April 18 Date For Theta Chi Formal

On Friday, April 18, at 9:00—the annual Theta Chi Formal will be held in Old College. Leon Heck, in charge of decorations, announced today that the theme of the sea would be featured at the annual ball.

The Commons is to be decorated to simulate the deck of a ship, with the orchestra on the bridge and the students and guests dancing below it. Sea scenes—a light house, tramp steamers, gulls, terns, all sorts of sea birds—will decorate the panels in the Commons. Running lights, a ship's wheel, life preservers, and signal flags will give the dance floor a sea-like atmosphere.

Several orchestras are under consideration at the present time, but none has definitely been picked. Beverly Davis and Frank Clendaniel are in charge of orchestras and are thinking among others of an all negro band to give the dance originality.

Invitations have been sent to many members of the faculty, student body and alumni. Expected patrons for the dance are Dr. and Mrs. Hullahen, Dr. and Mrs. Kado, faculty advisor, Dr. and Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty, and Dean Golder.

The Committees in charge of the dance are Bev Davis and Frank Clendaniel, orchestra; Howie Smith, favors; Leon Heck, decorations; Dick Joyeusz, invitations; Charles Oberly, refreshments; and Tom Ashton, publicity.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Will Hold Banquet For Dads Tonight

Tonight at the Howard Johnson Restaurant on the Dupont Highway at Hare's Corner, the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is holding a Father and Son Banquet. The purpose of this banquet is to establish a closer relation between the home and the fraternity. Fathers of the members and pledges of the fraternity are expected to arrive from their many distant homes. They will attend the banquet, then sleep in the fraternity house and take their sons home after Saturday classes.

Bud Wetherby, social chairman of the fraternity, will be the toastmaster. He will introduce as the speaker of the evening, Mr. John G. Leach, vice-president of Beacom College. Special guests at the banquet will be Mr. William D. Murray, athletic director at Delaware, Dr. C. C. Palmer, professor of bacteriology, and Mr. Robert C. Lewis, president of the fraternal alumni of the Active Chapter.

After a turkey dinner at the restaurant, the members, fathers and guests, will return to the fraternity house for an informal gathering. At this time the fathers will have an opportunity to meet all of the boys that their sons have been telling them about in their letters home, and the boys will get to meet the fathers of their brothers. The banquet is expected to be made an annual affair.

The committee in charge of the banquet is headed by Bud Wetherby; his assistants are Charles Miller, Jr., Robert C. Berry, and H. Wilson Price. They have spent much time and energy in preparing for the occasion.

Bill Windle, president of the fraternity has appointed Eugene D. D. Sabatino as historian.

Sophomore Class Achievement Test To Be Given Here

Two achievement tests will be given in Wolf Hall by Mr. Bush on Tuesday, April 15 and on Friday, April 18 during the afternoon to determine the achievement that the Sophomore Class has made during the past two years.

The tests were proposed by the faculty in a meeting last month to determine the progress students have made while at the University. The results of the tests may have a bearing on the entrance of the candidate into the Junior Class, depending upon the opinion of the professor who is teaching the course in which the student is examined.

Identical achievement tests will be given in over three hundred colleges throughout the country. Results will be on a comparative basis, colleges being rated in percentile according to their median score. These tests will be given in colleges from April 14 to 26. At Delaware, the tests will be given to the men on April 15 and 18, to the Women's College Sophomores on the 19, and 26.

Delaware Rating

Tests of this kind have been to Freshmen entering the college for many years. The rating of Delaware has risen in past years and reached a record height last fall of the sixty-sixth percentile. In view of the increase which students entering have made, the faculty wishes to discover exactly how much progress the Delaware students have made in their first two years at the university. Consequently, they have inaugurated these tests to be given to Sophomores for the first time in the history of the college.

The Freshman tests tell the college how much the students have learned in high school. The Sophomore tests indicate the achievements made by the students while in college. President Hullahen hopes that the University may make as good a showing on these tests as the students have made in the past.

On Tuesday, April 1, a mass meeting was held in Wolf Hall Auditorium led by Mike Poppiti, Jan Bove, and Al Mock to explain to the student body the present Student Council constitution and the proposed changes which the non-fraternity group advocates.

With cries of "liberty, equality, and non-fraternity," the non-fraternity students of Delaware College, fighting for better representation on the Student Council, held the mass meeting to map plans for their coming assault on the existing representative system at the April 22 referendum.

