Ex-Mayor Hossinger Succumbs After Linger- ing Illness

Death Claims Prominent Towns- man Last Night

Funeral Services Will Be Held Saturday Afternoon at 2 o'clock

After an illness of 17 months Joseph H. Hossinger passed away at 8:50 last evening.

Mr. Hossinger was a son of the late James and Ella Mackey Hossinger who dwelt a few miles from Newark, near the Pennsylvania line at the time of his birth. They moved to Newark when he was about 4 years old and lived in the residence now occupied by Daniel Thompson.

He was educated in the schools of the town and later attended Delaware College where he graduated in 1891. During his college life he was prominent in athletics and in every phase of College life. After graduation he was offered a commission in the army but refused to accept because of his mother's ill health. He was engaged in farming for several years in what is now known as the Dr. Young property. He was in business at Uniontown, Pa. for a short time and was later elected cashier of the National Bank of Newark, Treasurer of the Farmers' Trust Co. of which his father and his grandfather had been directors. Close application to the work there was detrimental to his health and he suffered at this time a physical breakdown. He spent some time at Saranac Lake in an effort to recover his health and was apparently successful.

In April 1917 he was elected Treasurer of the Federal Loan Bank at Baltimore and shortage of funds due to the drafting of many of the clerks into the service, put an onerous burden upon Mr. Hossinger which resulted in another breakdown which compelled him to give up the work. He was induced some time later to take the position of business manager for Alma Mater, but continued ill health necessitated his relinquishing that position.

In 1906 he married Laura Raub, daughter of the late Dr. A. N. Raub, who with two children Charlotte and Josephine, survive. He leaves also two sisters, Miss Anne Hossinger and Mrs. Daniel Thompson.

He served as Mayor of Newark for two terms and was honored with the nomination the third time but was forced on account of failing health to decline.

Of genial kindly manner and amiable disposition, he made hosts of friends who during his illness have shown sincere interest and sympathy. His death last night brought forth words of sympathy and un- qualified tribute from old and young, rich and poor, who had ever been acquainted with him. His intelligence, fortitude and unselfishness in the last months of his trying illness were indicative of the high character and disposition which endeavored "Joe" Hossinger to his hundreds of friends.

Funeral services will be held at his late residence on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and private interment made at Head of Christiana.

Better School Association Elects Officers

Reen interest was manifested in the election of officers for the Better School Association" formed at the grammar school recently. The officers elected on Monday are as follows:

President Charlotte Hossinger
Vice-President, Pauline Wideman
Vice-President, Margaret Orr
Vice-President, Samuel Handley
Secretary, John Cunningham
Librarian, Dorothy McNeal.

WEST GROVE BANKER IS TREASURER OF FARMERS' TRUST CO.

Young Man Recently Dis- charged From Service To Come In February

Earle Dougherty of West Grove was on Friday elected Treasurer of the Farmers Trust Co. to succeed John C. Truitt, resigned. Mr. Dougherty is a young man of pleasing personality. He has been connected with the National Bank of West Grove for more than 10 years and in spite of his youth is thoroughly conversant with every phase of the banking business. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in the Infantry and saw active service overseas. After his return he was made vice-president of the National Bank of West Grove which position he resigned to accept the trusteeship of the Farmers' Trust Co. Mr. Dougherty, is the son of John Dougherty of West Grove. His engagement to Miss Florence Cheyney of West Grove was announced recently.

He will take up his new duties about Feb. 15.

Sustains Injuries To Head In Fall

Mrs. James Rohrer had a very serious fall on Friday in front of her home on Continental Avenue. Her head was cut in several places and her body and limbs were badly bruised. She is still suffering considerable pain from the injuries to her head.

Attendance Good At Head Of Christiana

In spite of the inclemency of the weather last Sunday the attendance at Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church was very good.

Services next Sunday will be at the usual hours: Sabbath school at 10 a. m. and public worship at 10:45. The theme for the sermon at this service will be "The Lights."

Mrs. Walter Clyde's Sunday School Class will give a box social at the Manse Saturday evening, January 24.

Sneak Thieves Busy During The Past Week

Sundry ingenious devices to serve as burglar alarms have been invented and put into strategic positions by timid house-holders who have become alarmed by the number of burglaries committed in this vicinity recently.

One inventive genius procured a half dozen or so of empty tin cans, placed a pebble in two in each can, piled the cans into a large tin pan, placed said pan at the top of the open stairway, fastened cords to all first floor doors and windows and to the noise-producing device, aforesaid, so that any intruder who dares to attempt entrance is sure to start something. Other devices equally ingenious have been invented but the bold burglars will have to discover the workings thereof for themselves. Whatever the mode of ingress they will encounter a noisy welcome sufficient to rouse the neighborhood. The fact that in no case has the intruder qualified as a "porch climber" or "second story man," has allayed the fears of many, but the fact that their identity is still unknown to the authorities would seem to indicate that they are not exactly of the bungling amateur class.

No clue has yet been found to the identity of the burglars who on Wednesday night entered seven homes on Choate St. The haul hardly justified the loss of sleep and the effort. Norris Worrall was the heaviest loser, $25 in cash and a cigar holder valuable because of associations constituting the booty secured. $3.00 was secured from the residence of Benjamin McCormick and $1.50 from that of Officer Melville R. Apsley, a child's bracelet from the home of George Porter and insignificant sums of money from the homes of Delaware Lovett and Willard Bradley. Some food and a few small articles were taken from nearly all of the homes entered.

PASTOR OF PRESBY- TERIAN CHURCH URGES SANITARY MEASURES

Asks For United Movement To Insure A "Clean" Town

Dr. William J. Rowan read at last Sunday morning's service a letter from Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue a letter requesting the American people to assist the Bureau of Internal Revenue in enforcing the prohibition amendment to the Constitution.

