ADJUSTMENTS
1939 PROGRAM
ANNOUNCED

Adjustment of conservation for year
Completed

The new survey of adjustment payments for farmers who plant within the acreage allotments under Agricultural Conservation will be eleven cents per acre, as announced recently by the Agricultural Administration.

Payments will be made on the yield of each producer's acreage and will be made under the provisions of the Price Act of 1938.

It provides that these payments will be made on the five crops in 1939, if their average price is less than 75 per cent of parity. However, wheat the only crop which Delaware will be able to bring under the Agricultural Conservation program.

Participation Basis
On the basis of the estimated participation in the 1939 AAA farm estimates are that the $212-million will be distributed among four major crops in the state: Cotton, $94,578,000; wheat, $61,613,000; corn, $54,113,000; and soybeans, $1,605,000. This allocates made according to the established in the Price Act, one-half of it on the amount by which the price of each commodity rises or falls from parity, and the other half on the same that on which funds are apportioned under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program. The amount was made on the basis of the farm prices for the marketing period ending January 31.
The payment rates as now will be net payments to farmers.

Conservation Payments
The price adjustment payments which cooperate in the AAA farm program, and within their acreage allotment receive agricultural conservation payments, at rates previously announced.

Both price adjustment and agricultural conservation payments, the payments will be made to cooperators on the basis of their acreage allotments in 1939 will total 28 cents per bushel for wheat, and 10 cents for corn.

Several distinguished guests are expected to be present at the banquet and an orchestra under the direction of Andre Malecot, a student at the university, will play during the dinner. A male quartet will sing. Group singing will be led by Jefferson F. Pool, class of '26, with Kenneth D. Given, class of '28, at the piano.

ALUMNI
TO MEET

Delaware Grads
To Gather
Here Saturday

With indications pointing to one of the largest attendances in recent years, the annual mid-winter reunion of the University of Delaware Alumni Association will be held at the university on Saturday. The reason for the expected large attendance is the fact that the alumni during the past year has been unusually active, especially in organizing new chapters.

The program will open at one o'clock with a luncheon in Old College when talks will be given by Dr. Allan P. Colburn, Anthony Loudis, Thomas D. Mylrea, and Dr.
W. Owen Syphard, all members of the university faculty. In the afternoon the visitors will attend a concert presented by university groups, and at six o'clock there will be a banquet in Old College. Later the graduates will attend a basketball game between Delaware and Pennsylvania Millary College.

To Present Plays
The plays, to be presented in Mitchell Hall Saturday afternoon by members of the Puppets and Footlights Club, will be Maxwell Anderson's "Saturday's Children," and a one-act play on college life written by Sara E. Baldwin, a sophomore at the Women's College. Between these presentations, the university choir group, under the direction of Mr. Loudis, will render a group of three songs.

Several distinguished guests are expected to be present at the banquet and an orchestra under the direction of Andre Malecot, a student at the university, will play
during the dinner. A male quartet will sing. Group singing will be led by Jefferson F. Pool, class
of '26, with Kenneth D. Given, class of '28, at the piano.

Three-Act Comedy To Be Presented On March 2

A three-act comedy, "Where's Grandma," will be presented by the Epworth League of the Chesapeake City M. E. Church on Thursday evening, March 2, in the parish house at Chesapeake City, Md.

Land Bank Loans Totaled More Than 6,000 In 1938

Last year federal land banks made more than 6,000 loans to finance the purchase of farms, F. F.
Hill, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, announced recently.
"Such loans averaged from $3,000 to $4,000 each and as a rule the purchaser had experience, equipment and savings so that what the lending institution advanced was supplemented by the new owner in completing the deal. Commissioner loans to an individual farmer can be as high as 75 per cent of the normal value of the property which he wishes to purchase, but cannot exceed $7,500."

Governor Hill pointed out that this year there would probably be 100,000 farms sold throughout the United States to satisfy the demands of the farm real estate market. On an average, there are about thirty farms coming up for sale in each county.

Long-Term Loans Decline Long-term farm mortgage commissioner loans from the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation in 1938 amounted to more than $29,000,000, a decline from about $40,000,000 in loans of the year previous.
"There has been a continuing demand for this type of farm mort-

ORIENTAL SETTING

200 Present At Country Club
For Beaux Arts

(See Pictures Page 5) Soft lights in an Oriental setting formed the background for the first Beaux Arts Ball staged last Friday evening at the Newark Country Club by the University Drama Group. Nearly 200 persons attended the affair which proved to be the most colorful and one of the outstanding social events of the winter season.

