Summer School Opens With Large Enrollment

ENTHUSIASM MARKS THE SESSIONS

The Summer Girl has taken possession of Old Delaware. Not, however, the frivolous creature of story book fame, but a more serious minded sister, whose ambition is culture and self-improvement. Early Monday morning wagon-loads of trunks began to rumble over the streets, soon to be followed by crowds of happy, chattering girls, intent upon finding comfortable boarding houses and ordering their affairs for the work of the coming session. By four o'clock Monday one hundred fifty pupils had enrolled in the various courses offered in the Summer School, an increase of 13 over the enrollment for the first day last year. Of this number 132 are women and 18 men. Five are from Wilmington, 44 from rural New Castle; 24 from Kent; 58 from Sussex; 17 from Maryland and 2 from Pennsylvania. This morning the enrollment had reached 165.

A number of popular features not included in the plan last year, have become a part of this summer session. A school of observation, under the direction of Miss Moore of Houston, Delaware, is being conducted in the room of the First Grade, Newark Public School. Thirty-six pupils, chosen from the school-children of Newark, are enrolled in grades ranging from one to seven. The beginners and first and second grade pupils are dismissed at noon each day. The older pupils return until three in the afternoon. The purpose of the school is to demonstrate methods of instruction practicable in most rural districts. The teaching is under the direction of the instructors in management and methods. Summer School students have been assigned the work done in the school. A second innovation is the work under Physical Director McAvoy. Mr. McAvoy gives methods and exercises to be used during rest periods in the school-room.

Dr. Samuel Chiles Mitchell, the new president of Delaware College; Dr. George A. Harter, former president and Dr. Charles A. Wagner, State Commissioner of Education, who is dean in the work, are taking an active part in the Summer School.

On Tuesday evening an informal reception was given in the Oratory for the students of the Summer School.

The faculty of the Summer School is as follows:
George A. Harter, Ph. D., Director; Charles A. Wagner, Ph. D., State Commissioner of Education; Dean: W. Owen Sypherd, Ph. D., English; Geo. E. Dutton, M. A., English; Clarence A. Short, M. S., Mathematics; Howard K. Preston, C. E., Mathematics; Willard S. Campbell, Ph. D. (West Philadelphia High School), Geography and Nature Study; J. Linwood Eisenberg, Ph. D. (West Chester State Normal School), School Management; Miss Hulda Brust, of Frederick, Md., Elementary Methods; Raymond C. Reed, Ph. D., D. V. M., Physiology and Hygiene; Earnest V. Vaughn, Ph. D., History and Civics; F. B. Hills, M. S., Agriculture; Donald F. Davis (Director of Art and Industrial Training, Wilmington), Drawing; Edward Laurence Smith, M. A., German and French; G. A. Koerber, E. E., Physics; Elisha Conover, M. A., Latin and Greek; Harold E. Tiffany, M. S., Chemistry; William J. MacAvoy, C. E., Physical Director; Miss Moore of Houston, Del., Conductor of School of Observation. Prof. Candell, who will be one of the teachers in the Women's College is instructor in Home Economics at the Summer School.

The students who enrolled on Monday were as follows: Matilda Anderson, Harrington; Violet Anderson, Lincoln City; Annabel Angstadt, Felton; Garner Anthony, Philadelphia, Pa.; Annie G. Arrants, North East, Md.; Effie Baker, Willards, Md.; Blanche Baker, Stockley; Helen S. Barkley, Elsmere; Nettie E. Benson, Laurel; Harriet G. Bethards, Berlin, Md.; Elizabeth Bigger, Wilmington; Maude E. Blackstone, Millsboro; Kathryn G. Bowen, Newark; Isadore A. Bradley, Porter; Helen L. Brown, Elkton, Md.; Marian Bullen, Christiana; Frances H. Buell, Milford; Pearl Cahill, Harrington; Raymond M. Cameron, North East; Mary K. Cameron, Felton; Emma M. Campbell, Marshallton; Ethel (continued on page 4)

Trade Excursion Through Newark

With a view to meeting and becoming better acquainted with the business people of nearby Maryland and Pennsylvania towns the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce will conduct an automobile trade extension excursion Thursday, July 9th. The route for the trip has been selected and the towns to be visited include the following: Marshallton, Newark, Elkton, North East, Bayview, Zion, Calvert Chrome, Barnsley, Oxford, Forestville, Jennersville, West Grove, Avondale, Tontitown and Kennett Square. General Secretary Sinclair of the Chamber of Commerce was here Wednesday making arrangements for the tour and stated that his organization expected the coming excursion to be the largest it had ever held. Fully 50 automobile loads of trade boosters are expected when the excursion comes here July 9th.

The Chamber of Commerce conducts several of these trade excursions each summer and they have proved an effective means of having the Wilmington merchants and business men meet the people of the towns they visit, and have in many instances, laid the foundations for business relations which proved profitable for both sections. The mayors and burgesses of all the towns to be visited will be notified of the excursion and asked to greet the visiting delegation informally. Following such an informal reception, short speeches will be made.

"If you can't get it at home, buy it in Wilmington," is the slogan that the members of the Chamber of Commerce have adopted for their campaign of trade extension, showing that while they are seeking to increase their own business they have no desire to do it at the expense of the town merchants. Judging from the advance plans, July 9th will be a red-letter day in the campaign to establish closer trade relations between Wilmington and nearby towns.

Twilight Services On The Campus

The Protestant congregations of the town will unite in holding twilight services on the College campus every Sunday evening during July. The custom has proved a popular one for the last two years. The services are in turn, in charge of ministers of the various denominations. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone. The service begins promptly at six-thirty o'clock.

