FIELD AND TRACK MEET

ALL DELAWARE REPRESENTED BY VISITORS

Physical Director William J. McAvoy is due most of the credit for the great success of the first annual inter-scholastic field and track meet held on Joe Frazer Field last Saturday. While the meet was under the auspices of the Athletic Council of Delaware College, Mr. McAvoy had personal supervision of all the preliminary arrangements. For weeks previous to the day of the meet he had put in many hours of work perfecting every detail for the big day. That there was not a hitch in any of the arrangements is evidence of the able management which the meet received. Every event was run off according to schedule and there was not a disagreement of any kind to mar the day. The affair probably did more to advertise Delaware College and bring the institution closer to the high school students of the State, where the future enrollment will come from, than any thing that has happened for years. Coach McAvoy received many congratulations for the able and fair manner in which the meet was managed and practically all the schools voluntarily promised their support for future meets.

The 167 contestants from 14 different schools who came to Newark were made welcome and showed every indication of having enjoyed every minute of their stay here. All possible was done to make their stay pleasant. Saturday morning there was an exhibition drill and at noon all contestants and teachers who accompanied them were given a luncheon in the gymnasium.

Some of the athletes arrived here Friday night in time to attend the essay and oratorical contest between representatives of high schools which was held in the oratory.

The attendance at the meet came up to the expectations of the officials but such events in future years will no doubt attract a larger crowd. As usual the attendance from Wilmington was a disappointment. While of course there were some people from that city yet considering the fact of it being within 17 minutes by train and this being the only college in the State, the number was very small. There were a large number of automobiles and the arrangements had been so made that every one from

WEDDINGS

BLEST-SANDERS

Miss E. Irene Blest and Mr. Fred P. Sanders were married last Thursday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Blest, Newark. Relatives of the immediate families were among the guests. Miss Mary Doyle and Mr. James Doyle, cousins of the bride, acted as maid of honor and best man. Father Dougherty officiated. In the evening the young people were serenaded by many well-wishers of the community. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will make their home in Newark.

Canary Bird Lost

The pet canary bird belonging to Mrs. E. C. Jones was lost on Monday, when the bottom fell out of the cage, and the little creature, in its fright, flew away. Its singing was the subject of comment by a number of passersby who wondered at the unusual singing bird.

School Children

In Essay Contest

Two hundred and thirty-six essays were submitted by school-children of the State in the "Anti-fly" essay contest, conducted by the New Century Club of Wilmington. There was so small a degree of difference between the essays, the judges declare, that their task in naming the winners was a particularly difficult one. Names of those to whom prizes were given follow:

Frank Suboez, School No. 1, $2.50
George Gray Carter, No. 1, 1.00
Mary Dreibelbis, No. 24, 1.00
Marion Lee, No. 24, 1.00
Isabella Parry, Odessa, Del., 1.00

New Rector Installed By Bishop Kinsman

The Rev. W. G. Haupt, formerly of Havre de Grace, Md., on last Sunday morning was installed rector of St. Thomas' Church, Newark, by the Right Rev. Frederick J. Kinsman, Bishop of Delaware. Headed by the vestrymen, Bishop Kinsman and the Rev. Mr. Haupt, were escorted from the vestibule of the church to the chancel by Senior Warden Alfred A. Curtis and Junior Warden George A. Harter. After Bishop Kinsman had proclaimed Mr. Haupt duly installed as rector the keys of the church were presented to him by Senior Warden Alfred A. Curtis. A large congregation attended the services.

Hope To Complete Work By June First

Judging from the work, the last few days it is thought that the water main will be completed by June 1st. The work is progressing rapidly now and as many as 16 joints are being caulked in one day. Immediately on settling of trench filling, the work of macadamizing will be started. This will require probably 30 days. If no mishap occurs in the caulked work, the street improvements will be completed July 1st, the date of the carnival. If, however, this cannot be done, Council will likely postpone the work until after the Carnival.

Hogan In Conference With Connie Mack

Jake Hogan, crack pitcher of the Newark Tri-County League baseball team, went to Philadelphia this morning for a conference with Connie Mack, manager of the World's Champions. The young southpaw was recommended to the great baseball leader, it is reported, by Bert Everson, a well-known pitcher several years ago and who is now employed at the Plant of the Continental Fibre Company. Hogan received word from Mack asking him to report at the Athletics park this morning and he left for the Quaker City on an early train. It is possible that Connie Mack will give Hogan a try out. The twirler is expected back to Newark tonight and his many friends are anxious to learn the result of the conference with the great baseball general. Hogan has been pitching star ball in the Tri-County League for several seasons. Many persons who have seen him work claim that he has much more stuff than the ordinary southpaw and that experience is all that he lacks. While it would be a great handicap to the Newark team to lose Hogan, yet all his friends hope that he lands and makes good.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

Newark Methodist Church

The interest at this church continues to grow with each Sunday, and the pastor is planning to make next Sunday a day in which the services will be unusually helpful. Every unchurched person is most cordially invited.

10.00 a. m.—Sunday School
11.00 a. m. Preaching: subject—"The Thorn Remains."
3.00 p. m.—Class Meeting
6.45 p. m.—Young Peoples' Meeting

7.45 p. m.—Public Worship and Sermon.

A Cordial Welcome—Free Seats—A Home-Like Church.

Geibel Chorus To Come To Newark

The Great Geibel Chorus of Wilmington, will give an entertainment in the Newark Opera House, Thursday evening, June 4th. This will be the greatest entertainment ever given in Newark. Over one hundred voices in the chorus, beside extra features. Do not miss it.

To Speak On Subject Of Mission

Mrs. D. E. Wiber, representative of the Home Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church will speak in the lecture room of Newark Presbyterian Church next Friday evening at eight o'clock. The speaker's subject will be Mission Study. The public is cordially invited to be present.

The Sprinkler At Work

One of the most welcome sights of the season was the sprinkler which appeared on the streets last Monday. With the type of road we have at present, and so much outside automobile travel, through the town, the dust, without some means of allaying it, becomes unbearable. Travel has increased so within the last few years, that it seems impossible to fall into the way of doing without the sprinkler as was the custom before the purchase of the Century Club several years ago.

Although no definite action has been taken by Council, it is believed the offer of the wagon made by the New Century Club will be accepted, and Council stand responsible for its operation during the summer months.

Ladies Plan For Carnival

A meeting of the ladies of the town to consider plans for the carnival of 1914, was held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Wilson on Monday evening. The ladies spent the time in working on the various committees which will be announced in next week's issue.

Lecture On Eugenics

On Tuesday evening, May 19, Professor A. E. Grantham of Delaware College gave a lecture at Lewes on "Eugenics, or Race Improvement." By way of introduction the speaker discussed briefly the laws of heredity and variation as applied to all life, and explained more particularly how heredity affects the human race. He then explained what constitutes the condition of eugenics, or being well born, and named the factors which have a bearing on Eugenics today. The speaker next considered the problem of the degenerate and the defective and their effect on society and stated the cost of caring for them in public institutions. He then took up the question of the relations of immigration, and of various classes of society, capital and labor, and the family to eugenics. Professor Grantham concluded his lecture by giving a resume of the recent laws which have a bearing on eugenics.

This lecture is one of those offered by the Delaware College Extension Committee.

Schoolhouses the Rallying Place Of Democracy

The demand for the more general use of the public school buildings and grounds is becoming general throughout the United States, and in many cities the uses of the school plant as social centers have advanced beyond the experimental stage.

In the current edition of Hearst Magazine an article entitled "Putting the School Plant to Work," contains at least some material for consideration that it might be well to adopt. The article says, "Use the school house. The school house is the natural, logical, ready-to-hand rallying place of democracy. It is the 'Peoples' already built and equipped."