John Pearce Cann, in his role and costume of an Oriental prince, presided over the ball. His court consisted of Dr. George H. Ryden, grand vicar; Dr. Joseph S. Gould, Dr. Allen P. Colburn, Dr. Paul K.
Musselman, G. Taggart Evans, and Richard Ryan.

Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University of Delaware, and Mrs. Hullahen, garbed as Persian nobility, led the grand march, out of which stepped Mrs. Charles E.
Grubb, wife of the business administrator at the university, as the princess. Mrs. Grubb wore the rai-mant of a Russian noblewoman.

"Departed Spirits" Best The prize for the most original female costume was awarded to Miss Louise Graham, Wilmington, who was dressed as "Departed Spirits" in a "ghost" costume trimmed with empty bottles.

Parker Thomas was awarded the prize for the most original masculine garb with a costume of an "Arabian Father Time."

Entertainment consisted of a donkey dance by John H. Skinner, Jr., and Edward Schoenborn, both of the university staff. Mr. Thomas impersonated a snake charmer, and ten-year-old Janet Godwin gave several tap and novelty dances.

Wall decorations were distributed in a clever auction conducted by Mr. Ryan. Dr. Robert C. Kase, head of the dramatic department at the university, acted as master of ceremonies. Music was furnished by George Kelly's orchestra.

Dr. Gould Chairman
Dr. Joseph S. Gould, professor of economics at the university, was general chairman of the affair, and was assisted by Miss Amy Gardner, in charge of decorations. Mrs. Cann was in charge of ticket distribution and admissions, and Mrs. A. D. Cobb arranged the entertainment program.

Among those attending the affair were: Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Gould, Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kase, Miss Jane L. Gardner, Dr. and Mrs. A. S.
Eastman, Dr. and Mrs. Cyrus L.

College Expert Addresses New Century Club

Illustrating her discourse with diagrams, fabrics, and draperies Miss Elizabeth Kelly of the Home Economics Department, Women's College, University of Delaware, addressed the meeting of the New Century Club Monday afternoon.

Miss Kelly spoke on "The Underlying Factors of Clothing Selection." She was introduced by Mrs. R. O.
Bausman, who was in charge of the program. Mesdames G. Taggart Evans, T. D. Mylrea, and Bausman served as models.

As co-quint speaker of the afternoon, Miss Elizabeth McNeal, assistant supervisor of the Delaware State Relief Unit explained the purpose and work of the organization.

Urges Bill Passage
Miss McNeal urged the members of the club to consider carefully the Coordinate Welfare Bill scheduled to be presented to the General Assembly soon. She stressed the pressing need in the state of a centralized welfare bureau with diagnostic powers.

The musical program, arranged by Mrs. Harry W. Davis, featured Mrs.
George A. Pedrick, president of the New Century Club, New Castle.
Mrs. Pedrick sang "Love In All Seasons" and "Out of the Dusk to You." Mrs. Davis sang "Repentance" while the two joined in a duet, "Morning and Evening." Instrumental numbers were furnished by George Madden and his string ensemble.

Rummage Sale Planned Mrs. Ray Heim announced that the Ways and Means Committee will hold a rummage sale in March.
Members having articles for the sale were requested to call Mrs.
Heim for collection.

The next meeting of the music group will take place on Wednesday at 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Paul D. Lovett, Old Oak Road.
Following the program, tea was

Conservation Technicians In Demand As Speakers

If the local office of the Soil Conservation Service can serve as an indication of the interest the general public takes in the work, then the situation is encouraging. According to Richard S. Snyder, state coordinator in charge of the local project, he and his staff are constantly in demand to elaborate and explain, in after-dinner speeches and lectures, the function and underlying purpose of the service.

During recent weeks, Mr. Snyder points out, P. Allan McClellan, one of the specialists connected with the office, has delivered two illustrated lectures, one to an adult education class and another to vocational agricultural students at the A. I. du-Pont High School, Wilmington. L.
Russell Albright, authority on wildlife and woodland management and forestry, spoke before the Lions Club of Downingtown, Pa., recently.

Speaking engagements scheduled for the immediate future include an address on March 7 by Mr. Snyder on the occasion of a farmers night at the Kiwanis Club of Seaford.