"The other side of the picture" was to have been set forth in a talk by Noah Schutzman, a fraternity man and president of the Student Council, but he failed to put in an appearance.

"No Other Side"

Mike Poppiti, former editor of THE REVIEW, said the non-appearance constituted an admission "there was no other side of the picture."

Poppiti said this attempt to break the present representative system was "not a grab at power, but an attempt to rearrange the Council on class lines."

He pointed out that the 150 members of the fraternity group have 10 representative seats on the Student Council, while the 400 non-fraternity men only have five representative seats.

Mock Speaks

Another speaker at the meeting was Al Mock, president of the senior class, who stated the move to revolutionize the Council "was not led by a machine," but is headed by three men "who have nothing to gain since they are graduating in June."

"I have nothing against the fraternities," said Mock. "They are good organizations in their place, but their place is not running the Student Council."

Mike Poppiti explained that the change in representation was to be along class rather than fraternity—non-fraternity lines. "The representation we advocate" he said, "is entirely democratic. If the fraternities have the organization and the majority of votes, they will again control the council. At present they do not have the power. Each of the two upper classes will have four representatives, the sophomore class three, and the freshmen two non-voting members. In this way, representation will be the most democratic possible."

Newman Club

At the meeting of the Newman Club held in the lounge of Old College on Wednesday, April 3 it was decided that the next meeting will be held on April 14, the Wednesday after Easter Vacation. The purpose of this meeting will be the election of officers for the coming term.

R. Bishop Elected Sigma Nu Prexy

Robert B. Bishop was elected Commander of the Delta Kappa Chapter, Sigma Nu Fraternity and Harry S. Adams, Lieutenant Commander at the regular weekly meeting of the fraternity, Wednesday evening.

Bishop and Adams are replacing W. Truxton Boyce and William Henning respectively, who completed most successful terms in these offices.

The other officers elected were Treasurer, Calvin Gerner, sophomore; Recorder, Alpheus Mowbray, sophomore; Reporter, Hayes Dickerson, freshman; Marshall, Wallace Lippincott, sophomore; Chaplain, William Drennen, sophomore and Sentinel, Raymond McKendrick, junior.

Bishop is a junior in the school of Arts and Science, on the Dean's list, cartoonist for THE REVIEW, active in intra-murals and a graduate of Wilmington High School. He joined the fraternity in his freshman year and served as recorder during the past semester.

Harry Adams, a junior, is treasurer of the A.S.M.E., active in intra-murals, was anchor man for the winning relay team in the inter-fraternity track meet last year, and a graduate of Ocean City High School, New Jersey. He joined the fraternity as a freshman and was house manager during the past term.

Bill Henning and David Buckson have been chosen the Delta Kappa representatives to the First Division Conference at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia, April 5-8. John Gregg will accompany them.

Debating Society Meets F. and M.

On Tuesday during College Hour, the Debating Society held its last home debate. Delaware's opponent was Franklin and Marshall College and the subject of debate was to be the Pi Kappa Delta question: "Resolved, that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should enter into a permanent union." However, the Franklin and Marshall debaters came prepared to debate the topic: "Resolved, that government should conscript industry for the duration of the present world crisis", thereby almost causing an inter-collegiate crisis since the difference in topic was not known until the debate was about to start. Franklin and Marshall admitted that their manager must have become confused, and the situation was quickly remedied by two Delaware debaters who had previously spoken on the conscription of industry topic taking the place of Bob Bair and Jack Ryan who were to have debated the original question. With no time for review of the material, the Delaware men took over and saved the day by winning the debate. Delaware also won its other debate with Franklin and Marshall, which was held in Lancaster. The judges for the College Hour contest were Dr. Ryden of the History Department and Mr. Frank Collins, mayor of Newark.

The Glasboro State Teacher's College debate in the Lounge on the 27th was not a success as far as winning is concerned, but Delaware's representatives learned much from their experience. This was only the second defeat the Society has had of the nine debates in which it has so far participated. Dr. Reed of the History Department and Colonel Ashbridge served as judges for the contest.

Scholarship...

At the University of Delaware, extra-curricula activities, politics, social affairs, sports, and unusual happenings about the campus consume the greatest space in the columns of THE REVIEW. Very little stress is placed upon academic achievement or scholarship.

