Summer Masses Offered At Old Bohemia Church

Summer services again will be held in historic St. Francis Xavier or Old Bohemia Church, near Warwick, Md., on the third Sundays of June, July, August and September at 4 p.m.

The first Mass will be said this Sunday by Father John Dougher, recently ordained by the Rev. Michael W. Hyle, bishop of Wilmington.

The Old Bohemia Historical Society and the Rev. John F. McLaughlin, local pastor, extend a welcome to the public to attend the services, visit the museum, browse around the old cemetery, and inspect farmland surrounding the church.

"A very rewarding way to spend Father's Day, would be attendance at Old Bohemia services, followed by a good dinner at one of the nearby restaurants where seafood is a specialty," President Frank W. Krastel of the Old Bohemia Society advises.

Dangers Of Hitch-Hiking Cited By Keystone Club

A warning against hitch-hikers was issued today by Keystone Automobile Club.

"Hitch-hiking is dangerous to both the hiker and motorist," said Edward P. Curran, safety director of the club. "The hiker is in constant danger of being run down along the highway, and the motorist can be in danger of losing his life to a bandit posing as a tired hitch-hiker."

"The safest rule to follow is to give a lift only to persons you know and recognize during daytime driving, and never under any circumstances pick up a rider after dark or on a lonely, deserted road," Curran cautioned.

Police said: "The record emphasizes again the reluctance of many motorists to use the seat belt—a well recognized life-saver."

"In 14 investigated accidents involving 21 vehicles," he continued, "only five cars were equipped with seat belts and in only one car were they actually in use."

H. Rodney Sharp, H. Fletcher Brown Professors Named

Kirchner, Michl, Reese, Ribner Win Brown Chairs; Kwart, Brown Professor

University of Delaware trustees named four new H. Rodney Sharp professors, and one new H. Fletcher Brown professor last Saturday for chairs endowed by the two university benefactors.

Named H. Rodney Sharp professors are Walther Kirchner, history; Herman Michl, business and economics; William L. Reese, philosophy department chairman; and Irving Ribner, English.

Chemistry Professor Harold Kwart was named the new H. Fletcher Brown professor.

The assignments make a total of nine Sharp, and six Brown professorships at the University of Delaware.

Kirchner joined the university faculty in 1945. Born in Germany, he earned three degrees, including the Ph.D., at UCLA from 1941 to 1944. He has lectured at Harvard, the University of California, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Johns Hopkins, and other colleges in this country, as well as the universities of Copenhagen, Stockholm, Bergen, Hamburg, and Kiel in Europe.

Michl, who taught at the Pennsylvania Wharton School of Finance in Philadelphia from 1960 to 1963, joined the Delaware faculty in 1954. He received his bachelor's degree and doctorate from Pennsylvania, and is co-author of "Economics of American Industry."

Reese, head of the philosophy department since he joined the Delaware faculty in 1960, has developed the Philosophy of Science series, just ending its fourth year. He has served as general editor of the volumes published from the seminar proceedings.

Ribner, a noted Shakespearean critic, joined the local faculty last year after 11 years at Tulane. He has published six books and some 50 articles on literature of the English Renaissance. He received his Ph.D. from Ohio State, where he taught.

Father's Day At The Chicken Festival in Salisbury

It'll be Father's Day at the Chicken Festival in Salisbury, Md., this Saturday, and of course chicken will be the official dish there as well as for Sunday, June 20, when Father's Day is celebrated nationally. Just to make it more official, here's Alvin Austin, (second from right) director of the national Father's Day committee in New York, putting his seal of approval on the whole idea with several Delmarva and U. S. poultry industry officials.

Left is George Wolf, Salisbury, general chairman of the Chicken Festival. Next to him is Lee Campbell of Washington, director of the Institute of American Poultry Industries. Next is Mayor Frank Morris of Salisbury; then, Bill Murray of Frankford, Del., president of Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. At right is Edward H. Covell, Jr., of Easton, former president of DPL, and now a member of the executive committee of the National Broiler Council.

"Cook It Outdoors" Suggestions Offered For College Park With Free Bulletin Available From U. D.

