NEWARK POST, NEWARK, DEL., MARCH 22, 1916

NUMBER 9

Free Delivery By April First

Council Prepares to Number Houses

Postal delivery by the first of April, is the intention of Postmaster Levi K. Bowen, as stated by him in an interview yesterday. For several years Newark has been on the verge of this good fortune, but only this month has the promise of Uncle Sam made the service a certainty. The late W. Brown, during his administration, repeatedly made application for free delivery, and made special effort to bring the request up to the $10,000 mark required by the government. A short time before his death he reported at this office having fulfilled government requirements, which left the situation in the hands of Council.

Mr. Bowen, since his appointment, has taken up the matter with Council, who immediately engaged W. T. Wilson to make a map of the town, preparatory to numbering the houses. The map has been completed, and the actual work of numbering will begin at once.

The position of postman will be filled after a Civil Service examination. Nine large mail boxes will be placed at convenient intervals throughout the town, and two collections and two deliveries will be made daily. This service raises the postal rate to two cents for all Newark letters, unless the person to whom the mail is addressed uses a box rather than the free delivery service.

Pupils To Present

Shakespearean Play

Pupils of the High School will present the Shakespearean drama, "Midsummer Night's Dream," in honor of the Shakespearean tercentenary on Friday evening, April 8th. The play will be given under the direction of Miss Rich of the Women's College, assisted by Miss Ritz.

Collecting Supplies For

The English Soldiers

Work of collecting and shipping supplies to the English soldiers at the front, is being carried forward by the Order of Sons of St. George, of which there are a number of members in Newark. This organization has arranged for the construction of docks in New York from where there will be delivered ready for shipment to the front by the American Red Cross; ambulances fully supplied with mattresses, pillows, bandages, and whatever may be required to make their equipment complete. These will be reserved for the service of the Anglo-French allies, carrying to the English soldiers a message of good will from their friends and kinsfolk in the United States. Can you picture these vehicles in service at the front, carrying the skill of the American surgeon and the tenderness of the American nurse to the side of a mangled English lad. With this picture before your mental vision, will not each one help a little? Contributions, however small, will be received by Mrs. David Grime, Newark.

Student Infirmary Discussed

A committee composed of Eben B. Frazer, chairman; Hamilton M. Barksdale, John Biggs, F. C. Bancroft, and Lewis W. Mustard, has been named to find ways and means of converting the Stoll property, recently purchased by Delaware College into an infirmary for the student body. The recent cases of diphtheria have afforded a striking illustration of the advisability of such action.

Milk And Pie Social

A Pie and Milk Social will be held at Salem Church on Thursday evening, March 23rd. Cake, candy, and ice cream will be for sale.

FIRE AT YEATMAN'S Grist And Flour Mill Entirely Destroyed

The grist and saw mill at Yeatman station in the Newark and Pomeroy Railroad, an old landmark along White Clay Creek was totally destroyed by fire last Friday. The mill for the last five years has been operated by J. Sherman Dayett, formerly of Glasgow. Owing to the impassable roads, the Newark Fire Company was unable to go to Mr. Dayett's assistance. Individual members with the chemical, attempted to reach the scene, but succeeded only after all hope of saving the mill had been abandoned.

For a time it was feared the dwelling which adjoins the mill, would also go. The roof was on fire when the wind suddenly changed sweeping the flames away. The loss, about $10,000, is covered by insurance. It is believed the fire started from the office stove.

In trying to save the contents of the mill, Mr. Dayett was painfully burned about the face, and William Moody, a boy who lives with the Dayetts was burned about the hands. The capacity of the mill was thirty barrels of flour a day, and previous to the fire it was being operated to its capacity.

Bake For School

Garden Fund

A Bake to raise funds for necessary implements and general expenses connected with the class in School Gardening, will be held this Saturday in the Newark Opera House store building. The interest of the townspeople will be appreciated. The sale will begin at eleven and continue until five, in order that the people may purchase pies, and delicacies for their luncheon.

Chimney On Fire

The alarm sounded last Sunday morning when fire was discovered in the chimney of the house tenanted by Guthrie Sullivan in that section of Cleveland avenue popularly known as Homeopathic Row. The chimney was choked with soot, which formed a dangerous lodging place for sparks. The Aetna Company took the situation in hand. By the use of the chemicals, the property escaped damage either from fire or water.

Reports Encouraging

Mr. J. W. Cooch who has been under treatment for the last month, at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, was operated on last Monday. Reports from the hospital today state that the patient is doing nicely.

Poisoned From Eating Fish

Mrs. James Spiers, of the College Farm, was poisoned one day this week from eating fish. Mrs. Spiers, before her marriage was a trained nurse, and fortunately knew the exact remedy to apply. Had she not immediately taken medicine to react upon the poison, the physician when summoned declared, the experience might have proved fatal.

