15,000 Throng Newark Streets To Witness Memorial Parade

Nation's War Dead Honored By Marching Units Of 2,000 In Sunday Observance Of Memorial Day; Parade Stops At Cemeteries For Salutes, Placement Of Wreaths

Nation's war heroes of the past were honored in Newark Sunday as 15,000 spectators gathered to watch the Memorial Day parade of 2,000 military personnel, war veterans, volunteer firemen and other community organizations. Memorial wreaths were placed in the library rotunda and the parade ended at the steps of the University of Delaware Memorial Library.

Donald M. Ashbridge, a retired Army veteran, was parading while Brig. Gen. William H. H. Arnold, 85-year-old Spanish-American war veteran from Millford, was the parade marshal, riding in the parade strop were three cemeteries where rifle and tank units were fired and tanks sounded their horns. At the city war veterans cemetery, also halted the ceremonies with Col. D. H. H. Arnold, state Civil Defense director.

Memorial Wreaths were laid by Raymond A. O'Daniel, Post No. 475, commander of the O'Daniel Post, American Legion, and Susan Handlog, assistant commander, assisted by Patricia Burns, laid a wreath on behalf of the city and its branches. Units from all branches came from Baltimore, Md., and the New Castle County Provost Guard. The drum and bugle corps of the Delaware State University and the Delaware State University marching band also participated.

Highpoint of the day's observance was the parade at solemn ceremonies at the University of Delaware campus. Ashbridge presiding, the parade was the 32nd Annual Memorial Day parade, and two sections of the Newark High School marching band were led by John H. H. Arnold, state captain, Veterans War Dept. Next, the senior band of the Diamond State University, Park, formed of honor on the steps of the library rotunda. Wreaths were placed by Miles, state VFW commander, Waterman, senior vice, Dept. of Del. American Legion, and by Roland Gibson, state VFW commander, and by the Newark High School marching band.

Enterprises, one of the Newark High School, has won first place in a contest sponsored by Junior Achievement, Incorporated. The contest was the product of the presentation of the product (artificially made) and the presentation of the product (artificially made) and the presentation of the product (artificially made).

Delaware Ave. Extension Bids To Be Opened June 15

Bids advertised for construction of the Delaware Avenue extension in Newark will be opened by the State Highway Department in Dover on June 15 at 2 p. m., and construction of the extended street is expected to begin July 1.

Delaware Avenue is to be extended through the Continental Diamond Fibre Company property, in Newark, will be opened by the new senior high school, to join Capitol Trail at the Ogletown Road intersection.

Upon completion of the Delaware Avenue extension, traffic is to be routed one-way west on Main Street, and one-way east on Delaware Avenue for a six-month trial period.

Delaware Press Representatives Inspect Bell Laboratories - And Are Impressed

The telephone is a taken-for-granted instrument which is used and abused every day and night by subscribers in Newark and everywhere else, too. But a trip through the Bell Laboratories in Murray Hill, N. J., for an eye-opening and enlightening behind-the-scenes glimpse and account of the research concerned with the development of this delicate, intricate bit of mechanism has removed one offender, at least, from the list of receiver bangers, wire kinkers, and phone droppers.

Representatives of the Delaware and Pennsylvania Press were guests of the Diamond State Telephone Company and Bell of Pa. last Friday on a guided tour of the Bell Laboratories at Murray Hill where Bell scientists explained phases of the multi-million dollar research and development program conducted at the expense of AT&T and the Western Electric Company, co-sponsors of the laboratories.

The Bell Laboratories at Murray Hill, although they resemble an ultra-modern university - country club complete with a four-hole golf course, are the scene for some pretty heady stuff, ranging from research and development of the solar battery which can utilize 12 per cent of the sun's energy, to germanium transistors of such delicacy that a special machine named "Mr. Meticulous" had to be designed to handle microscopic assembly operations, to microwave transmission, to stand-by TV cable, miniaturization of stand-by equipment to vari-colored and illuminated telephones.

Alexander Graham Bell performed a scientific miracle when he came up with the first telephone, but his successors at the Bell Laboratories are carrying the Bell in a grand way.

Not the least of the experience, was the trip home with local hosts Albert E. Rose - an Olympic team broad-jumper - and H. Allen Horton in a private railroad car - which had every thing but a telephone.

A three-panel mural painted by Leo Laskaris, Newark artist, and covering the east wall in the lobby of the newly-renovated Newark Trust Company, will be unveiled at an Open House program next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the bank. The public is invited, and each guest will receive a souvenir of the occasion.

A three-panel mural painted by Leo Laskaris, Newark artist, and covering the east wall in the lobby of the newly-renovated Newark Trust Company, will be unveiled at an Open House program next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the bank. The public is invited, and each guest will receive a souvenir of the occasion.

A huge, three-panel mural painted in oils by Newark artist Leo Laskaris will be unveiled in the lobby of the Newark Trust Company at 8 p. m. next Wednesday.

The bank will be open from 8 to 10 p. m., and all residents of the Newark area are invited to attend the unveiling of the mural entitled "The Little World."

Miss Harriet Baily, chairman of the art department at the University of Delaware and a former teacher of the artist, will unveil the mural.

Mr. Laskaris will be present along with Frank H. Sommer, associate professor of art at the University of Delaware, and the mural. At intervals throughout the evening, Mr. Sommer will discuss the artist's style and the symbolism employed.

Executed in striking colors and modern style, the mural consists of three panels each 6x12 feet and will occupy the east wall of the bank's newly-renovated lobby.

All Ten Members Of Police Force Aid With Parade

All ten members of the Newark Police Department directed by Chief Bill Cunningham, assisted by two special fire police and 13 volunteer firemen, contributed to the successful Sunday Memorial parade in the city by regulating traffic—both vehicular and pedestrian.

Cars ordinarily parked along the parade route had to be cleared from that portion of Main Street between the Washington House and Academy Street; from Chapel to Center on New Street; from Delaware Avenue between South College Avenue and Academy Street; from the east side of Academy, Delaware Avenue to East Park Place; from Lovett Avenue, between South Chapel and Academy; on Haines Street, from Main to Lovett; and from Continental Avenue, Chapel to Haines.

An estimated 15,000 spectators, along with 2,000 on parade through the city streets created an unusual but well-managed holiday traffic problem.

New Information Number Provided Newark Phones

Newark telephone subscribers now have a separate number to dial for "Information."

Effective last week, the number for Newark information is 113, the same as Wilmington subscribers dial for information.

Previously, Newark had to dial "O" and ask the operator for "Information."

Street Surfacing Program Outlined By City Manager

Oil And Chip Surface On Ritter Lane Planned To Begin During Week

Oil and chip surfacing of Ritter Lane has been scheduled for this week, City Manager Orville F. Over stated yesterday, and similar 3/4-in. surface treatment of other unpaved streets in Newark will be undertaken when funds are available.