For easy fixing and good eating, of pineapple and slices of sweet potatoes. For a gourmet touch, top the ham slice with two tablespoons orange marmalade and stick a clove or two into the pineapple slice. The ham slice also can be spread with a mixture of two tablespoons brown sugar and one teaspoon prepared mustard. Cook on coals for eight minutes per side.

Individual foil packages are a clean, convenient way in which to prepare food at home, carry it, cook it and eat it—all in a single container easily disposed of. Packages also allow for individual taste preferences.

Foods can be arranged in their foil packets and stored in the refrigerator or cooler until cooking time. Appetites are often heartier when you eat outdoors, so be sure to cook large enough portions, reminds Miss Coblenz.

Planning a well-balanced picnic meal is just as important as planning any indoor meal, she says. Including the vegetable in the meat-in-a-package adds to the flavor and helps to insure a properly balanced outdoor meal. Almost any variety of meat or vegetable may be used. When foil is wrapped around food in an airtight package, it becomes a small scale waterless cooker. It makes no difference whether the shiny side of the foil is on the inside or outside. A single thickness of the heavy-duty aluminum foil is sufficient; if you use the regular weight household foil, use a double thickness.

For each serving, tear a sheet of foil large enough to fold over the food with enough left over around the edges to fold over three times. Be sure to allow some space for expansion in the package, Miss Coblenz says.

Packets may be cooked on the coals themselves or on a grill above the coals. The coals should be hot, but never blazing. Blazing coals might burn a hole through the foil.

If packets are cooked on the grill, allow 10 to 15 minutes additional cooking time.

When the food is done, do not make a hole in the wrap, but tear off the crimped edges, zipper fashion, Miss Coblenz says. The contents can then be eaten directly from the wrap.

A slice of pre-cooked ham makes a delicious combination with a slice

Kwart, with the university since 1951, received his Ph.D. from Harvard; worked as a research chemist for several firms, and with the Manhattan project in New York during World War II. His first teaching assignment was at Bryn Mawr College from 1949 until he moved to Delaware.

Other H. Rodney Sharp professorships at Delaware include Dr. John A. Munroe, history; Dr. Russell B. Stauffer, education; Dr. Paul Cundiff, English; and Dean Ruben V. Austin, school of business and economics.

H. Fletcher Brown professorships include Dr. Ferd E. Williams, chairman of the physics department; Dr. G. Fred Somers, chairman of the biological sciences department; and Dr. Jack A. Gerster, chemical engineering.

The late H. Fletcher Brown, who served on the board of trustees until his death in 1944, donated funds for the building of Brown Laboratory, Brown Hall, Hullihen and Memorial Halls, and the Maintenance Center.

Playground Change For College Park Reported By GNRA

Glenn T. Smoot, executive director of the Greater Newark Recreation Association, announced today that due to construction and development in College Park, the playground originally planned for this area will be held at Rittenhouse Park.

However, the GNRA Tot-Lot director for three to six-year-olds will still visit the playground every Monday starting June 21, from 10:45 to 11:45 a.m.

The GNRA will return to College Park next year with a full-day playground program.

It is urged that children of this area participate in the playground program at the West Park School at Rittenhouse Park.

Quartered potato, onion slices, thinly cut carrot and chopped celery. Use two tablespoons chili sauce and two teaspoons flour in each package as a sauce. Cook for an hour on a grill, turning once or twice.

Chicken is a barbecue standby. Make it the easy meal-in-a-package way, advises Miss Coblenz. Place a chicken piece or two just off center on the foil; add a small pared potato, a small ripe tomato, onion slices, two mushroom caps and two green pepper rings. Sprinkle with two tablespoons packaged precooked rice, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper and paprika. Cook until tender, turning the package every half hour.

For additional menus Miss Coblenz suggests trying pork chops combined with bacon, potato, onion and seasonings.

Other tips for successful outdoor meals, equipment and safety are featured in the University of Delaware publication "Cook It Outdoors," which is available free of charge from the Department of Rural Communications, University of Delaware, Newark.

MARCIA JEAN HARMON RICHARD J. ASTON WED

Historic Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church on McKennan's Church Road, Mill Creek Hundred, was the setting for the wedding last Saturday at 4 p.m. of Miss Marcia Jean Harmon and Mr. Richard J. Aston.

