Schools Observing Fire Prevention Week In Practical Way

FIRE DRILLS TO-DAY

Fire Prevention week is being observed in all grades and classes in the Newark Schools by a very direct and practical application in the various subjects and school activities. In social sciences an actual survey of fire prevention for the school is being made. The science students are making an inspection of the fire prevention apparatus as well as the process of recharging such apparatus and the difference between electrical and other fires. In the health and hygiene division of the several grades demonstrations are being given as to how to revive those asphyxiated from smoke, and the care of burns.

The schools throughout all the grades are using a pamphlet made by the Underwriters of America prefaced by Doctor Tigert as "Careful—Never Carelessness" which has been secured through the courtesy of Doctor H. V. Holloway, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

On Thursday there will be a special assembly when Mr. John S. Shaw, former President of the Board of Education will speak on Fire Prevention as a phase of Safety. Mr. Shaw is a well-known Safety Engineer for the Hercules Powder Company of America. Mr. Shaw was one of the speakers at the National Safety Meeting held in Chicago last month.

The schools are also co-operating with the Delaware Safety Council in making home surveys for the elimination of fire and other hazards against safety. Each pupil has been given a questionnaire prepared by the Council. These questionnaires will be filled out and handed in.

All the schools are holding fire drills today.

Columbus Day

The 435th anniversary of the discovery of America was observed in the Newark school this morning in all school assemblies.

In the Junior-Senior High School assembly, Lillian Brown recited Joaquin Miller's "Columbus" and Novella duHadaway and Mildred Wilson presented the "Life of Columbus" in dialogue form.

In the elementary school assembly, grades 4, 5, 6, appropriate talks and songs were given.

First P-T. A. Meeting

The Newark Parent-Teacher Association held its first meeting of the school year last evening in the new school building. Mrs. Thomas Ingham, president of the local organization, presided and made a short address of welcome.

Professor Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of the Newark schools, was the speaker of the evening and sketched the relationship between the parent and teacher and the results that might be accomplished through their cooperation. Professor Brinser said that the home was the foundation of the nation, but that the school was growing into ever increasing responsibility. He continued that there existed a large need of cooperative civic educational associations like the P-T. A., whose first major function was self-education.

The P-T. A. should have a clearly defined program, Professor Brinser said, and the parents and teachers should understand each others problems so that they can cooperate for the mutual good of the children. Parents should keep abreast of the times in educational progress so that they may grow with their children.

The school faculty orchestra furnished several selections.

The association will meet regularly on the second Tuesday evening of each month.

Sentence Johnson and Roy for Killings

Joseph L. Roy and William Johnson, Newark negroes, were sentenced Monday to respective terms of six years and two years imprisonment in the New Castle Workhouse on charges of manslaughter. Both men had changed pleas of not guilty of first degree murder to pleas of guilty of manslaughter.

Roy had confessed to stabbing to death William Bayles, colored, during an altercation on the night of July 2. The stabbing, which was the result of a quarrel of long standing, occurred on New London avenue, Newark. Roy, after being threatened by Bayles, had secured a knife and seeking Bayles out had stabbed him. He immediately afterward gave himself up to the police.

Johnson killed Alfred Taylor, another negro, by stabbing, in a fight at the cannery shacks on the night of June 25. He escaped but was caught later that night and admitted the stabbing. This affray was also the culmination of a feud of long standing.

Post Office May Use Old Bank Building

Mayor Frazer and Magistrate Thompson Visit Washington In Attempt To Better Housing Conditions of Post Office

Last week Mayor Eben B. Frazer and Magistrate Daniel Thompson visited Washington to enter a plea for better housing and facilities for the Newark post office. They conferred with Senator Bayard and Representative Houston, and later, in company with Senator Bayard, called on Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Billany, who is in charge of post office housing. While it was not learned just where Newark stood on the Department's building program, action was started to get the post office more suitable quarters.

Money has been appropriated for a new building for Newark, but as the date for building operations to start is uncertain, it was proposed that the post office move into the remodeled building that housed the Farmers' Trust Company. The Post Office Department took the suggestion under advisement and will send an inspector to Newark to report on the matter. If he reports favorably, the change will probably be made at once.

The present quarters, besides being overcrowded and furnished with obsolete equipment, making it impossible to employ an adequate number of clerks, are unsanitary and poorly heated. The old building of the Farmers Trust Company has been remodeled in such a way as to make entirely suitable quarters for temporary requirements. Should the proposed move be made, it will not affect in any way the building of the new post office.

