

UNIVERSITY CEREMONY TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Cornerstones To Be Laid For Dorm, Powerhouse At Ceremony

Cornerstones for two new buildings being constructed on the University of Delaware campus at a total cost of $500,000, will be laid with appropriate ceremony on Saturday, Oct. 19, announced this week by President Walter H. Hillebrand.

The principal ceremony will take place at 12 noon when the cornerstone of the men's dormitory will be laid. This building is primarily for the use of students, university officials have decided that the cornerstone should be laid by the students through their representative, Warren W. Grier, Jr., of Wilmington, a senior who is president of the Delaware College Student Council. The ceremony, which will be attended by the student body, university staff and faculty, many who will return for Homecoming Day, and other friends of the university, will be opened by President Hillebrand, who will make a brief talk. He will tell of the great need for additional dormitory facilities which will be met when this building is completed, and will express the appreciation of the university for the gift which has made the dormitory possible. John G. Leach, president of the Alumni Association, will make a brief talk on behalf of the alumni, following which the actual laying of the cornerstone will take place.

An unusual feature of this building is the fact that it has been planned so as to provide living quarters for a large number of members of the faculty, thus affording a further opportunity for students and faculty members to become acquainted more personally. Accommodations for about 75 undergraduates will be provided and the building will also have lounge rooms, a reception room for visitors, and a large recreation room.

The cornerstone for the maintenance center will be laid during the forenoon in the presence of university administrators and representative members of the faculty.

When completed, the center will provide the University of Delaware with a form of equipment which few other universities have. Grouped together at one conveniently located site will be not only the new boiler house, but also the present and recently augmented heating facilities, but a service building which will accommodate all departments contributing to the maintenance of a modern university. There will be an office for the superintendent of grounds and buildings, storerooms, separate shops for the painters, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, as well as a garage, repair shop, and covered storage space for grounds equipment.

The committee on arrangements for the ceremony laying ceremony consisted of: Howard K. Preston, professor of mechanics, chairman; Miss Harriet E. Squire, professor of history; Charles E. Grubb, business administrator; Alex J. Taylor, Jr., university representative in supervision of construction; Warren W. Grier, Jr., president of the Student Council; and N. McDowell, alumni secretary.

Copy of The Newark Post, printed on 100 percent rag paper furnished by Curtis Paper Co., will be placed in the cornerstones, along with issues of News-Journal papers, university publications, 1941 coins, the president's name and names of the building's donors and builders.

RICHNER, PIANIST, TO GIVE CONCERT

Brilliant Young Musician To Play In Mitchell Hall, Tuesday

Thomas Richner, young American pianist, will give a recital in Mitchell Hall, University of Delaware, on Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock, under the auspices of the Newark Music Society. No admission will be charged.

As current winner of the Naumberg Award, Richner presented a recital at the Town Hall, New York City, in February. His career has been marked by the number of times he has emerged winner in open competition against the best young contemporary pianists. He received the MacDowell Club award in 1935.

A native of Pennsylvania, he began to study the piano at the age of five, and within four years, was so accomplished that he made his debut in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. As a student at the University of West Virginia, he continued to play before concert audiences and became particularly popular as a performer before college groups in the South.

Coming to New York, Richner was offered an artist scholarship by Harold Morris, well-known pianist and composer. He continued to make concert appearances in addition to appearing with the W. O. R. Little Symphony, the New York Civic Symphony, and the National Orchestral Association. Richner is also organist of the Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, New York City, and conductor of the Bell Chorus of New York.

NATIONAL DEFENSE INVENTORY

Check-Up To Be Made On Truck Owners

Director George L. Schuster, University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, reports that all farmers and others who own trucks have been asked to help the War Department in its transportation planning for national defense.

Delaware truck owners have been supplied with a special National Defense inventory card from the State Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department, with the request for immediate return of the card with information regarding the make of his truck, kind of body, capacity, time of year the vehicle is most urgently needed in the owner's business, and whether in an emergency he would be willing to hire or lease it to a Government agency. The cards may be mailed without adding postage.