The Rev. William J. Evans, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Marcia Huber of Wilmington was organist and Mrs. Michael Mainz, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harmon of Valley Road, Hockessin.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. John L. Aston and the late Mrs. Aston of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of tulle and lace with a fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves, and a bouffant skirt with a cathedral train.

A pillow trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of feathered carnations, chrysanthemums, stephanotis, and ivy.

Miss Cynthia Harmon, a sister, was maid of honor, and Misses Margaret, Priscilla, and Mary E. Harmon—all sisters of the bride—were bridesmaids.

Their street-length gowns of silk organza over tulle featured round necklines, short sleeves, and full skirts. The bridesmaids wore baby blue and the maid of honor, a deeper shade of blue. They were matching how handresses and carried bouquets with matching ribbon streamers.

Mr. Donald Defina of Wilkes Barre, was best man.

Ushers were Mr. David Harmon, brother of the bride; Mr. John Aston, brother of the bridegroom; and Mr. Herbert Evans of Wilkes Barre.

The bride's mother chose a pink Italian silk dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Mary Aston of Wilkes Barre, aunt of the bridegroom, wore beige lace with accessories in yellow and had a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church social hall.

After a wedding trip to the Poconos, the couple will live in Columbus, where the bridegroom is doing graduate work at Ohio State University. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University.

The bride is a graduate of Haver College and Drexel Institute and has been a librarian at Lyncum College for the past year.

The faculty of Lyncum gave a shower for her recently, as did Mrs. I. Fletcher Walker in Hockessin.

ANDERSON-GAUSE ENGAGEMENT
Mr. David Guy Anderson of 118 West Park Place announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Edith Carole Anderson to Mr. James E. Gause of Glen Burnie, Maryland. She is the daughter of the late Dr. Anderson.

Miss Anderson graduated from Newark High School, the College of Wooster, Ohio, and Goucher College, Baltimore. She is presently teaching elementary school in Baltimore.

Mr. Gause, son of Mr. Jasper Gause and the late Mrs. Gause of Greenville, South Carolina, is a graduate of Clemson University in South Carolina. He is a professional engineer for Westinghouse in Baltimore.

A December wedding is planned.

Re-elected President

Peggy Cronin Alden

Soroptimist Club Officers Installed By Eleanor Reed

Officers for the Newark Soroptimist Club were installed last week by Past-President Eleanor Reed at a meeting in the Constitution Room of the local Howard Johnson Restaurant, with Peggy Cronin Alden re-elected president.

Other re-elected officers are Naomi H. McCann, vice-president; Recording Secretary Virginia Phillips; Treasurer Mary Dabolin; and Asst. Treasurer Helena Barben.

Fern Brown was installed as corresponding secretary.

Betty Lovett and Margaret Mortimer were elected directors for two-year terms; and Kay Bugbee and Alice Gehhart were named delegate and alternate for Soroptimist convention attendance.

Mrs. Alden reported that the past year's activities of the club had "as usual, been centered around local interests," and that the Newark Soroptimist Club is the second largest in Delaware with 35 members.

"The Newark Soroptimist Club sponsored the first and only recreation survey that has been made in Newark," Peggy Cronin Alden said, "and organized and continues interested in the Senior Citizens Club with 100 members."

Newark Soroptimists sponsor citizenship awards; provide high school and nursing scholarships; and during the past year, have participated in clothing collection and activities for Delaware State Hospital. The local club aligned itself with President Johnson's anti-poverty campaign by "adopting" an annual basis, a local family for which it provides assistance.

Four new members of the Newark Soroptimist Club are Frances Andrews of Radio Station WNRK; Sophie Luoma, employed by the City of Newark; Alice Gehhart of the Gehhart Funeral Home, New Castle; and Margaret Bull Jensen, New Castle water and light board.

SENIOR CITIZENS PLAN PICNIC
Members of Newark Senior Citizens group will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday, June 23, at Louviers picnic grounds.

START A CLUB THIS SUMMER

If you and your friends have ever thought about starting a club, now is the perfect time to do it. With school out there is plenty of time for meetings and club activities. Everyone will have loads of fun and learn things too!

