Winner in one city council district

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The period for filing to run in Newark's city council race ended on Monday and one clear winner has already emerged.

George J. Clifton, the only person who filed to run in District 2, will take his seat on city council in April. Incumbent Irene Zych has announced she will not be running for her fourth term from that district.

Clifton, who lost to Zych by three votes in 1995, said he wants to serve on city council to address traffic and rentals, among other issues.

In District 4, Thomas Wampler will face a challenge from Dan Beaver who filed to run on Monday only an hour before the deadline. Beaver, a former Libertarian Committee chairman, previously has run in national and state elections.

Beaver's petition caused a two-day flurry of phone calls and faxes when it appeared that four of the 12 names listed as district supporters were not on city voter rolls. After checking with the county Board of Elections, it appeared that Beaver still lacked one of the required 10 voter names.

City solicitor Roger Akin said that Beaver should be given time to rectify his earlier deficient filing, since he did submit it before the deadline. Beaver, who was given until noon yesterday to submit an additional qualified signature, produced the required name in time to go on the ballot.

Wampler, who first ran for council in 1992, has not previously been challenged in the city election.

Scott Bowling, former president of the Abbotsford Civic Association, will challenge incumbent Harold Godwin who has served council for District 1 since 1987.

Thomas returns the compliments

By MARY E. PETZAK

A HOST OF THE BEST and the brightest stars in Newark turned out on Tuesday night to honor 46-year-old Bob Thomas, retiring as president of the Newark Historical Society after six years.

Thomas, a lifetime resident of Newark, was universally hailed as "a walking history of the city." More importantly perhaps, he was described as a friend and a man devoted to his community by almost everyone who spoke.

In expressing his appreciation of the many compliments, Thomas demonstrated why his popularity is so widespread. "I think I know all of you here even though you don't know each other," said Thomas, looking out across the room. "I am an observer of people and I could go around the room and tell each one of you some quality about yourself that I admire and would like to have myself.

"I think maybe there's a little piece of all of you in what Bob Thomas is," Thomas continued. "We all have good qualities that we try to use and I'm sure if any of you were me, you would have done what I do."

Among the tributes at the dinner were proclamations from Gov. Thomas Carper and County Executive Thomas Gordon, naming March 11, 1997, Bob Thomas Day in the state of Delaware and New Castle County.

Presentations and gifts from state and national legislators, county and city councilmembers, and local organizations included a flag flown in his name by Sen. William Roth Jr. over the Capitol Building dome in Washington, D.C.

University of Delaware vice-president Rick Armitage said he and University president David

School choice still available

Apparently faced with the handwriting on the blackboard, Christina District school superintendent Dr. Iris Metts told the school board on Tuesday that the deadline for Choice applications would be extended.

"While we are quite pleased that nearly 200 families did choose our Theme schools, we recognize that many of you initially opted for the fourth grade in a community school," Metts said. "Since the January 10 application deadline, parents and school staffs have a clearer picture of our enrollment patterns for the 1997-98 school year and a number of parents have expressed renewed interest in the Theme schools."

As of this date, approximately 223 students from Christina and other public and private schools chose a district Theme school for 1997-

The check's in the fax?

For the first time in recent memory, a candidate in a local election has filed a complaint with the Newark Board of Ethics concerning an opponent.

Scott Bowling, challenger in District 1, filed the complaint on Wednesday which alleges that incumbent Harold Godwin violated city ethics codes by including a fax number for the Newark Municipal Building in a letter soliciting campaign donations.

"This act is a clear and blatant violation of the City of Newark's Code of Ethics," said Bowling. He cited a section of the code which prohibits the use of municipal property by city officials or employees for personal convenience or profit.

The rest of the heading on Godwin's letter carries his name and the fact that he is a City of Newark Council Member, his home address and his home telephone number.

Godwin said the letter, which was mailed to residents in his district, was prepared at his direction by a printer using Godwin's council business card for information.

"The fax number is just for people to send notes or documents about my job as a council person," said Godwin, adding that he does not have a fax machine at

Stop on I-95 causes 14-car crash

State police report that on March 9 at approximately 7:30 p.m. a 55-year-old woman from Newtonville, N.J., stopped her car on I-95 just after exiting the service plaza near Christiana. Joyce Hardesty's vehicle was struck and subsequently involved 14 cars in 5 separate accidents. Nine people received injuries, according to police, but none were life-threatening. Hardesty was given a ticket for stopping in a roadway.

Youths attacked in bowling alley lot

On March 9 around 2:20 a.m. an 18-year-old and a 15-year-old youth were attacked in the lot outside the Blue Hens Bowling Alley after a group of males approached them and asked for dope. When the boys said they did not have any, one of the group sprayed them with a chemical agent before fleeing.

Driver attacked near campus

On March 8 around 10 p.m. a 45-year-old Newark man was showing the University of Delaware campus to his sister who was visiting from New Mexico. At Pencader Lane he realized he was driving the wrong way and turned around, passing a small red pickup he had seen previously.

One of the three men in the truck stuck his car as he drove by. He let the truck pass so he could get the license number but was struck in the rear by the pickup as he approached Cleveland Avenue. When he exited to look at the damage, the driver of the truck and another man got out and struck him before fleeing. The victim described the suspects as white men in their 20s, one 5 feet, 9 inches tall with brown hair, wearing a puffy jacket, jeans and sunglasses; the other 5 feet, 10 inches tall, 150 pounds with brown hair. Anyone with information is asked to call police at 366-7111.

Car damaged in high school lot

On March 5 between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. unknown suspects damaged the rear window of a black 1988 VW Jetta parked in the lot at the Newark High School. Car stereo equipment valued at $450 was removed from the vehicle. Police have no leads.

Teens charged in burglaries

County police arrested a 13-year-old and a 12-year-old boy this week in connection with a string of robberies that occurred in January and February of this year at the Forest Park Apartments and the Bluffs Apartments in Pike Creek. The boys, who reside in the complexes, were charged with 22 counts of burglary and 44 other counts for the robberies in which electronics, jewelry and coins were taken. Police had the apartments under surveillance after they received a tip from a witness who saw an individual throw what appeared to be stolen property in a dumpster.

CITY OF NEWARK VOTER REGISTRATION

Tomorrow is the last day to register to vote before the April 8 city council election in the city of Newark. Eligible citizens may register 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building, 220 Elkhon Road, Newark. To be eligible to register to vote in any regular or special municipal election in the city of Newark, a person shall be 18 years of age, a citizen of the United States, and shall be domiciled in Newark for not less than 24 days preceding the the next election.

Alcohol, speed blamed in crash

By JIM DECOURCEY

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

Alcohol and speed contributed to a crash that claimed the life of a Delaware man who wrecked just after running through a speed trap on March 14.

Bradley Matthew Junca, 26, of Pulaski Highway, was killed when his 1996 Honda Civic slammed into an embankment on Frenchtown Road and overturned. Maryland state trooper Steve Konold said Junca was the sole occupant of the Honda when it crashed around 4:30 p.m.

Konold was running a radar detector while parked along Frenchtown Road, when he clocked the Civic at 87 mph in a 35 mph zone. Junca passed Konold and was already out of sight by the time the officer got into his cruiser and turned it around.

Just after starting, Konold was flagged down by residents, who had seen Junca's car crash and were running toward the wreckage.

The car had crossed the centerline, and hit an embankment, causing the small car to flip several times. Witnesses told police the car went airborne and bounced nearly 80 feet after striking the embankment. Junca, who was not wearing a seatbelt, was thrown from the car.

The Delaware man is the first person to die in an alcohol-related accident in Cecil County this year. His death was the seventh traffic-related fatality in the county for the year.

Newark Parking Authority lot robbed

Newark Police are still investigating a robbery of a Newark Parking Authority cashier which happened on March 6 at approximately 7:20 p.m.

According to police, the parking attendant exited the booth in the lot behind the Galleria to check the ticket machine.

When the attendant re-entered the booth, the suspect pushed his way in as well. He took an undisclosed amount of money from the cash register and ripped the telephone from the wall before fleeing. Police were notified by a patron leaving the lot after the attendant asked for assistance.

The suspect, described as a black male in his 20s wearing a dark coat, was in the booth while customers were exiting the lot. Anyone who may have seen him, or who can provide additional information, should call police at 366-7111.