He also made an appeal from the pulpit urging the people to be more particular about sanitary conditions in Newark. A few years ago, he stated, a committee was appointed by Council to press the matter. Good work was done at that time, but with the passing of the committee, the town has fallen back into the old habits of carelessness in this respect. Dr. Rowan urged united movement on the part of the towns people to clean up the town and keep it clean.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Baraca Class will give a supper in the Sabbath School room on Friday evening. It will be strictly a social affair.

The entertainment given by the Christian Endeavor Society was very well attended in spite of the storm. About 50 were present and enjoyed the games and other forms of entertainment provided. Ice cream cones were served.

Newark Grange Holds Installation Ceremony

Newark Grange No. 5, Patrons of Husbandry met at Old College Hall last night to install officers. The Oliver Eastburn Installation team from Harmony officiated. The attendance was rather large and an enjoyable meeting held. Refreshments were served.

TWO NEW CLASSES FORMED AT M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL

Increased Attendance Due To Recent Drive Necessitates Change

As a result of a drive instituted several weeks ago in the Methodist Sunday School for increased attendance two new classes were formed last Sunday—one in the intermediate department with Miss Marion Gallaher as teacher; and one in the senior department with Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson.

The attendance last Sunday was 197, an excellent record in spite of the bad weather.

Next Sunday at the conclusion of the morning service an election will be held for one lay delegate to attend the lay electoral conference in Wilmington in March. At this time lay delegates will be chosen to attend the General Conference to be held in Iowa in May.

H. Warner McNeal was chosen judge of the election. Harrison Gray and F. A. Cooch will be tellers and Earl Dawson, secretary.

Last Sunday morning Mr. Her- son spoke on "The Forgiveness of Sins." In the evening his subject was: "A Man Who Spoiled a Good Record."

FARMERS' TRUST CO. IN FLOURISHING CONDITION

Declares Regular Dividend Of 5 per cent and Extra Dividend of 5 per cent

The Board of Directors of the Farmers' Trust Co. at a meeting held yesterday morning declared a regular dividend of 5 per cent and an extra dividend of 5 per cent for the six months ending January 31, 1920.

They have paid to their depositors in interest during that period $22,465.

BEST OUT OF THREE WILL DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

Winners Of Recent Basketball Series To Play Off Tie Soon

At a meeting of the captains and managers of the Y. M. C. A. and Jr. O. A. M. basketball teams which tied for the championship of the town in the recent series, it was agreed to leave the decision to the result of the best out of three games to be played at a time agreed upon by the managers. Owing to the absence of Dr. Homer Hoyt manager of the "Y" team the dates have not yet been decided upon.

The team now forming to represent the "Y" will play the strong Grace M. E. team at Wilmington next Tuesday night. A schedule of games is being arranged and will be completed in a few days.

The Board of Directors at a meeting held last Thursday decided to offer a special rate of membership fee for the remainder of the fiscal year ending October 1. Senior membership will be $5 and Junior membership $2.50.

Guild To Have Box Social Friday

The Guild of St. Thomas' Church will hold a Box Social on Friday evening next at the Parish House. A large attendance is expected.

Jr. O. A. M. Installs Officers

American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. Order American Mechanics held a public installation service at their rooms last Monday night. A large attendance of members and friends of this growing organization, together with a number of state officers were present.

Two Newark Youths Win Phi Kappa Phi Membership

Eugene H. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kennedy of this town and P. Bayard Carter son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carter were, at a recent meeting of the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity, elected members.

This is an honorary fraternity eligibility to which is based on scholarship for the first three years in college. Membership is therefore one of the highest honors that a student can win and is consequently prized very highly. Ten men were so honored this year. The others are Charlesworth Carswell, C. L. Weigle, John W. Anderson, George C. Brower, William E. Barnard and Herman McKay.

Engineering Buildings Arrived Monday

The buildings shipped 6 or 8 weeks ago to be used as temporary quarters for the overcrowded engineering department, arrived on Monday and were hauled to the chosen site between Harter and Wolf Halls. They will be erected as soon as the ground thaws out sufficiently. A great part of the equipment has arrived and has been stored in the barn back of the Elliott Building.

Coasting Fine On "Quality Hill"

Monday's snow and the usual heavy Monday traffic made ideal sledding conditions on "Quality Hill" and the young folks were not slow to recognize the fact. The hill was alive with coasters on Monday evening. The lawn at "The Knoll" was the favorite spot for the youngsters in that vicinity and they made the best of it.

School Dismissed Monday Morning

Owing to insufficient heat in the buildings the children of the public schools were dismissed Monday morning. The illness of the janitor, Mr. Ewing and inability to secure the services of a substitute was responsible for this condition. Superintendent Morris made heroic efforts to make the buildings comfortable and succeeded in making it possible to hold the afternoon session.

Plans for "Y" Carnival Near- ing Completion

Chairman Reports Hearty Co- operation

Popularity of Movement At- tested by Willingness of Citizens to Help

The Y. M. C. A. of Newark is planning a carnival to be held from Tuesday February 10th to 14th, every evening from 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Arthur G. Wilkinson who has been appointed Chairman of the committee is receiving splendid support. He stated today that every person approached has promised to help. Judging by the number of young men and boys who enjoy "Y" privileges, it is evident that the town needs a Y. M. C. A. and the number of workers enrolled shows that the towns people are ready to stand behind it. Since its formation last fall and the appointment of Mr. Bebout as General Secretary, the Association has done good work. The first year of an Association is always the hardest financially, although at the directors meeting held last week, the report of the Finance Committee was most encouraging. Newark knows it cannot afford to let a work of this kind drop for lack of support.

It is estimated that the amount needed to run the Association does not exceed $5000 per annum, and it is felt that this is a small amount for the people of Newark, when the benefits given to the men and boys are considered.