Twice a year the honor roll is published, twice a year Tau Beta Pi stories appear, once a year Phi Kappa Phi candidates are announced, occasionally, the picture of a 3.00 man is printed, but never is any emphasis placed upon scholarship.

We do not intend to begin printing the life histories of men who have made the Dean's list. We do not propose to print comparative statistics to show how the University's average has risen or fallen. We do not advise letting studies interfere with a college education. But we do wish to take this opportunity to extend congratulations to President Hullihen, Dean Dutton, Dean Spencer, Dean Schuster, and Dean Golder as well as the entire student body on several achievements they have made.

In the comparative achievements tests taken by freshmen of both colleges during Freshman Week in the past years, the University has gradually been showing improvement. Comparisons are made on the basis of the median score made by each college. Delaware has reached the sixty-sixth percentile, a record in its history. We wish to extend congratulations to the student body on the achievement.

Credit is also due to the President of the University, Dr. Hullihen, and to the deans of the various schools—Dean Spencer in particular—on the rating Delaware College Engineering School has been given. The Engineering School is rated among the first twenty-five in the country; and the Engineering curriculum, fifth. This is a fine place to hold. It means a famous name for Delaware and an immediate job for a graduate.

For such notable achievements THE REVIEW congratulates the University. We hope that the upward trend in scholarship may continue and that the place that the Engineering School has made for itself in the roster of technical schools may soon be rivaled by the Arts and Science and Agricultural Schools.

T.V.W.A.

The I.M.A....

In the past few weeks there has arisen on the campus a political battle for control of the Student Council. It is not our purpose to take any stand on the question other than to present both sides of the controversy, nor is it possible for us to take any stand. However, since in the resultant confusion, the Independent Men's Association has been mentioned in connection with certain of the present events, we have been asked by that group to clarify their position. We are, therefore, printing from last year's "Blue Hen" the statement of the aims of the Association and the purposes of its existence.

In recent years, the average membership of the five or six social fraternities on the Delaware campus has been about 35% of the enrolled student body. For reasons of economy or individuality, the other 65% of the students have remained independent of any definite body whose main purpose was the development of social expression. Thus we have this situation: the majority of the members of an educational institution whose purpose is largely the development of one's personality along academic and social lines, have had only limited opportunities for our most common forms of social expression—dances and parties.

To relieve such an unhealthy situation as this, a few students created the Non-Fraternity Social Organization in February of 1937. At this date, and to a certain extent even today, the backers of the group met skepticism and derision from the entrenched Greek-letter man. It is fortunate that more mature minds saw this experiment in a different light. We are referring to the enthusiastic support that Dr. J. Fenton Dougherty of the Social Committee and Mr. Charles E. Grubb, Business Administrator, gave to the idea.

From March 1937 to February 1939, this group was known as the Non-Fraternity Social Organization. At this later date it was realized that this title hardly befitted the true spirit of the men who supported it. To better define its purpose, the name was changed to the Independent Men's Association. This name in itself explains the group.

The program of the group, like that of the fraternities, is concerned chiefly with providing Delaware's chief form of social function—dances. It indulged in dramatic competition with the fraternities. With this year's revival of the Inter-Fraternity Relay it is hoped that in future years the I. M. A. will also compete in this colorful event.

The chief characteristics of the group are two: first, the total absence of any dues and the low price range of all dances; second, the appointive system by which the retiring President selects his own successor in office. The efficiency and satisfaction of these features is indicated by the increased growth of the group.—T.W.M.

Jottings From W.C.D.

By JEANNE HARKINS

Dear Studes, have you come through the last week unscathed? With all the terrible tests lined up, grinning horribly, ready to take you over the hurdles before you could take them over, I really don't see how we did it. But sometimes studying produces weird pieces of work of the imagination. While some kids were studying for a badminton test, I heard the following tongue-twister created: "Should the shuttle shoot shy shall I show sure signs of shame?" It's a great life.

