Travel plaza closing for 10 months

An architect's rendering of the new travel center.

The clock is ticking on a Delaware landmark.

On Sept. 8 at 1 a.m., the Delaware Department of Transportation (DelDOT) and contractor HMSHost Corporation will close that haven of I-95 highway fare, the Delaware Welcome Center.

That will clear the way for construction of a new travel plaza near Newark.

As early as next summer, travelers will see a 42,000-square-foot main building and 5,700 square-foot gas station, including a convenience store and 21 fuel pumps that will also include high-speed diesel fuel dispensers.

The main facility will incorporate many elements of Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) standards in design and construction. Energy and water conservation equipment and fixtures will be used

Partner benefits approved

By MARK CORRIGAN

MCORRIGAN@CHES PUB.COM

In a unanimous vote, the Newark City Council approved granting funeral and emergency leave benefits to city employees with domestic partners.

Speaking at the request of council, Assistant to the City Manager Charles Zusag addressed the issue, both verbally, and in a memorandum he submitted on March 4.

In the memo, Zusag quoted city ordinances that allow emergency and funeral leave for family members, including spouses.

The council, at the urging of Councilman Ezra Temko, explored the definition of "spouse" and wants to expand it to include domestic partnerships. At present, spouse has been meant as "legally married opposite sex partner."

The problem the city council is facing is defining a 35% water rate hike could come in Oct.

By MARK CORRIGAN

MCORRIGAN@CHES PUB.COM

The Newark City Council, Monday night, introduced an ordinance that could bring higher water costs to Newark residents.

In a memorandum to the mayor and council, Finance Director Dennis McFarland recommended a 35 percent increase in retail water rates, effective October 1.

McFarland stated several reasons for the increase, as follows:

- Revenues have been depressed due to consumption which has been 7.3 percent below budgeted volumes for the first six months of the year.

- The need for increased investment in the water infrastructure over the next few years to maintain service levels.

- The need to recover city overhead costs from the water utility.

- The need to recover increased operation & maintenance costs which were not collected under the water rates adopted earlier this year.

- The need to achieve a 20 percent operating margin in the water utility in compliance with the city's financial policies that were adopted earlier this year.

According to estimates by McFarland, the 35 percent

Corvair Club annual meeting

The First State Corvair Club held its annual meeting at the Embassy Suites in Newark, last Saturday. In attendance was New Castle County Clerk of the Peace Ken Boulden. Newark Councilman Jerry Clifton was on hand with his yellow 1965 Corvair drag race car. The Corvair was produced by the Chevrolet Division of General Motors from 1959 to 1969. It differed from other American cars, thanks to a rear-mounted air-cooled engine and a unique design.

Graffiti artist tags mayor's law office

Newark Police are investigating more instances of graffiti along Main St. Several businesses, including Mayor Vance Funk's law office, were victims of vandalism last week.

Funk reported seeing an unknown design spray painted on the dumpster behind his office at 273 E. Main St. The dumpster belongs to Mid Atlantic Waste Systems of Easton, Md. The mayor stated that he checks his property daily for damage and that the incident occurred between 5 pm, August 6 and 8 am, August 7. Digital photos were taken and entered into a central database for comparison.

Another spray paint tag was found at the rear wall of the Copy Maven, located at 136 E. Main St. Officers observed the word "RAID" sprayed in bubble letters and in brown paint. Another smaller tag, "RKY6", also in brown paint, was found on a stairwell 20 feet away. Owners estimated that the graffiti was placed between August 2 and August 4.

A criminal mischief report was reported by Sante Fe Restaurant at 190 E. Main St. in response to several designs scratched into two windows. Police discovered a large design with a circle at the top with and an upside-down cross through the circle and what appeared to be the letters "RERM" with a small star at the end. No video surveillance was available for review.

Alert neighbor helps police nab suspect

On Friday, New Castle County Police responded to the unit block of Westridge Road, Glasgow, for a report of a burglary in progress after the neighbor observed the crime unfold.

As the officers were en route to the crime scene, the neighbor told dispatchers the suspect had just fled the home in a black colored Honda.

Officer Michael Murphy responded to the scene and observed a black Honda traveling north on Route 896. Murphy stopped the car and observed the victim's checkbook (in plain view) near the driver's seat.

The driver, Robert Scholl, was arrested and later linked to a second burglary that had occurred weeks prior in the nearby Caravel East community.

In each case, the Scholl entered the homes and removed valuables (jewelry, electronics, cash) from inside. He also stole prescription medication from the Caravel East community. He has been charged with two counts of burglary, obtaining prescription medication during a burglary, two counts of theft and criminal mischief.

New Castle County Police have arrested Robert Scholl, 32, who resides in the 200 block of Benjamin Drive in Bear.

He has been charged with burglary related offenses after a neighbor observed him breaking into a home in the Porter Square community and later relayed information to the 911 Center as he fled in a car. An officer observed the car fleeing the area and recovered the victim's stolen property from his vehicle.

Thief escapes with Witch Mountain DVD

Police are searching for a suspect that stole 18 DVD's from Blockbuster Video, at 260 College Square Shopping Center.

Employee Lisa Stevens reported seeing a white male, 23 to 27 years old, six-foot tall, average build, facial hair, wearing a black t-shirt, black jeans, black hat and white sneakers in the rear of the store with a large black bag.

