services for older persons in danger of harming themselves or others, and the term also applies to services which can be given to older persons to help them remain in their homes."

The main speaker, Dr. Maurice E. Linden, director of the division of mental health, Philadelphia Department of Public Health, will describe methods used to rehabilitate patients at the Hagood Health Center.

Attorney Charles L. Hellman will report results of his research on legalities of protective services conducted for the Community Services Council.

The afternoon will be devoted to several panels.

Man Killed As Car Hits Utility Pole In 90-mph Chase

After a chase at speed exceeding 90-mph, a 21-year-old man was killed Saturday night when his car smashed into a utility pole at Milford Crossroads.

Donald J. Stiner, 1052-A 5th Avenue, Airport Villa, was pronounced dead at Wilmington General Division at 12:55 a.m. Sunday, and Ronald J. Rust, 20, of 192 Madison Drive, College Park, Newark—a passenger in Stiner's car—was listed in serious condition at Delaware Division after injuries suffered in the accident.

Newark police report that Stiner was driving along East Main Street without headlights when a Newark patrol car observed him about 11:40 p.m.

Police in the patrol car followed Stiner into a parking lot, then turned on the overhead lights.

When it appeared that Stiner would stop for the police, he suddenly sped off.

Police pursued him at speeds exceeding 90 miles an hour.

When Stiner hit the pole, high-voltage lines fell on his car.

Aetna volunteer firemen from Newark spent 40 minutes pulling him out of the wreckage.

Frances Shoffner To Receive Award As Sussex Agent

Frances Shoffner, Sussex County home economics extension agent, has been selected to receive the Distinguished Service Award of the National Association of Extension Home Economists.

The award will be presented Oct. 27, during the annual meeting in Jackson, Miss.

In years of service in Sussex County, Miss Shoffner has set up outstanding home economics programs for homemakers, according to Mrs. Alice King, state leader in home economics extension. Cooperating with other agencies and organizations in the county, she recently extended these programs to disadvantaged families.

She served as director of nutrition for five Head Start projects in the county, and worked with cooks and helpers on meal planning, preparation and serving, and on food storage and sanitation. She worked with a staff of 72 teachers, aides, nurses, social workers and cafeteria personnel in charge of 395 children enrolled.

Miss Shoffner also carried out county programs in civil defense and safety. Through her efforts 39 trained instructors are now able to teach medical self-help in the community.

M. Katherine Jones of Newark, retired New Castle County home economics agent, will accompany Miss Shoffner on her trip to Mississippi.

Danforth Grants For Teaching PhD Headed By Keesey

The deadline for nominations for Danforth Graduate Fellowships is Nov. 1, according to Dr. Ray E. Keesey, Danforth liaison officer at the University of Delaware.

Inquiries about the program, supported by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., should be directed to Keesey, associate dean of the college of arts and sciences.

The fellowships are open to men and women seniors or recent graduates who plan to study for a PhD and who have serious interest in college teaching as a career.

Some 120 fellowships will be awarded next March. Danforth Fellows are eligible for four years of financial assistance, with a maximum annual stipend of $2,400 for single recipients and $2,950 for married, plus tuition and fees. Dependency allowances are available.

The Danforth Foundation was founded in 1927 by the late William H. Danforth, St. Louis businessman and philanthropist.

The foundation's primary aim is to strengthen education through programs of fellowships and workshops.

Ag School To Hold Nov. 4, Career Day For Pupils, Parents

"Science—A Doorway to Life" will be the theme of Career Day planned by the college of agricultural sciences at the University of Delaware on Nov. 4, in Agricultural Hall at 9:15 a.m.

Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the college of agricultural sciences, said the program is designed to supply information to high school students.

Careers Day will provide information on college programs in plant and animal sciences; high school and college teaching; agricultural engineering and management aspects of food and fiber production, processing, and marketing.

The program is aimed especially at high school juniors and seniors, but other high school students also are welcome.

Parents, high school administrators, counselors and vocational agriculture and science teachers are urged to attend.

Registration on Career Day will begin at 9:15 a.m.

Visitors will have opportunity to tour college facilities; and during an informal lunch hour, students can talk with university staff members about admission, courses, and financing.

Send any inquiry to Dean McDaniel, college of agricultural sciences, University of Delaware, Newark.

Pollution Control Conference Slated For 200 Officials

Answers to the pressing problems of air and water pollution may come from smoke-filled rooms, and one such room will be at the University of Delaware, Nov. 13-15, when some 200 representatives of government, industry, and education gather in the Student Center for the first Mid-Atlantic Industrial Waste Conference.

Some 36 of the conferees will speak during the three-day program jointly sponsored by five area educational institutions and state agencies from Delaware and Maryland.

Among the first speakers on Nov. 13, will be Delaware's U.S. Sen. J. Caleb Boggs.

After Boggs presents the government's viewpoint, industry's view will be presented by Ralph K. Gottshall, chairman of the board of Atlantic Chemical Industries, Inc., Wilmington.

Other speakers will include Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr.; Dr. Edward W. Conings, dean of the University of Delaware college of engineering; Dr. Eugene Chesson, Jr., chairman

ART EDUCATOR T. C. Marshall, Jr. Slated For Holiday Inn Meeting

Thomas C. Marshall, Jr., franchiseholder for the Holiday Inn of Newark, is scheduled to attend the annual conference of the International Association of Holiday Inns in Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16-19.

During the conference, Marshall is to attend a preview of "See How They Run," the first Holiday Inn Dinner Theatre production.

A chain of 100 franchised Holiday Inn Dinner Theatres is planned.

of the university department of civil engineering, host for the conference; and Dr. Nelson Nemrow of Syracuse University, with the topic "Economics of Waste Treatment."

Speakers from industry and college will discuss topics relating to pollution on Monday afternoon, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Film-Maker Jonas Mekas To Offer Public Lecture

"The Experimental Film" will be the topic of a lecture next Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in Wolf Hall Auditorium on the University of Delaware campus.

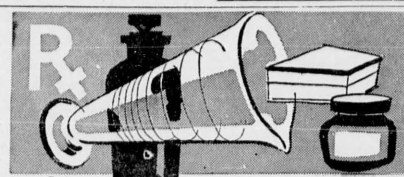

The program, open to the public without charge, is the first in a three-part series sponsored by the university cultural affairs committee.

Featured speaker will be Jonas Mekas, film-maker, critic for the "Village Voice," and editor of "Film Culture."