Dr. Steel Buys Property

Another interesting real estate announcement was made yesterday afternoon when the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Co. added another property to its development of the Malone lands, in selling 100 feet front on Amstel avenue, facing H. L. Bonham, to Dr. Walt H. Steel. It is understood that a handsome residence will be erected during the coming season.

The Malone property under the care of the local bank is fast becoming the select residence district in the town. With the recent college acquisitions, the town moves gradually toward the art center—The Post.

COVERDALE RESTAURANT NEARS COMPLETION

PLAN TO OPEN IN APRIL

Nothing less than the most attractive, the most modern, and the most sanitary restaurant between Philadelphia and Baltimore, is the ideal of the manager of the new restaurant being built on Main opposite Choate street, Newark. Mr. Coverdale announced yesterday that he expects to open the establishment to the general public by April tenth. The residence adjoining the place of business will be occupied this coming week.

The new restaurant is in the property recently purchased from the Singles estate by D. C. Rose. Mr. Rose put the property in the hands of G. W. Griffin, architect, who has given a striking illustration of what can be accomplished with an old building. The residence section of the building formerly tenanted by Robert Reed and family has been enlarged and completely transformed. The restaurant proper is 27 feet wide and 56 feet long, with large plate glass windows across the entire front. The room will be finished in pure white, the floor being of terrazzo, with the walls wainscoting high of marble, and from the wainscoting to the ceiling metal, in panel effect. The ceiling is a metal block, of unusual attractiveness.

Mr. Coverdale has taken into consideration the many tourists who pass through Newark in summer time, on motor trips, and has made special plans for their comfort and convenience. There are lavatories on the first floor, a ladies' rest room, furnished with couch and rockers, with a complete bath adjoining, and similar conveniences for the men on the second floor. In addition to this service for temporary guests, provision has been made to take care of those motorists who find it convenient to break their journey at this point and spend a night in Newark. For this purpose eleven light airy bedrooms, comfortably furnished, are open to the public. The building is heated by hot water, and equipped with attractive electrical fixtures. A balcony canvas-covered, and noise proof, overlooks Main street.

The restaurant will be furnished with refreshment tables of onyx and glass, and oak lunch tables. The management is planning to give service that will appeal to the most fastidious. Community silver, and dainty china form a part of the general equipment.

But perhaps, more than anything else, the sanitary features, have received the most careful attention. The plumbing is the most approved; the refrigerator, in a tude in Walden:

room just off the kitchen, is the last word of its kind, and the pantry has been planned from the standpoint of sanitation and efficiency. The kitchen is equipped with a double Majestic range. All of these rooms will be open at any time for the inspection of guests.

In addition to the restaurant proper, Mr. Coverdale will conduct "The Sweet Shop." The Candy Kitchen, finished in pure white, is just off the main restaurant. Here will be manufactured, fresh daily, high grade candies, which will be sold at manufacturer's prices. A fine new Lippincott soda fountain has also been purchased to complete this end of the business.

Mr. Coverdale promises to furnish the kind of service that Newark and the transient public demands, and should win the loyal support of the townspeople. His effort to attract strangers to the town suggests genuine service to the entire community.

Delaware Boy Succeeds In The West

Word comes from Butte, Montana, of the successful work of Rev. J. H. Mitchell, pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church of that city. Mr. Mitchell graduated from Delaware College in 1903. His first pastorate was at Ebenezer, above Newark. From there Mr. Mitchell was sent by the M. E. Conference to Newport, Delaware. After a short period of service in this place Mr. Mitchell accepted the pastorate of the Iliff M. E. Church, of Salt Lake City. The church was heavily burdened with debt, and it fell to the new minister to raise the indebtedness or face the loss of that important church in the Mormon City. It was a long siege of hard work, but Mr. Mitchell stayed until every dollar was paid. At the end of eighteen months he was offered the superintendency of all the mission work in Utah, a position which he declined, however, preferring to continue his work as pastor. Instead he was sent to the Grace M. E. Church, Montana. Here again, money-raising is a factor in one's success, for there is an embarrassing debt of long standing on the church. Announcement has recently been made that every cent will be paid by May 14, 1916.

Mr. Mitchell has now under consideration an offer to become financial secretary of a new hospital in Butte, which is out for a campaign for $150,000. Last August when he had been in the State only a year the Yellowstone District of the Montana Conference became vacant, and Mr. Mitchell was asked to take the supervision of that large field of real pioneer work.

Mr. Mitchell adds to his pastoral duties the direction of a large Men's Club, which is making its influence felt throughout the civic life of Butte.