Stevens, the only employee in the store at the time, tried to stop the man from leaving, but was unsuccessful. She stated that she saw him leave in the direction of the rear of the store. The suspect dropped a pair of NBN Gear jeans on his way out. An inventory of the store revealed the man took 18 copies of Race to Witch Mountain, valued at $21.99 each. Video surveillance was retrieved and is being reviewed.

Stayathome isn't

Webster Stayathome isn't at home and State Police are on the lookout for the Newark man. Thanks to an anonymous tip received after a release was posted by the local media, Stayathome, 24, of Aronimink Drive in Newark, is facing possible charges in a robbery at a discount store.

Warrants are currently on file charging Stayathome with Robbery 2nd (felony). According to police "because Webster rarely stays at home, investigators have had difficulty locating him." Anyone with information pertaining to this whereabouts is asked to contact Troopers at 302-633-5000 ext. 607.

In July, troopers were called to the Walmart on Centerville Road near Prices Corner for a report of a robbery. A white male suspect, now believed to be Stayathome, entered the store and approached the customer service counter. The suspect, who was holding a plastic bag, began to argue with the customer service representative about the bag.

The clerk, who at the time was counting money from a cash drawer, was startled when the male reached across the counter and forcibly removed the undisclosed amount of cash from her hands and ran out of the store.

Tools stolen from job site

Jack Corrozi Builders reported a theft from their site at 2000 Fountain View Circle, Newark. A number of unknown suspects had used a makeshift ladder to gain access to a second floor window. The business had locked all points of entry on the first floor.

A search of the site revealed that an air compressor, hose,

Night of entertainment

On August 21st from 7 to 9 PM, Friends of Newark continues to bring live entertainment to the Newark community on Main Street. Friends of Newark, a community organization dedicated to promoting culture and building community, is back at the Adria Café thanks to owner, Patrick Matic. This month's coffeehouse continues to offer a variety of music and also the spoken word.

The evening begins with the Kokopelli Duo. The Kokopelli Duo is made up of flutists, Pamela Skwish & Jean Webb. Pamela and Jean, who are classically trained musicians, perform both traditional music and their own music.

The second performer of the evening is Bob Chartowich, Newark-area writer. Bob, one of the original members of the Delaware writers' magazine Dreamstreets and a board member of The Delaware Literary Connection, has published in Facets and American Writing. He was also chosen this year by the Delaware Humanities Forum to take part in its public reading series of memoir writing and points to fairy tales, fantasy cinema and psychedelic music as among his influences.

The last act of the evening is songwriter, composer, and keyboardist, Caitlin Jane. Caitlin is a local area artist who has performed from coffeeshop venues to concert stages. She sings with a pure, strong voice and plays piano-driven songs that touch the heart. She is currently working on a music video of one of the songs from her recent CD release, Ashes into Beauty.

Mocha, Music & More furthers its commitment to promoting culture on Main Street. This August the business people contributing prizes are: Brian Greim of Main Street Florists, "providing romantic gestures to Newarkers since 1984"; Paul and LaTonya Romanick of Romanick Pottery, "hand-crafted pottery for everyday use"; and Denise Hartranft of Village Imports Fair Trade Store, "shopping with a social conscience."

Audience members can participate in a drawing to receive one of the prizes contributed by one of these local businesses.

Mocha, Music & More is sponsored by Friends of Newark in partnership with the Newark Heritage Alliance and offers opportunities for artists to perform original or non-copy-right material live in an intimate and friendly setting. Those who are interested in performing, please contact the Scheduling Coordinator, Lori Benscoter at (302) 834-3385 or at Benscoter2@aol.com.

The Adria Café is at the entrance to the Newark Shopping Center where there is free parking for coffeehouse attendees. Mocha, Music & More is free and open to the public.

Hotel becomes a hot topic

By DOUG RAINEY

DRAINEY@CHES PUB.COM

Prospects of a high rise (at least by Newark standards) hotel in Newark have some neighbors upset.

You can't blame them.

The College Avenue gateway into Newark has two aging motels that are adequately maintained, but have become obsolete in the current environment. Both have outside room doors that are harder to police for noise, drugs and other activities, even when management keeps a close eye on the proceedings. Many travelers now insist on the security of a controlled entrance or entrances and a number of large chains are pulling franchises for properties, with the outside doors.

The presence of hotels with outside room doors, naturally enough, leads to more complaints from neighbors, some of whom reside a short distance away.

Another worry is traffic.

More on that later.

The owners of one of the motels, a renovated Howard Johnson's, want to erect a Candlewood Suites hotel on a portion of the property at Welsh Tract Road and College Avenue (Route 896).

The Candlewood would have controlled entrances.

A big worry among neighbors is traffic, although it is hard to see how the suite hotel will have much of an impact. The neighborhood behind the hotel is adjacent to an industrial park and that has led to a lot of traffic in the residential area over the years. Sadly, fewer people work in that area these days. Add in the closing of the Chrysler plant and things are probably a little too quiet on College Avenue.

There is also the problem of 18-wheelers making U turns. That was an issue long before the hotel proposal appeared. Ditto for pedestrians. DelDOT and the city need to do some work to deal with this long-running issue.

The Delaware Department of Transportation will perform traffic studies and my guess is that the site will pass the test.

One thing residents of the area must realize (and their local representatives need to tell their constituents the unvarnished truth) is that city government can do little to halt development of the site.