The bidder must be over 16 years of age and suitable to be entrusted with the care and custody of the mails. Blanks may be secured at the post office from Postmaster Evans. Proposals must be made at a yearly rate.

Newark Dahlia Show Gorgeous Exhibit

Fourteen Fanciers Show Over 1000 Blooms; Widespread Community Interest

Few affairs in Newark have aroused a wider community interest than that which was shown in the Newark Dahlia Show, held last Wednesday and Thursday in the clubroom of the New Century Club. Over 200 entries were exhibited by fourteen local fanciers and over 1000 blooms were on display. There were visitors at the show every hour it was open, and on the two evenings the room was full of people admiring the flowers.

Mr. A. D. Cobb was chairman of the committee arranging the show, and gives most of the credit of the success of the affair to the courtesy of the New Century Club in allowing the use of its building.

Nearly every variety of dahlia was shown, the flowers arranged on tables around the room and with one large table in the center. The basket displays were effectively grouped against the black velvet curtain on the stage. Flowers other than dahlias exhibited were snapdragons, snow berries and asters.

All judging was done by a committee composed of L. R. Detjen, G. F. Gray and F. L. Lagasse, all of the department of horticulture of the University of Delaware. No cash prizes were offered for the event but certificates of first, second and third merit were given.

The pictures shown in "L'Illustration" are among those of Princeton University and the University of Colorado. There is another article in the same magazine which is illustrated by views in American gardens, among which is one showing the work of Marian C. Coffin, on the estate of Charles H. Sabin, at Southampton, Long Island. Miss Coffin is the landscape artist for Women's College.

Two Newark Singers Win In Radio Contest

Fourteen non-professional singers from Delaware, among them five from Newark, competed Friday at the WFI studio, Philadelphia, in a preliminary contest for the chance to represent the State in the local audition of the national contest conducted by the Atwater Kent Radio Corporation to unearth new radio stars. Miss Edna Murray and Kennedy Fell, of Newark, were two selected to compete in the State Audition to be held at WFI on October 22.

The vocalist were taken to the third floor studio of WFI and the judges were seated in the tea room on the sixth floor where special arrangements had been made to permit them to hear the result without the music being released "on the air."

Mrs. J. O. G. Duffy and Mrs. J. Pearce Cann, of Newark; Mrs. Frank Hall Davis, of Dover; Mrs. T. Leslie Carpenter, Mrs. Clarence Underwood, Mrs. V. F. Jester, Mrs. Charles L. Evans, Mrs. Josiah Bacon, of Wilmington, were the judges who heard the audition and selected the winners. They were assisted by Ednyed Lewis, director of the WFI studio.

At the State audition from WFI on October 22 the voices will be released on the air. The judges' decision will count forty per cent and the votes of radio enthusiasts sixty per cent.

One boy and one girl will be chosen to represent Delaware and they will go to Atlantic City on or about November 25 where they will compete with singers from five other states included in this district. These district champions will be eligible for competition in the National Audition which will be held over one of the New York stations.

Polish Orphanage to Open Near Newark

Charles Morris Farm Purchased For Institution That Will Open In Spring With a Capacity of 25. Will Include School.

The Delaware Polish Beneficial Association, which recently purchased the Charley Morris Farm, of 232 acres, from Urie Clarke, of Wilmington, has started to remodel the present farm buildings and will, within a month or so, open on the farm the Mater Admirabilis Orphanage. The farm is about two miles southeast of Newark. Charles Morris moved from the farm yesterday, going to a farm owned by the Misses Foad, near Elk Mills, and the Association's farmer and caretaker moved in at the same time.

While no new buildings will be constructed at present, two houses now on the property will be remodeled and fitted with modern plumbing to accommodate 25 orphans. The orphanage will be run by nuns of the Servants of the Blessed Virgin order. These nuns, highly educated, come from Poland and are qualified to teach high school subjects. They will conduct a school in connection with the orphanage. The boys will occupy one house and the girls and the nuns the other. The nuns will probably move to the farm next month. The official opening of the orphanage is planned for the Spring. The program of the Association calls for a brick or stone building to be erected within five years; the present layout being only a nucleus of an institution that will compare favorably with anything of its sort in the country.