Parent-Teachers' Meeting

The Newark Parent-Teachers' Association will meet in the grammar school, Thursday afternoon, March 30th, at 3.15 o'clock. Dr. Mitchell will talk on "The Gary System." Special music.

New Residence To Be Erected

George E. Knauss has purchased a lot on Welsh Lane, adjoining the Red Men's Home, where he expects to build in the near future. Mr. Knauss is from near New Castle.

Newark Representative At Conference

Edward Herbener, well-known photographer of Newark, is attending the meeting of the Photographers' Association of the Middle Atlantic States, being held at the Hotel Willard, Washington, this week.

Big Preparation For Delaware Commencement

A joint committee representing the trustees, the Alumni and the faculty of Delaware College, has been named to arrange in detail the program for the 1916 commencement. The members are H. Rodney Sharpe, chairman; Egmont Horn, Thomas Davis, and W. O. Syphard. Since the cornerstone of the new building will be laid at commencement, the exercises promise to be of unusual interest.

The address before the Y. M. C. A. held on Sunday morning of Commencement week, will be made by Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington; Bishop Kinsman will deliver the baccalaureate sermon, and Hon. John Bassett Moore, of Columbia University, the address on Commencement day. Many alumni are expected to assemble in honor of the historical occasion, marking the beginning of the development of the new campus of Delaware College.

Inspection At The Armory Tonight

About ten recruits have been added to Company E during the last month. The men will report at the Armory this evening for the annual inspection. Lieutenant Dillon is the officer inspecting the Delaware militia this season. Companies all over the State have been working hard to make their rating an excellent one.

CREDIT FOR WORK IN SUMMER SCHOOL

To Be Granted At Both Colleges

The Summer Session at Delaware College promises to appeal this season, to a wider circle of students than ever before, owing to the announcement that credit at either Delaware College or the Women's College will be granted for the completion of certain courses. The amount of credit in each case will be determined by the head of the department in which the subject is given. The courses in which credit will be granted are the following: Child Study; Art and Teaching of English Composition; Shakespeare; English History; International Relations; Geometry; Plane Trigonometry; and probably the courses in Education given by Professor Counts. By completing any of these courses satisfactorily, students who expect to enter either college may anticipate a part of their college work.

WEDDING

Brooks-Holcomb

Announcement is made of the marriage in Washington, D. C., today in St. Thomas' Church of Miss Dorothy G. Brooks, daughter of Lieut. and Mrs. Edward G. Brooks to Lieut. William Henry Holcomb, U. S. Army. The bride and her mother have lived in Washington for some years where they have taken a leading part in social life. Miss Brooks was born in Newark while her father was on detail at Delaware College—the second army officer to serve as commandant and professor of military science. Lieut. G. LeRoy Brown, now a retired colonel and detailed at the University of Arizona at Tucson, was the first one, and he is still gratefully remembered here.

COLLEGE Y. M. C. A. ABOUT COMPLETED

E. B. Frazer Heads Joint Committee

The old college library building, formerly the Watson Evans homestead, will within the next week, be thrown open to the student body of Delaware College, as a social center, under the management of the Y. M. C. A. of the college. The building, with comfortable lounging rooms on the first floor, and special rooms for the various student organizations, on the second floor, will provide a home feature, open to every man, whatever his race or creed. The building was formerly turned over to the Y. M. C. A. today.

Messrs. Griffin and Scott with their assistants have been working on the building for the last two weeks. The walls of the house from garret to cellar are covered with a soft shade of buff oatmeal paper; all the paints are white, enameled, resulting in a charming colonial effect. The beautiful old doorway, and the quaint carving on the frames of the windows show to an advantage never noticed when the rooms were crowded with bookshelves. Fireplaces with old-fashioned mantels are noticeable in three of the rooms. The building is lighted with nine indirect ceiling fixtures placed by Professor Koerber and student assistants. The entire first floor which has been relaid, stained and waxed, figures conspicuously in the general pleasing effect of the rooms.

Furnishings were being received yesterday and today, for the new building. These, the gift of an unknown friend of Delaware were selected by Mr. H. R. Sharpe, representing the trustees, and Mr. Day, the architect of Delaware College. The lounging rooms on the first floor will be in lumed oak, upholstered in leather. The large davenports and Morris chairs, in mission style, with backs of rattan, have already been placed. It is believed the building will be complete within a week. The committee of trustees in charge of the building is composed of Eben B. Frazer, chairman; Hamilton M. Barksdale, John Biggs, F. C. Bancroft, and Lewis W. Mustard.

Building Operations To Begin

G. W. Rhodes to Build New Drug Store

G. W. Rhodes, within the next few weeks, will begin building operations on the site of the double frame dwellings, recently tenanted by Miss Rachael Thompson and Mr. Colescott. Mr. Whittingham the architect in charge will have the plans ready for bids of contractors within a week.