He will show a selection of experimental films, including his own, and will discuss the films and answer questions from the audience.

ZIP LOAN APPLICATIONS!

As simple as A-B-C... AND FAST

No more involved applications filled with specific personal questions, often embarrassing, that take a long time to fill out. It only takes a minute to check off the answers, and processing time is cut to a minimum.

Now, with an easy-to-apply-for ZIP Loan, you can realize your dreams of owning a boat, fixing up the home, buying that needed appliance... or consolidating your debts.

Got a minute? Prove it to yourself by filling out the application below. You'll find it's fun!

Here's how it works:

- Select the number in each line that comes as close as possible to describing you. Example: If you're 35, select #2 on line A. With 3 dependents, use #3 on line C, and so on. Simple, isn't it?
- Next, write the number chosen in the code box for each letter at right of chart (see arrow). Answer all the letters from A-J.
- Complete short personal data form on right.

That's all there is to it. Now, why not get your pen and start. Time yourself. Before you know it you'll be finished.

Indoor Growing Of Herbs In Wintertime Offers Seasoning, Scent, Feline Catnip

Try herbs for seasoning—for scent—for interest during dull winter months. A display of potted herbs at the Delaware State Flower Show showed the wide variety of herbs that can be grown indoors.

Members of the University of Delaware Horticulture Club, who arranged the display, point out many common herbs are easily grown in a sunny window. Every homemaker should add potted herbs to their list of house plants, says William Boytin, president of the horticulture club.

Club members Nancy Newman, Joseph Demesse, Jr., Linda Wilson, Gerald Abrahams, Russell Hann, and Al Conchen also took part in planning the project.

Parsley, peppermint, spearmint, sage, tarragon, lavender and thyme are easily grown indoors, and you can even treat your cat to home grown catnip, according to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the university.

If you already have herbs growing outside, bring them indoors now. Set them in pots large enough for the roots, in the same type soil. Water well and set in shade outdoors for 10 days before bringing indoors.

Parsley is a biennial that can be grown from seed; it prefers a rich moist soil. Peppermint, a perennial, can be grown in practically any soil; but spearmint needs a fertile, moist soil. Use both the leaves and flowering tops.

Sage needs a rich clay with a good supply of nitrogen fertilizer; it can be started from seeds or stem cuttings. Sage leaves can be used green or dried, Stevens says.

Tarragon is a perennial that is usually started from root or crown divisions; leaves and plant tops are used.

Thyme can be grown from seed or cuttings. It prefers a mellow soil but will grow on poor soil also. The blossoms are used for seasoning.

Lavender is used primarily for its scent; unfortunately, it may not flower for several years.

Catnip is a perennial which grows best in a well-drained, moderately rich, sandy soil. It can be started from seed or from root divisions. Many herbs are available from local nurseries or seed stores.

44th Stockholders Meeting Scheduled By Cooperative

Over 1,800 delegates, guests and retail personnel from a five-state area are expected to attend the 44th annual stockholders meeting of Southern States Cooperative at Convention Center in Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31-Nov. 1.

Highlights of the business session included presentation of the annual report by W. T. Steele, Jr., of Richmond, Va., general manager of the cooperative, and the report of John W. Stone of Lenoireville, W. Va., president of the association.

Southern States Launches Farm-Equipment Branch

Southern States Cooperative recently opened a new branch operation at Bassett and Haslett streets in Clayton, Del.—known as Southern States Farm Equipment, Inc. Farm Systems—to handle a complete line of farm mechanical systems.

John W. Shallenberger is manager of the branch, while J. Wallace Hudson is installation serviceman.

The branch which will serve the northern portion of the Delaware Peninsula—offers a full line of mechanical equipment including pipeline milkers, grain storage and dryers, on-the-farm feed processing, bunk feeders, silo unloaders and other equipment.

Poultry "Confidence" Buy With Inspection Provided

"Homemakers can buy broiler fryers with complete confidence since these chickens are inspected for wholesomeness and processed under rigid sanitary conditions," Dr. John C. Hammond, chairman of the Delaware State Poultry Commission said during a recent meeting in Dover.

Hammond explained that in Delaware's poultry plants, each chicken is individually inspected by U.S. government inspectors to be certain that the meat is wholesome and suitable for human consumption.

Veterinarians employed by the inspection service division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture supervise the program.

"In spite of rising costs for labor and materials, our processors have, through mechanization and management, been able to reduce processing costs and at the same time provide consumers with ready-to-cook chicken which are delivered to eastern markets daily and guaranteed to be wholesome," Hammond concluded.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell W. Horning of 206 Jupiter Rd., North Star, Newark.

Mr. Keating is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Keating of Wilmington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie with lace sleeves. She wore an elbow length illusion veil and carried a cascade of rosebuds, stephanotis and lily.

Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Beverly Ellen Horning. Bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Catherine Bertrand and Miss Regina F. Simons of East Aurora, N.Y.

Flower girl was the bridegroom's niece, Ann Street. Her nephew, Francis Street, was ring bearer.

Best man for his brother was Raymond Keating of Drexel Hill, Pa. Ushers were Mark Gasser of Drexel Hill and Richard Daniels of Greenville.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the Adirondack Mountains.

The bride was graduated from Alexis I. Du Pont High School and attended the State University of New York at Alfred. She is employed by Hercules, Inc.

Heads Ticket Sale

Mrs. Philip A. Toman

Heading 1967-68 ticket sales for the Newark Symphony Orchestra, is Mrs. Philip A. Toman.

Mrs. Toman reports tickets available for the three concert season, or for the first concert alone. She listed dates of the three formal concerts to be presented in the Newark High School auditorium as Nov. 26, Feb. 27, and May 7. All concerts are on Tuesday evenings at 8:15.

Tickets for the first concert are on sale with special student rates. The student ticket covers children from grade school through those enrolled at the University of Delaware, Mrs. Toman noted.

"For those who plan to attend all of the concerts," Mrs. Toman went on, "there are season tickets available at a reduced rate."

Persons who wish to take advantage of either plan may obtain tickets by sending a check or money order with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Newark Symphony Orchestra, Box 1012, Newark.

This will be the orchestra's third season and the most ambitious with three formal concerts and four radio broadcasts.

NINA HELTON WED TO JOHN HOPKINS

Miss Nina Marlene Helton and John Hopkin were married Saturday, Oct. 7, in Newark Rival Tabernacle.