Current zoning allows for multi-story building, as demonstrated by the two newer hotels up the street. If developers meet city codes, council has to approve plans, or face legal action.

If you look at the total picture, the hotel will be a win-win for all concerned.

The worst thing that could happen along College Avenue is for lodging properties to become run down and end up as locations for drugs and prostitution.

New hotels and the eventual end of outside entrances will reduce noise and other nuisance problems.

The project, if built, would mean the end of the Friendly's, a local gathering spot for breakfast, but the overall impact will be positive for all concerned.

On the minus side, Candlewood suites - which would target the short-stay market for businesspeople, as well as those visiting Michael or Megan at UD - would add to a bulging inventory of rooms in the area.

But the decision of whether another hotel is needed is best left to the free market. Lenders will take a much closer look at the numbers in the current environment and if everything adds up, we could see another lodging establishment in a year or two.

Officer Training Corps Candidates at Rhodes Drug Store in World War II

This week's Out of the Attic features an undated view of the inside of Rhodes Drug Store located on the north side of East Main Street next to the University campus. During World War II, Army Officer Corps Candidates were trained on the campus. They were housed in Sypherd Hall across the street from Rhodes. They often shared off-duty time at the popular Rhodes soda fountain.

The Society is seeking pictures and other artifacts of places, activities, and life styles in the Greater Newark area. Horse Liniment Erases Pain

HALEAH, FL — An ingredient often used to treat inflammation in racehorse's legs, is now back on the market in its original doctor recommended formula.

According to a national drug store survey, the formula at one time became so popular that it rose to the top of pharmacy sales for topical pain relievers. But the company marketing the product at the time changed the formula and sales plummeted. One of the inventors of the original formula has brought it back to the market under the trade name ARTH ARREST and says it can relieve pain for millions.

ARTH ARREST works by a dual mechanism whereby one ingredient relieves pain immediately, while a second ingredient seeks out and destroys the pain messenger signal before it can be sent to the brain. Considered a medical miracle by some, the ARTH ARREST formula is useful in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

ARTH ARREST is available in a convenient roll-on applicator at pharmacies without a prescription or call 1-800-339-3301. Now at area:

domestic partnership.

In his memo, Zusag outlined several considerations, including:

- Both parties sharing the same residence for at least 12 months and intending to do so permanently.

- Both parties are at least 18 years old and are mentally competent to enter into a contract.

- Both employee and domestic partner are not related by blood to a degree of closeness that would prohibit marriage in the state in which they reside.

- Neither is married to someone else.

- Neither is currently in a domestic partnership with someone else.

- The employee and domestic partner are either (a) financially interdependent and jointly responsible for each other's welfare and financial obligations, or (b) the domestic partner is financially dependent on the city employee in accordance with the IRS definition of "qualifying relative."

- The employee and domestic partner consider themselves to be members of each other's immediate family.

- They have signed an affidavit or other document certifying their relationship.

At the suggestion of City Solicitor Roger Akin, Council voted that the definition of domestic partner will be the responsibility of the City Manager.

The amount of funeral and emergency leave granted will be up to three or four days, depending on the nature of the relationship of the relative.

One of the next steps for domestic partners will be getting medical and dental coverage.

Zusag reported that Blue Cross Blue Shield of Delaware will provide medical benefits to domestic partners at no additional cost. Council was skeptical and asked if it is possible that Blue Cross could pull a "bait and switch." Zusag assured members that it is the job of his liaison with Blue Cross to prevent such measures. According to Zusag, and if approved, medical coverage for domestic partners could be instituted on January 1, 2010.

There had been concern among unions representing city workers that extending benefits to domestic partners would raise health insurance premiums, with the city passing along those costs to employees.

The City of Wilmington and New Castle County already include domestic partners in their benefit packages. In addition, the General Assembly extended anti-discrimination legislation to include the gay and lesbian communities.

New travel plaza coming throughout the facility, along with local stone and recycled materials.

The design, with its generous use of glass, drew some criticism because it did not reflect the architectural style seen in Maryland travel plazas.

DeIDOT and HMSHost will work with the Delaware Economic Development Office (DEDO), the Wilmington Convention & Visitors Bureau and other tourism agencies to create a new Delaware State Visitor Center, within the travel plaza.

The Visitor Center will provide information on local and statewide attractions, events and activities. An upgrade to the parking lot will include a new truck parking area, a new Sunoco gas service station and an A Plus Convenience Store.

This site will be environmentally friendly with the addition of 50 spaces of Cabaire truck parking with electrification hookups that halt pollution from idling tractor-tailers.

One of the retail stores will be "Postcards from Delaware"—home to Delaware products that highlight the state's heritage and culture.

Approximately 250 jobs will be created throughout the renovation timeframe. When complete, the new Welcome Center will employ 225 HMSHost workers.

Beginning in June of next year, HMSHost will stagger the openings, delivering the Sunoco gas station and the A Plus convenience store first, followed by new food and retail sites.

Food outlets and retailers will include: Baja Fresh, Z Market, Starbucks Coffee, Burger King, Brioche Dorée Bakery Café, Cinnabon/Carvel and Famous Famiglia Pizza.

Three million people annually stop at the travel center.

City residents may have to dig deeper increase will generate approximately $1.5 million in additional revenues. City customers can expect their water bill to rise about $20 and pay a typical bill of $77 per quarter. Non-residents would pay an additional $27 and expect a typical bill of $104 per quarter. These figures are based on using 200 cubic feet of water per quarter.