The Women's College is surely doing its bit to aid in the defense work of the nation. Everywhere you look you are sure to see some knitting needles, wielded more or less skillfully, hard at work on a scarf, sweater, or a pair of socks. There is a First Aid class to learn how & what to do in case of accident. Last, but far from least is the sewing that is being done for the Red Cross, also. The girls are making children's flannel dresses, and they work faithfully every Wednesday afternoon. Jane Stephens is the chairman of this work. We have a committee for National Defense, too. The committees composing it are as follows: Knitting, Alice Ward, chairman; Jean Sturges, and Betty Crosson; Surgical Dressing, Marion McCormack, Chairman, Norma Hallis, and Jeannette Buell; Publicity, Louise Atkins, Chairman, Alice Douglas, Jeanne Harkins, and Doris Cline; Physical Fitness, Alice Bradley, and the Health Committee; Raising Money, Charlotte Sipple, Chairman, Emmelou Stevens, and Ruth Newcomer; Education, Janet Vernon, Chairman, Phyllis Lafink, and Mary Shakespeare; Registration, Helen Kaiser, Chairman, Helen Pachides, and Kitty McIntosh; Information, Jean Alexander.

Wednesday was pretty busy this week. In the afternoon the Science club sponsored a movie on the Viscose process of making silk. In the evening the Press Club held a meeting and Mr. Gilbert Phillips discussed the "Television, Playwrights, and Actors."

ODDS 'n' ENDS...

EDDIE GOLIN

Peace and contentment covered the campus after a political brawl that lasted for a couple of weeks. The leaders of both factions are actually smiling at each other, and the "love thy neighbor" theme is becoming popular again. The sun is slowly rising on the U. of D.

Why don't they conscript those engineers responsible for the loud speaker system on the campus. You can't walk by Evans Hall anymore without the tails of your undershirt curling up because a strident voice booms.—

"Do your feet blister and burn?" "Do they torture you when you get up in the morning?" Why not try sleeping without your shoes?"

S' funny what a slide rule can do to people.

The English department did an excellent job on their symposium for "University on the Air." The readings presented were tops. We were pleasantly surprised at the "radio-bility" of Doc Able's voice.

Why does a chicken cross the road?

Because a wolf, on the other side, whistled to her. Tain't funny Roach.

IDIOT'S DELIGHT:

What happened to those good old-fashioned fire drills that frequented spring during grammar school days? We miss the ding, ding of the false alarms; the kids running up from the men's room, the "get away from it alls."

LOOKING IN THE CRYSTAL BALL:

We can see the U. of Delaware as a metropolis in itself. Harter Hall reproducing four other living quarters for students; a huge stadium and brand new gymnasium at the north end of the college; a cafeteria that would do Mr. Lincoln's heart good; a review office that would shame the "times"; military barracks and parade grounds; a radio station and small but complete infirmary; an auditorium to hold thrice the school's population.

Fantastic? No! A few smiles, a bit of co-operation, and two pocketfuls of pesos will do the trick.

Music Of Rosario Bordon Featured

Because of much favorable comment from the student body, the Radio Guild will continue its policy of presenting frequent transcribed concerts on its Tuesday night radio program, "University on the Air." This week's program will use the music of Mary Lewis, Mischa Violin, Rosario Bordon, and the National Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra.

The script division of the Guild has attempted for this program and for all musical programs to make the running comments as personal and as unlike the usual program notes as possible. The announcing jobs are taken by both men and women students.

The fact that next week is Spring Vacation seems to mean nothing to the Radio Guild. The concert will go on because the Guild has a program planned for every week for the rest of the term and for at least fifteen weeks of the Fall term.

The April 15 program will be a panel discussion by Lloyd Jones, Bob Bair, and Bernard Ableman on the subject, "Should the English-speaking peoples unite?" On April 29, "University on the Air" will be taken over entirely by Women's College for the first time. The W. C. D. Press Club will be in charge. They will present a discussion on an as yet unannounced topic.

As a dramatic climax to a successful season, "University on the Air" will present as its last program of the term the thrilling radio play "Air Raid" by Archibald MacLeish. This drama of the terrors of war was successfully presented on a Playbill program in Mitchell Hall. Tryouts will be held during the last week in April.

Firmly established in its new office in Old College, the Radio Guild is striving for complete organization. The constitution has been drawn up and will be presented to the Student Council.

Any student of the University who is interested in announcing or any other phase of radio activity should see the director, Joe First, or the assistant director, Hal Arnoff.

According to all reports, the first appearance of the English department as guests of the Radio Guild was a gratifying success. Dr. W. G. Sypherd, Dr. N. B. Allen, Dr. A. B. Able, Dr. C. L. Day, and Dr. C. R. Kase pleaded the cause of literature so eloquently that even the most biased student should be impressed.