The Rev. Arthur Hardt officiated and the reception was in the Union Hall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hayes Helton of 601 S. Gerald Drive, Birchwood Park, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Lewis Hopkins III of 469 Airport Road, New Castle.

Given in marriage by her brother, Arvel Lee Helton, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a detachable train. She carried an orchid on a Bible with stephanotis and roses.

Miss Susan Mary Hopkins, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Ann Helton of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Carl Henry Helton and Miss Frances Ann Huff.

Flower girl was Kathryn Estell Helton and ring bearer was Randy Helton.

The bride is a graduate of Padua Academy and the Delaware Hospital School of Nursing. Prior to her marriage she was employed by the Veterans Administration Hospital.

MRS. IRVIN FISHER

For many years, a Thursday evening ritual in the press room at the Newark Post involved calling the Newark News Stand with the information that "The Posts are ready." And almost always, Mrs. Irvin Fisher would be the one to answer the phone and relay the information to her husband, who would pick up the papers for the Post's major retail sales outlet.

And then there were evenings due to editorial or mechanical difficulties, when Mrs. Fisher would call and ask "Where are the Posts?" And she was always patient and understanding with delays.

A devoted wife and mother, Gertrude M. Fisher was a dynamic lady who helped her husband build and expand an exacting business with the sale and distribution of newspapers and magazines—a staunch ally of the Fourth Estate and a particular friend of the Newark Post. We shall miss her.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LEADER

During his nearly six years as executive secretary for the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, Carroll W. Mumford probably has accomplished more for the chamber than any individual.

Despite a 100 per cent increase approved by the board of directors for annual membership dues some years ago, he has boosted the number of paid members from a total of 66 to 153—and this involved a real bit of doing. Predecessors found it difficult to maintain membership at half the cost.

Persons from coast to coast were informed about the City of Newark with a map-brochure prepared by the chamber and distributed by Carroll Mumford, and he has been a source of information and emissary of goodwill for all who wrote to or stopped in at the little office on East Main Street where he worked regularly and too long beyond the call of duty.

Doing all of his own typing, he has mailed out thousands of letters and maintained meticulous minutes of chamber business—and as a retired University of Delaware poultry expert but most active sportsman, his efforts for the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce—the "Greater"—was added as the result of these efforts—have cut into his golden years of retirement and fishing time.

The Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce and the City of Newark have good reason to be grateful for the untiring effort and accomplishments of Carroll W. Mumford, who resigns Oct. 31, as the chamber's executive secretary.

A JOHNNY HARTFORD SCHOOL SAFETY TIP

Going Home After School—Never accept gifts or rides from strangers. Go home promptly after school and don't loiter along the way. Stick to your safety route and stay away from dark and lonely streets. Check in with your mother to let her know if you plan to play elsewhere. Then come home promptly at the time she sets. (This safety panel, one of a series for JUNIOR FIRE MARSHAL, has been prepared as a public service of The Hartford Insurance Group.)

Woman Driver Arrested In Aetna Ambulance Case

A woman whose car was involved in a collision with the Aetna ambulance on Monday night last week, has been arrested on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way to an emergency vehicle. State police said the car driven by Mrs. Ann Dorsey Hall, 54, of Wilmington was struck from behind on Interstate 95 near the Farnhurst interchange. It was originally reported that the woman's car hit the rear of the Aetna Hesse, Hook and Ladder Company ambulance from Newark. This was in error.

Students' Wives Invited To "Get Acquainted" Fete

The Delaware Students' Wives Association will hold its first meeting of the semester next Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Rodney Room of the University Student Center. The theme "Let's All Get Acquainted" will enable members to learn the purpose of the club and activities for the year. Refreshments will be served following the meeting, and all wives of students, both graduate and undergraduate, are invited to attend, Mrs. Paul Fiala advises.

THE STORY OF VETERANS DAY

Light up a cigar on Veterans Day in honor of the men who served our country—and give a thought to how this national observance began.

One minute before 11 o'clock on the morning of November 11, 1918, the long battle line in France shook with the roar of cannon. One minute later, there was silence.

This cease-fire, which ended World War I, was the result of a general armistice between the Allies and Germany, signed at five o'clock that morning in a train in the forest of Compiègne in northern France. The terms of peace had not yet been finally determined, but the fighting ceased.

Since that time, November 11th has been a special day of remembrance in the United States, Great Britain, Canada, and France. Until 1954, the day was called "Armistice Day" in the U.S.

In World War I, separate armistices were concluded between the victorious Allies on the one side, and defeated Bulgaria, Turkey, and Austria-Hungary.

The U.S. Congress changed the name Armistice Day to "Veterans Day" in 1954, dedicating the observation to world peace. The day presently honors the veterans of the Korean conflict, as well as those of World Wars I and II.

A gift of a box of fine cigars is a welcome way to honor the veterans you know. Veterans Day—on any day—men like to relax with a good cigar.

With U. S. Navy

Wallace F. Cleaver

Seaman Recruit Wallace F. Cleaver, USN, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer O. Cleaver of Delaware Cameo Club Road, Newark, has graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Center.

In transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers, studied seamanship, survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

175th Anniversary Dinner Planned By Democrats

The Women's Democratic Club of Delaware will sponsor a dinner party observing the 175th anniversary of the Democratic party next Tuesday in the Executive Club at 9th and Orange streets, Wilmington. A social hour at 6:30 will be followed by a full course roast beef dinner at 7 p.m.

Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr., will be a special guest, and Mrs. Anna O. Lloyd of Newark is a hostess for the evening. Reservations should be made with Theresa Jonkiet by this Saturday.

Radioman Gerald Ovellette Aids "Fortress Sentry"

Radioman 2/C Gerald M. Ovellette, USN, the husband of the former Miss Darlene M. Raverty of 27 East Cleveland Avenue, Newark, participated in the recent operation "Fortress Sentry," a concentrated effort at stemming the enemy's flow of men and munitions from North Vietnam.

As a crewmember aboard the amphibious force flagship USS Mount McKinley, he helped land Marines along the northern coast of South Vietnam, 35 miles north of Hue near the demilitarized zone.

Thiokol Attains Record Of 2-Million Safe Hours

Employees of the Thiokol Chemical Corp., Elkton plant, reached a milestone of 2,000,000 man-hours worked without a lost time accident last Thursday.