The truck and bus inventory is being made throughout the country at the request of the War Department and the National Defense Advisory Commission, by units of the Federal Works Agency in cooperation with each of the State motor vehicle registration agencies.

On a ton-mile basis, trucks haul about a sixth as much freight as the railroads. Taking into account distances traveled, passenger travel is about equal on railroads and buses. Yet there is no central record of these highway transportation facilities such as the records available on railroads, water shipping and aviation.

CHAMBER AUTHORIZES MAIN STREET XMAS LIGHTS

Extension Of Project To College Avenue Is Considered

Newark's Main Street will again be illuminated with multi-colored lights during the Christmas season, it was assured Monday evening by the Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsored by this organization, street lighting at the Yuletide, was inaugurated five years ago with the cooperation of Main Street merchants. The lights will burn again this year, each evening from Thanksgiving until New Year's.

George F. Jackson succeeds William S. Hamilton as chairman of the street lighting committee. Mr. Hamilton has served in this capacity for the past four years. Appointed to serve with Mr. Jackson are Weldon Waples, M. P. Linnick, W. S. Hamilton, R. T. Ware, Geo. M. Haney, and Herman Handloff.

Merchant cooperation will again be rated at twenty cents per front foot, which is ten cents per foot less than was originally charged, a reduction being put into effect last year. It is hoped to extend the lights to So. College avenue this year if materials are available.

Meeting in the Town Council Office for their regular monthly session, Monday evening, President D. A. McClintock presided. Present were J. E. Daugherty, Weldon Waples, George Jackson, Alfred Deck, Abraham Hoffman, Meyer Pinnick, R. T. Ware, Flore Nardo and Wm. S. Hamilton.

JIM DANDY IS TEST OF SYSTEM

Saroyan Play Makes Use Of All Theatre Arts

More than fifty students are engaged in behind-the-scenes work on William Saroyan's latest play, "Jim Dandy," which the E-52 Players will present at the University of Delaware on Nov. 14 and 15.

Staff chairmen in charge of the various phases of production have been conferring all week with Dr. C. R. Kase, director of the play, about the many problems connected with this most unusual play. For "Jim Dandy" makes full use of all the arts of the theater, including music and dancing.

The unusual requirements of this play will be a test of the efficiency of the staff system, which is the core of the dramatic training offered at the University. Under this system, a student serves an apprenticeship on a particular staff and is advanced to an assistant chairmanship when he shows outstanding ability. Each year the Board of Directors of the E-52 Players selects staff heads from the group of assistant chairmen.

These staff heads represent students who have had, generally, three years training in the phases of production which they direct. The staff system also provides opportunity for drama training to a larger number of students than could receive it if this training were offered only in Academic Courses.

The staff chairmen for "Jim Dandy" are Jack Culver, production coordinator; Harry Hillyard, publicity; Walter Dworick, lighting; Eugene Herbener, stage manager; Doris Jolls, make-up; George Samuels, scene designing; Helen Kaiser, scene painting; Beverly Davis, business; Jane Stephens, costumes; Jack Culver, off-stage effects; Mary Shakespeare and Carolyn Miller, properties.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR G. H. RYDEN

U. of D. History Department Head Dies At Chicago On Saturday

Funeral services for Dr. George H. Ryden, state archivist and professor of history and political science at the University of Delaware who died Saturday night at the Augustana Hospital, Chicago, were held Tuesday from his former home in Kansas City, Mo. He was 57 years old.

Dr. Ryden, who left the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, to submit to an operation, had been in Chicago only a few days. Dr. Walter Hillebrand, president of the university, and the Rev. Andrew W. Mayer, rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, attended the services.

A bachelor, Dr. Ryden is survived by his mother, two brothers and a sister. His career was a record of steady rise from his start as a railroad clerk with only a high school education, to his final position as head of a university department.

A son of August and Emma S. Ryden, both natives of Scandinavia and pioneer settlers in Kansas, Dr. Ryden was born in Kansas City on Jan. 26, 1884. After his grade school and high school education, he worked for three years as a railway clerk and then entered Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., where he specialized in history and economics and studied Scandinavian languages. He received his A. B. degree in 1909 and continued his studies with graduate work at Yale University where he received the degree of Master of Arts in 1911.

