Local "Y" Branch Has Auspicious Opening

More Than Six Hundred Present

Single Men Win Exhibition Ball Game by Close Score

The most optimistic supporter of the Y. M. C. A. movement in Newark, was agreeably surprised on Thursday evening when at the formal opening at the Armory more than 600 residents attended the meeting and manifested a keen interest in the plans which augurs well for the future of the organization.

Long before the opening hour, 8 o'clock the youth of the town, those for whom it is primarily intended, arrived in goodly numbers and escorted themselves in the front seats. Most of them had already met Mr. Bebout and had heard Mr. White during the two or three days previous.

The 600 seats provided by the committee were filled before 8 and late comers had to line up against the walls.

James Hastings led the assembly in the singing of popular songs to accompaniment by George Maddens. The singing of the "preps" on the front seats was a notable feature of the occasion. Under "Jimmy's" magnetic influence they shouted lustily the popular songs of the day and the trench songs of yesterday. Vociferous calls for "Cootie" excited the curiosity of the audience and of the leader, but he agreed to lead if they'd do the singing and to the familiar air of "K-K-Katy," they sang lustily, a parody taught them by Mr. Bebout in the afternoon with the following classic words:

"Cee-ootie, beautiful cootie, You're the only bug that I abhor; When the moon shines Over the cow shed, I'll be scratching till my b-b-back is sore."

Francis A. Cooch, president of the Association presided at the formal meeting which followed the "Sing" and told briefly the history of the local movement from the inception of the idea which led to the forming of the present organization. He gave credit to the Newark Post which since its establishment 10 years ago has at various times advocated the movement for the youth of Newark. He gave an outline of the efforts toward organization and toward the securing of an efficient secretary.

He presented Mr. Bebout who has been in Newark since September 1, making arrangements for the opening and who is already well and favorably known to the young people. This latter fact was attested by the ovation which greeted his appearance. He outlined briefly the plans for service and told them that the Y. M. C. A. (Continued on Page 4)

MILK ORDINANCE REFERRED FOR MODI- FICATIONS

Town Council Has Busy Session Monday Night

At the regular monthly meeting of Town Council last night it was decided to refer the Milk Ordinance back to the Board of Health for modifications. This ordinance was prepared and presented to Council several months ago and action has been deferred at previous meetings for various reasons. It was the opinion of those present last night that it would not pass in its present form. Some of its provisions were not clear to the Council members but this difficulty no doubt can be obviated by the Board of Health who drafted the ordinance.

A report of the street committee was presented which showed it to be the desire of property holders on West Delaware Avenue to have that thoroughfare widened four feet from South College Avenue to the bend at the rear of Dr. Mitchell's residence and three feet from there to the junction at Elkton Road. This will necessitate the removal of many of the trees on this thoroughfare.

Some bills were ordered paid and other routine business transacted.

Is Formally Admitted to the Bar

Dr. Homer Hoyt, head of the Department of Economics and Business Administration at Delaware College, went to Washington on Monday to be formally admitted to the bar. The examinations preliminary to this step were passed some time ago. He will continue at Delaware College.

Airplane Flights Possible Tomorrow

Representatives of the Goldie Aeroplane Tours which have been making flights over Wilmington for the past few days visited Newark yesterday and made arrangements for a series of flights here on Thursday and Friday of this week.

They secured Jex field for a landing place and will have two planes there on the above mentioned days with captain J. J. Weiss and Captain P. R. Ellis, experienced aviators, the latter an ace, in charge of the flights. Both of these men saw service overseas. It is understood that a charge of $15 will be made

Member of Motor Transport Corps Praised French Roads

Sergeant David Grant of Cherry Hill, Md. visited Newark friends on Tuesday. Sergeant Grant returned home on Saturday after nearly two years of service with the Motor Transport Corps overseas. He brought many interesting souvenirs and photographs of France, Germany, Ireland and England. He has had innumerable interesting experiences since his departure. Two of the vessels in the convoy containing his transport were torpedoed and had to be towed into harbor. All were driven by submarines to the north of Ireland and had a curiously roundabout trip to reach Havre. He has a wonderful collection of maps used by the Motor Transport Corps and tells of the almost incredible distances that could be covered in a day because of the excellent French roads.

Rally Day at White Clay Creek October 19

Prominent speakers will address these meetings, and a treat is in store for all who will attend. Special offerings will be received at each service to be devoted to the improvement and beautifying of the cemetery. Everybody is cordially invited to these meetings.

A more complete notice will appear in next week's issue of this paper.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT FIRST CENTURY CLUB MEETING

Plans for the Year Outlined and Musical Program Rendered

An unusual turnout of members featured the first meeting of the New Century Club held in their rooms yesterday afternoon. Little business was transacted since the meeting was primarily a reception for the incoming officers. The president, Mrs. A. T. Neale in a brief speech outlined the plans for the club year which will include among other things, history and the study of modern poetry. The chairmen of each of the committees were called upon to state their plans for the year and an interesting musical program followed.

Miss Eloise Peach sang "Nothin' but Love" and "Cheating."

Miss Eleanor Duffy sang, "Dear Old Pal of Mine" and "Young Tom of Devon."

An instrumental solo by Elizabeth McNeal was followed by history of poetry presented by Miss Eleanor Harter.

A social hour with refreshments of tea and wafers followed.

The program for next week includes "Current Events" in which all members will participate; a paper, "Discovery and Land Grants of Delaware," by Mrs. C. O. Houghton; music, and poetry.

Lost Child Found Asleep at Home

Considerable excitement was occasioned last evening by the mysterious disappearance of little Edith Rose 12 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Lee Rose.

The child failed to arrive home from school at the usual time but it was supposed that she had gone to play with some little friends. When she failed to appear at supper time the family became alarmed and made inquiries in the neighborhood. No trace of her could be obtained and when darkness came searching parties were instituted and the town and surrounding country thoroughly searched.

The house was searched several times without avail. When everything else failed a thorough search of the house and premises was made and the child was discovered fast asleep on the back porch curled up in a clothesbasket.

According to her story she had played with some little friends at Nonantum Heights until dark and upon arriving home found the doors locked. Tired out with waiting she had entered the basket and gone to sleep.

WELFARE WORKER CALLED BY DEATH

Miss Briscoe Former Newark
Resident Dies at Oaklands

Miss Elizabeth Frisby J. Briscoe eldest daughter of Thomas S. and the late Margaret A. MacLay Briscoe, died on Sunday afternoon at the home of the Misses Wilson at Oakland, of pneumonia.

Miss Briscoe was born in Clinton, Clinton Co., Iowa on February 17, 1855. When she was very young her mother died and an aunt, Mrs. Caleb Griffith who lived at "The Crossways" south of Newark brought Miss Briscoe and a brother and sister to live with her.

Mrs. Griffith later moved to Newark where Miss Briscoe spent her girlhood. She prepared herself to teach and after a term at Welsh Tract school, opened a private school in Newark. Later she became principal of school No. 27, Wilmington.

For the past 17 years she has been doing welfare work in the plant of the Joseph Bancroft Sons Co. at Rockford. She had charge of the dining and rest rooms superintended emergency aid in accident cases, and helped both the women and the men employees in their problems, both in the mills and in their homes. During the war she organized knitting and sewing clubs among the women employees, and the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the workers excited favorable comment and reflected much credit in Miss Briscoe's management.

She had been afflicted with diabetes for a number of years and about three months ago contracted pneumonia. She underwent treatment at Delaware Hospital and about a month ago having partially recovered her strength, she came to Newark for recuperation. Last week she became seriously ill and passed away on Sunday at noon.

She is survived by a sister Miss Frances Briscoe of Baltimore and a brother Samuel who lives in Oklahoma.

She was buried yesterday afternoon at Head of Christiana cemetery at 2:30. Funeral services were held at the home of the Misses Wilson at 2 o'clock and were attended by many officials of the Bancroft Co. and many employees whom she had helped. Beautiful floral offerings were sent by each of the departments and by various individuals.

Dance to be Given October 24

A committee of young men, Joseph Walker, Oscar Ewing, Dewey Patterson and Ralph Riley are making plans for a dance to be given at the New Century Club on Friday evening, October 24.

Supper and Dance at New Century Club To- morrow Night

The Board of Directors of the New Century Club are making final plans today for the supper and dance to be given tomorrow evening. Those in charge of the tables give every assurance that an excellent supper will be served from 5 to 8. Past achievements in this line makes this a practical certainty.

At 8:30, in the auditorium above a dance will be given, for which Madonna's Orchestra will furnish the music. This feature has been arranged by Miss Elsie Wright and will doubtless prove a great attraction.

In addition to the supper and dance there will be a needlework table where useful articles and artwork suitable for Christmas giving may be secured. There will also be for sale, candy and cake made by those who on past occasions have established a record which makes their products in great demand.