Philander P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education points out that we have about $2,000,000 invested in grounds and structures of public schools and a quarter of the year these lie idle "for no other reason than that in the primitive days teachers and pupils were needed on the farms three or four months in the summer." There we have another instance of the ghost-rule of the world, of how we go on doing a thing by sheer inertia for no reason except that we have always done it, go on doing it long after the reason for doing it has disappeared. We do not act from reason, but from the ghost of dead reasons.

Edward W. Stitt, one of New York City's superintendents in charge of vacation schools and playgrounds, puts the matter into some definite, sensible proposals: 1. Use school auditoriums for concerts, lectures and entertainments.

Payments Due June First

Property owners who have failed to make arrangements for payment of sewer assessment will note advertisement in another column, calling attention to this matter. It is imperative that the business be closed up and the Commission has granted this extension of time until June 1st. After this date, the property owner who has failed to elect manner of payment waived the right of choice and is compelled not by the Commission, but by the provisions of the Act of the General Assembly to pay the full amount at once. Failure to do this makes it compulsory on the Commission to proceed with collection by law as set forth in the Act. Several property owners have had a confused idea—some of them understanding that the amount could be paid any time within 5 years.

This is not the case, however, and those who have failed to give this matter attention should make arrangements before the date set, June 1st.

G. A. R. At Church Services

Members of Reynolds Post, No. 9, G. A. R., and Washington Camp No. 25, P. O. S. of A., will attend services in Ebenezer M. E. church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Horace Greely Eastburn of Wilmington will make an address and the choir will render special music.

Professor Grantham Receives Offer

Professor A. E. Grantham has been asked to consider an offer for position in his line of work at one of the leading Universities of the country. Professor Grantham has been in constant demand now for several years. His work here has attracted favorable attention. It is generally hoped that he will decide to remain in Delaware.

Special Meeting Of Council

A special meeting of Council will be held this evening. Several matters of business concerning sewer and water main will be brought up. It is probable, too, that the contract for Main street improvement will be awarded and also arrangements made for completion of the work.

Affairs Of The Women's College

The course in Home Economics in the Summer School for Teachers at Delaware College will be given by the director of that department in the Women's College, Miss Myrtle V. Caudell. Credit at the College for this course will be given to those who ask for it.

All advisory councils for the Women's College has also been appointed as follows:

Mrs. Alfred D. Warner, chairman; Mrs. William T. Baneroff of Wilmington; Mrs. Mary A. Brown of Milford; Mrs. O. V. Wooten of Laurel; and Mrs. Charles B. Evans of Newark.

Trust Officer Appointed

George W. Murray, teller at the Farmers' Trust Company, has been elected Trust officer of that institution. Mr. Murray will have charge of the Real Estate Department. This position was given to Mr. Murray at the Directors' Meeting, May 12.

Making Review Work Attractive

Interesting exercises marked the afternoon session in the second grade, Newark Public School last Friday. The children had finished their reading book, and the teacher, Miss Jennie Raub, varied the monotony of review by presenting it in the form of an entertainment. All the memory gems of the book were recited by different members of the school. Children who are taking music from private teachers furnished variety by playing solos and duets. Among those who played were Kathryn Hubert, Eleanor Brooks, Evelyn and Elizabeth Worral, Herman Renshaw, Katharine Jacobs and Evelyn Stoll.

The children of this grade, chaperoned by their teacher, went on a May walk this afternoon. The first grade, in charge of Miss Essie Ferguson visited Donnell's woods yesterday afternoon.

School Exhibit Day At Elkton

Last Wednesday was observed by schoolchildren of Cecil county, Maryland, as school exhibit day. Exercises were held in Elkton, the county seat. A popular feature of the program was the parade, in which over 2000 children carrying pennants and banners of the schools, participated. The parade was followed by a lunch served at the High School, after which speeches were delivered by Dr. J. F. O'Brien of the U. S. Department of Education and by Dr. M. Bates Stephen, State Superintendent of Education.

At the conclusion of the speeches there were out-of-door athletic contests, amongst them a baseball game between the Elkton and the Calvert High Schools, in which the former came off winner by the score of 6-3.

In the High School building were exhibits of the work being done by the various schools of the county and they were viewed by many of the visitors.

High School Pupils Contest For Prizes

The oratorical contest for boys and the interscholastic essay contest for girls—open to the high school students of the State, was held in the college oratory last Friday evening.

The contest was won by Ralph Chalfant of the duPont High School, who delivered an oration on the subject "Lincoln." The prize was $25. The prize of $25 in essay writing was divided between Miss Elva Fredericks of the du Pont High School and Miss Reed of Kent county. The title of Miss Fredericks' essay was "The National Grange" and the title of Miss Reed's essay was "Woman's Position in History."

A preliminary contest was held in each county of the State last Friday. Each High School of the State was permitted to send to this preliminary contest two contestants in each contest; two boys and two girls. From these one boy and one girl were selected to represent the county at the contest Friday evening.

A. U. M. P. CONFERENCE

COLORED FOLK IN CONVENTION AT NEWARK

With delegates present from Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Canada, the one hundredth annual session of the middle district of the African Union Methodist Protestant church opened this morning in the St. John's church here. About 60 delegates representing practically every church in the district were present. Bishop C. W. Brown of Wilmington presided. Rev. S. W. Chippey of Wilmington was reappointed by Bishop Brown, secretary of the conference and Rev. J. Edward Nichols of New York was elected assistant secretary. Rev. A. B. Selvey of Camden, N. J., Rev. J. C. Dennison of Ambler, Pa., and Rev. George Mander of Newport, Del., was appointed a committee on resolutions and reported the credentials of the various delegates correct. Bishop Robinson of Baltimore and Bishop Russell of Philadelphia are also in attendance and will take part in the discussions before the conference. On the recommendation of the Committee on Admission, Rev. Levi Adams of Wilmington was re-instated as a member of the conference. At the session this afternoon Rev. C. H. Walker, pastor of the church where the session is being held made the address of welcome and the response was by Rev. C. N. Walker of Port Jervis, N. Y.

MUSICAL EVENING NEXT FRIDAY

Instrumental And Vocal Numbers Comprise Program

The last concert of the season, by the Delaware College Orchestra, will be given in the Oratory on Friday evening, May 22nd. Following the favorable comments heard on all sides after the first concert, and the praise given the organization after the concert held in the New Century Club, Wilmington, the attendance is expected to exceed that of any similar event held at Delaware.

Mr. Levin, the cellist, whose playing won so much applause at the last concert, will add to the success of the evening. The soloist, Mrs. Leonard E. Wales, is well-known to the music-loving public of Delaware. Tickets are now on sale at G. W. Rhodes' Drug Store. Proceeds for the better equipment of the Orchestra, which has already, after a few months of existence, added so largely to the social side of the college life. The program follows:

1. Magic Flute, overture W. A. Mozart
2. "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" R. Wagner
3. (a) Spring Flowers C. Reinecke
(b) Good-Bye P. Tosti
Mrs. Leonard E. Wales
4. Loin du Bal E. Gillet
5. Sextette from "Lucia" G. Donizetti
6. a) Cavatina J. Roff
(b) Meditation from "Thais" J. Massenet
7. William Martin, violinist
8. Zallah, Egyptian Intermezzo F. Lorraine
8. (a) Spring-tide R. Becker
(b) I Hear You Calling Me C. Marshall
- Mrs. Wales
9. Song Without Words P. Tchaikowski
10. Calm as the Night Carl Bohm
- Norman A. Groves, cornetist
11. Eagle's Nest E. Isenman

Join The Association

The Social Committee of the Newark High School Alumni Association has this week mailed cards to all those who are eligible to membership but as yet have neglected joining the organization. It is hoped many of these will become members previous to the annual meeting to be held on June fifth in Newark. The business meeting will be preceded by a banquet, the event of the year, in the social life of the organization.