The new building to be erected is to be of brick 31 x 60. The first floor is designed for a drug store, modern and up-to-date in every particular, and the second, as attractive living apartments. The store will have two entrances, with a large display window in the center. On the left side Mr. Rhodes has planned to place a series of salesman's fixtures, which will attractively display the various toilet articles and general stock of the store, in a compact way, that will occupy the least possible space. A cigar counter will be placed in the front, at the rear of the window. The right entrance leads to the soda fountain and confectionary department, on the right side of the store. Back of this will be placed the dispensing counters; across the back of the store the prescription department, with a special counter for the transaction of this business.

The second floor will include six attractive rooms and a bath. Across the front, running back, rather than extending over the street, there will be a balcony eight feet in width.

Owing to the recent ruling of Council, Mr. Rhodes will be unable to move the frame building located on the building lot. This was vacated last week, and will be razed in the near future. Mr. Rhodes hopes to be in his new store by the first of September.

Republicans Of Pencader To Meet

Answering the call of W. H. Evans, chairman, the Republicans of Pencader Hundred will hold a meeting on Friday evening of this week at Glasgow. The object of the meeting will be the selection of delegates to the State Convention for primary approval on April 8th. The Convention will be held on April 11th.

Also the choice of a new Hundred Committee will be made and preliminary plans for the coming campaign.

OBITUARY

Theodore Ruth

Theodore Ruth, aged 69 years, died at his home in Wilmington, on Sunday, March 19. Funeral services will be held from the late residence, 722 King street on Thursday, Interment, White Clay Creek Cemetery.

Dennis McGonigal

The body of Dennis McGonigal, aged 18 years, was brought to Newark for interment in St. John's Cemetery last Monday. Until a few years ago the boy made his home in Newark, where he attended the public schools. Many young friends remember him.

The boy died after a mysterious illness of only six hours. As a result of the inexplicable cause of his death, the stomach was sent to the State Board of Health laboratory, Newark, for analysis. No report has as yet been made.

The deceased was in apparently usual health on Saturday night at six o'clock. He went out early in the evening, returning about nine, complaining of feeling unwell. Later in the night he became violently ill, and physicians were summoned. In spite of all they could do for him the boy expired about three o'clock.

A post mortem examination showed that the boy's lungs were congested, but whether death was due to pneumonia could not be determined.

A mother, two brothers, James and William McGonigal, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Null, of Wilmington, survive.

HOW ONE TOWN HAS SOLVED THE RURAL SCHOOL PROBLEM

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF A TOWN OF ONE THOUSAND INHABITANTS

What can be accomplished by confidence and co-operation, in an ordinary school district is the subject of an inspiring article in a recent number of the Popular Educator. The school described has been built after a campaign of three years, in Eatonville, Washington, a town of one thousand inhabitants.

In July 1915, the residents of Eatonville, celebrated the laying of the cornerstone of a new 45,000 dollar high school building. Nothing unusual, in these days of modern school buildings, perhaps; but the school equipment has been estimated by agents of publishing houses, by its own directors, and by the county Superintendent of Schools of Pierce County, Washington, to be the finest in the United States, irrespective of the size or wealth of the community. "This," the writer declares, "is a startling statement."

Country schools all over the United States are introducing vocational education, social service, community centers and similar ideas, and a town which can lead them all surely must have enormous wealth.

The surprising facts about the school development of this town are that so much has been done in so short a time, in so small a town. Eatonville itself has a population of about one thousand; the school district is a large one, including three townships; transportation is furnished outside the two-mile limit, and several private cars carry pupils over five miles to this school. The district is principally timber; one large saw mill furnishes the industry of Eatonville, besides, of course, a number of farms, mostly on newly logged off land.

Two years ago last spring, Eatonville had an average country school system employing eight teachers. There was no such thing as domestic science, manual training or agriculture, although these subjects are required in the State of Washington. There was no accredited high school. The school system was held back by conservative directors. Following an election of an enterprising member of the board, a principal with push was secured, and immediately had the first two years of high school accredited.

From that time, things happened rapidly. Ten thousand dollars was voted for a fireproof gymnasium, which cost twenty thousand dollars before it was completed, but this was all done without a bond issue. This gymnasium was finished in January, 1914. It is built of hollow tile, with tin roof, hard maple floors, best of plumbing. It contains an auditorium with balcony and twenty lap running track. A prominent feature, especially for a country district, is the swimming tank, eighteen by fifty feet; with shower baths and dressing rooms also. Certain evenings each week the gymnasium is turned over to the public; the swimming tank is public and the children have a regular schedule during school hours for exercise swimming and shower baths. The Eatonville Lumber Company Ball Team uses the school diamond and has the use of the gymnasium.