This is the equivalent, says Safety Director M. T. Stuckey, of one man working 1,000 years without injury, and represents a notable achievement for the Cecil County firm.

Thiokol's Elkton division is a major manufacturer of rocket engines for space vehicles and atmospheric research, and has played significant roles in the nation's major space triumphs.

Teammates Miller, Carzo Meet As Head Coaches

Two former Delaware teammates—Quarterback Don Miller and Fullback Rocky Carzo—met for the first time as head coaches last Saturday and Miller's Trinity College team defeated Tufts 30-7. Trinity topped Tufts at Hartford, Conn., in Miller's home debut as coach. Trinity led by 13-7 at halftime.

4-H Horse Show In Wildlife Area Scheduled Oct. 28

The second annual Delaware State 4-H Horse Show will be held Oct. 28, at the Petersburg wildlife area near Felton. All 4-H Club members from Delaware and neighboring states, 19-years-old or under, are eligible to participate.

Starting at 10 a.m., western classes will be held simultaneously with English classes. Contestants include showmanship, horsemanship, pleasure and costume events in both western and English classes. Trail riding, reining, clover-leaf barrel races and pole bending also are features of the western class.

Hunter under saddle, junior working hunter, bridge path hack, handy hunter and pleasure horse jumping events are scheduled for the English class.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in each competition. In addition, a trophy and champion and reserve champion ribbons will be given in western, English pleasure, and the hunter champion horse and pony classes.

Entries in the 4-H horse show are open until show time.

The horse show is sponsored by the agricultural extension service of the University of Delaware in cooperation with the Delaware 4-H horse project advisory committee.

Seaman Recruit

John A. Ball

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—Seaman Recruit John A. Ball, USN, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ball of 723 Brook Drive, Silverbrook, Newark, has graduated from nine weeks basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or shore station.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Racing Semantics

Etymologists, or others who study words, their origin, meaning and changes of meaning, would have a field day around the race track. Place racing originally meant racing without jumps or hurdles, but today the adjective is used to differentiate between Thoroughbred and harness racing although the trotters and pacers would have a hard time pulling their sulkies over anything but a flat course.

A stakes race has nothing to do with stakes marking the course but is a corruption of Sweepstakes wherein owners of the horses paid a nominating fee, eligibility fees and a starting fee, all of which went to the winner. Today, owners still put up these stakes, but the track adds an amount ranging from a few thousands to the $250,000 of the New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic. In most cases the stakes still go to the winner along with a major share of the money added by the track, but the second, third and fourth horses also get a share of the added money.

A handicap once defined the measurement of an agricultural field, and was a contraction of "a furrow long"; today it is rarely used except in racing, where it means 1/8th of a mile. In racing, a steward is a sort of "Supreme Court judge" and has nothing to do with the track dining room. A handicap in everyday usage is a drawback; in racing it's a lucrative and important race. In 1653 or thereabout, however, it was "hand i' cap" or "hand in cap" and referred to forfeits held in a cap by the umpire for a game or contest.

Terry Congratulates 4-H In Aiding State, Nation

Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr., congratulated Delaware's 3,000 members of 4-H clubs for their accomplishments during ceremonies marking National 4-H Club Week, Sept. 30 to Oct. 7. He stated that the 4-H program has contributed greatly to the welfare of the state and nation.

Delaware 4-H program is no longer a rural organization, organized for the sole benefit of rural youth, according to State 4-H Leader James O. Baker. Now, both rural and urban young people between nine and 19 participate in projects including home economics, agronomy, entomology, dog care, safety and leadership.

The Senior High Fellowship will attend the movie "The Bible" this Sunday at Cinema 141. Last Sunday, they visited St. Mark's Methodist Church Senior High MYF.

Daytime circles met this afternoon at the following homes: Esther, Mrs. James Alexander, Lois, at the home of Mrs. Donald Kane with Mrs. Elma Marshall, hostess; Dorcas, with Mrs. Harvey McLaughlin; Martha, with Mrs. Norman Hause. All members are to bring their garments for the Needlework Guild.

Ruth Circle met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Horace Lanan.

The last sewing for the Needlework Guild, with Mrs. Marvin Shakespeare in charge, will be held next Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the church fellowship hall. Each woman is to bring her own sewing equipment. The articles to be made have been cut by Mrs. Shakespeare, director for the Women's Association.

Beginning Tuesday and continuing for the next three Tuesdays, the Rev. William J. Evans will conduct a Christian Faith Forum.

Laymen's Sunday was observed last Sunday at both services with Malcolm E. Baird, principal of McKean High School discussing the theme "Christ's Ambassadors."

Those who participated in the services are Mrs. John C. Goyne, Mrs. Cornelius P. Zitter, John Shanks, Stirling Brinkman, Edward F. McGraw, and Samuel M. Arnold.

The Land Around Us... by Thompson

THE LARGEST APPETITE IN THE U.S., ACCORDING TO GOVERNMENT ESTIMATES, BELONGS TO A 17-TO 19-YEAR-OLD BOY! TO CHECK ON THE AMOUNT OF PESTICIDE CHEMICAL RESIDUES IN THE FOOD YOU EAT, THE FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION MAKES A "MARKET BASKET" STUDY BASED ON THIS FACT.

THE FDA PURCHASES IN RETAIL FOOD STORES, AS WOULD ANY CONSUMER, A DIET LIST OF 62 FOODS IN A QUANTITY SUFFICIENT TO SATISFY THE NATION'S LARGEST APPETITE FOR TWO WEEKS. THESE FOODS ARE ANALYZED TO DETERMINE THE INCIDENCE AND LEVELS OF PESTICIDE RESIDUES.

WHAT DID THE GOVERNMENT FIND? AMERICAN CONSUMERS OF ALL AGES MAY BE CONFIDENT THAT THEIR FOODS ARE FREE FROM HARMFUL AMOUNTS OF PESTICIDE RESIDUES. FDA'S TOLERANCE-SETTING AND ENFORCEMENT PROCEDURES, ANALYSES OF RAW AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS AS WELL AS TOTAL DIET SURVEYS SHOW THAT PESTICIDE RESIDUES ARE MUCH LOWER THAN THE AMOUNTS JUDGED TO BE SAFE BY FDA AND THE WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION.