The Board of Directors and club members are anxious to make this one of the big events of the season and are receiving hearty cooperation. They hope to clear a creditable sum for the building fund.

ELECTS DELEGATES TO STATE CONVEN- TION AT WILMINGTON

Lt. J. Allison O'Daniel Post
No. 6 Nearly Doubles
Membership

A combined special business meeting and smoker of the Lt. J. Allison O'Daniel Post No. 6, of Delaware, American Legion, was held in the Armory on Friday evening. When the roll was called, it was very evident that the organization of this post has aroused considerable interest among the ex-service men of this vicinity as the original membership consisting of twenty-two had increased in the past two weeks to forty-three.

Two delegates and two alternates to represent the local post at the State convention to be held at the Hotel duPont on October 23-24, were elected as follows: C. A. Short, Pusey Morrison, R. R. Whittingham and J. Wilbert Ramsey. These delegates were instructed in favor of congressional legislation for an additional bonus of $60 to be paid all honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines. This is the question of greatest moment to be disposed of at the National Convention of the American Legion in Minneapolis, Minn., November 10, 11 and 12; and if the consensus of opinion seems to be for increased bonus pay, efforts will be made for the introduction and passage of a bill to this effect.

Also, members of the post were sounded relative to their attitude on the State's desire to express in some tangible form its appreciation of the sacrifices of its citizen soldiery in the Great War. Banquets, parades, etc., were apparently not held in very high esteem and the example of Massachusetts, Missouri, and a few other states in making a presentation of varying amounts of money to their sons who were in the service, was applauded as the correct idea.

Capt. Wilson O'Daniel enlivened the smoker by recounting interesting experiences at the front. Other comrades, less fortunate in being at the rear, were however, not deterred from repeating a few of the unlimited number of humorous incidents continually cropping up in the field and camp.

NEWARK YOUTH WEDDED AT MONT- CLAIR, N. J.

Second Son of Dr. and Mrs.
Mitchell Married to Miss
Grace Gates

Morris Randolph Mitchell second son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Mitchell and Miss Grace Gates daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Gates of Montclair, N. J. were married at the home of the bride on Thursday evening October 2, at 8 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Mills.

Miss Alice Gates, sister of the bride was maid of honor, Miss Lucia Gates, another sister and Miss Mary Mitchell, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. Dr. Broadus Mitchell, brother of the groom was best man and Percival Gates and William Terry Mitchell were ushers all of the attendants therefore were members of both families.

The bride wore a duchess satin gown with a collar of Brussels lace sent her by the groom while he was in France. Her tulle veil had a coronet of Brussels lace. Orange blossoms were arranged under the veil. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

The bridesmaids wore pink satin with panels of pink chiffon edged with net and carried pink roses.

The maid of honor wore blue, with silver trimmings and also carried pink roses.

The ceremony was performed in the spacious hall of the Gates residence which was profusely decorated with vari-colored dahlias grown on the Gates estate.

In spite of the fact that seven members of the combined families of the contracting parties were in the service, all returned safely and all were present at the wedding.

After the reception following the ceremony the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Lake George. They will visit at the home of the groom's parents on their return and will then go on to Marston, North Carolina where they will make their home.

School Site Will Probably be Chosen This Week

Attendance Record for Month
Good

Crowded Conditions Necessi- tate Renting of Additional Room

Persistent rumors have been going the rounds for the past few days that the site for the new school building has been definitely chosen and that certain properties have been purchased by the Board of Education.

Assurance was received last night from the Board that the site has not been definitely settled but that final steps would doubtless be taken this week.

Records of attendance for the first school month just ended show a disposition on the part of both parents and pupils to make the most of the educational opportunities offered in the public schools. In one of the grammar grades, the fifth and sixth overflow the record was 99 per cent and in none of these grades does it fall below 90 per cent. The records for the primary and high school grades were not available but according to superintendent Morris the record throughout was exceptionally good.

Much interest is manifested by the children themselves in making good records and in beautifying and improving the buildings and grounds. The high school activities as set forth elsewhere in this issue are of an exceedingly promising character. The teaching force is exceptionally well equipped to give necessary aid.

The third grade, an unusually large class has been put on full time again and the second grade which in the opinion of superintendent Morris would lose less by curtailment of time has been put on part time. This circumstance will be obviated as soon as arrangements can be made for renting an additional room to relieve overcrowded conditions in the primary school. An effort is being made at the present time to secure an unused room in the Armory.

LITERARY AND MUSI- CAL CLUBS FORMED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Promising Organizations Under Leadership of Teachers

Several clubs have been formed during the past week at the High School: a Mandolin club, which promises to be almost entirely a male organization, has been formed under the direction of the Misses Houston and King; a Glee club, which was greatly needed all last year, has been organized under the direction of Miss Roe; and a Dramatic club, which promises to be very popular, has been organized under the direction of Miss Broom. There are two Literary Societies to take the place of the one of last year: a Senior Junior Literary Society, with the following officers: President, Hazel Collins, Vice-President, Alma Dunlevy, Secretary, Anna Patchell; the Sophomore-Freshman Literary Society, with the following officers: President, Archibald Rowan, Vice-President, Margaret Burkett, Secretary, Olive Porter. These two Societies meet separately every two weeks on Friday afternoon, and once a month hold a joint meeting.

AUTUMN

By JOHN W. DOUGLAS

Where russet field the harvest yields,
The sun his potent magic welds;
And blithe and bland on every hand.
A dreamlike spell subdues the land.
Against the sheen of summer green
A glint of autumn hold is seen;
Where, in the close of deep repose,
The quiet wood seems comatose.
In rich attire, 'mid bush and brier,
The sumac burns—a living fire;
And through a sky of Tyrian dye,
The clanging wild geese southward fly
Draped on the reeds in marshy meads
Gleam gossamers with dewy beads;
In purple haze of willow ways

Herds of contented cattle graze,
On pendant line of fading vine
The wild grapes burst with noble wine
And squirrels cling and crackles sing,
And young nut hunters, calling, swing
And lush and lithe tall grasses writhe,
Then on its way at close of day
And how before the whetted scythe;
A wagon creeps, piled high with hay,
A heart, how dear to us appear
The riches of the ripening year;
Whose love hath shown—to fullness grown—
A glory hitherto unknown.

WHO ARE THE RICH?

Lasting Riches In the Friends We Make and Keep

Robert Louis Stevenson said that the two uses of wealth were a yacht and a string quartet. A favorite theme with those who are teaching children to write "compositions" is "What would you do if you had a million dollars?" There are few who have not dreamed of what they would do with a fortune. Some after they became rich changed their minds and found the accumulation of money so attractive that they went on saving it for its own sake. Some made the discovery that what they gave away enriched them, and it became a deep satisfaction to know during their own lifetimes that others were appreciative and grateful. A complimentary epithet is better than a flattering epithet.

But one cannot always buy the favor of the crowd by lavishing money. The multitude still looks at the man himself, appraises his character and asks if what he got he won in honorable ways. Sometimes a prodigious benefaction is looked upon merely as the due restitution made by a pirate—a largess like that of a deathbed repentance. "He is only giving back to the public what he wrested from the public through mean and underhand advantages," says the ruthless censorship of the fair and pleasing benevolence.

The noblest use of money is assuredly that which means the broadest dissemination of culture and of healthful pleasure, of recreation for the mind and body, of welfare for the toiling masses, of the enlightenment of education for the many. The money might be given for a library, a hospital, a playground, an orchestra. A large fund may be lodged in the hands of an individual, but not that he may spend it on himself. He becomes trustee and steward. He is engaged in a great work of healing or of inspiration, and the fund permits him to do that work on a scale he could not attempt when crippled for want of resources.

The ignorable materialist spends his money for a vulgar "splurge." He spends it that he may create envy in the minds of beholders. Each article of merchandise he has about him dangles its price mark and his attitude is an invitation to contemplate a picture of success. But the lasting riches are not in the furniture we make and keep; they are in the satisfactions that we know in the quiet sessions with our own souls; they are in the consciousness of duty done in every public and private relation and of faith kept with our place of service and with the community at large.

As humanity marches along the winding pathway that leads to the millennium it does not bestow its love and trust on those who care only to feed and clothe and lodge themselves. It bestows its affection on the unselfish and it responds to those who are seeking to keep it. Those who are rich are those who have amassed not the dollars or the pearls, but the abiding tokens of esteem and of affection that are offered by their fellows while they live.

—Philadelphia Ledger.

For The Homemaker's Eye

Baked Oysters on Toast

Butter squares of toast and place on the platter which will stand the heat of the oven. Lay drained oysters on the toast. Season the liquor and bring it to the boiling point. Pour it over the toast. Bake until the edge of the oysters ruffle.

Oyster Loaf

Cut a box-shaped piece from a large loaf, hollow it out to hold the oysters and brush it well with butter and brown in the oven. Prepare fried or creamed oysters and serve in the shell.