With the hike in place, the City can expect a projected operating margin of 13%. According to the memo, a 45% increase in rates would get the margin to 20%. If the proposed 35% raise had been in place since the beginning of the year, the net operating margin would have been 20%.

McFarland's memo suggested that the council must act quickly in an effort to "minimize the revenue shortfall on 2009 and to insure that financial results in 2010 for the water utility are acceptable."

The Council has set a second reading of this proposal for their August 24 meeting that could lead to a vote on the rate hike.

The rate hike also comes as private utilities adjacent to the city are also seeking big rate increases, due to rising costs for utilities, modernization of plant and equipment and the need to expand supplies.

Council has also proposed, for first reading, amendments to Chapters 2 and 20 of the Motor Vehicle & Traffic Code of Newark that will significantly increase the fines and court costs for DUI offenses. The proposal aligns Newark's rules with recent legislation signed by Gov. Jack Markell.

The first amendment states, "Court costs for a first offender's election of rehabilitation program for operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol or drugs as... $250." This is up from an original fee of $35.

The second amendment will increase first offense fines to a range of no less than $500 and no more than $1,500 and second offense fines from $750 to $2,500. The original section quotes fee ranges of $230 and $1,130 and $575 and $2,300, respectively. The second reading for the amendments will be at the August 24 Council meeting.

Council members also approved an amendment that will raise the monetary threshold for property misdemeanor crimes. The limit will be raised from $1,000 to $1,500. This is also designed to align the city with state law.

Approval was granted for a minor subdivision of a vacant, wooded lot owned by John Mayer that will divide the site into five single-family lots for development by Robert Scott McKeown. The 1.76 acre property is located at the northwest corner of Woodlawn and Elm Avenues.

Council recognized the long-time service of Newark Site Planner Robert "Rob" Berndt. Berndt will retire on September 4, after serving Newark for 42 years.

and nail gun had been stolen from the fourth floor, sometime over the weekend of August 1. Employees told police that they regularly use a pulley to raise and lower tools to the ground floor, and that the thieves probably used one as well, since a pulley was missing from the site. Investigators found several fingerprints on an outside window sill, although no prints were recovered from the window or ladder.

Vandal disables parking meters

Newark Parking Authority employee Mike Eggert reported to police that four parking meters on Kent Way, near Orchard Road, were coated with a black substance, resembling construction epoxy, on the viewing area and in the coin slots.

The substance could not be removed by hand and the meters have been disabled. There are no suspects so far and it is unknown when the incident occurred, since the meters are only checked on Tuesdays.

Crafty thieves target Home Depot

Employees at the Home Depot at 1000 Suburban Dr. reported that someone had cut a hole in the rear fence of the business. Manager Doug Goto told police that a hole, two feet by two feet, had been cut in a section of chain link fence, near the dumpsters, that encloses the garden area of the store.

The fence section was pushed in to allow for entry. No prints were recovered at the scene. Goto said that a full store inventory would have to be performed to determine what items are missing. Police believe that the suspects were entering the store during business hours, placing items near the hole, and retrieving them at night.

Domestic argument gets ugly

Police responded to a public disturbance call from the McDonald's Restaurant at 815 S. College Ave. Employees told officers that a domestic argument had broken out in the lobby and that a black female had struck a black male repeatedly.

Witnesses stated that the female, Angie Moore, 29, of Wilmington, had entered the restaurant and began to shout at her fiancée, Lovance Whittle. Whittle, Moore, and their two children were in their vehicle, ordering from the drive-through window, when Whittle received a call from an unknown female.

Moore demanded that Whittle tell her who the woman was and began to shout at him. Moore parked the minivan in front of the McDonald's, where Whittle left to enter the restaurant.

Moore went inside and began to scream, curse, and hit Whittle, leaving her two children in the minivan. Customers intervened and escorted Moore outside. Moore returned to confront Whittle, and employees called the police. When they arrived, Moore was crying in her car and did not want to cooperate with officers. She tried to drive off, but was stopped by police and taken into custody.

In the cruiser, Moore became agitated and attempted to kick out the driver's side rear window, knocking it off its track. Whittle stated that he did not want to press charges. Video footage clearly showed Moore hitting and yelling at Whittle. Moore was charged with disorderly conduct, criminal mischief under $1,000 (the damage to the window), offensive touching, and two counts of endangering the welfare of a child.

Newark cyclist killed

A Newark man was killed in a van-cycle crash near Middletown on Monday. He was identified as 25-year-old Daniel Worden.

Delaware State Police reported that Tara Dalik, 39, of Middletown was driving her 2008 Dodge Grand Caravan southbound on Old Corbit Road, near Middletown on Monday. Officers were told a 2007 Suzuki motorcycle ridden by Worden, was traveling northbound on Old Corbit Road, popping a wheelie, and approached a slower moving vehicle from behind.

Witnesses said Worden lowered the front wheel to the pavement and accelerated as the motorcycle started to pass the slower vehicle to the left on the two-lane road.

The van and the motorcycle were now approaching head on. The operator of the van applied her brakes and came to a sudden stop. The operator of the bike dropped the motorcycle on its side on the ground and began to slide on the wet roadway. The two vehicles then collided.

The motorcycle operator was ejected from the bike. He was wearing a helmet and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Dalik was not injured. The crash remains under investigation.