In the fall of 1914 two more teachers were added and courses were offered in manual training, domestic science, and agriculture. It is a peculiar fact that in a large number of rural schools, agriculture is somewhat taken for granted. Pupils are expected to absorb enough of it from home surroundings, without much more than a little text-book instruction in school. Here, however, were ideal conditions for teaching real live agriculture. The school grounds cover fourteen acres, two of which has been cleared, and one acre fenced. Streets had been surveyed through this tract, but by giving a different right of way along one side, these were all vacated and eight acres were fenced and five more cleared and plowed. With seven acres as a background, agriculture began in real earnest—agriculture which is being learned not only by school children, but by their parents and any one in the district who will learn. Eatonville must hope to be a strong agricultural center when the timber begins to fail, and the foundation for years to come is being laid by the methods employed on these fourteen acres.

As a beginning in practical agriculture, then, three pens of pure bred poultry were obtained from the State Agricultural Experiment Station, and were kept on the school grounds and cared for by the class in agriculture. This created a great deal of interest among the pupils, who kept records of feed and of egg production. Good results were obtained, and the immediate and direct benefit to the community has been more good poultry in Eatonville this year than in many years before.

The class in agriculture also purchased six pigs, paying three dollars each for them and buying all feed at retail. These were also cared for on the school farm, and accurate records kept, showing feeding, expenses and increase in weight each week. Prizes of five, three and two dollars were offered by a citizen to the boys doing best and having the best feeding and expense records. The boys cleared from eighty cents to three dollars per pig, above all expenses. When the pigs were six months old, the class, aided by the principal and the mayor of the town, had a butchering day. As a result these boys know just what it costs to raise a pound of pork, and as a result to the community, the parents are gaining confidence in the schools. One man who saw his boy's record decided that his son knew more about raising pigs than he did, and turned his pigs over to the boy to fatten.

Besides these experiments in managing live stock, there were over two hundred experiments in grain, grasses, and various crops carried on by the class in agriculture. The best breeds of live stock, the best crops to suit local conditions, will be determined by these experiments and by visits to successful farms nearby.

The other vocational branches are equally up-to-date and successful. There is a modern, well-equipped manual training shop and a kitchen where common sense domestic science is taught. There is a model canning outfit at the school, of a steam pressure system recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. Here is taught the method of saving what are ordinarily waste products on the farm.

January, 1915, a special election of the district was held to vote on issuing bonds for forty-five thousand dollars for a fireproof high school building. The bonds were carried by a vote of five to one. These bonds were purchased by the State, with ten years' time.

This is to be a tile structure, faced with tapestry brick; 100 by 125 feet, two-story and basement. It will have the very best of heating, plumbing and equipment. In its plan it illustrates again the co-operation of school and community, not occasionally, but for all time. There will be an assembly hall, open to all kinds of community entertainments; a moving picture machine and curtain, where educational films are to be exhibited. In one room a public library will be housed, with reading-room for books, magazines and papers. In the basement there is to be a game room and adjoining it, a community bowling alley. With all this equipment, there is little to be criticised in the Eatonville School district. The schools cared for about 275 children, with 64 of these in the high school, last year, and a larger enrollment expected for the present year.

The clerk of the school board in commenting on how all this has been accomplished says, "I would state again that the success or failure of the school plant depends upon the co-operation of parents, directors, and superintendents or principals."

The Growing Of

Hairy Vetch

While there are good many kinds of vetch, only two are commonly grown in this part of the United States. One of them is the common vetch, or spring vetch, that does not withstand Delaware winters. The other is hairy vetch, sometimes called winter vetch, but known specifically as Vicia villosa, and, therefore, sometimes called villous vetch, which means exactly the same thing as hairy vetch. Hairy vetch succeeds especially well on sandy soils, but can be grown on any well drained land. It is remarkably drought resistant. The seeds of hairy vetch are only about half as large as those of common vetch, and it is rare that more than 20 or 30 pounds to the acre beauty, and so, having fulfilled its small grain to make a thin stand

Uses of the Crop

Hairy vetch is adapted to nearly as wide a range of use as red clover, and in regions where red clover for any reason does not succeed it is the best substitute. It makes excellent hay, though it is rather difficult to mow. It furnishes pasturage of high quality and may be grazed somewhat in the spring without materially reducing the hay crop. When planted in the spring it will permit a large amount of grazing the first season and a full hay crop the next. As a winter cover crop it gives satisfaction if sown early, but it makes a slower growth in cold weather than common vetch.