Escalloped Oysters

These may be done on top of the stove and are better if the crackers are crisped or browned before crumbling. Place the oyster liquor in a sauce pan and when boiling drop in a pint of oysters; when the edges curl, remove and add butter, salt and enough cracker crumbs to absorb the liquor; now stir in a beaten egg, add the oysters and serve at once.

A layer of chopped celery added to escalloped oysters is a most tasty flavor which raises the quality of the dish to the unusual.

Bordeaux Potatoes

One small onion cut very fine, two tablespoons of butter substitute. Cook till onion is tender, but do not let it brown. Two tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of salt, mix smooth and add one and a half cups of milk; boil for two minutes and add three cups of boiled potatoes cut in small cubes, let heat thoroughly over slow fire; just before serving add two hard boiled eggs minced and sprinkled into the mixture.

Some Things Fruit Will Do

A diet of oranges will clear muddy complexions and reduce superabundant curves. Lemon, taken internally, quenches thirst and prevents the bad habit of overindulgence in ice water. Lemons clear the skin, assist digestion and help one get rid of fat. Applied externally, they are a bleach that will remove stains from the fingers or neck, freckles from the arms or cheeks and other sallow blemishes. Pineapple will sweeten the voice, restore the quality of it, if it has grown husky, and aids digestion, which means that it will help to beautify the complexion. Apricots are used for the same purpose, and are much favored in Oriental countries.

Helpful Hints

To remove rust spots, wet with vinegar, cover with salt and expose to the sun, repeat until stains are drawn out. Salt with vinegar is good to clean brass, bottles and stained cruets.

Two ironholders attached with a long tape should be in every kitchen. When cooking throw this over the shoulders and you will never lack a towel to handle hot pans and dishes.

When making iced tea, if the tea is sweetened while warm, not more than half the sugar is required that it takes to sweeten it after the tea is iced.

A very effective agent for moisture-proofing wood has been found in an aluminum leaf coating. This coating practically insulates the wood against any change in atmospheric conditions, and is particularly valuable for use where accurate form and balance must be maintained, as would be necessary in an airplane propeller.

DEMONSTRATION SALE WEEK

An Autumn Shopping Festival

THE Merchants of Wilmington invite you to an unusual merchandising event staged for the week of October 13th to 18th and termed "Demonstration Sale Week."

Consistent with its name it is planned that the merchants will on this occasion FULLY DEMONSTRATE the advantages of shopping in Wilmington and their ability to satisfy every demand whether popular or exclusive.

For weeks the merchants have been co-operating for this event—the buyers have been scouring and the shops reflect the latest dictate from the designers and manufacturers of every market.

Groups of Specially Priced Merchandise Will Prevail Throughout the Shops to Commemorate the Occasion

For you, milady, everything is ready, the season's mode in Suits, Dresses, Coats, Dolmans, Skirts, Waists, Millinery, Shoes, Dry Goods, Undergarments for every fancy and the numerous other incidentals so essential for the woman's wardrobe.

Wilmington abounds in shops for correctly and comfortably clothing mere man from the grand dad to the little man still in knickers. In fact in Furniture, Jewellery, Housefurnishings, Stationery and the thousand and one things demanded by the fall shopper, Wilmington is ready.

Being centered in a compact area the comfort and convenience of Wilmington's Retail District is the pleasure of every shopper to be joined, do not hold them together, lay them on a flat surface, with edges touching, catch the corresponding ribs together; take a stitch from one side, then the other; one side lift the lower stitch of rib, on the other take the top; joined this way, the seam is almost invisible. Unless otherwise instructed in knitting directions, cast on and bind off loosely; if you knit tight and want large ribs, which are so fashionable at present, do not try to knit loose, but use large needles for good results.

Wash 2 potatoes clean, then peel them, put the potato paring in a pan with the fat and boil the fat for ten to fifteen minutes; after boiling the fat the necessary length of time it will be clear again, and then should be poured off into a dish for further use.

The quantity of parings to be used should be the parings from three medium size potatoes for about one quart of fat.

Paint, no matter how hard and dry it is, can be taken out of woolen material with a solution of equal parts of ammonia and turpentine. Saturate the spot two or three times, then wash out in warm soap suds.

If you are troubled with mice in your pantry, buy a small amount of camphor and place it about in the places they are frequent. They cannot stand the odor of camphor and by placing new camphor every three weeks they will soon cease to bother your shelves.

A cracked egg can be successfully boiled if a little vinegar is added to the boiling water.

Some morning save the left over coffee. Dissolve gelatine and add the coffee and sugar to it and you will have a good luncheon or dinner dessert.

Instead of using the old-fashioned method with bread crumbs to clean the wall paper, when you clean house use a lump of artgum. It does the work as effectively and twice as quickly.

Teach Thrift to the Children

Are you encouraging your boys and girls to save? Are you offering them money for the work they do at home, and advising them of the private and patriotic duty of investing their earnings, no matter how small, in thrift stamps?

Of course, in families where every cent must be saved, such payments for errands and performing the duties of the home may be inadvisable or small even in proportion to the little the children are able to do.

But wherever possible it is advisable not only as a patriotic duty, but as training in individual thrift as well to give the children a definite return for the chores they perform and encouragement in the habit of saving.

Elkton to Have New Water Works

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS ARE URGED TO RETAIN INSURANCE

Government Allows 18 Months to Reinstate If Allowed to Lapse

The average age of the man who fell to action, died of wounds or from other causes during the war was 23 years, and because of their youth, by far the greater percentage were unmarried men. Which explains why 47 per cent of the policies taken out named mothers as beneficiaries, 16 per cent named fathers and only 7 per cent named wives.

In the original War Risk Act provision was made for the policies written on service men during the war to be continued as permanent Government Insurance. To avail themselves of the opportunity to convert their War Risk Insurance into permanent United States Government Insurance it is necessary that the men discharged from service continue to pay their monthly premiums, and at some time during the five years following the formal declaration of peace that they convert into a permanent policy.

From the record it appears that only about 25 per cent of the men who had insurance during the war are continuing to keep up their insurance. This is largely due to the fact that the men were unfamiliar with the provisions of the Act, or that they have not fully financially able to carry their insurance at this time.

To guard against any man losing his right to Government Insurance because of this condition the Secretary of the Treasury recently issued a ruling allowing every man eighteen months in which he has the opportunity to reinstate his insurance after he has allowed it to lapse because of non-payment of premiums.

This reinstatement privilege should be clearly understood. So long as a man is not paying his premiums he is not insured. His reinstatement privilege merely gives him the right to again have Government Insurance without undergoing physical examination, and upon the payment of two months premiums.

A nation wide campaign has been inaugurated for direct personal contact with former service men through which they may be informed of their rights to permanent Government Insurance, and in this campaign have been enlisted the American Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army, the Y. M. H. A., the Boy Scouts, and numerous other National social welfare organizations. In addition more than 50,000 life insurance agents have been enlisted. The volunteer roll further includes thousands of bankers, doctors, lawyers, manufacturers, other business men and representatives of all associations which come in contact with discharged service men and their dependents.

The former service man who lives on the farm will be reached to a large extent through banks which have volunteered to serve as clearing houses for information on War Risk Insurance.

There are six permanent forms of government insurance, as follows:

- 1.—20 Year Endowment.
- 2.—30 Year Endowment.
- 3.—20 Payment Life.
- 4.—30 Payment Life.
- 5.—Endowment at age 62.
- 6.—Ordinary Life.

Applications are being received by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance for changing the present term insurance, which was issued at the time of entering the service, into the permanent forms.

Ten features which prominently stand out in the government policy are as follows:

1. The total permanent disability clause is granted without cost to the insured and it is free from all restrictions.
2. Government insurance does not charge its policy holders any overhead expense.
3. It contains an extremely liberal definition of disability.
4. It gives very substantial payments.
5. It contains no age restrictions.
6. It is unrestricted as to travel, residence or occupation.
7. Premiums paid in advance are refunded down to the month, in case of death.
8. The policy is non-taxable.
9. Unusually liberal cash, loan, paid up insurance and extended term insurance values are included.
10. It participates in dividends.

If the policy holder is unable to keep the full amount of the War Risk Insurance he carried while in the service, he may reinstate part of it from $1,000 up to $10,000 in multiples of $500. Reductions may be made in multiples of $500 to any amount, but not less than $1,000. Premiums are due on the first of the month, although payments may be made during the calendar month.

Uncle Sam Practices Economy in Stamp Saving

"Uncle Sam is again practicing economy in connection with his postal stationery, and his thrift means more new varieties for collectors," writes the stamp writer, Kent B. Stiles, in the October Boys' Life.