Cauldron Staff Concludes Final Phases Of Work

Ed. Roach Announces Final Selections Of Submitted Material

Today marks the official dead-line stipulated by Editor Roach for contributions for consideration for publication in the imminent Spring Edition of the Cauldron, the bi-annual campus literary magazine. No contributions will be accepted after this date.

Editor Roach declared that contributions of Art, Prose, and Poetry work measure up to all expectations and promises an issue of the Cauldron that should surpass all previous standards.

Roach stated, "I am more than gratified by the enthusiastic response of the general student body to our solicitations of material. We hope to offer to the students a magazine that will entirely justify their enthusiastic support and interest."

This issue of the Cauldron will not be characterized by any specific motif, but will merely endeavor to present a representative cross-section of literary and artistic forms calculated to appeal to all tastes. It will be a heterogeneous issue, including the short story, the essay, the three general types of poetry, and appropriate and illustrative art work.

The Editor and Staff have completed the tedious formalities of selection, editing, and copy-reading, and are prepared to commence the final operations upon format and lay-out.

Contributions for this issue were unusually diversified and represent many widely divergent viewpoints and interests. As a rule, undergraduate work is unaccountably fatalistic in attitude, the theme of death for some inexplicable reason seeming to dominate the philosophizing of otherwise vigorous, healthy minds. But though this issue will have its gory pages and blood-smeared margins, it will also present an unusual children's story with a delightfully refreshing perspective, utterly devoid of cynicism and completely unlike the usual undergraduate contribution. There will also be a rollicking sea-song that should lift through the reader's memory for some time to come.

Art work, too, will reflect new trends, even essaying to delve in cubism and impressionism, rather than the ordinary trite and uninspired illustration.

In concluding his gracious interview, Editor Roach stressed that the magazine would positively appear on schedule as planned and, unless delayed by some unforeseen and unavoidable contingency, will appear in the University Mail Boxes on the stipulated date.

Election Times And Places

Class and Student Council elections will be held from 11:30 to 12:30 on Tuesday, April 15, 1941. Those voting for senior class officers and representatives in the Student Council will vote in room 220 University Hall; those voting for the officers and representatives for the junior class, in the West Wing of Old College; those voting for sophomore officers and representative in Wolf Hall Auditorium.

At approximately 12:10, the doors of the respective polling places will be closed. Each voter will be given a ballot which he will mark and cast as he leaves the polling place.

Delaware Diamond Aggregation Drops Season's Opener

The Dartmouth Indians went on the warpath yesterday afternoon and spoiled the opening game of the 1941 season for the University of Delaware when they defeated them 6-2 in a loosely played game afield. Throughout the afternoon the Blue Hens were charged with no less than six errors, while the batters could only eke out five safe blows from the offerings of Sexton, who completely fooled the Delaware batsmen with his fast ball and his tricky curve ball as a change of pace.

Bill Tibbitt started on the mound for the Hens and with the exception of a slight wildness and poor support did a fine job. He was replaced by portside John Daly in the 7th inning.

Dartmouth took the lead on an infield single by Burns who went to second on Apsley's wild throw to first and a walk given up to Broberg, a fielders choice by Orr, forcing Burns, and a single by Lendo, who was the slugger of the day getting three safeties, scored Orr. Crowley, who had singled, advanced to third and stole home to tie the ball game. Dartmouth took the lead again in the third inning 2-1. Tibbitt blanked the big Green until the sixth when they pushed over two runs which were enough for the margin of victory. Delaware rallied in the final half of the eighth to score a run when Irwin singled, went to second when Daly walked, advanced to third on a forceout of Daly, and scored on Crowley's fly ball to right. Dartmouth pushed over two more runs in the ninth while Delaware was held scoreless.

Eliminations Being Held For Second Drama Festival

The Critic Judge system will be used not only for the Finals but also for all four elimination tournaments of the Second Delaware Play Festival according to an announcement made today by Dr. C. R. Kase, director of the University Dramatic Center. Under this system all the decisions in respect to the rating of plays are made by a single judge selected for his competence as a play director. Following the performances, he meets with the casts, directors, and interested members of the audience to explain his decisions and to answer questions. "These post-mortems we consider to be the most valuable features of the Festival from an educational standpoint," said Dr. Kase, "for too seldom in the amateur theatre does a producing group have the opportunity to receive an unbiased and competent evaluation of its work."