Suspects leap from bank roof, rob woman

Delaware State Police are investigating a robbery that had suspects jumping from the roof of a branch bank.

The crime occurred last week at the Wachovia Bank at 3215 Old Capitol Trail, east of Newark.

An employee of a local business went to the Wachovia Bank on Old Capitol Trail to make a night deposit.

As the 51-year-old female approached the deposit device, two black male suspects jumped down from the roof, onto the ground and confronted the female victim. One suspect assaulted the victim and the other took the deposit bag. They both fled the scene on foot toward the Driftwood Club Apartments. The victim did not require medical attention.

The suspects were both wearing shorts and one had on a green tank top.

In releasing information on the crime, Delaware State Police did point out that the number of robberies has risen, although no sharp rise has been reported.

Detective cracks bridge tagging case

New Castle County Police have arrested Marshall Williams, 18, of the 100 block of Lovelace Road in New Castle. He has been charged with one count each of graffiti and conspiracy after police linked him to the spray paint "tagging" on the Smith Covered Bridge in Centerville.

On July 3, Delaware State Police arrested Marshall Williams and three other teens for "tagging" an Exxon gas station on Concord Pike. Corporal Vince Harris (New Castle County Police) responded to the location of the arrest and interviewed the suspects regarding crimes that occurred in New Castle County.

Based on the interviews, Harris discovered Marshall Williams used the "tags" Yoda, Panic, and Panik in the past. Harris's investigation led him to the Smith Covered Bridge.

He has been arraigned and committed to the Howard Young Prison after failing to post $21,000 secured bail. Inside the bridge, Harris discovered at least two tags linked to Williams.

Harris later executed a search warrant at his home on Lovelace Road and recovered additional evidence that linked him to the crime. Williams was arrested on Sunday and charged with the aforementioned offenses. He was later arraigned and released on $500 unsecured bail. Williams was also ordered to not possess spray paint or any other items commonly used for graffiti.

Aviators Flying High

From the look of celebrity sightings, aviator sunglasses are one of the hottest new fashion accessories. The fact is, however, that it is difficult to attach the adjective "new" to describe aviators, when this classic eyeglass frame style has been around for decades. Before Tom Cruise sported aviator frames in 1986's Top Gun, the U.S. military commissioned the production of these sunglasses for Air Force pilots as far back as 1936. The darkened tear-drop shaped lenses were deemed to be perfect for blocking the sun from pilots' eyes from a multitude of directions. And when something is designed to be as efficient as it is beautiful, it becomes a classic, which is neither new nor old. It is eternal.

Sunglasses do more than lend you an air of mystery. They help prevent eye problems such as cataracts and macular degeneration. At KNEISLEY EYE CARE, we feature many beautiful designer frames and sunglasses by top designers as well as non-prescription sunglasses. The policy of our office is to provide only the very best service and quality materials. Please call us at 302-224-3000 to schedule a convenient eye health exam, or visit us at 45 East Main St., on the 2nd floor of the Main Street Galleria, to browse through our display of frames. Office hours are Monday and Tuesday, 11 - 8 and Wednesday through Friday, 8 - 5.

Three Hockessin Teens Arrested for felony graffiti-related offenses in Newark and other areas of New Castle County.

They were identified as:

Matthew J. Sutherland, 19, of Wyndam Circle in Hockessin; Michael Freccia, 18, of Bernard Boulevard, Hockessin; and Joseph Pierce, 16, Hockessin.

The Delaware State Police Troop 6, Troop 1, and Newark police arrested Sutherland. The arrests stem from an investigation that was initiated in May of 2009. Sutherland was arrested on 27 Graffiti related misdemeanor charges and 2 graffiti related felony charges.

Sutherland was arraigned and released on $23,500 unsecured bail.

On the same day, officers from Troop 6 and Troop 1 arrested Joseph Pierce. The arrests stem from the same investigation involving Sutherland. Joseph Pierce is currently incarcerated in Snowden Cottage on Centre Road. Pierce is awaiting an arraignment in Family Court. Pierce was arrested for 23 misdemeanor graffiti offenses and four felony graffiti offenses.

The day before, officers from Troop 6 and Troop 1 arrested Michael Freccia. The arrests also stem from the same investigation involving Sutherland. Freccia voluntarily turned himself in and is awaiting notification from Family Court for his arraignment date. Freccia was arrested for two felony graffiti charges and 18 misdemeanor graffiti arrests.

The arrests were a multi-agency effort through the Anti Graffiti Task Force. The New Castle County Police were also instrumental in identifying these suspects.

Freccia is responsible for 'EMAR,' Sutherland is responsible for 'DANK' and Pierce is responsible for 'HEDAK.'

Drug, gun arrest

Police have arrested Duran Lewis, 29, who resides in the 1800 block of N. Market Street in Wilmington. He has been charged with felony and drug violations after he ran from police during a traffic stop and later found to be in possession of a loaded gun, crack cocaine and marijuana.

Lewis

On Wednesday officers from the Mobile Enforcement Team responded to the area of Lexington Green and Smalleys Dam Road in the Bear area to address quality of life issues in the community.

At 7:30 p.m., the officers observed a gold colored Kia Sorento fail to stop for a stop sign on Freedom Drive at Smalley's Dam Road.