Tech park working with developer

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

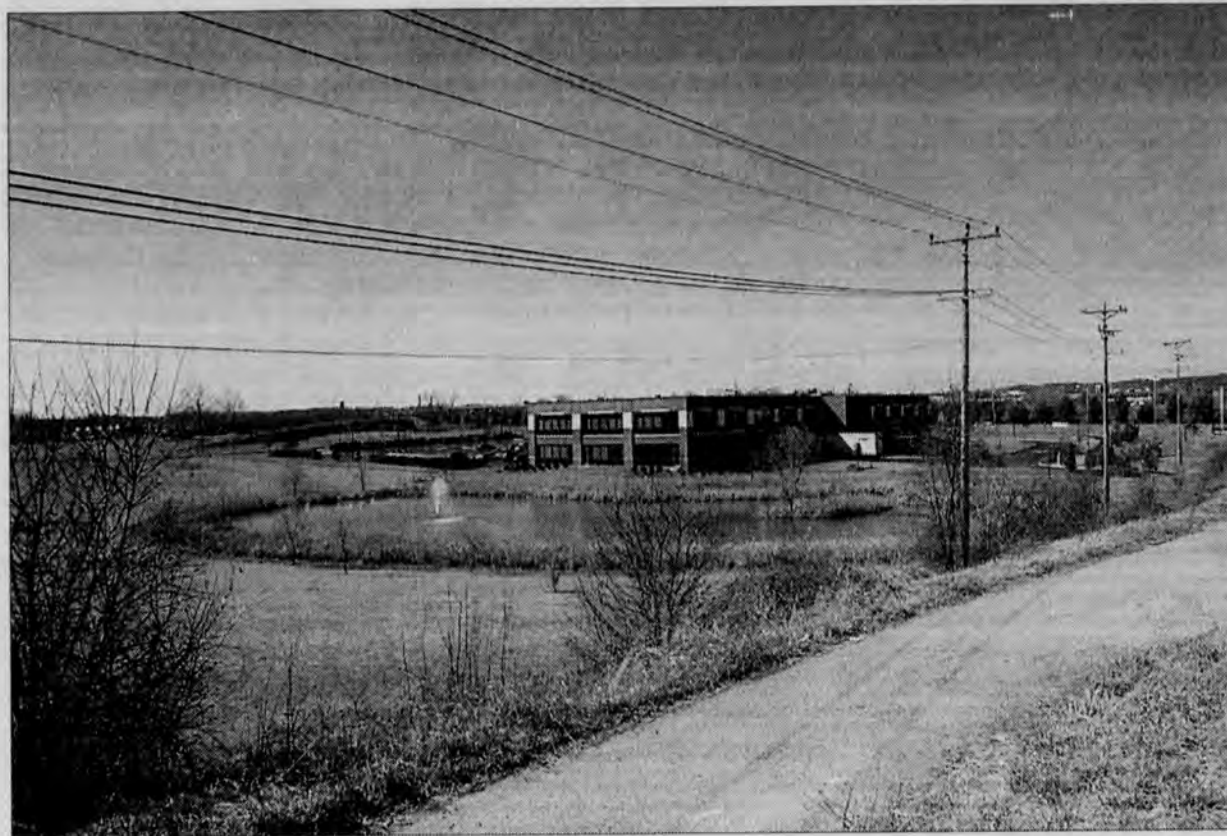

Delaware Technology Park, an entrepreneurial site established in partnership with the University of Delaware and the State of Delaware four years ago, may finally be entering its prime.

According to W. W. "Woody" Maggard, president of Delaware Technology Park, Inc., "lack of financial muscle" in the non-profit corporation has been a roadblock to expanding beyond the present 47,000 square-foot building in the 40-acre park on Marrows Road in Newark.

"There are really two tracks of activity here," said Maggard. "Planning and development of future buildings, and development of the businesses in the park."

DTP, Inc., is working on an agreement with Commonwealth Management Group to help get construction financing for additional buildings and jointly market the park. "Commonwealth would lease land from DTP for building, and then manage and own the buildings they put up afterwards," said Maggard. "We would still own and manage the existing building."

Jeffrey Lang of Commonwealth said the project will be a joint venture to get tenants into new buildings in the park. "We've already talked with DuPont and other interested parties about building there," said Lang. "If we get positioned, we could break ground for somebody in the next couple of months."

An agreement between Delaware Technology Park directors and officials of the Commonwealth Management Group could bring four more buildings within two years to the open space near the present structure.

More than a dozen tenants currently use space in the park, including the world headquarters of Advanced Material Systems, a composites division of DuPont. "We have a mix of tenants with key technologies that we focus on like composites, biotechnology, agro-biotechnology, pharmaceuticals, food processing, and information and environmental technologies," explained Maggard. Agrobiotech, the largest plant genome facility in the world, is another of the tenants, said Maggard. Genome's involve the study of DNA sequencing to develop better ways to grow plants. "That's very significant," he said, "because in the 21st century, feeding the world will be our number one concern."

Tenants in the current building also sublease laboratory and desk space to other businesses for use in their "off" hours. "Every nook and cranny is being used," said Maggard. "We call them hot desks - if a space shows a sign of not being used for a nanosecond, someone wants it."

A software company leasing space elsewhere in Newark has participated for the past year in monthly meetings for tenants where topics like business marketing and financing are discussed. "There are people affiliated who aren't located here," said Maggard. "But they are part of the tenant family and develop business relationships with the other tenants."

The bottom line, according to Maggard, is a lot of businesses that will "explode" in the next few years. "The growth curve of the businesses already based here will drive the growth of the park," said Maggard. "Construction financing is what's holding us back."

Maggard said the corporation has the tenants and financing from private foundations to construct an additional $5 million, 30,000 square-foot building themselves. But they may decide to wait and let Commonwealth do it with other planned facilities in the next two years.

"If we wait, that building could be the micro-wing for just starting businesses" in a two-wing, 84,000 square-foot building," said Maggard. "The other wing would be for macro-companies that are a little more developed."

Pressure from businesses may not allow that, however, because so many companies need more space now.

"We also plan a 75,000 square-foot building with two parts for a biotechnology company already located here," said Maggard. "I won't give you the name but it's pretty obvious."

Two final buildings of 40,000 square feet each will go next to Route 72 and along the railroad tracks.

Maggard noted that Wyoming Road is scheduled for extension from Route 72 to Marrows Road in July 1998 but DPT will "advance" it if they can. "This is vital to our expansion," he said. "By agreement with the city of Newark, we can't build more than 120,000 square feet here until that road is done."

According to Maggard, when TetraTech built the present building in the park, they also did a final design for the extension of Wyoming Road. "If DelDOT signs off on our design, we want to use the road surface to test composites developed by Hardcore Dupont, another of the businesses that started in the park," said Maggard. "That's another way we can help business develop here."

Good deals are available at Laughing Stock which recently announced it is going out of business. The store opened in September 1995 to market an exclusive line of t-shirts and related items.

Not a laughing matter

Laughing Stock, opened on Main Street in September 1995 to market an exclusive line of t-shirts, is going-out-of-business.

According to Carol Pettit, bookkeeper for owner Tony Prisco, the store will officially close after all the stock sells out. "We don't know how long that will take," said Pettit on Monday.

Pettit said that Prisco had not yet decided what to do with the storefront which he leases. "He doesn't know if he will open another business there," said Pettit, adding that the company may not decide anything for a month.

Prisco was unavailable to comment on the demise of the store which featured other wearing apparel and accessories as well as t-shirts. At the time of its opening, Prisco was reported to have a license to distribute a line of t-shirts with 180 designs.

Sources said that the opening of the new Trabant Student Center on West Main Street contributed to a downturn in businesses like Prisco's which catered primarily to students in the downtown area.

Prisco formerly sold the shirts in seasonal stores at the beach but wanted a year-round operation, according to his store manager in August 1995.

Based in Farmingdale, N.J., Prisco also owns two Great Impressions stores, on Main Street and in Princeton, N.J., to market collegiate garments and items. Both of those stores remain in business.

Roselle spent some time deciding what they would like to give Thomas. "We wanted to give you something you could not give yourself," said Armitage, presenting a framed selection of old photos of Newark sites from the university archives.

Included in the copies was one of the old Newark Train Station at a time when it was surrounded by gardens. "I bet people didn't even remember there were ever gardens there," said Armitage.

But the crowning moment in the event came when Mayor Ronald Gardner and other city councilmembers unveiled a sign destined to hang in the building which has housed the Historical Society's collection since 1989.

"At the next city council meeting we will officially proclaim the ground floor of the train station, the Bob Thomas Museum of Newark History," said Gardner. "We couldn't do it ahead of time because it would have been in the Newark Post the next day."

The Bob Thomas Tribute Committee presented him with a professional tape recorder and microphone as well as audiotapes on which to store his enormous memory bank.

"We purchased these with the money people gave us for a gift to you," said committee member Sally Miller. "From now on, every time you make a presentation, every time you make a speech, every time you open your mouth to talk about Newark, we want you to record it," said Miller. "Then the Historical Society will transcribe the tapes and we will have a history of Newark written down."

Thomas, who has served on the group's board since 1981, will step down as president at the end of 1997 but continue to be a member of the Society.