Jake Hogan, the crack southpaw of the local Tri-County League team not only pitched a tight ball against Rising Sun on Saturday but also won his own game by a timely double in the ninth inning, scoring A. Beatty. It was a battle between southpaws and while Hogan had a shade the best of Taylor all the way, Newark could not deliver the punch at the right time until Hogan made his drive in the ninth.

Not for many years has a better game been seen in Newark. Until he struck here Taylor had been having his own way against the other clubs and had not lost a game. How near he came to repeating on Saturday the score will show. While he was touched up in spots the clever little southpaw did his best work in the pinches and Newark was unable to squeeze a run across until the final inning. Taylor was pitching baseball when Hogan was in kilties and as far back as 1902 as a member of the Brandywine club of West Chester he took part in the famous $1,000 game between Wilmington and Brandywine at the Athletic Park, Philadelphia, which Wilmington won 3 to 2. Taylor started to pitch that game for Brandywine but was relieved by Stevenson in the first inning. That great game is still talked of by baseball fans throughout Delaware.

Taylor it pitching as good ball this year as any time in his career but at that he has nothing on the local twirler. While he may lack some of the experience Hogan has more stuff than Taylor ever had. Hogan was at his best after the first inning on Saturday. In that inning he walked two men but tightened up and had perfect control the remainder of the game. He fanned 10 while Taylor had but one strike out. The Newark club had a perfect day in fielding and consequently all of the seven scattered hits made by Hogan were wasted.

As is generally the case the finish of the game came suddenly. With two out in the ninth A. Beatty singled and stole second from where he scored on Hogan's double. The score follows:

FIGHT AT ABERDEEN-ELK MILLS GAME

In addition to seeing a good baseball game the spectators at the Aberdeen-Elk Mills game played at Aberdeen on Saturday also witnessed a disgraceful affair, when according to reports one of the Aberdeen players attacked Umpire Gibson because he had been put out of the game for kicking. The "ump" is said to have been knocked down by the pugilistic player who, however, was compelled to leave the game.

Now would be an excellent time for President Kay, if the report is true of the fight, to show his authority and let the players know that he is boss as far as the action of players on the field is concerned. In organized baseball a player for such an offense would be banished at least for several weeks and probably for the remainder of the season. The fans throughout the circuit will await with interest the action of President Kay in this case. No matter what the provocation a player who attacks an umpire on the field is guilty of an offense which should keep him out of the game for some time. Spectators do not pay their money to see such disgraceful scenes and it is to be hoped that the leagues executive will make an example of the Aberdeen player, if after an investigation he finds the umpire was attacked. Aberdeen won the game from Elk Mills largely through the fine pitching of Bonnet who allowed but two hits. Sweitzer also pitched clever ball. The score by innings follows:

Aberdeen 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0—2 5 4

Batteries, Aberdeen, Bonnet and Bruff; Elk Mills, Sweitzer and Moore.

ELK DEFEATS EXFORD
Elkton broke into the win column on Saturday defeating Oxford 7 to 2. It was the first victory for Elkton while Oxford has not won a game this season. Clay showed some of his old time form and had the Pennsylvania boys at his mercy most of the time. The score by innings follows:

R. H. E.
Oxford . . . 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—2 8 8
Elkton . . . 0 4 0 2 0 0 0 1—7 8 0

Batteries, Elkton, Clay and Potts; Oxford, Reynolds and Thomas.

TRI-COUNTY LEAGUE NOTES
To hold Rising Sun unless and then win your own game with a nice double is going some.
As a result of the Saturday games four of the clubs are now tied for first place.
Oxford is still without a victory. Looks as though Joe Davis will have to make some shifts to get his club going right.
Reynolds of Oxford has not proved the terror to the other teams so far this year that he did last season.
Herdman played his first game with the locals on Saturday and got a two base hit.

Newark's infield gave Hogan the kind of support on Saturday that encourages a twirler and gives him heart to work hard.

They all look good when winning and that is probably what Oxford thought of Elkton.

Bonnett bested Sweitzer in a pretty pitchers' battle.
Elk Mills comes here for a return game next Saturday and there should be a large crowd on hand. Hogan is anxious to get even for the defeat at his former home two weeks ago.

President Kay has a chance now to put a stop to rough work by players on the field by his action in the Aberdeen case.

In addition to being one of the best twirlers in the league Hogan is also some stickler.

Because of a number of the players being entered in the interscholastic field and track meet at Delaware College, the Penn-Mar League games scheduled for last Saturday were postponed.

GREEN'S INJURY HANDICAPS HIGH SCHOOL

The Newark High School baseball team will be handicapped the remainder of the season by the loss of Captain Green. In a game with the Delaware College Scrubs on Joe Frazer field last Thursday Green broke his left wrist when he collided with Ferguson in going after a fly ball. Green had been playing a wonderful game this season and his hitting had helped to win several games for the high school boys.

The high school had the Scrubs 2 to 0 until the seventh inning when their infield crumbled and the Scrubs scored three runs just enough to win 3 to 2. Anderson, who took Green's place at third did fairly well and made the hit that scored the high school's first run. It was a hard game for Chillas to lose as he held the Scrubs to three hits.

DELAWARE PLAYED LOOSE GAME

Delaware played a miserable game against Washington College last Friday and was defeated 7 to 2. No matter how good the team it seems that Delaware in no line of sports can play its usual game against the boys from Chestertown and consequently they walk off with the bacon in most of the events where the two meet. Washington has been looked on as Delaware's "hoodoo" for years and it seems to stick. The blue and gold easily defeated Swarthmore, while the Quakers trimmed Washington and then the latter came here and made the local college team look foolish. Such comparisons appear peculiar but then the uncertainty is what makes the national game so popular.

"Buck" Hoch pitched fair ball, but his support was ragged. Doherty had a bad day while the reliable Fidance missed an easy chance which gave the visitors two runs. Hoch helped matters along by making a couple of errors himself. The visiting twirler did not seem to have a curve but E. Hoch, who got three of Delaware's four hits was the only player who could do anything with his delivery.

After pitching great ball for thirteen innings Whiteman of the Continental Fibre team weakened in the fourteenth against Richardson Park on Saturday and the latter team won 8 to 3. It was the most exciting game of the season.

Continental started off like a winner, scoring three runs in the first inning. Tinsman who was on the mound for the visitors tightened up after that and blanked the Continental for the next thirteen consecutive innings. Whiteman had the best of the argument until he weakened in the fourteenth and Richardson Park hammered in five runs and won the game. Whiteman fanned 10 and Tinsman 13.

Georgetown High School proved an easy proposition for the local high school team Monday afternoon when Newark won by the score of 11 to 2. The visitors were completely outclassed and could do nothing with the delivery of Chillas. Georgetown scored their first run in the sixth inning when a ball hit by Townsend to left field got in the tall grass and was not found until the player had made the circuit.

Townsend pitched fair ball for Georgetown after the fourth inning. While hit hard he was also given poor support up until that time. Anderson, who covered third in place of Captain Green, made three hits.

Ask For Delaware Flag

Governor Miller recently has received a letter from the American Commissioner General of the Anglo-American Exposition, notifying him that the opening ceremony at Shepherd's Bush, London, took place last Thursday. He was requested to present the American Section of the Exposition with the State Flag of Delaware.

The flag is to be flown over one of the buildings devoted to the American section, and also over the main entrance to the exposition on the occasion of Delaware State Day, July 6. The idea of State days has been received with warm approval by several governors and a number of them have already expressed their willingness to present their State flag to the Exposition authorities on the other side of the Atlantic.