Officers At Work On Armory Fund

LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS TO DATE

The last session of the Legislature upon the assurance of the representative from White Clay, that land would be purchased and paid for by the townspeople of Newark, appropriated the sum of $15,000, for an armory to be used by Company E and located at Newark. The State Military Board after visiting several sites offered for sale, selected a lot at the corner of Academy street and Delaware Avenue, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Kierski. This lot was purchased by the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Co., to be held by them until the money could be raised. The purchase price was $1,000. Later a question as to the title of the property was raised by a proposed purchaser and the question was taken to the courts. The cost of the suit was $188 which raised the total amount necessary to $1,188. Toward this amount Mr. and Mrs. Kierski contributed $125 and the State Military Board $100. The people of Newark are urged to contribute to the fund in order that the amount may be quickly raised. Checks should be made payable to "Armory Fund, Co. E" and may be forwarded to the Newark Trust Co. or any of the officers of Company E. Although bids for the new building were opened last Wednesday, the contract has not yet been awarded.

Sites For Camp Chosen

Lieutenant Colonel W. E. Stover, Chief Quartermaster; Captain Joseph Lawson, Regimental Quartermaster, and Lieutenant Elvid Hunt, U. S. A., visited Dover last Tuesday arranging for the camp site to be used by the First Delaware Infantry when they make their march from the State Rifle Range, near New Castle, to Milford.

The first night camp will be made along the D. & C. Canal at St. Georges; Middletown, site not determined; Smyrna, along the shore of Lake Como.

They are expected to arrive in Dover Thursday noon, July 23, and will go in camp on the baseball grounds and the tennis club field. It is expected that Governor Miller will review the troops on the Green. A band concert will follow and a big dance will be given in the State Armory in the evening.

The regiment will march in regular army movement as if on their way to Mexico. There will be no cross country manoeuvres and it is expected that the regiment will arrive in Dover in good shape. The Quartermaster has engaged supplies, fuel for cooking and straw for beds. Company cooks will prepare the meals, and the people of Dover will be given a view of real army life.

July 24th they camp at Frederick, July 25th at Milford, and there take the train for home, after having covered the 65 miles in six days. The companies will assemble at the Rifle Range on Saturday July 18, and will start Monday, July 20.

Wheel Of Fortune Stopped

Upon a request by representatives of the Law and Order League the management of the Catholic church stopped the Wheel of Fortune last Saturday night. No attempt was made to run the wheel evenings of Thursday or Friday. On Saturday evening it was decided by the management to use the wheel as a quick means of disposing of unsold goods.

Readers will recall the difficulties during last year's Firemen's Carnival, in which the Law and Order League threatened prosecution if the roulette or similar games of chance were not stopped. The festival committee felt that if the running of the Wheel of Fortune on this occasion would in any way lead to embarrassment at the Firemen's Carnival, it would willingly grant the request of the Law and Order Committee.

(The above report was given us by a member of the committee.)

Object Of Law And Order Society Defined

STATUTE CONCERNING SUNDAY TRAFFIC

According to the statement in last week's Post, we give the following as the result of a talk with an officer of the Law and Order Society of Wilmington.

The Law and Order Society of Wilmington was incorporated by an Act of the General Assembly at Dover, March 4th, 1883. Since that time further Acts have been passed granting the continuance of its Charter.

The following, taken from the Act, shows the object of the Society: "The object is to secure by all proper means the enforcement of the laws, now or hereafter to be made against Sunday traffic, the laws against gambling and disorderly houses. The laws to protect the public morals, and of all such laws, ordinances and regulations as may from time to time exist in this State relating to the liquor traffic, and to encourage and assist the authorities in the maintenance and enforcement of the same."

From this can be seen the object, the organization, and the scope of the work attempted.

Throughout the State there are several branches that keep in touch with the central organization. Some towns have organizations with the same object and intent but are separate and distinct from the organization here mentioned. These local organizations look only after conditions in their respective communities.

The Newark situation was called to the attention of the Wilmington organization at the time of the last Carnival. Several reports have been made since that time.

The law on the Sunday violations was shown to us which reads as follows:

If any person shall perform any worldly employment, labor or business, on the Sabbath day (works of necessity and charity excepted, he shall be fined * * * * *

If any carrier, pedler, wagoner, or driver of any public stage or carriage, or any carter, butcher or drover, with his horse, pack, wagon stage, carriage, cart or drove, shall travel or drive upon the Sabbath day; or if any retailer of goods shall expose to sale on the Sabbath day; he shall be fined * * * * *

No attempt is made to enforce the law in Wilmington because the larger stores pay their fines and continue to open; it pays them to do so while the little store is forced to close. The effect of this makes even more business for the larger store. The attempt was made by the Society some years ago with the above result. For that reason it was abandoned.

Games of chance and wheels of fortune are operated at various amusement parks near Wilmington without being molested for the same reason.

The action in Newark has been taken because it is a resident town, a college town.

Fire Quickly Under Control

About one-thirty on Tuesday fire was discovered in the hay field of Elwood McKee, east of town, and only prompt action on the part of the townspeople prevented serious consequences. Dry grass became ignited by a spark from a passing train on the B. & O. road. A gale blowing strongly from the north swept the blaze directly toward the McKee buildings and those owned by Harvey Hoffecker. Aetna Fire Company promptly responded to the summons and the chemical engine had in a few minutes controlled the flames. Practically no damage was done.

Scholarships For Women's College Awarded

Scholarships contested for at the examination held at Delaware College on June 19 and 20, for the new Women's College of Delaware, were awarded by the judges on Saturday as follows: Miss Mary Louise Van Dyke, daughter of the Rev. Thomas R. Van Dyke of Wilmington, and Miss Laura Short of Dover. The scholarships are valued at $100 each and are offered by the Delaware Association of College Women and the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs to the two girls making the highest standing in the competitive examinations.

Miss Van Dyke graduated from the Wilmington Conference Academy at Dover on June 10, 1914. She won a prize of $25 for general excellence in her studies during her whole course.

Miss Short was graduated from the Dover High School in June and made a splendid record while there.