Julian Jones has the contract to provide sub-base surfacing of unpaved streets at an estimated cost of $11,000, based on a cost of $130 per running foot for oil and chip.

Streets to be scheduled for oil and chip surfacing in the future are Ray Street, from the end of the paving to New London Avenue; Rose Street to Ray Street; Briar and Tanglewood Lanes to Bent Lane; on Bent Lane, from Nottingham Road to Briar Lane; and on Dullman Road.

In Lumbrook, tar and chip surfacing is to be applied on Woodlawn Avenue, from Poplar to Ash; and on Ash, Poplar and Orchard Avenues, from Capitol Trail to Woodlawn Avenue.

Haines Street is to be tarred and chipped from Lovett to Chambers, and six-inch gravelled surface is to be scheduled on Haines from West Park Place to Ashley; on Courtney Street, Manuel to Ashley; and on Beverly Road, from Winslow to West Park Place.

New street costs, including sub-base, base, top, curb and grading have been estimated by Mr. Over at $12 per running foot, which, with some $50,000 involved in installation of water and sewer line laterals, will amount to more than $200,000 for the eventual new street program.

League Of Voters To Study Housing, City Sanitation

A study of housing and sanitation in Newark will be on the Newark League of Women Voters' agenda for 1955-56, as decided at the annual meeting on May 25 at the Main Street School.

Since 1950, the city's population has increased 400,000, and many of the problems in connection with this growth have not been adequately presented to the citizens of Newark, the League feels.

In its studies of the past two years, the League supported policies to place the city on a sound financial basis, and in addition to continuing this phase of civic endeavor, continued pressure on City Council to obtain more funds in residential sections was also approved at the meeting.

At the same meeting, Mrs. Robert F. Jackson of Chestnut Hill Road was elected president for a two year term. Other officers elected were Mrs. John Munroe and Mrs. T. A. Baker, vice-presidents; and Mrs. Clyde Richards, secretary.

Four members of the board of directors elected for one year are Mrs. Samuel Handloff and Mrs. William Hellen; for two years, Mrs. Robert M. Powell, Mrs. J. J. Groot and Mrs. P. M. Levin.

The elected nominating committee for 1956 consists of Mrs. Harry Maclary, chairman, Mrs. E. P. Hanson and Mrs. F. A. Wheeler.

A budget based on an estimated 110 members, was adopted for an increased expenditure of 50% over last year's budget.

PASTORS' CONFERENCE

The Rev. Robert W. Andrews, minister of Christian Education at the First Presbyterian Church in Newark, will attend a conference of Presbytery University pastors at Louisville Theological Seminary, Ky., from June 6 until June 19.

The opening of the Equitable Security office at the Newark Shopping Center is the latest step forward in the bank's history, which began as Delaware's first commercial bank in 1795 and became Delaware's first trust company in 1885.

City Electric Power Purchase Increases 21% Over Last Year

City Manager, Engineer Report 51% Increase In Local Electric Power Since 1951; $100,000 Program Underway To Convert 2400 To 4160-Volt Lines To Meet Peak Load

Well above the national average of 12 to 15 per cent the City of Newark purchased 14,767,300 kilowatt hours last year for an increase of 21.0 per cent over electric power usage in 1953, and an increase of 51 per cent since 1951. To meet the increasing demands for electric power, the city is undertaking a $100,000 program converting the 2400 volt circuit to 4,160 voltage lines in an effort to supply peak demands.

A report to the mayor and council by City Manager Orville F. Over and City Engineer J. Francis Neide reveals kilowatt hours purchased by the city to meet its customers' usage in the past four years:

Year	KWH	Pct Increase
1951	9,674,000
1952	10,624,800	9.9
1953	12,223,200	15.9
1954	14,767,300	21.0

The increase is due not only to population growth and the building of new homes, the report goes on, but also to the increased popularity of air conditioning and electric water heaters, and to the fact that almost all new homes are built for electric rather than gas cooking ranges.

The city buys electricity wholesale from a substation owned by the Delaware Power & Light Company, distributed in two 2,400-volt circuits.

Last Christmas season, when the shortest days of the year caused the peak demand periods of homes and industries to meet around 5 p. m., city council heard complaints from residents—especially in the West Park Place and Silverbrook sections—who said voltage variations were burning out motors in some extreme cases.

The coming of longer days brought relief, but council decided to correct the situation by changing over its whole system from 2,400 volts to 4,160.

Most of the transformers and other equipment needed for the changeover has been purchased or ordered. At the May 17 council meeting, a contract was awarded for three transformers which will enable the University of Delaware to receive power from the city's new 4,160-volt system and still maintain its own 2,400-volt system within its campus. This part of the changeover is to be accomplished while the university is not in session.

Mr. Over hopes it can be done between commencement and the start of summer school.

Some $55,000 has already been spent on getting ready for the changeover, and the report itemizes $44,300 in estimated further costs. Most of it is for equipment, including $5,000 worth of wire. Labor is estimated to cost $5,000, tree trimming $1,000; and engineering $4,000.

Pending approval of a bill in the General Assembly giving it the power to use bond money for projects already paid for, city council hopes to include the cost of the electrical changeover in the next municipal bond issue.

Even this changeover may not be the final answer, as Mr. Over indicated when he pointed out that a system increasing at a rate of 21 per cent a year will double itself very soon.

Council Considers Uniform Policy For City Streets

Motion To Assess Property Owners For 100% Of Costs For New Streets Defeated

A proposal to assess property owners for 100 per cent of the cost for construction of new streets in the City of Newark was killed by a 2-2 vote of City Council at a special meeting held Tuesday night for consideration of a uniform city street policy. It was generally agreed that the developers be required to pay for all street improvements in any new realty developments, but no action was taken.

Senior Councilman Samuel L. Diehl, Jr. presided in the absence of Mayor Wallace Johnson, and only four councilmen were present at the special meeting, including Councilmen Coverdale, Maclary and Priestley, with City Manager Orville Over, Solicitor John Sinclair, and Secretary Charles Long also attending.

Council accepted an easement from the Greater Newark Development Company for a 25-ft. storm drainage strip between West Park Place and Manna Avenue, and declined a renewed offer by the American Legion to give the city a triangular plot of land for the Delaware Avenue extension right-of-way in return for city responsibility for all future improvements, including construction of sidewalks adjoining the property.

All requests authorizing the solicitor to prepare an ordinance providing the city to pay for all paving of existing streets, with the property owners concerned to be assessed for curb and gutter costs, and for 100 per cent assessment of the property owners for all new streets, was killed by the 2-2 vote, with Councilmen Coverdale and Diehl dissenting.