The committee for the orphanage has for its chairman Mr. Adam Delasky, president of the Association. The other members are Vincent J. Kowalsky and Father S. Gulch. It is in complete charge of construction and operation.

The Delaware Polish Beneficial Association has over 20,000 members and extends beyond the State, having other fraternal groups in Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Maryland. It is maintaining in Wilmington two schools, one with 1,500 pupils and another with 300 pupils.

The farm property the Association purchased was at one time owned by Charles H. Jarmon, later by Virgil Gray.

YEARLY MEETING AT WELSH TRACT

Yearly meeting will convene at Welsh Tract Primitive Baptist Meeting House on Saturday, October 15, at 2:30 p. m., and on Sunday, October 16, all day, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Success Assured In Delaware Pool Drive

$45,752 In at Noon To-day; More Coming With Each Mail; Dinner Held Last Night.

With $45,752 in at noon today from 809 subscribers, and additional subscriptions arriving with every mail, the Delaware College Students Campaign for $48,000 for an addition to the gymnasium, containing a modern swimming pool, seems assured of success. In fact several good friends of the University, who have already made their donations have promised further help in the event there is a deficit at the conclusion of the drive.

The students' committee gave a dinner last night in Old College at which reports of the progress of the drive were given by days. James E. Wilson, president of the Student Council and general chairman of the campaign, presided and gave the figures.

Edgar P. Reese, Jr., captain of the swimming team, presented gold charms donated by his father to Breckenbridge Tremaine, William Reybold, Alex. Taylor, Jr., Bernard Nobis, Wilson Boyer and E. P. Reese, Jr., all of whom won their varsity letter in swimming last season.

Alexander J. Taylor, who will have charge of the remodeling of the gymnasium and erection of the swimming pool, announced that work on the project would start next week. It is expected that the work will be completed in time for the basketball and swimming seasons.

Dr. Walter Hüllihen, president of the University, also thanked the workers for their efforts. Dr. Hüllihen stated the Delaware campaign was unique in that it was probably the only campaign ever inaugurated and carried to completion by a student body of any school in the country.

John Briggs, executive secretary of the campaign complimented the students on the cheerfulness which they displayed in spite of the many hardships and handicaps which confronted them.

OBITUARY

JOHN E. FRAZIER

John E. Frazier, aged 69 years, passed away early yesterday morning at his home here. Mr. Frazier had been in failing health for nearly a year, but was reluctant to give up all his active work and was about his duties day by day until Monday morning of this week when he was taken suddenly ill.

The deceased was the son of Job and Catherine Campbell Frazier and has lived all of his life near and in this town and near Iron Hill, Maryland. For many years he had charge of the large, farm near the latter place, owned by his mother's sisters, the Misses Campbell. After the death of his first wife, he moved with his wife, Misses Emma and Sarah Campbell to the house which is his present home. For a time he was a member of the grounds force of the University of Delaware. About six years ago he came to Kells in charge of the grounds and other work. He was a man of gentle and kindly disposition, and was held in high esteem. (Continued on Page 4.)

The town will be canvassed for the sale of tickets and tickets will also be on sale at the door on the evening of the party.

A great deal of interest has been shown in the work of the library committee this year, one hundred and twenty members enrolling in the recent canvass. A number of books have also been donated during the year.

CARD PARTY

The Newark Sporting Club will hold a card party tomorrow night in Fraternal Hall. The first cards will be shuffled at 8 o'clock. Ed Shakespeare is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

NEIGHBORHOOD

ception was tendered. Mr. and Mrs. Biddle were not present. Mrs. Pearl Harrington played the wedding march as Mr. and Mrs. J. Walker Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Springer, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilford Eastburn entered the room. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out also in the ice cream, wedding cake, home-made cakes, and mints which were served by the hospitality committee. Each bride was presented with a five-dollar gold piece by the Grange. It is very unusual for a Grange to be privileged to give a reception to four newly married couples within its membership.

It was voted to dispense with the next two meetings because of the special evangelistic services which will be held during that time at the Red Clay Creek and White Clay Creek Churches.

On Friday evening over a hundred members of the Harmony Grange gave an old-fashioned serenade to Mr. and Mrs. J. Walker Pennington, who were recently married. During the evening the other newly-weds in the Grange came and they were likewise serenaded. The Cranston Heights Fire Company, with the siren, added to the jolly noise and confusion. Refreshments of cookies, jumbles, apples and cider were served.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Harry Brackin and Miss Emilie Mitchell gave a shower for Mrs. Thomas Springer at "Woodside Farm," the home of Miss Mitchell. About fifty guests were present. The bride received some beautiful gifts.