The committee in charge of the scholarships is very much gratified at the result of the competition and feel that the majority of the papers submitted were of a high order. Mrs. Harry Hayward of Newark, Delaware, acted for the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs and the committee for the Delaware Association of College Women consisted of Mrs. Hayward, Miss Jeanette Eckman and Miss Minnie Edgar, chairman.

Large Returns From Festival

The festival given by the ladies of St. John's church last week netted $750.

Delaware Girls Graduate

Miss Ona Singles and Miss Anna Zebley of Newark, were among graduates at the West Chester State Normal School last Wednesday. Miss Zebley has received a position at Friends' School, Moores town, N. J., at a salary of $650.

Other Delaware girls among the graduates are Miss Hildred A. Dickerson, Bridgeville; Miss Greta A. Holliday, Delaware City; Miss H. Mary Hunter, Dover; Miss Pearl H. Jacobs, Smyrna; and Miss L. Ruth Messick, Bridgeville.

Station Co-operates With Alfalfa Growers

The Delaware Experiment Station desires to secure the co-operation of a number of farmers throughout the State in growing alfalfa. It is thought that the plan of having the farmer grow a small tract of alfalfa under the direction of the station will serve two purposes. First, a wider knowledge of the adaptability of Delaware soils to this valuable crop will be secured. Secondly, the location of fields in various localities will serve to demonstrate the cultural needs of the alfalfa crop and its management.

The primary object of this work is to bring to the attention of the grower the importance of soil preparation and the vital necessity for certain fertilizers, lime and inoculation in securing satisfactory results with alfalfa.

The Experiment Station will give suggestions as to soil, its preparation, the kind and amount of fertilizers to use, lime and inoculation. The Station will also furnish free of charge the seed and inoculating material.

The grower will be expected to prepare the soil, furnish the fertilizers, lime, and to follow certain suggestions as to method of sowing.

The area of these test fields should not be less than one-half acre nor more than one acre.

All persons desiring to co-operate with the Station in this way should write to Prof. A. E. Grantham, Newark, Del., for further particulars.

Early Vegetables

Among fine specimens of early garden products are the tomatoes grown by Mr. John Burnite, East Newark. Ripe tomatoes were picked on Monday of this week. The plants came from the greenhouse, Delaware College.

Public Playgrounds Idea Given Up

There has been considerable disappointment among the children of the town about the public playground which was in prospect earlier in the season. It was at first thought this could be conducted in connection with the school of observation, during the Summer School. It proved, however, that no funds were available for proper equipment and the plan has been discarded for the present season.

Tax Rate Increased

The New Castle Levy Court on Thursday raised the tax rate from 55 to 60 cents for the coming year and fixed the road tax in rural hundreds at 40 cents. Salary appropriations are raised from $90,000 to $105,000, the hospital allowance from $1,000 to $1,500 and $2,500 was given to Hope Farm. The Industrial School for Girls gets an increase of $1,500, the Coroner's and Physician's account is increased from $2,000 to $1,000 and an increase of $10,000 is allowed for good roads, a total of $40,000. A new item is $10,000 for surface treatment of stone roads, and the allowance to fire companies responding to rural calls is raised from $1,000 to $2,100.

Carnival Novelty Committee

It has been requested by the chairman of the Novelty Committee for the Firemen's Carnival, that all members of this committee will, without further delay, hand their contributions to any of the following ladies: Mrs. J. H. Hossinger, Miss Ella Todd, Mrs. William Barton, Mrs. J. E. Clark or the chairman, Mrs. Ernest Frazer.

Republican Primaries September Twelfth

The Republican County Committee has decided upon Saturday, September 12 as the date upon which the Republican primaries will be held to nominate candidates for county, legislature, and district officers. Application for the date has been filed with the sheriff and the Department of Elections.

Unique Map Of United States

John Fortune, a mail carrier of Atchison, Kansas, has completed a map of the United States from postage stamps. By using stamps of various colors, he separated the original colonies and also outlined every state. The large rivers are shown with orange colored stamps. In the center of the map is a great American eagle, with wings spread, the olive branch and bundle of arrows clutched in its talons. Above the eagle is worked out the phrase "E Pluribus Unum." The Great Lakes are shown and the Canadian border is designated by Canadian stamps.

The map is bordered with pictures of all the Presidents, the likenesses being secured from stamps of various design. In the center of the State of Virginia is a copy of the Declaration of Independence, bordered with stamps of Washington design. The stamps are all pasted upon a canvas 5x9 feet, and each one of them has been trimmed, requiring infinite patience and work. The exact number of stamps used in making the map is known only to Mr. Fortune, as he intends to lease it to large stores, to be used as a basis for guessing contests.

NEWARK HAS BATTING MATINEE

Newark gave Rockstroh an awful drubbing Saturday afternoon and won from Elkton by the score of 11 to 0. For three innings it looked like a pitchers battle although Newark had scored one run in the second. The locals, however, got to Rockstroh in the fourth, scoring three runs and in the eighth broke up the game when seven consecutive hits, two of them doubles, were made, bringing in seven more runs. Rockstroh was allowed to stay and take his medicine. With a safe lead Whiteman was put in the ninth inning to finish the game and young Ritz the high school lad, donned the mask and mit. Whiteman hit the first batsman but the next three were easy outs.

This victory keeps Newark two games in the lead while Elk Mills and Rising Sun are tied for second place.

Jake Hogan had a lot of smoke and was practically unhitatable for the Elkton boys. The best they could do was four hits and three of them were of the scratchy variety. He fanned 14 in 8 innings and did not give a pass. His support at times was spectacular. Charley Beatty at third base played a great fielding game and also had two doubles at bat. A one hand stop of Beatty's of a hard hit ball on which he threw the runner out at first was one of the fielding features. Another fielding feature was a catch by Garrett, in right field in the fifth inning on which he doubled C. Beatty at second base.

Elkton really never seriously threatened the plate as only one man got as far as third base. The game was an exceptionally fast one the entire nine innings being played in one hour and thirty minutes. Newark scored the first run in the second inning. Gregg was hit by a pitched ball and went to second on an infield out, from where he scored when Ferguson poked a beauty single to left.