Mr. H. Willis Lawrence, a member of the faculty at the University of Delaware will serve as critic judge for the Elimination Tournament of the Private Schools to be held at the Ursuline Academy on Friday, April 4, at 8:15 P.M. Mr. Lawrence has had a long experience as an actor on the professional stage and in summer stock. He directed and acted in plays while a student at the University, and since has been in charge of dramatics at the William Penn School and at Sanford Preparatory School.

For the New Castle County Public School Eliminations, scheduled for April 8, at Alexis I DuPont School and for April 9 at Wilmington High School Mr. Lincoln Atkins of Upper Darby High School has been secured. Mr. Atkins is a director for the Swarthmore Players Club. Mr. George Sneed of the Wilmington Drama League will act as judge for the Sussex County School Eliminations to be held at Georgetown High School on April 9. Mr. Sneed was the founder of the Wilmington Drama League Workshop and had considerable experience in Little Theatre work before coming to Wilmington.

Professor Winton Tolles of Washington College will be the Critic Judge for the Kent County Public School Eliminations on April 14. Professor Tolles has been director of dramatics at the Maryland College for the past ten years.

Cast Picked For Latest E 52 Play

More than thirty students tried out, this week, for roles in FLIGHT TO THE WEST, the current Broadway hit that will be produced next month by the E 52 Players. Given a special release for the Delaware thespians, the latest play by Elmer Rice will be directed by Dr. Alvin Kronacher, who will be staging his first American production.

Bringing with him the experience and thoroughness of the European theatre, Dr. Kronacher has encountered little difficulty in casting for the play. Of the twenty roles, only a few have not as yet been filled. The swiftly-paced drama will go into rehearsal on Monday, April 14. Those who have been selected as members of the cast are:

Malloy Vaughn, Jr., J. R. Warren, Wallace Lippincott, Jr., Josephine Emerson, Alva Williams, Hiram Bennett, Mina Press, William K. Richardson, Norman Bunin, Russell Willard, Jr., Edith Counahan, Arthur Barab, and Truxton Boyce, Jr.

Three members of the E 52 Players, Edith Counahan, Mina Press, and Bill Richardson, will be playing their last roles on the Mitchell Hall Stage. However, several newcomers will be making their first appearance in an E 52 Play. Among those who will portray roles in a three-act play for the first time are Vaughn, Warren, Lippincott, and Miss Williams.

FLIGHT TO THE WEST is a thrilling dramatization of a trans-oceanic flight from Europe by a group of war refugees. The interior of a giant liner provides a unique setting for the play.

The Faculty are sitting back in their offices and laughing at the political squabbles on the campus. Mr. Dolan suggested that each side get lawyers. Perhaps he wants a little more spending money.

Aggie News...

By EDWARD LEGATES

President Hullihen has accepted an invitation to speak at the Father and Son Banquet to be held Saturday, April 26. Extensive preparations have begun, and a meeting of the club's executive committee was held Monday afternoon with Dr. T. A. Baker acting as advisor.

Le Roy Parker, chairman of the program committee, was chosen to act as toastmaster for the banquet. Also at the meeting President Door-dan asked Norman Lord to take charge of Commons accommodations for the evening. William Hopkins was appointed chairman of the committee on invitations and publicity.

In addition to the club members and their fathers, approximately 150 invitations will be sent to interested state agricultural men as well as members of the college faculty. It is not planned to have just an evening banquet, but rather an all day get acquainted visit to the college campus is anticipated. In the afternoon immediately preceding the banquet, the guests will have the privilege of attending a baseball game with Washington College on Frazer Field.

Several of the Ag. Ed. Majors are still away from the campus completing their practice teaching. Those away at present are: Clarence Brown, Lew Carmean, Emil Kielbasa, and Sol Markowitz. The other members of the senior class had a social gathering last Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr. R. O. Bausman, professor of Agricultural Economics.

SKRIPPS' SCRIBBLING

By TOM SKRIPPS

BAND BOX GYM:

When ever inclement weather rears its ugly head, the spring sports varsity teams have to practice inside. The basketball floor is divided to allow the football team to workout on one half and the baseball team on the other. The track speedsters run up and down where the bleachers are erected during the basketball and swimming season. This occupation of the half box gym leaves about enough room for a flea circus without the fleas. Anyway the place is very small and dilapidated.