Mrs. William Peach, Miss Carolyn Peach, Mrs. Pearl Harrington, and Miss Sara Pennington visited the Dahlia Show at Whitmarsh, Maryland, last Thursday.

Mr. Henry Watson and family, from near Christiana, were visitors at the Mermaid on Sunday.

Mrs. Granville Eastburn and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Boehm were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Peach on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Whiteman, of near Ebenezer, were also recent callers.

Mrs. Irvine, the wife of the pastor of White Clay Creek Church, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving.

Special evangelistic services will begin at White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church next Sunday, to continue every evening during next week except Saturday. Dr. Charles Bohner, of Hanover Church, Wilmington, will speak Sunday evening, and there will be other speakers during the week. Mr. Clymer, of West Church, Wilmington, will lead the singing.

Mr. James Henry Walker, who is in a private hospital in Wilmington, is reported to be in about the same condition as he has been for some time.

Glasgow

A series of Revival Meetings will begin Sunday evening, October 16th, at 7:45, at Pender Presbyterian Church, Glasgow, Delaware. Dr. Arnold, of the Green Hill Church, Wilmington, will be the speaker.

Theatre Guild Plays

Productions Sponsored by the Drama League

The Wilmington Centre of the Drama League has undertaken to present at the local Shubert Playhouse this season four plays produced by the Theatre Guild, Inc., of New York City. These four plays are: "Arms and the Man," by George Bernard Shaw; "The Guardsman," by Franz Mohni; "Mr. Pim Passes By," by A. A. Milne; and "The Silver Cord," by Sidney Howard.

The Theatre Guild was organized in 1919, an outgrowth of that famous group, the Washington Square Players, and put on its first play "Bonds of Interest" at the Garrick Theatre. The play was charming, decorative and thin. Financially it was a failure, but it was a glorious failure, for it tested the faith of everyone involved. The poverty-stricken group then went ahead producing its second play—went ahead in the face of disapproval and ridicule. For the play was a genre tragedy, and the Guild chose the month of May for its production, though all the wisecracks said that the Month of May was well enough for comedies, but not for tragedies. The play was "John Ferguson" and its surprising success is well known. To the members and directors of the Guild its success was more than a surprise, it was a miracle. It proved beyond a doubt that there was an audience for the fine things of the theatre in New York.

"John Ferguson" ran through the summer of 1919 and accumulated enough money for the Guild to start its second season. That was the beginning of the continued success of this spirited group which is now a semi-public institution having over 20,000 subscribers.

After its second season, the Guild had three problems to solve. To select good plays. To secure first-rate actors. To reach and hold the right audiences. That these problems were solved successfully is attested by the Guild's unparalleled growth. And they were solved by the principle of co-operation.

This principle lies in the fact that the Theatre Guild is a group organization. It is run by a Board of Managers and while there is an executive, none is supreme. All matters of policy are submitted to the Board as a whole, also the choice of plays. The Board is made up of diverse people and, although they are all keenly interested in the theatre, they are not all of it. On this Board there are at present a lawyer, a banker, two actresses, an artist, a producer and a playwright. Thus, they represent an audience in miniature. The choice of play depends upon the majority vote of this group. They approximate in miniature the taste of the public which they serve. That this taste has been vindicated by the public at large is proven by the outstanding successes of the Theatre Guild, such as "Jane Clegg," "Heartbreak House," "Lilium," "The Guardsman," "Back to Methuselah," "Mr. Pim Passes By," "Saint Joan," "Arms and the Man," "He Who Gets Slapped," "At Mrs. Beam's," "The Silver Cord," to mention but a few.

And now The Theatre Guild will assemble a company of its distinguished members and will send it on tour. It will, therefore, represent the Guild's quality of presentations.

Already many Delawareans are looking forward to the plays which will be presented by the company under the sponsorship of the Drama League. Dates will be announced in the near future.

"MY MARYLAND"

"My Maryland," the musical romance based upon Clyde Fitch's most famous and successful play, "Barbara Frietchie," with a score by the modern musical genius, Sigmund Romberg, is making theatrical history in Philadelphia in a way that recalls the days when that city was one of the great theatrical producing centers of the United States. This operetta was presented by the Messrs. Shubert for the first time in Philadelphia January 24 and has been attracting crowded houses ever since. This breaks every attendance record since the days of William Penn. The closest rival "My Maryland" has ever had was another operetta presented in Philadelphia as well as over the country generally by the Messrs. Shubert, the same producers. It ran for 29 weeks in Philadelphia.