Marsey the first man up in the fourth was hit and went on to second when Rockstroh's throw got away from Peterson. Morris doubled scoring Marsey. Gregg singled and both he and Morris came home when Willis hit to left field for two sacks.

The bombardment came after Hogan was out at first in the eighth inning. Beatty made his second double of the game and after this there were hits galore. The next six men in the batting order connected safely, although poor judgement on the part of the Elkton fielders allowed two of them to go for hits. In all seven runs were made that inning, bringing the total up to eleven. Whiteman seemed to have plenty of stuff the one inning that he pitched. The score follows:

BATTING AND FIELD AVERAGES

With the exception of Jackson and Hogan, every one of the regular Newark Tri-County League players are pouncing the ball for better than 300. This sure makes a tough proposition for other pitchers of the league to face, seven men on one team hitting over 300. Captain Morris is still showing his players the way with an average of .486. The batting averages follow:

|           | G. | AB. | R. | H. | Av.  |

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS

It looks like the club that now beats Newark out will surely win the pennant.

Rockstroh fanned all three men in the first inning and did not have a strike out the next eight innings. Newark did not waste much energy. Eleven runs were scored and only one man was left on base, that being Marsey in the first inning.

Ferguson made the hit that scored the first run a nice clean drive to left.

Charley Beatty and Del Willis both helped along considerably with two doubles each.

The two third basemen had a busy day and both played the position like veterans.

A. Beatty stopped several hard hit balls nearly over second and got his men at first.

The local club deserves to be at the top, as it has played better and more consistent ball all season than any other club in the league.

Whiteman will probably be given a chance in one of the Oxford games on Saturday and judging from the one inning that he pitched against Elkton the Iron Hill boy ought to be able to get away with it.

The leaders play in Oxford the morning of July 4 and come home to play the same club in the afternoon.

Aberdeen two weeks ago was battling with Newark for the lead and that club is now in fourth place.

Spence, the former Penn-Mar League catcher is playing a fine game back of the bat for Elk Mills. Duborow the outfielder who was given a trial on the Wilmington Tri-State team and who played early in the season played with Swarthmore College, joined Oxford on Saturday.

O'Daniel back of the bat strengthened the Newark Field Club team but it looks as though there will have to be other changes before that team can regain lost ground in the Penn-Mar League race.

The Newark Field Club of the Penn-Mar League dropped two closely contested games to Appleton on Saturday by the scores of 11 to 10 and 7 to 5. The leaders battled out a victory in the last inning of the first game when three runs were scored off Chillas. The Appleton club is going at a fast clip just now and is hitting the ball hard.

The field club will probably be strengthened by next Saturday and an effort will be made to climb up in the race. Slack, formerly with Iron Hill, is to join the team and will play the outfield and it is also understood that Gillfillan will cover first base in future games. This will strengthen the club both in fielding and hitting. The score of the first game on Saturday follows:

and expressed. He served the community well, and earned the respect and good will of his neighbors through more than forty years of faithful work. How often he shaved, shampooed, and perfumed the rural gallant come to town of a Saturday night to visit his best girl! How many life-long customers he shaved for their burial, when the cold, unresponsive face was white and motionless beneath his razor! He must have had many a confidence murmured in his ear when the shop was empty save for him and the single swathed and lathered customer. McPike might have done a deal of mischief had he had less than his fine native reticence in the matter of village gossip. Well I remember the balmy night in the spring of 1873 when a few adventurous youths from the College met McPike and one of his friends and persuaded them to aid in carrying off all the guns from the armory. I fancy that was McPike's sole departure from the path of strict rectitude, and I believe it is now first disclosed. A good man and faithful was he, deserving a long period of retired ease, but perhaps he was happier with his brushes, scissors and razors than he would have been in well earned idleness.

One of McPike's predecessors in the tonsorial art at Newark, was that volatile and versatile German, Henry Miller, who had by way of avocations skilled gardening, the caning of chairs, the taming of birds, and I know not what else. Henry was a man of sardonic humor, and harmlessly mischievous spirit. He once persuaded me that castor oil beans were a delicious luxury, and I lived to repent in pain the misinformation. My mild father was moved to unaccustomed anger by the incident, and Henry received a specific and unmistakable piece of his mind. A year or two ago Wilbur Wilson and I discovered Henry's son, our old playmate and friend, living in Philadelphia, and found his the same kindly, loyal, intelligent soul that he had been as a boy. Both of us felt it was worth while to have lost a friend for more than forty years in order to recover one so well worth keeping.

E. N. Vallandigham, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Repair The Fountain

Editor of The Post: We were surprised and sorry to learn from The Post that the time-honored monument known as the Public Drinking Fountain had fallen on evil days. As a member of the W. C. T. U. of Newark we will gladly contribute our modest fee towards its reconstruction, upon hearing that such a proposition is made by the W. C. T. U. We are especially interested, since Mr. Frederick D. Chester, at one time in College service, was the "orator of the day" when this witness of fraternal charity was set up as a gift to the town. We should not want to see it fall down dead.

Better Babies And A Better Race

The Better Babies Contest is a popular scientific movement to insure better Babies and a better race. It consists of entering, examining and awarding prizes to children of under 3 years on exactly the same basis or principles that are applied to live-stock shows. Mere beauty does not count. Physical and mental development only are considered. The Better Babies Contest insures a better race of Americans, because it teaches parents how to improve the physical condition of children already born and to protect those yet unborn. It rouses interest in the conservation of child life and health and in all forms of child welfare. It forges a connecting link between parents and teachers, between the home and the scientific study of child life. It promotes civic interest in children of the community, their schools and their recreations. No movement in the march of progression in the last decade has met with such enthusiastic support as the Better Babies Contests that have been held, under the direction of the Women's Home Companion all over the United States and no feature in the Delaware State Fair has been given more consideration or a dearer planning than this one. At a meeting in Wilmington on June 16th the physicians of the State and the city were invited to hear Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson, Director of the Woman's Home Companion Better Babies Bureau tell of the objects and good to be gained by such a contest. The attendance of the physicians was very gratifying and the campaign for all the babies in the State has begun in earnest.