The officers stopped the car for the violation and were removing the occupants from the vehicle when (Lewis) ran. As the officers chased him, they observed Lewis throw a black colored handgun to the ground. The officers eventually caught up to the fleeing suspect and took him into custody after a brief struggle.

Lewis was found to be in possession of several bags of crack cocaine and a single bag of marijuana. The officers also located the gun and discovered the Glock had a fully loaded

Lewis was arrested and charged with the following offenses: possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony, possession of a firearm by a person prohibited, carrying a concealed deadly weapon, tampering with evidence, resisting arrest, possession with the intent to deliver cocaine, and possession of marijuana.

He was later arraigned and committed to the Howard Young Prison after failing to post $45,750 secured bail.

The driver was issued several traffic citations and released. The officers also seized $485 in suspected drug proceeds from the other occupants after a police canine "indicated" for the presence of drugs on the cash.

UD ranks 31st in Forbes.com ranking

The University of Delaware ranks 31st among the 100 top public colleges and universities in the U.S., according to a new assessment by Forbes.com, the online publication of the biweekly business magazine Forbes.

In compiling its second annual "America's Best Colleges" guide, Forbes.com worked with the Center for College Affordability and Productivity to rank 600 undergraduate institutions. The rankings were determined by a combination of such factors as student evaluations of courses and faculty, the success of a school's graduates, the amount of debt students incur and the institution's graduation rates. The guide's top three public colleges were, in order, the U.S. Military Academy at West Point (which also ranked first overall among the 600 institutions), the U.S. Air Force Academy (No. 7 overall) and the U.S. Naval Academy (No. 30 overall). UD was listed as No. 217 in the overall rankings that encompass public and private institutions.

In the assessment of public colleges, Delaware was immediately preceded by the State University of New York Binghamton (28), the University of Georgia (29) and Western State College of Colorado (30) and was followed by the University of Texas Pan American (32), Florida State University (33) and the University of Colorado at Denver (34).

"To our way of thinking, a good college is one that meets student needs," the editors of the Forbes.com report wrote. "While some college rankings are based partly on school reputation as evaluated by college administrators and on the amount of money spent, we focus on things which directly concern incoming students." The report said that 25 percent of each school's rating was based on student evaluations that were posted on the Web site RateMyProfessors.com, with another 25 percent based on success after graduation. That success was measured through a combination of the percentage of graduates listed in Who's

Who in America and the average salaries of graduates, as reported by Payscale.com. The rankings also were determined by including the estimated amount of student debt after four years, the graduation rate - a combination of the school's actual graduation rate and the gap between the average rate and a predicted rate based on various characteristics of the school - and the percentage of students and faculty who have won nationally competitive awards such as Rhodes Scholarships.

"It is important to note that if a school appears on this list at all, that indicates it meets a certain level of quality," the report said, adding that the Center for College Affordability and Productivity ranked only the top 15 percent of the more than 4,000 college campuses in the United States.

Yellowjackets will rely on youth on the gridiron

By JON BUZBY

JONBUZBY@HOTMAIL.COM

Coach Butch Simpson will enter his 33rd season at the helm of the Newark Yellowjackets football program having lost two first-team All-State players in running back Brandon Norwood and offensive lineman Malcolm Bunche.

But perhaps more critical than either of those two individuals, is the loss of a group of nearly 30 seniors and the leadership and experience that walked off the field with them following last year's first-round playoff loss to William Penn.

"We have just five seniors with significant playing experience returning," Simpson said. "There are certainly plenty of opportunities for underclassmen to earn playing time."

One of those players will be sophomore Taylor Reynolds, who returns at the quarterback position having played under center for most of last season. And while Reynolds' role as a passer was somewhat limited last year, Simpson is confident his agile quarterback will provide the balance on offense he is looking for.

"Reynolds has gotten bigger and stronger and is a fierce competitor," he said. "If the line protects him and we catch the ball, we will be a much more balanced team on offense than we were last year."

Seniors Carmen Caserta and Mercedes Brown return to anchor an inexperienced offensive line which graduated four players who received postseason honors. They, along with senior fullback David Witmer, will try to give Reynolds the time needed to find his receivers, four of whom return with some playing experience: senior Cam Mitchell, juniors Jake Milstead and Micah Thomas, and sophomore Xavier Griffin.

The graduation of Norwood, who plans to play at Salisbury University this fall, has created the opportunity for an underclassman to step in and win the job at starting running back. The leading candidates are junior Elliot Webster and sophomores Adam Aconomos and Jordan Imeokparia.

"We might be more of a power running team this year compared to last year," Simpson said.

Defensively, all five returning seniors are expected to start. Brown, Witmer and Javon Harley will anchor the defensive line, while Paul Barbas returns at defensive back and Casertas will see action at linebacker.

Sophomore Mike Powers is expected to win the kicking job and junior Jake Milstead will handle the punting duties as well as hold for extra point and field goal attempts.

"All I've ever asked of my kickers is to kick it past the 20-yard line and make the one-pointers," Simpson said with a grin.

When camp opens on Aug. 15, Simpson expects nearly 100 players to join his loyal coaching staff, which includes long-time defensive coordinator Mike Brogan, who has been at Simpson's side since 1986. Barry Zehnder and Mike Albertson, both who played for Simpson, will join the Yellowjackets' coaching staff after serving as assistants at Glasgow last season.

"We are in a nice situation where I don't have to beg players to play or coaches to coach," he said. "It's an honor to have former players come home and join us. I hope they always feel welcome."