Funeral Mass tomorrow for State Senator Robert T. Connor

Sen. Robert T. Connor will be laid to rest following a Mass of Christian Burial at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Fatima Church in New Castle.

Friends may call at the Church, 801 N. DuPont Pky., Wilmington Manor, New Castle, today from 3 to 5 p.m. and after 7 p.m. Burial will be private.

Connor, a Republican member of the Delaware General Assembly for 27 years, died on March 14, 1997, following complications from heart surgery at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, Houston, Texas.

The 59-year-old Connor, who represented Penn Acres in the State Senate, had been hospitalized since mid-December. A special election will be called to fill his 12th District seat.

Gov. Thomas Carper ordered all flags on state property lowered to half-staff after hearing of Connor's death. "It is a fitting tribute that we lower our state flags to honor a man who was at once an outstanding legislator, a dedicated family man, and an exemplary citizen," said Carper. "He will be sorely missed."

A native of Philadelphia, Pa., Connor was the son of a police officer and one of five children. He was a graduate of Roman Catholic High School, Philadelphia, and West Chester (Pa.) State College.

In 1961 he moved to New Castle and later obtained a master's degree in counseling from Villanova University and a master's degree in supervision and management from the University of Delaware.

He worked as a teacher at area parochial schools and later as a teacher, counselor and director in what is now the Colonial School District before retiring in 1991. Several of his published materials and films on the importance of counseling are still used in classrooms across the country.

In the early part of his career he was also a football coach at William Penn High School.

Connor served as a State Representative for the 19th District from 1970 until 1980 when he moved to the Senate. He served as Senate minority whip from 1986 to 1996, and was the only Delaware lawmaker ever to chair the National Conference of State Legislatures, a bipartisan group for state lawmakers throughout the United States.

In 1994 Connor was named to the Governor's Education Improvement Commission and the State Pension Task Force. He also served on President Clinton's National Education Goals' Panel which included members of four state legislatures, eight governors, and four members of Congress.

He was the only state legislator to be invited to the National Education Summit in 1996. In the same year he was elected as president of the National Republican Legislators' Association.

In addition to his legislative duties, Connor was recently employed by MBNA as an Education Advisor.

Connor is survived by his wife Dorinda A., and sons Brad C., 17, and Brian O., 14, at home; brothers, Albert J. of West Bloomfield, Mich., and Ronald F. of Long Island, N.Y.; sisters, Regina Stevens of Churchville, Pa., and Marilyn Colbert of Jamison, Pa.; 12 nieces and nephews and seven great-nieces and nephews.

The family asks that any memorial contributions be made to Our Lady of Fatima Church or St. Peter the Apostle Church in New Castle.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

ONE OF THE CURRENT trends in the business world is to encourage customers to complain as a way to gain responses that will improve products and services. The Delaware Department of Transportation is getting plenty of the above-mentioned feedback these days.

The department has been operating under a media and community microscope since Secretary Anne Canby took over the post four years ago.

Under Canby, DelDOT has attacked a number of long-standing projects, but like comedian Rodney Dangerfield doesn't "get any respect."

Hardly a day goes by that doesn't feature a story and picture regarding some problem, ranging from "Paratransit" bus service for the disabled to a basketball hoop being taken down in a development because it interferes with the roadway.

DelDOT is once again in the spotlight with a proposal to increase fuel taxes and user fees. The agency wants to increase fuel taxes by four-cents a gallon over two years, while increasing fees.

Canby said that contrary to popular perceptions, DelDOT is operating far more efficiently than in the past, thanks to continuing restructuring efforts.

She also points to the costs of the state's growing and aging highway and street system (including the Route 1 project) at a time when DelDOT is actually operating with fewer maintenance employees than it did four years ago.

Speaking at DelDOT's spartan offices in the Carvel State Office Building in downtown Wilmington, Canby outlined the case for added revenue and the accomplishments of the agency during the past four years.

Q. Some of the criticism seems to center around the belief that DelDOT has operational problems that need to be addressed before a tax increase is considered.

A. We are going through a dynamic period of change in getting us to be an efficient organization. Delaware has added 200 additional land miles of highway and 161 additional signalized intersections. We have also seen a 15 percent increase in the number of road miles traveled, well above the increase of the population. The figure explains why we are having problems.

At the same time, we have 9 percent fewer maintenance people than in 1991. We have expanded transit service in spite of a $900,000 decline in federal transit assistance. Many long-delayed projects, such as Route 273, Route 896 south and Naamans Road are on their way to completion.

We looked at other approaches, including indexing taxes to inflation. Delaware has never favored indexing of taxes. Four years ago we said we would be back (to seek funds).

Q. Given the massive financial needs of dealing with the transportation system, what would be wrong with using money from the general fund.

A. Our system has become integrated, with the Delaware Turnpike, DART First State and others no longer operating separately. Funding of positions was returned to the Transportation Trust Fund in the early 1990s to reduce the risk to other government programs. One point that needs to be emphasized — if you plan to finance a portion of transportation out of the general fund, what are you going to cut?

Q. You have said that the performance of DelDOT in completing projects has actually improved in nearly all areas, as you indicated in the case of Route 273. Yet we continue to see the negative publicity. What can you do to combat this?

A. I don't think we have done a very good job of telling our story. Sometimes we would like the media to help, but that doesn't always happen. We do issue a large number of publications for people, but a big part of our job is to get out and talk to people. We have held 200 public meetings.

Q. We still get complaints and have had experiences ourselves of not getting questions answered.

A. "Bud" Freel's group (external affairs) is working hard to answer questions and put people in touch with people who have answers. If you end up talking with the wrong person, particularly on a technical subject, it can be very confusing.

Q. When can we realistically expect train service in Newark?

A. We have signed an agreement and we should have service operating by this fall. We need this service, given the level of work on I-95.

Q. Will we see some improvements in the city of Newark.

A. I think so. The proposals for New London Road will help and we continue to look at other issues, including where the traffic is coming from. We now know it is coming from the south and the east, not the west (Maryland). Route 40 is different. Much of the traffic in the area is local.

Q. The Stonethrow situation, is it improving?

A. It wasn't one of our best (community relations) efforts. Bud has been meeting with residents. (Editor's note: Freel said that the situation has improved and the last meeting with residents ran only a half hour. Residents of the community are upset because the widened Route 896 comes so close to their townhomes. DelDOT has even bought a few of the properties closest to the four-lane road now under construction).

Q. What happens if the tax proposal is not passed?

A. Seventy-six percent of our roads are in good to excellent condition. Without the added funding, the number will drop to 58 percent.

Bowling throws gutter ball

POLITICS in Newark hit a new low this week when a challenger to an incumbent Newark City Councilmember filed a complaint with the city's Board of Ethics. As our story details, Councilman Hal Godwin's printer included a city fax number in the heading of a campaign solicitation letter. Scott Bowling, apparently unable to find real issues to attack his opponent, all but called for Godwin's resignation as he rushed his complaint to City Hall.

At first, we hesitated to even comment on the complaint proudly filed by Bowling Wednesday — coincidentally just before our deadline. It's the ridiculousness of the complaint that worries us. We fear such miniscule errors in judgment being dragged into formal grievance proceedings simply for political gain is bad for Newark politics. Such desperate tactics further discourage good, decent citizens from even considering entry into the local political arena.

We have no comment at this time on Bowling's candidacy. However, we feel compelled to speak out on this "low rent" campaign tactic. Now that the deadline for filing has passed, we'll invite Bowling and all other council candidates to a one-on-one session with a staff writer for a profile in this newspaper. Then District 1 and other city voters can make informed choices. In his door-to-door campaigning, Bowling should discuss the issues he lists in his early campaign literature and abandon this smear campaign.

Also, we urge Bowling to question the tactics of his campaign treasurer, who called our office "outraged" by Godwin's letter. Tamara Garber failed to identify herself as a key supporter until later questioned by a Newark Post reporter.

Regarding the fax number in question, if Councilman Godwin is guilty of anything, it should be sloppy proofreading (or lack of it.) Constituents in District 1 should be able to use a fax in city hall to forward information to their council representative. We like the prospect of being able to fax money but have failed to see it happen to date.

There are more than three weeks until the city election. We urge Bowling and all candidates to use this time wisely and stick to the issues that really matter to Newark voters.

PER CHANCE

Can you spare a dime?

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

SOME READERS of this column will remember grammar school days when we brought our savings bankbooks and quarters to the classroom on a given day each week as a practical lesson in frugality, self-control and economics.

I also remember when bank advertising emphasized saving, the dignified appeals for sensible behavior often highlighted by caricatures of Benjamin Franklin that accompanied his famous line, "A penny saved is a penny earned."