When a play or a musical production establishes such a record as "My Maryland" has, a record which outdistances many New York runs which are considered highly successful, persons interested in the theatre will inquire into the elements of such a work. To them it may be said that the story is the highly dramatic one of the southern girl, who in love with a northern officer during the civil war hung out the union flag as "Stonewall" Jackson's victorious southern army marched through the streets of Frederick, Maryland. The episode is the famous one of Whit-tier's poem "Barbara Frietchie" save that the poet made the heroine a gray haired woman while Clyde Fitch wrote a play based upon the poem made her a beautiful young Southern girl—a role played successfully by Julia Mariowe.

The musical romance which the Messrs. Shubert have made from the Fitch play has all the advantages of color, stage craft, technique which have been developed since the original play production. It also has the decided advantages of a score by Sigmund Romberg, composer of "The Student Prince" and "My Maryland." In this score Romberg has taken a group of southern airs and remodelled them for atmosphere. He has also composed a complete dramatic score which accompanies every dramatic scene and which tells the story in itself. One who hears the operetta for the second or third time as large audiences are doing, instantly detects this fact and has his enjoyment greatly increased thereby.

There are, too, in the score, many beautiful pieces of melody such as "The Same Silver Moon," "Old John Barleycorn," "Mr. Cupid," "The Mocking Bird," "Strawberry Jam," "Mexico," "Boys in Gray," which have become instantly popular songs and are being sung over the country generally.

Also "Your Land and My Land," which has been proposed as a new national anthem, must not be forgotten.

The production is especially elaborate and there is a male chorus of sixty to say nothing of a large feminine chorus, each member of which was selected for voice. The company is one of the best ever assembled for an elaborate production of this character and numbers more than 150 persons. Dorothy Donnelly who wrote the book and lyrics for "The Student Prince" and "Blossom Time" did a similar work for "My Maryland."

This operetta which has been hailed as "the first national American operetta" or the "first real American musical drama" and which despite that designation is not without abundant comedy is now being presented at the Chestnut Street Opera House at popular prices. The highest priced seat for an evening performance is $2.50 except on Saturday nights, when the highest priced seats are $3.00. Other seats are in proportion.

It is also possible for large parties and organizations to obtain seats in blocks, so that members of such groups can sit together by giving advance notice to the box office.—Adv.

The trouble occurred Sunday at Port Deposit and is said by officials to have been the result of another outbreak in the bootleggers' war. This led to the shooting. Sheriff Logan arrested Kelley.

The new teachers, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Kennard, were present and both addressed the meeting briefly. At this time it was announced that at the recent carnival conducted by the association the snug sum of more than eight hundred and twenty dollars was cleared. This amount, together with what was realized from the minstrel show given in the spring, gives about a thousand dollars to be spent on the installation and maintenance of electric street lights.

At this meeting also a Halloween party was proposed, and the following committee was appointed by the president, Mr. R. Earle Dickey: Mrs. A. H. Vincent, chairman; Mrs. Henry Eastburn and Mr. John Moore.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Margaret Armstrong of Oxford, Pa., and Mr. Ralph Smith of Christiana.

Miss Alice Phelps spent the weekend at her home in the village.

Another new house is in prospect. We understand that Mr. Frank Morrison, Jr., will shortly start building operations on a bungalow, to be located near his father's home on the Christiana-Newark road. Christiana is surely "coming back."

The Milford Chronicle

With last week's issue, the Milford Chronicle began its fiftieth year of constructive service to the large community in Delaware which it serves. For a weekly newspaper to endure and grow for a half century under its original management is, per se, something of an achievement. The Chronicle has not only made itself an indispensable institution in its own community, but has become one of the leading weekly newspapers in the country. Colonel Theodore Townsend, one of the founders, is still active head and editor of the paper. The other founder, Julius E. Scott, is still a resident of Milford.

The Chronicle, under Colonel Townsend's guidance, has matured and gained stature with that rare quality that can keep pace with changing times, and assimilate progress without losing traditional dignity. The Milford Chronicle, today at the peak of its vigor, shows its age only in the calm and discriminating judgment that has been the basis of its success.