Proposed School Tax Change

Prominent residents of Kent and Sussex counties met the State Board of Education at a meeting held in Milford last Wednesday where proposed changes in school laws were discussed and Governor Miller, Director Hayward of the Delaware Experiment Station and Col. Theodore Townsend made addresses. Resolutions were adopted endorsing a proposed change basing school taxes on the assessed value of property like other taxes and not on the rental value as is now done; also to take the direction of counting schools out of the control of the district of the County or State Board, thus making education uniform throughout the State and not subject to local conditions and the views of local boards.

Beaten and Stripped by Thugs

William McShea, 55 years old, of Augustine, was attacked by highwaymen on Lovering avenue, Wilmington, near the B. & O. R. R. bridge last Monday night and

The Levy Court has appointed former Senator L. Heister Hall, Charles H. Grantland by Wilmington Council and Charles H. Ten Weeges by Governor Miller as a Commission for four years at salaries of $300 a year each to take charge of the new City Hall and Court House when the Building Commission returns. The Commission will appoint the superintendent of the buildings and all the employees needed about the building.

New Powder Plant Enlarging

The plant of the Ball Grain Explosives Company at Granogue, near Wilmington is undergoing enlargement with several new buildings under construction. Blasting powder has been made in small quantities and other varieties are now produced and fuses are loaded for war purposes. Forty extra carpenters are employed at the plant. Ernest duPont, a brother of Francis I. duPont, formerly a director of the duPont Powder Company, is at the head of the new concern.

INFIRMARY FOR THE COLLEGE

Delaware College for years has held the blue ribbon for Health. And still holds it. The recent attempt of Diphtheria to break the record was defeated by the "on-the-job-and-quick" tactics of Doctors Kollock and Watson. We are not using medical terms, relating to precaution, but we mean that only by their quick, drastic action was an epidemic prevented. Enough praise for them, the point we want to make is the need of the Infirmary. The suggestion made by President Mitchell should not be a subject of discussion but of action. Such an institution might be needed any day. Another time, our physicians might not be able to cope with the situation with present equipment. The college owns the building adaptable to such an institution. Equipment is all that is needed. A strong statement given out to the public would bring the answer. The absence of a well equipped Infirmary at Delaware today is due to the fact that it is needed not on account of health conditions but as precaution and guarantee.

LEST YOU'RE NOT TOLD

Without detracting one single bit of glory from the present post office department at Washington with its efficient management of rural routes, etc., let us be fair. The reports state that through Senator Saulsbury the Free Delivery for Newark had been at last made possible.

The receipt requirements were made during the late Mr. Brown's term of office. He requested the Council and town to map the town and meet other regulations. It wasn't done. Why is an interesting problem. The best solution was given us by a prominent Democrat. He laughingly told us that it was held off until a change was made in the local administration and asked what were we going to do about it.

Our reply was and is, Nothing; it is only another example of Democratic service a la Saulsbury.

Building Commission Named

The Public Building Commission which is to have supervision over the new city hall and county court house when the new twin building at Tenth and Market, Wilmington, is to be occupied, was completed last Friday when the governor appointed Charles H. Ten Weeges, a Democrat, as the third member of the Commission. The Levy Court had elected Dr. L. H. Ball as the County's representative on the Commission, and the City Council had elected Charles H. Grantland as the city's representative. Under the provisions of the law the governor named the third member, and in view of the fact that the other two were Republicans he selected a Democrat.

Little Stories of the Open

A SPRING BOUQUET

Does the call of the bluebird fill your soul with the "wanderlust"? Does it make you welcome the March winds that drive the mud away? Does it make you eager for the first bouquet which you can wrest from the woods? Spring above all other seasons seems to register itself in the blood. Every saucy robin dares us to venture forth from our townbound seclusion, and explore the woods. And we are wild to accept the saucy fellow's challenge for well we know that it leads to the purest delight, and the most care-free realm known.

On one such day a year ago, when March, with all her whimsical variableness, had sandwiched in a genuine spring day, I started forth in quest of the first woodland flowers. The bird calls filled me with hopefulness but the boughs, bare and forbidding, drove it, as quickly, away.

I chose a winding road, with a brook, uncertain of its course, bounding on at reckless rate, crossing and recrossing the way. Soon, indeed the road lay aside all pretension to the rank of thoroughfare, and settled comfortably into the business of guiding wanderers over the hills into the woods. Again the path crossed the brook. Now water rushed and dashed; the foam gleamed white against the moss-covered stones; a fragrance of balsam filled the air; I had come to the woods. Mingled with the spiciness of the pine was the indescribable fragrance from the leafy blanket that sheltered the flowers. Was there a world of fretting and care a few miles back of me? The silvery gray trunks of the trees, the soft browns of the earth argued "no"; instead there was a universe of restfulness.