Newark Giants Win

The Newark Giants defeated Buttonwood Saturday by the score of 7 to 3. The Giants played a snappy game. The feature of the game was the playing of Harry Segars at third base, and the pitching of Wilson. Segars made some nice stops of bad thrown balls, and made a home run. Wilson let Buttonwood down with five hits. Wingate of the visitors also pitched good ball. He held the heavy hitting Giants to seven hits, three of which were of the scratch order.

A Day At A Time

Only a day at a time. There may never be a tomorrow.
Only a day at a time and that we can live.
We know.
The trouble we cannot bear is only the trouble we borrow.
And the trials that never come are the ones that fret us so.

Only a step at a time. It may be the angels bend o'er us.
To bear us above the stones that wound our feet by the way.
The step that is hardest of all is not the one just before us
And the path we dread most may be smoothed another day.

MAY 20, 1914

FIVE MINUTES FOR MEMORY

The custom of observing "Five Minutes for Memory" on Memorial Day, was introduced in Newark last year. The idea, however, had not been widely explained, and it is hoped the tolling bells will carry a message of true patriotism and higher national ideals, to a larger circle this year than in 1913.

The original designation of May 30 as Memorial Day, was intended to set aside a time for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who had died in the defense of their country.

The first fixed date upon which the celebration occurred was named by Commander-in-Chief John A. Logan of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1868. Logan did this, he declared, "with the hope that the custom will be kept up from year to year." Gradually the States of the Union, beginning with Rhode Island in 1874, set aside the day as a legal holiday, making the occasion of nation-wide importance. Exercises in all localities have, since the conception of the idea, been under the supervision of the local posts, G. A. R. As the ranks of the veterans have dwindled, and many of their more forceful members have passed to the Great Beyond, a decided change has marked the observance of the day. It has become Decoration Day rather than Memorial Day. The more serious-minded make it a time for decorating the graves of departed loved ones; to those connected with the business world, it is a welcome holiday in the glad springtime. Hundreds of thousands swell the receipts of opening day in all the city parks; other thousands throng to the base ball games. Everywhere there reigns pleasure and good cheer.

And in the joyousness of the early summer time we would have it so, but we must still include in our program the cultivation of patriotic ideals.

Legislatures of the States did not legalize the day for pleasure alone, but as a time in the matter-of-fact hustle of modern life, in which we might pause to compare the motives that prevail in our day with those of the last generation. Are ours as lofty and pure? Do they approach the standard of unselfish devotion, fixed by the patriots of the old days? Are we maintaining just as steadfastly the early ideals? The demands of our country come now in another guise, but they are ever present with us. Do we plan in our daily life, to devote to the general weal, the time and energy that we owe? This phase of the day has been covered in many cities since 1910, by a setting aside of the five minutes following noon, as a time of consecration, when our mind shall dwell upon past history, and the heroes who have made it; when we shall reconsecrate ourselves to the service demanded of us. In neighboring cities the bells are tolled, the whistles blown, for this short time, in recognition of day. The city police stand at attention, and the booming guns mark the solemnity of the hour.

May we not, as townspeople, adapt the custom to its greatest good in our locality?

We would suggest in addition to the tolling of the bells, a closing of the hotels and other business places—and endeavor on the part of everyone to join in this simple observance in honor of heroes and deeds of the past.

THE DUST NUISANCE

No demand on the part of the taxpayers has ever been so strong as that just now for the operation of the sprinkler. Most of the complaints come from residents on Delaware avenue. The dirt road there is ground to dust from the unusual automobile traffic. Main street is worse than usual but not to be compared with the side streets.

It is earnestly hoped Council will provide means for relief. Aside from the discomfort, the dust is really against the health of the community. We cannot compare conditions with those before we had a sprinkler. The progress of Newark has not been normal. Today, with the automobiles passing through here, we have a city traffic but our streets are still country roads. While we appreciate the many expenses facing Council, we believe unanimous approval would back any action tending toward relief from the dust.

COACH McAVOY'S SUCCESS

Nineteen fourteen has without question been the greatest in the history of Delaware College. Ideas, once hooted at, have been projected into realities. The College stands today in closer relation to the State than ever before in its history. It is a State, not a local institution, and at last is becoming so recognized. Imbued with the service idea, the College is taking the lead, in fact as well as in theory, in all matters of education. Under the new charter, the College stands by act of the General Assembly at the head of the school system. And not only is this an act of Legislature, it is becoming a reality.

Prominent among these innovations, stands the work of Coach McAvoy. Seizing the advantages offered by the Frazer Field he started last fall to get all Delaware interested in College Athletics. Invitations issued to the Chamber of Commerce, the New Castle County and Wilmington High Schools brought a host of visitors. They were surprised, interested, and went away friends of the institution. Friends, because they saw and recognized for the first time the opportunities and advantages offered here. Again on last Saturday, Coach McAvoy made Delaware College the interested subject of discussion in every high school in the State. In school conversations this week the institution is spoken of with more favor than ever before. The Athletic Meet was the event of the year. Representatives from the Peninsula who visited us were made to feel that the College was theirs and that the Meet was only an introduction to future events when they should the Varsity as students.

To arrange such an event was an enormous amount of work crowded with the most exacting details. Without taking any credit from the Athletic Council, be it understood that every point had to pass under the eye of the Coach.

It was an interesting sight to see all Delaware assembled at lunch in the gymnasium, attended by College boys serving well both guests and Alma Mater.

Sponsor for all this, Coach McAvoy was in the background. To the Council, the students, all officials—Honor. But lest the success blind us,—Hats off to the Coach!

Along the same line of the Athletic Meet, the Extension Committee showed possibilities in the Oratorical Contest on Friday evening. While but little time was had for arrangements this year, the contest was a success. Judging from comments heard, it promises to be an annual event of State-wide interest. Delaware College campus takes in the whole State,—but the recreation rooms, laboratories, auditorium and athletic field are at Newark,—that's all.

WELCOME HOME

Speaking in international terms, Theodore Roosevelt is the first living American. Whatever we may think of his theories of government, we cannot help but recognize his genius for action. He is typically American, representing the best of what is known as the Crowd. He is the leader of an army of admirers, striving for better things. We do not always agree with his methods of bringing about those things but we do recognize his service to his country. The world is better for his zeal, his honesty and his courage. He has returned home, according to reports not in his usual physically fit condition. It is interesting to note the editorial comments on the man. Irrespective of political views or party affiliation—all recognize his worth and are solicitous for his speedy return to health.

A life teeming with action in the service of his country, his work is not yet complete.

SQUIBS

Hats off—every mother's son of you. To whom? Why, Coach McAvoy, of course.

The man who says that politics makes every man a rascal had better stay out. It will only show him up.

No matter what you think of the political views of the man, the first article you read in this morning's paper was the arrival of Teddy.

It's advertising of course—but it's the truth when we tell you that the Carnival this year will be the greatest ever.

Just by way of reminder,—there are no prettier girls in Ohio than around Newark and Christiana.

Just whether Bryan is making history or hysteria depends on the point of view. No one questions, however, but that he is making a mess of U. S. diplomacy.

One way to settle this Mexican difficulty,—depose Huerta and dispose of Bryan.

Now we can talk United States to Mexico.—Teddy's home.

Politics is a dead issue in Newark. Our people are doing more useful work, making this old town a better place to live in.

A recent speech by La Follette printed, but not delivered, in the Congressional Record, required 365 pages of type and cost the Government $12,468.

Our only comment is that the 3-minute address by Lincoln is still a classic.

The business man who said that the telephone man for brevity, didn't live on a party line.