The first thing you should know is that there are certain rules you should follow at meetings. These rules are called "parliamentary procedure," which was started a long time ago in England. Today, we still use some of these rules.

Just for fun, let's pretend you are going to start a Barbie Fan Club. Before anything else, you must elect officers. The members elected to be officers are important, because they represent you, so you want to be sure they are good. Their officers very seriously. Four officers are usually elected. They are: the president, the vice-president, the secretary, and the treasurer.

The president calls the meeting to order, conducts the meeting, and then adjourns it. The vice-president helps the president and takes over if the president is absent.

The secretary keeps the meeting minutes, and the treasurer keeps a record of dues.

The officers are elected by taking a vote, which we will explain in Barbie's next "Pigtails To Ponytails" column.

In the meantime, if you would like to organize your own Barbie Club and receive a set of Barbie's meeting rules, just write to Barbie Fan Club, P.O. Box 70083, Los Angeles, Calif. 90005. Membership is free!

Gourmet Touch With Sour Cream Advised With Celebration Of June Dairy Month
June is Dairy Month, so celebrate with a gourmet touch—use sour cream to add a tangy goodness and valuable nutrients to even the most ordinary foods, says Miss Colbert, nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

Grandmother used cream that had soured naturally to make mouth-watering gravies, sauces and pies. Unfortunately, naïveté and lack of knowledge has a flavor that varies from batch to batch; sometimes it is too strong or bitter. Today, homemakers are fortunate to have dairy-cultured sour cream that is always fresh, smooth in texture, and delicately tinged in flavor. Pasteurized, homogenized, dairy-made sour cream is made from scientifically cultured Grade A light cream, Miss Colbert adds.

Nourishing as well as delicious, sour cream contains practically the same calories and nutrients as sweet light cream. A tablespoon contains 29 calories, much less than a tablespoon of mayonnaise with 110 calories, or salad oil with 60 calories.

All dairy foods are outstanding sources of calcium, phosphorus, complete protein, vitamins A and B<sub>12</sub>. These are nutrients needed at all ages for good health.

Sour cream is a perishable food and should always be stored in the refrigerator, says Miss Colbert. If kept tightly closed in the original container, sour cream will keep well up to two weeks. To prevent air from getting in and reducing freshness, store the container upside down. Do not freeze because sour cream seeps water as it thaws.

Cook with sour cream to add an extra-flavorful richness to a wide variety of foods, Miss Colbert suggests. Try sour cream waffles—they are a Scandinavian favorite often served cold with afternoon coffee.

Hot beverages with sour cream or buttermilk are wonderfully tender and rich in flavor.

When sour cream is used in baking, soda is usually the leavening agent. One-half teaspoon baking soda for each cup of sour cream produces the same leavening effect as one teaspoon baking powder with one cup sweet milk. Combine the soda with the dry ingredients in the recipe, not with the sour cream.

Beef Stroganoff, an unforgettable Hungarian delicacy, features tender beef with a sour cream-tomato sauce, served over hot rice.

Sauerbraten is a German delicacy that is well worth the long time it takes to prepare. To make it, marinate a beef pot roast in a spicy mixture for four days, cook slowly and serve with a sour cream gravy.

SPEAKING OF AREA-DEPRESSORS

DON'T BE A LITTERBUG!

FOR BETTER VIEWING

As the travel season gains momentum and millions of families take to the highways, we should pause and consider how we may assist in retaining the natural beauty of the American countryside.

The President called a "White House Conference on Natural Beauty" in Washington. A program was suggested to bring about "citizen action and public education to stop the increasing ugliness of the American environment."

One of the major blights on the landscape is litter. Litterbugs cost Americans a billion dollars a year, according to Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national anti-litter organization.

Taxpayers foot half this bill, through the cost of cleaning up streets, highways, beaches, parks and other public areas, while the other half is paid by business, industry and individuals in the form of losses and expenses attributable to litter.

"Property values decline in a littered neighborhood, and littered highways drive away tourists," Allen H. Seed, Jr., KAB's executive vice president stated. "Litter is not only an aesthetic offense and a menace to health and safety, but is also bad for business."

The prevention of litter to Keep America Beautiful should be the objective of all thinking Americans. One of the best ways to participate is to have a supply of litterbags handy—and use them.