Two New Vehicles Added

George R. Sinclair, Orchard Road, who recently purchased the merchandise and fixtures from the re-

Equipment Company, has announced the formation of a new corporation which will continue the business at its present location, 121 Market Street, Wilmington.

The new corporation, Stelle and Stelle, Inc., is headed by Mr. Sinclair. Associated with him are Messrs. Ben H. Stelle, John P.
Stelle, and Joe A. Kuhns.

Leaders Hall Step
One of the oldest business establishments in Wilmington and the only supplier of marine hardware in the vicinity, leaders in associated lines are hailing the move that will enable the enterprise to be continued under local ownership and control.

Although details of the change have not been completed, it is the intention of the new corporation, according to Mr. Sinclair, to carry suitable stocks and endeavor to improve the service rendered.

Stocks will include marine hardware, paints, outboard motors, fishing equipment and supplies, rubber and oiled storm clothing.

Rehearsals For "It Can't Happen Here" Continue Sinclair Lewis' "It Can't Happen Here," to be presented by the University of Delaware's E 52 Players at Mitchell Hall on March 9, is claiming more than usual attention due to its relation to the current political situation in the world.
Based on a theme of "democracy or dictatorship," the drama presents a graphic picture of the United States under the control of a hypothetical dictator.

"It Can't Happen Here" is presented by the university production staff. Stage Managers Sidney Silverman and Reynolds Knotts are struggling with the knotty scenes, while Kay Rosenthal, chairman of the costume committee, is faced with the problem of designing and obtaining military uniforms for the Corps, the soldiers of the new government.

Janet Grubb and Ellen Simon are in charge of scenery. Jane Trent, who is cast as Lorinda Pike, an amiable spinster, is also the student director of the production.
Thelma West has charge of make-up, and Frank Tugend is taking care of the lighting. Other members of the production staff are Edith Holden, Mary Armour, Blanche Lee, and Sylvia Phelps. Dr. C. R.
Kase is the faculty director.

The ticket sale opens on Monday.

Knox, vice commander; Robert B.
Davis, prelate; Ernest Reed, master staged last week, Frank M. Durnall, past chancellor commander of the local lodge and past grand chancellor, officiated. Mr. Durnall was the extensive enrollment of the lodge is being worked out by Mr.

Durnall, chairman of the membership committee. S. E. McFarlin, chairman of the activity committee, is preparing an extensive schedule for the present regime.

Among the future activities will be included visits to other lodges, which have proved popular with the membership in recent years.

Claim Governor
Should Appoint Commission; To Senate For Vote

Construction of a tunnel under the Delaware River at a point just below Wilmington was a step near realization yesterday with the passage by the House of Speaker Frank B. Zebley's bill to create a Delaware River Crossing Commission through which the project would eventually be started if the act becomes a law. The measure was supported by the 22 Republican members and opposed by the 13 Democratic members.

The commission created would consist of 11 members as follows: The attorney-general, the chief engineer of the State Highway Department, three to be appointed by the Governor, one from each county; three to be named by Senator David W. Steele as president pro tem of the Senate, one from each county, and three to be appointed by Speaker Zebley, all of whom would have to be residents of New Castle County.

Duties Are Outlined
This commission would complete a survey started by a temporary commission two years ago; determine the costs of the project, the amount of traffic the tunnel would carry, the toll rate, and all other details as to a cost of building and maintaining a crossing, and finally to prepare a plan for the establishment of an authority as an agency to carry the project to completion.

This authority would apply to the PWA for a $5,000,000 grant to help meet the costs of the tunnel and issue bonds to defray the balance of the cost.

The bill authorizes an appropriation of $35,000 for the expenses of the river crossing commission which money would be taken from the highway fund. The House adopted an amendment to the bill to provide that this $35,000 shall be returned to the highway fund by the authority when it secures the funds with which to construct the crossing.

McGuigan Opposes Measure Representative J. Carl McGuigan, Democratic floor leader, who introduced a bill identical with the Zebley act except that it provided the commission should be named by the Governor said the Zebley measure was an attempt to usurp the power of the chief executive in the matter of making appointments.

Mr. Zebley argued there is no right to suppose that it is the right of the Governor to make all appointments on behalf of the state.
He contended that by spreading the selections over the state a more democratic form of commission would result.

The bill now goes to the Senate and if passed will be delivered to the Governor for his consideration.