The next regular meeting of council is scheduled for next Tuesday night at the Academy Building, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Trinity Sunday To Close Catholic Easter Season

Known as the annual Easter "duty," the obligation must be fulfilled sometime between the first Sunday of Lent and Trinity Sunday.

The annual Peter's Pence collection for charitable distribution by Pope Pius XII will be taken up in local diocesan churches next Sunday. The funds received are spent on a world wide relief basis by the spiritual leader.

Rhodes Drug Store Receives 500,000th Prescription; Open House Prizes Offered

Last week Harry W. Coover, Sr., 722 Wollaston Avenue, walked into Rhodes Drug Store and handed the pharmacist a prescription. To all appearances this was no different than other prescriptions which he had brought to Rhodes in past years.

Despite the fact that no bells ring or horns sounded, this was no ordinary prescription. It was the 500,000th prescription compounded by Rhodes since the store was founded 99 years ago.

For winning Rhodes' half-a-millionth prescription contest, Mr. Coover will receive a $50 savings bond which will be presented at an open house to be held at the Main Street store from 3 to 5 p. m. on Saturday.

All residents of Newark and vicinity are invited to attend the open house. Twelve valuable door prizes will be awarded to the holders of lucky coupons and there will be free refreshments for everyone.

For the past month all store visitors have been given coupons to be filled out and dropped in a treasure chest at the store. Rhodes will continue to give these coupons to all visitors until Saturday. During the open house program the 12 lucky winners will be decided.

Graduation Guest

Dr. Douglas Silverton

The commencement speaker at Newark High School graduation ceremonies on Tuesday, June 14, will be Dr. Douglas Silverton, world traveler, educator, and lecturer, who will address the graduating class, parents and guests in the high school auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

Dr. Silverton was born and raised in London, and was educated in English schools and at Oxford University. He has served on the faculties of American and Canadian universities, and during World War II was a fighter pilot with the Royal Air Force.

A past governor of Rotary International, he also holds an honorary commission in the Scotch Gordon Highlanders.

Nine-Year Old Boy Injured Alighting From School Bus

A nine-year-old boy who had alighted from a school bus was struck by an automobile and injured on the Capitol Trail at Ash Avenue in Newark Friday afternoon.

Michael Walls, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walls of 6 Ash Avenue, was taken to the Memorial Hospital with a fractured rib and numerous abrasions of the body. He was released Saturday.

Mr. Walls said the Stiltz Bus Company bus was operated by Stanley Reid, who pulled to the side of the road and put up the warning arm on the side of the vehicle.

The car that hit the boy as he started across the road was operated by Thomas Walter Robinson, 59, of Havre de Grace.

The parents claimed that the car ran through the school bus stop sign while traveling west toward Newark in the same direction as the bus.

Senior Trip

Excitement and confusion filled the air at the B&O Railroad Station on the morning of April 28, when we lucky seniors were off for a two-day visit in Washington, D.C.

Some of the places included in our first day of touring were the FBI building, the Capitol, and the Mellon Art Gallery.

After the Wilson Line Cruise on the Potomac, we all went back to our hotel for a full night's sleep and some peace and quiet. (?)

Friday morning we were a lively, small-crawling group. Of course everyone was "wide awake" after a full night of uninterrupted sleep. (?)

Some of the places of interest included in the Friday trip were the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, the White House, the Franciscan Monastery, Washington Cathedral, Arlington Cemetery, and Mount Vernon.

Although the trip was loads of fun, Newark sure looked good when we got off the train at 8 o'clock Friday night, April 29.

ROADS PROGRAM

A good roads program similar to the one proposed by the President's advisory committee on highways to solve America's traffic muddle would mean the expenditure of $306,578,000 on Delaware's roads during the 10-year span of the program.

There are more American Indians in New York City than in any other place in the country.

Farm House, Barn Demolition Okayed Pending Cost Bill

Brookside Community Inc. To Obtain Cost Estimates For Razing Farm Buildings

The Brookside Community, Inc., executive board has voted to tear down the old farmhouse and barn on Chestnut Hill Road if the cost of demolition is not too high.

Frank Capparel, chairman of the community's farmhouse and barn committee, will obtain cost estimates from wrecking companies for consideration at the next board meeting, scheduled for June 7.

The decision to tear down the two buildings is a reversal of the board's previous decision to leave the barn standing and to allot budgetary funds for the repair of the farmhouse to accommodate various community facilities and offices.

Both decisions were based on polls of residents' opinions, the first one before the April balloting on a $24,000 community budget and the second one after the budget had been rejected decisively. The latest poll indicates that a majority now wants the buildings torn down.

The reversal was also influenced, the board said, by a letter from Mr. Capparel indicating that it would cost more now to repair the farmhouse than at first. He wrote: "Persons have been taking wood and other items from the buildings. The farmhouse and barn have been repeatedly broken into and are being slowly destroyed. Children have been using the buildings to play in. The inside of the house has been defaced and damaged. The water main entering the house has been broken. This condition is becoming progressively worse."

The two buildings were used as office and warehouse by Brookside Park Associates, builders of the first three sections of Brookside. When the firm ceased construction operations here, it deeded the buildings to the community corporation with restrictions against any commercial use.

Residents Billed For Dues Pending Budget Approval

Brookside Community Inc. Submits Bills For $5 Dues With Increase, Possibility

Brookside residents received bills last week for $5 dues to the Brookside Community Inc., pending approval of a new budget.

By-laws call for dues to revert to those of the previous year if a budget is rejected, as was the 1955-56 budget in an April referendum. The 1954-55 rate was $5 and the proposed $10 dues were killed along with the budget.

A recent survey showed that the majority favored the $8-to-$10 bracket when asked what they considered to be acceptable dues. Guided by this, and by the fact that expenditures for the old farmhouse and barn are no longer planned, the executive board will come up with a new budget and proposed dues to be submitted for another referendum by mail.

If this results in approval of dues higher than the $5 already charged, the difference will then be billed. The bill for $5 is marked "payable upon receipt of this notice, and non-payers could forfeit their right to use passes to the community's swimming pool, which opens this week-end."

Meanwhile, BCI officials pointed out that renters do not automatically acquire the right to use the pool and other community facilities but must be granted the right on a written form by the owner. Authorization blanks may be obtained at 1093 Marrows Road.

In areas of acute distress. For, McDowell (D).

Rejected by a vote of 229 to 62 a motion to recommit a bill which would supplement federal reclamation laws by providing for an integration of federal and non-federal participation in reclamation projects now handled exclusively by either federal or non-federal agencies. The bill was passed by a voice vote. Against, McDowell (D).