County Ownership Denied With Dam In Pennsylvania

White Clay Creek Project Poses New Castle County Problem As Land-Owner

A Delaware public agency cannot own land for the White Clay Creek Dam in Pennsylvania, the New Castle County commissioners were told last week.

The Pennsylvania attorney general advised John I. Cahalan, assistant county engineer handling building arrangements for the dam near Newark, that out-of-state ownership by a county would not be legal.

Thus, the county cannot be owner of land to be flooded for the dam, which is to be built in northwestern Delaware and southeastern Pennsylvania.

The county is empowered by the Delaware General Assembly to build the dam and sell water from the reservoir.

About 92 per cent of the land needed for the dam has been purchased by the Du Pont Co., which has been acquiring it for the water supply project. The county plans to buy it from DuPont.

Engineers have conducted test borings at several possible sites, and results are being evaluated. Cahalan said excellent foundation conditions have been found at several sites.

Dam construction—estimated at upwards of $10 million—gets more expensive as the dam location is moving downstream, creating a larger reservoir.

Wool Pool At Harrington Offers Growers Profits

The Delaware Sheep and Wool Association will hold its annual wool pool at the Delaware State Fair Grounds in Harrington this Saturday between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The Delaware wool pool enables local growers to market their wool more effectively according to John Shropshire, extension livestock specialist at the University of Delaware.

By pooling their individual clips, small growers are able to increase their bargaining position and incomes.

Last year, Shropshire says sheepmen who participated in the pool realized approximately 20 cents more per pound than those who sold directly to wool buyers.

Council accepted the State Highway Department franchise for city installation of a 3,430-ft. water main on Possum Park Road; approved Nolde's recommendation to obtain two appraisals for city purchase of B&O Railroad property offered at $26,700 as an electric sub-station site adjacent to Thompson Lane at the old B&O station; and authorized negotiation with the auditing firm of Cole-Layer-Trumble to conduct the annual municipal audit.

College Park resident James Bradley requested that the city resurface the back drive in the area adjacent to its property purchased for parking, stating that the city had inherited half of the drive with its purchase.

"It's almost impassable," Bradley said, adding that the roadway would not last another winter. He said that an estimate of $5,900 had been received for repaving back drives on both sides of the street, with an average cost of $30 per house. The solicitor is to investigate the matter.

Research Project Evaluation Slated Next Week At UD

Researchers from 11 states will gather at the University of Delaware next Monday and Tuesday to evaluate results of their studies, and plan experiments.

The research project intended to provide basic information concerning differences in nutritive quality of plant and animal proteins, is sponsored by the Cooperative State Experiment Station Service and the Department of Agriculture's human nutrition division of the Agricultural Research Service.

Dr. Arlette L. Rasmussen, associate professor of agricultural biochemistry and food technology and associate professor of home economics, is Delaware's representative among the researchers.

Specific title of the research project is Utilization of Amino Acids from Protein.

The meeting in the Student Center will be attended by the project's technical committee, consisting of staff members from the 11 agricultural experiment stations, and others.

States to be represented include Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, and West Virginia.

Dr. Rasmussen said "The study was designed to investigate utilization of amino acids from milk, wheat and kidney bean protein, evaluating them with a variety of experimental animals such as protozoa, rats, pigs, and human subjects."

"Determining nutritive quality of plant and animal proteins will be of value," Dr. Rasmussen said, "since use of plant proteins and protein mixtures is an important means of providing for the protein needs of newly developed countries, and may become increasingly important in view of the rapidly expanding world population."

He was a member of the state banking department from 1919 to 1922, and served as state banking commissioner from 1923 to 1936, when he became executive vice-president of the Union National Bank of Wilmington. Since 1943 he has been a vice-president of Wilmington Trust Co.

Elected to succeed Mr. Cann as a board member is Edmond du Pont, senior partner of Francis I. DuPont & Co.

To meet instructional, administrative and research needs of the growing university, trustees approved the rental of an SDS-9300 computer, a model much larger than those available on campus.

The decision to lease rather than buy a larger computer, was based on the fact that new computers are being developed, and a model with optimum capabilities may not be on the market for several years.