"When the war-time rate of three cents for an ordinary letter was reduced to two cents on July 1, there were in postoffices throughout the country excess stocks of the three-cent envelopes. The Postmaster-General has sent notice to all postal sub-agencies authorizing the imprinting of the inscription '2 cents' in red on each envelope just below the circular die. Inasmuch as this imprinting is not being done at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, but at sub-agencies independently, there is prospect of many varieties of type becoming available to collectors, and it is not unlikely that such errors as inverted, broken and missing and misplaced letters, etc., will appear.

"The cost of an ordinary postal card was lowered to the normal one cent, and the sub-agencies have been authorized to surcharge '1c' across the circular die on each card, although this situation is of less interest, as philatelists do not collect postal cards.

"Of course, the imprinted envelopes and overprinted cards sell to the public at the new prices, two and one cents, respectively."

Use Straw For Winter Roughage

Straw is too valuable to be allowed to remain unused. Fresh oat straw as well as wheat straw, can be used as a roughage in wintering stock. It is also advisable to use it liberally as bedding for farm animals as it adds to their comfort and absorbs the liquid part of the manure, which is the most valuable portion.

Dog Took Song as a Tribute to Himself

An old lady who was a friend of the poet Whittier, tells the following story:

At one time when his birthday was being publicly celebrated, he had as a guest Mrs. Julia Houston West, then the most beautiful oratorio singer in America. After the dinner Whittier asked her to sing. She chose for her selection the ballad "Robin Adair," which she sang with great pathos and feeling. Hardly had she begun the song when Whittier's pet dog came into the room, walked over close to her side and stared up at her with every expression of delight. When she had finished, he lifted his paw to shake hands, and then, leaping up, he licked her cheek.

"His name is also Robin Adair," explained Whittier, "so he takes that song as a tribute to himself."

And very evidently he did. From that moment he devoted himself to Mrs. West, hardly leaving her side, indoors or out, during her visit; and when she went away he carried her traveling bag in his mouth as far as the carriage, and showed his sorrow over her departure in every way that a dog could.—Youth's Companion.

Palatability of Silage Depends on Time of Cutting

The feeding worth and palatability of good silage depends on the quality of the corn and the period of maturity at which it is cut. Where the corn is cut when it is immature, not well glazed and dented, and still in its juvenile stage, it makes washy, low quality, acid-forming silage which is likely to sour. On the other hand, corn harvested when it is well dented and at the proper degree of ripeness for best use as silage, gives a winter feed which is one of the best producers of milk and meat. Corn should be allowed to pass well through the milk stage and become thoroughly dented before being siloed. Investigations of the United States Department of Agriculture have demonstrated that it is much preferable for silage of the best quality, to have the corn a little over-ripe rather than under-ripe.

In some sections farmers and particularly dairymen, are accustomed to ensile combination crops, using mixtures of soy beans and corn, cowpeas and corn, sorghum and corn, or a combination of these three for silage purposes. As a general proposition, where other branches of animal husbandry in addition to dairying, are taken into consideration, corn or some other coarse forage is most desirable for ensilage purposes. Acre yield is the end sought, the chief objection to the valuable protein forages such as cowpeas, soy beans and the like being that they are low yielders better adapted for hay than for silage. Dairy farmers who require an abundance of succulent silage of a rather balanced composition highly prize the leguminous crops mentioned as supplements to corn and usually realize an adequate return from the sale of their milk to allow them to produce these crops at a profit.

The Poor Professor Has Been Overlooked

Of all the oppressed peoples for which we have been "driven" and tagged, one of the most neglected has been the college professor. That this deserving tribe has been overlooked can only be ascribed to the fact that our glasses have been focused for long distances and the habitat of this species is close at home. The hand of the high cost of living has been heavy upon it, but it has struggled manfully to do its part in the training of men who should be our leaders in the world crisis, and it is only when that crisis is past and the work of reconstruction begun that it is beginning to get its share of recognition.

Now, however, there is to be an organized effort to bring home to college graduates and to the public at large the fact that the world cannot be made safe for democracy unless adequate provision is made for those who train the youth of our land in democratic ideals. Despite the undoubted patriotism and loyalty of the teaching staff of our colleges, it would be particularly unfortunate if there should be allowed now to continue among them a righteous grievance against existing social conditions. The reflex from such a situation might be unconscious, but would be none the less real.

Harvard University has taken the lead with an endeavor to raise an endowment fund now placed at $15,000,000. Some of the more pressing need of the university are to be met from the income, but the major part of the endowment is to be used in the readjustment of salaries, fixed a generation ago, whose purchasing power has been cut and cut again by the ever increasing standard of prices.—Washington Post.

Local "Y" Branch Has Auspicious Opening

is theirs and its success is dependent upon the use they make of it. George L. Goodwin a Y. M. C. A. man, from Washington, D. C. whose counsel was sought last spring when the organization was forming was present by special invitation and made a brief address on the purpose of the "Y" with special reference to the things which go to make a man. He congratulated the Board of Directors on the successful inauguration of the work and upon their choice of a secretary. He then gave way to Harry C. White, overseas entertainer, who had been in Newark for several days and had spoken to audiences at the industrial plants, at the Presbyterian church and at the Armory to different groups of school boys.

He was greeted with great applause and proceeded to tell in his inimitable mixture of humor and pathos, his experiences overseas. His faithful companion, the crownless felt that purchased in London after the original had been lost in the trenches, added to the merriment of the occasion when he showed how many, many uses it would serve and how many famous men he could impersonate with its aid.

He gave imitations of bird calls, "Reveille," "Taps" and the call which he thanked God had never been blown for the American forces, "Retreat."

After the speeches, the floor was cleared and a game of indoor baseball played between the married men and the single men.

William E. Holton captained the former and with Earl Dawson constituted the battery.

The rest of the line-up follows: Ernest Rowe, 1b; James Hastings, 2b; M. O. Pence, s.s.; R. T. Jones, r.f.; Wilmer Hill, c.f.; and Harvey Fulton, l.f.

"Bob" Jones hitting was the feature of the game. Every time up mean a smashing hit to centre, which scattered the admiring on-lookers and placed the batter in Ty Cobb's class. Raymond Wilson, pitcher and Paul Rhodes catcher, made up the battery for the single men.

Pierce Crompton played first base; Paul Moore, second; William Bland, third; William Marrs, short stop; Herbert Henning, Abraham Reynolds and James Smith played the outfield. The teamwork was excellent and the work of Bland at third was exceptionally good.

The teams were well matched and the final result was 12-11 in favor of the single men. W. Paul Bebout umpired the game.

While preparations for the game were going forward, a committee of young women with Miss Elsie Wright as chairman served ice cream, cake, and coffee to the guests. The aides consisted of Misses Agnes Medill, Cornelia Pilling, Edith Spencer, Elizabeth Wright, Bessie Whittingham, Katherine Steel, Helen Steel, Ethel Campbell, Anna Ritz, Anna Gallaher, Marian Gallaher, Kathryn Heiser, Alberta Heiser, Olive Heiser, Dora Law, Marion Brown, Florence Colbert and Mrs. Frank Dean.

The building was attractively decorated in blue and gold and the crowd present was a truly representative gathering. A great many of the young men also some of the professional and business men visited the office during the evening and signified their intention of joining.

If your home merchants can't exactly satisfy your wants in furniture, Wilmington merchants can. Let them demonstrate this to you THIS WEEK, "Demonstration Sale Week." Come and see for yourself!

BUREAU OF EDUCATION ESTABLISHED IN DELAWARE

Service Citizens Meet Need for Information on School Matters

Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens of Delaware, has issued the following statement which explains itself:

"To the Citizens of Delaware: At present the people of Delaware are more interested in education than in any other subject. They are trying to see clearly and to think progressively, but clearly now and then they are greatly in need of definite facts. There is a demand everywhere for information upon educational matters in general and upon the School Code in particular.

"In order to meet this need we have organized a Bureau of Education and we are prepared to give or obtain answers to all legitimate questions relating to educational conditions and practices in Delaware or in other places.

"The bureau is in charge of Dr. Richard Watson Cooper, a Delawarean by birth and education, familiar with the past and present of the State of Delaware and thoroughly sympathetic with the achievement of a national reputation as an educator, is familiar with conditions and practices, both east and west, has been a teacher and administrator in Massachusetts, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois, has been a member for years of such organizations as the National Educational Association, North Central Association of Schools and Colleges, Association of American Colleges, etc. He is just home from France, a member of the Army Educational Corps and Registrar of the American E. F. University, at Beaune, Cote d'Or, France, where he registered nearly ten thousand American soldiers as students in the various schools and colleges of the University.

"Address all inquiries: Dr. R. W. Cooper, Bureau of Education, Public Library Building, Wilmington, Delaware.

"This invitation is intended for parents, teachers, pupils, taxpayers and for any associations or organizations which may need information. We have no purpose other than to serve the people of Delaware by securing and distributing the facts.