The summer girl daintily playing with her embroidery said, "Oh, I have gone and dropped a stitch." "Don't mind that, dear," observed the considerate father, "that waist you have on has nearly all of them dropped."

To so arrange facts as to make a false impression requires a master hand. But he's a liar just the same.

There is more business going on in Newark than in any town in the State.

To fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to inspire and refine us, a new friend to be by our side always, who, when life grows narrow and weary, will take us into his wider and calmer and higher world, whether it be biography, introducing us to some humble life made great by duty done, or history, opening vistas into the movements and destinies of nations that have passed away, or poetry, making music of all common things around us, and filling the fields and the skies and the works of the city and the cottage with eternal meanings—whether it be these, or story books, or religious books, or science no one can become the friend even of one good book without being made wiser and better.

—Henry Drummond.

Annual Convention Of P. E. Church

Clergymen and laymen through out the State attended the annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Delaware in Immanuel Church, New Castle on Wednesday. Bishop Israel of Erie, Pa., assisted Bishop Kinsman in the opening Communion service. John S. Grohe of Wilmington was re-elected secretary and Rev. T. G. Hill of Smyrna assistant. Bishop gave his annual address detailing the condition of all the churches in the diocese, and reports of officers and committees were read. Frederick Bringham was chosen treasurer; George R. Hoffecker, trustee; Rev. E. J. H. Andrews of Milford, registrar; and Judge Edward G. Bradford a member of the Committee on Constitution and Canons. Rev. F. M. Kirkus of Trinity Church, Wilmington, proposed an amendment, which was approved, giving laymen equal voice with the clergy in nominating and electing bishops, the clergy at present having the right of nomination.

Members of the Omega Alpha Fraternity entertained a number of their friends at a dance last Friday evening.

automobiles as well as from the stands could see every event on the field. Due to the great care and hard work of Groundkeeper Rose, the new athletic field was in fine shape and was declared by many to be the finest college athletic field in the country.

The schools were divided into two classes, —1 and 2. The latter class was for novices, those schools that have never had any experience in field and track meets and much interest was centered in the events of this class. While they naturally did not make as fast time as the contestants in Class 1, yet as a whole they did fine work and a number of the entries show promise of making crack athletes if they get the opportunity.

Lewes High School carried off most of the honors in class 2, winning both the silver cup offered by Millard F. Davis of Wilmington, for the winner of the relay race and also the handsome banner offered by the Athletic Council for the school scoring the largest number of points. Dover was a close second, being only a few points behind. It was the winning of the relay that gave Lewes the largest number of points as Dover would have been ahead but for that event. The points were divided as follows: Lewes, 38; Dover, 33 1-3; Newark, 14; Georgetown 11 1-3; duPont, 11 1-3, and Elkton 10.

NEWARK HIGH DID WELL

Considering the few entries that they had Newark High made an excellent showing, being third high with 14 points. Ferguson won the 440 yard dash. Ritz finished second in the 220 yard dash. Whitman got second place in the shot put event and Major second in the broad jump. In addition to the loving cup and banner, individual awards of gold, silver and bronze medals were made to those finishing first, second, and third, in each event of both classes.

Tome Institute sent a classy lot of runners here for the track events of Class 1 and consequently got most of the honors for this branch of the sports. Tome won the silver cup offered by Josiah Marvel and the banner in this class. Harvey of Tome, in the 100 yard dash and 220 yard dash hurdles and Miller of Tome in the 440 yard dash run the events in exactly the same time as the winners of the same events in the dual meet between Delaware and Drexel, while Miller of Tome in the 220 yard dash, Jones of Tome in the 880 yard dash and Zimmerman of the Wilmington Conference Academy in the one mile run, won their events in faster time than did the winners of the same events in the dual meet.

The mile run by Zimmerman of the Conference Academy was one of the chief features of the day. He was the winner of the event in the fast time of 4 minutes 50 1-5 seconds, which was 9 1-5 seconds faster than the Delaware College record for a mile and 25 1-5 seconds faster than the time made by the winner of the same event in the dual meet. It is possible that Zimmerman will enter Delaware next fall.

Wilmington High School, Wilmington Friends and Wilmington Conference Academy outclassed

Tome in the field events. The points scored by schools in class 1 were as follows Tome Institute, 54 1-3; Wilmington High, 27; Wilmington Conference Academy, 17 2-3; Wilmington Friends, 14 and Chester High, 7.

DELAWARE DEFEATED BY DREXEL

Delaware lost the dual meet with Drexel Institute by a total of 62 points for Drexel and 46 for Delaware. It was in the field events that the gold and blue was defeated as they outclassed the visitors on the track. Archie Dean established a new record for both the 120 and 220 yard hurdles, winning both events. Smith of Delaware won the 100 yard dash with speed to spare while Marshall captured the 440 yard dash easy. Marshall however, much to the surprise of many lost the 220 yard dash by a foot to Crawford of Drexel. Crothers of Delaware won the one mile event after running a pretty race.

Delaware did not have a look in on the field events. Drexel men beat the Delaware record in the pole vault and broad jump and equalled the local college record in the high jump.

The Result

Only a little cavity,
Neglected day after day,
As being small and unimportant,
For aches and pains proves the way.

It is unwise to neglect the smallest cavity as the process of decay continues unless arrested, and in time the tooth becomes so badly diseased that its removal is necessary.

50 Lewes Fisheries Co. 100, (par)

Manufacturers of Oil and Fertilizer
Lewes, Delaware.

This company has paid their stock holders since July, 1911, $40.00 per share in dividends.

They have chartered four additional steamers for this season, making a total of eight steamers in service in season 1914. This should double their previous net earnings and dividends. They have sold their entire product of fish fertilizer for this season at a higher price than they received in 1911, when they paid 20% dividends. The affairs of this company are managed by men of ability and integrity.

BY ISRAEL ANDIRON

RANDOM TALKS

Herbert Clark's faithful old horse, which has been cared for all winter by Merton Thomas, died last week. It was thirty-three years old; a friend of all the community, a sort of institution in the life of the place.

How often has its patient industry served its times! How kindly were its ways, how good its will toward man! It had no great reasoning power, the intellect was not acute, but it had enough mind to choose between service and hatred and it made the very best use it could of the horse nature. But in this it lived up to its race standards. All horses, if they have reason enough to be called intelligent animals and are justly treated, deserve well by their actions. Fortunately the friend of the family lived and died in a time of peace. No army wagon or drawing of crushing cannon was put upon it. Its toil was hard, but it was without the dreadful wound of the exploding shell, the slow misery of underfed retreats from doubtful battlefields when whip and blow made every furlong agony. The sweet hay and goodly grass were its reward for labor done and grain it helped to grow was measured to it fairly all the days of its life. Justice and kindness toward an animal is as much a duty to the God-loving man as justice elsewhere. For righteousness is not a matter to be limited by him who receives it, but of the attitude and action of the man; it becomes the soul, when exercised as to a horse, a dog or even the least of creatures, as when manifested in the courts or senates where the powerful rule the nation.

A great loss is being sustained by many women who have not time to gather the harvest they own; growing in the soft spring sunshine. The dandelion will not wait, the maples are red for the harvest and the anemones are white upon the hills. The green of the year, the scarlet of wood spaces, the tender leaves of household flowers around the yard; these need gathering with the eyes and binding with the heart's impulses and storing in the memory, lest the advancing season make them to fade before we have saved them. The farmer's wife should lay aside her important work; the cleaning, the pastry-making, the million duties of the home, and go out now and then to the more important work of refreshing her soul and resting her mind, while she sees the revelation of that life which is God, laid between the orchard and the lane or spread like a map of the love of God in the haze of April as it yields to May.