The Carnival plans are going ahead rapidly. Advertising is already out and most of the booths arranged for. These include Fancy Work, Parcel Post, Cakes, (Continued on Page 4)

SUCCESSFUL ENGINEER DISCUSSES GOOD ROADS PROBLEM

WILLIAM M. FRANCIS GIVES TIMELY ADDRESS IN WOLF HALL

ANSWERS NUMEROUS QUESTIONS CONCERNING MERITS OF CONCRETE FOR ROADWAYS

Last Thursday evening at Wolf Hall an illustrated lecture on "Good Roads" was delivered by William M. Francis an alumnus of Delaware College and a son-in-law of Postmaster and Mrs. Levi K. Bowen. Other speakers were Mr. J. C. Eggleston of the Barrett Manufacturing Company whose talk was illustrated by films showing the various processes of construction on bituminous road work; and Mr. Nathan Johnson a road engineer of wide experience. These addresses were particularly timely in view of the importance which road construction has assumed in this state and the widespread attention attracted by Delaware roads now under construction. The commendatory reports of government inspectors, of engineers from neighboring states who have made tours of inspection, and the splendid review and prospectus recently issued by the Delaware State Program have brought the subject of "Roads" before the people.

On invitation of the Engineering Society of Delaware College under whose auspices the meeting was held, a number of interested townspeople were present.

Mr. Francis took a particular phase of road building, "The Expansion and Construction of Concrete Roads." The effect finally evidenced by cracking, crushing, spalling, or buckling is due, he said, to four causes: temperature changes; variation of moisture content; variation and character of the sub-grade; excess loading by traffic. A technical discussion of each of these features followed. The development of cracks is, he stated, the only serious objection that has, to date, been advanced against the construction of concrete roads. This he did not consider a material objection but one that could be overcome by the proper application of engineering principles.

He answered a number of questions with regard to this phenomenon. To the question "When do cracks usually occur?" he replied that longitudinal cracks occurred during any seasonal changes but transverse cracks should in the main, occur during the first dry season. The latter he said, are due to favorable combination of moisture in the concrete and atmospheric conditions, together with a restraint induced by the condition of the sub grade, and may be caused by an unstable foundation.

Longitudinal cracks are in the majority of cases caused by an unstable condition of the sub grade and by the causes superinducing transverse cracks.

The best mixture, in his opinion is one which is most dense and which will reduce to a minimum the absorption of moisture, but it should have a strength of 1500 lbs. per sq. in. at the end of 28 days. Mixing to give a product of uniform quality and placing in such a way as to prevent loss of water are absolutely essential, he said. Wetting the sub grade to prevent moisture absorption from the concrete thus causing too rapid drying out is also necessary.

scrub the mold off and always trim the outside before chipping."

Household Hints

Thaw out frozen water pipes with applications of thick cloths dipped in boiling water. Less risk attends such a process than is connected with the use of lighted candles or lamps.

Fat for greasing pans should be kept in a cup along with a little brush for applying it. This saves the time used in stopping to wash the hands.

Plaster of Paris has a variety of uses in the home, chiefly as a cement or filler for the repair of household articles, for stopping cracks in walls, and the like. Its efficiency may be greatly increased if diluted white of egg is used instead of plain water for mixing. One part white of egg and two parts water make a liquid suitable for mixing. Thin glue may also be used in place of white of egg when eggs are expensive.

When plaster of Paris is mixed, it should be used immediately, for it hardens quickly. When it is desired to have it harden slowly, use vinegar instead of water; then it will remain plastic for some time after mixing, finally hardening the same as when water is used.

Giving the Kiddies a Square Deal Often Means "A Square Meal"

The child fed improperly is not getting a square deal in this world, however much else may be done for him by his parents. From start to finish he is under a handicap, mentally and physically, when in competition with those who have been given the right kind of food.

Surprising as it may seem, statistics show that the proportion of undernourished children in the better homes is large, just as it is in the homes of smaller incomes. The food served in the former may cost more and be in greater abundance, but it is quite as apt to be unsuitable for a growing child.

Wapella County, Iowa, is a prosperous community where comfortable homes are the rule and not the exception. Recently the county nurse and the home demonstration agent, with the aid of 10 volunteers, weighed and measured 2,189 children in the county. Of the children examined, 407 were below weight. Out of a group of 137 children in rural districts, who were weighed, measured, and inspected, only 5 were found to be normal.

To illustrate what proper diet will do for a child, two nutrition classes were started in Ottumwa schools. In one were eight children, each from 5 to 14 pounds under weight. They are being given one pint of milk daily for three months. One cup is given in the morning recess and one in the afternoon.

At the other school, a lunch is served at 10:15 each morning to the class selected. It consists of a large dish of well-cooked oatmeal, with sugar and whole milk, a glass of milk and graham crackers. The children are very eager for this plain wholesome food.

The records of gain are interesting. Every child has made at least a 2-pound gain. One 9-year old boy, 6 pounds underweight, has gained 8 pounds; and one 11-year old boy, 17 pounds under weight and in extremely poor physical condition, has gained 9 pounds, and his general health is much improved.

Planting Inferior Seed An Expensive Kind Of Carelessness

With all kinds of seed as high as they are, the use of inferior seed is a most expensive form of carelessness. Careful testing of practically all kinds of seed has long been urged by the United States Department of Agriculture, and special stress is being placed on it, now that prices are so unusually high. In the matter of clover seed, for instance, attention is called to the fact that comparatively cheap seed may be actually higher than those that cost more money, because of low germination. The department, at various times, has issued advice in bulletins and other forms of the best methods of testing seeds. This information may be had free on application.

The juice of the forbidden fruit is taking the place of "John Barley-corn" when "John" cannot be procured. The apple caused Adam to leave the Garden of Paradise and it may make trouble again as cider cannot be sold over two days old according to law.—Oxford News.