Literature of especial interest to mothers will be distributed and short talks will be given to them by some one especially engaged.

If there are any mothers among the readers of this paper who want to have their babies examined and to have the benefit of the splendid health demonstration, the Delaware State Fair will be glad to communicate with them. Preliminary blanks will be ready in a few days and will be sent on request by the Secretary, S. H. Wilson, Jr., Delaware State Fair Office, 1 West 5th street, Wilmington, Del.

Delmarvia

DELMARVIA is to be a household word. Heretofore its meaning has never been realized. It was a high sounding phrase used by politicians and after-dinner gas artists. No Board of Trade Banquet was a success without mention of the beauties and possibilities of Delmarvia. In short it was a term used by business men on social occasions. They did not know what they were talking about; it isn't necessary on such occasions. The way to get at the meaning of a word is to exploit it,—get every body talking about it.

Well, Snellenburg of Wilmington has done just that thing. Delmarvia is now a word to be used in the Drawing Room. They have a Player Piano—it has been christened Delmarvia. It's as great a wonder as the Peninsula.

One of these instruments is now on exhibition at this office. Our friends (and enemies, too, for that matter), are invited to stop in and see this piano.

If you are an amateur Rubenstein you can tickle the keys the same as any other instrument. But if the jews-harp is your limit, you can put in a reel,—say "Il Trovatore" or "The Rag Time Dream"—and your next-door neighbor will think you have company from Boston.

We have selections here for every taste. Classics, such as "Row Row, Row," "Tango Special," "Horse Trot," various Rags of the Society Folk.

Then for those who love the mystery of sound, we have Miserere, Murillo, Op. 138, Rosary. Then the old songs of long ago, now and forever.

This is truly a wonderful instrument. You are invited to call.

NOTICE

The Delmarvia Player as advertised in this issue is now on exhibition at this office.

Festival At Lewisville

The baseball team of Lewisville, Pa., is planning a festival to be held in the school yard on Wednesday evening, June eighth. If stormy the next clear evening.

New College Of Vital Importance To State

A pleasant feature of the opening of the Summer School was the reception given in the Oratory on Tuesday evening, when teachers and students met together for a social hour. Violin and piano solos and the singing of old songs were a part of the program. Ice-cream and cake was served.

Dr. Mitchell made a brief address in which he spoke of the new Women's College as the greatest event in the history of Delaware for this year. It will effect life in the home, the school and the social realm. Will it not be a mighty force in the life of the Commonwealth?

The establishment of the College, Dr. Mitchell said, reflects a general popular demand. The sphere of the State is rapidly changing. A policeman was the personification of the state as Jefferson conceived it. Today the State is interesting itself in every kind of social welfare. The major portion of the resources of our states go to education; the State concerns itself with public health; it is socializing all the agencies of civilization. In this new order of things woman finds her field of usefulness and activity largely extended. She is destined as never before to influence the future of the American people.

The speaker referred to a discussion among college men as to the proper location of a college. Some argued that it should be removed from a city, some that it should be where the railroads converge, etc. President Eliot said, "Gentlemen, there is but one thing necessary—beauty." And the new Women's College of Delaware, Dr. Mitchell declared, conforms to this ideal.

Several pertinent questions were put to the audience:

What's going to be your relation to this large enterprise of the State?

What will be your interpretation of the new college, whose buildings you watch rise to completion, when you go to your homes?

How can the Summer School students plan their summer to get the greatest good from the community? What benefit can they confer upon the community to compensate for courtesies received?

Dr. Mitchell answered the last two queries by referring the students to the two libraries in the town, defining a library as the dynamo of an institution, and second, urging them to contribute to the life of the community by attending the churches and carrying the encouragement of their presence to the Sunday Schools.

Dr. Wagner talked on the spirit of the School, and declared the most evident characteristic a spirit of willingness to work. He expressed his appreciation of the fact that so many were willing to postpone their vacations and come to the state college for the great purpose of self-realization.

All the teachers of the Summer School were present and after the formal program spent a social hour in touch with the students of the school.

Informal Dance Next Friday

A social evening for the entertainment of the Summer School students is being planned by Coach McAvoy for next Friday evening, when an informal dance will be given in the gymnasium.

Anti-Suffrage Society Organized

Women in Delaware opposed to Equal Suffrage have organized the "Women's Committee of Delaware Opposed to Woman Suffrage." The officers of the new organization are as follows: Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, chairman; Mrs. David J. Reinhardt, recording secretary; Miss Emily P. Bissell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Eugene duPont, Jr., treasurer, and the following vice-presidents: Mrs. Preston Lea, Mrs. Willard Saulsbury, Mrs. James Pennewill, Dover; Mrs. George W. Marshall, Milford; Mrs. Daniel Short, Laurel; Mrs. Thomas F. Bayard, Mrs. George R. Hoffeecker, Mrs. Ferdinand L. Gilpin, Mrs. James Avery Draper.

The organization stands for the following:

"We believe that the further extension of the suffrage to all women of the State of Delaware is not desired by the majority of them.

"We believe that it would involve greater expense at elections with no corresponding benefit either to women or the State.

"We believe that the interests of the family and the home are menaced by any further political activities.

"As women of Delaware of full voting age, and therefore affected by the proposed change, we subscribe our names as being satisfied with the present non-partisan status of women in our State government."

Registration Officers For New Castle County

Governor Miller announced through the State House Friday names of the registration officers, including registrars, assistant registrars and alternate registrars, appointed by him for the ensuing election.