I gave my horse away today, though the dealer said he would give me ten or fifteen dollars for it. Mary was here at the time and she remarked that the horse was too lame to be worth much and would surely be used by jockeys, who would fix its lame joint so it would appear all right and then use the horse to swindle some poor man. I had thought of that before, so I told Mary she was not the only person who had a liking for a fair deal for an animal, at which she smiled very sweetly and remarked that Tom Blackwell was a very humane man and I could give it to him to use a little around the place over there, and retain ownership so I could give it a painless death when the horse could work no more. So I gave the horse away and it went to a nice stall and good care. Blackwell thinks perhaps he can cure it, and perhaps he can. Stewart Gale had a horse given him two years ago, its hoofs having begun to crumble, and he turned it out to grass and fussed over it for a couple of months and has since been offered a hundred and eighty dollars for it. Stewart says he is getting a little along in years, but still enjoys a good horse himself and won't sell it. If farmers would be honest about their horses they would be better off in many cases; to sell a horse because it has gone lame may look like a painful thing; at times it is, but the loss of self-respect injures a man's earning power and ability to get favors from his neighbors, who usually know a trick has been played. Often a horse that has gone lame can be cured, even if the veterinary and the neighbors say it cannot be helped. And when a horse is not likely to be worth anything to an average farmer it is not likely to be worth anything to any one else.

Horace Westover is out pruning and spraying trees today. Years ago he had seven children, but now he is alone and Easter was his seventieth birthday anniversary. He still keeps the farm, old Mrs. Masella, the Italian woman who hobble around with a crutch, does the work in the house and blesses him for keeping her out of the poor house, for much of the time she has no work at all and he gets his own meals. As each of his children died, some when young, some when older, Horace set the following spring an apple tree on the West Hill lot and a rose in his back yard. He tends them as his most important work. The roses, each of a different kind, he gathers as they bloom and sends to some person who he thinks is a little neglected, always putting in the card of the dead child whom the rose bush is set for. Each autumn he gathers the apples and sends them in boxes to people who will be cheered or helped by them, and the card from the one the tree was set for always goes in to indicate that the dead have sent the fruit. Some think Horace is a little out of his mind; he never does anything wrong, but he confides to friends that he hears voices in the moments between sleeping and waking, his dead children telling him who ought to have the fruit and flowers as they are ready, and sometimes he greets a tramp who is asking food with a pair of clean stockings or some comfort a tramp is sure to need, saying his daughter or his son has told him to have them ready. But if actions spring from a mind deranged from uncomplaining sorrow, surely it were better if all the world were mad. I, seeing him patiently at work in the spring glory of a rising day, remembering his good works, his scorn of mere graveyard memorials, feel that perhaps in the sorrows of his days he may have pushed aside a little the veil of mortality and be in truth communing with those enlightened dead who know that honor and service are one, that under the clouds of grief ever blooms and blesses the flowers of heavenly character.

Recipes for the Course Dinner

MEATS

SWEET BREADS WITH CREAM SAUCE

Trim and wash sweet breads very well. Let lay in cold water several hours. Parboil until quite tender. Take from boiling water and put in cold water to blanch. Make a cream sauce. Cut up sweet breads, add to sauce, let come to a boil and serve with chopped parsley.

SHRIMPS A LA BALTIMORE
1 can shrimps
1 tablespoon butter
2 teaspoons chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon chopped onion
1 cup tomatoes
1-2 cup rich beef stock

Pick over shrimp, cutting down back and removing black thread. Put butter in pan, add chopped onion and cook until brown. Add chopped peppers and a little salt. Cook three minutes, then add stock and tomatoes. When this comes to a boil add shrimp. Serve at once in ramikins with small squares of toast.

CHICKEN WITH ASPARAGUS
2 cups cold chicken cut fine
1 bunch asparagus
1 cup cream sauce
1 cup chicken stock
Put in baking dish, a layer of chicken and a layer of asparagus tips, alternately until used, then add cream sauce and stock. Cover with bread crumbs and bake until asparagus is tender. Serve at once

RICE CROQUETTES

1 quart milk
1 cup rice
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons sugar

1 saltspoon salt
4 eggs
Grated rind and juice of lemon
Wash the rice. Put rice, milk, salt and sugar into double boiler. Cook until very tender. Add butter. Beat eggs very light, add gently to rice, stirring all the time. Add juice and rind of lemon. Set on ice to get very cold. This is best made the day before it is intended to be used. Mould into pyramids, dip in well-beaten egg and bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until a light brown.

APPLE FRITTERS

1 1-2 cups flour
1 1-2 teaspoons baking powder
A little salt
3-4 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar
Beat eggs light. Add sugar, then flour and baking powder, salt and milk. Cut apples in thin slices, add slices to batter and fry in deep, very hot lard. When ready to serve sprinkle with powdered sugar and cinnamon.

CREAMED MUSHROOMS

Peel and clean mushrooms. Wash well. Stew very slowly in some beef stock with a piece of butter. Make cream sauce while mushrooms are cooking. Take a tablespoon of butter. Melt, mix in a dessertspoon of flour and stir until smooth. Add milk or cream until proper thickness is attained. Keep on fire stirring well, and add four cooked mushrooms. Season with salt and sprinkle to taste. Serve on crisp pieces of toast.

Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

Mrs. Elizabeth I. McKinney was found guilty of manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer on Thursday, after the jury had deliberated from 12.18 o'clock until 7.40 o'clock last night. In returning the verdict the foreman of the jury added a recommendation for mercy and the court allowed four days in which an appeal for a new trial may be made.

Mrs. McKinney was convicted of fatally shooting Delaware Reed, her cousin, with a revolver at Glasgow on the afternoon of January 25 of this year. It was testified that Reed had returned home after a drinking bout at Iron Hill and wrecked the furniture of the house and assaulted her before she fired three shots while he was standing in the front yard, one of which took effect and caused almost instant death. At the coroner's inquest, the woman was exonerated on the grounds of self defense and her attorney, J. Frank Ball, made this contention during the trial.

After the jury had retired they deliberated until 3.18 p. m. when it was announced that they wished to be enlightened by the court as to the legal points involved in premeditated murder and self defense. This led to the belief that the men were considering the fact that Mrs. McKinney had planned to shoot Reed and did not do so in the heat of blood which was conceded by both the defence and Attorney General Wolcott.

Mrs. McKinney never flinched when the foreman announced the verdict in a voice that was scarcely audible and Attorney Ball polled the jury. She maintained the same calmness she displayed all during the ordeal of the trial and while on the witness stand while her attorney asked for the arrest of sentence pending a motion for a new trial.

The convicted woman was then admitted to bail of $5,000, which was supplied by Dr. John Palmer, Jr.

HERE AND THERE

The will of the late Mrs. Margaret K. Grant of Wilmington disposes of an estate valued at $300,000. Two trust funds of $100,000 and $15,000 are provided for relatives, and the residue, apart from bequests, is left to her daughter, Mrs. Martha K. Grant. Among the bequests are $2500 to the Home for Aged Women; $2000 to West Presbyterian Church; $500 to the Baird Memorial Mission; $500 to the Italian Presbyterian Mission; $2000 to Richard Weeks, a faithful colored servant and $1000 to Mrs. Minnie J. Morrow of Baltimore, a former employee of the testatrix.

Samuel W. Hall, son of former Governor John W. Hall, died on May 11, aged 70 years, at his home in Dover, from the effects of injuries caused by a fall down a stairway at his home in February. He left an estate approximately $700,000 in value, chiefly to his wife, Mrs. Annie E. Hall, naming her as executrix. She, however, waived her right and agreed to share the property equally with her two sons, Frank and S. Warren Hall. The estate comprises bonds and mortgages and about $100,000 in real property.