U. of D. To Hold Clinic On Reading At Summer School

R. G. Stauffer To Head 6-Wk. Training Program For Children and Adults

An unusually busy summer program has been scheduled by the Reading Clinic of the University of Delaware. The clinic, which is operating all phases of its operation, children and adults, will be considered in the offerings planned by Dr. Russell G. Stauffer, director of the clinic.

Over 80 children will become better readers this summer because of a careful planned six-week training program scheduled for the fifth consecutive year at the University of Delaware. The program will be held on the Newark campus from June 20 to July 29.

The summer reading session, which is in operation all year, will be composed of two groups, a developmental class and a remedial class. The developmental group will include pupils with sub-standard reading ability, while the latter division will be made up of children experiencing difficulty on learning to read.

Children enrolled in the university's reading program will attend special sessions for five days each week throughout the six-week period. The developmental students will be one hour in length, and pupils in the remedial division will spend two and one-half hours at the clinic each day. Pupil tuition for those in the developmental class is $40 per semester, while the fee for remedial members is assigned on an individual basis.

Four graduate courses as well as laboratory observation on child reading development will be available to elementary school teachers. The courses, "Foundations of Reading Instruction," "Diagnosis and Correction of Reading Retardation," "Analysis of Reading Retardation," and "Remedial Reading Techniques," will be taught by Dr. Stauffer and Millard Black.

The courses have been designed to give the elementary school teachers practical experience as well as to provide theory. Included in the course plans are demonstrations during the lectures, scheduled observation periods in both classroom and clinic, and actual practice in testing and teaching retarded readers.

Teachers who are studying the reading problems of children will have available a special observation room in the clinic with a one-way vision screen for viewing the progress of the children. Summer school students enrolled in the course, "Analysis of Reading Retardation," will conduct informal inventories in various phases of reading and will learn to interpret and administer their findings from these studies. The class members will also give standardized reading tests to the children.

Barwick Urges Precautions Against Dutch Elm Disease

The Dutch Elm disease—already quite destructive in many areas and spreading rapidly—becomes active in the spring and summer, according to Ass't County Agent Ralph Barwick.

He urges a clean-up of diseased wood before April 1 to help check the disease.

"Remove and burn," he advises, "all dead elm wood, elm trees of low vigor, dead and weak branches on living elm trees, and also recently cut, blown-down or broken trunks or branches."

"Establish a safety zone of at least 700 feet around healthy trees. Inspect the area for dead elm wood before April 1 and again before June 1."

Delaware Certified Seed Planting Shows Increase

The use of certified seed has increased greatly in Delaware and the production of certified seed is on the increase. In 1954, Delaware farmers produced 283 acres of certified soybeans, 138 acres of certified hybrid corn, 81 acres of certified barley, 46 acres of certified wheat, and 20 acres of certified rye.

"The yield from these acres was only a small part of the actual certified seed used by Delaware farmers last year," states Frank B. Springer, assistant extension agronomist at the University of Delaware. He says the demand for certified seed is increasing.

Planting Of Nut Trees Urged For Home Owners

American home owners are urged to rediscover the "forgotten tree"—the nut tree. Every backyard landscape can be graced with one, even far north of the Mason-Dixon line, a leading tree authority reports.

The long-lived English walnut makes a desirable shade and ornamental tree, slightly taller than the conventional apple. The kind ideal for the northeast and midwest is somewhat different from the famous English walnut of southern California. It may be obtained from nurseries specializing in nut trees as seedlings or as grafted trees.

Turkey Growers Offered Pros, Cons On Methods

Shall I raise my turkeys on range or in confinement this year? This controversial question is asked by many Delaware growers today.

Advantages and disadvantages are listed by Ass't County Agent Ralph Barwick.

Advantages of confinement rearing are: less labor to care for birds; no losses from foxes or dogs; better disease control and lower mortality, especially from blackhead; less land required; birds can be watched and don't have to be chased; and some growers report quicker growth and better quality meat.

Advantages of range rearing are: less investment required for buildings; less trouble with swollen hocks, breast blisters and feather eating; lower feed cost.

Civil Service Offers Jobs As Correctional Officers

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Correctional Officer (male) for filling positions in Federal penal and correctional institutions at various places throughout the country. The salary is $3,410 a year.

To qualify, applicants must pass a written test. The age limits are from 21 to 45 years. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's examiner in charge, Woodrow W. Singles at the Newark Post Office.

"Luck Runs Out" But Not Safety, Bike Riders Told

Delaware Safety Council Cautions Bicycle Riders On Safe Cycling Rulings

"Luck runs out, but safety is good for life," John D. Reeder told Delaware bicycle riders today. Mr. Reeder, who is past president of the Delaware Safety Council, spoke in connection with the child pedestrian and bicycle safety program sponsored locally this month by his organization in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

The phrase, "Safety is good for life," has a double meaning," Mr. Reeder said. "First, safety never becomes useless or obsolete—it lasts a lifetime. And second, practicing safety can mean the difference between life and death to bicyclists."

National Safety Council statistics for 1953, he said, show that 390 bicycle riders under the age of 15 were killed in motor vehicle accidents. About 26,000 bicyclists in the same age group were injured. Of those killed, half were riding in cities, and half in rural areas.

"It doesn't seem possible to over-emphasize the serious threat to life and limb that bicycle riding can be to those who are reckless or careless," he said.

He listed eight rules for safe riding. They are:

1. Ride with traffic, and keep to the far right.
2. Do not weave or stunt. Ride in a straight line.
3. When with friends, ride in single file.
4. Put books and packages in a carrier attached to the bicycle, and never carry passengers on your bike.
5. In traffic, obey all applicable signs, signals and traffic laws.
6. Never hitch on to a passing truck, street car, automobile or any vehicle.
7. If you must ride at night, have a good light and rear reflector.
8. Keep your bicycle in good condition.

BERMUDA CRUISE

For the first time within memory of veteran shippers, a series of passenger cruises will be inaugurated between the Port of Philadelphia and Bermuda. J. P. Hatch, manager of the Philadelphia Port Bureau, has announced that a series of five weekly passenger cruises will begin on August 26.

Control Of Ticks, Termites, Boxwood Blight Available

U. of D. Offers Aid In State Tick Season From May Thru July

Ticks, termites, and tree trouble—if you have these problems right now, here are some suggestions from the University of Delaware.

May, June and July make up the "tick season" in Delaware. The common American dog tick attaches itself to both man and animals and may transmit Rocky Mountain spotted fever. The brown dog tick is scarce and occurs only on dogs—it's a kennel and household problem.

Keep your dogs away from infested areas as much as possible. Examine your dogs and yourself daily for ticks. Remove the ticks with tweezers, not with the fingers. Put iodine on the point of attachment.