Approval was given for the university's proposal to the U. S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare for a federal grant to support a college work-study program this summer, and for the 1965-66 academic year.

The university already has submitted an application for $59,999 to assist students from low-income families in financing their education. Approval for the summer program has been announced by HEW.

Funds are to support 12 full- and 20 part-time jobs during the summer session, and 105 part-time jobs during the next academic year.

Students will be employed in clerical, service, semi-skilled and professional jobs according to abilities.

Another form of financial aid for students was made possible when the trustees authorized the dean of students to make scholarship awards to undergraduate students in the name of professors retired during the last decade. These awards from the university funds will honor recent members of the faculty who held the rank of professor or dean.

The university will expand its research and instructional programs in Sussex County as the result of a resolution which will permit the president to negotiate a lease with the Delaware State Park Commission for long-term use of a portion of Cape Henlopen.

To Head Seminars

Philip A. Toman

Assistant to the superintendent for information services in the Newark school district, Philip A. Toman has been named to head two public relations seminars this month and next in New York and Boston, according to Roy K. Wilson, secretary of the National School Public Relations Association, Washington.

At the National Education Association convention in New York, Toman will head a group of educators in their work on more effective communication between school and the community.

One week later, he will direct a seminar as part of the National School Public Relations Association convention in Boston, with the topic "Effective Use of Radio As A Public Relations Tool."

Toman produces and directs six radio programs a week as part of his duties for Newark schools.

"Newark Schools On Parade," was selected by the Freedom Foundation to receive the George Washington Honor Medal for the outstanding radio series of 1964.

A plot of about 15-acres has been set aside for use by the university, with buildings suitable for conversion to residential, instruction, research, and storage facilities. The Cape Henlopen site is considered for use in conjunction with the present Haswell Pierce Marine Laboratory at Lewes, and for a limited summer program for regularly enrolled undergraduates and teachers.

To help meet the increasing administrative load in the school of graduate studies, Dr. Calhoun Winton was appointed assistant dean.

Henry Francis du Pont, associate professor of English and coordinator of the Winterthur program, he joined the Delaware faculty in 1960.

A native of Fort Benning, Ga., Winton received his undergraduate degree from the University of the South. He received his MA from Vanderbilt in 1950, and MA and PhD degrees from Princeton in 1955.

Telephone Savings Of $16,800 Sought For Newark Area

The Diamond State Telephone Co. has filed tariff revisions expected to save Newark area customers some $16,800 annually.

The rates were filed last week with the Public Service Commission.

Mileage charges would be cut about $13,500 a year for 611 customers by establishment of uniform zone rate areas in the Newark region.

Also, mileage charges of $3,280 annually would be extended to 240 customers by extending the base rate area to include customers along Ogletown, Chestnut Hill, Chapel, Salem Church, Barksdale, New London, Possum Park and Henderson roads and Capitol Trail.

The revisions, part of the company's three-year program of service improvement, are scheduled to become effective July 1.

To standardize fee practices for all divisions, trustees abolished extension, summer school and graduate course and laboratory fees previously paid by students in these divisions. Extension and summer session fees established last year, and graduate fees which become effective next Sept. 1, eliminate the need for separate course and laboratory fees.

Effective July 1, university instructional units previously designated as "schools" will become colleges. As a result of the emphasis, quality, competence and scientific interests of its faculty, the school of agriculture will further alter its name to the college of agricultural sciences.

In accordance with recommendations from the Interfraternity Council, and the dean of students, trustees approved the establishment of a 10th national fraternity chapter on the Delaware campus—Lambda Chi Alpha Colony.

Summer Sun, Poison Ivy, Fires Menace
Holiday Fun-Seekers In Great Outdoors

A day out in the summer sun can be tops in family fun, but don't let accidents spoil your fun, says Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

That sun may be stronger than you think, she says. If you have not already started your tan, be particularly careful to avoid overexposure and a painful sunburn. Do not be fooled by cloudy or overcast days; overexposure still will result in sunburn. Use a protective lotion and be sure to renew it after swimming.

Learn to recognize poison ivy and keep away from it, cautions Miss Morris. The poison ivy plant is typically three-leaved; produces white berries, and occurs most abundantly in rich, moist soil in waste areas, and along fence rows. It may grow close to the ground or as a climbing vine.