Mr. Frazier

Kells has lost a faithful, loyal friend,—one who delighted in his work and in the work of every one here, whose greatest cross during the past year has been that he was not physically able to perform his tasks here as he had done for years. He loved every spot about the place and his slipping away from life has been pathetic to those of us who knew how desperately he was trying to hold on, that he might work a few more years. He has lived a life of humble, devoted service and was loved and respected by all those who worked with him and knew him. He had endeared himself to everyone here and it will seem very sad not to see his familiar figure about the accustomed tasks.

by his friends and neighbors and endeared himself to those with whom he worked.

On July 17, 1923, Mr. Frazier married Mrs. Lucretia Foreaker, of Philadelphia, who survives him. He is also survived by four brothers: Samuel Frazier and Benjamin Frazier, of Washington, D. C.; Ephraim Frazier, of Wilmington, and Harry Frazier, of this town.

The funeral services will be conducted by Dr. Hallman, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this town, of which the deceased was a member, at his late residence tomorrow, Thursday, afternoon, at 2:30. Interment will be made at the Elkton M. E.

Cemetery.

The Shop of Kells will be closed during the hour of the funeral services.

MRS. CHARLES R. HOLTON

Relatives and friends here were shocked to hear of the sudden death yesterday in Bethlehem, Pa., of Mrs. Charles R. Holton, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Holton of this town. Mrs. Holton before her marriage was Miss Grace Hershey, of Steelton, Pa.

The funeral services will be held at her late home on Friday morning, at 9 o'clock. Interment will be at Harrisburg. Mrs. Holton is survived by her husband and two daughters, Frances and Elinor.

U. Of D. Loses Bitter Battle To Ursinus

Unlucky Breaks Cost Blue and Gold 7 to 0 Verdict; Passing Attack Bewilders Opponents

Last Saturday afternoon, on Frazer Field, Delaware played victorious football, but the breaks of the game lost them the victory that it seemed that they should have earned. A 60-yard run by Moyer, Ursinus flashing back, and an offside gave Ursinus a 7 to 0 verdict at the end of a bitter battle.

The line-up for the first scrimmage showed Delaware sadly out-weighted and the soft and slippery condition of the field made it look bad for the Blue and Gold. However, the Delaware line held like a rock and it was not until the end of the quarter that either team made a decisive bid. Moyer, Ursinus quarter, caught a punt on his 35 yard line and ran it straight through both teams to the Delaware 3-yard line, where he was finally brought to earth by "Ace" Taylor. Three times the Ursinus backs smashed the line for no gain, but on the fourth try Benner took it over and Moyer kicked accurately for the extra point.

In the second quarter Delaware showed what a fighting line it has, when it held four downs after two runs by Moyer placed them in danger again.

The teams fought on even terms in the third period until close to the end when Delaware suddenly changed its offensive tactics and unleashed a passing attack that had Ursinus bewildered until the final whistle. Ursinus tried a placement kick in this quarter, but Kane, freshman tackle broke through and blocked it. The ball struck him in the eye, injuring it painfully, but he stuck to his position for another play, when Captain Reynolds had him taken out.

Delaware continued its passing attack in the last stanza and only ill-luck kept them from a score. Creamer was doing the throwing with Loveland and Glasser taking most of the throws. The combination completed twelve out of fifteen tries. Loveland went over the line for a touchdown on one of them, but was called back because of an off-side. Ursinus was completely at sea for a method to break it up. Near the end of the game Delaware had the ball on the 8-yard line, but after failing to gain through the line, lost it on one of the few passes that were knocked down.

Through its belated passing attack, Delaware gained nearly twice the ground its opponents did, but lacked the luck and the finish to make it count for a score. The Blue and Gold squad showed more defects than in the first game, but Rothrock has given them something that will likely win them more games than finished technique. From the first whistle to the last, they never let down for a minute and their fighting spirit covered anything that they may be lacking in football knowledge. If the cheering section could catch the same spirit, Delaware could put on a satisfactory football spectacle.

The Blue and Gold tackling was hard and vicious, but not as low and accurate as in the St. Joseph's game. The backfield has not as yet worked out a good system of interference, and on several occasions the carrier was stopped by his own interference. Glasser and Barton were outstanding on the defense for Delaware, and contributed their offensive share to the aerial attack. Moyer, Ursinus quarter, with his long gains, played the most sensational football of the game.