Dr. Ryden then accepted a teaching post at Bethany College, Kansas, where he became professor of history, economics, and political science. He remained until 1916, when he returned to Yale to study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and held the Currier Fellowship, serving as assistant in history there until January, 1918, when he left to do war work.

After lecturing in Texas army camps, he was sent abroad to continue his educational work in the army on the Italian front and in Paris. Transferred to the American Red Cross with the rank of major following the war, he was assigned a mission in southern Russia where he was head of a mission of inquiry in the Ukraine and later director of the Red Cross in southern Russia during the regimes of General Denikin and his successor, General Wrangel. He received several decorations for his work in Russia.

After returning to this country, he taught a course in citizenship at Dartmouth of American History and Political Science. He became head of the department in 1923.

Author of "The Foreign Policy of the United States in Relation to Samoa," Dr. Ryden also edited a volume of Caesar Rodney's letters, and was a contributor of the Encyclopedia Britannica, for which he wrote an article on Delaware. He contributed also to the Dictionary of American Biography and to other historical publications.

He was appointed state archivist in 1930 and was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature by Augustana College in 1938. Dr. Ryden was a member of numerous historical societies and clubs.

His fraternities were Phi Kappa Tau and Phi Kappa Phi, and his clubs were the Newark Country Club, the Torch Club, the Quill and Grill Club, Wilmington, and the University Club, Philadelphia.

Starting about Nov. 30 the newly elected committeemen will get their major assignment in connection with the recently announced Farm Defense Program. Initial duties along with a farm-to-farm campaign throughout the county to interview every farmer regarding production of food for defense. These goals were set to secure increased production of certain vital commodities asked for by the Secretary of Agriculture under the Farm Defense Program. Most important among these are milk, eggs, and certain kinds of livestock.

W. M. Worrlow, County Agricultural Agent and Secretary of the New Castle County Agricultural Conservation Association said, "Farmers, by broad participation in these committee elections, can reassert their faith in democracy. The program is a farmers' program."

"It is the responsibility of individual farmers in each community to take an active part in selecting outstanding men to represent them in administering the AAA Farm Program and also to help farmers assure adequate production of food for defense, as Agriculture's part in this emergency."

CHILDREN'S THEATRE TO PLAY HERE

Wiggs Family At High School Wednesday

English by birth but an American citizen by choice, Clare Tree Major, founder-director of Children's Theatre, which will appear at the Newark High School auditorium at 2 P. M. Wednesday, October 22, in Alice Hegan Rice's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," says that in 18 years of selecting and producing stage entertainment for the young, she has never found a story which surpasses this one in concretizing for children the ideals and spirit which are truly American.

"The first purpose of a play," declares this pioneer in theatre for youngsters, "is, of course, to entertain, but since children are always learning—whether we wish them to or not—the plays best suited for them are those which depict incidents built around the ideals being taught at home and in the classroom."

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" is being brought to Newark under the auspices of the Theatre Committee of the Newark Parent-Teachers Association through the efforts of Miss Madeline Johnston and Mrs. George A. Hyde. Assisting Miss Johnston and Mrs. Hyde are Miss Margaret Morrison, Miss Greta McKinsey, Miss Irene Wilkinson, Miss Ann Chalmers, Miss Minnie Smithers, J. Raymond Justin, C. E. Douglass and M. James Parsons.

Emmanuel Bornstein of St. Louis was arrested for disturbing the peace. He held two men at bay with a shotgun, thinking they were burglars, and found they were making a social call.

Newark, Delaware, Thursday, October 16, 1941

GEORGE HERBERT RYDEN

Newark feels keenly the loss of one of her most beloved adopted sons—George Herbert Ryden, professor of history and political science at the University of Delaware for nearly twenty years and State Archivist for eleven years.

Dr. Ryden's genial personality, gentlemanly attributes and scholarly conduct had won for him legions of friends and admirers who deeply mourn his passing in the Augustana Hospital, at Chicago, on Saturday, October 11.