Letterhead Competition Announced At Resort;
Cash Award To Winner

The Rehoboth Art League is directing a competition for a letterhead for the City of Rehoboth Beach. It was announced this week.
Members of the league, residents of Delaware, and ex-hibitors in the Summer Art exhibition of the V. I.
A. are eligible to compete. Regularly salaried employees of stationery and engraving concerns are banned.

Designs may be submitted in black and white line drawings, or half-tones, or in combination, the announcement reveals. The design must be suitable for use as official stationery of the City of Re-hoboth, or by business houses there.
An award of $25 will be made to the winner.

Specifications Given
The name of the designer must not appear on the face of the drawing, but must be printed on the back. Preferably, drawings should be on glossy paper, approximately 4x10 inches, mailed flat or rolled, not folded.

Incorporation of the name "City of Rehoboth Beach, Delaware" is essential. Designs are to be addressed to the Rehoboth Art League and must be entered on or before March 31.

The winning drawing will become the property of the City of Rehoboth Beach, and will be subject to copyright, if desired. Designs will not be returned to entrants unless accompanied by postage.

C. E. Douglass Questioned As Budget Hearings End

Superintendent Carleton E. Douglass of the Newark school system testified before the joint budget committee of the General Assembly yesterday. His testimony ended the hearings that have been going on for five weeks.

Although he wasn't questioned on the costs and advantages of teaching art and music in the local schools, Mr. Douglass was well fortified with figures concerning the subjects that have drawn the attention of members of the budget committee.

Among the figures Mr. Douglass was prepared to present were the per pupil per annum cost of art and music in Newark schools. Arts courses have an enrollment of 666 at a per pupil per annum cost of $1.13, while a music enrollment of 62 costs $2.60 per pupil per annum.

Teachers Do Double Duty Both music teachers in the local system do double duty, Mr. Douglass was prepared to state. Fredrick B. Kutz, in addition to his musical instruction, teaches history, while Miss Catherine Rittenhouse teaches English with music. Miss Ildred Burney, handling two sections, confines herself to teaching art.

Figured on a per pupil day basis, music instruction is costing $0.0169 and art $0.0174 in the local system.

It is estimated that parents in Newark and vicinity have a personal investment of about $3,000 in band instruments alone. The state estimate of personally owned band instruments used in school work and activities for 5,000 to 6,000 students averages about $50 each, or an estimated total of $250,000 to $300-000.

Economical Value
Local educational leaders point out that all musical equipment for schools in the state board unit is supplied by funds raised locally, independent of legislative appropriations.

They further point out that music is an economically sound course for students to follow. Music, they claim, and its associated industries rank fifth in the nation.

It is further pointed out that public school orchestras provide the incentive to further instruction under private teachers, thereby stimulating and polishing achievement to wider vocational service.

PETER IN SAMARIA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:14-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come ye, my, and sist, ye, come, my, and sist, ye, come, without money and without price—Mat-th 10:1.

Commercialism certainly should have no place in the Christian Church. But in an age that will even commercialize a man's love for his mother, it is small wonder that the great holy days of the Church—Christmas and Easter—have become the special object of profit-seeking purveyors of everything from hats to whisky. New Year's day, Thanksgiving day, Mother's day, Father's day, any day at all, becomes just another opportunity to take a man's money, waste his time, and possibly to destroy his soul. It is high time that intelligent folk make effective protest against such perversion of sacred things.

The Scripture lesson for today tells of one who went so far as to try to buy the power of God for money, that he might use it to get gain for himself, failing to realize that the power of God is a gift and to be used only for His glory.

I. Spiritual Power—the Gift of God (vv. 14-17).

The Holy Spirit who is the third person of the blessed Trinity had called Philip, a layman, and sent him forth to preach in Samaria. Men and women were converted, and when the church at Jerusalem heard of it, they sent Peter and John to give counsel and help to the new converts. Through the laying on of hands these received the gift of the Holy Spirit even as we now receive Him the moment we believe on Christ.

What a glorious truth it is that the believer is indwelt by the Holy Spirit (1 Cor. 6:19). Thus even the humblest believer has in Him the One who redeems man, gives grace for holy living, and empowers for service. The greatest power in all the world is consequently available to every true and yielded believer. Gone then are all excuses for weak and careless living. Gone is every ground for claiming that one cannot serve God. The power and grace are His, and He gives them to His followers as a gift. Christian friend, are you giving the Holy Spirit of God liberty to infill and use you as He will?