Ex-Congressman Explains Legion's Views On Military Policy

Former Congressman Thomas W. Miller on Friday afternoon outlined before the House Committee on military affairs, the stand taken by the American Legion on two important phases of the future military policy of the United States. Mr. Miller is chairman of the legislative committee.

The two important questions as set forth in resolutions adopted at the first annual convention in Minneapolis were those of universal military training and future organization of the army.

Concerning the Legion's policy on universal military training, Mr. Miller set forth that the members of the Legion believe the country should adopt this policy for its young men as the only fair, democratic and adequate system of defense; that in this way the country can maintain for its defense a citizens' army which will be adequate for any national emergency. The Legion, however, is strongly opposed to militarism, or any military caste. The training should be taken by the youth in their eighteenth, nineteenth or twentieth years and should be for a period of not less than four and not more more than six months, during the first year, to be followed by a two weeks' training period each year for two years.

Mr. Miller pointed out the Legion's recommendation that the Air Service be made a separate department and considered as a combat branch of the Army. There should be one army to include: overseas garrisons, small home force, training establishment and a citizens' army, including the organized reserves and the national guards. The national guard would form an integral part of the citizen army. Training in this guard might be elected by young men instead of in camps. Members of the general staff should all be trained for that particular duty. Reserve officers should have access to the schools provided for the training of general staff officers.

What Is the Future of the Horse In America?

What is the future of the horse in America? Will it pay the small farmer and breeder to raise horses? How will the tractor and truck affect the big drafters? Will there be a demand for horses?

In The Country Gentleman of December 13th Stuart O. Blythe presents the answers to these important questions. The war from the American angle saw a demand for almost every farm product but the horse. Meat producing animals were in demand and it was profitable to raise all classes of livestock except horses. As a result, there has been a severe falling off in breeding. But the tide has turned. "There is a strong demand in city and country today for good big horses, 16.2, or over in height, and weighing 1700 pounds or more. If they are sound and right, they bring $300 or above, in the Chicago market," said Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Percheron Breeders' Association. Chester G. Starr, farm advisor of Tazewell county, Illinois, believes the outlook in the pure-bred horse business is better today than at any time in years.

Many of the big breeders are retiring from business, however, and Professor Edmonds, of the University of Illinois, one of the country's leading horsemen, believes that our future supply of big work horses will come from the small farm. "A few to the farm and on a good many farms," is his idea. This means that we will follow the European practice, by which small farmers, each owning from two to six mares, have developed the great breeds of drafters.

Horsemen seem generally to believe that the tractor has come to stay. "Tractors will undoubtedly replace some horses," said E. B. White, president of the Percheron Association, "but there will always be a use for horses on the farm."

A little 5-year-old, lately removed from the city, saw for the first time a man milking a cow, and, after watching in silence for a while, inquired: "Which of the cow's spouts gives the cream?"

Two political candidates were discussing the coming local election.

"What did the audience say when you told them you had never paid a dollar for a vote?" queried one.

"A few cheered, but the majority seemed to lose interest," returned the other.—Harper's Magazine.

A CEMETERY WITH TRUTHFUL TOMBSTONES

Shocking To Be Sure But Preaching a Valuable Sermon Nevertheless

It was a neat little country cemetery, much like most little country cemeteries, yet there was something queer about it. There was the weird gateway and the customary weeping willows by it. The clipped hedge was like most cemetery hedges. The tombstones were about the average run of tombstones. But, withal, there was something queer—even shocking. Then you discovered what it was. These were truthful tombstones. Conciling platitudes—"Too pure for earth," and that like—found no place. Instead, there were such epitaphs as these: "Mother—walked to death in her kitchen;" "Sister to the memory of Jane—she scrubbed herself into eternity;" "Grandma—washed herself away;" "Susie—swept out of life with too heavy a broom."

The people who saw that cemetery—and there were thousands of them—may have been shocked for the instant, but they came away with the thought that one might be better for seeing such a cemetery. For, you see, it was a miniature cemetery, 3 feet square, and it was part of an exhibit at the Montana State Fair. Such levity with the most solemn thing that mankind knows, could not be justified merely on the theory that the things said were true—but those who saw it came away with the belief that it was justified by way of keeping just those things from being true. And that was the purpose of the exhibit, placed there by the agricultural extension department of the State Agricultural College of Montana. It was meant to emphasize the need for home conveniences, for lack of which many a farm woman has gone to her grave before her time.

There were other exhibits designed to drive home the same hard truth. One was a model showing a bleak farmhouse on a bare hill. At the bottom of the hill ran a little stream, and by the stream were barns and cattle. Straggling up the hill toward the house with two heavy pails of water was a bent old woman. And the legend was: "Convenient for the cattle—but not for mother." Then there was a farmhouse with the water supply as it should be, the woman in the yard sprinkling her flower beds with a hose. And the inscription read: "Convenient for mother—and the cattle, too." Another model showed a kitchen as it should be, and another a kitchen as it should not be. And there was the legend: "A long-distance kitchen shortens life."

The lesson taught by the exhibit is one that the State agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture are trying to teach by every means at their command—greater convenience and a larger measure of comfort in the farm home.

Criminology Not

Crime a Disease

The moralities of old demanded some sort of proportion between crime and punishment. Even artistic balance exacted this. It remained for modern times to discover that there was no such thing as crime, or if there was crime it was disease. Why punish a man because he has typhoid? So why imprison a man because he breaks into your house, or why hang a man because he has murdered your mother? The weak spot of this argument is that the aggressor got all the best of the deal. There was no thought for those who had been burglarized or murdered. The sentimentality, maudlin enough, visited the innocent with punishment and the guilty with freedom. Societies were formed against capital punishment. Logically enough where there was no crime there could be no punishment. And the pestiferous propaganda did not stop at wild visionaries. It gained foothold in the courts. Parole too often gave place to jail. Crime was recruited from the paroled, with the added advantage that the criminal was no longer an amateur. Last week we saw a murderer quietly walk out of jail unmolested. Many thought the man too handsome to be jailed, much less hanged, although there was no question of his guilt. Another criminal just released on parole embarked on an orgy of robbery in the neighboring communities. So are we all made to suffer by the vagaries and dreams of absurd reformers. Crime is not a disease, but criminology is.—New World.