I deserted the path now and wandered aimlessly on. Suddenly ahead of me there gleamed a patch of white. My flowers indeed! I was over the fence in an instant and clambering up the hillside. But the most perfect flowers, like the wild white rose, "grew just too high for me." With painstaking care I "hooked" the boughs and wrenched the tough branches from the limbs. Tinkling with all the delight of a victor I started for home.

Only one farm house lay between me and the arm chair which suddenly loomed comfortably before me. I had obtained my prize; I had relaxed my vigilance, when suddenly my eye caught sight of a tree, standing out in entrancing green, from all the bareness around it. A combination of grace and stateliness, it stood before me. The delicate shade of the young foliage was indescribable. On long pliable stems it grew, drooping like a willow, parting with each whim of the breeze, to show more plainly the velvet-like smoothness of the dark brown boughs.

I gathered a quantity of the delicate foliage, arranging a border for my fragrant flowers. Delighted, I held it before me! Never it seemed had florist achieved such a triumph. A great armload of springtime! It suggested the music from Lohengrin, the organ and the palms, the solemn stillness that precedes the coming of the bride. Could anything be more perfect for a bridal bouquet—the dainty wild blossom and the vigorous young pine; the joyous hope of youth, the strength of maturity. I could only bury my face in its fragrance, intoxicated by the freshness. It had filled the world with beauty, and so, having fulfilled its mission, after a brief season, might wither happily away.

School Problems Discussed

Dr. Wagner, State Commissioner of Education, in a recent address delivered at Middletown, discussed the "Needs of Delaware Schools." The speaker cited conditions in many schools he has visited, and said in no two can be found the same courses or the same books. He referred to an instance in the Laurel schools where seven pupils came into the town district from the outlying country districts, all in the same grade and all seven using different books. He flayed the commissioners in some of the rural districts on account of the favoritism shown teachers, and on the unsanitary conditions found, and spoke at length of a bill he had prepared to be presented to the next session of the State Legislature, which, if passed, will completely revolutionize the present antiquated system, and make one standard of instruction and of books to be used. The bill also carries with it a provision to entirely change the system of management of the schools, taking the management away from the present local commissioners and placing it in the hands of a State commission. He also dwelt at length upon the present unequal system of taxation for school purposes, and urged a general reform.

Rescue Came in Time

Nine hands at Carney's Point and the operator of the 40 foot naptha launch Hyacinth were more or less frozen and nearly drowned while crossing the river to Wilmington after midnight on Friday. A floating ice cake stove a hole in the bow and the launch filled. Luckily the steamship bound up the river passed and the Captain seeing the saturation sent a boat to the rescue of the imperiled powder workers.

Beaten With an Axe Handle

Minos Trill and J. N. Lynch quarreled in a store in Dagsboro, one night last week over the right of the latter to drive stakes in fields on his farm through which people had been driving during recent snows. Trills team had been nearly overturned by the stakes at night. He took Lynch to task and on the latter's replying, it is said, struck him several blows with an axe handle from which he is recovering.

General Service Board Pleads For Co-operation

The General Service Board of Delaware, organized by a committee of which Charles Warner is chairman and Miss Jeanette Eckman, secretary, has recently issued an interesting circular relative to their work. The principle of co-operation is heralded in every sentence of the bulletin. Pertinent paragraphs follow: "There is no reason why Americanizing the alien, developing the public schools, securing good food markets, sufficient hospital accommodation and many other advantages, to the people as a whole should not be promoted on a co-operative plan so that everybody can take a hand at one time and get the thing done and done well. "To promote the co-operative method of work by helping to make the plans through which it can be carried out is one of the purposes of the General Service Board now being organized in this State. As a bureau of study, investigation and information, and also as an active agent for efficient and concerted work on a few vital things at a time, this board can be appealed to both by individuals and organizations for help with their special problems. "Delaware is a small State and all our civic and welfare agencies have need to 'club together' to get results. The individual citizens who become subscribing members of the General Service Board have an opportunity to establish a co-operative movement for State and city development on sound governmental lines, with fewer and better digested laws, and adequate care for dependent classes. "How this shall be done will be

Society Succeeded By Congressional Union

At a meeting held in New Castle last week, members of the New Castle Equal Suffrage Association, a branch of the National Equal Suffrage Association, decided to dissolve that organization and ally themselves with the Congressional Union. The members have taken this action on the same ground that the Women's Political Union of New York withdrew from the national association and united with the congressional Union. Nearly all the members of the New Castle organization were members of the Congressional Union, so that it appeared unwise to continue the two organizations. The Congressional Union is believed to be more of a State body; it conducts its activities in Delaware for the good of Delaware.

How He Would Fight

A news item from Hackensack, N. J., relates of a German-born resident of Little Ferry, N. J., the following story:

The man appeared before Judge William M. Seufert and a federal attorney in court, asking for citizenship papers.