II. Spiritual Power—Not for Sale (vv. 18-24).

Men who put their trust in money are prone to think that one can buy anything. They say with Walpole, "Every man has his price." But they are wrong. There are men and women in the world who cannot be bought, and it is even more certain that the best things that life can give a man have no price tag on them—a mother's love, friendship, fellowship with God, the Holy Spirit's power—these among many others are not for sale.

Simon, a professed believer, recognized that these followers of Jesus had a great power which he thought to buy for his own business as a magician. His was a very gross and blatant effort to do what many have done in the Church, and are doing today, by more skillful and sometimes by under-cover methods. There are those who by holding the purse strings seek to control the message of the preacher, or who use their financial influence to obtain control of church organizations and institutions. Their efforts are doomed to ultimate failure, but the present harm they do to the cause of Christ is appalling. Many a church and pastor would be far better off if they could rise up and say with Peter, "Thy money perish with thee."

III. Spiritual Power—for Testimony (v. 25).

Peter and John set the Samaritan believers a good example by permitting the Spirit of God to use them to testify and preach the Word of the Lord in many villages. The Holy Spirit does "not speak of himself," but guides the believer "in all truth" (John 16:13), and His primary ministry is to glorify Christ (John 16:14). It follows that the outstanding mark of a Spirit-born and Spirit-filled believer is his desire to speak of and to glorify Christ.

Such a testimony will be "not in words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth" (1 Cor. 2:13), and will bear fruit for eternity.

A Common Adversary
Much contempt and hatred towards erring humanity would be averted—and instead compassion would be excited—if we kept constantly in mind the humbling thought that we have the same common adversary! Indeed, such realization would elicit prayer in lieu of caustic criticism.

Simple Things
There is a sort of wealth in the ability to find happiness in simple things like books, birds, flowers and friends, that cost nothing.—Vinton A. Holbrook.

FOOD for THOUGHT

By CHARLOTTE SPENCER
Nutritionist, State Board of Health

Good bone structure is one of the best legacies any child can receive. Parents have a right to be proud of a child with a straight sturdy body. Bone deformities such as bowlegs, knock-knees, rachitic chests and pelvis are not due to heredity or to a special dispensation from Providence but are a definite sign of mineral starvation. Bones without minerals are soft and flabby but deposits of calcium and phosphorus make them stiff and strong. We see signs of calcium and phosphorus starvation every day, even here in Delaware, where we are particularly fortunate in having available locally high mineral foods.

Good food throughout the prenatal period is of the utmost importance in giving a baby's bones the right start. The other day I met a woman whose family show too well the disastrous result of poor prenatal care. In her family there were three children, all of whom suffered from curvature of the spine in adult life and were seriously incapacitated by it. These three people consulted outstanding physicians of this country and were told that all their difficulty probably started with the poor food which their mother had eaten during pregnancy.

Mineral Content of Diet

Every prospective mother should pay particular attention to the mineral content of her diet. A quart of milk a day for every pregnant woman will not only supply the minerals necessary for the growing child but it will also protect the mother's bones and teeth from too great a mineral drain.

Every mother should follow implicitly the directions of her physician when he orders cod liver oil or vitamin D concentrate for her baby. Vitamin D aids in the absorption and the utilization of calcium and phosphorus. During the period of rapid bone formation from birth up to two years, it is essential that Vitamin D be supplied to ensure the best possible hardening of the bone. Few foods supply any appreciable amount of this vitamin and so we must rely on plain or concentrated liver oils. Vitamin D concentrates should never be used without a doctor's supervision since only a few drops a day are needed and an overdose may be very harmful. Plain unflavored cod liver oil is favored by many physicians as the cheapest and best source of Vitamin D.

Proper Mood Essential
The baby will not dislike cod liver oil if the feeding is done in the right way. The mother should not indicate by her expression, the tone of her voice or the tension of her arms that the baby may not like the oil. Many mothers prefer to give the oil just before the bath when any that is spilled can be easily washed off. Then, too, most babies are in the mood to like their bath and so are in the mood to like anything else which appears just then.

It is much easier to accustom the baby to cod liver oil gradually, a few drops at a time, than to insist upon the full dosage with the first attempt. At the first feeding a few drops should be placed on the back of the tongue where it can be swallowed more easily than it can be refused. A baby instinctively rejects tastes, but with patience and understanding he will learn to like the different foods, cod liver oil included.