How different is the financial climate today! Within the last year I have been offered no fewer than 15 credit cards whose major purpose, of course, is to encourage spending rather than saving. I have received ordinary cards, silver cards, gold cards and several allegedly special platinum cards. The issuer of my present card recently informed me that my authorized credit line had been increased, an action taken, I was advised, because my record of payment has been exemplary.

No sooner had this flattering notice been received when my January statement arrived bearing another encouraging message: "Because you are a valued customer, we would like to express our appreciation. No payment is necessary on your account this month. However, finance charges will continue to accrue at the normal rate."

Now I quickly confess that I am not a mathematician, but I do have an interest in words and their meanings. Perhaps someone can explain to me a form of appreciation that permits me to pay a 16.15 percent finance charge for an additional month on my unusually heavy pre-Christmas charges, plus a similar percentage on the late holiday bills posted in January. I don't know how this generous offer strikes you, but as one of my Jewish friends recently put it, "This kind of appreciation I am not appreciating!"

Chance

All of which brings us back to the subject of borrowing, which is what a credit card represents for a majority of users.

Biblical writers, for example, spoke disparagingly of borrowing. Proverbs 22:7 states, "The borrower is servant to the lender," and in Ecclesiastics 18:33 we find, "Be not made a beggar by banqueting upon borrowing."

Shakespeare's frequently quoted admonition in Hamlet is "Neither a borrower nor a lender be; for loan oft loses both itself and friend, and borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry."

But the Bard was equally astute when he wrote in King Henry IV, "I can get no remedy against this consumption of the purse: borrowing only lingers and lingers it out, but the disease is incurable."

Benjamin Franklin frequently argued against borrowing in his Poor Richard's Almanack with such quips as "He that goes a-borrowing, goes a-sorrowing," and "If you want to know the value of money, go and try to borrow some."

More than a century later Henrik Ibsen warns in A Doll's House, "There can be no freedom or beauty about a home life that depends on borrowing and debt."

Yet, despite the wisdom of the aforementioned writers and the good advice they have imparted through the ages, it is my suspicion that most of our contemporaries prefer the permissive recommendation set forth by Artemus Ward in Natural History. "Let us all be happy," he wrote, "and live within our means, even if we have to borrow the money to do it."

OUT OF THE ATTIC

This week, we feature a shot taken a few years ago. It shows flooding from the Christina Creek onto Elkton Road at Gravenor Lane, a problem that formerly occurred about once a year. Subsequent work has apparently corrected the troublesome problem. "Out of the Attic" features historic photographs from Newark's history, recent and long ago. Readers who have a historic photo and would like to share it with other readers are invited to loan their photos for reprinting in this space. Special care will be taken. Newark physician in service 50 years

It is a proud record that Dr. Henry G.M. Kollock, of this town, possesses that of 50 years practice in the medical profession. There is probably only two other physicians in the State who have been in the service longer, they being Dr. Henry J. Stubbs, of Wilmington and Dr. Hiram R. Burton, of Lewes.

The local physician is known from one end of the state to the other and locally he is known by everyone.

Local roads prove menace to public

There is hardly a day that passes that one is not able to pick up a newspaper and read of someone being killed by an automobile. Sometimes we blame the motorists, other times we blame the pedestrian but who are we going to blame when neither of the former can help themselves.

Newark is going to have this fact brought home to it forcibly in the near future unless conditions are remedied to some extent.

The places where the danger is greatest are on Delaware avenue along the college property. One death has already resulted from the lack of a sidewalk at this point and it would not be surprising to see another at any time.

Advertisement for Diamond State Phone Co. Telephones without a switchboard would be like automobiles without "gas."

They would look all right but they would never get very far.

The first switchboard was "as simple as a wheelbarrow." However, as the use of the telephone extended, the early types proved inadequate and for a time six operators were required to complete some calls in the larger offices.

Service is the first requirement of a Bell System switchboard. A second requirement is economy. It is due to the combined efforts of this great organization that our country has the cheapest and best telephone service in the world.

City Hall to settle on Elkton Road site

Newark City Council ended nine years of municipal indecision Monday evening by voting to build a city hall on the Elkton Road property acquired in May 1971 by the city.

The 5-2 vote, which came after the meeting had been opened to public discussion, found Mayor Norma B. Handloff and third district councilman Robert D. Varrin dissenting.

Student rights policy adopted by school district

The Newark School District has a new Student Rights Policy. At a specially called meeting of the Newark School District Board of Education, following an open hearing, the board voted to unanimously adopt the new Student Rights Policy "in principal."

Policy adoption was of the latest revision of the document dated March 1, 1972. The proposal was a result of many months of meeting and a committee made up of students from Newark schools, faculty, administrators, and members of the community at large.

Rolling up the welcome mat

Newark City Council may find itself in a no-win situation March 23 when the fate of a nature trail is dumped in their laps.

The trail meanders along both sides of White Clay Creek and through the back yards of Christenstead and West Branch residents whose lots border the creek.

'Officer was doing his job'

To: The editor
From: Terry R. Spence
Speaker of the House, 18
District
House of Representatives

Our men and women who have chosen a career in law enforcement know the risks involved with being a police officer. Everyday they make the decision to place their lives at risk (sometimes in danger) in order to protect and serve people like you and me. It is that kind of service and commitment from the many police agents in Delaware that ensure our safety and peace of mind.

Last July Wilmington Police Patrolman Scott Chaffin, who was fulfilling his duty to protect and serve, while investigating a burglary at a vacant house, shot and killed a homeless man intoxicated on cocaine and morphine. Officer Chaffin was cleared of any criminal wrongdoing by the State Attorney General's Office, but now could be fired if an internal investigation finds that the officer violated an undisclosed department policy.

The Attorney General's Office, in my opinion, found that Officer Chaffin was simply doing his job—doing what he spent months learning in training to actually put into effect. He believed he was in a life-threatening situation and acted accordingly. The AG's report says that the man did not stop at the command of a police officer and started to approach Patrolman Chaffin. The officer then shot the man once in the head.

I am fully aware of the emotions surrounding this case, and would never want to minimize the impact of such a tragedy. A man's life has been taken, and my heart goes out to the family of the victim. I offer them my deepest sympathy. Unfortunately, when tragedies such as this occur, people sometimes look to place blame on law enforcement. However, I believe the officer in question was simply doing his job as best he knew how, and should be completely vindicated.

Officers are trained to protect and to serve and I think it is important that we fully recognize what is actually required of them in the line of duty. They take risks and constantly put their lives on the line. In a society gripped by an enormous amount of violence, it is necessary that we show support for this and other officers' work.

In the case of Officer Chaffin I believe he was carrying out his sworn duties as a policeman—for the people in the City of Wilmington and for himself. I urge the City of Wilmington not to succumb to the political pressures of some members of the community, and that the internal investigation of Patrolman Chaffin be dropped. Trust in the facts of the case as determined by the AG's Office, and move on from there.

The career of the officer in question may never be the same, but we owe him our support and the opportunity to continue on.

Fall back in love with your job

■ This weekly feature on the Lifestyle page is authored by the staff of the Newark-based Cooperative Extension Service.

IRECENTLY DID A workshop for employees about balancing work and family. As we talked about our roles in life, one person in the room said "I am a slave in my job. I spend too much time working." As the group discussed this statement, the women shared that she liked her job in the beginning but that she had lost her enthusiasm and was not enjoying it any more.

Somewhere between boredom and burnout is peak performance. Finding that point is the hard part. Another person said that she knew a lot of people who moved across the country to get away from a difficult work situation, and lo and behold, about five months later, their new boss turns out to be a lot like their old boss. After much discussion we recognized the problem is often within ourselves as well as within the workplace.

People can regain the enthusiasm they once held for their work. Research in psychology, employee development, medicine and even athletics indicates that attitude and expectations are powerful, and that job satisfaction is built upon two factors: a sense of control and a positive attitude.

The 'sense of control' part of it doesn't mean that we have to control everything around us. People who try to do that are at a higher risk of illness, not lower. The key is to figure out what can be controlled and what can't. If we can not do something about a problem, we should be wise to learn to accept it. People can't control everything, but they can control their reactions to things beyond their control. That skill is vital to develop.

The other factor in developing job satisfaction—a positive attitude—is sometimes downplayed. Research suggests that a genuine laugh or smile immediately gives your body a little burst of energy. A smile also tends to raise the energy of anybody around you. A ten minute exercise

Travis Wilson, Mar'kevis Seth, Andrew George, and Nathan Finkbinder, students from New Castle Baptist Academy, spent a happy afternoon learning the ins and outs of the restaurant business at Windy City Beef and Dogs.

THEY MAY BE a little young, but the third-graders at New Castle Baptist Academy are serious about their careers.

Staff member and Newark resident Lynn Bishop asked the children what careers they were interested in exploring for Junior Achievement.