Another good suggestion is protect your dogs with DDT. You can use two tablespoons of 10 percent DDT dust rubbed into the hair, or DDT using one-half pound of 50 percent wettable powder in three gallons of water.

A third control method is to dust tick-infested areas at four-week intervals with one of the following: 5 percent chlordane or toxaphene (one pound per 1000 square feet or 40 pounds per acre), or 10 percent DDT (two pounds per 1000 square feet or 30 pounds per acre). The same rates are effective for chigger-infested areas.

As for termites, it's a 50-50 chance you do have them, according to Dr. L. A. Stearns, head of the entomology department at the University of Delaware. He says termites can be confused with winged ants. However, termites have a thick waistline and long, white opaque wings of equal size, while winged ants have a pinched-in waist and transparent wings of unequal size.

"Termite control is never an emergency," he adds. "Reliable exterminator companies operating in Delaware will not attempt to stampede the home owner into immediate action."

If you have termites, request a copy of Bulletin 1911 from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware. You can often handle the termite situation yourself, Dr. Stearns points out.

Orange-colored, gnat-like flies (adult stage of the boxwood leaf miner) emerge between May 7 and May 15. Spray the boxwood with DDT and repeat the application in 10 days. Use three tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable powder in three gallons of water. To control mites add Aramite at the rate stated on the package.

This pest of tree box or American boxwood is quite common. The larvae are small yellowish maggots which work within the leaves and produce oval blisters. Heavy infestations cause shedding of foliage and weaken plants seriously.

Music is a friend of labor; it lightens the task by refreshing nerves and spirit. —William Green

SMALL DARK CLOUD

Nation's Business observes that "the local income tax is a small dark cloud looming larger on the local tax horizon." More than 400 American communities with a total population of 7,500,000 are levying a tax of some kind on incomes. Collections run over $100,000,000 a year.

This is simply another example of overlapping taxation—and of the fact that the public should give far more attention to local financial problems than is generally the case. State and local tax collections are climbing ominously. This year state after state increased existing taxes and passed new ones. In some areas that will offset, or nearly so, the much-publicized income tax reductions made by the 1954 Congress.

WHERE THE CUSTOMER IS WRONG

"In a Communist department store, the customer is mostly wrong."

That wry observation was made by Wall Street Journal correspondent Mitchell Gordon, after he had visited one of the large state-owned department stores in Soviet East Germany. The wares were few, costly and shoddy—a 9-inch TV set was offered at 1,300 East Marks, which represents four months' pay for the average factory worker, and people stood in long lines for an opportunity to buy light bulbs on a two-only-to-a-customer basis. There were no escalators, and only one small, slow elevator. There was no complaint department—and when a customer did remonstrate about some difficulty he was all but thrown out bodily by salespeople. Of course, as Mr. Gordon also observed, "the customer can always take his business elsewhere—to another state-owned store."

This may seem incomprehensible to the American housewife. She is used to the utmost in courtesy and attention, whether she patronizes a big store or a small one, a chain or an independent, and if she doesn't get it she goes elsewhere. She is conditioned to the best in sanitation and displays. She expects to find large and varied stocks, and she isn't disappointed. And the prices charged for all the necessities and most of the luxuries as well are within the means of the average family.

Why should there be such a vast difference between a privately-owned American store and a socialized communist store? Monopoly, and most especially government monopoly, always makes for scarcity, high prices, and indifference. Free competition makes for abundance, the lowest possible prices, and excellent service all along the line.

National Education Program Head Cites Communist Rise From 17 To 900 Million

Several years ago, Dr. Fred Schwarz, of Sydney, Australia, left his practice of medicine and surgery to dedicate his life to a personal crusade against the growing power of international Communism. In his student days at Queensland University he had encountered many young Communist intellectuals, and one of them defeated him in a debate. He vowed it would never happen again.

The more he dug into Communist literature and examined the strategy for world conquest, the more convinced he became that Communism was a grave threat to mankind's freedom, an evil monster bent on the destruction of Christian civilization.

In time, he became well known in surgery and psychiatry, but his professional success did not keep up with the mounting zeal of his crusade against Communism. He turned his practice over to some physician friends and set out for America, the nation which he considered to be the most powerful obstacle in the pathway of Communism's world conquest. He has now made four world tours, speaking in most of the nations outside the Iron Curtain.

Who Is Hysterical? The evangelist Billy Graham arranged for Dr. Schwarz to speak to 100 senators, congressmen and cabinet members in the Congressional Dining Room. Those who heard him were shocked at some of the facts he revealed about Communism and some of the conclusions he has drawn. At the 16th Freedom Forum, conducted last month by the National Education Program on the Harding College campus, Dr. Schwarz opened his talk with this question: "How serious is the threat that Communism poses to our lives, our homes, our children, everything in this life that we cherish?"

"There are those," he said, "who say, 'I'm sick and tired of hearing about Communism! I hear about it morning, noon and night. It's in the newspapers; every news analysis; but I don't know a Communist. I wouldn't know what one looks like. Why, the FBI tells us there are only 23,000 known Communists here."

The Cold Facts "There are those, and I acknowledge that I am one," continued Dr. Schwarz, "who say, on the other hand, that our ignorance, our complacency in the face of an impending catastrophe is so profound that it verges on insanity itself. Now which of these viewpoints is correct?"

He turned to the blackboard. With chalk, he wrote the following: In 1903 Lenin established Bolshevism with 17 supporters. In 1917 Lenin conquered Russia with 40,000 supporters.

Questions and Answers

Q—I am thinking of paying my GI insurance premiums once a year, in advance. If I pay my yearly premium, and suddenly need the money, would it be possible for me to get it back from VA?

A—Yes. VA will refund you whatever amount has not yet been applied to monthly premiums.

Q—I attended college for four years under the World War II GI Bill, and then went back on active duty. I have just been discharged from my second tour of service with a service-connected disability. Would I be eligible for vocational training under Public Law 894, even though I already had received training under the GI Bill?

A—Only if you are in need of training to overcome the handicap of your disability. If you need the training you may train under Public Law 894 for as long as is necessary for you to achieve complete rehabilitation.

Q—if I take flight training under the Korean GI Bill, how will I be paid?

A—You will receive a monthly allowance from VA covering 75 percent of the established rate that non-veterans are taking the same course, are required to pay. The allowance will be based on the number of hours of instruction received during the month.

Q—A friend of mine is a paralyzed veteran eligible for a $10,000 VA grant as a "wheelchair house," especially adapted for his needs. Would he also be eligible for a regular GI home loan to apply on the remainder of the cost of his house?

A—Yes. The fact that he obtained a $10,000 VA housing grant would not deprive him of his GI loan benefit.