The Early Fly

The early fly is the one to swat. It comes before the weather's hot, and sits around and flies its legs, and lays at least ten million eggs, and every egg will bring a fly to drive us crazy by and by. Oh, every fly that skips our swatters will have five million sons and daughters, and countless first and second cousins, and aunts and uncles, scores of dozens, and fifty-seven billion nieces, so knock the blamed thing all to pieces. And every niece and every aunt—unless we swat them so they can't—will lay enough dodgasted eggs to fill up ten five-gallon kegs, and all these kegs, ere summer hies, will bring forth twenty trillion flies. And thus it goes, an endless chain, so all our swatting is in vain unless we do that swatting soon, in Maytime and in early June. So, men and brothers, let us rise, gird up our loins and swat the flies! And sisters, leave your cosy bowers where you have wasted golden hours; with ardor in your souls and eyes, roll up your sleeves and swat the flies!—Walt Mason in Boston Post.

You're a Telephone Operator

There are three parties to a telephone connection—the calling, the called and the operator who serves both.

You and every other telephone user are essential partners in the company, and toward good telephone service.

You should speak the number slowly and distinctly; the called subscriber should answer promptly, and the telephone girl, courteous and painstaking throughout, will seldom make a mistake if the other two "operators" do their part.

Help toward good service by following the rules in the "Information" section in the forepart of your telephone directory.

IMPORTANT PARTS

In Sanitary Plumbing, as in life, are often played by the Little Things. The lack of a mite of a Washer, a Single Broken or Wornout Thread on a Screw or Cap in an Escape Pipe, may bring you annoyance, possibly sickness. We have a care for "the little things"—the big ones look out for themselves.

Best modern methods and appliances are used by us; materials and workmanship thoroughly reliable.

Banner Fruit Crop Predicted

The following optimistic account of the prospect for a banner fruit crop in Delaware, is clipped from the Wilmington Sunday Star of May 17:

Delaware, and in fact the entire Delmarva Peninsula, is facing what promises to be a banner crop year, and it is expected that shipments of certain kinds of fruit will break all previous records.

Growers and buyers of the lower part of the State were never more optimistic at this time, and while big increases in the shipments are looked for, they expect the demand to equal the supply, for Delaware products are shipped to many cities, even including Montreal, Canada.

The strawberry crop is expected to be a record breaker, but it would be difficult to make an estimate at this time as to the yield, for the acreage is larger than ever before and the vines at this time contain more berries than on any previous occasion. The weather, it appears, has been ideal for the vines, and the crop will be enormous.

A representative of The Star during the past week made a trip through the State, visiting the berry belt, and he found only optimism on all sides.

The work of gathering the yield will begin in from two to three weeks and it means the importation of considerable labor to the fruit belt.

Formerly the crop was harvested mainly by negro families brought from Maryland and the Virginias, but with the increased acreage, it became necessary to draw upon other sources, and now Italians are largely employed.

The big growers early in the year make arrangements with padrones, who in turn arrange for the number of laborers desired. On the fruit farms are erected rows of wooden shacks where the families take up quarters during the fruit season. No rent is charged, and the Italian families are enabled to make comfortable wages.

Sometimes they are brought from Philadelphia and other cities by special train, and the fruit growers find them peculiarly adapted to harvesting the berry crop.

At Bridgeville, the largest strawberry shipping point in the world merchants already are laying in increased stocks of all kinds, for, during the weeks of the strawberry season, it means that hundreds of additional men, women and children must be clothed and fed.

The fruit and truck sections of Delaware never looks prettier. This spring the acreage of peas is great, and one may travel miles while countless numbers of fields of peas, looking like great green blocks, are presented to view. The peas are contracted for by canners, and the work of harvesting this crop will begin in a few weeks.

The yield of apples is also going to be great this year, for the apple orchard is superseding the peach orchard. Apple culture was first begun on an extensive scale in Kent county, but it has extended to Sussex county, and fruit growers are finding its culture very profitable and far more satisfactory than the growing of peaches, although a ride through the state evidenced the fact that there appears to be a revival of peach growing. This revival began only recently, and many of the orchards seen were recently planted.

One of the largest apple orchards to be found in this country is near Bridgeville—that of the Delaware Apple Company. This company bought the S. H. Messick farm on the road, from Bridgeville to Georgetown, and set out 929 acres in apple trees. These trees just now are in a fine condition, but they will not bear in full for three more years.

Before the first crop is gathered it will be necessary to build a railroad siding from the main line of the Delaware Railroad at Bridgeville to the farm. It will also be necessary to erect a cold storage plant and an ice manufacturing plant. Italian laborers will be engaged to pick the fruit, and a small settlement of shacks will be built on the farm.

The apple company has also purchased another farm near the Mes-sicks orchards, and 44,000 more trees have been planted. The orchards of this company alone insure an enormous yield of apples in a few years unless something should happen to kill the trees.

Unless weather conditions or insects do great damage, the yield of cantaloupes will be far greater than ever before. The growers have planted the seed and they are looking forward to the result of this year's crop with a great deal of interest.

Some of the pessimists declare that if there is a full crop, the big markets will be glutted, but others contend that the Delaware product has made such a name for itself during the past five or six years that the demand will increase with the supply.

Sussex county growers this year are experimenting with watermelons on a large scale, something they have never done before, and many carloads of melons will be shipped from the principal towns of that county.

All crop conditions are good, but strawberries and peas will be later than usual owing to the late spring.
 This, however, is regarded as a good sign as the southern berries will be out of the way, and altogether this gives every promise of being a great year for the Delmarvia Peninsula. One hears no talk of hard times, but on the contrary everybody is optimistic, and many thousands of dollars will soon be put in circulation.

Concerning Your Eyes

Good eyesight is essential to health and comfort. Eye strain uncorrected leads to nervous disorders and is a factor in causing many reflex disturbances.

Tired, aching eyes, frequent pain over the eyes or heads aches are some of the indications of eye strain. At other times the eyes give no indication themselves of strain, but endeavor to keep up the demand upon them, by using the reserve accommodative power until they give out.

GLASSES RELIEVE EYE STRAIN

Success in relieving eye strain depends entirely upon the skill of the practitioner who prescribes the glasses. Our Optometrists are experienced and capable.

A Delawarean's View Of The Suffrage Parade

A correspondent in the Middletown Transcript gives an interesting description of the suffrage demonstration held in Washington,
 May 2, as follows:

"Dignified in carriage, elastic of step, and bright in hope, marched thousands of women on Saturday in Washington—volunteers present from north, east, south and west, to represent not only their respective states but the many occupations and professions which rapidly changing economic conditions have thrown open to women, and which are fast proving the unanswerable argument for the justice of extending them the right of franchise.

Judging by the fine weather conditions in Washington, the weatherman must favor votes for women, as he certainly smiled on the marching suffragists on Saturday. The route along Pennsylvania avenue, from the White House to the Capitol, with its cloud-capped dome rising chaste and vision-like against the clear blue sky, was an inspiring one for the marchers whose gay pageantry of color, frequent bands flower-decked girls, suffrage calvary, infantry by thousands colorful with badges, insignia and regalia of varying kinds, or marked by some effective device—as Connecticut with its gay umbrellas, the pageantry of spring, youth and hope, typified by hundreds of girls and young women, garlanded by flowers, and followed by a white-robed chorus—all combined in a beautiful and artistic ensemble.

There were the delegations, too, of trade unions end, marshalling all the mounted calvary women, their purple, white and gold flags flashing gaily here and there and everywhere, throughout a field of moving waving color. Coming over 2,000 miles from the west, were the women voters, an advance guard who already exercise the right to vote.

It was a picturesque group of Delaware women that gathered at the Pennsylvania station in Washington to take the 9.10 a. m. train, bearing also a suffrage delegation of one hundred Philadelphians, including teachers and professional women to the national capital.