Sound Bone Development
There is considerable evidence that Vitamin D supplements throughout the entire period of growth would be advantageous, particularly in promoting sound bone development and good teeth. Certainly throughout growth we need to continue to supply the calcium and phosphorus necessary for good bone development. One quart of milk a day will supply this mineral requirement. In adult life we can prevent mineral losses and retarding degeneration if we supply the minerals necessary for maintenance and replacement. A pint of milk will supply this normally lower adult requirement.

Furnishing the right material for good bones will prevent bowlegs and knock-knees and reduce our crippling. With the well formed chests we would have a greater resistance to tuberculosis. With well formed pelvis we would make childbirth easier and safer. As a people we must prefer the true economy of good bone building to the false economy of diets low in calcium, phosphorus, and Vitamin D.

POULTRY RANGE IS PROBLEM

New Bulletin Emphasizes Three Points

"To provide suitable range conditions for growing poultry is one of the most serious problems facing the majority of Delaware farm flock owners and commercial egg producers," according to a new bulletin, "Ranges and Range Shelters for Growing Chickens," published by the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service and written by H. L. Richardson, poultryman, and G. L. Schuster, agronomist, at the University.

Outlines Problems
The new bulletin outlines the problems being faced by Delaware poultrymen in regard to ranging their growing stock and presents ways and means of managing their flocks so these problems may be more easily overcome.

Three phases of the general poultry range problem are taken up in the new extension publication: shade, range shelters, and range management. According to Mr. Richardson, these three phases of the general problem interlock or overlap and must all be considered if the poultryman is to provide his flock with conditions necessary to high production.

Three Points Stressed
The bulletin emphasizes three points: First, a clean range is one where no poultry has been for one or more years; second, some well-ventilated shade during hot weather is necessary for the well-being of growing poultry; and third, a range that provides some green feed is highly desirable.

The bulletin states that "the above conditions can be provided by planning the general crop rotation to include a place for the poultry range and by building open, well-ventilated range shelters to which the growing stock is moved as soon as the birds are fully feathered."

This poultry range handbook is available to Delaware poultrymen free of charge if they will write to the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware, and ask for Extension Bulletin No. 29, "Ranges and Range Shelters for Growing Chickens."

An exhibition of drawings by Thomas Nast recently recalled the genius of that greatest of all political cartoonists. Born in Germany in 1840, Nast came to America when he was 6; began cartooning for Leslie's at $4 a week when he was 15. He originated the well-known figures of Uncle Sam, the Tammany Tiger, the Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey.

A business meeting Thursday evening in the auditorium of the school, Mrs. G. D. Baldwin, president, presided. It was reported there are now 218 members registered.

The matter of operating a recreation field on land adjoining the school property was advocated by Arthur G. Craig, representing the Boys' Club of Newport. Mr. Craig stressed the need for such a project in this vicinity. He told of the work they are doing with young people of the town, stating that it was apparent physical education was necessary to build strong character and healthy bodies. A discussion followed, and a committee comprising Mrs. G. D. Baldwin, Mrs. J. L. Eckles, Mrs. A. M. Munn, Mrs. J. Harry Taylor, Mrs. Ruby Porter and Arthur G. Craig, assisted by D. J. Richey, principal of the school, was named to investigate the matter.

Mrs. J. L. Eckles was elected vice president of the P. T. A. and as program chairman, gave a brief outline of the activities of the National P. T. A., while Miss Emma Maclary outlined the early activities of the Newport Association. J. Harry Taylor entertained with a group of songs, and was accompanied by Miss Julia Taylor, pianist.

Character Of Typist Shows In Typing
To tell the character of a typist from the typewritten copy of his work is a system which is said to be effective. When the type indicates that the keys have been struck with equal force it indicates, they say, that the writer is good in several special fields, but not necessarily specialized in any.

The "pounder" who makes a deep impression on the paper is easily distracted. The person who strikes some keys hard and other softly is sensitive, but has personality and a sketchy mind with instincts dominating reason.

A small margin, or none at all, at the beginning of a paragraph means a lack of good taste and an inclination to be overfull in small things. An average margin indicates an orderly mind, intelligence and clear thinking.

Public Demands
Today, it is a different story. The public demands insect pest control. An apple pack must be free of insects, even though discernible only with a microscope.