They have five living children: M. Fred, Henry, Jr., of Hockessin; Mrs. Charles Bancroft of Wilmington; Mrs. Carl Roehm of Chatham, Pa.; and Mrs. John Kane of Sharpless Road; 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Troop 56 Scouts Presented Awards At Court Of Honor

A Court of Honor was held recently at the First Presbyterian Church before parents and Scouts of Troop 56.

Troop Committee Chairman Bob Pearson had the Moose patrol open the program with a medical skit, and Second Class badges were presented to Paul Bullock, Ricky Pott, Robby Sadot, and Wayne Wooster.

Scout John Ferron, who recently returned from Italy, showed color slides of that country.

First Class badges were awarded to Alfred Campbell, Glenn Catts, and Dave Newman.

Merit badges were presented by Asst. Scoutmaster R. Bruce Warren as follows: Rowing—Dave Newman; Canoeing—Chris Pearson; Wildlife Management—Bob Warren; Cooking—Joe Sadot, Jack Hitchens, and Alfred Campbell; Nature—Glenn Catts, Alfred Campbell, Jack Hitchens, Joe Sadot, Leslie Wickwire, Bill Dalton, Bob Wood, and Chris Pearson; Swimming—Ricky Pott, Jack Hitchens, Joe Sadot, Dave Newman and Bob Wood.

Scoutmaster Paul Catts gave John Ferron a badge for his scribe work and gave Glenn Catts a badge for his bugling.

Joe Sadot led closing ceremonies highlighted with Taps.

Soil Testing Lab Change In Liming Cited By Cotnoir

The soil testing laboratory at the University of Delaware changed the method of making liming recommendations to farmers on Oct. 16, according to Leo J. Cotnoir, Jr., agronomist at the university. These changes apply only to farmers. Recommendations for home gardens and lawns will remain unchanged.

All lime recommendations will be made in pounds of total oxide content of calcium oxide plus magnesium oxide instead of pounds of limestone.

Since state law requires that all liming materials have the total oxide content listed on the label, farmers now can easily determine the amount they need of whatever liming material they prefer.

The soil test report includes a table to use to calculate the amount needed for liming materials containing from 30 to 95 per cent total oxides.

Magnesium recommendations are given separately from those of lime. Cotnoir points out. An instruction sheet will be supplied with necessary information to calculate the amount of magnesium needed.

Scoutmaster Catts Leads Troop 56 At Weekend Camp

Troop 56 spent a recent weekend at Camp Rodney.

At a campfire with Patrol Leader Joe Sadot in charge, the boys told stories, sang, cheered and presented original skits.

On Sunday, Protestant church services were held under the trees around the outdoor chapel, and Catholic boys were taken into nearby North East for mass.

Dave Newman headed kitchen duties for all meals.

Scouts attending were Joe and Robby Sadot, Jack Hitchens, Dave and Paul Newman, Ricky Pott, Mike Dale, Glenn Catts, Joe Grib, Paul Bullock, Bill Dalton, and Wayne Wooster.

Adults were Scoutmaster Paul Catts, Asst. Scoutmaster R. Bruce Warren, and Troop Committeemen Bob Pearson, Ed Newman and Charles Eastman.

"Religion? How square!"

Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs.

Does that mean you have to?

Sure you're full of social protest. New ideas. Feelings about integrity and justice and today's values.

So is religion.

And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life.

Don't knock it. Join it.

Worship this week. And put your Faith to work.

Soil Judging Test For FFA, 4-Hers Set For UD Farm

The fifth annual state soil judging contest will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, at the University of Delaware Experiment Station Farm in Newark, for Future Farmers of America and 4-H club members.

The contest is planned to provide learning experience for young people interested in soil and water conservation. Contestants are required to decide whether land used for the contest is best suited for continuous row crop, rotation pasture, occasional plowing, permanent pasture, trees, or for wildlife and recreational use.

Contestants must consider such factors as soil depth, texture, structure and color. Overall soil features including drainage, moisture holding capacity and the possibility of erosion are also important.

A training session for those interested in entering the judging event will be held at 10 a.m. this Saturday at Marvin Klair's farm on Lime-stone Road. The training meeting is sponsored by New Castle County 4-H clubs.

The New Castle County soil and water conservation district will host the contest and Wilmer Aist, New Castle County soil conservationist, will be in charge of arrangements.

The competition is sponsored by the Delaware State Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Some 100 FFA and 4-H members from 12 to 18 years of age are expected to take part.

Young birds lack muscles any place above the throat, are unable to swallow, and must be forcibly fed by parents.

Miele To Address Meeting Of AAUW On Peace Corps

John Miele, coordinator for the Peace Corps Speakers Bureau for returned Peace Corps workers, will speak at the Oct. 23 meeting of the Newark branch, American Association of University Women.

Miele, holder of a Hawley Fellowship, is attending the University of Delaware for a master's degree in United States history.

He went to Thailand with the Peace Corps in 1964, and was appointed to the United States A.I.D. Commission in Laos in 1966.

Miele will speak on the Peace Corps view of Laos and Thailand at a meeting in the Student Center at 8 p.m. and the public is invited.

Delaware, the program is open to 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America members with beef projects.

Contestants will be judged for showmanship and preparation of animals for judging, according to Dr. George Morrow, extension livestock specialist at the University of Delaware.

Funeral Conducted For Cycle Victim Richard Taylor, 17

Funeral services for Richard Taylor, 17-year-old traffic accident victim, were conducted Thursday in the Chandler Funeral Home, Talleville, with interment in Grace-lawn Memorial Park.

Young Taylor, who lived at 18 Malvina Lane, Chestnut Hill Estates, was fatally hurt when the motorcycle he was driving and an auto collided at Harmony Road and Delaware 273, on Oct. 9.

The driver of the car, Norman B. Cate, 38, of the 500 block North Brownleaf Drive, Pilgrim Gardens, was released under $5,000 bail on a charge of manslaughter after waiving a hearing in Magistrate Court 11, New Castle.

The victim was a senior at H. Fletcher Brown Technical High School, where he was a back on the football squad. He had attended the Carrie Downie Elementary School on Frenchtown Road and George Read Junior High School on Basin Road.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, two brothers, Roland C. 23, and Kerry Allen, 19, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Martha Geraldine Presley, 22, Mill Creek Trailer Park and Deborah Elizabeth, 11, and April Lynn, nine, both at home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Goldie E. C. Graves, Flinton, Md., and his paternal grandfather, Wiley E. Taylor, Grassy Creek, N.C.