THE LURE OF THE OUIJA BOARD

Weird Exponent of Futures Is Having "Hour of Triumph"

The ouija board, at once the joy of mushy sentimentalists and the butt of the cynic's joke, has figured prominently in local and notional news during the past few weeks. The havoc played at the University of Michigan pales into insignificance beside the triumph achieved in the capital city of this state where according to a story appearing recently in a prominent Wilmington paper, it settled the fate of Lem Price when it declared that he is drowned. With Lem safely accounted for, sans the bag of flour, in Davy Jones' locker, the troubles of the state authorities should be at an end. Unfortunately, however, or fortunately, according to the attitude of mind of the reader, there are those high in intellectual and even in official circles whose minds are too materialistic to be convinced even now, by ouija, and the search for Lem will go on if the weather does not become too severe. This according to the New York Tribune is "Ouija's Hour of Triumph" and the writer goes on to say.

"The lure of the ouija board may well be as alarming a factor in college life as the faculty of the University of Michigan declare. That it has succeeded the Bible and the prayer book in fraternity houses and students' rooms may be all too true. The story of the two young women who were so undone by ouija as to be obliged to quit college and place themselves under nerve specialists sounds unbelievable enough. But why pick on college students, we wonder. If ouija is cutting into the lives of the matriculated it is doing equal execution in far older and more experienced quarters. No little group of serious thinkers of any age or any clime but has its board today and its medium and its tipping tables and its Maeterlinckian contracts with all the other kinds of pale blue philosophy.

And why not? If ever ouija was to have an hour of triumph this is surely it. The background is complete. The conviction of a teetering world, moved by unseen forces to cavort in the most unaccountable fashion, is upon us all. No grand piano waltzing up a flight of stairs beneath the finger-tips of a select coterie of expert table tippers of Greenwich Village could be half as extraordinary as that entirely scientific and respectable rocket to the moon, now building at Clark College. That radical visionary, esteemed as a voice of authority only by children, Mother Goose, turns out to have been a conservative prophet by the light of Professor Einstein's modification of the law of gravitation which treats the cow and the moon, we gather, as two soaring objects, mutually toying with each other's four dimensions.

As nearly as we (from our post without the walls of vision) can sense the general situation, it is exactly as if the world were a ouija board and Mr. Maurice Maeterlinck, with half-shut eyes, had its surface and was spelling out the most marvelous and amazing things. Only the other day, for instance, it was duly announced by a silk manufacturer that a certain shade of blue had been officially selected as "Blue Bird" blue; and the same was declared to express, on the word of Mr. Maeterlinck himself, nothing less than "the warmth of the sunlit ocean, the vibration of the Alpine sky and the restfulness of the distant mountains." If this does not sound like the utterance of ouija we should like to know what does. But we do not wish to overestimate Mr. Maeterlinck's responsibility for the current teeterings of the universe. We merely suggest his commanding and mysterious figure as typical of much that is strange and breathless and perfectly upsetting—and yet not without its lighter side, at that.

Hot Water Disinfects Soil

The need of a simple, practical method for disinfecting small quantities of soil in which to grow healthy seedlings for home garden planting, now made more emphatic because of the great expansion of tomato and other club work, has promoted the Bureau of Plant Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture to obtain more accurate data on the effectiveness of hot water as a means of ridding soil of the root-knot nematode, and certain parasitic fungi usually associated with root troubles. By means of a large application of boiling water at the rate of 7 gallons per cubic foot of soil in shallow benches practically eliminated the parasites. Applying this method to the needs of boys' and girls' garden club work, where the size of the seedbox or flat commonly used is 14 by 3 inches, 4½ gallons of boiling water would be necessary to disinfect the soil in such a flat.

In all cases a marked increase in the percentage of germination and in the size and vigor of plants grown in the treated soil was observed. Substantially the same method of killing plant parasites in the soil has been used with some success in certain vegetable greenhouses; but the department's experiments serve to determine accurately the temperatures required and also the necessary quantities of hot water. The root-knot nematode can be eliminated from the soil contained in a 4-inch pot by submerging it for 5 minutes in water brought to a temperature of 208 degrees Fahrenheit. In 8-inch pots the organisms are killed by an application of boiling water at the rate of about 3 quarts to a pot.

Social Doings

The bachelor members of the Faculty card club will entertain the members tonight at the rooms of the Faculty Club in Old College.

Final arrangements have been completed for the formal dance to be given by the Pall Mall Club in the Y. M. C. A. building on Saturday evening.

The Engineering Society gave a banquet in Old College in honor of Dean Allan R. Cullimore, Professor Clarence A. Short, and Professor Charles W. Banks at 6 o'clock Monday evening. As these men are leaving Delaware College, the Society took this means of expressing the appreciation of the engineering students for the influence they have exerted in the lives of the students and in the growth of the college.

The dinner was a credit to Miss Hall and was served in Big League Style. The menu was as follows:

1920 Champagne, tomato soup, lamb chops with toast, french fried potatoes, french peas in timbales, pickles, rolls, fruit salad, wafers, apple pie a la mode, Demi Tasse, cigars and cigarettes.