"Dr. Cooper is also well known as a public speaker and lecturer. He will be happy to accept invitations to address audiences of any kind within the State, on literary subjects, or education, without expense to those wishing his services. Yours sincerely, "JOSEPH H. ODELL."

French Universities Establish Fellowships in Science

It is expected that as many as twenty-five fellowships in French Universities, distributed among the various fields of science, will be awarded each year by the Society for American Fellowships in French Universities. This Society is administered by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees consisting of nineteen members, and an Executive Committee of five members, one of whom is chairman of the Board of Trustees. One fellowship will be awarded in each field of science, but where the number of candidates is proportionally large, no fellowships may be granted. A fellowship will be of the value of $1,000 a year and will be awarded for two years, unless a shorter period is specified.

The giving of these scholarships should be of prime interest to college men in America. The fields of science covered include Chemistry, Physics, Education, Mathematics, the various branches of Engineering, Medicine, and many other fields. The requirements are of such a nature that it is not too much to expect that Delaware College may early find representation among the students sent by the Society to the Universities of our recent ally.

New Track Honors For Delaware College

New honors were gained for Delaware College last Saturday when three of her track men gained the first three places in the Harlan marathon over a five mile course in Wilmington. Joe Wilson added still more to his fame as a distance runner by winning the first place in the fast time of twenty-seven minutes. Harmer placed second and Christfield finished third. The marathon, staged by the Harlan Athletic Association of Wilmington, was open to all contestants and hence great credit is due to the Blue and Gold runners for their success.

The course extended from the Harlan Athletic Field up Market Street and out Delaware Avenue to the B. & O. Station, then back to the Field by way of duPont Street and Pennsylvania Avenue. The three Delaware men ran abreast over almost the entire distance, but near the finish Wilson forged ahead and Christfield fell back to third place.

Harmer not only gained second place in this marathon but proved himself a all-around athlete of exceptional ability, for after finishing the race he hurried back to college, donned his football uniform, and played a conspicuous part in the game against Franklin and Marshall.

To Take Over Canal With Special Ceremony

Plans for the official taking over of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, at which time it will become a free waterway, are now about completed, calling for a special celebration at Delaware City on Saturday, October 11.

An interesting program has been arranged by the Deeper Waterways Association for that time, the principal speaker of the occasion being Congressman J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, president of the association. Secretary of the Navy Daniels and a number of Congressmen have been invited to participate in the celebration.

Colonel J. P. Jervey, United States engineer, and a number of other prominent citizens of Wilmington expect to attend the celebration.

"Old Sussex" and "New Sussex"

Lord Baltimore, as proprietor of Maryland, claimed all that part of Sussex county, as at present bounded, lying south and west of a line drawn from the present town of Farmington in a southeasterly direction to the mouth of Rehoboth Bay. Old land records at Annapolis prove that prior to the Revolution, what is now the southwestern part of Sussex, was a part of Worcester county. The part of the county lying northeast of the line running from Farmington to the Rehoboth Bay was called "Old Sussex" and the remaining part was called "New Sussex."—Delmarva Star.

Only Two Centers For American Garrisons After Friday

Brest and Paris will be the only sectors in which active American garrisons will be maintained after October 10, the War Department announced recently. Small detachments of railway and signal corps troops will be busy for some time in outlying districts, and a contingent of about fifty-five officers and men will remain in England attending to liquidation matters.

Commissioned personnel serving with the American forces in Germany will be limited to 400 men hereafter, the shortage of officers necessitating this reduction.

Omega Alpha Gives Informal Dance

The Omega Alpha Fraternity opened its social season for the year last Saturday night when it gave an informal dance at the New Century Club. It is hardly necessary to say more of the music than that it was furnished by George Madden and his coterie of artists to show how much it was enjoyed. About thirty-five couples were present. During the intermission, refreshments were served in the dining hall of the club house. The dance was full of pep and pleasure throughout and it was with genuine regret that the dancers departed at midnight.

Delaware In Scrimmage Against Maryland State

On Thursday last, Delaware went through a hard scrimmage with Maryland State of College Park, Maryland. Coach Shipley, who is an alumnus of the Maryland College persuaded "Curly" Bird to stop off on his way to Swarthmore and practice with the Blue Hen lads, believing that such a practice would be beneficial to both teams. Frazier Field was the scene of a stiff battle between the two elevens, and both coaches were well-satisfied with the results of the day. The southern lads stayed over until Saturday, when they traveled up to Swarthmore to play the "Little Quakers."

On Friday evening, the Marylanders were the guests of the entire Delaware student body at a smoker given in the chapel room of Old College. Many old men who were back commented on the amount of "pep" shown at this fest and remarked that it augured well for Delaware's success this season. Bayard Carter, who conducted the meeting, was well-known to the Maryland boys, having played on their eleven in 1918 when he was in the service. "Bobby" Knobe, State's captain, and "Curly" Bird, their coach, gave wonderful speeches, in which they expressed a hope that the meeting would be the basis and beginning of a wonderful relationship between the two colleges.

Student Meeting Meets With Favor

The first of the chapel meetings conducted by the students, held yesterday in Wolf Hall, proved to be a success in every way. The meeting was in charge of F. Bayard Carter, president of the Student Council. Carter opened the meeting as a purely business session of the student body by giving a report of the financial conditions of the Student Council. It is planned to have such a report given to the student body every month by the secretary of the Student Council.

Following Carter's report, McCordie explained briefly the plans which the Social Committee of the faculty has under way as to the number of dances and entertainments which should be given this year. It is felt that the number of dances should be restricted for several reasons. During the discussion which followed McCordie's report, the question was raised as to just what systems are in force in other colleges about the entertainments given. This matter was referred to the Student Council to be looked into and reported upon later.

Much interest was displayed by every student throughout the meeting. The opinion seemed to be that this innovation in the student life is beneficial and that great credit is to the committee in charge of the chapel exercises for introducing the plan.

Signs of the Times

There are many old-timers who have unlimited faith in the traditional signs of the seasons. One of the most treasured is that from the time the first strident note produced by the cicada rubbing its wings together, giving a good imitation of the combination "katy-did," is heard in the land, it is at least six weeks to a killing frost.

This insect, usually first heard in the closing days of July in this latitude, was noted singing its song of the approaching death of vegetation on August 12 this year. The oracles remarked, "We are sure to have a glorious late fall, and the frost which comes generally about September 10, is not due till the 23d, which will save late crops."

Some skeptics who have observed this sign, are convinced there is something in it. No blighting frost has touched this region. Tuesday morning, the katydid limit, opened with a warm shower.

Nature Can't Be Cheated

About every boy wishes he could be a traveling salesman and nearly all traveling salesmen wish they could stay at home.

Because a man occasionally has been able to cheat his fellow man, he thinks he can also cheat Nature, but he'll always find Nature sitting on his doorstep on pay day.

Now here's the truth and if it's treason to the sex, all right, but the average woman who does her own housework and cares for a family does 100 per cent more hard work than the average man in his business and she doesn't usually get much but her board, lodging and clothing and has to prepare her own board and make up most of her own clothing. To save money by going without necessities is bad economy but to waste anything lessens your wealth, the wealth of your country, and the wealth of the world.

A banker at Weeping Water, Neb., was asked by an impecunious farmer for a loan. The banker was one of those people who are deaf for commercial purposes. The farmer was chronically wanting to borrow and his security was getting shaky. "I'd like to borrow five thousand," pleaded the farmer.

The banker cupped his hand behind his lame ear and said, "Speak a little louder and cut down the amount."—America.

An 11-year old club girl in Harvard, Ill., who had cared 11 months for her prize pig, vents her feelings in the following jingle:

I didn't raise my pig to be a bacon,
I brought her up to be my pride and joy,
I raised her for show, as you all know,
And I raised her as good as any boy.

John F. Price, '21 Awarded Scholarship

John Fletcher Price, '21 has been awarded the scholarship of the Harvard, Princeton and Yale Club of Delaware for the present college year. ## Cases Designed

Through the kindness of Mr. H. Rodney Sharp, Mr. Wilkinson, and Mr. Coyle, the college trophies will soon be fittingly displayed in handsome cases placed in the main entrance of Old College. The cases will be designed especially for the many trophies Delaware has won in athletics, so that the various footballs, basketballs, baseballs, cups, medals, and banners shall be displayed to the best advantage.

The present plan is a very marked improvement over the system that has prevailed in the college. Indeed for the past two years our trophy room has existed as such in name only. By using the main hall for our trophies, they will be displayed to real advantages in a very suitable location and at the same time the former "trophy room," an out of the way place for trophies, is thrown open for needed use as student meeting room.

With the Delaware trophies well displayed, traditions about them should be gathered and handed down to all new students as a vital and most important part of the college.

The care of the new cases will be placed in the hands of the Student Council, under whose direction Harter Hall and Old College are now administered.