Fulbright Grants Headed By Zsoldos For UD Applicants

University of Delaware Fulbright scholarship advisor Laszlo Zsoldos has announced that the deadline for filling applications for Fulbright graduate study, research or professional training abroad in 1968-69 is Oct. 31.

Application forms and information for students may be obtained in Zsoldos' office, 105 Robinson Hall, at the University of Delaware.

Two types are available—U. S. Government full and travel grants. The awards available under the Fulbright-Hays Act and administered by the Institute of International Education, are intended to increase mutual understanding between people of the United States and other countries.

Candidates who wish to apply for Fulbright awards must be U. S. citizens, have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the beginning date of the grant, and in most cases, be proficient in the language of the host country.

A full award will provide tuition, maintenance for one academic year in one country; round-trip transportation; health and accident insurance, and incidental allowance.

Chicken Top Value Cited With Meat Prices At Markets

Nobody's making an excessive profit on broilers. The spread between price the poultry industry receives for live chickens, and price paid at the supermarket represents only a reasonable profit to those performing marketing services, but the poultry contractor may be losing money at current prices.

According to W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware, the difference between the 11 cents a pound received for live birds and the 29 cents a pound paid in the supermarket is easily explained.

In the first place, 11 cents a pound refers to live weight; over one quarter of the live weight is waste, so the ready-to-cook weight cost is 15 cents.

All the services performed by the processing plant from pick-up at the farm to delivery of ice-packed, ready-to-cook chicken at the wholesale market cost approximately 4.5 cents a pound. That broiler in the wholesale market is worth 21.5 cents a pound. Delivery to the retailer plus a normal mark-up of 30 per cent brings the final price up to 28 or 29 cents a pound.

Mrs. Anne Holberton, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Delaware, insists the one who is really making the biggest profit is the consumer.

"Chicken is far less expensive than other meats, especially if you compare the cost of meat actually edible."

For instance, if chuck roast sold at 59 cents a pound—a price much lower than now found in stores—it would actually cost $1.51 per pound of edible meat, discarding bone, fat and gristle.

Broilers at 29 cents a pound actually cost only 58 cents for a pound of edible meat.

According to Mrs. Holberton, broilers will continue to be a better buy since all other meats will stay high priced.

Luncheon Lectures Launched Tuesday For Senior Citizen

Local citizens over 60 were invited to attend the first in a series of luncheon lectures at the Newark Senior Center last Tuesday.

Participants in the luncheon programs may bring or buy a sandwich and dessert, but coffee will be available for everyone.

Opening the series at 11:45 a.m. on Oct. 17, was a slide talk "Our Trip Through England," by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Snyder, who toured English gardens and historical sites last spring and summer.

Subsequent programs include "The United Nations Today," by Dr. A. Lefroy Bennett, professor of political science at the University of Delaware, on Oct. 24; and a lecture-demonstration "Weather Witchery" by Miss G. A. McCormick of the Diamond State Telephone Co., on Oct. 31.

Plans for November include a current affairs discussion; a slide talk on Canada, and a food demonstration.

Information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Gertrude H. Johnson, executive director of the Newark Senior Center, 300 East Main Street.

Danish Gym Team To Appear At U.D. In Oct. 26, Show

The Danish gym team, a select group of 24 talented young men and women, will perform at the University of Delaware next Thursday.

Tickets for the show, a remarkable display of strength, grace, precision, and coordination, are on sale at the university recreation office and at the Student Center.

The current tour is the eighth by the Danish Gym Team since 1939, but the Oct. 26 performance will be the first on the Newark campus.

The performers, 12 boys and 12 girls, are trained from the most skillful gymnasts in Denmark.

Danish gymnastics are almost entirely team work. The girls' movements must be graceful and beautiful, the boys' more powerful and decided. Routine summer the resources of strength, nimbleness, and dexterity, and determination and courage.

Under the direction of Erik Flenssted-Jensen, this year's tour has 40 stops on the itinerary.

Tickets may be obtained by calling William Breslin, director of recreation at the university.

Here are 7 knotty problems facing the Air Force: can you help us solve one?

6. Space propulsion. As our space flights cover greater and greater distances, propulsion—more than anything else—will become the limiting factor. New fuels and new propulsion techniques must be found, if we are to keep on exploring the mysteries of space. And it may well be an Air Force scientist on his first assignment who makes the big breakthrough!

7. Pilot performance. Important tests must still be made to determine how the pilots of manned aerospacecraft will react to long periods away from the earth. Of course not every new Air Force officer becomes involved in research and development right away. But where the most exciting advances are taking place, young Air Force scientists, administrators, pilots, and engineers are on the scene.

Here are 7 knotty problems facing the Air Force: can you help us solve one?

1. Repairs in space. If something goes wrong with a vehicle in orbit, how can it be fixed? Answers must be found, if large-scale space operations are to become a reality. For this and other assignments Air Force scientists and engineers will be called on to answer in the next few years, we need the best brains available.

2. Lunar landing. The exact composition of the lunar surface, as well as structural and propulsion characteristics of the space vehicle, enter into this problem. Important study remains to be done—and, as an Air Force officer, you could be the one to do it!

3. Life-support biology. The filling of metabolic needs over very extended periods of time in space is one of the most fascinating subjects that Air Force scientists are investigating. The results promise to have vital ramifications for our life on earth, as well as in outer space.

4. Space orientation. The orbital problems of a spacecraft, including its ability to maneuver over selected points on the earth, are of vital importance to the military utilization of space. There are plenty of assignments for young Air Force physicists in this area.

5. Synergetic plane changing. The ability of a spacecraft to change altitude can also be crucial to space operations. Where but in the Air Force could Sc.B.'s get the chance to work on such fascinating projects right at the start of their careers?

6. Space propulsion. As our space flights cover greater and greater distances, propulsion—more than anything else—will become the limiting factor. New fuels and new propulsion techniques must be found, if we are to keep on exploring the mysteries of space. And it may well be an Air Force scientist on his first assignment who makes the big breakthrough!

7. Pilot performance. Important tests must still be made to determine how the pilots of manned aerospacecraft will react to long periods away from the earth. Of course not every new Air Force officer becomes involved in research and development right away. But where the most exciting advances are taking place, young Air Force scientists, administrators, pilots, and engineers are on the scene.