After the dinner, the President of the Society, Charlesworth Carswell, introduced William T. Anderson, Vice-President, who told the purpose of the banquet. Dean Cullimore then gave a short talk. This talk, full of pep and fun, took the sting from the "Good-bye's" and put the entire assemblage in a cheerful mood. Then Professor Short, that member of the grand old class of '96, who has so long been a friend of the engineering students at Delaware College, made a few remarks that should be remembered by every man that heard them. The thought that ment straight home was "Be proud of your college!"

Professor Banks expressed his reluctance to leave Delaware, and stated that he hoped to be able to keep in touch with the men and their work as much as possible.

A surprise was handed the Society in the form of the announcement of Professor Thone's fast approaching wedding day. Mr. Thone responded gallantly to the occasion.

Progress in the execution of Dean Cullimore's plans for an increase in engineering equipment and temporary buildings for the same was reported by Professor Firman Thompson.

After several rousing cheers for the guests of honor and the Engineering Department, the Society adjourned.

Entertains Friends At Dinner

Mrs. Margaret D. Cann entertained the following guests for dinner last Thursday evening: Misses Agnes Snyder, Mary C. Hoey Alva Lockhart, Ruth Jones, Miss Warburton and Messrs Charles Eissner and Frank Mackie.

ASKS FOR PICTURE POST CARDS OF HISTORICAL PLACES

Mrs. J. Pearce Cann Chairman Of Arts And Crafts Attends Executive Board Meeting

Mrs. J. Pearce Cann attended a meeting of the executive board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs held in Wyoming on Thursday. She gave an interesting report on Arts and Crafts of which she is chairman made a request for picture postcards of historical places for the "Traveling Picture Library" and told how these are used by children in the public schools.

A large number of officers and chairmen of committees were present at the meeting which was held in the afternoon in the Wyoming Round Table Clubhouse, a beautiful little building which is entirely free of debt.

Mrs. A. D. Warner, president of the federation for the State, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Floy E. Booth is the corresponding secretary. Reports from various committees were read.

Mrs. Charles E. Griffith, chairman of music made a report in which she asked the federation to regard music as a force instead of an adjunct. Mrs. Griffith has prepared papers on music in countries abroad and in America and is willing to visit any of the federated clubs for a program.

Miss Emily Bissell gave perhaps the most important of the committee reports. As chairman of industrial and social relations, she told of the Thrift campaign which began Sunday. Miss Edith Hughes has been speaking in behalf of the campaign and two clubs have been established. The children's bureau has had Miss Armstrong speaking over the State on child welfare, and it was reported that Dr. Edith Rabe in all spoke to 7,000 club women and others in Delaware. The cooperation of Dr. Keene of the Society for Prevention of Tuberculosis, was announced. Dr. Keene was the establisher of open air schools in Minnesota. School nurses will soon be appointed, Miss Bissell said, two in each county. There will also be a traveling clinic for the State. Miss Bissell reported that Delaware stood third in the sale of Red Cross seals at Christmas.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children reported through Mrs. S. S. Deemer, who stated 447 complaints of children abused in various ways had been received.

Mrs. H. D. Boyer of Smyrna, chairman of outlook, reported two new clubs in the State Federation, Newport, with 53 members, and Elsmere with 18.

Miss Mary Mathier, chairman of literature and library extension, sent her report which announced many towns celebrating a George Elliott day.

Miss Helen Bridge who succeeds Miss Gertrude Blodgett as chairman of home economics told of the marked growth in the interest of home economics. There are now 20 centers for this study, where formerly there were five. Four hundred and five pupils in 21 schools are registered for this work. The freshman class of 18 at Delaware College is enrolled. Miss Bridge holds the chair of the teacher's training class at the Women's College in Newark.

Mrs. Walter O. Stack, chairman of health, could not attend, but sent her report.

Mrs. Warner in the chair read a plea for the School Code in Delaware.

Mrs. Pool of Middletown, asked for the cooperation of the clubs in beautifying the Lincoln Highway. Governor Townsend will be asked to set aside a combined arbor and tribute day.

INCOME TAX FORMS NOW BEING DISTRIBUTED

From Now Until March 15,
Returns May Be Made to Collector

The Federal Income Tax season opens today, with the distribution of the forms for personal returns from the office of Collector of Internal Revenue H. T. Graham.

From now until the bell rings on the night of March 15th, the annual returns covering income for 1919 will be figured out and filed by citizens and residents, together with payment of tax due.

The burden of fulfilling this obligation is laid by law squarely on the shoulders of those who are American citizens or residents. Every person must determine for himself whether his net income for 1919, figured according to the Revenue Law, was sufficient in amount to require a return.

If he is single, a return is required if net income for 1919 was $1000 or over. A widow or widower is classified as a single person. A man or woman living apart from his wife or husband is also classified as a single person.

If he was married and living with his wife on Dec. 31, a return is required if his net income for 1919 was $2000 or over. In his net income he must include that of his wife and minor children, if any.

If a tax is due on his income, he must make payment with his return. This payment may be made in whole or in part of the tax due. At least one quarter of the tax must accompany the return.

The filing and paying must be done before midnight of March 15th, or he is classified as a delinquent and is subject to severe penalties.

The forms are being distributed for personal returns. Form 1040A is intended for use by a person whose net income does not exceed $5000. A larger form 1040, is intended for each person having a net income in excess of $5000. Both of these forms are now obtainable at Internal Revenue offices and at some banks and Post Offices.

It is urged by the Internal Revenue Bureau that taxpayers obtain their blanks at once. Failure to have a blank form at hand for an eleventh-hour return will not relieve a person of penalty for failure to comply with the law.

Each form contains instructions for preparing and filing the return, and these should be carefully read and strictly observed.

There is also provided a "work sheet" which should be used for making the original computations, and which should be retained and preserved by the taxpayer.

Any person who is in doubt on points affecting his particular case, should bring such matters to the attention of the nearest Deputy Collector or Revenue Agent, who will render every necessary aid without charge.