Born of Scandinavian parentage on January 26, 1884, he was the son of August and Emma S. Ryden, pioneer settlers of Kansas City, Mo. Perseverance and diligent study gained for him an outstanding knowledge and reputation as a historian and archivist. He gave unstintingly of his time and efforts in behalf of the University of Delaware, civic affairs of Newark and the State of Delaware. He was chairman of the Historic Markers Commission during the Swedish Tercentenary Celebration in 1938, and was largely responsible for the designation of memorable and historical spots of interest throughout the State.

A member of the faculty of the University of Delaware since 1922, Dr. Ryden was respected and admired by all who knew him. He will be sadly missed by the University of Delaware, the citizenry of Newark and the populace of Delaware—all of which he dearly loved and all of which dearly loved him.

GROWTH VS. PROGRESS

Unquestionably the best residential town in the state, Newark has enjoyed a healthy, steady growth in population for the past few years. Residential, industrial and commercial construction has been a large part of local activity until today our community is one of the most versatile to be found on this section of the Seaboard.

A town's progress is not always measured, however, by its growth. Continuous growth is without doubt a prime requisite for progress but the ultimate in progress cannot be achieved without thoughtful planning and protection for the growth that makes progress possible.

In keeping with the growth of our town we feel that a definite step toward progress should be made by the institution or adoption of suitable zoning laws within the corporate limits of Newark. We think the Town Council should either act as or appoint a Zoning Commission or Board to study local conditions with a view of establishing definite zones for the protection of residential, commercial and industrial interests.

We believe the majority of thinking people in Newark are cognizant of the need of such restrictions and that the creation of and adherence to such a plan is definitely needed to insure the continued progress of our community.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Newarkers are called upon to financially aid the 'unfinished business' of Girl Scouting in this community and throughout the State and nation during the week beginning Monday, October 20 and ending Monday, October 27.

We can think of no more appropriate title for this work than that of 'Unfinished Business'. The excellent progress made by the Girl Scout movement, in our community, during the past seven years is glowing tribute to the value of such an organization and to those who were responsible for its inception in Newark—Mrs. Carl S. Rankin, Mrs. W. Frank Wilson and Mrs. Carleton E. Douglass.

The business of Girl Scouting has achieved a permanence in Newark and in the nation, the best kind of permanence—that of a living, growing organism. It has grown in Newark from an enrollment of fifteen, in 1935, to a present enrollment of seventy-two, exclusive of the Brownies—a pre-Girl Scout age group organized last year by Mrs. Wm. K. Gillespie and Mrs. Chas. Cooper. Girl Scouting is moulding characters of future homemakers in tolerance and cooperation, concern for others, self-denial for principle, loyalty to country and to God. Yes, it is unfinished business. May it never be finished. It demands and deserves our willing and whole-hearted support.

In Hartford, Conn., a missing diamond ring that had been sought for over two weeks was found by a blind man on the ground floor of the state capitol.

SO YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT troubles? Well, if you think you've got a right to gripe at the cruel twists that life takes, listen to the sad tale of Art Kahler, Dickinson College grid mentor, whose team invades Newark for a clash with Bill Murray's University of Delaware gridders on Saturday.

Art's a good guy — he must be or the powers that be wouldn't have singled him out for an undefeated season at the Carlisle institution in 1937 nor would they have permitted him to enjoy seven years there where he has emerged better than even in 51 games. He must have lived by the Good Book or he wouldn't have stayed on at a place that had become known as "a football coach's graveyard." Does that phrase have a familiar sound to it or is it just our own ears that are ringing?

AND YET, WITH ALL THE GANGSTERS and the thugs, murderers, thieves, and wife beaters in this big world, Art was singled out by some power or other as the "goat" for a series of pitfalls from which he has, thus far, managed to step very gracefully.

According to reports from Carlisle, he began his seventh year as head coach of football with headaches and bad omens on all sides. His troubles began this summer when he journeyed out to his alma mater, Southwestern College in Kansas, to receive the honorary degree of doctor of science in physical education for achievement in the field of athletics and physical education. While there he was stricken ill and submitted to an appendectomy and gall bladder operation.