"When one was newspaper reporters and another was restaurants, I asked the Newark Post to send someone to talk with the classes," said Bishop. "Next we took the kids on a tour of Windy City Beef and Dogs in the Newark Shopping Center."

These kids were real interested and real serious about their research.

Among the questions asked of a Post writer by the 9-year-olds were: "Is it fun?" "Does your hand ever get tired writing?" "How long do you have to work?" "Do you ever have to write all night to finish?" "How much money do you make?" "Do you use a special pen?" "What do you like best about reporting?" "Do you use computers?" "What do you do exactly?" "Do you ever get bored?"

Whew. All very good questions posed by an earnest group of young people. Many of the children said they were interested in reporting because they liked to write. However, during an interview with the school's administrator, Cliff Boggs, they also revealed a lot of interest in wrestling, so only time will tell.

Boggs came to the Academy in June 1996 from a previous administrative position at a Christian school in Indiana. He admitted he sometimes works 70-80 hours a week but said his favorite part of the job is seeing the smiling faces of children everyday. "I like to walk around the school and listen to them learn," said Boggs.

The Academy, established in the 1970's, has 560 children at present in grades kindergarten through high school. Programs include athletics and music in which most of the children participate.

"We have a good program," said Boggs.

"Our students go on to colleges like the University of Delaware."

Despite the wide-eyed children listening to every word, Boggs responded without hesitation when asked about the worst part of his job. "Discipline," said Boggs. "It's necessary and important, but I don't like to do it."

Classical British invasion soon to be underway

SOUND THE ALARM! A British invasion is at hand! But, before you run to the nearest church steeple to hang "One if by land and two if by sea," let me assure you this is the nicest kind of invasion, a musical one. For three evenings next week, the music of English composers will make up the program for the Delaware Symphony Orchestra's Classical Series at the Grand Opera House.

The programming of the 1996-97 season has been catholic to say the very least. We are enjoying Russian, German, American, Czech, French and now English music. Music Director Stephen Gunzenhauser takes very good care of us.

We will have a guest conductor on the podium next Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at eight o'clock. He is Kenneth Schermerhorn, music director of the Nashville (Tennessee) Symphony Orchestra. Before coming to Nashville he was music director of the Hong Kong Philharmonic. Maestro Schermerhorn is quite a home on the concert stage and in the opera pit. Among others he has conducted the Cleveland Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic, the San Francisco Symphony, the American Symphony Orchestra, the Seattle Symphony, the San Antonio Opera and the Nashville Opera. In 1983 the guest conductor led the gala celebration of the Metropolitan Opera's centennial which was broadcast worldwide on PBS.

Still another conducting achievement for Schermerhorn is the ballet. For eleven years he was Music Director of the American Ballet Theater. He premiered the company's new production of "Cinderella" during the 1983-84 season. He also conducted Mikhail Baryshnikov's "Nutcracker" at the Kennedy Center in 1977.

Before ascending to the podium, the Schenectady, New York, native was a trumpet player. Actually, his conducting career began as a result of work with that instrument. While he was in service, he became conductor of the United States Seventh Army Band. I must say he did have a superb conducting teacher along the way too. The teacher's name was Leonard Bernstein.

The concerts are being billed under the title "Hail Britannia." On the program: Sir Edward Elgar's "Cello Concerto," Benjamin Britten's "Passacaglia and Ralph Vaughan-Williams' Symphony," known as "The London Symphony." A great program to be sure, but I always enjoy programs of English music better when there is some Gilbert and Sullivan, but I won't hold it against the DSO — this time.

Joining Schermerhorn and our orchestra in the Elgar is the brilliant American 'cellist, Alan Stepansky, pictured with my column today. Currently is his seventh season as associate principal 'cellist with the New York Philharmonic, he came to New York via Boston where he became principal 'cellist of the Boston Pops at the age of 24. He made his solo debut with the New York under Kurt Masur in the 1992-93 season.

He studied quite close by at the Curtis Institute of Music on Rittenhouse Square. He graduated from Harvard with the Horblit prize. He later began teaching at Harvard and MIT and is now on the faculty of the Manhattan School of Music.

Stepansky has played in many cities including New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburgh and Montreal, just to name a few. He has had his recitals broadcast by NPR and CBC. The guest 'cellist enjoys chamber music too and has performed in the Washington National Gallery, the Frick Museum and New York Philharmonic ensembles. He also includes performances in the Mostly Mozart Festivals among his credits.

His CD career got off to an auspicious start in 1995 when he received a multi-year contract from EMI. "Gramophone" magazine gave him its Editor's Choice Award for his Krongold Trio and "BBC Magazine" awarded four stars for his recording of the Barber sonata.

Now, a bit of Toman's Trivia for Today. Alan Stepansky plays a Guadagnini 'cello made in 1783.

Sales, whether in person at the box office, by phone, fax or computer, are being handled by the Grand Opera House. The symphony's Tenth Street box office is closed.

You may stop by the Grand box office at 818 The Market Street Mall, or reach them by phone at 302-652-5577 or 1-800-37 GRAND; on the World Wide Web at <http://ameristar.net/grand/> or E-mail at GRANDOPERA@AOL.COM.

Bowling hopes for early ethics hearing his home. "After all, you can't fax money, so it has nothing to do with that."

► GODWIN, from 1

Godwin said the printer did leave out directions ordered for the bottom of the letter indicating that support checks should be sent to Godwin's home address.

"I'm really outraged by this," said Tamara Garber, who called the Newark Post on Tuesday to denounce the letter she received. "This is an ethical violation, isn't it?"

The Abbotsford resident said she would not vote for Godwin, but only mentioned that she was Bowling's campaign treasurer when specifically asked in a subsequent call.

City solicitor Roger Akin said he could not comment on a matter once a complaint was filed with the Board of Ethics. "They convene on an 'as needed' basis and this is the first one I've seen since I've been here," said Akin. "I believe it is a public hearing but I've never had to consider that either."

Bowling said that since an employee could be removed from their position for an ethics violation, he was asking the Board to meet prior to the April 8 election date.

Newark rail station finally on the horizon

STATE AND LOCAL officials broke ground on Wednesday for the future Newark Rail Station to be located off Route 896 near the Chrysler and MOPAR plants. DelDOT secretary Anne Canby and Gov. Thomas Carper praised the planned commuter service from Newark to Wilmington and Philadelphia. "With over 700,000 people in the state, more than 375,000 of them go to work," Carper said. "If everyone decided to take their car to work, we'd be in a mess."

Nancy Shevock, director of Delaware Transit Corporation, said 143,000 trips will originate at the new station. "We will have four trains in the morning peak times and three in the p.m.," said Shevock. "A round trip from Newark to Philadelphia will cost $5."

Shevock added, "The trip will be on an express train and you won't be in I-95 traffic."

Carper said he looked forward to coming back and being one of the customers when service starts in the fall of 1997. "In addition to people coming here to get on, we hope there will be people who get off the train here," said Canby, "to go to work at Chrysler and the University and other workplaces in the area."

Still plenty of room in theme schools

► SCHOOL CHOICE, from 1

98. Metts has told angry parents at several recent PTA meetings that more students must choose Theme schools in order for neighborhood schools to be workable. "If 33 percent of our students do not attend these schools, we will have to continue to assign fifth and sixth graders to Wilmington because there will not be enough space in the suburban schools," Metts told parents at Leasure Elementary School.

As a solution to crowding, Theme schools in Wilmington were highly promoted by Metts who said sending a child to a Theme school will accelerate and stimulate their learning experience.

Each Theme school will hold a reception in the next few weeks to allow parents to take a second or even first look at the offerings. Metts also noted that the district has developed a transportation plan to ensure neighborhood pickups and drop-offs for students choosing Theme schools even if they are outside the normal feeder pattern.

Metts told parents concerned about crowding at Leasure that 900 students must choose Theme schools for 1998-99 in order to meet projected district goals. "If we do not have that many in the second year of Choice, it will be impossible to go ahead with 5th grades in the suburbs," said Metts. "It will not be impossible to go ahead with Theme schools which we believe will grow of themselves as parents see what they offer."

Stay focused and balanced for positive job experiences break can do wonders too. Beyond that, three methods can help people develop and maintain a positive attitude.

► OUTLOOK, from 8

The first is positive self-talk, which just means talking to yourself nicely. We really need to be kinder to ourselves. The second method is taking time to be quiet or meditate. Ten minutes two times a day does a lot to relax us, connect to our true selves and clear our minds. It is actually quite easy. Just concentrate on your breath and as thoughts come through your brain. Just let them pass and continue to concentrate on each breath.

The third method is "creative visualization." Although there's not a large body of research on this technique, case studies show it can have remarkable power. Our thoughts are like mental magnets. Whatever we dwell upon, we tend to draw it to us.