Under the law these appointments must be made prior to July 1, of the years in which a general election is to be held. These registration officers are for the counties of Kent and Sussex, and that part of New Castle county outside of the city of Wilmington, the officers for Wilmington being appointed by the Department of Elections for the city of Wilmington. Section 1, chapter 35, volume 21, Laws of Delaware, provides for the appointment of registration officers by the governor. The officers are required to go before the clerk of the peace in their respective counties and take an oath of appointment.

The secretary of state's office has forwarded the election books to be used in the registration to the sheriffs of the three counties which officials have charge of the distribution of the election books.

The registration officers are appointed from the Republican and Democratic parties, the registrar and alternate registrar in each case, being Republicans, while the assistant registrars alternate between Democrat and Republican. The list for New Castle county follows:

State through the Delaware State House Portrait Commission have been on exhibition at 827 Market street, Wilmington, where they have attracted the attention of many.

The portraits are the gift of Mrs. Eugene duPont of Pelloport. They are of United States Senator Henry Moore Ridgely, Mrs. duPont's maternal grandfather; Chancellor Nicholas Ridgely, his brother, both sons of Dr. Charles Greenbury Ridgely and their kinsman, Chancellor John Vining. Another portrait will be added to these, that of United States Senator John Vining, making in all four portraits and three bronze tablets which will have been the gift of Mrs. duPont. Clawson S. Hammett has copied the three portraits now exhibited, from originals in the possession of the family. It would not be possible to write a history of Delaware without mention of the Ridgely family of Dover. Each generation has given time and talent in the cause of State and Nation, and there is no group of men who have contributed more honorably and ably than the six—four Ridgelys and the two Vining, their kinsmen, who will live on the walls of the State House at Dover.

The following sketches of the men whose portraits will be placed in the Statehouse at Dover, are clipped from the Every Evening of Wilmington.

HENRY MOORE RIDGELY
Henry Moore Ridgely was born in Dover, August 6, 1779. After being graduated from Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., he read law in Lancaster and then returned to Dover to practice his profession. About the time he was admitted to the bar he became involved in a duel which nearly cost his life. He recovered, however, and public opinion against his antagonist forced that gentleman, a Mr. Shield of Wilmington, to flee the State.

Mr. Ridgely was admitted to the bar in 1802, and became not only one of the most successful lawyers of his time, but a business man of unusual sagacity, a political leader of marked prestige, the recipient of numerous public honors, and a man of versatile mentality and sterling moral character. He apparently cared nothing for office or personal aggrandizement, as he refused the Chancellorship in 1830 and afterwards the honor of being Chief Justice of Delaware. Yet he had public interest so much at heart that he became Levy Court Commissioner, making his service of exceeding value, because he restored the offices of Kent county to an orderly condition. Having discovered mismanagement in the county almshouse, he requested to be a trustee of the poor, and brought about many reforms there.

Ann, the daughter of Senator Henry Moore Ridgely, was married to Charles Irene duPont, and Mrs. Eugenie duPont is their daughter.

The offices held by Henry Moore Ridgely were as follows: president of the Farmers' Bank at Dover, upon its incorporation, a position he held for 40 years. Elected a Representative in Congress, 1811; re-elected by a large majority in 1813, and declined renomination 1824, and in his office he performed a valuable work for posterity in collecting and arranging, in proper form for preservation, the scattered and neglected archives of the State.

He was repeatedly elected to the Legislature and framed some of its most important laws.

Was elected to the United States Senate in 1827, where he was especially influential in many matters, and was prominent as an advocate of protective tariff.

CHANCELLOR NICHOLAS RIDGELY
Nicholas Ridgely, son of Dr. Charles Greenbury Ridgely and his first wife, Mary Wynkoop, was very distinguished as a Chancellor of Delaware. He was called the "Father of Chancery," and his notes are quoted as authority. He left no descendants.

CHANCELLOR JOHN VINING

Chancellor John Vining, father of Senator John Vining, was connected with the Ridgely family by marriage. He was the first Chief Justice of the "Three Lower Counties on the Delaware," and was commissioned by George III, King of England. His father was Captain Benjamin Vining of Salem, N. J., and his mother was Mary Middleton Vining, afterwards Mrs. Henry M. Ridgely.

His first wife was Rachel Ridgely, daughter of Senator Henry M. Ridgely, he having married the daughter of the man his mother married, and his second wife, Phoebe Wynkoop, was the mother of Senator John Vining, and of the famous belle and beauty, Mary Vining.

SENATOR JOHN VINING
The portrait of John Vining will be unique in that it is a composite portrait made up from portraits of his father, grandmother and sister, possessed by Mrs. duPont and Henry M. Ridgely of Dover. John Vining bore a strong resemblance to other members of his family, and as there was no portrait of him to be copied it was decided to make an ideal portrait.

Senator Vining was a brilliant lawyer and member of the first Continental Congress and it is one of his distinctions that he was a brother of the beautiful Revolutionary belle, Mary Vining. A sketch of Miss Vining is one of the most delightful of Miss Elizabeth Montgomery's reminiscences, and another and more complete sketch of her was written by the late Mrs. Henry G. Banning, for the Colonial Dames, and is preserved in their archives.

Christiana Methodism

The Rev. F. S. Barrett, the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Christiana, Del., has thoroughly repaired the church and parsonage property. Sunday, July 5th, will be the day of reopening. All the friends of the church will be present and a great time is expected. District Superintendent Hoffecker will preach in the morning at 10:45 o'clock. The Rev. Frank C. MacSorley of MacCabe Church in the afternoon at 3 and the Rev. George White Dawson of Ashbury Church, Wilmington, in the evening at 8 o'clock. A hearty invitation is extended to the public to come.

One force behind your telephone

In many of the school physiologies to-day, man's brain is compared to the telephone switchboard which is the force back of the talk nerves of the country.

The first switchboards were crude indeed, but those of to-day are the most intricate, ingenious and fascinating things ever created by man.

They are a vast monument to the brainy telephone engineers and experts who worked out the many problems of linking together first a few telephones, then a few thousands and to-day over 8,000,000, so that any two telephones can be joined together.