He finally returned to the campus two months later to find out that—here we go boys—in addition to the loss of seven varsity players through graduation, an equal number had been dropped from the college rolls for poor scholarship, one player had lost his hand in an accident, three players had been drafted, and ten of his 27 potentials had registered for military service and were subject to call. A less sturdy individual would have gone back to bed.

ART'S AN OPTIMIST, HOWEVER, and on his return to Dickinson, he said: "Some of my best teams have been developed when I didn't think I had a chance at the beginning of the season."

The Red Devils inaugurated their campaign with a bang by bowling over Ursinus, but if Coach Kahler has any optimism left after being nosed out 7-6 by Washington and Jefferson on Saturday, he deserves a hallowed niche in somebody's hall of fame.

We're not going out on a limb although it's an easy thing to predict Delaware grid victories this year, but Art Kahler's optimism will probably be strained to the breaking point when his Red Devils collide with the high-rising Hens on Saturday.

W. & J. DICKINSON'S CONQUERORS by a one-point margin, were victorious in 1940 by the same score (heart breaking, ain't it?) and with the exception of the first tilt in 1904 when the Red Devils won, 10-0, and in 1937, when the two teams battled to a 7-7 deadlock, the Maryland team has dominated the 11-game series. It's hard to believe, but in 1914, the Carlisle outfit was handed a believe-it-or-not—a 105-0 trouncing.

All-in-all, however, Kahler has done right well for himself at this "graveyard" since 1935 and he has turned in the best six-year record compiled at Dickinson. His teams have dominated the Delaware series and after dropping a decision to the Hens by a 10-7 score his first year, the Red Devils were credited with four straight triumphs over the Blue and Gold, 18-0 in 1937, 26-0 in 1938, 13-7 in 1939, and 6-0 in 1940.

Loosely speaking, to steal a popular radio expression, the Hens should rack up another triumph, but homecoming day features have a way of backing into the faces of "old grads" gathered for a celebration, so it's still anybody's ball game.

Meanwhile, keep your chin up, Art Kahler.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED FOR FRAZER FIELD CLASH WITH DICKINSON SATURDAY

University Of Delaware Gridders To Match Forces With Red Devils Before Large Homecoming Day Crowd; Invaders Dominate Series

Riding high on the crest of an undefeated streak of eight games, Coach Bill Murray's University of Delaware gridders will match forces with Dickinson College on Frazer Field, Saturday afternoon. The kick-off is slated for 2:15 o'clock.

The Hens, continuing their winning ways adopted following the 1940 Ursinus defeat, settled an old score last week when they knocked off the Bears by a 24-0 score, their seventh conquest in a stretch of eight games, punctuated only by a 7-7 deadlock with West Chester State Teachers College.

Expecting more opposition from the Red Devils who also sport a decisive win over the Grizzlies, Coach Murray has paced his charges through a week of intensive preparations for the homecoming day tilt which is expected to draw one of the largest crowds ever assembled on the local gridiron.

The Delaware-Pennsylvania Military College clash attracted nearly 8,000 fans to Wilmington Park on Oct. 4, a state record for football crowds, and although Saturday's attendance is not expected to reach this figure, it will be augmented by a swarm of graduates back for their annual reunion.

Delaware's attack was shoved into high gear in the Ursinus tilt, but despite the overwhelming score, the Blue and Gold mentor detected several flaws in the offensive which must be ironed out by Saturday. The starting lineup will probably remain intact with Bill (Red) Hogan, Al Newcomb, Walt Paul, and Fred Spasato in the backfield; Howard (Jabba) Jarvis and Fred (Rebel) Sloan, ends; Bob Furman and Jack Castevens, tackles; Tony Stalloni and Hugh Bogovich, guards, and Jim Mullen, center. Melvin (Ripper) Brooks, senior ball carrier, who has been on the sidelines due to an injured knee, is expected to see little action against the invaders.

Nosed out by a 7-6 score by Washington and Jefferson College in their last start, the Red Devils, nevertheless, sport a highly-potent running and passing attack which resulted in a one-sided victory over Ursinus in their opener.