Houston-To-Spinks Pass, Stefanisko Kick Give Dixon Vikings 7-6 First Period Lead

Coach Sam Dixon's Vikings led powerful Brandywine 7-6 after the first quarter last Saturday afternoon in Christiana's new stadium, after End Randy Spinks took Quarterback Cliff Houston's pass for a six-yard touchdown, and Tackle Bob Stefanisko kicked the conversion.

But the Bulldogs, tied with William Penn for second in the Blue Hen Conference with records of 3-1, rolled for a pair of touchdowns in each of the second and third periods and won 33-13.

Dixon's Vikings scored a touchdown in the final quarter when Sophomore Halfback Mel Brooks drove for three yards into the visitors' end zone.

Quarterback Chip Lamborn led Brandywine's win with three touchdowns runs, and passed for a fourth.

Christiana faces the 1-3 Dynahs at P. S. du Pont this Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

And P. S. lost 48-19 to William Penn last week.

Spelling Houston at quarterback was Bob Hubbard; Neal Fairchild was a linebacker; and Glen Thompson, Fred Neal, and Brooks, the halfbacks.

Starting Fullback Shan Haddaway developed a charley horse in the first quarter, and Harold Resinger took over.

At ends with Spinks were Jerry McCarns, Don and Duane Deal, Bruce Ryser, Dan Shannon, and George Cavanaugh, while tackles included Dave Webster, Lee Moore, Bob Stefanisko, Andy Rash, Jerry Thorpe, Chuck Gruver, George Rawson and John White.

The guards were Verne Orndorf, who sprained a knee against Brandywine and will be lost to the Vikings for two weeks; George Maccariello, and Jesse Moore, while centers were Tom Hudson and Bill Sutton.

Kelley took two of Quarterback Glenn Davis' passes for 45 and 25-yard TDs; ran two yards for another; and provided two extra points by running for a conversion after his third touchdown on the 35-yard pass play.

Blue Chick Quarterback Bob Buckley ran 15-yards to score a touchdown himself, and passed for two more—an 11-yard scoring shot to Hall, and a 25-yarder with McGee on the record.

Billy's undefeated Bulls with wins over the Lehigh freshmen and Bulls, play the final two of a four-game season at home.

The Chicks meet the Temple varsity on Oct. 27, and close with Lafayette on Nov. 3.

A popular — well, "unpopular" would be more appropriate from an offshore troller's point of view — myth of our times is that the oceans of the world are teeming with fish.

According to the American Littoral Society, Highlands, N. J., nothing could be further from the truth.

The Atlantic, off the coasts of Delaware, North Carolina, and Florida, is the only ocean of our fishing experience.

But H. G. Young, one-time golf pro, Little All-American quarterback for little Washington College, and a free-wheeling sprinter whose one setback in the 100-meters occurred when he glanced back over a shoulder to check on Olympic Jesse Owens' position — will concur as a troling companion that "orchards" are few and far between in the ocean off Delaware and the Outer Banks.

Gibby probably lifted the line from Carolina Sage Jim Etheridge, but he has often said during dull dolldrums in living troling that "if you find apples, find an orchard." You don't find many apples walking cross-country — and you don't catch many fish in blind troling.

And J. Fred Mitchell, former All-State halfback for Wilmington High, a close to the ground basketball captain for Delaware; and according to Howard Cane and Brandy Davis, "the best shortstop Delaware ever had," will be hard to convince that there are any fish at all in the ocean off Delaware.

At Miami Beach after our trip to near Bimini with Cap'n and Mrs. Walter Reis.

But getting back to the American Littoral Society, Acting-President David Bulloch states that "the deep ocean is a desert. Only scattered oases of life occur where currents converge or an undersea mountain rises near the surface."

Mr. Bulloch continues with "The real abundance of sea fish is close to land, along the coasts and in the deep bays, and tidal waters of estuaries. Here they are vulnerable to all man's activities."

"Because we are not practicing conservation of estuaries, we will be faced with threats of serious depletion of fish resources if something isn't done soon."

President Bulloch was referring to accelerating pollution of coastal waters and to extreme physical damage to estuaries, shallow tidal lands, rivers, lagoons, bays and sounds along the coasts of our country.

Dick Kelley Scores 3 TDs As Chicks Beat Bulls 46-0

All-State halfback for Coach Bob Hoffman's undefeated Yellowjackets conference champions of last season, Dick Kelley scored three touchdowns for the Delaware freshmen last Friday as Coach Paul Billy's Blue Chicks walloped Bulls Prep 46-0 at Silver Spring, Md.

Kelley took two of Quarterback Glenn Davis' passes for 45 and 25-yard TDs; ran two yards for another; and provided two extra points by running for a conversion after his third touchdown on the 35-yard pass play.

Blue Chick Quarterback Bob Buckley ran 15-yards to score a touchdown himself, and passed for two more—an 11-yard scoring shot to Hall, and a 25-yarder with McGee on the record.

Hens Face Rutgers Problems At Easton Wisniewski Reports On Lafayette Squad

Delaware's football team, dealt its fourth straight loss by Rutgers last week, will have similar problems when it travels to Easton, Pa., to take on Lafayette this Saturday.

"Lafayette is basically the same type of club as Rutgers," says Delaware End Coach Jerry Wisniewski, who scouted the Leopards. "They run from a Pro-I formation, and have been impressive defensively."

Lafayette, playing under first-year coach Harry Gamble, lost to Hofstra and Harvard in its first two games, but rebounded for wins over Bucknell and Washington and Lee. "Lafayette ran the ball very well against Bucknell," Wisniewski notes, "and last week they showed an improving passing game against Washington and Lee."

The Leopards beat Bucknell 21-6 and handed Washington and Lee a 17-6 setback, limiting the Generals to minus yardage rushing. "Their defensive line has done a fine job in the last two games," Wisniewski says. "They have had several successful goal line stands and have kept the pressure on all the time."

Wisniewski is also impressed with the Leopards' linebackers. "Their linebackers are not big, but they hit and they have excellent speed and agility," Wisniewski notes.

The performance against Rutgers earned Linzenbold a spot on the weekly All-ECAC Division II squad and boosted his season totals to 58 completions in 114 attempts for 681 yards and three touchdowns.

The Hen quarterback is moving in on his own season record for completions (97) and should threaten the Delaware season records for passing yardage (1,191) and total offense (1,279)—both set by Tom Van Grofiski in 1965.