Crop insect damage that was accepted a half a century ago may today be counted a crop failure. Through press, radio, and pictures, the layman is told of insects that spread human and livestock diseases, and he expects the entomologist to develop controls.

Mr. Amos gave some idea of the job which the entomologist faces when he said that there were now estimated to be 625,000 species in the world.

"In our own country," he said, "we have records on over 20,000 different species and more than 6,000 of these are actual pests."

Watch Other Fellow
The best way to get rid of a bad habit is to displace it with a better habit. Substitute for your dreaming a habit of better observation. Watch "the other fellow."

Some Increased
"That is, most of them are not," he explained. "It is true that some insects, such as grasshoppers, which were but a legend of pioneer days until hopper hordes swept over Western States in recent years, are more numerous and troublesome."

"It is also true," Amos pointed out, "that some new pests have established themselves, such as the European corn borer, the Japanese beetle and the Gypsy moth."

"Generally speaking, though," he said, "insect pests are merely attracting more attention. Past generations accepted worms in apples, peaches and grapes, as conditions that could not be helped. The early farming industry and consuming public paid little attention to insect fragments in canned goods. They could not be seen and were therefore, not present."

INSECTS NOW ON DECLINE

Public Opinion Demands Fight On Pests

"Are insect pests in this country now more numerous than formerly?" is a question often asked of the entomology department at the University of Delaware, but John M. Amos, assistant extension entomologist, says that they are not more numerous.

Safety Hints

"Dreaming" while driving undoubtedly causes a good many automobile accidents. It probably causes a good many accidents which are charged to other things. What we call "carelessness" for example, usually is only a kind of "dreaming." We are careless because we do not take the trouble to look ahead, to think ahead, and to plan ahead.

When we are "dreamy," we don't want to take the trouble to face facts as they are. We would sooner slide along, take a chance, permit ourselves to be whittled by all the winds that blow.

There may be a proper place for "dreaming," but the place certainly is not while driving an automobile. The dreaming habit, if you happen to be afflicted may be a little difficult to overcome.

Study better methods of driving. "A good operator should be able to drive several cars at one time;" he should be able to anticipate the movements of an automobile immediately in front of him, behind him, and on either side, and at the same time have his own car under full control, so that he can take immediate action to avoid any accident-producing situation arising from sudden movements, such as cutting-in, slowing-down, stopping, and passing on the wrong side, that may be made by other drivers. If he is mentally asleep, or if he allows his attention to be distracted in any way, he cannot act properly or quickly enough in emergencies.

POETRY CORNER
On his poetry page in the February Pictorial Review, Ted Malone reminds us that the path of true love is not always hearts and flowers in Curly Fella's poem:

This I regret—
Having the kind of heart
He could forget.
Having the sort of soul
He could misplace;
It is no comfort...
His knowing my face.

PNEUMONIA TREATMENTS NOW VERY MUCH MORE EFFECTIVE

The scientists and doctors of the world have made great strides in the diagnosis and treatment of the dreaded pneumonia. They have learned the various types and almost every city has hospital facilities that are fast reducing the death rate.

An Anti-Leprosy War Proposed In Australia
So serious has the spread of leprosy become in Northern Australia that the Government is being urged to start an intensive campaign against it. The movement follows a statement in Brisbane by E. N. Hanlon, Queensland Minister for Health and Home Affairs, regarding a report that leprosy is increasing among both white and colored races. He urged the States to unite in an anti-leprosy war.

The number of cases of leprosy among white people is increasing and is now about as large as that among aborigines.

Barbers Of India Fight Safety Razors

Barbers of India have organized a nation-wide campaign against the safety razor, which they say is ruining their business. Barbers in Calcutta recently held a parade carrying banners with anti-safety razor slogans.

Six hundred then held a conference to outline a campaign to re-ignite their vanishing trade. A national movement to boycott foreign safety razors and to boost barbers' service was started.

first explained that Overbrook is a boarding school near Philadelphia, for normal boys and girls who are either totally blind or who have one-tenth vision in the good eye. Courses offered there are parallel to those offered in the public schools of Pennsylvania. Training is given in manual work, home economics, art, office work. There are two shifts of teachers—the home staff and the school staff.

Mrs. Spencer explained the Braille system by which the blind read and showed us samples of printing in that system. Also, the children learn map outlines and geometric forms by the use of tactile notches.