The Delaware party wore white dresses and regalia of various descriptions. The rich purple, yellow and white sashes of the Congressional Union were in evidence, besides the yellow and black "votes for women" breast bands, buttons with their ten blue stars typical of the enfranchised states, while one enthusiast wore as a pendant and

Society Defines Its Object

The General Service Board of the Delaware Society of Civil and Social Welfare, recently organized in Wilmington, is distributing a circular letter which sets forth the object of the association as follows:

This Society and its Executive Body, The General Service Board of Delaware, is organized to co-operate with the existing civic and welfare organizations and for the following purposes:

1. To study in a scientific manner all the General Welfare and Civic problems in Delaware, to the end that all the interests concerned in proposed legislation be given mature consideration before bills are presented.

2. To aid in the study and supplement the efforts of the organizations in the state already conducting such divisions of the work as: The Juvenile Court Association, The Child Labor Committee, The School for Foreigners, Consumers' League, Associated Charities, The Civic Association, Parent-Teachers' Association, Delaware State Grange and similar organizations throughout the State.

3. To educate and stimulate the citizens of the State of Delaware to the full and effective support of such measures as the society shall approve after deliberative study.

4. To endeavor to establish as public policy and enact into law such measures as shall be finally determined as applicable to conditions within the state.

To properly work out the scope of this movement, it is necessary to be assured of financial support for a period of not less than three years, from June 1st, 1914, to June 1st, 1917. This is in order to allow ample time for a thorough study of many of the State and local problems indicated under the above purposes, and for careful consideration of all interests affected by proposed measures preparatory to presentation at the legislative sessions in January of the years 1915 and 1917.

For these reasons the Organizing Committee feels it necessary to secure the subscriptions to—or the underwriting of—this work to an amount of $10,000 per annum, or more, for the first three years, to be applied to secretarial, office, educational, legal and other expenses. It is, therefore, necessary to secure from those citizens of our state who support these principles a subscription guarantee running for three years, payable quarterly, semi-annually, or annually as desired. The amount subscribed carries with it membership in the society.

The moral support of every interested citizen as a member of the society is needed, as well as the financial support of every dollar or more of individual subscription that can be secured.

Subscription shall be made binding and effective upon a minimum guarantee of $5,000 a year for the three year period.

Issued by the Organizing Committee.

SCHOOL NOTES

Last Friday afternoon a most helpful and interesting address was delivered before the Newark High School by Prof. C. A. Short of Delaware College upon the subject "Does the Higher Education Pay?" In the course of his remarks Prof. Short emphasized the importance of thrift and industry, especially if the young men and women of Anglo-Saxon descent hope to maintain their lead in America. By several illustrations of the careers of successful men the speaker showed that the Higher Education does pay, provided that honesty and commonsense are added as essential elements of success. The pupils of the Eighth Grade had been invited over and they as well as the High School students, should find in these words of advice and encouragement, so clearly and forcibly presented, inspiration for acquiring for life's work the very best preparation attainable.

Address Before Engineering Students

Mr. Lucas of the Westinghouse Company gave an informal talk before the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering students of the Senior Class on Wednesday, May 13, on Electrical Measuring Instruments. Although he spoke briefly about current transformers, saying that they may be connected in series or in parallel and that the through type used on heavy work is accurate within .01 or .02 of 1 per cent, and about voltmeters, saying that the dampening effect is secured by means of a disc, he confined the greater part of his talk to watt-hour meters.

Mr. Lucas showed the class one of the first Shellenbarger watt-hour meters, in which the dampening effect was secured by means of a comparative crude fan-like arrangement. He then showed us one of the most up-to-date watt-hour meters and drew a comparison between the two instruments pointing out the permanent magnets which have superseded the old fan arrangement and the general compactness and neatness of the new watt-meter over the old one. He also called attention to the copper strap attached to the new instrument, which is used for the light load adjustment, and the method of moving the magnets for the full load adjustment. The accuracy of these adjustments is, he said, within 2 per cent from 2 per cent load to 150 per cent load. This instrument has jewel bearings so that friction may be reduced to a minimum. The loss of watts in the shunt coil is constant, I watt, and the loss of watts in the series coil is also constant, but is only .2 watt. Each of these losses, however, is compensated for. The greatest care is taken to insure accuracy in this latter instrument. Holes are punched in the disc to prevent creeping, a dab of paint is put on the disc to insure perfect balance, and the ratio of torque to weight is a definitely known quantity.

Quarantine On Maine Seed Potatoes

The Department of Plant Pathology of Delaware College again calls the attention of potato growers in Delaware and the Peninsula to the serious nature of the powdery scab of potatoes. This disease has secured a strong foothold in the seed-potato districts of Maine, and since most of the seed for our early market potatoes comes directly from this northern source, it will be necessary for us to become aware of the serious nature of this trouble. Careful examination should be made of all potatoes used for seed and should the presence of a new form of scab be manifest, specimens should be submitted to the Plant Pathologist of Delaware College, Newark, Delaware.

This disease is considered so serious that the Federal Horticultural Board has issued a notice of quarantine on Maine seed to become effective on August 1, 1914. In Scotland, the Board of Agriculture prohibits shipments from infested land and further quarantines all areas showing any evidence of being infested. Our growers are already aware of the fact that the United States has a quarantine against European and Canadian potatoes on account of this disease and the black wart or canker, which is likewise a disastrous potato trouble.

There is no doubt but that the disease has already reached Delaware, the Plant Pathologist having found the same upon four different shipments of seed potatoes labelled from Maine.

The spots or pustules of powdery scab are not irregular as a rule like that of common scab, but are smaller and nearly circular, breaking through the thin surface skin of the potato and turning it back like a rust pustule; the center is brown and powdery. This disease like ordinary scab may persist in infested soil for a long time. The seriousness of the disease is due to several characteristics not common to ordinary scab; viz., powdery scab on potatoes according to statements made at the public hearings in Washington, is not destroyed, when they are treated with formaldehyde and corrosive sublimate. Also in storage, especially in spring under warm conditions, the disease continues its activity, forming cankers by enlarging and deepening the infected spots.

The Department of Plant Pathology of Delaware College is desirous of keeping in touch with potato growers throughout the Peninsula and it will gladly furnish franked tags to forward specimens; identification of the disease will be made and a report sent to the grower.

Board Names Committees

The committees provided for at a recent meeting of the Trustees of Delaware College have been appointed by Ex-Governor Preston Lea, chairman of the Board. There is now an Executive Committee, composed of the chairman of the Board, the president of the College, and the chairman of the other committees. This committee will constitute the governing body of the college between meetings of the Board of Trustees. The committees and their members are as follows:

Everybody Loves a Fat Man

when he's a Sol Wilson Tailored Man. The skinny person who wrote the line "Nobody loves a Fat Man" was airing his jealousy,—and he knew he was perjuring himself when he did it. It is, of course, perfectly true that a slouchy fat man is not very attractive. But for that matter nobody cares especially to hug a slouchy light-weight.

"Fat" is just like anything else. If you do it up in a nifty package, and display it with tasty, harmonious trimmings, it presents a mighty alluring front. Moreover, it combines both quantity and quality—a full-weight package of good merchandise.

On the other hand, if you wrap it up in butcher paper and tie it with coarse-grained string—then nobody values it particularly.

I especially invite the visits of the Robust. One of the main things I am proving is that my tailoring can adapt the latest and nattiest English styles to the heaviest figures—even to John Bunny figures—and retain that trim-and-slim English style.

The English "soft-lapelled," "figure-following" styles can be attuned to any avoirdupois—and look as though they belonged there—if the tailoring is right.