If the switchboards of the Bell System were placed in a single row, they would stretch 36 miles—an imposing illustration of the force back of the Bell Telephone, which brings you the most efficient telephone service in the world.

When you telephone, smile!

PLEA FOR COMMONSENSE

A Forceful Address By James M. Beck

The following address was made before the students of the University of Pennsylvania at the recent Commencement, on the occasion of the unveiling of a statue to Benjamin Franklin, by James M. Beck, attorney-general under McKinley, and one of the best known lawyers of the Atlantic States. His plea in this rush and turmoil age for a breath of the sanity and commonsense of Franklin makes interesting and inspiring reading.

"Does not this 'truthful Franklin,' with his staff in one hand and his meagre possessions in the other,
 with his uplifted eyes, alert, vigorous carriage and smiling, resolute face, nobly symbolize the youth of America, as they end their apprenticeship, and resolutely face on the threshold of manhood the rude challenge of the world?"

"No ship ever brought so rich a cargo to Philadelphia as the little sloop from Bordentown which disembarked the youthful Franklin on Market street wharf 190 years ago.

"I shall not attempt any formal eulogium.

"This myriad-minded man defines analysis. Historical analogies give us the most graphic idea of this stupendous genius, and yet the varied and conflicting character of these analogies makes it difficult to comprehend its full extent. In diplomacy, a Talleyrand; in invention, an Edison; in philanthropy, a Wilberforce; in science,
 a Newton; in philosophy, an Erasmus; in local politics, a Hans Sachs; in statecraft, a Richelieu;
 in humor, a Swift; in style, an Addison; in the power of narration, a Defoe; in the unequalled sweep of his versatility, a Leonardo da Vinci.
 What a man! Where in history is his equal in the varied scope of his talents and achievements?"

"Suffice it to say that, 'tried by the arduous greatness of things done,' Franklin thought more, said more, wrote more and did more than any man yet born under American skies.

SPIRIT OF AMERICA

"For this reason this statue represents more truly than any other,
 of which I have knowledge, the spirit and history of America. It is the effigy of one of the greatest and most typical of Americans. As Thomas Carlyle once well said on beholding a statue of Franklin:
 'There is the true father of all the quisitiveness, love of industry and pride in achievement are all characteristically American qualities.

"The two Americans who seem to me to come most directly from the very heart of America, and best typify the average American character, are Franklin and Lincoln. Both unite in their personalities the qualities of good humor, generous tolerance, philosophic optimism, intellectual versatility,
 freedom from conventionality, simplicity of ideas, and last, but not least, common sense. Franklin, like Lincoln, was the very genius of common sense. The great philosopher was more versatile than profound. His was a telescopic, not a microscopic vision. He was wonderfully clever and resourceful but not a master of details. He resembled Erasmus more than Darwin.

"He accomplished all he did by his freedom from intellectual conventionality and his sustained and intelligent application of common sense to the problems that confronted him. This is not only a rarer but a higher gift than many suspect. Common sense is the instinctive appreciation of the nice relation which things bear to each other, without which the most learned man may be, like King James, justly characterized as
 'the wisest fool in Christendom.'

ABOVE HYSTERIA

"Oh, for a breath of Franklin's sanity and common sense in this hysterical generation, when the whole world seems topsy-turvy,
 when many classes are in revolt against the institutions which make for stability, when women are growing masculine in the frenzied and violent advocacy of new privileges and men are becoming feminine in submitting to intolerable wrongs, when the councils of men are darkened with vain imaginings
 and legislators, administrators, and alas! even judges, are fleeing in abject cowardice before the rising dust of an advancing wind-storm. Franklin had too keen a sense of humor to be swept away by such hysteria, and he had too fine
 a sense of justice to accept the present day cowardly surrender of principle to political expediency.

"If he had been able, as he humously hoped, to float in a state of suspended animation in a cask of Madiera for more than a century and then revisit the scene of his achievements, what would not be his amazement, admiration and, we must add, disgust? The greatness of the nation, which he had helped to bring into existence, would satisfy even his universal spirit. The growth of his beloved city would delight him beyond power of expression. The expansion of science would stagger even his comprehension, but I fear he would have only contempt for the petty politicians

in city, State and nation, who betray the most sacred principles of liberty, to which he gave the mighty labors of his life, to gratify the base passions of the mob.

"He sympathized with people,
 and especially with the working classes, of which he himself as a printer was a shining example, but his ideal of the worker was to work and not to idle. He would have scorned a movement, whether by law or otherwise, which would sink the industrious and skillful worker to the level of the idle and the thriftless, and he would regard with equal loathing the intellectual demagogues, who play upon the passions of the masses, and the sordid grafters, who betray the great cause of civic improvement to enrich themselves.

LOVE OF WORK

"Franklin was also a typical American in his love of work—not as a mere means to an end, but for the love of work, the joy of achievement. He was the most useful and industrious citizen that Philadelphia or America has ever known.
 His period of public service, which reached nearly 70 years, was unex-cepted in length. No burden seemed to be too great for him, no sacrifice too severe.

"This is, or at least was, the American spirit. Our very name implies it. The word 'America' or Italian 'Amerigo' is derived by Humboldt from two Gothic words,
 'Amal,' meaning 'work,' and 'Rie'
 the root of 'to conquer.' All conquering work! This was ever Franklin's ideal. Even when he seemed most idle, his brain was germinating might thoughts. His broad, tolerant nature had contempt only for the thoughtless and the idle.

"But this statue of Franklin best typifies the spirit and achievements of America, because it represents the 'youthful Franklin.' In this it is unique. The venerable and patriarchal Franklin has so powerfully impressed the imagination of man that every public effigy of him, of which I have any knowledge, represents him in his mature age. This, however, is the Franklin in the 'May morn of youth,'
 the time which on high authority is said to be 'ripe for exploits and mighty enterprises.