Smoke from the burning plant is extremely toxic, so be careful that none of the vine is clinging to the wood you use in a campfire. You have been immune in the past, Miss Morris advises. You may become allergic to it any time. If you come in contact with it, wash the exposed skin with strong soap and water as soon as possible. See your doctor for any further treatment.

If you must pull up ivy plants, put a plastic bag over your hand, pull the plant and then strip the bag, inside out, from your hand. This prevents any contact with the ivy. Food cooked over an open fire is delightful, but don't run the risk of burns or fires through carelessness, Miss Morris cautions.

Do not use lighter fluids on a fire already burning. Never substitute gasoline, kerosene or fuel oil for approved charcoal lighter fluids. Keep children and pets away from charcoal fires. The coals look deceptively cool while they are burning, and they may tempt some child to touch them.

Be sure all charcoal is completely dead before you handle it, says Miss Morris. Even a small amount of grey ash on a piece of charcoal shows that it is still burning and very, very hot.

Never heat canned foods unopened. Increased pressure caused by heat may make the cans burst and cause serious burns.

Elizabeth Cloud
Appointed To U. D.
Dept. Of Nursing

Elizabeth Cloud has been appointed to the department of nursing at the University of Delaware under a $10,000 grant from the U. S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare.

Miss Cloud will join the University faculty as a "mental health integrator" under the four-year grant, effective Sept. 1.

Mrs. Madeline O. McDowell, chairman of the department of nursing, explained that a mental health integrator was needed to assist students in recognizing patients' anxiety states and to carry the strand of psychiatric nursing throughout the curriculum.

"Having a mental health integrator on the staff will help us provide a student with a balanced educational program," Mrs. McDowell noted. "This will benefit the student in all his work because the mental or emotional states of a patient are so closely tied to the physical state." Miss Cloud, who has her bachelor's degree from Villanova University and her master's from Penn., has been a mental health integrator at Wesleyan College in Bloomington, Ill., for the last four years.

Extinguish the fire completely when you are finished, warns Miss Morris. Small sparks left burning can start forest or brush fires, or may be a danger to the next person using the picnic spot. Prevent fires that start from hot ashes or from smoldering wood by dousing the campfire with water until the site is cool. This also will prevent burns.

Many people have been seriously burned by stepping on the hot ground left under a fire or under a portable grill.

Memo from your Doctor

BLISTERS

A blistered foot, finger, or hand can be a minor nuisance, especially if you are on vacation. A blister can cause a great deal of discomfort, and if neglected, can be dangerous since it can easily become infected. It is most important to keep a blister clean and to give it proper attention.

A blister is caused by pressure and friction on a localized area of the skin. Fluid then collects between the inner and outer layers of skin. If the pressure continues, there will be pain and after awhile, the continued pressure or rubbing will cause the blister to break, leaving a raw place which can become infected very easily.

Even if there is no infection, the pain can cause a limp which interferes with walking, thus making hiking or playing golf a chore rather than a pleasure, and it can also affect the customary grip on a tennis racket or golf club or canoe paddle.

The best approach to blisters is prevention. Proper fit of shoes is fundamental. There should be room beyond the big toe, room across the top, fitting of the ball of the foot into the widest part of the shoe, and no slipping at the heel.

Wearing two pairs of socks with or without a liner under wool or sweat socks is recommended for athletics.

Hands can be protected until they are toughened by taping them or by wearing special sports gloves. Location, size and inflammation of a blister determine whether or not to puncture it. If there should be signs of inflammation or irritation, it is important to consult your doctor. Sometimes it is advisable to puncture a blister before it breaks from friction. Wash the area with soap and water and sterilize with alcohol.

The puncture should be made with a sharp sterile needle. Make the puncture at the side of the blister and leave the outer skin layer in place as a protective cover. Cover with a bandage.

The importance of cleanliness in dealing with blisters cannot be overstressed. Infected blisters require prompt medical attention.

If there are any medical subjects on which you would like a column, please write to the Medical Society of Delaware, 1925 Lovering Avenue, Wilmington, and we will try to cover the subject in the near future.