Report To Parents Senior High Fellowship To Collect Paper June 11

On Saturday, June 11, the First Presbyterian Senior High Fellowship will conduct a paper drive. All persons who have newspapers and magazines to contribute to the drive are asked to call Mark Hurn, 8-8634, or Grants or in either store, Phone 8-6507 before 5:30.

Proceeds will be used to furnish Westminster House, the new youth center of the First Presbyterian Church.

This Sunday, the senior high group will attend a Presbytery Westminster Fellowship rally in the First Presbyterian Church of Dover at 4 o'clock.

At the meeting of the American Home Economics Association in San Francisco, the nutrition consultant of the California Department of Health gave the result of a survey of the breakfast habits of 10,144 students in various California communities.

Sixty-eight percent of the students "almost always" had breakfast. Six percent never had breakfast. The other 26 percent sometimes had breakfast and sometimes didn't.

Excuses Offered "Not enough time for it and still get to school" was the main reason given by those who didn't have breakfast. Other reasons were that "there was nobody to eat with" and they did not like the food.

The self-imposed diets of figure-conscious teenagers was also mentioned as a family breakfast problem.

Many people are concerned with the problem. The association itself recommended that, rather than that there should be no overemphasis or nagging—just plenty of good food available for each individual to eat as he desired.

It was hoped that California would soon institute a program of breakfast education in its elementary schools, as many other states have done.

In many the focus for good nutrition is not on breakfast alone, though they see the most of food they bring to school in their lunchboxes. Some rats are fed jam sandwiches, sugar cookies, and pop. Others are fed cheese sandwiches, carrot sticks, and milk. Soon the rats on the latter diet are sleek and active, while those who live on sweets alone become scrawny and fatigued. One of these, in fact, died.

It is ironic that in this land of plenty there should be malnutrition, choice, or sheer laziness. But certainly effort on many fronts is being expended to remedy the situation.

Canada's Department of National Health and Welfare has made a film to improve eating habits of children in that country. Called "Food for Freddy," the film is based on the premise that a child likes to know "why" that the answer "because" is not enough when a child says, "Why is milk better for me than soda pop?"

A pleasant thread of story of family life runs through the film, but the big lesson is put over by having the children feed six white rats exactly the same type of food they bring to school in their lunchboxes. Some rats are fed jam sandwiches, sugar cookies, and pop. Others are fed cheese sandwiches, carrot sticks, and milk. ## Improved Speaking Course To Be Offered By Keesey

An opportunity for secondary school teachers to improve their effectiveness in speaking will be offered this summer at the University of Delaware when the course, "Problems in Speech Improvement of the Teacher," will be offered for the first time under the direction of Dr. Ray E. Keesey.

The study is prepared especially for school teachers, with emphasis on the development of speech qualities for classroom use. The study will involve actual training in articulation, improvement, vocal flexibility, critical listening, effective communication, reading aloud and related subjects.

"A minimum of theory and a maximum of actual practice will be involved," states Dr. Keesey.

Hens' Green Refutes Theory That Pitchers Aren't Hitters

Southpaw Chucker Hangs Up 6-0 Pitching Mark, Ties For Most Extra Base Hits And RBIs For Season Play; Gene Watson, Earl Alger Pace Bob Siemen's Freshmen

By NORVIN (RIP) COLLINS

It has long been axiomatic in baseball that a pitcher is not expected to be a hitter. But Southpaw Dallas Green, the University of Delaware's top hurler, is not one to subscribe to that theory. Either in the abstract or in practice.

For Green, who logged a perfect 6-0 season for the Delaware nine, also was well up in extra base hits and runs batted in according to a recent survey of the Blue Hen records.

The former Conrad High pitcher ace split even with outfielder Jim Zaiser in extra base hits and tied with Gary Buckwalter for the most runs. Zaiser had two doubles, two triples and one of the four home runs hit by the Hens. Green had two doubles and three triples.

Buckwalter and Green each had eight runs batted in. Pitchers Pace Hitting Two other pitchers paced the hitting department. They were Dave Woodward and Bill Kimmel, a pair of right-handers. Woodward, another former Conradian, hit a lustrous .364, while Kimmel hit .308. The former played in six games and Kimmel took part in eight.

Catcher Dave Colcombe came up with a .296 to lead the regulars, followed closely by fellow backstop Bob Trivits and Zaiser. The latter two each hit .283. Green hit .224 for the season.

Ray Hoopes and Tom Redfield tied for second in the batting column with .217 each. Afield the top man was Trivits who handled 141 chances and batted only three for a fielding average of .981. Andy Wagner, the team's first baseman had 116 chances and miscued only twice for a .983 percentage. Green was well up in this department with 50 chances and only two misses for a .967 total.

Tom Redfield, an outfielder, stole eight bases to lead the Hens. Zaiser, Hoopes and Carmen Cella each pilfered four.

Green was clearly the class of the field in the pitching department. He pitched 51 innings and gave up 24 hits and nine runs. He fanned 75 and allowed 27 walks or 0.883. Woodward was the only other hurler to go over the 500 mark, winning three and losing two. Bill Patterson wound up in third place with a 2 and 2 tally.

For the information of newcomers to the area, and for others who may not be familiar with the salt water fishing potential in and around Delaware, a brief run-down on the various sea-going species of fish may be helpful.

In salt water anything can happen as evidenced by a report from the Rehoboth area last fall concerning a monster sea serpent observed from the beach, but there are many more familiar specimens of marine life to be expected.

Striped bass, white perch, croakers and occasionally weakfish, are taken on bloodworms, cut squid and peeler crab as far up the Delaware as Port Penn, just south of New Castle, but the real salt water fishing—aside from rockfishing and white perch—improves with the increased salinity and watered-down pollution in the vicinity of Kitts Hummock, some 10 miles southeast of Dover.

Trout and Croakers
From Kitts Hummock, on down through Bowers, Slaughter Beach, Mispillion Light, and to Lewes at the mouth of the Delaware Bay, weakfish or sea trout, and croakers or hardheads are the more abundant food and game fish.

Both can be taken with strips of squid and chunks of peeler crab by bottom fishing over the reefs and oyster beds of the bay. Along with the trout and hardheads, you may catch small porgies, sand perch, white perch, an occasional bluefish—and almost certainly numerous toadfish, shark and skate.

You can't mistake a trout when you get one. A trout or weakfish is a thing of beauty, from its long, graceful pointed head with a large-toothed mouth to a squared, speckled tail. The sea trout in Delaware Bay range from inches up to a dozen pounds, with the average fish hitting the scale at about 3 1/2-lb. point.

Porter's Tabs Three Straight To Pace League

Defeat Bankers, Curtis In Opening Week of Play To Remain Undefeated

Porter Motors held a 3-0 lead in the Babe Ruth League after the first full week of play in the circuit. The Porter nine tabbed wins over Equitable Security, 12-9, and Curtis Paper, 7-3, last week.