Golfers, basketball players and other athletes often visualize themselves making a difficult shot or winning a race. The mental preparation helps them achieve their goal. Anyone can put that same level of concentration and energy into visualizing positive job experiences. The technique can help them achieve their goals and find their job more satisfying.

Using these techniques can help us stay focused on what is important and balanced in our role as an employee.

'Skillet' not just for truckers anymore

IF YOU ARE LOOKING for great home-style cooking at an affordable price, The Iron Skillet is the place for you. A comfortable, clean establishment, this franchise in Elkton has been in business for 11 years. Clientele consists of truck drivers, families, locals, college students, and travelers.

A warm atmosphere of dark wooden walls and kitschy country artifacts greets you, as well as the smell of good food. "We're open 24 hours a day, 365 days of the year," says manager Sue Stitely proudly. "You can always eat here, we've got a great mix of guests, and a lot of regulars."

A large salad-bread-soup-hot food bar is stocked with crispy-fresh vegetables, and bread baked on the premises. Big pots of steaming, hearty soup are set alongside the hot bar which offers: fried chicken, real mashed potatoes, macaroni and cheese, meatloaf, vegetables, and many other tasty delights.

Breakfast is not just for mornings anymore. Omelettes, ham and eggs and big country breakfast combos can be ordered any time of the day.

The Iron Skillet is different from many roadside restaurants in that it offers light items. Lite roast beef, broiled chicken breast, and light turkey are just some of the low-fat choices.

But, if you're watching your figure you might want to be bad for just one meal to indulge in the Skillet's awesome desserts, which are all made fresh. Coconut cream pie, chocolate cream pie, apple and cherry cobbler, and many other selections come in large, sinful servings.

Newark, Hodgson advance to semis

Jackets trip WP, rip S. Tech

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

With its season in hanging by a thread, Newark High came through when it had to.

The Yellowjackets (20-4) scored 11 straight points in the last 2:36 to surge to a 61-51 victory over Flight A rival William Penn in Tuesday night's quarterfinals of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament at Glasgow High.

The win advanced Newark into the semifinals where it met Hodgson Thursday night at the Carpenter Center. Howard faced Seaford in the other semifinal with the two winners scheduled to meet in Saturday's state championship game at the Carpenter Center.

Newark, which split its two meetings with William Penn (18-6) during the regular season, trailed throughout the game. The Colonials led 10-8 after one quarter and 25-22 at halftime. The lead was 49-45 with 5:31 to play in the game and 51-50 with 2:52 remaining.

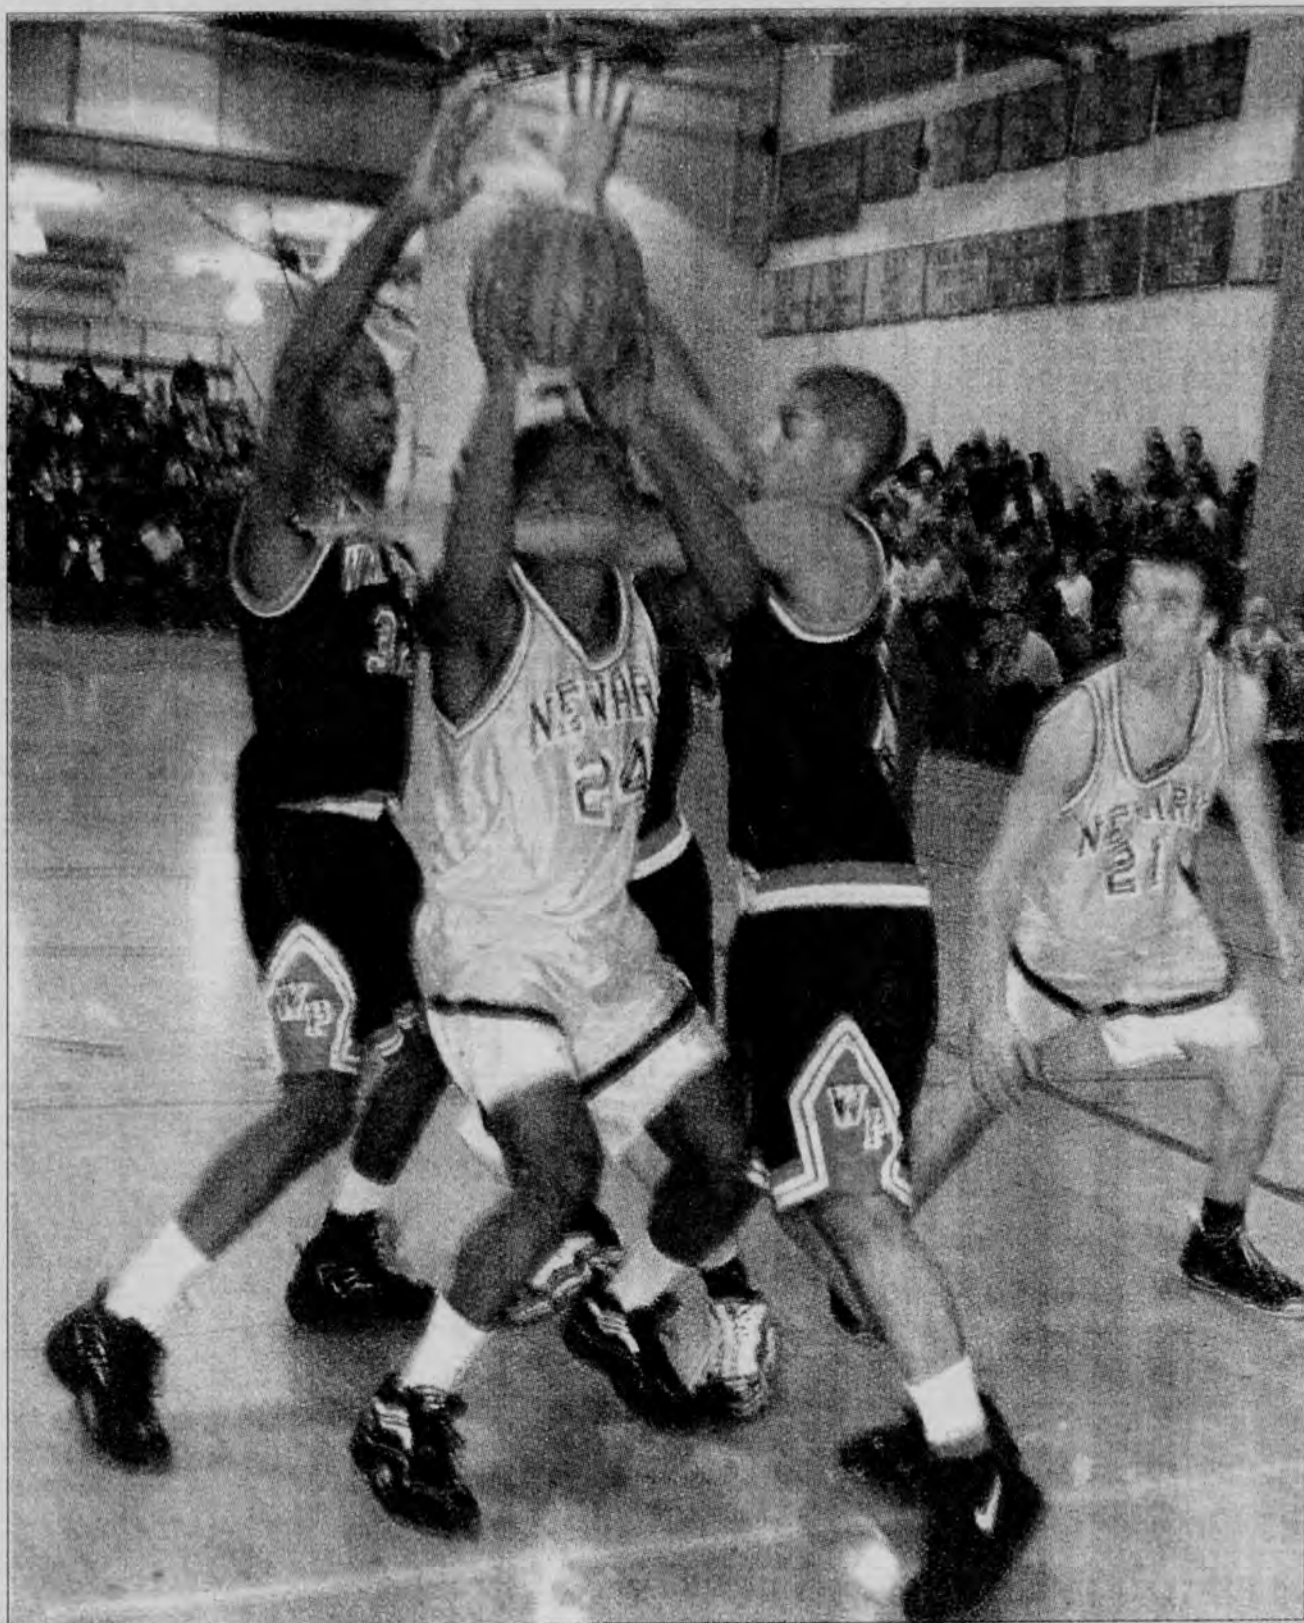

That's when the Jackets took over the game by scoring on their last nine possessions.