Wolf Chemical Club Reorganized For Year

At the first meeting of the Wolf Chemical Club last Tuesday night, the Club was reorganized and plans laid for the coming year. Due to the unsettled conditions last year, the Club remained inactive and there was much speculation as to whether or not it could ever be reorganized. However, so large a proportion of the students appeared at the meeting that the club was very happily and effectively awakened.

After a short business session, Prof. Thompson pointed out the advantages of belonging to such a club and urged every man in college who is interested in chemistry to join. A committee consisting of Mulrooney, Price, and Kennedy was appointed to arrange a program for the meetings and they promise to have men of real prominence as speakers.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President J. F. O'Neil, Vice-President T. W. Holland, Secretary J. F. Price, Treasurer E. Kennedy. New men interested in the club and its aims are instructed to give their names to Mulrooney as soon as possible.

It's all right for you to start out reforming folks but if you can induce some candid friend and still more candid enemy to give their frank opinions of you, you'll figure out you have a lifetime job of reforming without going outside the family.

A wife was entertaining her friends with an account of her only matrimonial quarrel.

"After making it up with one another," she said, "my husband planted a tree in remembrance of it."

"If you had only done that," said another woman to her husband, "what a splendid avenue we might have had now."

Wilmington merchants have combined to demonstrate to you next week, "Demonstration Sale Week," that you can do your fall shopping to better advantage in Wilmington. Be sure to come! It will pay you!

Demonstration Sale Week

One naturally inquires as to what is meant by "Demonstration Sale Week." This is an event arranged by the varied business houses for the week of Oct. 13th. During this time, it is purposed to "demonstrate" that the stores of Wilmington by an unusual exhibit of merchandise show a variety that cannot be excelled anywhere as to style, price and quantity.

Out-of-town visitors will find this store a real "demonstration" as to what constitutes high-grade, dependable merchandise at prices that are not extravagant.

During the week of Oct. 13th we will strongly feature

TIME TO BRING THE GARDEN INTO THE HOUSE

Many Kinds of Flowers Will
After a Brief Rest Begin to Bloom

Now is the time to begin moving your garden into the house, and there is no reason why one should be deprived of flowers in abundance just because the frost has nipped the garden blossoms. It is a simple matter to transfer the garden to the house and so go right along enjoying a profusion of bloom for months to come. Asters of blue for months to come. Asters of blue for months to come. Asters of blue for months to come.

Best known of these obliging plants is the common geranium, which is unexcelled as a house plant. It is true that a geranium which has flowered all summer will not bloom as well as one which has been kept from blossoming, but a considerable number of flowers will be almost certain if the plant be cut back when taken into the house.

The Begonia Popular.

Probably the begonia come next to the geranium in popularity among house-plant lovers. This is not to be wondered at when the ease with which they can be grown is considered, as well as the fact that they are lavish in their display of blossoms. Begonias, too, may be grown in windows which get only a little sunshine, while geraniums plead for the sun without stint. They may be lifted and potted in the fall and will hardly cease blooming.

Few people realize that salvias make excellent house plants, but this is a fact. Their brilliant scarlet blossoms are very cheerful, too, when the outside world has been bereft of flowers and foliage. It is best to have young plants, just beginning to bloom. Those started from cuttings made in September will do nicely, but new plants may be made from the lower part of the old ones, a bit of the parent plant being included. The blossoms must be cut just as soon as they begin to fade and the plants need to be sprayed frequently to keep the red spider in check. Then a wealth of blossoms will be produced.

Petunias Are Charming.

Petunias as house plants are charming. The single kinds may blossom a bit more freely than the double varieties, but the latter are especially fine. Although the plants which have been growing in the garden will continue to flower, it is a better plan to make new cuttings from old plants some time before the end of the season. Petunias need to be cut back sharply in order to bloom well, and new cuttings may be made every few weeks, so as to insure a succession of bloom all through the year.

Among the other garden plants which may be taken into the house are the cobaea scandens, or cup and saucer vine (which should be cut back and potted before frost comes), carnations, heliotrope, wall flowers, latanas and snapdragons. It is not generally realized that the last may be grown in the house, but they really make a very attractive and satisfactory house plant, if care is given them.—Exchange.

Farmers Tell Experience With Advertising

The department of journalism at South Dakota State College wrote nearly 100 farmers asking their experience with advertising.

One replied that advertising of seed grain had been so successful that next year a new granary was to be built, a new truck bought, and equipment for cleaning and handling grain added.

Another replied that his success in selling little pigs had been so great through local papers that he had been unable to meet the demand.

A third replied that a small ad in the county-seat paper sold all his settings of eggs.

These typical replies point once more to the potential value of the farmer as an advertiser in his home weekly. The more he learns to advertise, the more readily will he take to personal letterheads for handling the business brought in by the advertising. At present most farmers think of advertising and job printing only when they are retiring or moving on and are about to have a sale.

Mr. Smith, dissatisfied with his house, put the sale of it in the hands of an agent.

A few days later he saw an advertisement of a house exactly answering his needs. The more he read of its beauty and comfort the more anxious he was to secure it for himself.

So he called up the agent with: "There is a house advertised by 'A. B. C.' See 'A. B. C.' and buy it from him."

"Sorry," was the laconic reply. "But I'm 'A. B. C.' and the house is your own."—The Passing Show.

A REAL "YELLOW PERIL" THIS TIME

Japanese Beetle Gaining In-
Gress on Iris Attacks
Jersey Crops

Jiu jitsu is all right in its way, but when the insects of Japan practice it on the commercial crops and fruits of the lands which they visit, their hosts have to instigate superior methods of control.

For example, take the case of the Japanese beetle, which, unasked, immigrated to the United States in 1911 in the grub stage on the soil surrounding iris plants. Finding residence in Burlington county, New Jersey, this colony of Japanese beetles prospered, multiplied, and increased in compound measure to the extent that soon the horde of pests became so obnoxious that the State Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, had to exercise the ingenuity of science to hold them in check.

The Japanese beetle is a general feeder which attacks fruit trees, grapevines, and many varieties of vegetables, a large number of ornamental plants, and a host of weeds, while it especially likes sweet corn. The beetle is a strong flier during the warm periods of the day, and it is liable to be distributed on the clothing of autoists, pedestrians, or others who travel through infested territories. It is likely to be shipped out on various farm crops, especially on sweet corn, as the beetles penetrate the ears of corn. In order, as far as possible, to limit distribution by such means, a Federal quarantine is now in effect providing for the inspection and certification of all green sweet corn used commercially in infested portions of Burlington county.

Control measures which spell sure doom to the Japanese beetle consist of establishing a belt of poisoned foliage around the infested area. Destruction is also effected by means of poison sprays used copiously on green growth subject to attack, as well as hand-picking or catching the beetles in nets. Other methods of destruction include making away with the grubs in the soil by plowing, as well as by treating the soil with sodium cyanide in solution. Roadways are being cleaned of food plants which are attractive to the pests, in order to prevent dissemination of the infestation through the agency of passers-by.

Machine Tells Tearing Strength of Paper

A paper-testing machine has been invented by a member of the staff of the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison. It is expected to render valuable service to the paper industry by supplying data regarding the strength of paper—data that has not been easy to obtain heretofore. The difficulty in testing the tearing strength of paper has always been in securing a constant force of value. Irregularities in the paper structure, due to its fibrous nature, make the reading of the force required to tear the paper very uncertain. The machine now nearing completion overcomes this difficulty by yielding an average force for the entire tear. It simply measures the work done in tearing the strip. Dividing the work done by the length of the tear gives the average tearing force. The length of the tear is the same in all cases so that the machines can be calibrated to read the average tearing force.

Seattle's Lone Sky Scraper a Marvel

They are mighty proud of their one skyscraper up in Seattle. It is a long skinny building, that stands on one leg like a stork, and blinks down disdainfully from its thousand windows on ordinary fifteen-story shacks.

A San Francisco man, recently in that city, was incautious enough to express surprise.

"What are those posts sticking out all the way up?" he asked a Seattleite.

"Those are mile posts," said the Seattle man.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Maryland Aviator Killed in Texas

Mrs. Robert Hollingsworth, of Belair, was notified Monday by the government that her son, Lieutenant John Y. Hollingsworth, was killed on Saturday, at Fort Ringgold, Texas. Lieutenant Hollingsworth was 25 years of age and at the outbreak of the war enlisted in the aviation service. At the time of his death he was acting as a pilot. With him in the airplane, when the machine crashed to the ground, were Lieutenant Edward M. Leary, of Massachusetts, who was also killed, and Lieutenant F. W. Connelly, of Scranton, Pa., who was seriously injured. The body of Lieutenant Hollingsworth is being shipped to his late home in Belair.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my dear beloved daughter, Mildred M. Harrington, who died October 5th, 1918. One year has passed, my heart still sore, As time rolls on I miss her more. Her memory is as dear today As in the hours she passed away. Dear is the grave where my daughter is laid, Sweet is the memory that never shall fade. Roses may wither, leaves fade and die, Others may forget you Mildred, but never shall I. Sadly missed by Her Mother.

Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, was being congratulated at a luncheon on his ordinance forbidding chauffeurs to blow their horns in the crowded business section of the city.

"Chauffeurs think," he said, "that they need only blow their horns and the pedestrians will leap out of the way. Let the chauffeurs drive with care, remembering that the pedestrian's right is supreme."

"Why, if something isn't done, the chauffeurs, in their arrogance, will be getting up a horn code for the pedestrian to learn and obey—a code something like this:

"One toot—Throw a quick hand-spring for the sidewalk.

"Two toots—Dive over the car.

"Three toots—Lie down calmly; it is too late to escape; but we will go over you as easily as possible, if you keep very still.

"One long and two short toots—Throw yourself forward and we will save both your arms.

"One short and two long toots—Throw yourself backward and one leg will be saved.

"Four toots—It's all up with you, but we promise to notify your family."

Clocks to be Set Back Oct. 26

General uncertainty as to when the clocks of the nation may be turned back and day-light saving abolished seems to have resulted from the action of Congress in repealing the daylight saving act. In answer to numerous inquiries officials have pointed out that clocks may not be turned back until the last Sunday of October, or October 26, at 1 a. m.

The above official dispatch sets at rest the date and hour of turning back to "sun time."

Women Thorough in Their Preparation For Voting

The thoroughness of women in political work is shown in the Women's City Club of New York, which has on file in its offices information concerning the candidates who will be voted for at the election in New York on November 4th, a list of the candidates for the various offices, and articles on the duties of Justices of the Supreme Court and of the surrogates of New York county, who will also be voted for. In a bulletin which they are issuing are minute instructions on how to vote, a brief statement of the needs of the various boroughs and various other information which will make for intelligent voting.

Philadelphia women are planning a campaign for this winter to instruct the women how to use the vote, now that they will have a chance to do so. Their plans include a speakers' campaign covering all the wards, where practical instruction will be given the women voters and knotty questions be solved. Intelligent voting can only be accomplished by knowledge, and this the women are determined shall be given.

"Get Yourself a Wife" Officer Tells Young Men

Living in the "young" age of 60 is easy if you know how, said J. M. J. Raunick, city health officer, Harrisburg, in a health bulletin, in which he gives rules for living to a green old age with mind alert and body vigorous.

"But first get yourself a wife," the doctor admonishes the young man. "Then settle down to a contented life." He added, among other rules: "Rest a whole day each week, not even reading or writing.

"Wear porous clothing, loose collars, light shoes and hats and dress in keeping with the weather.

"Avoid fatigue and excitement and don't worry.

"Never say unpleasant things, and don't listen too much."

"My Dream of Yesterday" By Robert E. Farley

Where is my dream of yesterday, My buoyant, hopeful dream, That led me on without command To many a distant fairy land? What unkind fate took it away? My dream, my dream of yesterday.

Where is my dream of yesterday, My brave, ambitious dream, That placed the whole world at my feet, And made me fleetest of the fleet? I thought it would forever stay, My dream, my dream of yesterday.

Where is my dream of yesterday, My soft and healing dream, That pierced the darkness with its rays, And gave me peace on bitter days? Oh, come once more and never stray: My dream, my dream of yesterday.

Where is my dream of yesterday, My sweet and radiant dream, Of stainless life, of love and rest, Of joyous home by children blest? Oh, come again, I pray, I pray, My dream, my dream of yesterday.

Half a Million Women Are Connected With the Farming Industry

According to statistics there are more than a million American women connected with farming, either as actual farmers or as farm laborers, not counting the farmerettes and those who work odd moments "helping out." There are 500,000 women working the whole year as farm laborers and 400,000 women farmers in the United States.

The Value of Rest

Your physician will tell you that, whenever possible you should lie down for a little rest each day. To do so will take some of the load off that faithful heart of yours which keeps pumping away without cessation day and night. Your physician will explain that when sitting down, as compared with standing, you save your heart nine beats a minute, and that when you lie down you take off an additional six beats. So merely lying down means less pumping to be done, and less wear and tear on the body's most vital organ.

It is a thrift of time to take a few moments each day from the activities of one's work and stretch out full length. Housewives and others whose work keeps them on their feet a great deal, should sit as much as possible. Increased vitality and longer lives will result from following these simple suggestions.—Thrift Magazine.

N. C. 4 Driven by Ford Motor

"Engines functioned perfectly," said Lieutenant Commander Read, who commanded big seaplane.

The Ford Motor Company has just received official advice from the Navy Department that it was four Ford Liberty Motors—built in the Ford Motor Company's shops at Detroit—which furnished the power that drove the NC Four to victory in its recent record breaking flight across the Atlantic from Trepassey, Newfoundland to Plymouth, England, a distance of 4,000 miles. They were regular stock motors built during the war as a part of the Ford Liberty Motor production.

Upon his arrival in Lisbon, Portugal, Lieutenant Commander Read, said, "The engines functioned perfectly all the way from America to Portugal." And American Naval Officers who thoroughly inspected the NC Four upon its arrival at Plymouth, England, stated that the big seaplane was in even better condition than when it left America.

The NC Four flight, which has meant a triumph for American engineering skill, also adds another record to Ford achievement.

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES MADE TO REDUCE FLESH

Obesity No Longer a Terror Disappears Without Change of Diet

A great many young women and older women, too, whose chins are beginning to show a tendency to sag a bit and whose waistlines are beginning to divorce hook from eye will be interested in a contrivance recently displayed at the New York Electrical show. It's a machine which "they say" will really take away superfluous flesh and leave the adipose one slender, sylphlike and beautiful. This is done, it is claimed, without the slightest pain and without the slightest change in diet. In its operation it is a time and labor saver.

This wonderful contrivance comes in several varieties. One is the "electric chair." The exhibitors declared it to be a sure death for corpulency. Its function is to electrocute flesh, not life. It is a large, comfortable arm chair in which the patient reclines, reads a book or talks over the fashions with the occupant of the next chair, while flesh gradually fades away into nothingness, leaving the patient not only lighter and happier but younger and prettier.

In addition to this luxurious reducer of the most-too-good-to-be-true type there are different kinds of bath cabinets which accomplish the desired result mainly through the heat generated. Then there is a bicycle arrangement which is guaranteed to reduce a pound to a mile. If none of these more commonplace devices appeals to the lady who is to obese, there is a mechanical horse which she may ride, thus experiencing the same thrills as she did when she was younger with none of the fatigue. This wonderful horse will gallop, canter, trot or even buck with the mere turning of a switch (not the old fashioned kind to which the Dobbins of our youth responded).

The crowds around this display were more than usually large, each woman protesting vehemently that she was there to look not to buy. When the sceptical men folk had departed, however, many came boldly back to ask the price.

Once in awhile the choirs get back at the minister. In a Connecticut church the other Sunday morning the minister announced, just after the choir had sung its anthem, as his text, "Now when the uproar had ceased." The singers bided their time patiently and, when the sermon was over, rose and rendered in most melodious fashion another anthem beginning, "Now it is high time to awake after sleep."

Shriveled Wheat For Poultry Feed

Shriveled wheat which is not mouldy is a source of cheap and satisfactory feed. It may be fed profitably to both hogs and poultry. Sprouted and damaged wheat for hogs, when not composing more than 50 per cent of the ration by weight, may be fed with considerable safety. Such wheat should be thoroughly dried before feeding.

If things keep on the way they are going, the average citizen will need a purse as big as a cotton bale and a stomach the size of a thimble.

WILL HOLD DEMONSTRATION SALE WEEK

Wilmington Merchants to Prove City Logical Trade Center for This Section

Wilmington merchants are arranging to hold a "Demonstration Sale Week" from October 13th, to 18th, for the purpose of demonstrating to the people of the peninsula and adjacent territory their ability to care for their purchasing demands with a greater advantage to the purchasers than can be secured by trading with business houses of other cities. It is believed by them that Wilmington is the logical trade center for this State, and for the contiguous territory of Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and that its development along this line will be of great benefit to the people of the entire section.

Every merchant in Wilmington is cooperating in the effort to demonstrate to the people of Delaware and the surrounding territory that they can save time and money and receive greater satisfaction through making their purchases in this city than elsewhere. Buyers for Wilmington stores have been combing the wholesale markets for weeks to secure the best offerings possible for this week. The arrangements have been made under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, and everything will be done to make visitors welcome, and their visits profitable to themselves.