When the return is completed, it should be properly executed and immediately filed. Any Internal Revenue Officer will administer the necessary oath without charge.

It is pointed out that accuracy in compiling the return is absolutely necessary. Mere guesses and estimates as to income and deductions should be avoided, and actual facts and amounts should be set forth. And this is equally important in considering the question of whether a return is required.

THE INCOME TAX AS APPLIED TO WOMEN

Revenue Collector Tells Status
With Regard To The Law

Women who had incomes during 1919 are reminded by Collector of Internal Revenue H. T. Graham that they are subject to all of the provisions of the federal income tax. Many thousands of women file returns and pay taxes regularly, and there are new names added to this list each year. The high wages and salaries received by women last year will perhaps double the number of the fair sex who are required to file returns.

A public school teacher, or other city, town, county and State employee, is not taxed on her salary or wages, but must file a return if her taxable income from other sources was sufficient in amount to come within the law's definitions.

An unmarried woman, a widow, or a married woman who is living apart from her husband, must file an income tax return if her net income for 1919 was $1,000 or over. She is entitled to an exemption on the first $1,000 of her income. If she is the head of a family, as defined in the Income Tax regulations, she may claim $1,000 additional exemption. Also, she may claim further exemption of $200 for each person for whom she is the chief support, if the dependent is under 18 or is mentally or physically defective.

A married woman who has an income from a separate source than her husband is entitled to file a separate return with respect to that income. Ordinarily a husband and wife file one joint return, including the income of both. But if the husband does not include his wife's income, the wife is required to file her own return. Separate returns of husband and wife are required if either had a net income exceeding $5,000.

A married woman who lives with her husband is not allowed a prescribed exemption. She and her husband have $2,000 plus $200, addition for each dependent; and this exemption may be taken by either or divided in any manner between them.

A woman who was widowed during 1919 may claim exemption for the full year, on the basis of her status of December 31.

A wife whose husband is in a sanitarium or temporarily working in another city, and is separated from him only through necessity, should not consider her status as "living apart" from her husband. But if there is voluntary continuous separation, whether or not granted by court decree, each must take the status of a single person with respect to income tax.

A portly Dutch woman applied to the post office for a money order to send to her son in the far East. She told the clerk she had left her son's letter at home, but said he was "some place out in China, dot sounds like der noise an automobile makes."

The clerk smiled, and turning to another nearby, he said, "What kind of a noise does an automobile make Joe?"

"Honk, honk!" the other suggested.

"Yah, dot's it," exclaimed the woman, her face brightening. "Honk honk dots der place."

So the clerk made the order payable to Hongkong, and the woman went away happy.

What His Club Fellows Did For Tom Jenkins

Tom Jenkins—that isn't his real name, but it will do—was very proud of his cow. He used to go out to the barn and curry her, like a horse, and "doll her up," and tie a blue ribbon around her tail. He was figuring on her being the best cow owned by any of the boys' and girls' club members in Merrimack County, N. H. But once in a while Tom Jenkins would grow solemn.

"Crickets," Tom would say to himself, "suppose something happens to my cow."

Something did happen. The cow became sick and died, while she was still dry, and without returning a cent. That took all the joy out of life for Tom. He moped around, and once or twice he went out to the barn and looked at the place where she had stood.

"I'm in for it," he said. "My cow is gone, and I owe the bank every cent she cost. It'll take a million years to pay it back. Just my luck. I ought to have known better than to join that club."

Tom wasn't so far wrong at that. When a boy loses a cow these days it means something. Older people would feel just as bad, especially if, like Tom, they still had to pay for the cow, with no way of doing it.

But Tom's club leader heard about it. He knew that none of the club members was rich, but he told them about Tom's bad luck. And somehow, Tom's plight appealed to them, for many had borrowed money to start them in club work. They began to send in little contributions. A garden and canning club sold popcorn at the farm bureau field day and turned over $6.80 for Tom Jenkins's cow. In a month there was enough money to buy Tom a new cow—one that return enough money to pay for the cow that had died. And she's doing it.

"Those women have been setting there for an hour or more."

"You shouldn't say 'setting,' my dear. It is 'sitting'."

"No, 'setting' is what I meant. I think they're hatching out trouble for somebody." — Detroit Free Press.

Danger In the Sportive Cootie

Cooties, as well as crowned heads, suffered as a result of knowledge gained in the World War. The cooties were largely laughed at—by those who didn't have 'em—but that they are no laughing matter is indicated by a recent report to the Bureau of Agriculture, that if louseborne diseases should be introduced in this country their appearance in epidemic form is not impossible. The Bureau of Entomology is one of the agencies that during the war and since has investigated the subject of body lice, which was practically a new field until war conditions demonstrated its importance. Until the cooties came into their war-time prominence much more attention had been given to insects attacking plants and lower animals than to those attacking man.

A Bureau of Entomology investigator has concluded that in a city of 500,000 population, where sanitary standards are high, 2,500 would be a liberal estimate of the normal number of cases of pediculosis (lousiness) likely to occur in one year. As factors favoring the development of lice he lists continuous wearing of clothing, personal neglect due to disease, personal neglect due to old age, personal neglect and loss of self-respect due to drunkenness and dissipation, and personal neglect due to discouragement and loss of ambition. In most of the cases investigated, two or more of these factors operated together. Contact with verminous persons or their clothing or articles of personal use were found to be principal methods of transmission.

Cleanliness is the surest safeguard against lice. The beneficial effect, from the standpoint of the general population, of bathing facilities, and sanitary conditions in jails and cheap lodging houses, is strongly indicated in the report.

'Tis the coward who quits to misfortune;

'Tis the knave who changes each day;

'Tis the fool who wins half the battle.

Then throws all his chances away.—Farm Journal.