"We got more aggressive," said Newark guard Corey Wallace. "We started playing harder on defense and diving on the floor for loose balls."

Ian Remsburg led Newark with 20 points while Wallace added 17.

Eagles get by Delcastle

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

In a year of many firsts, the Hodgson Vo-Tech basketball team notched another big one.

The third-seeded Silver Eagles (24-2) topped Delcastle 53-47 Tuesday night in the quarterfinals of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament before a crowd of 1,500 at Newark High. The win advanced Hodgson to its first-ever trip to the state semifinals at the Carpenter Center. The Silver Eagles faced Newark Thursday in one semi while Seaford played Howard in the other.

The two winners will play for the state championship Saturday afternoon at the Carpenter Center.

A 14-1 run, stretching from midway through the third quarter to early in the fourth, broke a 26-26 tie and gave the Silver Eagles a 40-27 lead with 6:12 to play in the game.

Shawn Harrison, often overlooked compared to highly publicized (and highly talented) teammate Lloyd Price, was the main cog in the Eagles' surge Tuesday. The 6-foot, 3-inch power forward took advantage of all the attention that the Cougars' defense paid to Price. He scored inside and dominated the boards as well. Harrison scored 10 of the 14 Eagles' points during their big run.

"Shawn took advantage of what [Delcastle] gave him," said Hodgson coach Lou Bender. "They paid a lot of attention to Lloyd and that gave Shawn room."

Despite the deficit, Delcastle did

St. Mark's girls advance to title game

Spartans beat back Cape

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Three down and one to go.

St. Mark's High (23-2) bested Cape Henlopen 49-42 Wednesday night in the semifinals of the Delaware High School Girls Basketball Tournament. The win, the third straight in the tournament for the defending champion Spartans, advanced St. Mark's to Saturday night's state championship against William Penn at 7 at the Carpenter Center.

Cape ended its season with a 24-2 record — both losses coming to St. Mark's.

The semifinal victory put the Spartans in an almost unbelievable position of completing two years without a loss against another Delaware high school.

The win also reaffirmed St. Mark's regular season victory over the Vikings. The Spartans rallied from a 14-0 deficit to win that game.

However, the Spartans' victory was met with vociferous complaining about the officiating in the following day's downstate newspapers.

"That's all we heard about after the first game," said St. Mark's coach John Fiorelli. "I think our girls were a little disconcerted by that."

Officiating couldn't be used as an excuse this time as 19 fouls were whistled against each team.

The real difference in the game was St. Mark's senior Stephanie Baker. The All-State performer scored 18 points and pulled down 14 rebounds. Her totals could've been even bigger if it wasn't for a sub-par 8-for-18 night at the free throw line.

"Stephanie was a little sick tonight," Fiorelli said. "She didn't have one of her better games. But even one of her not-so-good games is pretty strong."

Unlike the first contest, the Spartans never trailed in the semifinal.

"The difference was we came out to play in the first quarter," said St. Mark's point guard Chrissi Moncaleri. "Last time we didn't start playing until about the second quarter. This time we were ready. It was all mental."

St. Mark's led 19-15 at halftime and, following three straight inside baskets by Baker, improved that lead to 30-21 with 2:11 remaining in the third quarter.

St. Mark's pushed the margin to 11 points with 6:29 to play in the game.

Cape, pressing all over the floor, made a run late in the game, but could never get the margin closer than six points.

"We practiced a lot on throwing bounce passes against the press," said Moncaleri, who scored 10 points, collected six rebounds and dished out four assists in playing all 32 minutes of the game. "We didn't want to lob the ball and get it batted away or intercepted."

"They try to make you play fast and we just tried to remain calm and take our time. I think everybody made good decisions out there."

Ashley Petruno also scored 10 points for the Spartans while Julie Krzywicki scored six points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Cape Henlopen was led by Kim Smith's 14 points and Carrie Lingo's 13. All-Stater Katie DelCampo was limited to 10.

"We put Nicole [Armstrong] on [DelCampo] and she really did a great job," Fiorelli said.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

SHAWN HARRISON — HODGSON

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

DELCASTLE COACH Lou DiMascio might have had the best compliment of the night.

While standing outside the locker room talking to reporters, Shawn Harrison got a tap on the back, "You won the game for them big guy," said DiMascio, who stopped to shake Harrison's hand as he walked toward his own locker room.

Harrison had just scored 22 points to lift Hodgson to a 53-47 victory over DiMascio's Cougars and advance it, for the first time in school history, to the semifinals of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament.

Delcastle set up its defense to stop Hodgson's all-state performer Lloyd Price. The Cougars, with the help of Price's foul trouble, succeeded. They limited the talented junior to just eight points.

What they didn't count on, however, was Harrison.

"I knew I had to step it up," said Harrison. "When Lloyd got in foul trouble, I knew I would have to take the load. With [Delcastle] in a zone I knew I could get some open shots. My teammates did a good job of getting me the ball."

Harrison did more than score. He established himself as a presence inside with blocked shots and rebounds.

"[Shawn] has a reputation of stepping it up in the big games," said Hodgson coach Lou Bender. "He really likes the competition. He becomes a go-to guy. If other teams want to double team Lloyd, so be it. We know Shawn can get it done."

St. Mark's center Steve McManus gets fouled during Saturday's second-round game of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament Saturday at Newark High.

St. Mark's edged in overtime by Smith, Delcastle

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

St. Mark's resolve and determination wasn't enough to overcome the talent, resolve and determination of Delcastle's Ryan Smith.

Smith poured in 35 points, including 12 in overtime, as the Cougars defeated the Spartans 60-56 in a second round game of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament Saturday afternoon at Newark High. Smith's heroics offset a valiant 14-point, second-half comeback by St. Mark's.

The loss dropped the Spartans' season ending record to 14-9. Delcastle improved to 16-9 and advanced to play Hodgson in Tuesday's quarterfinals.

"Ryan Smith was the story of the game," said St. Mark's coach Lee Sibley. "We just couldn't keep the ball out of his hands, especially in the overtime. We tried to double team him and everything, but he was too quick for us."

Sibley, though, was proud of his team's effort against the Cougars. Trailing 29-15 early in the third quarter, the Spartans methodically marched back into the game.

Senior center Steve McManus led the charge inside and Brian Borkowski connected on a half-court buzzer shot as St. Mark's outscored Delcastle 15-7 to pull within 36-30 after three quarters.

The Spartans continued to make up ground throughout the fourth quarter but still trailed 46-44 with 10 seconds to play. Delcastle missed two free throws with eight seconds to set up St. Mark's final rush up court. Mike Wright got the ball in right corner, pumped fake, moved inside the arc and drained a 15-foot shot at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

"I'm really proud of the way we played," Sibley said. "This team doesn't give up. To get back in that game showed a lot of heart."

Overtime, however, was all Smith.

The 5-10 senior scored 12 of the Cougars' 14 points in overtime, including going 8-for-10 from the free throw line.

McManus led St. Mark's with 19 points, including 13 from the free throw line. Matt Willard added 14.

"It was still a good year," said Sibley, whose team dropped its last five games. "If, in November, you would've told me that we would be competitive with everybody in the state, I would've told you that you're crazy."

"We played everybody tough. We didn't get blown out by anybody. We only lost one game by more than 10 points all year. I think this team overachieved and that's one of our goals here — to play over our heads. I think this team did that."

No. 1 Glasgow upset

Top-seeded Glasgow had its worst nightmare come true Tuesday night.

The Dragons were upset 79-66 by ninth-seeded Seaford in the quarterfinals of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament at Caesar Rodney High.

Terrell Drummond scored 26 points and grabbed eight rebounds to lead the Blue Jays (20-5) to the victory.

Jeran Moultrie scored 16 points to lead Glasgow while Ceecee Whittle added 15 points and seven rebounds.

Glasgow got in foul trouble early and coach Don Haman felt that contributed to the loss.

"We got tentative and started pressing after we picked up all those fouls in the first half," he said.

Glasgow led 21-15 after the first quarter and 42-40 at halftime. Seaford pulled even after three quarters and outscored the Dragons 24-11 in the fourth quarter.

Glasgow, which started the season with 19 straight wins, dropped four of its last six games to finish with a 21-4 record.