The Bankers came back to shut out Newark Lumber, 6-0, to remain a game off the leaders. In the first game Porter's outslugged the Bankers, 12-9, in a darkness-abbreviated contest that went only five and a half innings. But against Curtis Pete Dorcherd hurled a fine ball game, allowing only one hit—a triple and striking out six.

Curtis Paper also dethroned the Lumbermen, 6-4, as the latter failed to hit the win column. Parker paced the Paper nine with a 1,000 effort, getting three for three.

Identification
Croakers or hardheads will identify themselves as soon as you get them in the boat. A silver, brown-speckled, heavy-headed fish with an underslung, small mouth, a hard head ready croaks. There are plenty of little fellows in the bay waters, but the general run is a little better than a pound.

Porgies are vertically deep fish, thin from an osprey's point of view, and have a weird look about the eyes—as though they were somewhat misplaced for the species. They'll give you a fair flutter, are good to eat, but aren't much fish in appearance or sportability. Sand perch resemble croakers—in fact, they do a little croaking in a minor key—but they have a more prominent mouth, lack the brown speckled pattern, and are always small.

Stripers
Very few rockfish or striped bass are taken in Delaware Bay, but with bloodworms, bucktails and various spoons, stripers afford a high grade of sport for the few pioneers working the tiderips around the jetties and the creek mouths in the vicinity of Port Penn. A silver beauty, with lateral stripes of green-black, the rockfish is a prize anywhere, and some stirring fishing is largely overlooked close to home.

SPORTS FLASHES

from The Sporting News by J. G. Taylor Spink

Baseball had a celebration a few nights ago in Cincinnati. It was celebrating a revolutionary event that had happened there just 20 years before—the beginning of night baseball in the major leagues. It was on May 24, 1935, that Cincinnati and Philadelphia met in the first game under lights in a major park.

The man who brought it about was Larry MacPhail, then general manager of the Reds, but now the owner of a Maryland show-place farm where he breeds thoroughbred horses. Larry started night baseball in the majors, but he says now that he never thought it would go as far as it has. And he doesn't like the present situation.

Greedy Owners
He blames what he calls the greed of club owners. "When I proved to them on May 24, 1935, at Cincinnati that I could light a park and show the fans a game they would like without sacrificing any skills of the players," he said, "I didn't think the greedy club owners would take it to such lengths."

"By scheduling so many night games," he went on, "they've killed off baseball as a day game except on Sundays and holidays. I warned them years ago it would happen if they got too greedy and upped the quota of night games. Some of the clubs are paying for it already. Others will in the long run. They're doing."

It was his belief 20 years ago, MacPhail said, that seven night games at home each season would be enough. Then later he agreed that perhaps 14 would not be too many. That, he said, would add the equivalent of 14 Sundays to each club's home schedule and, as he put it, "they would all get fat." But they wanted to gorge themselves, he went on, and now day baseball is practically dead.

Office Decline
MacPhail pointed out that the Dodgers and Giants, playing at Ebbets Field one night early in May drew only 20,000 attendance.

"We used to draw that many in a day game," he said, "and we knew we could draw that many in day-time the following year. Now they're not so certain. They're not making so many fans."

"The nature of baseball as a game has changed," MacPhail argued, "because the kids can't get close enough to it as a night game, it's not for the kids. They watch it on TV, but that's no substitute for being at the park and smelling baseball and growing up with a love for the game that the youths of our generations lack."

14-Game Limit
MacPhail said he favored going back to a limit of 14 night games a season for the majors. St. Louis and Washington, he said, could be allowed as many as 21, because it gets extremely hot in those towns and night baseball is cool. But as for more night games than that, it puts baseball into the show business.

MacPhail is hurting the minors. People in minor league towns can stay home and tune in on major league games, he said, and so neglect their own teams. Worse than that, he said, seeing big name stars in action makes them dissatisfied with their own brand of players.

$25,000 Kent Stakes Top Saturday Card At Stanton

The $25,000 added Kent Stakes over a mile and a sixteenth will headline the racing program at Delaware Park Saturday as the first week of the 32-day meeting draws to a close.

The race, one of three run in honor of the three counties in the State, was won last year by Cheva-tion and was worth $24,900 to Fox-catcher Farms, owned by William O'Pont, Jr. The winning rider was Willie Passmore of Middletown.

Next Wednesday the two year olds will come into their own with the 18th running of the Polly Drum-mund Stakes, a $10,000 added five furlong sprint for fillies.

Bob Tait Placed On Association Lacrosse Team

The University of Pennsylvania, Penn State and Drexel each placed two players on the All-Pennsylvania-Delaware lacrosse team while Delaware, Dickinson, Lehigh and Swarthmore were represented by one man, according to an announcement made recently by the Pennsylvania-Delaware Lacrosse Association.

The ten top stickmen of the area include Ken Kirtz of Pennsylvania, Bob Tait of Delaware and Joseph Erwin of Penn State on the attack; Penn State's Robert Hamel, Dickinson's Robert Krischker and Drexel's Ross White in the middle; James Cavanaugh of Pennsylvania, Eugene Heaton of Swarthmore and James Henry of Drexel in the defense; and Lehigh's Norman Kaebler as goalie.

Tait, a sophomore who scored 35 goals for the Delaware squad this season, was the unanimous choice of the association for the outstanding player of the area. The ace attackman, former Lower Merion star, carried much of the scoring burden in the Blue Hens' 3-5 season.

Congress Changes Farm Requirement For ACP Payments

Repeal Bill To Permit Cost-Sharing In Soil Conservation Measures

A bill to repeal the 1954 Farm Act provision for withholding ACP payments from farmers who plant and overharvest more than their acreage allotment...

This provision will allow those farmers to participate in better soil conservation measures, receive some cost-shares to help them with the expense, and still produce over their allotted acres of corn if they so desire.

Before the repeal of this section of the law, no one could receive any agricultural conservation payment unless they harvested within their allotted acres of basic crops.

Farmers who have not yet filed requests for cost-sharing, because they believed that they would not be entitled to participate in the 1955 program, should now do so at their County ASC office...

There are several practices available whereby farmers may cooperate with our government in carrying out conservation with enduring benefits by establishing acreages of legume and grass sods with fertilizer and lime...

All general classes will be held in Wolf Hall auditorium, with registration from 2 to 4 p.m. June 15 in the lounge of Sharp Hall.

Folk dancing will be featured at a party June 16 in Old College Hall with Oscar Schmidt calling. Song leader during the week will be Miss Margaret Black, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Lanier.

Winter protection from erosion.