While in no sense are the Wilmington merchants entering into competition with the local merchants of other towns, they feel that there is a steady stream of trade passing their doors, and it is their determination to demonstrate thoroughly that in cases where purchasers cannot secure what they want in their home towns, they can shop in Wilmington with less transportation and other expense, and receive much greater satisfaction through better stocks and better prices. Demonstration Sale Week will provide the biggest bargain festival ever held in this section of the country.

DELAWARE HOLDS F. & M. TO SCORE-LESS TIE

Carter Brothers and Harmer Star for Home Team

In the opening game of the season last Saturday, the football team played Franklin and Marshall to a scoreless tie. The weather was much too warm for football and the game was not so fast as it would have been if it had been cooler. This may account for the fact that the Delaware team did not make as good a showing as had been expected.

The Franklin and Marshall team was somewhat heavier than the Blue and Gold squad, but the Delaware team off-set this disadvantage with a fine showing of grit and fighting spirit that held their rivals at a standstill every time they threatened to score.

Delaware was quite successful with the forward pass and they used it for several substantial gains. One pass, McCaughn to G. Carter, was good for forty yards.

The individual star for Delaware was Harmer. Harmer was put in the game in the third quarter and several times threatened to break away for touchdown. He got away once for sixty yards, right down the side lines. He is a speedy runner and has a good straight arm which he uses to good advantage.

The Carter brothers—Grey and Bayard—put up a stellar game at tackles. Their work of snatching forwards was all that could be desired. Foulk at end and McCaughn at half, also put up good games. McCaughn did the punting for Delaware and some of his kicks were good for fifty yards.

For F. and M. Newcome at full, and May at quarter, were the stars. Their best work was on the offensive. May made a clever tackle when he stopped Harmer on his sixty-yard run.

Y. W. C. A. HAS CANDLEDIGHT SERVICE

Dr. Joseph H. Odell Gives Helpful and Interesting Talks

Sunday evening the Young Women's Christian Association received into membership seventy-six new girls, the largest number in its history. This splendid beginning makes the Cabinet jubilant in the belief that the association has before it the best year it has ever had.

The impressive candlelight service was used Sunday evening. To the inspiring strains of the "Hymn of the Lights," Madeleine Dixon, the Vice-President, entered, leading a procession of white clad girls, all bearing lighted candles. The President, Helen Bishop explained that the tiny candles signified the flame of selfish desire in each girl's life. After the candles were extinguished everyone repeated the purpose. The act symbolized the giving up of the selfish love of each girl when she joins the association. Then as she relit each little candle from a big light representing the association, Miss Bishop urged the girls to brighten their lives with the clear flame of Christian fellowship and service.

The association was very fortunate in securing as the speaker Dr. Odell of the Service Citizens of Delaware. He took as his text the line which says concerning Herod, "He set Christ at naught." Dr. Odell explained that in every one's scheme of life, the things a man loved best and thought most of made up the sum of his life. With some men the hundred per cent is made up of ninety per cent selfish ambition, five per cent pleasure, five per cent vanity. They set Christ at naught. He said that each girl had the chance to decide what things she put into her plan of life. To count Christ in would not crowd out pure and beautiful things but only the hideous, evil thoughts and deeds. Our environment as Dr. Odell expressed it, is decided not by where we are but by what we think and by having pure lovely thoughts we can fill our real lives with great beauty and peace.

Four delegates to the national convention are allowed to each State, with an additional delegate for each paid-up thousand members.

Fall Sowing Best for Abundant Grass on Lawn

If you desire a greensward that is slightly attractive, healthy, and capable of producing an abundant growth from early spring until late fall without developing unsightly bare spots or brown, seared turf, sow your grass seed in the fall and sow it early enough, so that the grass plot will make sufficient growth to weather the winter in a rugged, robust condition. This information is intended particularly for lawn makers in Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, Ohio, and Tennessee, and other States in the same latitude where the common but unsatisfactory method of spring seeding dominates.

A long and patient but vain effort on the part of a khaki-clad driver to induce a mule, drawing what appeared to be a load of laundry, through the gateway of a local hospital afforded considerable amusement to the boys who were watching the proceedings. The mule would do anything but pass through the gateway.

"Want any 'dp, chum?" shouted one of the boys to the driver, as he rested a moment.

"No," replied the driver, "but I'd like to know how Noah got two of these blighters into the Ark!"

LOCAL DELEGATES ATTEND RED CROSS CONFERENCE

Hear Peace Time Program Outlined and Activities Discussed

Mrs. Daniel Thompson, Miss Maxwell, Miss Anderson, Mrs. E. B. Wright and Mrs. C. B. Evans were delegates to the Red Cross peace reconstruction meeting at the Hotel duPont on Thursday. The meeting was an all day conference called together by the Pennsylvania-Delaware Division and made plans for their peace-time activities and for the Third Red Cross Roll Call which will take place early in November and be completed before Armistice Day, November 11.

Nursing and Public Health, First Aid, Junior Membership and Home Service were discussed at the morning session. Luncheon was served at 12:30 in the Grill Room and the remainder of the meeting was held there.

In discussion concerning "The Membership Drive" the delegates were urged to take home the message that in the next Roll Call, every adult and every child should consider it not merely an act of patriotism or charity but a duty to belong to the Red Cross and to pay the membership dues. They were urged to give special attention to the Junior Branch upon whom the future of the organization will depend.

An inspiring address was delivered at the close of the luncheon by Dr. Thomas E. Green, director of the speaker's bureau of national headquarters at Washington.

He told of the stupendous work accomplished during the war and of the hopes for a re-enrollment of the present membership and an accession sufficient to raise a fund of 15 million dollars for reconstruction. The nature of the work to be done he told in an interesting manner. The needs of the Army of Occupation; of devastated Europe; of the physically unfit in America as disclosed by Army findings when 35 per cent of the first four million men called were rejected; of America's illiterates disclosed in the same way when out of the first two million, 200,000 could neither read nor write. He stated in this connection that there are in America seven and a half million people, over 16 years of age who can neither read nor write English or any other language, 29 per cent of these native-born white Americans.

During the 19 months of war 45,000 of our men were killed in action by the enemy. During the same 19 months 450,000 American babies died. This stupendous diminution of vital power is unnecessary and could be prevented if as much care were taken of human life as of breeding pigs and registering dogs, he said. These together with the control of consumption, typhoid and venereal disease, were some of the things which in his opinion the Red Cross should take a stand against, boldly and without apology. In closing he said:

"What influence other than an organization such as the Red Cross can face and master problems such as these? It does not aim to displace the government; it does what the government cannot do. It does not aim to displace the church; it does what the church has not done. It does not aim to intrude upon the school; it goes where the school may not reach. It does not aim to disregard the medical profession; it goes in this great struggle, as it went amid the sanguinary battle-tides of war, to stand beside the surgeon—to be the reserve corps of the army—to be arms and hands and eyes and feet to the heart of a nation that longs with a longing that is immeasurable—that for the destiny and the duty of the years to come—the America of tomorrow should measure up to the pattern of the America that should be."

Methods of publicity were discussed by Samuel A. Laciari who advocated Red Cross days in lodges, churches, newspapers, ads and movies.

"STAY IN SCHOOL" SAYS CHILDREN'S BUREAU

Pamphlet Shows Increased Earning Capacity As Result

In a pamphlet issued recently by the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, a message is delivered to the boys and girls of America urging them to stay in school and proving by a timely comparison of the weekly earnings of children who left school at fourteen, the end of grammar school with those of boys who left school at 18, the end of high school.

With the admonition, Boys and Girls stay in school! Train for the Future! the Department makes the following explanatory statement:

"Children should stay in school as long as possible because education means better jobs.

Boys and girls who go to work at the end of grammar school rarely get good jobs. The work they find to do is usually unskilled; it offers little training or chance for advancement. When they are older they find that they are still untrained for the skilled work which offers a future. Education means higher wages.

Many boys and girls when they leave school find work that offers a high wage for the beginner. But these wages seldom grow because the work requires no training. A position with a future and steadily increasing wages requires school training.

The table submitted shows that the average earnings per week of those who left school at 14 was at the time of the completion of statistics $4.00 a week, while the average earnings at 25 years of age was $12.75; boys who finished high school started with an average weekly wage of $10 and were receiving $31 at the age of 25 years. The total salary earned by the former until his 25th year is $5,112.50; by the latter $7,337.50.

At 25 years of age the boy who had remained at school until 18 had received over $2,000 more salary than the boy who left at 14, and was then receiving over $900 a year more.

This is equivalent to an investment of $18,000 at 5 per cent. Can a boy increase his capital as fast any other way?

From this time on the salary of the better educated boy will rise still more rapidly, while the earnings of the boy who left school at 14 will increase but little.

Although the wages paid now are much higher than when this study was made, the comparison remains the same."

The pamphlet closes with the pertinent query, "Does it pay to continue your studies?" and answers: Education means a successful and useful life. It pays the individual. Education means efficient workers. It pays the nation.