Newark opens up its season on September 11 when the Yellowjackets host Concord at 7 p.m. Simpson will be looking for his Delaware-best 251st win as head coach of the storied program, which has captured ten state championships during his tenure. But despite his past successes and growing number of years of experience, Simpson enters this season with as much enthusiasm as he did his first.

"It's all I know. I don't golf and don't play softball any more," Simpson joked when asked what keeps bringing him back. "But seriously, the kids keep me alive. I feel like I can still relate and the loyalty of my coaching staff has created a wonderful working environment. All of those things inspire me to accept the challenge each season."

The Buzz from the Hive: The Yellowjackets begin pre-season training camp on Aug. 15. To stay updated on all the happenings from training camp, including quotes from various players and Simpson, look for Jon Buzby's The Buzz from the Hive, each night in the sports section at www.newarkpostonline.com.

Newark's industrial job losses below state norm

Industrial employment in Delaware fell 8.6% over the past twelve months according to the 2010 Delaware Manufacturers Register, an industrial directory published annually by Manufacturers' News, Inc. (MNI) Evanston, IL. Despite the closing of the Chrysler plant, Newark's job losses were below the state average.

MNI reports Delaware lost 4,090 industrial jobs and 31 manufacturers between May 2008 and May 2009, the sharpest decline MNI has ever reported in the thirteen years it has been tracking the state's industry. News reports Delaware is now home to 824 manufacturers employing 43,359 workers. "As with the entire nation, the recession continues to affect Delaware's industrial employment, with the auto industry and sectors related to the housing market taking the biggest hit," says Tom Dubin, president of the publishing company. The transportation equipment sector saw one of the worst drops in employment over the year, down 44% following the closure of Chrysler's Newark assembly plant and GM's assembly plant in Wilmington. Lumber and wood saw a 26% drop. MNI reports Delaware's top industrial sector remains chemicals manufacturing, accounting for 12,300 of the state's jobs, down 2.4% over the year. Second-ranked food products accounts for 9,061 jobs, with no significant change reported, while printing/publishing represents 2,463 of the state's manufacturing jobs, down 9.8%. Losses were seen in most of Delaware's industrial sectors and included paper products, down 54%; textiles/apparel down 30%; stone/clay/glass down 17%; furniture/fixtures down 6.4%; primary metals down 4.5%; primary metals down 4.5%; fabricated metals down 3.5% and rubber/plastics down 1.3%. Bright spots for the state include the expansion of petrochemical company LyondellBasell Industries, and the expansion of a Kraft Foods plant in Dover that resulted in 40 new jobs. MNI's city data shows Wilmington is the state's top city for manufacturing employment, home to 13,761 jobs, down 2.7% over the year. Second-ranked Newark accounts for 5,865 jobs, with employment down 19% over the past twelve months. New Castle is home to 3,549 industrial jobs, down 11% over the year. 16TH ANNUAL MIDDLETOWN PEACH FESTIVAL

Middletown Olde-Tyme Peach Festival

Saturday, August 15, 2009

In the late 19th century, Delaware was king of peach production, in the United States and the world. Throughout southern Delaware, towns were born as farmers planted huge orchards and the railroad pushed south. At the peak of production in 1875, nearly six million bushels of Delaware peaches were shipped to market.

By 1895, Delaware orchards contained more than 800,000 peach trees and the legislature voted to adopt the peach blossom as the state flower.

On Saturday, August 15, Middletown will celebrate the Delaware peach at the 16th annual Old-Tyme Peach Festival.

Street closures, shuttle schedule, and where to park

Main Street will be closed from Broad Street to Scott Street; and North Cass Street from Main Street to Pennington Street between the hours of 6 a.m. and 4 p.m. The following streets and parking lots will also be closed: on Green Street at Town Hall, Boys and Girls Club, Verizon, and VHC Fire Hall; on Main Street at Forest Presbyterian Church; on Pennington Street behind Buckworth's Hardware (except Buckworth customers), Cook Dental Offices, and Grace Orthodox Presbyterian Church; and on North Broad Street behind the Academy Building (former Town Hall).

Any vehicles parked in those areas overnight Friday August 14 must be moved by 6:00 a.m. Saturday, after which vehicles will be towed to allow vendor booth set-up

The public driving into town are urged to use the 3 principle parking areas. Shuttle buses will be available from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. to the first two areas.

Activities for the children

New this year will be a children's activities area behind the big yellow Middletown Academy and Grounds on North Broad Street.

The Venture Scouts will sponsor a rock wall to climb and a miniature golf area. Inside the Academy, the children can have a free scoop of peach ice cream, sit at old-fashioned school desks, try writing with a slate pencil on a slate, and play with old fashioned toys upstairs in the "Touch It" Room.

Under the trees on the lawn in front of the Academy there will be lots for kids to do, including a Civil War muster, Biggs Museum art activity, watching the blacksmith hammering, and seeing how yarn is spun and woven.

The Appoquinimink Boys and Girls Club will again have children's games, a moon bounce and train ride for young festival-goers. Everything will be set in the parking lot of the club located at the corner of South Broad Street and West Green Street. Funds from grants and sponsors pay for the children's activities.

At the front of the building on Broad Street is a stop for the hay wagon ride.

Connection Church on West Green will have face painting, ice skating, snow cones, popcorn, games and a DJ all day. Rest rooms will be available, including a baby changing station at the church.