Caravel girls fall to top-ranked St. Mark's

Caravel Academy's season came to an end with a 62-40 loss to top-seeded St. Mark's in a quarterfinal game of the Delaware High School Girls Basketball Tournament at a sold out Christiana High Monday night.

The Spartans jumped to a 25-10 lead after one quarter and were never challenged the rest of the way.

Kristin Mills led the ninth-seeded Bucs, which finished their season with a 17-8 record, with 22 points while Lisa Delcollo and Stephanie Mayhart added six each.

Julie Krzywicki led the Spartans with 20 with Stephanie Baker adding 17 and Nicole Armstrong 10.

Bucs top Indian River

Caravel advanced to the state quarterfinals with a 57-45 second-round victory over Indian River Saturday night at Polytech.

Mills again led the Bucs with 25 points and Delcollo and Mayhart added nine and eight respectively.

Western YMCA begins roller hockey program

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Western YMCA has added another sport to its already bustling schedule.

Roller hockey and street hockey are now activities that the Western YMCA, located on the Kirkwood Highway, will sponsor. There is a new hockey rink at the facility and the organization plans to use it.

Its first use of the year came Saturday as the YMCA hosted a roller and street hockey clinic with the Philadelphia Flyers' Greg Scott.

The clinic is the kick off to a season that will see the YMCA sponsor roller hockey leagues.

"Hockey has become so big nowadays," said Elizabeth Colalillo, who is the Assistant Youth Physical Director. "Especially the roller hockey. With in-line skating being so big, roller hockey has really caught on."

Hockey is just the latest of activities that the YMCA has entered into. Over 3,200 kids participate in activities at the YMCA on an annual basis.

"We have many, many programs," Colalillo said. "We want the kids to have fun, build self esteem and we try to do that in a family atmosphere."

To sign up for the hockey leagues or anything else at the YMCA, call 453-1610.

Glasgow girls fall to Brandywine in state tourney quarterfinals

Dragons edged in final seconds

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

MILLTOWN — By almost every measure, Glasgow's effort against second-seeded Brandywine in Monday's quarterfinal round game of the Delaware High School Girls Basketball Tournament was a success.

Unfortunately, in tournament play the only measure that really counts is the final score and Glasgow was on the short end of a 46-43 score.

The 10th-seeded Dragons, after getting pummeled twice by the Bulldogs during the regular season, implemented a different strategy which helped lead Glasgow to a 43-41 lead with just 1:45 to play in the fourth quarter.

Brandywine, however, got back-to-back baskets by senior Margaret Lapinski and a free throw from senior Deandra Teague to rally for the victory. Glasgow hurt itself with turnovers in each of its last three possessions.

"Their senior leadership was the difference," said Glasgow coach Larry Walker, who loses just one senior this year and should benefit from that senior leadership next season. "We had some young players out there that played extremely well. But I think that having four senior like Brandywine does is a big help in a close game like this."

Despite the loss, the game was a testament to the Dragons' improvement during the season.

Glasgow was hammered twice by the Bulldogs with the second loss coming in early Feb. Since that loss, the Dragons won nine of 10 games entering Monday's contest.

Included in that streak were games in which Glasgow buried teams that played it close earlier in the season.

The Brandywine game, however, was the first time since the Dragons turned their season around that they had an opportunity to play one of the state's elite teams.

Using a smaller and younger lineup and running a very patient offense that spread the floor, Glasgow was able to give the Bulldogs (21-3) a fight for their lives.

Nikki Pauls and Kristin Nau led the Dragons with 11 points each while Chelsha Harding added nine. "I can't say enough about our effort," Walker said of his team. "We could've gone out there and got beat by 20 or 30 points like we did last time."

"But they stuck to the game plan and we came within a couple of turnovers of pulling it off."

Dragons top Wilmington

Glasgow's second-half season surge continued with a 42-33 victory over Wilmington in the second round of the state tournament.

The win, another example of the Dragons' year-long improvement, avenged an early season loss to the Red Devils.

"We were looking for revenge since Wilmington beat us in the first game of the season," Walker said. "And we got it."

Harding led Glasgow with 13 points while freshman Lashanda Simpson added nine.

Delaware Diamonds excel at prestigious v-ball tourney

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Delaware Diamonds under-18 volleyball team had its best performance in an already-sparkling season.

The Diamonds finished second in the Shamrock Festival held at Virginia Tech Saturday and Sunday.

"This tournament is one for elite teams from all over the East," said Diamonds coach Hugh Mitchell. "To have a little team from Delaware do so well against these big teams is really amazing."

"This was the best performance by any team I've been with and, really, any team from our area."

The team has compiled a 51-10 record in seven tournaments this season and has finished first (three times) or second in each of those tournaments.

On their way to the second place finish in the Shamrock, the Diamonds upset the powerful D.C. Volleyball Club on Saturday. That win helped the Diamonds win their pool and earned them the top seed in the Gold Division (the championship bracket) of Sunday's elimination play.

The team defeated the York Firebirds in the round-of-sixteen, the Tidewater (Va.) team in the quarters and the Columbia (Md.) Comets in the semifinals.

"We were down 13-2 against Tidewater in the first game," Mitchell said. "But we came back to win 15-13 and went on to win the second game."

The Diamonds were finally beaten by the Richmond Volleyball Club in the championship match, which was played in Virginia Tech's 14,000-seat Castle Coliseum.

"It was an amazing atmosphere to play in such a big arena," Mitchell said. "That was the focal point of the whole tournament and all the college coaches were in there watching."

Those college coaches picked the all-tournament team, which included the Diamonds Kristen Darby and Kate Hubbard.

Other players on the Diamonds include Lisa Darby, Alyssa Sanelli, Cori James, Andrea Clarke, Megan Hoosty, Meredith McIntosh, Simone George and Briana Gracon.

County to sponsor a spring women's soccer league

The New Castle County Department of Parks and Recreation will be sponsoring a spring women's soccer league. The league will have one division and a possible 10-game schedule on Sundays, beginning April 6.

The cost per team is $455 and is due by March 28.

To receive a flier or more information, please call 323-6418.

Newark rallies past William Penn

► NEWARK, from 17

basketball team was eager to show everyone that it belonged this year.

The Yellowjackets certainly did that in a 78-54 pounding of Sussex Tech in Saturday's round-of-16 game of the Delaware High School Boys Basketball Tournament. The victory was Newark's 12th straight and advanced the 19-4 Jackets to Tuesday's quarterfinal meeting against Flight A rival William Penn.

"We hadn't played in nine days," said Wallace, who had a game-high 19 points. "We were excited to get out and play. We wanted a large margin to prove to everybody we're going to be right there at the end."

Newark did everything right from the game's outset. The Jackets jumped to an 11-2 lead and never looked back. They stretched the lead to 33-18 at halftime and put the game away for good with a 14-0 run midway through the third quarter that improved the lead to 50-24.

Newark shot over 50 percent from the field, outrebounded Sussex Tech and seemed to come up with every loose ball.

"We had an excellent week of practice," said Newark coach Greg Benjamin. "We took a family trip down to see Sussex Tech Thursday night and I was a little concerned when I heard the kids talk about how easy it would be."

"But, to their credit, they came out and showed they want it. They want it bad."

Clarence Dorsett added 17 for Newark while Ian Rensburg chipped in 13 and Alonzo Brogden 12.

Hodgson advances to semifinals

► HODGSON, from 17

not leave the tournament easily.

Led by All-Flight A performer Ryan Smith, the Cougars stormed back with an 11-2 run of their own to cut the lead to 42-38 with 4:44 to play. Smith, who scored 35 points against St. Mark's Saturday, was kept in check most of the game by the Hodgson zone. He did, however, score four quick points and set up four more in the run.

Hodgson, however, did not allow Delcastle to get any closer than three points the rest of the way.

Harrison led the Silver Eagles with 22 points while Jamie McDaniel added 11. Price, who also suffered from foul trouble, was limited to eight points.

"I knew if [Delcastle] went zone, I would have opportunities inside," Harrison said. "I knew I had to step it up. My teammates got me the ball and I was just able to get take advantage."

Hodgson's win came on the heels of a 55-38 second-round victory over Concord, in which Price scored 19 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and blocked seven shots.

The win was significant in that it got the Silver Eagles past their first tournament opponent. Last year ninth-seeded Hodgson dropped a first-round game to 24th-seeded Seaford.

This year's tournament wins, the trip to the Final Four, the Flight B championship and the Blue Hen Conference title are all firsts for the Hodgson basketball program.

"I still get excited," said Bender, who took Delcastle to the state championship game in 1982. "I've been in this for 33 years and I still enjoy it. If I didn't it would be time to get out."

"The kids, though, are just taking it in stride. Everytime they do something it's a first and they're getting used to it. I actually think that's a better way to approach it. If they were all caught up in all these firsts, then it might make it harder to play well."

"They're approaching it the right way."