Operating behind an unbalanced line, the Carlisle gridders boast of several competent ball carriers who can really carry the mail. Coach Art Kahler is enjoying his seventh year as head of football at Dickinson and although prospects for the season were poor at the start, he is rapidly developing a formidable eleven. In six years as Red Devil mentor, Kahler's teams have won 27, tied four, and lost 20 games, and in 1937, he gave the school its second undefeated season in 37 years of intercollegiate football.

Heading the list of Dickinson ball carriers is Doug Rehor, 185-pound, 6-foot, 1-inch sophomore, who has been the big gun in the Devils' attack thus far this year. Outstanding passer on the squad, he is also a quick-kick specialist and Delaware scouts have warned the Hens' safety men that they must be on the alert at all times.

The Carlisle gridders go into the air on numerous occasions and the aerial target is usually Leonard Supulski, 170-pound, 5-foot, 11-inch flank, who has an uncanny knack of grabbing flying pigskins. Sanford Bernatowicz, who scales a meager 160 pounds and stands only 5 feet, 8 inches, is, nevertheless, plenty dangerous and is a ball-carrying specialist deluxe.

Dickinson has become accustomed to dominating the Hens and during the 17-game series, started in 1911, the Blue and Gold contingent has emerged victorious on only four occasions.

Series results are as follows:
1911 Delaware 0; Dickinson 11.
1913 Delaware 8; Dickinson 35.
1915 Delaware 24; Dickinson 7.
1916 Delaware 0; Dickinson 22.
1917 Delaware 0; Dickinson 9.
1919 Delaware 0; Dickinson 20.
1920 Delaware 7; Dickinson 35.
1922 Delaware 21; Dickinson 0.
1923 Delaware 0; Dickinson 7.
1924 Delaware 0; Dickinson 15.
1925 Delaware 0; Dickinson 23.
1934 Delaware 7; Dickinson 0.
1935 Delaware 10; Dickinson 7.
1937 Delaware 0; Dickinson 18.
1938 Delaware 0; Dickinson 26.
1939 Delaware 7; Dickinson 13.
1940 Delaware 0; Dickinson 6.

Vic Lee trounced Henry Kirkley, 50-23; Ollie Henderson nosed out Jerry Edwards, 50-49; Bob Walstrum eked out a 50-45 win over Jim Deeley; Tom Kirkley downed Al Coyle, 50-37; Joe Coyle scored a 50-48 conquest over Ralph Adams, Ralph Skillman turned back B. Sausecman, and Norman Brooks took the measure of Lefty Smith, 50-36.

REVENGE IS SOUGHT BY NEWARK GRIDDERS WHEN NEWTOWN INVADES FRIDAY

Kick-Off Slated For 2:15 O'clock; Joe Moore, Varsity Quarterback, Back In Action; Albert (Ace) Aiken May Be Forced To Sidelines Because Of Injury

A desire for revenge will play an important part in the Newark High School football team's performance on Friday when the Jackets play host to Newtown. The kick-off is slated for 2:15 o'clock.

SEASON ON DUCKS OPENS TODAY

With the squirrel season past the half-way mark and other open gunning periods rapidly approaching, local hunters are oiling their weapons and preparing other equipment for what is expected to be a plentiful year for game.

The squirrel season will close on Oct. 31, but the following day will bring the raccoon and opossum into the marksmen's sights. Nov. 15 should prove a field day for hunters when the season will open on rabbits, quail, pheasant, and woodcock. All of these periods end on Dec. 31 with the exception of the woodcock season which closes on Nov. 29.

The ducking season opened today along with geese and coots and all will be continued until Dec. 14. Ralls and gallinules, vulnerable since Sept. 1, will be safe for another year on Nov. 30.

Hunters this year will find an increasing number of quail and pheasants roaming the fields with a state metal band on one leg and rabbits with a metal tag in the ear. An urgent request to return these tags to the magistrates or authorized game and fish agency has been made by officials of the Delaware Game and Fish Commission.