"In case of war between the United States and Germany or Austria, what would you do?" asked the Federal attorney.

"I'd fight, of course," was the reply.

"How would you fight?"

"Like 'ell!" said the applicant.

The audience was convulsed.

At Judge Seufert told him he could first learn to have respect for the court, and postponed the granting of his papers until June.

Thoreau In The Night

Thoreau describes as follows his homeward walk to his solitary cabin. "It is very pleasant, when I am late in town, to launch myself into the night, especially if it is dark and tempestuous, and sail from some bright village or lecture room, with a bag of food or Indian meal upon my shoulder, for my snug harbor in the woods, having made all tight about and withdrawn under a tree with a merry crew of thoughts, leaving only my outer coat at the helm, or even tying up the helm when it was plain sail. I had many a genial thought the cabin fire 'as I sailed.' * * * was darker in the woods, even common nights, than most sup-at the opening between the trees above the path in order to learn my route, and, where there was no cart-path, to feel with my feet the faint track which I had worn, or steer by the known relation of particular trees which I felt with my hands, passing between two pines for instance, not more than eighteen inches apart, in the midst of the woods, invariably in the darkest night. Sometimes, after coming home thus late in a dark and muggy night, when my feet felt the path which my eyes could not see, dreaming and absent-minded all the way, until I was aroused by having to raise my hand to lift the latch, I have not been able to recall a single step of my walk."

Driven From Bed by Flames

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the dwelling on the farm of Denny Lafferty, on the outskirts of Dover, early on Saturday morning. Mr. Lafferty and his sister who occupied the house barely escaped with their lives in scanty clothing. The loss is put at $2,000.

Y. W. C. A.'s New Home

Directors of the Y. W. C. A. of Wilmington have announced that an option has been offered on the Albert Smith property at the southwest corner of Seventh and Washington streets, as a site for its proposed new home. One of the directors has also offered to pay the salary of an extension secretary for a year. A campaign for funds for a new building will be started the last week in April or the first week in May.

Newark In Humane Society

At the annual meeting of the Delaware Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held in Wilmington last week, Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell and Harlow H. Curtis of this town were elected vice-presidents for New Castle county, and Mr. Curtis was elected to the board of managers. In the list of members of this society which has been doing much excellent work in the State since 1837 appear these Newark names: Mrs. Harriet L. Curtis and Harlow H. Curtis, life members; and Mrs. James McKelvey and Alfred A. Curtis, annual members. Complaints of cruelty to animals made to any member of the society will be investigated and in flagrant cases prosecutions of those guilty will follow.

New Century Club News

The New Century Club last Monday met at the Women's College, Dean Robinson furnishing the program for the afternoon. Following a discussion of problems relative to the new building, it was announced that the entertainment scheduled by Mrs. H. R. Tyson a few weeks ago has been postponed owing to the Shakspearean festival to be held by Delaware College the same week. The new date will be announced later. Collectors were requested to make calendar club returns by Mrs. Blake for March at the next meeting. The collections by this club for January amounted to $74.85, and for February, $41.10.

Miss Robinson discussed Community Music. The possibilities in her suggestions were illustrated by chorus singing of the old songs Juanita, Jingle Bells, and Auld Lang Syne. The meeting closed with a general discussion in which many of the members participated.

The Panama-Pacific Judges awarded the Highest Honor and Gold Medal to Hoosier because of its Superior Construction and Unrivalled Convenience.

Hoosier's Shaker Flour Sifter makes flour fluffy and light, works faster than most sifters; avoids grit or broken wire; can't wear out.

Hoosier's Double-Acting Sugar Bin is the only bin from which sugar can be taken with equal ease from top or bottom. It has three times the capacity of most bins.

These are only two of the many prize-winning features. Come see them demonstrated at our store tomorrow. The demonstration will close on Wednesday, March 29.

SPRING NINETEEN SIXTEEN

Announcing the Opening Display of America's Most Distinguished Line of CUSTOM TAILOR FABRICS

SUPPOSE you could hire a corps of famous woolen experts to visit every great woolen mill in the world—solely for the purpose of picking the cloth for your new Spring Suit. Suppose these experts finally came to you and said, "Our work is done. We have looked at more than a hundred thousand different cloth designs. We have picked and culled and chosen until we have sifted the whole world's woolen output down to 3000 we think are best. But we can go no further. For each of these 3000 samples is so superb, so super-fine, so distinctive that we cannot make a choice between them. Now the selection is up to you."

That is precisely what I have been doing for the past six months. From the output of looms all over the world, I have sifted, sorted and culled the 3000 finest fabrics for your Spring choice. NOW this collection of worsted peers—the cream of the fabric universe—is on exhibit at my store for your inspection and approval.