Newark Overpowers Du Pont, 12 To 6

High School Team Unseasoned, But Powerful; Smith and Mayer Star

The Newark High School team, showing latent but awkward power, last Friday afternoon, won its opening game from the du Pont School by a score of 12 to 6. The game was played at the Baynard Stadium, in Wilmington.

The Newark boys showed a lack of experience and co-ordination under fire, but displayed a power and drive that with a little seasoning and some shifts in the line-up should win football games. Their first score came shortly after the kick-off in the first period, du Pont, receiving, fumbled, and Zabenko dropped on the ball on du Pont's 25 yard line. Newark made a first down by straight line plunges and Frank Mayer took the ball over in an off tackle play. The kick failed, du Pont received again, but couldn't penetrate the Newark line.

In the second quarter du Pont found the right side of the Newark line weak and directed its attack along that wing making good gains, but not enough to score. Newark, however, stopped them and took the ball, rushing it down the field, where Mayer again took it over. Again the kick failed.

du Pont made its score in the third quarter, Weatherlow taking the ball over in a play through the line, du Pont failed to make the extra point.

In the last quarter, the Newark line tightened and back up on their 5-yard line threw du Pont back for a 5-yard loss in four downs.

The teams were evenly matched for weight, with du Pont having an edge in experienced players, so that the game was a good try-out for Newark and revealed potential power. Newark's backfield had trouble finding the interference, if any, and the line was lop-sided. However, Coaches Malin and Hohl are grinding the rough spots and revamping the line-up so that Newark's next appearance should reveal considerable improvement.

"Rip" Smith, who was injured in the third quarter, was the offensive star for Newark, while Vincent Mayer at left end was a wall of strength on the defense. Winnie stopped everything that came his way and was down under every punt. Weatherlow, veteran fullback, was du Pont's ace.

MEGARY

Have You Been Waiting and Wishing For A Living-Room Suite?

Here—now—is an opportunity to get one and at considerably less than you would expect to pay.

There are ten suites on our floor that have been sharply reduced. They are suites that we cannot "fill in" and in covers that we cannot match, and that's the reason for these unusually new low prices.

But everyone of them are of the usual high standard of Megary construction—web bottoms, deep, well-tempered springs and fillings of clean moss and cotton. The coverings are of deep cut Jacquards, velours and mohairs, with reversed seats in damask and tapestries.

One three-piece suite has a carved base in mahogany finish and is covered in a medallion design Jacquard, in taupe with a rose background. There is a full-length davenport, a club chair and a high-back winged fireside chair. Formerly priced $225.00, it is now $175.00.

A two-piece suite with a rope-carved base is in walnut velour with the cushions in tapestry. The former price was $235.00. It is now marked $185.00.

Two three-piece suites are especial values. They have full-length davenports and the chairs—one a club chair and the other a moderate-sized wing chair—are of the English Lounge design. One suite is covered in an unusual Jacquard of floral pattern, in rose and taupe, with velour sides and backs. Formerly priced $315.00, it is now marked $195.00.

The other is covered in a small block linen velour with the cushions in a rich damask. Formerly priced $360.00, it is now marked $225.00.

Another suite with carved base, mahogany finished, is covered with a walnut Jacquard with cushions in a damask to match.

This suite, davenport, easy chair and high-back wing chair, was formerly $248.00. It is now priced $180.00.

A suite with shaped claw feet is covered in a taupe and rose Jacquard. There is the davenport, easy chair and a deep-seated Coxwell chair, and it was formerly marked $280.00. It is priced now $185.00.

A suite with the well-known Foster spring construction is in a grey and walnut Jacquard. Formerly priced $250.00, it is marked now $190.00.

A very fine suite is of the exposed frame design with carved back rails. It is upholstered in a high-grade, all-wool, striped mohair in a rich rose color and the cushions are reversed in wool tapestry. This suite—davenport, easy chair and high-back wing chair—was marked last week $435.00. It is now $300.00.

A two-piece suite with shaped and carved frame is covered in a fine striped taupe mohair with cushions in tapestry. Regularly sold for $365.00, this suite is now priced $225.00.

And one particularly rich suite of two pieces has a kidney-shaped davenport and an English club chair. It is covered in very fine taupe mohair with seats and backs in wool tapestry of rich floral design. Regularly marked $475.00, it is now priced $300.00 the suite.

If your living-room furniture has become uncomfortable and worn and out of style—if it is a matter of apologies rather than of pride, here's a chance to renew it and at worth-while savings.