Rutgers pulled the game out despite Linzenbold's heroics, dropping the Blue Hens' season record to 0-4. Delaware has also lost to Rhode Island, Villanova and Hofstra this season.

"We have accumulated a great deal of yardage, but we have been unable to make the crucial play either offensively or defensively," Hen Coach Tubby Raymond said. "We have not been able to force the other team to make mistakes."

Raymond, who directed the Hens to a 6-3 record and the Middle Atlantic Conference championship last year in his first season as head coach, feels his team is improving.

"We are getting better," the Hen mentor notes. "This is a remarkable growth. They have continued to play well in the face of everything that has happened to us this year."

The Hen coaching staff has been pleased with the development of several newcomers. Left Halfback Tom DiMuzio, a converted quarterback, had his best day against Rutgers.

The 190-pound sophomore gained 53 yards rushing, completed a pass for 43 yards and caught five passes for 66 yards. He leads the Blue Hens in scoring with 26 points in the four games.

Senior John Miller, who played both ways against the Scarlet, an offensive fullback and a defensive end, is the team's leading rusher with 177 yards in 58 carries.

DiMuzio is second with 147 yards rushing. Sophomores spread end Bob Lieberworth and DiMuzio share the pass receiving leadership. Both players have pulled down 13 passes.

Tight End Jim Crabbs is the receiving yardage leader with 239 yards on 12 receptions.

Swann, Hayman Lead Conference In Scoring Race

Halfback Pedro Swann and End Gary Hayman of Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjackets champions, lead the Blue Hen Conference A-Flight in scoring with 47 and 41 points.

Sophomore Tailback Bob Zimmerman has scored seven touchdowns and five extra points, and Hayman, five TDs and 11 conversions.

Fran Johnson, 170-pound seacab with undefeated Bridgeville in the Henlopen Conference, is the state scoring leader with 19 touchdowns and four conversions for a total 100 points.

Swann is seventh in the state scoring race, and Hayman, 10th.

Mrs. Frank K. Scott Wins Newark Ladies Day Golf

Mrs. Frank K. Scott won Tuesday's golf event in the Ladies Day program at the Newark Country Club.

Mrs. Charles Smith won second place honors, and Mrs. Walter Ingram, third, Mrs. Robert Dutton reported.

Frank Linzenbold Named To All-East Grid Team

Delaware Quarterback Frank Linzenbold has been chosen on this week's Eastern College Athletic Conference Division II All-East football team.

Hamstring Stretch & Wicket

Bonnie Prudden has won nationwide acclaim for her work in alerting people of all ages to the need for physical fitness.

She is a consultant on physical fitness for Reader's Digest and the Director of the Institute for Physical Fitness as well as known lecturer, author, television and radio personality.

This series is designed to demonstrate an exercise curriculum which provides for a well rounded body conditioning. At the same time the series shown can be identified with the exercising benefits derived from the sport of bowling—the nation's most popular participating sport.

(In this segment Bonnie discusses the Hamstring Stretch and Wicket exercises. These exercises are achieved with the aid of a bowling ball.)

THE HAMSTRING STRETCH

Knelt with your legs well apart for balance. Place your left hand flat on the floor just under your chest. Thrust the ball through the space between your elbow and thigh. Follow the ball with your head and eyes as you push it through. You will feel the stretch in your back and waist. The pectoral muscles (these lie under the bust in girls and determine its shape and consistency in many cases after the first baby) will be strengthened and therefore curved. From the first position draw your head outward and upward allowing the ball to hang down from your thumb and fingers. This strengthens them and the wrist and arm as well. The lifted position stretches the pectorals as well as the moving arm as being strengthened and any flabby flesh is made firm. Do four to a side and work up to eight.

Exercise for the hamstring and pectoral muscles can also be aided while bowling. This occurs on the fourth step of the delivery. The left foot and right arm come through together in one simultaneous motion. The left knee is bent and the bowling arm comes through to lift the ball over the foul line.

Pedro Swann Scores 3 TDs, Extra Points As Yellowjackets Beat Dickinson 53-14

Halfback Pedro Swann ran for three touchdowns, passed to End George Toulson for another—kicked a pair of extra points and passed to End Gary Hayman for a third last Saturday afternoon as Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjacket champions romped over visiting Dickinson 53-14.

But Dickinson managed something that Newark's three prior opponents had been unable to do—Dickinson scored against the Yellowjacket defense, and even held a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Kraywicki drove into the Newark end zone from one yard out, and Stephenson kicked the extra point.

Fullback Tyrone Wood collected six points for Newark in the opening period with a one-yard smash, and the quarter ended with Dickinson leading 7-6.

In the second period, hte Yellowjacket power began to tell and Hoffman's champions moved into a 19-7 halftime lead.

Swann slipped over from the five, and passed to Toulson for an eight-yard touchdown play, and Hayman took Quarterback Bob Tucker's pass for an extra point.

In the third quarter, Tucker passed to Hayman for a 10-yard score, with Hayman taking Swann's pass for a PAT, and then Tucker hit End Keith Walker with a pass for a six-yard scoring play and a 32-7 lead as the fourth period began.

In the final quarter, Swann plunged for a one-yard touchdown; Wood sprinted 15-yards for another, and Swann drove a lone yard for the third. And Swann accounted for all three conversions, kicking the first two, and running for the third.

Dickinson invaded the Yellowjacket end zone for the second time this season when Dyal ran 10-yards to score late in the last period, and Stephenson's kick was good for the final 53-14 count.

Hoffman's undefeated Yellowjackets play the 2-1-1 Red Devils at Wilmington High School this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Wilmington tied Conrad 13-13 last Saturday, and Newark had stopped Conrad 40-0.

In action for Hoffman's champions against Dickinson in the Newark High School Stadium last week were Tucker and Mike Sirengari, quarterbacks; Dan Witteringer, and Bradley Lane, halfbacks; Co-Capt. Bill Fletcher, Wood, and Paul Watson, fullbacks.

Yellowjacket linemen in action were Ends Hayman, Walker, Keith Green, and Toulson; Tackles Gerry McCormick, Barry and Lee Hessel-tine, Larry Smith, Bob Dean, and Kenny Ferro; Co-Capt. Bob Russell, Tom McDonald, Ed Davis, Bill Murray, Wayne Lynch, Dave Knight, and Steve Stengari; guards; and Centers Tom Brannon, John Turner, and Ricky Walker.