LOCAL MAN ELECTED DIRECTOR OF APPLE COMPANY

C. A. McCue Is Made Vice-President In Subsequent Organization

At a meeting recently of the stockholders of the Delaware Apple Company, a Board of Directors was elected, and the Board elected officers for the year. The directors elected were: Judge David T. Marvel, Prof. C. A. McCue, W. C. Bailey, H. Ridgely Harrington, Charles S. Rayburn, A. J. Taylor, E. G. Jones, Charles E. Emes, L. Mulford Taylor, James Lord and C. W. Wensing.

The Board of Directors elected the following officers: President, Judge David T. Marvel; Vice-President, Prof. Charles A. McCue of Delaware College; Secretary, G. D. Hopkins; Treasurer, C. Bailey, of Philadelphia.

The Delaware Apple Company owns the largest apple orchard in the country east of the Mississippi river, having about 77,000 trees on an acreage of something over 800. It is located in the vicinity of Bridgeville, and the trees include those varieties adapted to this section.

While there has been no income from the orchards as yet, the crop last year being a failure on account of weather conditions at blossom time, it is expected that this year the company will begin to realize something on the large amount represented in the outlay. A spray plant has been expended for fertilizers and spraying machines and other equipment, and it is hoped that the coming season will be a profitable one. Should there be a good apple year the quantity that might be produced in the orchards of the Delaware Apple Company could amount to several hundred thousand baskets.

The stock outstanding is about 77,000 shares valued at $2 a share. It was announced at the meeting of stockholders that if any stockholder desired to sell his stock, buyers could be found for it at $2.50 for the $2 shares.

TO THE MEN OF AMERICA

By Rose Trumbull
 You talk of your breed, of cattle,
 And plan for a higher strain,
 You double the food of the pasture,
 You heap up the measure of grain;
 You draw on the wits of the nation,
 To better the barn and the pen;
 But what are you doing, my brothers,

You mention the points of your roadster,

With many a "wherefore" and "when,"
 But, ah, are you conning, my brothers,
 The worth of the children of men?

And what of your boy? Have you measured
 His needs for the growing year?
 Does your mark as his sire, in his features,
 Mean less than your bran on a steer?

Thoroughbred—that is your watchword,
 For stable and pasture and pen;
 But what is your word for the homestead?

NEWARK HIGH HOLDS SALESIANUM TO LOW SCORE

Local Lads Put Up Plucky Fight With Strong Wil- mington Quintet

Newark High basketball team met defeat at the hands of the strong Salesianum High quintet on Friday evening in a fast snappy game featured by the close guarding of both teams. The game was played at the Y. M. C. A.

Newark's best men were Armstrong and Moore. Armstrong played a good floor game as well as scoring five out of the ten points. Moore excelled in the foul-shooting branch. The two guards of Newark are also due for the credit of holding the locals to such a low score.

For the visitors Quinn and Lovell played the leading role in the scoring department, Quinn registering three tallies for two points each, with Lovell securing one short of this total. The credit of the contest, however, goes to the two guards for their excellent work in holding the fast Newark five to a lone two-counter. Almost as soon as one of the college town boys got the ball he was met with one of the big framed lads and compelled to jump the ball.

The teams were about even in the first chapter of the game, the first period ending with the score board registering a 3-3 tie. In the second period both sides opened up considerable, although Newark's additional counters came mainly from free tosses from the fifteen-foot mark.

The score:

Salesianum	Field	Foul	Pts.
Quinn, F.	3	0	6
Walsh, F.	0	1	1
Lovell, G.	2	0	4

Thirty Pounds Or "Bust" Says Middletown Dairyman

"Made 20 pounds on my cow and am going to make 30 next year," said Herman Conner of Middletown as he stepped into the door of the farm bureau office.

Mr. Conner continued by stating that his pure bred Holstein cow Elzevire Sunbeam Ykema which he secured through the New Castle County Farm Bureau a year ago had just completed a 7 day official record as a three year old, producing 543.7 pounds of milk and 19.58 lbs. of butter.

Her best single day record was 51 lbs. of milk and 2.9 lbs. of butter. She also broke the monthly record of the Middletown Cow Testing Association, producing 2117 pounds of milk. This record was produced in 28 days.

This cow's blood lines run back to King of the Hengervelds, one of the foundation bulls of the breed. She is a splendid individual, nicely marked and has a well set udder.

Only the fact that the cow was in ordinary flesh and that her quarters were inadequate for the cold weather, prevented her from materially increasing her record.

Mr. Conner left the office saying that he hadn't had ten hours of sleep in the last week, but he knew more about testing cows now than he did and that the next time she came in he was going to make a 30 lb. record on her her "bust."

A representative of the Eden Washing Machine Co. was given a hearing and an opportunity to demonstrate the working of the machine.

A New Year's greeting from State President, Mrs. A. Warner was read, and a communication from Miss Emily Bissell relative to the observance of Thrift week.

An invitation to a luncheon to be given Tuesday by the Club at Delmar was received.

An Ad— for Advertisers

THE POST is different—everybody admits that. Even our enemies.

Again, we edit our Ads with the same care as we edit our news. No Gold Bricks, no luring sensations, no Get-Rich-Quick Proposals. We have no scandals in our columns, either news or advertising.

No G. A. R. Hero is saved by Camouflage Booze, no Society Belle of Skedunk saved by "Pink" Grace adorns our pages. We exploit no patent pills—tut-tut, liver, asthma and dope cried for have not our O. K. Such ills are for physicians and for nature.

We back our Ads. They are worthy and have our guarantee. We are proud of them and their association. We know them.

Honest Goods advertised by Honest Men are welcomed to The Post. And they do say, those who have tried that Advertising in The Post pays. So when contemplating your Spring Campaign, place your Ad where you are at least satisfied with your associates. Ads, as well as men, are sometimes known by the company they keep.