But—there are only ten suites to choose from—so an early selection is wise.

And we'll be glad to arrange terms of extended payments on these suites if you desire.

If It's An Extra Chair You Need—

You'll find quite a few here specially priced now for quick selling.

They are chairs, in most instances, that have been left from suites and are covered in Jacquards and fine mohairs.

Here are some of the unusual values you can obtain NOW.

An easy English Club chair in blue and grey Jacquard, usually $80.00, is now $55.00.

A wing chair to match, regularly $85.00 is now $60.00.

A high-back wing fireside chair, in all-wool taupe mohair with cushion, in tapestry, was $100.00. It is now $65.00.

An exposed carved frame chair in striped taupe mohair, tapestry seat, was $100.00, and now $65.00.

Another odd chair in mohair and tapestry, usually $95.00, is now $75.00.

A small easy chair—particularly suitable for bedroom, is in walnut velour, with damask seat and back. Formerly $45.00, it is now marked $30.00.

Three other chairs of similar size are covered in velour and damask with loose floss cushions. Their former prices, $65.00, $55.00 and $45.00. The present prices are $45.00 and $35.00.

An easy chair in velour and tapestry, formerly $72.00, it is now $50.00.

A big overstuffed chair in a taupe and blue Jacquard, was formerly priced $65.00. It is now $48.00.

And there are a half dozen fine formal chairs with high, heavily carved backs and frames and covered in tapestries, damasks and brocatelles, that were formerly priced $65.00 to $120.00 and now marked from $45.00 to $85.00.

Lon Chaney AS

"THE UNKNOWN"

Lon Chaney, master of the make-up, genius of a thousand roles, the greatest character actor of the world—he has been given all of these titles and scores of others—will find his most picturesque role as "The Unknown" in the picture which will be at the Aradia Theatre, Wilmington, the week of October 17th.

"The Unknown" is melodrama, tense and thrilling, Chaney plays as an armless freak of the circus, doing amazing things with his toes and on the side robbing and killing with the two arms that he conceals for his circus work.

In the company is the beautiful Joan Crawford appearing as the daughter of the circus owner and the foil for the act of Alonzo the armless wonder. Norman Kerry completes the triangle as the strong man whom the girl finally loves after adventures that reach the fever-point in intensity.

"GOOD WILL DAYS" BIG SHOPPING FEATURE

In a huge cooperative movement, Wilmington merchants will stage on October 19, 20, 21 and 22, Wilmington's Good Will Days for the benefit of the buying public in this section. On these days they will offer legitimate values in seasonable merchandise at prices which will prove attractive to Wilmington and out of town buyers. It is the first time that such an event has been planned by the merchants and every effort is being made by them to meet the standard of merchandising that has been set by the mercantile section of the Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices it is being arranged.

In back of the whole idea is the purpose of Wilmington merchants to create a favorable impression among shoppers of their merchandising facilities and an opportunity to try the merchandise, service and values equal to any offered in metropolitan shopping centers. To convince the shoppers the retailers, individually and collectively, are sparing neither expense or effort to demonstrate the values they have to offer.

Every merchant participating in the event is arranging attractive window displays and will employ official Good Will Days price cards. These cards will bear the emblem of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce as well as the distinguishing design of the event which appears in an advertisement in this paper.

Not only will shoppers have the advantage of obtaining seasonable merchandise at reduced prices but will also have the opportunity of viewing the latest styles.

Wilmington on these four days will be a mecca for latest style seekers who desire to purchase close at home the same class of merchandise that can only be obtained in other metropolitan shopping centers.

THE NEW ERA IN TELEPHONE COMMUNICATION

WERE THEY
"GOOD OLD DAYS"?

ONLY a few years ago when you lifted your receiver to make an out-of-town call, the procedure was something like this:

"Number, please?" said the operator.

"Let me have Long Distance."

The Long Distance operator came on the line.

"This is Long Distance."

"I want to get Doeville 1234, etc., etc."

"Thank you, the operator will call you."

A little—perhaps quite a little—later your bell rang.

"Ready with Doeville."

And your conversation started.

TODAY—

"Number, please?"

"Let me have Doeville 1234."

And—practically as quickly as on a local call—you are connected.

That's the kind of service we are giving on out-of-town calls to the places most frequently called.

And the area covered by this new-era service is constantly being expanded.