The Volunteer Hose Company Fire Hall, also on West Green, will have an open house and apparatus on display.

A popular hay ride around the entire fairgrounds begins at the hay wagon sign in front of the Boys and Girls Club on Broad Street.

Remember, all activities are free and open to the public, courtesy of this year's grants and festival sponsors.

College program targets BRAC job requirements

Beginning in August, Cecil College is introducing three computer skills certification programs addressing the information technology skills necessary for the Base Realignment and Closure workforce. The college is offering a Microsoft Certified Application Series certificate and two Oracle database certifications in Oracle

Certified Associate and Oracle Certified Professional.

MCAS is a new credential created by Microsoft for Office 2007 applications to meet the demand for the most up-to-date skills on the latest technologies from Microsoft. MCAS certifications are primarily for office workers who use Microsoft Office programs as a vital part of their job functions to increase competence and productivity. Courses will be offered in the daytime and evening to accommodate both incumbent and unemployed audiences.

The OCA and OCP programs will meet the BRAC workforce need for database administrators, technical analysts, system administrators and information technology analysts. Both Oracle programs offer college credit and will be available in an online format to maximize access.

Founded in 1977, Oracle is a leading supplier of software for information management and the second largest independent software company. Oracle technology can be found in nearly every industry. Oracle solutions enable aerospace and defense contractors, systems integrators, service providers, and operators to accelerate product and service innovation, optimize program-driven supply chains, achieve manufacturing excellence, and comply with federal legislation, corporate governance and risk management policies. The U.S. Department of Defense, U.S. Department of Homeland Security, and NASA depend on Oracle applications to run their agencies.

The three programs will prepare individuals to assume a variety of positions to support BRAC operations in entry to mid-level jobs. These certifications address the computer skills needed for jobs transferring to Aberdeen Proving Ground in numerous categories, including clerical, information technology managers, inventory managers, logistics managers, management and program analysts, administrative assistants, supply managers, and technicians/managers.

Each of the computer skills programs will be supplemented by training in workplace literacy, job seeking, federal employment requirements and security clearances, and other soft skills consisting of 24 hours of training, including customer service, communication, teamwork, project management, ethics and compliance, time management, and presentation skills.

Limited scholarship funding through state agencies is available. Training candidates will be guided and advised by Cecil College counselors and the project coordinator. For more information, please contact project coordinator Tom Johnston at 410-287-6060, ext. 620 or tjohnston@cecil.edu.

Hybrid Durangos are rare birds

If you happen to own a Dodge Durango hybrid, hang onto it. A story in the Boston Globe reports that only 800 of the vehicles were built, prior to the shutdown of the Newark Assembly. Finding one isn't easy, the Globe reports. It could turn out that hybrid versions of the Durango and its mate, the Chrysler Aspen, might turn out to be as rare as those old Plymouths and Dodges with the legendary hemi engines. As you might remember, the hybrid versions of the SUVs built and Newark were supposed to allow the plant to go out on a positive note, with eternal optimists seeing the possibility that the hybrids might extend its life. As it turned out, sales of SUVs and everything else crashed and burned at the end of 2008, with gas prices also plunging. The Newark plant closed before the end of the year. Even the holiday decorations hung around long after the shutdown. The plant now has a ghostly presence on College Avenue, with grass growing through the pavement of the former Mopar parts depot. The University of Delaware is working to acquire the site.

Ermak attends Girls Nation

Jaimie Ermak was one of 98 young women attending the 63rd American Legion Auxiliary Girls Nation in Washington D.C., last month. Ermak, known as "senator," was elected at the Delaware Girls State session to attend Girls Nation.

Along with attending Newark High School in Newark, she's a member of the Spanish National Honor Society, actively involved in Youth Government Program sponsored by the local YMCA, Key Club, Sportsmanship Committee and volleyball team. Her participation in Girls Nation, a premier leadership conference, is designed to provide practical insight into the working of government, to instill a sense of pride and loyalty in America and to create friendships and memories that last a lifetime.

According to Ermak, "I love politics and for the unalienable right of personal expression and feel that by attending Girls Nation will well-round me with the diverse opinions of others."

The 7-day program involves mock senate sessions complete with caucusing and debating of bills that range in topic from personal to political interests. Campaigns are held to elect party officials, a vice president and Girls Nation President. The Girls Nation President will be invited to attend and speak at the American Legion Auxiliary

National Convention later in the summer.

In addition to their legislative forums the senators will hear distinguished guest speakers and visit the White House, Pentagon, Arlington National Cemetery and other memorials in the Washington D.C. area. Their visit to Capitol Hill includes meetings with their respective Senators and Representatives and the opportunity to meet the President of the United States.

"The Girls Nation experience is one of both privilege and responsibility. While it offers each girl amazing opportunities for personal growth, there is certainly the expectation that she will be energized to share all she learns with others in her local community," said Mary Davis, American Legion Auxiliary Girls Nation National Chairman. Davis, along with other Auxiliary volunteer leaders are attending the conference and encouraging the young senators to continue their community service by becoming members of the Auxiliary.

As the largest women's patriotic service organization in the world, it is fitting that The American Legion Auxiliary is the sponsor of both Girls State and Girls Nation. Founded in 1919 the Auxiliary boasts a membership of nearly 900,000 members and has a commanding presence in more than 9,500 communities nationwide.