"When I spoke on Franklin fifteen years ago in this city I then ventured to make several suggestions, of which at least one bore immediate fruit. I first suggested that as Franklin had rendered some of his greatest services to America and to civilization in the city of Paris, that a replica of the Boyle statue should be erected in that queenly city on the Seine as a token of good will from America to France. The lamented John H.
 Harjes, of Paris, accepted this suggestion, and it was through his

Concerning Your Eyes

Good eyesight is essential to health and comfort. Eye strain uncorrected leads to nervous disorders and is a factor in causing many reflex disturbances.

Tired, aching eyes, frequent pain over the eyes or heads aches are some of the indications of eye strain. At other times the eyes give no indication themselves of strain, but endeavor to keep up the demand upon them, by using the reserve accommodative power until they give out.

GLASSES RELIEVE EYE STRAIN

Success in relieving eye strain depends entirely upon the skill of the practitioner who prescribes the glasses. Our generous gift that a replica of Franklin sits in patriarchal dignity in an admirable position near the Troadero and within sight of Passy, wherein he passed so many useful and happy years.

"May I now suggest that a replica of the McKenzie statue could be fittingly given by this famous university, especially at this time when we are celebrating the centenary of peace between England and America, to the city of London to commemorate the fact that also in that great metropolis Franklin worked for a time as a journeyman printer and later rendered distinguished services as the agent of the Colonies.

"I next suggested that the sacred remains of Franklin and his wife, now in a neglected cemetery which must some day yield to the needs of modern improvement, should be reverently exhumed and given more fitting sepulture. Would it not be most in keeping with Franklin's ideals and character to give his remains a final resting place within this great institution whose proudest boast it is that it is the University of Franklin.

"Finally, I urged that the truest monument to Franklin should be Philadelphia itself, and especially the great institutions which Franklin founded, of which this University is beyond question the greatest. He loved this city with a consuming love. If the present generation would only have a revival of his spirit of individual initiative and enlightened ambition the possibilities of this city and its great University are unlimited.

CITY OF WASTED OPPORTUNITIES

"In proportion to what Philadelphia might have been, it is a city of wasted opportunities. With an inefficient and archaic form of government, and at times dominated by the most sordid of grafters, it has always reminded me of Gulliver bound down to the earth by petty Lilliputians. It might have remained the capital of the nation had not its petty politicians of that day sold the birthright of this historic city of America for a mess of pottage. This opportunity, which would have made it one of the four great capitals of the world, was lost forever, as so many other opportunities have since been lost, by the shameful way in which the future of the city has at times been sold for personal advantage.

"Time has not ceased to run and many centuries are yet before this noble and historic city. Let it but have the genius and lofty purposes of its Franklin, let it but imitate his spirit of individual initiative and indomitable courage, let it but have his genius for concentration, consolidation and co-operative citizenship and it will come to pass that Philadelphia will gain that high rank among the cities of the world to which it is so clearly destined.

"When in the infancy of Philadelphia and shortly after Franklin first walked its streets, Thomas Penn visited his colony, the leading men of the little city presented him a petition in which they asked him so to foster education and culture that Philadelphia would become under his enlightened patronage 'the Athens of America.'

"Thus early did our forebears 'hitch their wagon to a star.' This also was Franklin's ideal for his adopted city, and while he lived it was indeed 'the Athens of America.'

MORE THAN COMMERCE

"The time is past when Philadelphia can become the commercial metropolis of this country. What of it? There is something more in life than traffic or commerce. If Florence had only developed the commercial spirit, it would not be today a Mecca for all who prefer culture to mere money making.

"Men and brethren, is it too much to hope that Philadelphia may again have in full measure the spirit of her Franklin? As a master builder he was a true Florentine and a worthy yoke-fellow of the great Leonardo and Michael Angelo. Let this generation be actuated by his civic enterprise and it will then build in the lofty spirit of the Commune of Florence six centuries ago, when it ordered its illustrious leader, Arnolfo, to make a design for the renovation of Santa Reparata, in a style of magnificence which neither the industry nor power of man can surpass.

giving as a reason that this Commune should not engage in any enterprise unless its intention be to make the result correspond with that noblest sort of heart which is composed of the united will of many citizens.

"Such was the spirit of Franklin! Such should be the spirit of Philadelphia!"

THAT CHRISTMAS GIFT

I know it is not in keeping with the weather to think of Christmas. But a little time and attention given now to your Cards or Gift Calendars will repay you more than you realize.

¶ At the holiday season, you rush off and buy some stock card or calendar. Time demands something and that is the best you can do.

¶ While now, a little thought and talk with the Printer will result in something Original—Individual. Express Yourself to your friends at Christmas tide.

¶ We are going to do some real original Christmas printing this summer. Shall we do calendars for you? Perhaps there is some scene, some quotation from your reading that you would like to share with your good friends. Let us talk it over with you.

At THE POST, of course,—a Shop where Printing is considered an Art and not a Job.

KRYPTOK LENSES

Two Pairs in One

KRYPTOK LENSES

turn two pairs of glasses into one. And they have no ugly seams or ragged edges to disfigure your face. Don't advertise your age! No lines—no cemented parts. They are beautifully clear—far and near sight vision fused into one lens.

BUGGIES

We have a variety of Buggies. The "BABCOCK" is one of the few high-grade kind. If you want something better than the regular stock kind, the "BABCOCK" is the one. A classy, high-grade buggy at a price that will surprise you.

Then we have the EMMERSON,—an extra strong buggy. Springs like velvet yet guaranteed not to break during the life of the job. Spindles can't be scratched with a file. Not a piece of malleable used,—even the fifth wheel is wrought. Full leather trimmed.

The LIGONIER is an old reliable make. They are well made and sell at a medium price. Fully guaranteed and wear well. We have them in tops, runabouts and surrey,—steel and rubber tires.

We can give you good value for the money.

Come and see our stock. We won't bore you with selling talk. The GOODS AND PRICES DO THE SELLING.

We sell everything used on the farm. New Holland Engines, Hayes & Myers Pumps—our long suit.