In conclusion, Mrs. Spencer said that the blind are happy and are splendid sports. To quote her: "The blind boys and girls are generous, happy, whole-souled, and responsive."

25 YEARS AGO IN REVIEW

February 25, 1914

OBITUARY

Fannie Lee Shapleigh

In the death of Fannie Lee Shapleigh last Wednesday night, February 18, at her home in the West End, the congregation of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church lost one of its most devoted and useful members and the town is the poorer through the severance of the last remaining link with two families long prominent in the social and religious life of Newark.

Miss Shapleigh had an attack of apoplexy shortly after she retired for the night and died within a half hour. Her funeral was held at noon in St. Thomas' Church of which her grandfather, Thomas Bland, was one of the founders and to which in so many countless ways Miss Shapleigh brought such a full measure of wise counsel, pious devotion and material assistance. Though lame from childhood and always a great patient sufferer, she was seldom in other days, absent from the services of the church, which nurtured in her such a deep spiritual life that nearly all her time was given over to the service of others. She was president of the Daughters of the Kio and gathered around her a devoted band of women always ready to visit the sick and succor the needy.

At the funeral the vestrymen of St. Thomas' Church were the pall bearers and the body was taken to Laurel Hill cemetery, Philadelphia, for interment in the family lot.

Hannah McDermond

Hannah McDermond, aged 72 years, died at the home of her nephew, Howard Wilt, Philadelphia, on Sunday, February 22. Funeral services were held this afternoon from the late residence. Interment private. Miss McDermond is the last survivor of the one time well-known family of Cecil county, Maryland.

The "booby" prize, a hatchet filled with candy cherries, fell to Mrs. Joseph Hoesinger. The ice cream was in the form of pink roses with a little American flag stuck in the center, commemorative of the birthday of the "Father of his Country." The guests were from Philadelphia, Sharon Hill, Ridley Park, Baltimore and Newark. Those present included Mrs. Pearce Cann, Mrs. Whittingham, Miss Maxwell, Miss Hoesinger, Mrs. C. B. Evans, Mrs. Daniel Thompson, Mrs. J. P. Wilson, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. C. O. Houghton, the Misses Pilling, Mrs. J. P. Wright, Mrs. Penny, Mrs. A. T. Neale and Miss Lindsey of Newark.

Considerable merriment was afforded by the several difficult "stunts" that had to be accomplished by the players. The ladies' prize, a boudoir cap, was won by Miss May Lovett and the gentlemen's prize, a necktie, by Mr. Harry Greene. The "booby" prize, a bull dog, which declined to be knocked over, was given to Miss Eleanor Fader, as a reward for her unsuccessful efforts. Special Honors Proposed For Scouts Of India

Boy Scouts of India may receive special honors for their effective aid following a monsoon, according to a Calcutta report. At Garakhpur, Aligarh, Bhadara and Mangaldai they continued in its tracks and saved many sufferers. At Garakhpur they risked death by taking boats through the rough waters to rescue people marooned among the ruins of their homes.

At Aligarh, while on their way to rescue others, they saw a river steamer on fire, and after extinguishing the flames continued to Bhadara and Mangaldai. There they rescued many more. The boys then joined the forces fighting malaria which followed the floods.

Liquor Bills Passed

A series of bills to amend the liquor laws as recommended by the State Liquor Commission and introduced by Rep. Henry M. Canby was passed. One of them would put the importers and manufacturers on equal terms so far as the time of delivery of their products is concerned. Under the existing law the manufacturers cannot make deliveries after 5 o'clock in the afternoon, whereas the importers are permitted to complete any delivery prior to 5:30 o'clock. Under the amendment the commission could make regulations for time of delivery of both groups and a time limit would not be specified.

Another of the amendments would make it possible for druggists, physicians, surgeons, and veterinarians to purchase liquor from any licensed sellers of alcoholic liquors. Under the present law such persons have to make their purchases through the liquor commission. Another change in the existing law would permit importation of alcohol in quantities less than one barrel by persons using it for manufacturing purposes.

Zebbley Bill Defeated

Now such importations have to be in barrel lots which the commission found worked a hardship on the small manufacturer.

The last of the measures provides that liquor which comes into possession of the commission either by seizure or surrender of license may be paid for at a value to be determined by the commission. It also would permit the commission to sell such liquor to persons other than importers.