Here are a few other practices for cooperative cost-sharing with the government: The initial improvement of a stand of forest trees for erosion control of forestry purposes, or the establishment of a permanent sod to control the flow of water and check soil erosion, or the construction of permanent open drainage systems to dispose of excess water, or the installation of underground drainage systems.

Capitol Trail News

Marjorie M. Bishop, Correspondent Phone 8-5312 1501 Capitol Trail

Many from this area either took part in, or witnessed the impressive Memorial Day parade in Newark on Sunday afternoon. The array of armed might, martial music and display of Old Glory all combined to arouse our patriotic spirits...

How tragic that in this past holiday weekend more than 350 lives were lost!

A beautiful and fitting tribute to our fallen heroes took place at White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening when the annual memorial service was conducted by the J. Allison O'Daniel Post No. 10 American Legion and Auxiliary.

The offering received during the service will be used to help defray the expense of a memorial window for servicemen.

In a memorial message the Rev. James H. Bishop, post chaplain said, "The Voice of America is still calling to us to be loyal to the ideals for which she stands." The subject of his address was, "This Is My Answer."

At the close of the service, echo taps were played by William McLean.

Among the many family reunions held over the weekend was a picnic for some 15 friends of the family, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith, Possum Park Road, on Monday, with shuffleboard and croquet, and a hot-dog roast.

The Roseville Park Branch Library is the venue of a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymond, Laurel Ave. It is open to the public on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon.

White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church

Herbert Stone Jr. was chosen temporary chairman of the men's work committee at the dinner meeting last Thursday. Serving with him are George Dawson, James Brown, Lewis Springer, and the Rev. James Bishop.

At the meeting last week, Mr. Stone explained the purpose of the organization and a round-table discussion was held on the importance of reaching all men of the church and community to provide a wide-awake program to meet the needs of Willard Johnston, superintendent of the church school, announces that the adult-youth section of the school voted last Sunday to hold the annual picnic on the grounds of West Nottingham Academy, on Saturday, August 6.

The grounds include a lake for swimming, golf links, and a baseball diamond.

The second annual cooperative picnic sponsored by the Millcreek Association of Churches will be held at Camp Mattaboon, on Saturday, June 11. Each church will assume a different responsibility for planning. White Clay Church has been asked to provide the picnic lunch for the Hercules band which has volunteered its services for the occasion.

The executive committee of the association will meet Sunday afternoon at Hockessin Friends meeting, at 2:15.

Westminster Fellowship

Final sessions of Westminster Fellowship groups will be held next Sunday.

The Junior-Hi Fellowship and their families have been invited to the Stanley pond for an outdoor session. Each is to bring a picnic lunch.

The Senior-Youth Fellowship will lead the missionary workshop period in the church school next Sunday. Grace Miller will preside, and the group will tell about the CARE packages they have sent.

Members of the Senior-Youth Fellowship plan to attend the Presbyterian rally in the Dover Presbyterian Church next Sunday.

The June meeting of the White Clay Fellowship will be held at church next Tuesday at 8 p.m. with devotions led by Ruth Murray, and the program will be in charge of John Murray.

The hospitality committee consists of Margaret Meredith, Florence Reed and Romayne McCormick.

The June meeting of the Afternoon Circle of the Women's Association will be held at the home of Mrs. Nathaniel Richards, next Thursday, at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Miller Darrell will lead devotions, and the program will be in charge of Mrs. David Eastburn.

The regular monthly meeting of the session will be held at church next Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

Vacation School

The annual church vacation school will be held at White Clay Church for a two-week period beginning Monday, June 20 and closing Friday, July 1.

The staff met yesterday to plan a well-rounded program of worship, study, songs and recreation — all based on the theme, "Jesus Christ".

The trouble with music appreciation in general is that people are taught to have too much respect for music; they should be taught to love it instead.

Closely resembling the skate is the sting ray or stingaree. A skate can't hurt you seriously, but a stingaree can. At the base of its long, smooth tail—the skate has a fluted tail—the sting ray packs a barbed, semi-poisonous spike. Watch out for it.

Black and Red
Also in Delaware Bay, you may encounter black drum and channel bass. They're big and powerful, weighing up to 60 pounds, and it's their big and copper-colored gills that give them their name. You have a channel bass or red drum and Arnold J. "Ducky" Stewart will want to talk with you.

Light, fresh water bait casting tackle will provide more sport for you with the average Delaware Bay fish, but a conventional light boat rod and reel is more practical.

Surf Fish
Trout, croakers, sand perch, shark and skate are the general order of the day in the surf—when you catch anything at all—with bluefish putting in a strong appearance in late summer and fall.

Bottomfishing outside in the ocean, big porgy and sea bass are the common catch, while trolling out of Lewes or the Inlet in the blue water can produce some fabulous fishing with bonito, albacore, bluefish and dolphin.

And then there are days when the bay and the ocean produce less than a trip to White Clay Creek. But you'll sleep better after driving a couple of hundred miles.

In the second panel, "Newark and God," the sun is shown as a symbol of the presence of God in the life of man. The artist shows light illuminating the brain of man, giving him intellectual power. At the same time the sun also lights the heart of man, a symbol of the love of man and wife, parents and children, God and man.

The third panel, "Newark and Energy," depicts the various ways in which sunlight is converted into energy for use by nature and mankind.

Born in Wilmington in 1917, Mr. Laskaris has lived in Newark for the past 25 years. While a student at the University of Delaware, where he graduated in 1940, he decided to become a painter. After a year's study at the Chicago Art Institute, he entered the army, serving as a first lieutenant.

Upon his discharge he went to New York to study under the noted French painter, Ozenfant, returning to Newark in 1948.

He has exhibited painting and sculpture at the Philadelphia Academy, at the Art Alliance and the University of Delaware art gallery.

100,000 Korean Children
The 100,000 Korean children and young adults have entered the U.S. Clubs organized with the help of the American Friends Service Committee.

These children first learned to work and the possibilities for their work and the possibilities for their work and the possibilities for their work.

Also in Delaware Bay, you may encounter black drum and channel bass. They're big and powerful, weighing up to 60 pounds, and it's their big and copper-colored gills that give them their name.

Light, fresh water bait casting tackle will provide more sport for you with the average Delaware Bay fish, but a conventional light boat rod and reel is more practical.

Trout, croakers, sand perch, shark and skate are the general order of the day in the surf—when you catch anything at all—with bluefish putting in a strong appearance in late summer and fall.

Bottomfishing outside in the ocean, big porgy and sea bass are the common catch, while trolling out of Lewes or the Inlet in the blue water can produce some fabulous fishing with bonito, albacore, bluefish and dolphin.

And then there are days when the bay and the ocean produce less than a trip to White Clay Creek. But you'll sleep better after driving a couple of hundred miles.