Earlier in the week the members of the legislature examined various buildings on the North campus including the gymnasium. Perhaps after an honest to goodness worms eye view of the structure, they will concede a new field house. Had the legislature representatives entered the gym during the crowded sessions, there would have been many vacancies. Anyone venturing forth into the well-filled building would probably have been knocked over by a sprinter, beamed by a baseball, and run over by half the line and backfield of the football eleven. In order to make it safe for one way traffic, at least, a new and larger gym should be built. In the near future we may see a super-modern structure replacing the present band box building.

EXIT OF FOOTBALL:

Recently the Blue and Gold eleven took on West Chester college in a spring season football game. Our boys rode rough shod over their opponents, scoring almost at will. No actual score can be given, but it is safe to say that the Hens were the better team. They completed passes for long gains and broke men loose for long runs. A few new plays were brought out of the inexhaustible repertoire. These plays display a type of wide open football that the Murraymen are capable of playing. If Saturday's game was a prelude to next fall's sessions, then we can look forward to a better season than the last one.

The West Chester game wound up the spring training season for the Henites. Once again the moleskins and inflated pigskins will be put away until next fall.

SO WHAT:

"Rebel" Sloan was the major touchdown getter during the past West Chester game. He crossed the pay off line twice on passes from "Red" Hogan. * * * * Hancock and Doherty each win two unofficial shirts apiece by virtue of intercepting a total of four opponent passes. * * * * George Barlow, a new recruit, played more than half the game because Jabo Jarvis was injured during the game. * * * * The only game casualty is resting nicely in Flower Hospital as a result of an injury sustained in the recent West Chester game. Many of the fellows have been down to see him and offer wishes for a speedy recovery. We here add our best that he may soon be seen around the campus again. * * * * Why not crown a marble champion for the University. Who will be the first to hold this title for the Blue and Gold. Perhaps we could send him to the national play-offs and gain national recognition.

CROSSING THE BAR

ONE OF RADIO'S best bets is the ensemble singing of Fred Waring's Glee Club, feature of Chesterfield's "Pleasure Time" broadcasts five nights weekly over N.B.C. stations. Waring, who originated the organ-like technique used universally with glee clubs, professional and scholastic, spends hours in the arrangement of each ensemble number. The whole band is drilled to perfection in these vocal get-togethers.

Rollin' Round The Turntables

DICK AYDELOTTE

"Hello Ma! I Done It Again." (You did, you naughty little child. How could you!) Okay, we will quit our kidding and let you in on our little joke. Let's start right off by saying it's a Victor record, and Bea Wain sings the vocal. It's a right purty ditty and we recommend it while we hide our heads in shame. Oh yes, on the other side we find Bea singing, "How Did It Get So Late, So Early." This number is plenty okay too.

Last night, accidentally on purpose, I dreamed about a faded photograph. This picture brought back memories of blue eyes, a sunset at sea, and a love affair high on a windy hill. How did he look? It all comes back to me now. I remember it was damp weather, chilly and cold. We were having cocktails for two, at a table meant for two, only there were three. Yes indeed, I was in my blue heaven, and in a lovable mood.

It seemed to me I could hear a nightingale singing in Barkley square. He was my man, and when I was with him I heard a rhapsody—(continued next week).
SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT: Count up the number of song titles included in this serial story and send it in to the REVIEW office. The winner of the contest will receive a slightly cold hot dog, left over from lunch at the Commons last Friday. Hurry—Hurry—only five more years to send in your final entry blank along with 5000 back issues of the review containing this column.

Recordings are made mainly for dancing. However the record companies realize that some popular music enthusiasts like to sit in a nice easy chair and hear some sweet warbling by their favorite singers. For this purpose Dick Todd, the popular baritone, records quite a bit for Bluebird. Dick has two nice numbers to offer you this week. From the picture "Second Chorus", he sings "Love of My Life", a Voca-dance, while on the turnover we find, "Three at a Table for Two." Let me tell you out there, they are really okay, and are they sweet listening!

Quotable Quotes

I believe in absolute freedom of the press. A newspaper should be allowed to print as many lies as it cares to—as long as it retracts them in the next issue. President Walter Hullihen, University of Delaware, in response to a declaration that statements printed in red letter issue of THE REVIEW were false.
